"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

LOVE, LIFE, DEATH

A Tribute in Prose

(The following very timely verses were addressed to Mrs. L. O. Garrett, from a nephew, J. D. Wilson, who lives in Dallas. It will be remembered that Mrs. Garrett's only son, Little Bill

Jack, was drowned in the waters of the Jim Ned Creek on Thanksgiving Day, three years ago. The following prose is a splendid composition, and a wonderful tribute.)

Dear Aunt, to your request these lines are written, vainly hoping that a word, a rhyme of my devising, may sit in juxtaposition with the sweetly elegant, beautiful vision, which you hold of your departed boy. Without adding to the memory of joy and gaiety, and carefree buoyant activity (which lingers in thought of his viril tranquility) a gaudy, common, ostentatiously vulgar display of empty words, meaning less symbols that say Naught but sacrilegious nothings: Profane, irreverent, wordy frothings.

The clouds hang low; dense starkly tragic Spirit-clouds; hovering smug, in the magic of electrical suspension, against trees Which tremble in confusion. Tragedy: the breeze Sighs a dirge-like melody, Slings a song of funeral prosody. A gray mantle of mourning o'ercasts the sky. A swirling processional shroud, the dry Dusty sand and the red loam are gaunt And wan in contrast as if to daunt Any attempt at gladnessness Or blythe, carefree happiness.

My spirit is chilled; I would sing a happy lay, My soul is steeped in sadness: try as I may The inspiration fails to come— I am driven By the obsession that a day of Thanksgiving Should be the anniversary of sorrow; But yet, my muse seems to borrow Hope and consolation from the clear blue Streak of translucent heaven, the hue Of which is impervious to death, the recollection Of your son, my cousin, the love, the adoration That he showed for you brings A sense of beauty that sings.

God gave you a gem; you gave it a setting, Mounted it in silver spun with love, letting No debasing alloy enter in. The design Was wrought in beauty, simplicity, no line Out of harmony, out of place, With the liveliness of lace. With the velvet tenderness of affection, the love In your caress burnished this jewel from Above So that it shown with radiant, celestial light Like a pearl which borrows life from life; bright In reflected ardor, — alive; pressed In passion 'gainst your pulsing breast.

Two lives: you existed in your own clay mold Indifferent, unconscious to self; in this little soul You lived and had your being— dual aspect Of motherhood— guarded it with circumspect Watchfulness, fearing the dross Abrasive skimmings, causing loss Of lustre in frictionous touch with tender nature Which comes of profane contacts; the rapture Of your newly begotten, vital love of living Induced a jealous suspicion, feverishly distilling A dread of worldly things This new life, by reality, maimed.

Under your protective motherliness he grew As if to contain the fullness of your love; drew From your store of passion the exuberant Joy of living. His life knew no hinderant Sorrow, no frustration, no doubt; Sheltered from care—the world without. Thus he waxed strong in beauty, became complete In the good things: an infant life replete With Godly wholesomeness. A longer span Would have marred his infant brilliance. Man Lives in debasement, dismay, So he, in purity, was taken away.

Do not sorrow that he departed thus the world, Escaped doubt, repressing defeat, the whirl Of maddening, melancholic confusion. He left This life complete in beauty. To remain, bereft, Bit by bit of happiness Would have meant duress To all of his efflorescent healthiness; his adult Trials would have caused you worry; the result Of mounting uncertainties, portentous possibilities. Give thanks that, in the assurance of his tranquility, Every child in playful joy Will be an image of your boy.

With Love
Your nephew,
Jim Douthitt Wilson

How Thankful Are You At This Thanksgiving Time

In taking an inventory of the past, and considering our unworthiness, we find much to be thankful for, after all.

A question of whether or not people should recognize handicaps comes up for consideration. In a measure, one is admitting weakness when he recognizes a handicap, but we are so prone to make excuses, we fear that often times we use the handicap as an alibi, when if we would take what we have at hand and use it to the very best advantage, disregarding the handicap, things would be different with us.

Anyway the balance sheet shows many things to be thankful for, and there is still enough good left in the world to live for and inspire us to strive to help make the world a better place in which to live.

At this season of the year, most all people are more or less sentimental, recognizing the approach of the holiday season and time for good cheer and good will. First, in our opinion, we should take inventory of ourselves and see what we have done and left undone, balance the account and most of us will find that our shortcomings have overcome our good deeds and if it was not for the great mercy of God extended us, our records would be so gloomy many of us would cry for the rocks and mountains to fall upon us to hide us from the face of the earth. In other words, if our records were spread before us, we had to look our own records square in the face, many of us would bow our heads in shame.

When we search our hearts for its intents and purposes, we also find that, many of our shortcomings are common errors of humankind, and not so bad after all. This is a great consolation. People make mistakes, and they are outstanding in our lives. Good deeds are not so prominently featured in our life's pathway, but will spring up and grow after us, if the heart is right with the Creator, and proper restitution has been made with Him who created us and placed us on this earth to glory His name.

We find much to be thankful for at this Thanksgiving Time. God has been wonderful to us and is still making it possible for us to live and get some pleasure out of life. We realize our littleness, our unworthiness, our nothingness so to speak, but we recognize the greatness of God and His mighty strength, often demonstrated thru love and mercy in his wonderful pardoning power. There is much to be thankful for and we thank our Creator for life, strength, the privilege of living and the opportunities that come to us day by day. May He help us to meet the opportunities and face the responsibilities that come to us in a commendable and acceptable manner to Him. Let's all be thankful and push forward, walking by faith and trying at all times to exemplify the love of God thru Jesus Christ within us. Let God have the glory, for He, in return, will glorify us in days to come.

Agriculture Activities

The Agriculture Three Class went on a field trip Tuesday of last week for the purpose of studying the market grades of turkeys, and the methods of picking, grading and packing. The McKinney Produce Company was host to the boys, and their instructor, J. M. Binion, who report a most enjoyable period of instruction.

Mr. Binion also reported plans to begin two evening schools this week in which he will deal with the agricultural acreage reduction program and the utilization of lands put out of production. Schools to begin this week are at Rockwood and Whon.

Thanksgiving is a Primitive Rite

Thanksgiving is celebrated in memory of the day when the friendly Narraganset Indians saw the newcomers farmers of old England in need, because their European cereals failed to grow on the sands of Cape Cod. These red men gave the Pilgrims corn, beans, squashes, wild turkeys, and wild grapes; all considered sacred gifts of the Great Spirit to the soil of America, says Dr. Erl Bates, advisor in Indian extension at the New York state college of agriculture.

However, he says, this was not true the first Thanksgiving. The rite was born as early man sought out his relationship with his creator and wondered at the mystery of the seasons. This became associated with mystery and an element of fear; and to explain this, priests soon developed a ceremonial. History tells of Thanksgiving ten thousand years ago in the Tigres-Euphrates valley when the harvest was gathered; in the valley of the Nile; in Crete; in the beginnings of some of the priestly rituals in Greece and Rome; among the Hebrews; the Norsemen; in the Congo; and in Tasmania as the seasonal waves threw quantities of fish on their shores.

To a simple people like the North American Indians, than giving was personal and sincere. They felt the Spirit at each sunrise and each sunset, and each month the tribe, in common council, celebrated one of their twelve Thanksgivings. In mid-winter they thanked the Great Spirit for sending the snow to protect the seeds and animals; later they gave thanks for the sweet waters of the woodland, or maple sap; in spring they held their great Thanksgiving, for they were able to plant their food staple—Indian maize; soon followed the ceremony for the strawberries and, in order, those for the beans and squashes, the corn harvest, for the wild apples and grapes, and for the time when the hide and flesh of the deer and bear was in season. Doctor Bates says the power of the Six Nations came through the common bond of their religious ceremonies.

As the red man looks at the white American today, he says, the Great Spirit has given the white American fifty times more than he ever gave the red man, but the white American has but one Thanksgiving a year. If the red man with his limitations was able to produce his great civilization with but nature's book and the sky as his guide, what can the white man not do with his inheritance and the wisdom of ages through the printed pages of his ideals and experiences?

"Faith will move mountains in America today as in days gone by, if we place our feet on the sacred soil of the red man and, unafraid, celebrate the true American spirit of Thanksgiving. To be a tolerant, neighborly American, live the Thanksgiving spirit of the red American in daily thinking and living," Doctor Bates says.

Coleman County Hereford Association Organized

At a meeting of the various purebred Hereford breeders of Coleman County held at the Chamber of Commerce in Coleman November 25, 1933 the 'Coleman County Hereford Association' was organized. As Coleman County is one of the oldest breeding centers of purebred Herefords in the state it is thought that such an organization would be another step in advancing Coleman County as a breeding center, not only by further advertising the older herds, but by bringing the newer herds nearer the front. The purpose of the organization is to afford a sales media by which a number of select animals from the various herds can be offered as a group to the public in the form of a purebred cattle auction sale. It is the plan of the association to have its first sale next March and thereafter make an annual event of it.

The charter members of the association are J. C. Dibrell & Sons, Gill Ranch, J. W. Vance, M. K. Witt, Meek Bvers, Tom Padgett & Son, E. E. Hector, and Carroll Kingsbery. There are eight or ten other breeders interested in the association.

J. C. Dibrell, Jr., was elected president of the association and James Padgett secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Dibrell thinks that this step by the various breeders of purebred Herefords in Coleman County will be one of the most potential factors in advancing the breed in this section that has been undertaken by them.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO GET MORE PAVING

The Federal Government, through its Relief Program and its Civil Works Program is going to spend thousands of dollars in our town during this Winter and next Spring; however all this money must be spent for personal services, human labor. We cannot pay for any material, nor for the hauling of any material; so unless the citizens and property owners will come in and help we will not realize any permanent improvements out of all this money.

If the citizens and property owners on any street will get together and guarantee or furnish the gravel or caliche and trucks or wagons and teams to haul same, we will furnish the labor at no cost to you to put down such pavement.

The cost of gravel or caliche pavement 24 feet wide is estimated to be $50.00 per block, this can be prorated among all the property owners along both sides and will not cost anyone very much and this type of paving in the residence sections should last 15 years and with a little repaving every few years last much longer. Talk to your neighbors along your street, get them lined up and on the dotted line and call this office and we will get busy at once working your street.

Flowers For The Living

One of the best women God ever created recently visited this office and carried under her arm a box, just received from the post office, which contained one of the largest and most beautiful orchid chrysanthe-mums we ever saw. Mother Garrett was tickled beyond expression to be remembered in such a lovely way by some good friends living at Lubbock.

Life is real and love is sacred with Mother Garrett. Her heart is filled with love, sympathy, and good intentions. Amidst trials and disappointments, she finds life still worth living and goes about her daily chores, seeking to do good for some one every day. There are many flowers and treasurers laid up in Heaven for her in the life to follow. We've heard it said that God could not be everywhere, therefore He created Mothers. It has been more than twenty years since this writer had the pleasure of seeing and associating with our own dear Mother, but we have found motherhood exemplified in friends many times. If it was our's to give, her span of life would be extended indefinitely.

SANTA ANNA GETS COLD DEAL IN FINAL GAME

The editor of this paper is not versed in football language or parlance as it is usually called, therefore, we are at sea when it comes to reporting a game.

According to our way of seeing, Santa Anna got a cold deal this week when the game played at Coleman last Friday was awarded to Coleman. The matter was in controversy from Friday until late Monday, when it was finally settled definitely.

According to Coach Binion and several others who know the game and the rules, the decision that awarded the game was an error due to the ignorance of the referee, who was not familiar with technical rules until after the game was played. According to information coming to this office Tuesday, the referee admitted his error, but refused to correct it because he had already made the decision following the game Friday.

The referee rendered himself very unpopular in Santa Anna, and we don't believe the majority of people in Coleman appreciate the game being awarded them by error when they really and truly were not entitled to it.

The writer watched the game, the first one this season, and it was a real football game. Both teams did some real playing and fought for all there was in it. According to our way of observing, the game was tied. The score was 7-7 and those technicalities should have been eliminated and the game called a tie.

W. E. Baxter Elected Mayor

In a three cornered race here Tuesday in a special election ordered by the City Commission to elect a Mayor to serve the unexpired term of Mayor Leman Brown, resigned, W. E. Baxter was elected.

The three candidates were D. R. Hill, who received 48 votes; Emmett Day, 56 votes; and W. E. Baxter, 75 votes. The printed ballot did not carry Mr. Baxter's name, but his friends got busy and waged a short write-in campaign and put him over.

Mr. Baxter has served the city several terms, and is familiar with the city's affairs. Give him your cooperation and he will, in return, give you his very best service.

OWL BEAUTY SHOP

In a comprehensive review of this kind, embracing as it does the most salient features of on-ward progress, we shall not fail to devote space to the Owl Beauty Shop in Coleman at 218 Commercial Avenue. There is a saying that beauty is only skin deep, but we have found, upon observation and study, that beauty is one-fourth natural and three-fourths care. Science has made great advances in the last few years and many of the old-fashioned ideas have been discarded for the new results of science.

The Owl Beauty Shop is one of the best beauty shops located in this district. It offers the ladies of this, and surrounding sections, an opportunity that is unexcelled.

This is a business which we wish to call to the attention of the ladies of this section, for it is conducted solely for their benefit. This is a day and age when women, both old and young, are paying more attention to the little things which keep them from having to look beyond their years.

It is only in the last decade that women have realized that it was necessary to have facial work done, for they thought that if the hair was clean that was all that was necessary. In the modern beauty shop of today, it is possible to have the face treated in such a way that little wrinkles and skin troubles vanish and with them many years.

The Owl Beauty Shop specializes in permanent waving, scalp and facial treatments, and shampooing. This shop is under the capable management of Mr. S. L. Gilliam.

BROWNWOOD POULTRY AND EGG COMPANY

The Brownwood Poultry and Egg Co. at 306 East Broadway in Brownwood, has done much in encouraging the agricultural progress of this part of Texas.

A very popular feature of this well-known house is the courtesy and accommodation that marks their dealings with the producer. The establishment is under the direction of competent business men and they have associated with them only such assistants that can be depended upon to render the most courteous and magnanimous service.

The Brownwood Poultry and Egg Co. is conveniently located and large enough to look after the patrons in a satisfactory manner.

The management insists that the very best attention be given to every patron. As a consequence people are now praising the excellent service of this concern.

We assure everyone that when they have business dealing with the Brownwood Poultry and Egg Co. they can always be sure of receiving courteous service and the highest market price. They have always been known for honest and straightforward dealings with everyone who visits the place. Consequently the Brownwood Poultry and Egg Co. adds much to the efficiency of Brownwood as a trading center.

THE FIRST MOTION PICTURE SHOW

Imagine yourself at the first motion picture show. It is April 23, 1896. The weather has been splendid and the house is packed to the galleries. Everyone is awed with the mysterious screen in its brightly gilded frame. There is mention of a man named Thomas Armat, whose invention, the Vitascoper, is to throw pictures—moving pictures—upon that very screen. It is incredulous! The audience whistles and shouts with impatience.

Then a sudden flash of light and there are figures actually moving on the screen. The audience is momentarily hushed as if a ghost were in its presence. There are pictures of a prize fight. Men shout encouragement to their favorite fighters. A young lady faints at the sight of the dreadful combat. Then a dancer flashes onto the screen. The gallery boys cheer with enthusiasm.

The dancer is whisked away as mysteriously as she came and there is a scene of great waves dashing in upon the Manhattan beach. People in the front rows jump to their feet and rush frantically into the aisles to avoid being drowned in the deluge. Ladies lift their petticoats to save them from the waves. Then the flood is over and the such efforts without success for many centuries prior to the steam engine.

Nicholas Joseph Cugnot operated a three-wheeled steam propelled wagon in which coal was used as fuel. This wagon was heavy, awkward and difficult to manage, but succeeded in making a speed of two and one-half miles per hour.

How different today with several million automobiles and trucks on our streets and highways. In this, the motor age, when one person out of every five owns an automobile, the business of the Clark-Moore Auto Supply, in Coleman at 110 East Pecan, is one of the most flourishing. Competition is keen and the firm which succeeds must offer especially attractive bargains. The Clark-Moore Auto Supply, in a comparatively short time, has built up a reputation that is worth many times the audience sheepishly resumes its seats.

Such was the first picture show. Since that memorable day in motion picture history there has been constant improvement in the showing of motion pictures. The sound feature has been added and the theater has become our most popular public entertainment.

THE HOWELL THEATRE IN COLEMAN is one of the most popular theaters in this section of the state. It makes a specialty of serving the people of this city and the surrounding territory with the very best pictures that are available.

The HOWELL THEATRE is equipped for the very best sound production. In watching the pictures and listening to the sound effects the audience forgets for the moment that the actors are not actually before it. The management of the HOWELL theater always makes it a point to secure the best pictures available. New screen hits are brought to your city just as soon as it is possible. The most popular stars of Hollywood are featured in their pictures.

The HOWELL THEATRE is comfortable and clean. The air is fresh, and always at the most comfortable temperature.

POULTRY THEN AND NOW

Eggs are a popular food throughout the world. But in some distant regions of the globe the people do not confine the use of eggs to those produced by hens. The eggs of turtles, for example, are considered great delicacies. In Orkney and the Shetland Islands there is huge demand for the eggs of gulls, guillemots and wild ducks.

If we were to visit the coast of Labrador we might see men braving dangerous precipices in order to secure the eggs on the ledges. Their companions lower these searchers on ropes so that they may reach the nests of the many sea birds. It has become quite a profitable industry.

As for poultry, it is impossible to say when the domestication of the fowl began. It is certain that the cock had been domesticated in China fourteen hundred years before the birth of Christ. Gradually the Persians learned to keep fowls, and it was likely they who carried the idea into European countries.

The Asiatic fowls were large-bodied birds twice the size of the early Mediterranean breeds. These two types of bird are the ancestors of all our present day breeds of poultry. Many still retain Oriental names as Brah-mas, Shanghis, or Pekin ducks. While a fowl is still considered a genuine table treat, the price has been lowered to where every housewife may serve one frequently without the least feeling of extravagance.

Coleman and vicinity is fortunate in having an excellent poultry company of its own: The Jones Brothers and Company, at 107 East Live Oak, is one of the businesses that have materially boosted the development of this territory. It handles only clean, healthy fowls and has been exceedingly successful in building an extensive market demand for its products.

The management of the Jones Brothers and Co. always insists that the greatest attention and courtesy be shown to all customers and patrons. People who trade here always become permanent friends and customers of the company.

One of the outstanding features of this popular concern is the fact that they always pay the top of the market to the producer. The Jones Brothers and Company was established in 1914. At one time 14 chicken crates handled the Santa Anna business, now they deal in car lots.

C. B. MITCHELL REFINERY

The C. B. Mitchell Refinery in Coleman, on Gray Street, features the gas with a punch which has gained an enviable reputation as being among the highest test gasolines of the day. It makes no difference whether it is for the passenger car, truck or tractor they have fuel that will suit your needs. They have made a study of this feature of the trade and especially of the kind of gasoline that is adapted to this climate.

Their gasoline is equally as dry as any so called "dry" gas. In addition it is a balanced gas, scientifically refined so that every drop of gasoline goes into power. It is specially adapted for use in the altitudes of Texas. This is a very important consideration with motorists. Where other gases not so refined would have much waste and exhibit general poor action, this gasoline functions smoothly and perfectly, with a continuous steady flow of power that speaks months of research, careful testing and expert supervision at the refinery.

C. B. Mitchell Refinery's gasoline is recognized as the very highest product that is turned out from any refinery of this part of the country. They use the very latest processes and refine to a high degree. This accounts for their large trade and patronage among local people, who are often critical of local products.

We might add that as this is a local product, it should demand the attention of all of the people of this section. It can readily be seen that thousands of dollars are placed in local circulation by this company which otherwise would never make the acquaintance of the people of this part of Texas. The large scale of their activities, the industrial wisdom of the management and the straightforwardness of their dealings have won a place for them in the hearts of the people of this community and patrons in many other sections.

The management and their associates are prominent citizens of the community, identified for years with her progress, always boosting for the community in which their enterprise is located. The C. B. Mitchell Refinery is fully equipped to fulfill any size order in gasoline or kerosene.

actual inventory of the stock. They make a special feature of replacement parts and carry all kinds in stock at all times. This means you do not have to send to a distant city or the factory for the new part. If you will but call at their establishment you will find the part that you desire.

In making this historical review, we are glad to compliment the Clark-Moore Auto Supply of Coleman upon the position they have gained in their special line of business.

Coleman Mutual Aid Association Under Management of Sam T. Cobb

There can be no question but that this is the day and age when life insurance is one of the essential necessities of every individual. It was not thought of until the latter part of the sixteenth century. The first policy was term insurance and was written in 1583, in London, England, on the life of one Wm. Gibbons. It was for a term of one year, and the premium was 8 percent of the face value of $2,000.00.

This first policy did not have back of it the reliability, stability and assurance that is offered by our modern life insurance associations. On the contrary it was underwritten by sixteen men. Mr. Gibbon died just twenty days before the policy expired. The underwriters contended that twelve times four weeks of twenty-eight days constituted a year, therefore they refused to pay. The courts ruled, however, that they were liable and that three hundred and sixty-five days was a year, so the policy was paid. How different today. No one need fear of having to get court rulings in obtaining settlement of claims if they deal with a reliable association.

If you are contemplating taking out a life policy of any kind, you should see the Coleman Mutual Aid Association located in Coleman in the Coleman Office Building. If you are not contemplating buying a policy it may pay you to think the matter over seriously and come in and see the Coleman Mutual Aid Association and talk the matter over with this well informed insurance agency.

Each year thousands of dollars have been paid on claims

STURGES AND GIBBS SEMI-ANNUAL SALE NOW IN FULL SWING IN COLEMAN

The Sturges and Gibbs Store in Coleman at 204 Commercial Ave. is one of the most complete ladies' stores in this section.

Individuality and distinctiveness of design are noted in specialties and ready-to-wear from this establishment, and this is in a large degree responsible for the extensive trade of this store.

First, they insist that their service be dependable. You know that you are going to get value and courteous treatment when you trade here, because past experience has taught you that they are personally interested in you and your trade. Next, they leave nothing undone in their efforts to provide you with the very best that can be had for the money.

In the Sturges and Gibbs Store is found not only the styles and materials in most popular vogue today, but the most conservative of modiste garments that have met with universal approval. As regards prices, you will find that these garments, which hang in graceful and becoming lines, are offered at most reasonable figures, for while this store enjoys the patronage of the community, it is the most popular store within many miles—more than a mile of every walk of life.

No sooner has one style been accepted by the nation than it at once makes its appearance at this store, and is presented in a variety of materials for the choice of the people of this district.

These are some of the secrets of the success of the Sturges and Gibbs Store. These are some reasons why the experienced management finds that it increases each season. These are but a few of the reasons that we wish, in this historical review, to direct to the special attention of our readers that have made this establishment one of the essential factors in the life of the community.

The service at the Sturges and Gibbs Store is individual. The salespeople are students of the types of people, the correct styles of the day and of excellent judgment, thus being able to aid in the selection of garments that are becoming.

In making this review we are glad to compliment them upon their modern store, its excellent appointments, their stock of advanced styles and their modern service.

presented to them. And in making this historical review we are glad to compliment this office upon its standing in the business and professional life of Coleman.

SELF-CULTURE CLUB

One of the most enjoyable meetings of the season was reported by the Self-Culture Club after the session held last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. E. Combs. Mrs. C. P. Petty and Mrs. L. H. Fry were co-hostesses. The reception rooms were made lovely with chrysanthemums and pot plants.

Mrs. T. M. Hays, Jr. presided during the business interval, during which time Mrs. L. O. Garrett, and Mrs. A. O. Etheridge, were welcomed as new members, and Mrs. M. A. Edwards was voted into the club.

Mrs. W. H. Thate was leader for the Thanksgiving program which followed, and gave a very interesting description of present-day Plymouth. Mrs. Fry gave a Thanksgiving reading, and Mrs. C. B. Verner told of points of interest in and around Boston. Mrs. E. D. ... sang "Pirate Dreams" and "The Nightingale Has a Lyre of Gold" accompanied by Miss Elsie Lee Harper at the piano.

After the lesson a short contest was enjoyed, that of making words from "Thanksgiving Day." Mrs. A. L. Oder was presented a beautiful vase for her proficiency in getting the most words.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS:

Our subscription business is not coming up to our expectations, notwithstanding several are coming in each week. We have entirely too many delinquent subscribers, and wish it were possible for all to come in and renew. Just for your information, we will accept most anything you have to offer on your subscription. Chickens, turkeys, canned fruit, corn, and many other items such as farmers usually have to spare, will be acceptable as legal tender on your subscription, provided you do not have the money. Money speaks louder than anything else at this office, but when money is not available, bring us something else. Pork, sausage, beef, and most anything you have that is of use, we can use it. Come in and let's talk the matter over.

THANKSGIVING

How would it end? Would the New World come under the sway of civilization, or would it remain under the barbaric rule of the savage Indian? It all depended upon the harvest reaped by the Pilgrim Fathers—would it be plentiful or scarce? The Pilgrims had been in America for nearly a year. The springtime sowing had taken place and all summer the fields had been watched with great anxiety. It was no wonder that when the harvest was rich beyond all expectation, the uneasy hearts were filled with such joy that Governor Bradford sent four men into the forests to shoot wild birds. "We will hold a harvest feast of Thanksgiving," he said, and invited the Indians who had been friendly to the strangers to rejoice with the white men. The Indians came bearing gifts of venison, and the harvest feast lasted three days.

This was the first Thanksgiving Day celebrated in America, and little by little, as new colonies settled the land, the custom of a yearly Thanksgiving spread throughout the country and is still in use.

General Washington perfectly expressed the spirit of the day in his Thanksgiving Proclamation in 1789:

Whereas it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, to be grateful for His benefits, and humbly to implore His protection, aid and favors. Now, therefore, I do recommend and assign Thursday, the 26th day of November next to be devoted by the people of these States to the service of that great and glorious Being, who is the Beneficent Author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be; that we may then all unite in rendering unto Him our sincere and humble thanks for His kind care and protection of the people of this country, and for all the great and various favors which He has been pleased to confer upon us.

except to finish his six-week work and hand in notes books. However, Mr. Loh has requested that one of the Home Economics groups present a play in chapel and help teach the whole school some of the things the Home Economics students learn in the "Proper Selection and Preparation of Foods."

Miss Hays has designated the Home Economics III class to do this and a committee has been appointed to select an appropriate play or program to give. The committee is composed of Annie Louise Watkins, chairman, Irene Rountree, and Lena Jane Bartlett. This committee is to select the program before the Thanksgiving holidays and the class hopes to start working on it before long.

THANKS TO THEE

A grateful heart I bring to Thee On this Thanksgiving Day, For all the blessings given me, Lord, I can't ne'er repay.

I thank Thee, Lord, for loving arms That 'round my soul doth cling, To lessen all life's fears and harms, And consolation bring.

I thank Thee, Lord, for loving friends, For kindred kind and true, For all the joys that thou dost send, Thy gentle guidance, too.

Oh, keep my soul, dear Lord, I pray, In blessed communion sweet, With thy own people and with Thee, Till we someday shall meet. A Junior.

CHORAL CLUB NEWS

Girls in the Choral Club are still working diligently. They are now planning to have a concert about Christmas time. Several new pieces have arrived, and the girls are trying to learn them, so they will be able to present the concert. The choral clubs are doing excellent work under the direction of Miss Elsie Lee Harper.

EXTRA! EXTRA!

Monday morning large groups of students were gathered 'round blackboards where long strips of paper were hanging. Some came away with downcast eyes, others talked with loud voices. A few moans came from the place where the freshmen were standing. Smiles were nowhere to be seen. (In many places it looked like rain.)

What had happened? No war had been declared. Was that a list of expelled students? No, the papers affected everyone. Heavens, could it be an announcement of the results of the game with Coleman that caused those mournful looks and melancholy sighs? That was not possible, because such announcements are not posted in so many different places. Well, then, what were those slips of paper? They were lists of examination grades!

GIRLS BASKET BALL TEAM IS ORGANIZED

Monday morning twenty-three girls met in the Home Economics laboratory with the director, Miss Hays, to organize a basket ball team.

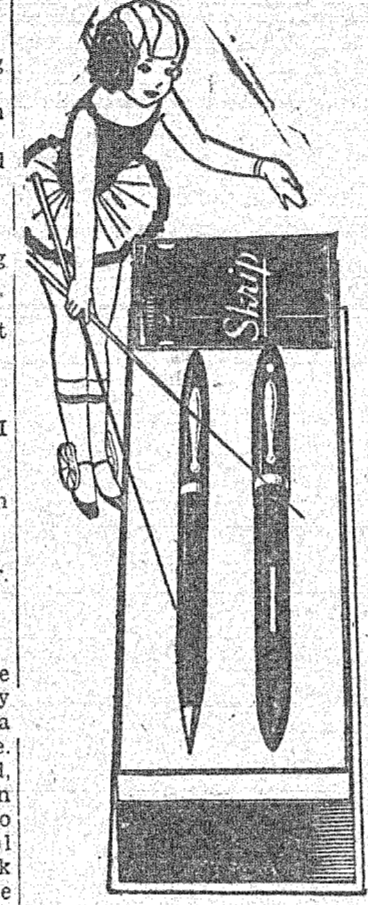

Madge Phillips was elected captain of the team. Also the girls were assigned their places on the team.

It was decided that the girls should sell candy in order to buy a basket ball.

Study of the Constitution Begins

Beginning this week, the Civics and Economics students will give the entire next six weeks period to the study of the State and Federal Constitutions.

Several other students will come into the classes for this course, and the instructor, Mrs. Bartlett, plans an interesting class period for all.

Wide Variety of Contests Offered Schools this Year

The Interscholastic League of this county offers the schools this year a wide variety of contests, according to the officers recently elected for the organization for the current year.

"No other extra-curricular activity," they say, "engages the interest and stimulates endeavor along helpful lines more than the contests which are scheduled for the county meets. Here we have an activity for practically every child. There is opportunity for participation in fifteen different fields, both athletic and literary, ranging from the third grade on up to the last year in high school.

"We are advised from the State Office that the Constitution and Rules has been distributed and that all schools in Coleman County are members of the League. The schools in this county should get in on the ground floor and begin preparations early. Each school has a copy of the Constitution and Rules, a copy of the current spelling list and is entered for a year's subscription to the In-terscholastic League. Last year nearly six thousand pupils joined the League and participated in its work in 220 different counties. There are many tests arranged for every class of public school, including first, ward, and both small and large high schools, and all-around championships are decided in each of the divisions at the county meet."

Winters Get Championship By Toss of Coin

Class B football races in this territory were further clarified Wednesday when Winters was established as the champion of its district, and the state was set for a playoff between Cross Plains and Albany in another.

Winters took the title in No. 13 on the toss of a coin. Coach Clyde Pratt of the Blizzards flipped the coin, and the captain of the San Saba team called it wrong. Winters had won the western half title, San Saba the eastern half, but each had played its limit of ten games for a district race. The Blizzards next week will encounter the Wink Wildcats.

Victories by Cross Plains and Albany Wednesday ended their regular schedule with the teams tied for first place. They will clash in Albany Saturday at 2:30, their second meeting of the season. Their first game was a scoreless tie. Albany won from Putnam, 27-6, and Cross Plains eked out a 7-0 verdict over Rising Star. Putnam was the first team to score on Albany this year. The touchdown was made by Evans on a 75 yard return of a punt. —Abilene Morning News.

The McKinney Produce Company was host to the boys, and their instructor, J. M. Binlon, who report a most enjoyable period of instruction.

Mr. Binlon also reported plans to begin two evening schools this week in which he will deal with the agricultural acreage reduction program and the utilization of lands put out of production. Schools to begin this week are at Rockwood and Whon.

The Federal Emergency Relief Administration has allowed the Texas Relief Commission sufficient funds to purchase a minimum of 20,000 cutter cows for its relief needs. These cows will be slaughtered at some eighteen central points in the state.

The Extension Service of the A & M College is cooperating through the county agents in regulating the flow of these cows to these slaughtering centers. It is hoped to have the job finished not later than January 15. Canning plants are to be equipped at those slaughtering centers where cows will be immediately processed into canned products.

Town To Celebrate Tuesday

The above is the news you have been wishing for, for months, and at last the good news and glad tidings are here and being spread from ear to ear.

Thursday morning, Thanksgiving Day, the directorship of the new bank, The Santa Anna National Bank, received news from Washington, D. C. stating the papers had been approved and they are privileged to proceed with the necessary changes and open the bank for business.

The First National Bank will be closed Saturday, December 2nd for the purpose of making the necessary transfers, and the doors of the new institution will be opened Monday morning, December 4th; for the purpose of carrying on business in the regular channels of banking.

The new institution is a strong one, carrying $50,000.00 capital stock, with a surplus and net-profits of $25,000.00, giving them a working capital of $75,000.00 fully paid up and none assessable. 2500 shares of stock, having a value of $20 each, were sold for $30 per share, creating the surplus of $25,000 to begin with.

Santa Anna has been without banking facilities since March 1st, 1933, except the old and retiring First National Bank being operated under a conservator and restricted as a depository, but not allowed to function as a bank that could loan money and carry on in the usual banking manner, day, December 5th.

The new bank will be a safe and sound institution, and no one need fear for the safety of his money deposited in The Santa Anna National Bank.

It has been a hard grind and a slow deal to organize a new set-up and perfect a new bank in Santa Anna, but the job has been done and is now completed and the bank is ready for business.

The board of directors will meet Saturday and elect the official family to carry on in the new bank, and the new management will be announced in this paper next week.

The board of directors for the new bank are Burgess Weaver, W. R. Kelley, W. E. Wallace, Clinton Lowe, and Ben Yarborough.

It is a pleasure indeed to send out this bit of news, and we know it will be hailed with delight. Let's join in praise and congratulations.

The Thanksgiving Season

Except the Fourth of July Thanksgiving is the most distinctively American of all our national holidays. It has not always been held so late in the year, nor has it always been held everywhere at the same time. Originating in New England, it was not observed throughout the country until after the Civil war, when the Presidents, as well as the governors of states, began to issue Thanksgiving proclamations. Thus it has become a symbol of national unity.

The custom of celebrating a Thanksgiving day did not originate with the Pilgrims, though they introduced it into this country. For seven days when the harvest was over the Hebrews of the Old Testament held their Feast of Tabernacles, a sort of camping-out time in memory of their period of wandering in the wilderness. In October the Greeks celebrated at Athens their "Thesmophoria," in honor of Demeter, the goddess of agriculture. It was a festival that began with religious rites performed by married women only, and that ended with a general banquet and dancing.

On October 4 the Romans kept a similar festival that they called "Cerealia" in honor of Ceres, their goddess of the harvest. Indeed there is in almost every European nation a tradition of a feast to mark the end of the garnering of the crops. In Old England it was called "Harvest Home" and came down from the Saxon period; in Scotland it was "Kern"—a word that means the last sheaf. The Dutch of Leyden, where the Pilgrims spent ten years before they came to New England, celebrated on October 3 every year a festival to give thanks for their delivery from the Spaniards in 1574—a day that corresponds to our Armistice day. In the Scandinavian churches a special Sunday is designated every fall as Thanksgiving day. —Youth's Companion.

Platitude is in 1933—Early to bed, early to rise, makes a girl healthy but not very wise.

Big Celebration Tuesday

Santa Anna is planning to celebrate with a big FREE BARBECUE, and program of general entertainment Tuesday.

The general public is invited to Santa Anna Tuesday to join the business men and women of Santa Anna in the celebration. The program will start about noon and continue throughout the day, closing with a FREE BARBECUE feed in the evening.

A speaker from Dallas is expected to be on the program to make a short talk regarding the bank. The entire afternoon will be filled with entertainment that, in the discretion of the committee, will be appropriate for the occasion.

Special Edition Next Week

By request of several of the merchants the Santa Anna News will feature a special congratulatory edition next week, and we hope to have every business in town represented in our advertising columns. If you are glad to have a new bank in your town tell it to the world through the columns of the Santa Anna News. Plenty of extra copies will be printed to cover the territory and this will be your opportunity to place your advertisement in every home. Bring us your copy early as time will be a factor with us in the office.

Coleman County Hereford Association Organized

At a meeting of the various purebred Hereford breeders of Coleman County held at the Chamber of Commerce in Coleman November 25, 1933 the "Coleman County Hereford Association" was organized. As Coleman County is one of the oldest breeding centers of purebred Herefords in the state it is thought that such an organization would be another step in advancing Coleman County as a breeding center, not only by further advertising the older herds, but by bringing the newer herds nearer the front.

The purpose of the organization is to afford a sales media by which a number of select animals from the various herds can be offered as a group to the public in the form of a purebred cattle auction sale. It is the plan of the association to have its first sale next March, and thereafter make an annual event of it.

The charter members of the association are J. C. Dibrell & Sons, Gill Ranch, J. W. Vance, M. K. Witt, Meek Evers, Tom Padgett & Son, E. E. Hector, and Carroll Kingsbery. There are eight or ten other breeders interested in the association.

J. C. Dibrell, Jr., was elected president of the association and James Padgett secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Dibrell thinks that this step by the various breeders of purebred Herefords in Coleman County will be one of the most potential factors in advancing the breed in "this section that has been undertaken by them.

I. Williamson and Boss McAnally returned Monday from Mountainaire, New Mexico, where they have been the past several months for the benefit of Mr. Williamson's health. Mr. Williamson plans to spend the holidays at home, then return to the mountains again next year.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS:

Our subscription business is not coming up to our expectations, notwithstanding several are coming in each week. We have entirely too many delinquent subscribers, and wish it were possible for all to come in and renew. Just for your information, we will accept most anything you have to offer on your subscription. Chickens, turkeys, canned fruit, corn, and many other items such as farmers usually have to spare, will be acceptable as legal tender on your subscription, provided you do not have the money. Money speaks louder than anything else at this office, but when money is not available, bring us something else. Pork, sausage, beef, and most anything you have that is of use, we can use it. Come in and let's talk the matter over.

The United States census statistics show that when most young men and women finish their schooling they go into business. It is right that it should be so. The greatest opportunities today are in business. But here is another interesting fact. A great many of these boys and girls who do go into business positions, of one kind and another, have taken courses at school and college that are not intended to train them for business careers at all. They go to this, that and the other kind of schools, they take all sorts and kinds of courses—and then they go out and look for business positions.

Not only are they untrained in modern business methods, but they are not even trained in common business discipline. Our schools should train our young people for the work they are going to do in life. If they are going to be doctors or lawyers they should go to medical school or law school. But for heaven's sake let's train our business men and women in the same intelligent way.

We do not mean that every boy and girl should go to Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration, but we DO maintain that boys and girls who are going into business will be better prepared if they have business educations offered by an outstanding Business School.

The fact that a course at Tyler takes less time and costs less money is not a drawback. It is an advantage. It simply means that a student's effort is turned into profit more quickly.

The courses that are taught at Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration are described in the booklet, "Achieving Success in Business," which is mailed free upon request. They are real college courses. A term at Tyler is a real college training—with a lot of waste of time left out.

State Supervisor Visits Home Economics Department

Miss Josephine Pazdral, who is the State Supervisor of Home Economics, visited the Home Economics department Friday. She seemed well pleased with the work that Miss Hays and the Home Economics department are doing. She also gave a few helpful suggestions which they hope to put into effect before long and help increase the efficiency of the department.

Seniors Have Class Party

Seniors had their first class party Tuesday night at Ruth Niell's. The party had been planned for some time. Auby Fay Murrell seemed to be the chief entertainer of the evening. He played the piano and the guitar and sang several popular songs. Also multifarious games were played. There were about thirty seniors, three ex-graduates and two underclassmen present.

Home Economics Club News

The Home Economics Club is organized now and we are ready for our years work.

The meeting Tuesday morning November 21, was a business conference in which we elected our officers. They are as follows, Golda Hardy, Secretary, Lena Jane Bartlett, treasurer, Thelma Lowe, yell leader, Dolphia Lindley, reporter, Elizabeth Fletcher, social chairman, Mary Bradford, refreshment chairman, Christine Zachary, decoration chairman and Annie Louise Watkins and May Campbell are both running for president.

We are planning to try to express Thanksgiving by going to the homes of shut-ins and afflicted friends on Thanksgiving morning and sing songs for their entertainment.

We hope to make our club a success and with the help of all the members we are sure it will be a pleasure to all of us.

Girls Physical Training

On Mondays the girls Physical Training class remains in the Home Economics Laboratory for discussion of health. After the discussion is completed, exercise is taken.

Wednesdays are devoted to games such as basket ball, tennis, volley ball, baseball and ring games.

Physical training this year benefits the girls in two ways: the exercise improves their health and the discussions teach them how to improve their health conditions.

Summary of Money Made for Athletic Fund

The amount of money made this year for the athletic fund is as follows: twenty per cent of the South American program, five dollars, thirty cents; Hal-lowe'en Receipts, fourteen dollars, ninety-two cents; and one third of the magic music program, seven dollars, ten cents. A total of twenty-seven dollars, thirty-two cents.

Who Sings Loudest in Chapel

Is it the largest or smallest? Sometimes it is both. While singing "Three Blind Mice" in chapel one morning Bess Inez Shield's voice was heard above all others. Christine Zachary, Louise Wilsford, and Golda Hardy should be mentioned. Annie Lee Brown, another junior's name, should be added.

Former Football Players Show Loyalty to SAHS

Loyalty to football was noticed last Friday in the fact that so many of the former football players were at the game of Santa Anna vs. Coleman.

On particular notice, it was found that several of the former captains and other players were present to see Santa Anna do its best.

The former captains present were Buster Turner, Edwin Rollins, and Clovis Fletcher. Other members present were Eddie Paul Voss, John E. Smith, Audas Smith, Clifford Wheeler, Max DuBols, Leon Ward, Ellsworth Brandon, and Woodrow Niell.

This shows that they are still with dear old SAHS and are helping to fight in the games. These boys, in former years, fought hard for their own football teams. They played the games fair and square and when they were defeated they took it like sports.

Mr. Scarborough: "May I present my wife to you?"
 Mr. Green: "Many thanks, but I have one."

CHAPEL WEDNESDAY

The student body assembled in the auditorium Wednesday for chapel.

After a few announcements by Mr. Scarborough, the remainder of the period was spent in singing.

One new song, "Going Home Song" was practiced. This song is appropriate for Thanksgiving holidays.

JUNIOR NEWS

Winter's invigorating days seem to bring good results as far as tardiness is concerned. Not a single tardy for last week was recorded against the junior boys.

The Juniors have decided for the class members to bring ten cents to pay for tennis nets rather than take the necessary money from the class fund.

Mrs. Bartlett: "Are you laughing at me?"
 Class: "No."

Mrs. Bartlett: "Then what else is there in the room to laugh at?"

Golda Hardy: "If woman was given all the credit she deserves, I don't think man would be quite so prominent in the world's history."

Mr. Green: "I guess you are right. If she could get all the credit she wanted, he'd be in the poorhouse."

Alton D.: "Mother, if I were invited out to dinner, should I eat pie with a fork?"
 Mrs. Dicerens: "Yes, indeed, Alton."

Alton: "You haven't got a pie in the house I could practice on, have you?"

Mr. Scarborough: "If there are any dumbbells in the room, please stand up."
 A long pause, then Maxie Price stands up.

Mr. S.: "What—do you consider yourself a dumbbell?"
 Maxie: "Well, not exactly that, sir, but I hate to see you standing alone."

Mrs. Bartlett: "What is a saxophone?"
 Alton D.: "A saxophone is an instrument played on by the early Saxons.

 Creighton Morgan: "You may not remember me, sir, but two years ago I rescued your daughter from drowning, and you made me a present of one thousand dollars."

Mr. Bartlett: "Yes, indeed, young man, I recall you perfectly. What can I do for you?"
 Creighton: "I merely dropped in to inquire if your daughter has learned to swim yet."

Annie Stiles, an ex-student of SAHS visited school Monday.

THANKSGIVING

How would it end? Would the New World come under the sway of civilization, or would it remain under the barbaric rule of the savage Indian? It all depended upon the harvest reaped by the Pilgrim Fathers—would it be plentiful or scarce? The Pilgrims had been in America for nearly a year. The springtime sowing had taken place and all summer the fields had been watched with great anxiety. It was no wonder that when the harvest was rich beyond all expectation, the uneasy hearts were filled with such joy that Governor Bradford sent four men into the forests to shoot wild birds. "We will hold a harvest feast of Thanksgiving," he said, and invited the Indians who had been friendly to the strangers to rejoice with the white men. The Indians came bearing gifts of venison, and the harvest feast lasted three days.

This was the first Thanksgiving Day celebrated in America, and little by little, as new colonies settled the land, the custom of a yearly Thanksgiving spread throughout the country and is still in use.

General Washington perfectly expressed the spirit of the day in his Thanksgiving Proclamation in 1789:

Whereas it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, to be grateful for His benefits, and humbly to implore His protection, aid and favors. Now, therefore, I do recommend and assign Thursday, the 26th day of November next to be devoted by the people of these States to the service of that great and glorious Being, who is the Beneficent Author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be; that we may then all unite in rendering unto Him our sincere and humble thanks for His kind care and protection of the people of this country, and for all the great and various favors which He has been pleased to confer upon us.

Mrs. J. J. Gregg left Wednesday afternoon for Pecos, Texas to spend Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Buchanan. Mr. Buchanan has been reported seriously ill and we hope she finds him much improved.

I thank Thee, Lord, for loving friends, For kindred kind and true, For all the joys that thou dost send, Thy gentle guidance, too.

Oh, keep my soul, dear Lord, I pray, In blessed communion sweet, With thy own people and with Thee, Till we someday shall meet. A Junior.

Wide Variety of Contests Offered Schools this Year

The Interscholastic League of this county offers the schools this year a wide variety of contests, according to the officers recently elected for the organization for the current year.

"No other extra-curricular activity," they say, "engages the interest and stimulates endeavor along helpful lines more than the contests which are scheduled for the county meets. Here we have an activity for practically every child. There is opportunity for participation in fifteen different fields, both athletic and literary, ranging from the third grade on up to the last year in high school.

"We are advised from the State Office that the Constitution and Rules has been distributed and that all schools in Coleman County are members of the League. The schools in this county should get in on the ground floor and begin preparation early. Each school has a copy of the Constitution and Rules, a copy of the current spelling list and is entered for a year's subscription to the In-terscholastic League. Last year nearly six thousand pupils joined the League and participated in its work in 25 different counties. There are contests arranged for every class of public school, including rural ward, and both small and large high schools, and all-year championships are decided in each of the divisions at the county meet."
