Mountaineers To Engage Menard On Home Field Friday Night At 8:00

The Mountaineers will play hosts to the Menard Yellow Jackets on the home field Friday evening, Sept. 19, at 8:00 p. m. This will be the first time the Mountaineers have ever played the Yellow Jackets from Menard, at least since the World War II years.

Menard has been defeated twice by District 9-A teams. In their opener, Llano just barely eked out a win in the final minutes of play by a 6-2 score. Last week Mason, with all apparent ease, ran over them to the tune of 60 to 0. So the Menard boys are bound to be out for their first win, and they would probably like that win to be against a District 9-A team.

The local boys are also going to be out for their first win. Having suffered two defeats, with most of the scoring in both games being as a result of field errors, the Mountaineers should be ready for this game. A lot of their errors should be straightened out this week in practice.

With several more boys reporting for practice each day, there is a lot better opportunity for the Mountaineers to get in the kind of hard practice sessions they need. Some of the boys just recently added to the line-up will likely be taking their places on the starting squad before long.

A good crowd was present for the game Friday night, and it is hoped that more will be out for this game. As near as we can tell, the Mountaineers should be a little more evenly matched this week than they have been in the two previous games. This should encourage the boys and make them put forth their best efforts to win. This should be one of the better games in the non-conference bracket this season.

First Baptists To Observe Christian Education Day Sun.

Sunday, Sept. 21, the First Baptist Church will observe Christian Education Day. Dr. R. A. Springer will be the guest speaker at the morning services. Dr. Springer is the treasurer of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. The church is co-operating with fifty-five other Baptist churches in this area in the observance of Christian Education Day. These churches in cooperation with Howard Payne College, are having guest speakers who will emphasize the ministry of Christian institutions in educating our college students.

Dr. Springer has held his present position for several years. He has the responsibility of distributing the $17,500,000 annual budget of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. This amount is contributed by the 3800 churches which cooperate with the Convention. Howard Payne College is one of eight colleges and universities in Texas operated by this group.

Mrs. Frances Everett has returned home from Oklahoma City, after a two weeks visit with her son, Pat Everett and family.

Juniors Take Second Game Tuesday, 28-12

The Junior Mountaineers, under the direction of Coach A. D. Donham, took their second win in two starts Tuesday night on the local field. The Juniors won over the Junior May Tigers by a 28-12 score. A good crowd of Santa Anna fans were on hand, even though the weather was threatening, and rain started falling before the game was over.

The field was pretty muddy and naturally slowed both teams some. However, the slow field did not affect the outcome of the game. Coach Donham reports he had 35 of his 37 boys suited up and he played all 35 of them at least two downs. Donham said he played his second team boys just about half of the game.

The local juniors had lots of reserve that was not used during the game. They did not attempt any passes during the game, and during the last half, did not run any of their reverse plays.

The boys had two TDs called back for infractions, but went ahead and scored the TDs anyway. All the boys played a good game.

Tuesday night, Sept. 23, the Juniors will go to Blanket for their third game. Blanket had an open date this week and their coach was here to scout the local boys. Last week Blanket beat May 14-6 in the opening game.

The game scheduled with Mason on Oct. 7 had to be cancelled because of a mixup in dates. However, an attempt is being made to get a game for that night. The game with Goldthwaite, to be played there on the night of Nov. 11, is definitely scheduled now.

The lineup for the Junior Mountaineers is as follows:

Some Confusion From Reserved Seat Tickets

Cullen N. Perry, Superintendent of Schools, said early this week that some confusion resulted at the ball game Friday night as the result of the sale of reserved seat tickets.

Apparently several who did not have reserved seat tickets were sitting in the reserved seat section, and did not want to give up their seats to those having tickets for the seats. This is more-or-less a natural confusion, as this is the first time reserved seat tickets have been sold in a number of years. Also, there was only one man assigned to see about the seating arrangements.

Mr. Perry requests all who do not have the reserved seat tickets to please do not get seats in the reserved section, that is between the 40 yard lines in the area where the seats are marked off by rows and seat numbers. The only way you may have a seat in this area is to purchase a reserved seat ticket and there is only 53 seats available in this section now. The price will be reduced $1.00 for adults and 25 cents for students.

To those who have the reserved seat tickets, you are requested to bring your ticket book with you to the games in order that you can prove the seat is yours. If you have the book of tickets with you, there will be absolutely no question as to who the seat belongs to.

P-TA Holds Open House At School Monday Night

Every parent wants a secure and happy future for his or her child and the program of the first Parent-Teacher Association meeting of the 1958-59 school year held Monday night, Sept. 15, was planned to help bring this into being.

Each school room was open, the teacher of that class present to meet the parents, relatives and friends of the pupils and to give the visitors an opportunity to get acquainted with each other, so they might join hands and hearts for the betterment of our future citizens.

Room mothers, chosen by each teacher, were in each room to assist the teacher in making the visitors welcome.

School and pre-school children were shown an entertaining film in the Grade School Cafeteria. The adults were privileged to hear some very thought provoking ideas expressed by Dr. Joe B. Rushing of Howard Payne College. The ideals and fundamentals of P-TA work were brought out by Dr. Rushing, as "Stepping Stones to Maturity."

Dr. Rushing said, "Most of the troubles of the world are caused by an emotionally, sexually or mentally immature person. As adults we view our everyday happiness in a relatively mature light. Our children are not able to see today's happenings in relation to yesterday and tomorrow — only today and it is up to us to guide our child's everyday life so that his or her future will be sturdy and wholesome regardless of financial conditions."

Mrs. John Hensley, president, introduced the program committee for the evening, Mrs. Robert L. Markland, Mrs. B. A. Parker, Mrs. Glen Copeland and Mr. C. N. Perry, Supt. of schools, who introduced the speaker for the evening.

The next regular meeting of the P-TA will be the first Monday in October at 2:30 p. m. in the Grade School Cafeteria.

Song Dedicated To Mrs. Oder At Second Sunday Singing

A song was dedicated to Mrs. A. L. Oder at the regular Second Sunday Singing, held in the First Christian Church Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Oder has gone to Austin to spend the winter with her daughter. For the past several years she has been in regular attendance at the singing and has been one of the song leaders. Members of the organization expressed hope that Mrs. Oder would be back with them in the Spring.

A good crowd was present at the singing and all enjoyed a wonderful afternoon.

P-TA Carnival To Be Held Sat., October 11th

Saturday, Oct. 11, is the date set for the Parent-Teacher Association Carnival. This will be an important date and everyone is urged to remember it. Plans call for lots of fun and entertainment for all ages.

No general admission will be charged. There will be several free exhibits for everyone to enjoy. Pony rides, hay rides and fire truck rides will thrill the youngsters. All types of games of skill will attract the young as well as the old.

Plenty of food will be on hand for your supper. Sandwiches, hot dogs, home made pies and cakes, cold drinks and coffee will be sold.

The carnival will be different and more exciting this year. This will be the only money making project for the P-TA during the entire year. The members really want the whole community to turn out. The organization needs your support.

Rats Damage Files At Post Office Monday Night

Rats struck at the Post Office Monday night in full force. They did considerable damage to permanent records filed in desk drawers and almost completely destroyed their record of changes of addresses and various other items. A number of envelopes were either soiled or otherwise ruined.

Rats particularly like glue such as is on envelopes and stamps, but no damage was done to stamps because they are kept in the safe at night.

Tuesday morning the post office force was busy putting screen wire on the bottom of desks and otherwise attempting to fix office fixtures in such a manner that rats could not get to them.

The country is suffering the worst infestation of rats and mice it has had in many years. In order to bring them under control, every person is going to have to do everything possible to kill them out. A rat control meeting is scheduled at the Community Room of the Santa Anna National Bank at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 30. Everyone is urged to be present.

Rodent Control Program To Be Held In County

Every citizen of Coleman County should take part in a county-wide rodent control program that will get underway in the county on Sept. 25 and continue through Sept. 30. This program is sponsored by the Coleman County Farm Bureau, the County Extension Service and the State Rodent Control Service. Meetings will be held in several areas in the county. At least one meeting will be within reach of every person in the county.

The meeting in Santa Anna will be held in the Community Room of the Santa Anna National Bank at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 30. Announcements of other meetings in the area will be published next week.

Jack Brannon, County Agent, urges everyone to attend the meetings. Brannon said rats and mice can be controlled by (1) removing their shelter, (2) removing their food, (3) killing them with traps, poison and drugs, and (4) rat-proofing the buildings inside and out.

Rats are filthy. They spread typhus, plague and other diseases. Rats cost money. Each rat eats approximately $20 worth of food each year, and they damage or destroy many times that amount.

In order to make the county rat-free, every person must cooperate. You can help by making sure your farm, home or business is cleared of these dangerous rodents. Rat traps travel about 4 miles in one night, increasing from farm-to-farm or home-to-home. All the counties surrounding Coleman County are having rodent control programs now and it is necessary for us to have a successful program here.

Plan now to attend one or more of the meetings.

AMERICANA— Cities To See Life Is Different In San Antonio

ALAMO—Shrine of Texas Liberty.

Over two and a half centuries ago, Spanish conquistadors exploring the Southwest named the City of San Antonio, Texas, and the San Antonio River. Today, where a quiet Indian village once stood, one finds giant skyscrapers and colorful reminders of San Antonio's history to the past — as well as the river itself — which make the city a "Venice" in America.

In San Antonio—the Alamo City—(they say that "Life is Different") Will Rogers once said of San Antonio that it was one of four cities in the United States possessing real atmosphere. This city of 537,000 population has many faces. It has known the tread of marching feet since the days of earlier Spanish presidio. Here the battle cry, "Remember the Alamo!" was born and General Robert E. Lee decided to cast his lot with the South. General William Tecumseh Sherman served here before casting his with the North.

Here today is Randolph Air Force Base, Fort Sam Houston, Fourth Army Headquarters, Brooke Army Medical Center, Kelly Air Force Base, largest depot of its kind in the world, and Lackland Air Force Base.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

When grandpa came to Texas he probably built the house on the old homestead. The chances are he didn't sell the house he moved from since he lived in the day when it was the custom to wear out a place and move on. Customs and times change and most of us know a few people who have owned seven or eight different homes; during their lifetime. Congress has recognized the change in times with a special provision in the tax law.

Any gain on the sale or exchange of a residence is taxable the same as a profit on any other property. However, if you buy another home within one year before or one year after the sale, or begin construction of a new home costing as much as the old one, you won't owe any tax. If you have to move, you better read the tax instructions on buying and selling homes before you sell.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Watson and Ken visited over the weekend in Dallas with their daughter and family.

After a two weeks visit in Lovington, N. M., Tom Mills returned home Sunday and Mrs. Mills stopped in Abilene to visit their daughter, Mrs. W. C. Spencer and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Blue spent Sunday in Goldthwaite with her brother, Harry Allen and Mrs. Allen.

TODAY'S Meditation

Read Revelation 14:1-7.

God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth. (John 4:24.)

Only human beings practice worship, for the longing of the spirit toward the Supreme Being is characteristic of them only. Worship is the breath of man's soul and his most valuable prerogative.

This worship is practiced both by the individual in solitude and by the group in a communal service. Whatever the methods of worship may be, God alone must be the center of worship, for He alone is worthy of our praise and adoration.

God abides forever. Whatever else we adore, be it beauty or ambition, possessions or friends, these, like the heavenly bodies, set and disappear. God remains. Jesus, the son of God, remains, for He is the same yesterday, today, and forever. In Him we find redemption from our sins. In the Holy Spirit's abiding presence we have a faithful guide.

PRAYER:

Almighty God, cleanse the thoughts of our hearts. May we continually worship Thee and perfectly love Thee through Jesus Christ our Lord, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven... Amen."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Let us worship God in spirit and in truth.

—I. Matar (Lebanon)

Go 'Back To School' To Really Learn

September brings more than a little chill in the air . . . it means the return to school and, for most teenagers, more dates with the books than with the "steady!"

The teenager with ambitions and plans, who has the desire, to make a place for himself or herself in the adult world that looms ever closer, will put schoolwork first and social life in the second position. And, the wise parent will exercise whatever parental authority is necessary to see that this is done.

The school term need not be an exile in "Siberia." There is fun as well as work to be found in school activities and associations. It would be difficult today to find a school that does not offer its students the opportunity to participate in sports, debating groups, and various other activities. Most students take part in these activities or belong to a school group or association of one type or another.

It is an unusual student who cannot find some school activity that appeals to him.

With it all, however, the forward-looking teenager should remember that he goes to school to get an education. The school term is a stepping stone along the pathway of life and each student makes his own path as the term moves along. The student who is interested only in "getting by" will one day find that his school efforts do not look so appealing in the plain black and white report that will be a part of his credentials when he starts job hunting.

In school work, as in life, one always gets a return for the efforts put forth. Getting the most out of school requires the proper mixture of study activity and social activity. Both have a job to do in preparing for the future . . . and every teenager, whether willing to admit it or not, knows whether he or she is just trying to "get by" or is seriously putting forth an effort.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORD, KY.

UNDERGROUND WATER—A MYSTERY UNCOVERED

The amazing existence of great quantities of tappable water below certain areas of the earth's surface was for centuries one of nature's greatest mysteries.

The search for such unseen wealths of water was, in past years, sometimes considered a venture requiring supernatural insight by persons whose best guide might be the fabled "witching stick" or an acute physical sensitivity to the imagined presence of water.

However, underground water obeys the laws of physics, and advancements of this generation have shown us that a great deal can be and has been learned about it.

Through scientific calculation, for example, the depth to which a well in a certain locality should be drilled in order to tap the best available water supply can be determined with reasonable accuracy. The areas in which water sinks underground can be identified, and the rate at which it sinks into underground reservoirs can be computed in some areas. Also, the areas in which no important water supplies exist can, in many instances, be accurately mapped.

Thus, the mystery of underground water has been invaded. But, although the vital presence of water is perhaps now somewhat less of a mystery to us, it is certainly no less a wonder. It is a gift which, like the soil we till, is provided for our perpetual use so long as we care for it. If we abuse it, then we may destroy and ravage the work of centuries with which we were blessed.

The tools of science can tell those blessed with sub-surface moisture just how they can both use it now and keep it available for the use of future generations. It is not only practical that they do so; it is their moral obligation.

The use of underground water is divided for several purposes—municipal, industrial, domestic and agriculture. By and far the largest percentage of underground water use in Texas is that directed to agriculture irrigation. This may or may not be surprising, but it is a paradox since agriculture is probably the only single section of our society which could reasonably survive unaided by underground water.

Therefore, underground water is more a blessing to the farmers who have it than to the cities and industries which require it. And blessings must be safeguarded, not abused.

CEDARS OF LEBANON

The cedars of Lebanon have had quite a part in history. Hiram, king of Tyre and friend of Solomon, had logs of cedar floated on the Mediterranean to Joppa, whence they were transported to Jerusalem. There they were built into the splendid temple that King Solomon erected on Mount Moriah a magnificent temple unto God, that seemed more the work of Deity than of man.

In other instances, the cedars of Lebanon have been known in history, and one cannot but wonder if the few remaining giants of the famous trees will escape the disturbances in the Middle East.

We cherish the hope that a sprig of the cedars of Lebanon may adorn a temple of peace that the nations may one day build in a quarter of the world that has known war through the ages.

We also indulge the hope that the nations that hold the balance of power will cooperate to avert a third world war and save the world from complete devastation.

Echoes From The Capitol City

BY MRS. A. L. ODER

Hello everyone and how are all of you getting along?

When I got home from San Antonio several years ago, after a stay there of several years, off and on, a Santa Anna woman told me she wanted me to go back and stay and always write "Echoes from the Alamo City" each week, as I had been doing.

After staying pretty close at home during these years, now I find myself in our Capitol City and I find it exceedingly interesting. Have been here a week now longer than I had ever stayed before and am seeing the sights.

Austin is growing like everything. It has 179,000 or more inhabitants now and they are expecting 200,000 in 1960. Some 30,000 pupils have enrolled in the public schools here this autumn. Austin streets are very wide and everything at night is brightly lighted.

The great Capitol dome, several stories higher than anything else, is plainly visible both day and night.

I am feeling just fine, still taking medicine (prescribed by Santa Anna doctors and almost seem like I am getting younger. I miss my good Santa Anna friends and would like to see every one of you.

People here are very friendly and while I may not be able to report I am being "wined and dined" I can say I am being "coffeed". Have been invited out to supper several times.

I plan to get in touch with former Santa Anna people while here. I called Mrs. Nye Reid, the former Margaret Jones of Santa Anna, and had a pleasant talk with her. Have not talked to Aleene Jones yet, but will.

I was most distressed to read in The News of the death of Carson Horner, by drowning, on Tuesday of last week. My sympathy is extended to his wife and children, the parents and brothers and sisters and other relatives.

Late Sunday afternoon the three of us went to a friends and enjoyed hamburgers, coffee and home made ice cream, then went for a drive over much of the city.

If I keep on feeling better and younger, I may be coming home before you are looking for me.

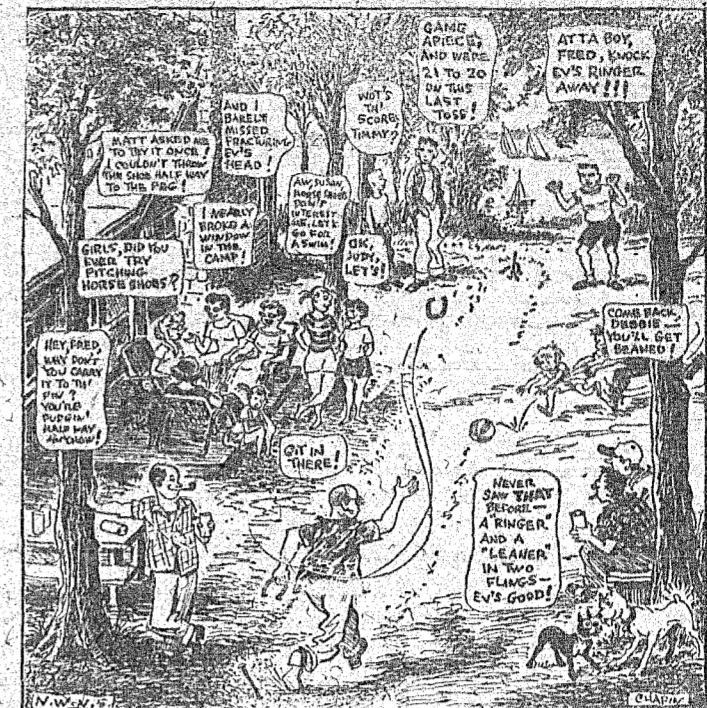

Dinner guests in the W. E. Vanderford home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Webb Fulton and her mother, Mrs. Neal Biggs of San Angelo. Another daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eaton of Fort Worth, came for Mrs. Biggs in the afternoon. Mrs. Maud Smith also was a visitor. Other visitors in the afternoon were Mr. Vanderford's nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Jones of McGregor. They had been at the bedside of his mother at Truscott, who had suffered a heart attack on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Storey returned home early Sunday morning from Galveston, where Mrs. Storey had been a patient in a hospital.

Mrs. Roy Francis visited at the weekend with her daughter in Sweetwater, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Rose. Mr. Francis went for her on Monday.

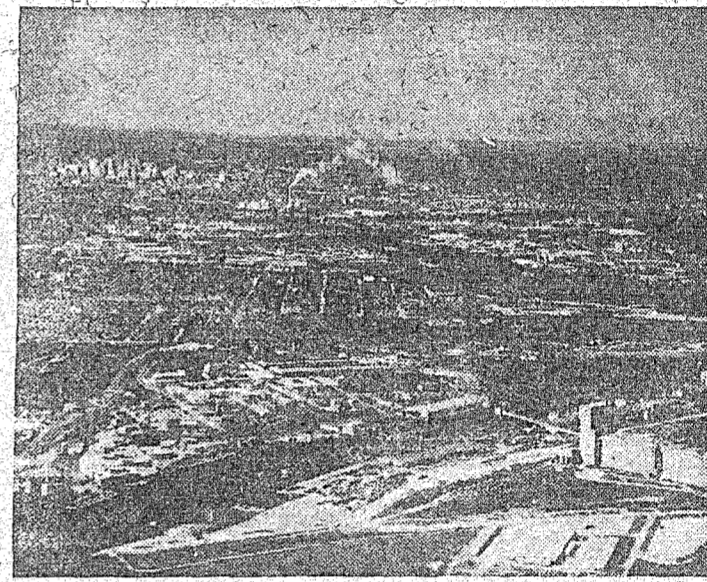

Mr. and Mrs. Tom White took their son, Eugene, to Lubbock Sunday to enroll him at Texas Tech College.

AMERICAN Cities To See

Houston-Wonder City Down South

Houston ship channel

Capital of the U. S. petro-chemical and petroleum industries, Houston, Texas, has a reputation for industrial might. But this largest city in the South (now eighth-largest in the nation) is also a major U. S. tourist center.

Last year KLM Royal Dutch Airlines inaugurated direct air service between Houston and Europe, making Houston the first city in the South and Southwest to possess such a link. But Houston is no newcomer to the fields of international trade and commerce. For many years, the city has been one of America's busiest deepsea ports.

Houston's astonishing growth (from a population of 63,000 in 1900 to 1,195,000) has, in fact, been closely tied to the growth of her port. Port Houston, located 50 miles inland from the Gulf of Mexico, was opened to deep sea commerce shortly after the turn of the century.

It is estimated that no other city in the world has on its doorstep such a wealth of natural resources as that with which Houston is blessed. The super abundance of mineral wealth, the geographic

GRAMP'S KINGFISH
By Alice Wernherr

"BETTY," my brother Charlie said, "let's take Grandpa fishing on his birthday. We're both working now and can afford it."

"Fine," I answered. "I know Grandpa will just love it."

Grandpa's birthday dawned sunnily and the blue sky promised a fair day. We splurged and rented a fishing boat with a motor. Grandpa was so excited he jumped into the boat before Charlie and me.

But nothing broke the water's blue smoothness for the first three hours. Grandpa took a big drink of coffee.

Suddenly he cried: "A fish! A fish! I got a fish!"

True enough, Grandpa reeled up his line, the pole arched like an infuriated tomcat's back, water splashed all around and with a big bang a fish landed in our boat.

"A kingfish," Grandpa said. The fish could not have weighed more than two pounds, but he looked magnificent to us, lying there at our feet—a token of rewarded patience, skill, cunning and know-how.

"He is beautiful," I cried. "Just look at him, Charlie!"

I grabbed the sleek form, holding up the fish proudly, when disaster struck.

It came as quick and unexpected, as all major catastrophes are known to happen. One moment I held the fish in my hand and the next moment my hand was empty. Something silvery glided through the air, like a bow shot from an arrow, then a big splash in the water, then—nothing.

"Fix up my line and give me your pole, meanwhile," Grandpa muttered distastefully, "maybe I can catch him again."

There's nothing like the optimism of an old fisherman.

"Hand me my coffee," he said grumpily.

He took a big swallow. Suddenly, he cried "I got him—I got him again!" There was a powerful pull on the line, the pole arched again like the back of an infuriated tomcat. This time it arched even more, because my pole was not very strong.

"It's the same one—I can feel it—it's my kingfish!" Grandpa shouted.

We looked into the water, where the wild creature was fighting for life, tossing up silvery foam.

The fish's head became visible, and the twitching tail.

Then, the line broke. Grandpa roared. He really talked much longer than that, adding a few ornamental adjectives before the "you" and the "cheap line."

Both Grandpa and Charlie looked at me with an expression that indicated I had violated a secret fisherman's code of ethics by not voluntarily jumping overboard, following the fish to the bottom of the sea and bringing him back in my own hands, or die in the attempt.

"Gramps," I stammered foolishly, "here's your own pole. Maybe maybe he'll bite a third time."

"Hand me some more coffee," Grandpa said. There was a wild look in his eyes.

We watched, as the line started to tremble, shake and jerk.

"The kingfish, the kingfish," Grandpa roared.

"Stay away, Betty, stay far away!" Charlie cried. He did not have to tell me.

"Must have gotten rid of hook and sinkers somewhere down there below," Grandpa said "but it's the same one, I'd know him anywhere."

SCANNING THE NEWS

FEDERAL prisons ended the fiscal year with a prisoner population of 21,553, nearly a thousand over the same date a year ago.

The total would have climbed even higher, says Director James V. Bennett, but for the shortage of transportation funds available to United States Marshalls during June, with the result that additional scores of sentenced prisoners were held in local jails awaiting commitment to federal prisons.

Although Federal institutions had become increasingly overcrowded in recent years and the abnormal 1958 population growth complicated this situation, Bennett said the Bureau of Prisons successfully contained the additional pressures, imposed upon its facilities and personnel complements. Escapes, rising slightly in number, remained proportionately at the low rate of previous years. The severe overcrowding created minor tensions among prisoner populations, but the federal prison system experienced no major disorders during the year.

Committed to federal prisons during the twelve-month period were 13,469 offenders, with auto theft cases comprising the largest single group, nearly a fourth of the total. Also represented in the commitments were 2,100 liquor law violators, 1,348 immigration cases,

1,239 forgers, and 1,096 narcotic and marijuana offenders. The Director commented that the number of juvenile delinquents received by his institutions, exclusive of those committed by the District of Columbia Juvenile Court, was exactly equal to the 1957 total, 855.

Operated in conjunction with the Bureau of Prisons, Federal Prisons Industries, Inc., which Director Bennett also serves as Commissioner, closed out the most successful year in its history. The Corporation, whose customers are restricted by law to government agencies, sold more than $30,000,000 in goods and services during the year. Its profits totaled $5,500,000 from which a substantial dividend will be paid into the Treasury of the United States.

The Corporation during the 1958 fiscal year employed 4,300 inmates on a full-time basis, paying them average monthly wages of $33 and furnishing them valuable vocational training which would enable them to qualify for industrial jobs upon their release. At the end of the year the Corporation was still engaged in a long-range program of constructing additional vocational and industrial facilities to accommodate a greater proportion of the swelling federal prison population.

Famous Spots On The Map of America

Test your knowledge—or your guessing ability! See how far you must read before you can identify the famous home above. It is well known to practically every American.

The modest home shown above was a favorite retreat for one of America's most famous and distinguished presidents.

Pine trees in the background indicate that it is located in the Southern part of the United States.

Built on the slopes of Pine Mountain by a man who during his lifetime lived in many sumptuous palaces, the home shown above is small but impressive.

An attraction that draws many visitors to the State of Georgia, the home and its interior have been restored substantially as they were when the famous owner died here April 12, 1945.

This home is in Warm Springs, Georgia and was built by a President of the United States who first went there in 1921 to test its pools as an aid in recovery from infantile paralysis which struck him in 1921.

The most famous president, of course, is Franklin D. Roosevelt, and the famous home pictured above as "The Little White House" at Warm Springs, Georgia.

Throughout the report, the emphasis was on Christian living, the standard Christian home by Christian people.

Recreation was led by Mrs. Strange. Refreshments of pineapple floats and fancy cookies were passed to the group.

The next regular meeting of the club will be Wednesday, Sept. 24, at 2:00 p. m., at the Liberty Community Center. All club members are urged to be in attendance and visitors are always welcome.

Chat and Stitch Club Has First Meeting of Season

The Chat and Stitch Club opened their first meeting of the year with a covered dish luncheon Friday, Sept. 12, with Mrs. Pierre Rowe as hostess.

The quartet tables held arrangements of red petunias and dried and fresh arrangements were used in other decorations.

The menu consisted of fried chicken, several kinds of salads, vegetables, pie, cake and tea.

Mrs. L. O. Garrett, president, presented each member a club book, which was green and white the club's colors. These books were beautiful.

Forty-two was enjoyed in the afternoon with Mrs. Faye Casey and Mrs. Lucille Smith receiving the gifts.

Albany Hands Mountaineers 41-12 Defeat

The Mountaineers spotted to Albany Lions three touchdowns in the first quarter and another TD in the third quarter Friday night and took a 41-12 beating. The Lions scored two TDs in the second quarter that were earned. Albany is rated as the second place team in the state in Class A football. They are good.

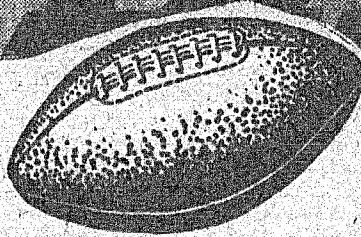

Albany kicked to the Mountaineers to start the game, and on the first play from scrimmage Jackie Jenkins, Lion RB, intercepted a Mountaineer pass on the 41-yard line and returned the ball to the Mountaineer 27. On the third play QB Jackie Eubanks went over from the 11. Eubanks kicked the extra point. The Lions kicked to the Mountaineer 6-yard line and the ball was returned to the 9-yard line. Albany got a 5-yard penalty. The Mountaineers picked up 7 yards in 2 plays. Albany was penalized 5 yards again and the Mountaineers picked up 9 yards in four plays. Then attempted another pass and Jenkins intercepted it on the Lion 49-yard line and returned the ball to the Mountaineer 35-yard line. The Lions fumbled and Santa Anna recovered on their 32-yard line, picked up 4 yards then a bad pass from center lost 20 yards and the ball. The Lions recovered it on the Mountaineer 16-yard line. On the second play Eubanks passed to Jenkins for 11 yards and the TD. Try for extra point was no good. On the next kick-off, the Mountaineers took the ball on the 10-yard line and returned it to the 24-yard line. A loss on three successive plays and a 5-yard penalty, plus a fumble gave the ball to the Lions on the Mountaineer 9-yard line. On the third play, Franklin Bales, Lion FB, went over from the 1-foot line. Eubanks passed to the left end for the two points. The Mountaineers took the kick-off on the 14-yard line and returned the ball to the 29-yard line. The quarter ended with the ball on the 35-yard line in Mountaineer possession.

The Mountaineers punted on the first play in the second period, to the Lion 44-yard line. The Lions returned to the Mountaineer 41-yard line and fumbled on the next play with the Mountaineers recovering on their 39-yard line. Three attempts failed to gain but three yards and the Mountaineers punted to the 27-yard line. The Lions returned the ball to their 49-yard line. One play lost 4 yards, a long pass was incomplete, then a 15-yard penalty from the point of foul put the Lions on their 41-yard line. A long pass from Eubanks to Harold Durham was good for the entire distance, 59 yards. The try for extra point was no good. The Lions received a 5-yard penalty on the kick-off, then the Mountaineers took the ball on their 18-yard line, returned it to their 25-yard line. An attempted pass failed, then Donald Ray broke into the clear and went to the Lion 19-yard line before being brought down. Windham picked up 5 yards then Jenkins picked up 2, then Ray went over from the 13-yard line. The try for extra point was not good. The Mountaineers kicked to the Lion 6-yard line, the Lions returned the ball to their 35, picked up 7 yards, then received a 15-yard penalty from the point of foul, setting them back to the 35-yard line. The Lions picked up three successive first downs, then Eubanks passed to Jenkins for 30 yards and the TD. The half ended as the Lions made their extra points on a pass from Eubanks to Murrell Thompson, RE. Half-time score was 35 to 0.

The Mountaineers kicked to the Lions 25-yard line and they returned the ball to their 37-yard line. One pass and seven ground plays put the ball on the Mountaineer 18-yard line, where

A pass and punt gave the Mountaineers the ball on the Lion 49-yard line as the period ended.

In 8 plays the Mountaineers scored again with Ray going over from the 5-yard line. Try for extra point failed. The Lions took the kick-off on their 12-yard line and before giving up possession on a fumble, they had worked their way to the Mountaineer 24-yard line. The Mountaineers worked their way back to the Lion 31-yard line, and on the last play of the game the Mountaineers attempted another pass, the Lions intercepted it and the game ended with the ball on the Lion 30-yard line in Lion possession.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M. D. Commissioner of Health

Do you have a teenager in the house? If you do, in addition to clothes strewn around the house, a continuously occupied telephone, and voracious appetites, you probably listen to complaints about acne — the scourge of teenagers since early times.

There has been much study of acne as a skin disease, but the exact cause is still undetermined. The body's hormonal balance, nutrition, the climate, and certain organisms all play a part. However, there is little doubt that the changes of activities in a youth's physical makeup as he attains adolescence is a major contributor to the problem.

Excess oil is emitted, combining with an overgrowth of skin about the pores, thus obstructing the openings so that oil gland canals become plugged with dried, fatty material causing a local skin obstruction ranging from tiny blackheads to tender inflamed cysts containing pus.

The two main goals of skin care are improving appearance for psychological reasons and preventing permanent scarring. A good cleansing with hot soapy water and a gentle massage with the finger tips for five to ten minutes each night should be a rule. Never scrub the skin vigorously or roughly as this injures the tender infected dermis. After the skin is rinsed thoroughly with cool water and patted dry, a physician recommended lotion or ointment may be applied. Also pay attention to your scalp, since proper care of the scalp seems to improve the facial acne.

If you have acne, avoid adding more oils in the form of cosmetic creams, lotions or pomades. Also, avoid makeup, bases and powders as they may further obstruct the pores.

Some success with ultraviolet light has been obtained, especially in winter months, but such devices should be used only under the care and supervision of your physician. They can be dangerous in the hands of the untrained.

In order to improve the appearance of the skin, some attention must be paid to the acne blemishes themselves. You are urged to refrain from squeezing blackheads, pustules, and cysts to avoid self-inflicted scar formation and the spread of infection. Hot compresses, frequent cleansing and the medications prescribed by a physician will usually control the blemishes.

There is some indication that diet is a contributing factor in some instances. A reduction in your intake of nuts, strong cheeses and chocolate should be undertaken in many cases.

Observe the proved rules of good health. Get plenty of exercise and enough sleep. Eat regular, well-balanced meals and drink six to eight glasses of water each day. Frequent baths and shampoos will keep the excess oils from accumulating.

10 CLUES TO CANCER

Clue No. 10, Prevention

One area of cancer research involves producing a vaccine against the disease.

The first successes now have been recorded. It has proved possible to vaccinate mice against specific kinds of cancer — but, unfortunately, vaccination against one kind does not protect the animals against many other kinds of cancer.

Chicks also have been vaccinated successfully against a form of leukemia which costs the poultry industry many millions of dollars each year.

While these results are encouraging, they do not portend the end of the cancer problem in humans — at least, not at this time. Humans are susceptible to many kinds of cancer; and it is not possible to determine against which cancers each individual should be vaccinated.

Nevertheless, a widespread search is under way for a vaccine which might apply to many or all human cancers.
