West Texas Educator Interested in Surplus Commodity Disposal

"Because of the demands of war, all city, county, and State agencies have been denied many necessities for carrying on a program which is complimentary to the democratic way of life.

"The immediate education of veterans under the terms of the GI Bill is an obligation our country owes these men and women. They cannot be properly educated for the new day unless they are provided with adequate equipment. The GI Bill makes no provision for providing equipment in keeping with the needs of the veterans.

"Much of the surplus war material will function better in the schools than in the reconversion of industry back into normal channels.

"It is important that our country stimulate the morale of all the people during the letdown period after the war.

"It is just as important to civilization that the educational forces of the world be organized for definite objectives as it is that the political, economic, and labor forces be coordinated.

"The Government should allocate a large part of the surplus war supplies to educational purposes, and only by the thorough organization of each community right now can we direct the flow of these goods to our tax supported institutions at a reasonable cost, thereby preventing speculators from selling it to us later on at an exorbitant price.

Mayor Geo. M. Johnson and Sup. D. D. Byrne were elected by the group to represent Santa Anna, the suggestive distribution of surplus war products.

"Surplus war materials that would aid in vocational training should be made available to educational systems as soon as they are no longer needed for the war effort," declared Dr. H. W. Morelock, President of Sul Ross College, Alpine, in a meeting here on November 13 with the superintendent of schools, county, and city officials, and other civic leaders of Santa Anna.

Dr. Morelock and Glenn Burgess, Manager of the Alpine Chamber of Commerce, are visiting 35 West Texas cities in an effort to arouse interest in the application of the "Surplus Property Act of 1944" passed by Congress on October 3, 1944.

While here Dr. Morelock stressed the part Sul Ross College plans to play in the education of the returning veteran and the efforts that are being made by the College to create better relations between the people of the United States and of Mexico.

Dr. Morelock stated that some of the improvements for Sul Ross College scheduled for the post-war period included a Health Education Building, Pan-American House, a science building for Biology and Geology, and an outdoor swimming pool. This building program, Dr. Morelock believes, will make Sul Ross Campus one of the most attractive in the Southwest to all classes of students as well as veterans.

Speaking of allocation of surplus war materials, the following is a summary of what the two visitors presented at the meeting.

"The money for the purchase of this material came from the taxpayer's pocket at every level of society, and some of it should be returned to him.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Tinkle and daughter, Martha, of Abilene, spent last week-end with the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Boardman. The Tinkles are moving to Tulsa, Okla. this week-end.

School Attendance Law Becomes Effective Nov. 20

All children between the ages of 7 and 16 inclusive are compelled by law to attend school 120 consecutive days unless there are physical or mental conditions which render attendance inadvisable. Where these circumstances prevail a physician's certificate is necessary.

A child who has satisfactorily completed the 7th grade in a standard elementary school and who is more than 12 years of age may be exempt if his services are needed in support of a parent or other person standing in parental relation to the child. This must be supported by proof. Any Parent who does not conform to the law makes himself liable.

Industrial News Men Touring State

Some twelve or fifteen newswriters and radio commentators from throughout the industrial north and eastern states are touring Texas and making inspection of industries here this week.

The visitors attended a dedication ceremony Monday of the General Tire and Rubber Company at Waco, and extended their tour to Austin, Houston and other places where industries have sprung up.

Texas will get some real advertising from the party and should be some incentive to people industrial minded to give Texas a glance before planting elsewhere.

Pvt. Leroy Pennington came last Thursday on furlough from Camp Robinson, Ark., for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elvie Pennington.

Congressman Fisher Lions Club Speaker

Two surprise visitors at the Lions Club luncheon Tuesday were County School Superintendent Terrell Graves of Coleman, and Congressman O. C. Fisher of San Angelo.

The Congressman recently returned from an official visit to England and France, where the visitors made first-hand inspection of the devastations made in the warring countries where fighting and bombings have actually been carried on.

Congressman Fisher reiterated some of the scenes he visited, where the impossible has been done, so to speak.

The party, by invitation, visited General Eisenhower at Normandy and inspected the place where the American Army landed on D-Day. In the language of the Congressman, it still looks impossible.

District Deputy Governor, Geo. M. Johnson, in his report stated that a special meeting of the Lions Club will be held Tuesday night of next week to take the place of the regular noon day luncheon, and a special program will be arranged.

J. G. Williamson, local chairman of the 6th War Loan Drive reported Thursday of this week had been set for the drive and named several committee chairman to sponsor drives in this section.

John Mueller which was followed by two vocal selections given by a trio composed of Dale Laird, Iris Jo Jackson, and Norma Kate Ellis. County Supt. Terrell Graves introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. H. E. Robinson, Director of Equalization with the State Department of Education in Austin, who spoke to the teachers on the Four Freedoms.

Following Mr. Robinson's address, a business meeting was held at which time Supt. Grounds was elected president of the association; Hershel Avinger, Coleman High School principal, was elected first vice-president in charge of programs; and Supt. C. R. Lowe of Buffalo was elected second vice-president in charge of publicity. Other officers selected were Mrs. K. M. TREASURY DEPARTMENT WASHINGTON

November 7, 1944

TO ADVERTISING MANAGERS:

The 6th War Loan will be the toughest one we have faced. We will have to fight a spirit of over-optimism on the part of many who will point to our achievements in Europe and forget the all-out battle we must fight with Japan. The frightful cost of our war in the Pacific must be paid for in War Bond dollars.

A large volume of locally sponsored newspaper advertising will be absolutely essential to the success of the gigantic 6th War Loan program. We hope you will stress to your advertisers that any additional space devoted to War Bond promotion will result in increased War Bond sales to individuals, and increased post-war purchasing power for your community. We have found that since the War Financing program began there has been a close parallel between War Bond sales and the amount of sponsored newspaper War Bond advertising.

Many merchants have found from experience that sponsored newspaper War Bond advertising is their very best public relations approach. In their own best interest, as well as that of our nation, we hope your sponsors will lend their full support to the war financing program during the next few weeks. Of the 14 billion dollar quota for the 6th drive, we face the difficult task of selling 5 billion dollars worth of bonds to individuals.

Newspaper advertising will be a tremendous help in getting our vital War Bond story across to individuals in all walks of life and in all income groups. We urgently need the advertising support of all business in this momentous undertaking.

Next to our military operations the War Bond program is the most vital part of our war effort, and your cooperation with the vital 6th War Loan drive will be very greatly appreciated by the Treasury.

Sincerely,
S. GEORGE LITTLE,
Special Consultant War Finance Division

Question—Do you think that there actually was a flood?

Answer—In Luke 17:27, we read: "The flood came, and destroyed them all."

Q.—Was Paul one of the twelve apostles?

A.—No, but he was an apostle. "Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ, called to be an apostle, separated unto the gospel of God," Romans 1:1.

Q.—My mind is so confusd by the trouble in the world. What can I do?

A.—The gospel of John is a wonderful cure for worry. Here is a sample in John 14:1: "Let not your heart be troubled, ye believe in God, believe also in me."

Q.—I have saved up quite a sum of tith money. What shall I do with it?

A.—We read in Malachi 3:10: "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it." Your church treasury is a storehouse. Why not turn it in there?

Q.—Does "heaven" in the Bible always refer to God's dwelling place?

A.—The term is used in three senses: (1) The atmosphere, in which we find the birds and the clouds. Matthew 8:20; 24:30. (2) The region of the stars. Acts 7:42 Hebrews 11:12. (3) The place of God's throne. Psalm 11:4. Where Christ is. Hebrews 9:24; 1 Peter 3:22. This is also called "the third heaven." 2 Corinthians 12:2

Q.—I believe in prayer; but my prayers are not always answered. Do you believe in prayer?

A.—All true prayer is answered, though not always in the way we expect—not always with a "yes." Remember, "no" is just as much an answer as "yes"; and the answer, even if it be "yes," may be delayed. God knows best as to time and place. Then some prayers are not of faith and, therefore, are not true prayers. We read in Hebrews 11:6: "But without faith it is impossible to please Him: for he that cometh to God must believe that He is, and that He is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him."

TO THE CITIZENS OF COLEMAN CO.

For the sixth time since the beginning of World War II you are being asked to invest your money in United States War Savings Bonds. Since the first war loan drive was made in our country we have seen many changes in the world battle lines. Slowly, but surely, our men on every front have tightened those lines until today we find American soldiers on German soil and General MacArthur back in the Philippines. This has been made possible by the money that American citizens have used to buy bonds. The war is not nearly over. The job is yet to be finished—and the finish will prove to be the hardest part of all. Two things will make that a victorious finish: Our soldiers on the front and the bonds we buy at home.

There are 2500 men from Coleman County serving in the armed forces--one-tenth of our entire population! The cream of our young manhood and womanhood. That is indeed a great sacrifice for any community to make--and one that when placed against dollars and cents makes the latter seem trivial.

We want to raise our quota of $840,000 and go over the top on Monday, Nov. 20th. If your community has a rally, Go and Buy a Bond—the biggest one you possibly can. If you can not go to the rally, or you do not have one in your section, see your community chairman. Make his job easier by not waiting for him to call on you. Like you, he is a busy man—he is giving his time to this patriotic cause.

Buy—Buy every dollar you can in bonds in this Sixth War Loan—Do it before Nov. 20th—and remember you are not GIVING anything. You are investing in the soundest things on earth; your country's freedom and 2500 of our own men.

Activities of M. P. Platoon

With the 36th "Texas" Division, Of the Seventh Army in France—The Military Police Platoon of the 36th "Texas" Division was activated at Camp Bowie, Texas, on February 10, 1942 with Major Armin F. Puck as Platoon Commander. The personnel for the M. P. Platoon were selected from units within the Division, each unit furnishing a certain number of men.

In March 1943, after an intensive period of training at Camp Blanding, Florida, followed by the Louisiana and Carolina maneuvers of '42 and amphibious and other specialized training at Camp Edwards, Massachusetts, the M. P. Platoon embarked for overseas duty. Landing in North Africa on April 13, 1943, the Platoon immediately went through another period of training and further prepared for combat service.

On September 9, 1943, members of the platoon landed at Paestum, Italy with assault elements of the 36th Division in the early hours of "D" day, thus being among the first American troops to land and establish a beachhead on the shores of Europe.

From Salerno to Cassino, the M. P. Platoon supported the 36th by handling prisoners of war, stragglers, and controlling and regulating traffic. In spite of the difficulties encountered such as bad weather, mud, poor road nets, mountainous trails, heavy shell-fire at the Rapido River, on Mt. Claire and Mt. Lungo, Camino and Maggiore, the M. P.'s performed their duties cheerfully and efficiently.

In the latter part of February, 1944, the Platoon together with the remainder of the Division went into a rest area. A few days later, training for the next operation began.

In May, the Division returned to the line. This time it was sent by water to the Anzio beach head. When the push for Rome and beyond began, the MP's fought 29 days and traveled 240 miles. For that monumental drive, the platoon was cited by the Division Commander, Major General John E. Dahlquist.

The citation marking the award stated: "As the troops massed around Velletri, Italy in preparation for an attack against that stubbornly defended enemy stronghold, personnel of the military police platoon worked day and night, frequently under artillery and sniper fire, guiding units to their new areas and providing traffic control in the division sector. During the savage fighting which followed, the platoon established a prisoner of war collecting point and skillfully handled the large number of enemy soldiers captured in the attack. The swift advance toward Rome, through the Eternal

City and to the north necessitated frequent displacements of the prisoners of war stockades, but, in spite of limited personnel the platoon processed over 5000 prisoners taken during the operation. Although the difficulty of traffic control over the long networks of roads forced members of the platoon to remain on duty for 24 hour periods without relief, they worked indefatigably posting and guarding the roads, and they prevented all traffic jams which would have tied up the forward movement of troops and supplies."

The division went into training near the scenes where the invasion of Italy took place. It was during this period of training that the platoon participated in the farewell review given in honor of Major General Fred L. Walker, then Commanding Officer of the 36th, who was leaving for reassignment as Commandant of the Infantry School, Ft. Benning, Georgia.

Upon completion of their training, the Division prepared for another amphibious operation. On August 15, 1944, it landed on the shores of southern France. From that day until the present time, the M. P. Platoon has handled over 15,000 prisoners captured by Divisional and non-divisional units, and provided traffic control for the Division from the beachhead areas on the Riviera, up the Rhone Valley, during the fierce fighting at Montilmar, up to and across the Moselle River.

The M. P. Platoon has never had more than 77 men. Yet, 25 men have been sent to OCS and to Air-Cadet Training centers. It has furnished men for new units to be activated, many of which are serving with distinction overseas. There have been decorations awarded for gallantry in action and heroism and the organization has received commendations from various commanders for exceptionally good work performed by its personnel.

The Military Police Personnel of the 36th Infantry Division has completed 32 months of service since activation, thirteen months of which have been in combat.

SWING OF SOUTHWEST FARM MARKETS

Steady to lower trends featured southwest farm markets during the last few days of October and early November while harvest operations progressed as rapidly as labor conditions would permit, the War Food Administration reports. Easiness prevailed on fruits and vegetables as a result of increased marketings from south Texas and Louisiana. Other outstanding developments included the first important fluctuations in hog prices for several months as the fall marketing season began to take shape. Lower cotton and grain prices, an easier feed situation, and uneven cattle markets, were offset, to some extent, by strength in poultry, eggs, and peanuts.

First South Texas tomatoes of the season arrived in Fort Worth early in the week and brought $3.00 to $3.25 per repacked lug. Broccoli, endive, beans and peppers from the San Antonio area followed about the middle of the week. In spite of easier prices at nearby markets as supplies increased, Texas producers expect good returns on both citrus and vegetables as a result of lessened competition from Florida offerings since the recent hurricane.

Hogs went through a period of sharp fluctuations. Weights from 240 to 270 pounds moved up early in the week in adjustment to increased price ceiling levels on these weights. Then increased marketings at the principal mid-western markets forced prices on all weights down and Southwest markets turned sympathetically lower. Some of the loss was regained before the end of the week, but closing prices still were irregular.

Cattle markets were confusingly uneven. Chicago reported a new high for the year of $18.40 per cwt. on strictly choice to prime steers and yearlings, while most other grades closed the week sharply lower. Most mid-western markets had lower values for nearly all grades, and classes, but occasional spots of strength permeated the market picture. Supplies of grainfed cattle were the largest in several months. In the southwest, markets had a steadier tone, and prices moved upward on nearly all classes, after a slow weak start at the beginning of the period. Good fall grain pastures and large supplies of hay and roughage have created a strong demand for stocker and feeder cattle, especially in the wheat areas of Texas and Oklahoma.

Improvement in the feed situation has resulted also in good movement of sheep onto wheat pastures, but sheep and lamb markets remained very irregular. On the whole, southwestern ewes were weak to about a quarter lower while lambs and yearlings held about steady. Values depended largely on the quality of offerings, and several mid-western points had opposite trends with lambs lower and ewes higher.

Government support programs continued to lend strength to wheat and cotton, while war news and the fast moving philippine situation swayed sentiment in the direction of lower values. Demand for sorghums appears to be saturated, but large supplies remain to be marketed. Favorable weather for harvesting brought increased movement of high quality cottonseed to oil mills at steady levels. Peanuts

RHEUMATIC HEART DISEASE AMONG CHILDREN

Austin, Texas, Nov. 13.—Rheumatic heart disease is now the first cause of death among children aged ten to fourteen, and is second only to tuberculosis at ages of 15 to 25. Despite the importance of this disease its epidemiology is not completely established. No vaccine such as those that prevent typhoid, diphtheria, smallpox, and whooping cough has yet been developed for its prevention or control. We do know, however, some of the danger signals and with the physician's accurate diagnosis some of the damaging results of the disease may be prevented.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, points out that in general the danger signals of rheumatic fever are pain and swelling in the joints of the knees, ankles, elbows, or wrists. The pain usually is felt in one of these centers and spreads to the others. Oftentimes a child will get irritable and cross without any visible signs of a good reason for this attitude; he may cry easily or develop habits of nervousness. A physician should be consulted at once in such a situation, for these symptoms may be the beginning of rheumatic fever.

Exposure to frequent chilling, damp or overcrowded living quarters, a poor diet, an attack of scarlet fever, a bad cold or other infection caused by certain streptococcus germs are likely to be predisposing factors in the appearance of rheumatic fever.

According to Dr. Cox the best safeguards against this disease are to have each child and adult examined at least once a year by a physician, to have the right kinds of food for an adequate diet, and to have plenty of rest.

When the disease is suspected of being present, a doctor should be consulted at once.

To Market, To Market

You'll get a better break in food values, says Mrs. Julia Klene director of the Westinghouse Home Economics Institute, if you'll take these marketing hints to heart: (1) Find out what days your market gets its fresh supply of meats and vegetables—and shop early that day. (2) Patronize one store as much as possible, or at least buy the same types of foods at the same stores—a regular customer gets the benefit of the storekeeper's advice.

Save the "Windfall"

No matter how small the dab of butter or margarine left on plates, Westinghouse home economists believe in saving it. This "windfall," as they call it, is kept in a covered container in the refrigerator and used for cooking.

THE JUNIOR PEP SQUAD

Oh! have you seen those girls? Aren't they cute! Look what nice straight lines they keep and how pretty—and white their suits are. These are only a few of the many nice things said about the Junior Pep Squad.

The Squad was made up of the nice little Freshman girls and in all we had about fifty members. They were led by the very pretty and able leaders, Wanda Henderson, Mary Lois Leady and Artie Jean King.

The colors of the Junior class were Kelly green and white, but because of the war-time difficulties the Pep Squad dressed in all white.

We, the Junior Class, wish to express our thanks for the great help we received from both the Freshman boys and girls in the team and pep squad.

SENIOR PEP SQUAD

As the best sights of the football game were those handsome happy-go-lucky Senior boys, it is only natural that the Senior Pep Squad should catch the eye of the audience.

The opening yell of the Senior followed in succession by many squad was "Fifteen for Seniors" high spirited cheers for our boys.

The most charming leaders to be found in S.A.H.S., Joyce Gill, Billie Jeanette Steward and Doris Jane Henderson, wore white pleated skirts and black sweaters with gold "S." The squad, consisting of bright-eyed Senior and Sophomore girls, were dressed in black skirts with white blouses.

The Senior squad joined with the Junior squad during the half of the game and marched around the field, stopping at the Junior side and giving "fifteen for Juniors," then stopping at the Senior side and giving "fifteen for Seniors." We then completed the drill by dividing at the fifty-yard line and marching off the field in the form of a "V."

JUNIOR NEWS

The Junior Class enjoyed a party Friday night at the home of Mrs. Williamson.

Games planned by Vernetta Stephenson were played, followed by refreshments consisting of jello and cookies.

About twenty-five students and the class sponsors, Mrs. Williamson and Mrs. Arnold were present.

WHO'S WHO IN POPULARITY

As we look around over the grounds of high school we will see different people. One of the most outstanding is Mavice Box, better known as "Sug."

"Sug" was Queen of the Halloween carnival this year, F.F.A. Sweetheart last year, and Duchess of the Home Making Club her freshman year.

Mavice is a Junior this year. She always has a smile for every one, even though she takes two of the hardest subjects, American History and Geometry.

"Sug" lives at Rockwood and she is eighteen years of age. One of her dislikes is studying. Well, now, maybe she isn't the only one.

Speaking of boy friends—well, we will just let the matter drop! Maybe she doesn't want everyone to know who he is.

She has taken an active part in the Home Making Club and Pep Squad. Well, this is all the room we have so we will pick up some one else next week.

GOSSIP

We have some very good news to bring you little ole chicks of S.A.H.S. First I'll tell you about Doris Wright. She has been having a wonderful time with a portion of the Navy home on leave, namely, George Howard.

Marilyn E., what happened to that beautiful friendship between you and Howard Briggs?

We have decided that Marion and Ray McSwain make the cutest couple! We are pretty sure all you slick chicks of Santa Anna High School will agree with us.

After due consideration we have decided that Jo Evelyn French and Frank Jones have been having too many personal talks. Remember, Kids—that's the way J. D. and Maurine started! We might add that they're still at it.

We have noticed a budding romance in Corinne Bengie and Claude Barrington. They are seen together every day at noon.

Betty Jean, would you mind introducing us to that handsome sergeant we saw you with Friday night?

Well, kids, I have had to scratch for the gossip his week. Remember, turn in that dirt you dig up. We always have room for more.

Yours gossipingly,
Peep and Squeak.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

Friday morning in assembly Rev. S. R. Smith presented to the student body and faculty members a very interesting talk on "Creative Thinking." Rev. Mr. Smith's talk, which was followed by announcements from Mr. Byrne, was enjoyed by everyone.

RUMMAGE SALE

The Sophomore class of S.A.H.S. is sponsoring a rummage sale, and candy sale Saturday, November 18. It will be held on the Main street in Santa Anna. We promise plenty of clothes and good cakes and candy.

BAND NEWS

The band has been quite busy the past two weeks. The afternoon of the Junior-Senior football game, the band and pep squad marched in the business section of town to advertise the game. That night we took an active part in supporting the game with our music.

On Armistice Day, we were asked to march in the parade in Brownwood. We feel that we made a real contribution to its success. The band members came out of the parade a bit breathless but happy over a job well done.

ISN'T IT THRILLING!

To be Caught Chewing Gum in Mrs. Evans Class

When the noon hour comes to good 'ole S.A.H.S. and it's chewing gum day in town, the students seem to be in hog heaven. The only thing to keep the students from being perfectly happy is that there is a limit to how much can be sold to each person. After the quota has been purchased from each store, you begin on your gum—first one piece then two. By the time school takes up again you have at least three pieces in your mouth. When the first period is over you have at least one package in your mouth. How are you to hide a whole package of gum is beyond me. About the time you get to the door you think you have the gum well hidden. Of course, the pupils never realize the teachers are smart people and have about as high an I. Q. as the pupil thinks that he has.

After the roll has been checked and everything goes smoothly for a while you absent mindedly start chewing your gum. When you realize you are chewing the gum, you hide it once more. Whew-w! close call. Just as you have successfully hidden the gum, Mrs. Evans looks around. Every thing is going smoothly as you slip the gum back to chew it more "when" Mrs. Evans looks around. Oh goodness! Quick, "Are you chewing gum?" Answer, "Yes, ma'am." Since that is the second time she has caught you, you know there is going to be trouble. What will Mom and Dad say about your bad department grade?

WOODY HERMAN RADIO SHOW (OLD GOLD'S)—A

Musically the great work of radio for the past work, and generally the best in a long while. With the veteran Davey Tough on drums, any fair rhythm man would make this a fine band, but he has himself on clarinet, and vocals along with a fine veteran and young sax section mixed, plus fine Robinson style trumpet played by Phil Scafonphi make this the most exciting band in radio. (Even better than Lombardo! PHEW). Listen, at 11:30 to 12:00 Mutual W.W.L. New Orleans.

By the way, T. Dorsey of John Hall fame seems to be up to his neck in hot water since his brawl because three of his network airings have been cancelled.

Today's laundry service makes one believe you really send your clothes out to be mangled.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

CHRISTIANITY AND DEMOCRACY

LESSON TEXT—Mark 12:13-17; Romans 12:8-10; I Peter 2:13-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ.—Galatians 6:2.

No form of government can claim divine authority, for God's Word does not prescribe any special form of government. But (and this is most important) the principles upon which government should be established are clearly given in God's Word, and the form of rule which best fits into the teaching of the Word necessarily calls for our interest and support.

We find in the Bible the declaration that men are equal in the sight of God, that government is to be a ministry for God (see last week's lesson), receiving its authority from Him and serving Him in exercising that power. Men are to be loyal to the government because they are loyal to God.

Our lesson carries forward the teaching of last Sunday. It tells us that:

The Christian Citizen is—
I. Subject to Both God and Country (Mark 12:13-17).

His devotion to God and the things of God is to be expected of the Christian. We almost said that it is taken for granted, and sometimes that is so true there is no reality in his life. But surely if he is a follower of Christ he must be devoted to Him and to His cause.

But what about his country? That question appears anew in the striking story of Christ and those who were to test Him, yes, to trap Him with a skillfully worded question.

The Pharisees, who hated Rome for its domination of Palestine, and the Herodians, who supported Rome in its control of the land, were enemies, but they joined forces to tempt Christ. They knew that if He said "Yes" to their question, the Jews would be angry, and if He said "No," He could be condemned as a traitor to Rome.

The trap was set, but it caught only the crafty hunters. Taking their own pocket money He declared that if they used Caesar's money they ought to pay taxes to Caesar. The coin stood for an orderly government, benefits of which they enjoyed and which they ought to support.

No real Christian will evade his duty to his country whether it be to pay taxes, to take part intelligently in its government, to defend it, to pray for it, or otherwise to show his love. One of the blots on the Christian church is the lack of civic righteousness on the part of many of its members.

II. Devoted to Both Brother and Neighbor (Rom. 13:8-10).

The Christian loves his brethren; indeed that love is one of the tests by which we may know that a man is truly born again (I John 3:14).

But that love reaches out beyond the circle of the brethren and touches every man who has need of it. The teachers of the Jewish law had sought to circumscribe that word "neighbor," but the Lord effectively dealt with that viewpoint in the story of the Good Samaritan (Luke 10).

All the commandments concerning the vital matter of personal relationship are summed up in the one admonition, "Love thy neighbor as thyself" (v. 9). When love controls, there will be no social dishonesty, no or ill-will. There will be no enmity to the person or property another, for "love worketh no evil to his neighbor."

his is the real "good neighbor policy." Even between nations, need more real love and less effort to impress one another by diplomacy and good will expeditions.

Let there be less political manipulation and more loving, and we shall find our neighbor, both personal and national, responding in kind. Love draws out love from another.

III. Submissive to Both the Law of God and Man (I Pet. 2:13-17).

"Fear God" (v. 17); that is, be eager that there is no failure on your part to please Him by obeying His law. That we expect of the Christian. But we expect more; he is to be a law-abiding citizen, obeying the laws of his country "for the Lord's sake" (v. 13).

The believer may, by his godly submissiveness to his government, of faithfulness witness against the ignorant criticism of foolish men who would have us think that being a Christian makes a man a weakling, or so other-worldly that he is useless in this world.

Our freedom in Christ is not an excuse for careless or wicked living. Not at all—just the opposite in fact. We "honor all men." How can that be done? Only by the grace of God; but by His blessing we can do it. That makes for the real appreciation of man, which is the very foundation of our democracy. If it means anything, it must have as its foundation principle the supreme value of human life and the dignity of the soul of man.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Feed Prospects
The Department of Agriculture thinks the protein feed prospects are better for this winter than they have been for two years.

The report speaks of the bumper wheat crop and the corn yield which may surpass last year's crop by 60 million bushels.

In addition, Midwestern farmers have raised more soy beans than in any year before. The peanut yield is better, though there will be less cottonseed cake and meal than a year ago.

Therefore, if we can depend on statistics, it looks now like there will be a few more sacks of feed this winter for the dairyman, the farmer and the rancher.

It is well to point out, however, that we may not get much benefit from the increase in soy beans unless more of that crop is channeled to mills in the Southwest for processing. We have by far the best mills in the country. Every effort is now being made to get the War Food Administration to assist in getting more of the soy beans sent to our mills.

Veteran's Aid Information

With a million veterans already released from service, the rehabilitation program is gradually getting under way.

Many veterans are taking college or refresher courses, provided for in the G. I. Bill of Rights. Others are using the loan fund to invest in small farms or homes, as their situation permits.

A summary of all these rights provided by law has been printed. I will be glad to send a copy to any one who is interested.

YOUR PROBLEMS AND MINE

Praise Sung for Country Editor
BY JEFF D. RAY
Fort Worth Star-Telegram

In this last article on the pioneer country editor, let me say a word about some of his problems.

In the first place, because of slow and uncertain transportation, it was often difficult to get material—type, paper and ink—to print the paper. Sometimes when here would not be sufficient of a given letter to set up an article they would put some other letter in its place, making often an amusing combination. I have beheaded many a "g" and "r" and "t" to make spaces when these ran short. In 1880 the Fort Griffin Echo's supply of black ink was exhausted. Having on hand a good supply of other colors the paper for weeks appeared in different fantastic shades—red, blue, green.

Another of his troubles was keeping his subscription list up to date. They had not learned the modern art of stopping the paper when the subscription expired. As a result they often carried on their lists a lot of dead material two or three years old. Collection was difficult because the honest editor would contend that the subscriber should pay for the paper the length of time it came to him. The equally honest ranchman would claim that he subscribed and paid for one year and that if the editor kept sending it beyond that he was not responsible.

Produce Accepted

In an effort to collect from these delinquencies they would advertise to take any kind of produce. In the issue of Nov. 17, 1876, the Fort Griffin Echo offered to take wood, hay, fodder, corn, peas, potatoes, fence posts, feathers, scrap iron, honey, soft soap, shingles, syrup, cotton seed, tobacco, pigs, clothing, lumber, coal, eggs, livestock, ducks, peacans, axle grease, chickens, beer, hides and what-not. The Frontier Echo Nov. 24, 1890, rhymed:

"If you expect to live all winter,
Bring some wood and pay the printer."

Another difficulty was getting business men to see the value of advertising. One naive merchant insisted that in order to fill up space and as items of news the papers should print these advertisements free of charge. But the editors kept up propaganda trying to educate their clientele on the subject. The Albany News July 18, 1889, spoke this parable:

"Some men try advertising as Indians tried feathers. He took one feather, laid it on a board and slept on it all night. In the morning he remarked, 'White man say feathers heap soft. White man damn fool.' Some men invest a quarter or 50 cents in advertising and then because they do not at once realize a great increase in business declare that advertising does not pay."

Free Advertising Hit

The Mason News gave out this bit of sarcasm:

"Advertising is all that keeps the Park Hotel at Lampasas from being crowded with guests—the want of it, the want of advertising! Don't be so sparing of the cause and the effect will be there on time. All other industries of Lampasas are flourishing, but they use printer's ink." Probably the editor's most pestiferous termite was the individual or firm that tried to work schemes to get advertising free of cost. Concerning one of these long distance schemers the Frontier Echo Sept. 29, 1876, said: "Mold every mule the government ever owned into one mule and make him all cheek, but it would be as nothing compared to the amount of brass cheek this bumper exhibits."

The country newspaper needs no praise from me but I can not resist the urge to pay my humble respects to the editors of country newspapers.

Don't Drown Vitamins

You'll drown vitamins if you soak vegetables or salad greens in water. Instead, wash and clean them as quickly as possible, for, as Westinghouse home economists explain, some vitamins and minerals also dissolve in water.

BIBLE RIDDLE

God made Adam out of dust, But thought it best to make me first; So I was made before the man, According to God's most holy plan.

My whole body God made complete, Without arms or hands or feet, My ways and acts did God control,

But in my body he placed no soul A living being I became, And Adam gave to me a name. Then from his presence I withdrew.

For this man Adam I never knew. All my Maker's laws I do obey, And from these laws I never stray.

Thousands of me go in great fear But I seldom on the earth appear Later, for a purpose, God did see,

So he placed a living soul in me. But that soul of mine God had to claim, And from me took it back again.

And when this soul from me had fled I was the same as when first made.

Without arms, legs, feet or soul, I travel on from pole to pole. My labors are from day to night, And to men I once furnished light.

Thousands of people, both young and old, Did my death bright lights behold. No right or wrong can I conceive, The Bible and its teachings I can't believe.

The fear of death doesn't trouble me; Pure happiness I will never see. And up to heaven I can never go, Nor in the grave or hell below.

So get your Bible and read with care; You'll find my name recorded there.

FINE RAINS FALL HERE

A generous down pour of rain has fallen here Wednesday and Thursday, and at the time of going to press clouds are hanging heavy overhead, and indications for more moisture are good.

A Safe Minimum

Some eyes need more light than others, of course. Nevertheless, Miss Myrtle Fahs Bender, director of Home Lighting for Westinghouse, points out that research has given us his safe minimum to go by: For reading, studying or other moderate eye work a lamp should be equipped with a bulb or bulbs totalling not less than 100 watts.
