54 Have Joined Livestock Ass'n.

During the past few years the livestock industry has advanced rapidly and it is still growing. Results of what the boys and girls who enter animals in the local show are doing is best shown by what they do when they take their prize animals to other shows. Last year a Santa Anna animal was shown to the first place in almost every show in Texas. They were shown to first places in all the shows entered, and at least a part of this can be attributed to the members of the Santa Anna Livestock

Those who have paid their membership to date are: W. F. Barnes, Bruce Snodgrass, O. L Cheaney, T. J. McCaughan, A. D. Pettit, Pat Hosch, Roscoe Hosch, Jesse K. . SNAP-COUPLER

Allis-Chalmers announces the handiest system ever devised for hitching tractormounted implements?

It's the SNAP-COUPLER! Here's how it works. Just back your tractor. A funnel-shaped cone guides the implement tongue into the single hitchpoint. Snap...it latches! Close the two lift-arm spring couplings and drive away!

Good news for WD Tractor owners — the SNAP-COUPLER is also available for all WD Tractors in service. Ask us about the conversion kit.

L. POWER-SHIFT WHEELS

Quick-hitch alone is not the whole story. It's quick everything! Engine power spaces rear tractor wheels.

Match wheel spacing exactly to rows, furrows, swath or tillage tool width.

Attach implements and space wheels . . . one! two! QUICK! Let us show you Allis-Chalmers Quick-Change Farming.

Woman's Council Dollar Party Is Successful Event

The Woman's Council of the First Christian Church had a "Dollar Party" in the parsonage annex on Wednesday afternoon of last week. The affair was given to raise money for improvement on the building now going on, with men of the church doing the work. The women were asked to bring or send a dollar. The attendance was not up to expectations for various reasons. Autumn flowers were used in decorations, quizes furnished entertainment and pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream was served with coffee.

Ghusch-Community

Lesson for November 8, 1953

EVERY Chamber of Commerce brags about the churches in its town, just as it brags about the parks, schools and museums. But sometimes the pride is for the wrong reason. Why should a community be proud of its churches and thankful for them? Why does every American community, with very few exceptions, feel itself not complete without at least one church? Not because they add to the beauty of the local scene, though many of them do. Not because they

What Does A Church Do For A Community?

What a good church does for its community can never be fully told. There are three-outstanding services which the church and only the church attempts to do in the most vital way. One is to produce better persons. To be sure, the schools and the hospitals and all sorts of organizations are working at the task of making better citizens; so perhaps are the juvenile courts and even the police courts. But the church, and only the church, is working at the job of making better citizens from inside out. Only the church confronts sinning men with the living God. Only the church introduces men to Christ Only the church keeps alive the memory, and practices the living presence, of the Son of God.

Even the most pagan mayor would admit that his city or town would be better if all the citizens were Christians. Well, that is precisely what the church is tryng "present every man perfect in Christ" as St. Paul expressed

Whon News

Rev. and Mrs. Haynes of Cole-lyn Gill and son.

The Personal Gospel

Some churches talk much of the social gospel; others never do. But even the most individualistic kind of religion may turn out to be a social gospel—a good news for the community-after all. For one thing, the church and only the church, within any community, not only knows what a Christian home ought to be, but works at it.

If a church did nothing else whatever to solve the problems of its -community, what it does in founding and supporting Christian homes brings rewards and dividends to the community that far outweigh anything the community can do for the church. The church keeps her eye always on persons; other elements in the community keep sharp eyes on profits, but in the long run people are more important than profits, even when it is only the church that sees it.

In a certain large city there is a residential area where the people have been badly affected by fumes from manufacturing plants about a mile away. In the many arguments over the trouble, the factories (and the Chamber of Commerce) are concerned mainly with the money problems involved in ridding the community of harmful

Learning To Be Neighbors

In the long run, it is the church that helps a community to be a community and not a collection of houses. It is the church that teaches her members to honor others more than themselves. It is the church that teaches a morality higher and deeper than any code of laws. It is the church that preaches and teaches and in part practices unselfish love as the law of life. It is the church that gives the most profound meaning to the word "neighbor" and indeed to "community" itself. A church which is in itself a true fellowship is going that far toward making the whole community a fellowship in fact and not only in name. Here, alas! we run into a miserable fact; that some churches are so far from Christian that they harm the community-spirit instead of building it up. In a small Delaware village some years ago a feud between two denominations reached the point where one locked the other out of the Thanksgiving service! That is an extreme; but any one who rides through the country and sees in a tiny village more churches than it can ever support or fill, cannot help wondering whether all these "holier-thanthou' societies are building or breaking a spirit of togetherness in that place.
