MOUNTAINEERS TO REST THIS WEEK; TO WORK ON OFFENSE

After winning the hard-fought game with the Menard Yellow-jackets Friday night 14-0, the Santa Anna Mountaineers will take a rest this weekend in their 9-game schedule. Clink Horne and Jimmy Blanton are the only regular squadmen suffering injuries at this time. They are both expected to be back in playing condition before long.

The Mountaineers are expected to concentrate most of their practice this week and next on offense. In the three games they have played, their defense has been good, considering their opposition. But their offense has been lagging considerably. Pictures taken of the two home games will show the boys where they have been making a lot of their mistakes and should help in getting them straightened out.

The next game for the Mountaineers will be with Cross

Plains at Cross Plains on Friday night, Oct. 3. This week the Buffaloes are in the same position as the Mountaineers, having won one and lost two.

Friday night the Buffaloes won over Goldthwaite 8-0. They had lost to Class B Baird and Class A DeLeon.

Juniors Win Third Game Tuesday Night

The Junior Mountaineers traveled to Blanket Tuesday night and took their third straight game of the season. The final score was 22-0. Blanket made one TD but had it called back for an infraction of the rules, then could not get across the double strip again.

Coach A. D. Donham said he was somewhat disappointed with his boys at the game. They were apparently somewhat over confident and soon after the game got underway, he had to replace the first team with his second team. For several downs, the Mountaineers received some kind of penalty on almost every down. At one time they had a first down and 50 yards to go.

Donham said when he sent his first team back in the game, they were a little more natural, but that he never did get them settled down like they should have been.

Donham said the Blanket eleven was a game bunch of fellows. Santa Anna outweighed them several pounds to the man but they jumped in and did their best.

Next Tuesday night the Junior Mountaineers will journey to Early for the last game in the first part of the double round-robin series. The only report on Early that we have is that they beat the Juniors from Bangs 8 to 6 last week. On Tuesday night of this week they played the May Tigers at May.

A game has been scheduled with Jim Ned on the local field for the night of October 7 at 7:00 p. m. This is a replacement game for the one that had to be cancelled with Mason. Remember this game is to be played at 7:00 p. m. rather than at the usual time.

Seniors of '58 Put Sidewalk From School To Gym

The Senior Class of 1958, the class that graduated the past May, is just completing a cement sidewalk from the front door of the high school to the east front door of the gym. This has been needed every since the gym was built.

A marker indicating the walk was presented the school by the Seniors of '58, was contributed to the class by the Coleman Monument Works of Coleman.

Another walk is also being completed connecting the high school and the elementary school. This is being done by the school and has been needed also since the elementary school was built.

Rat Control To Be Studied In County Meetings

Rat and mice control will be discussed, and the citizens of the area will be told how to control these pests, in a series of meetings scheduled to be held in or near every community in the county. The meetings will get under way Thursday morning and will continue through Tuesday of next week. A complete schedule of the meetings is published elsewhere in this issue of The News.

The meeting for Santa Anna will be held in the Community Room of the Santa Anna National Bank at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 30. Every family should be represented.

We are fortunate that most of the rats and mice affecting this area are not carrying any particular disease, but there is a number of diseases that could develop very rapidly, and unless the rodent menace is brought under control, there is likely to be some outbreaks of diseases before long. It is for the benefit of every person in the county that these pests be brought under control.

The meetings are being planned and sponsored by the Coleman County Farm Bureau, the County Extension Service and the State Rodent Control Service.

You are urged to attend the meeting in your community.

Rats Damage Lots Of Food And Carry Many Diseases

Rats eat millions of bushels of grain each year. They attack it in the field, on the farm, in the elevator, mill processing plant, store and home, and in transit. These same rats waste many more millions of bushels by pollution.

Grain is food — keep it clean. Even farm animals may refuse to eat rat-damaged and rat-contaminated grain.

Rats are omnivorous. They eat nearly every kind of grain, fish fruit, meat, milk or vegetable. Like humans, rats select and prefer choice, clean and fresh food. They waste far more than they eat.

Rats waste our time. They make us spend considerable time and money in repairing and cleaning up their damage. They do not pay us one cent in return.

Rats cause diseases. Infected fleas, lice, mites and ticks carry diseases like plague and typhus fever from rats to man and to other animals. Amebiasis, infectious jaundice, Salmonella food poisoning, and tapeworm infections are spread by rats. The germs are transmitted to man by polluted food and water. Rat bites may cause rat-bite fever. Cities annually report hundreds of babies bitten by rats.

Many diseases are distributed by rats to livestock, poultry and other animals. They are transmitted by their feet and fur, by excreta, and by other methods. Among the diseases are contagious abortion, distemper, equine influenza, mange, mastitis, paratyphoid, rabies, swine erysipelas and tuberculosis.

Gordon McLendon To Head 1959 March of Dimes Drive

GORDON McLENDON

Gordon McLendon has been named Texas state chairman for the 1959 March of Dimes, Basil O'Connor, president of the newly expanded National Foundation announced recently.

The "March of Dimes has a bigger job than ever to accomplish," said McLendon in accepting the appointment. "We must continue to care for over four thousand Texans already stricken by polio. New funds are needed to tackle additional major health problems, with arthritis and birth defects as initial new targets."

In research, Mr. O'Connor has previously announced, the revamped organization is extending its studies of virus diseases and disorders of the central nervous system, and is initiating an intensive search for preventive technique and improved treatment methods in arthritis and birth defects. It will also continue to support training of many professionals needed in the health field, he said.

Mr. McLendon, who is serving as state chairman for the second year, will lead 250 county chapters throughout the state in their efforts to raise sufficient funds for the new programs.

Mr. McLendon is president of the McLendon Corporation which operates radio stations in Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Shreveport, La., and Louisville, Ky.

Band Postpones Football Program Friday Night

The Mountaineer Band did not get to perform Friday night at the Santa Anna-Menard football game because of the wet field. However, they did play in the bleachers and gave a good account of themselves, with some good, snappy football music.

The halftime show planned for Friday night, "The Life of an American Girl" will be presented at the next home game, Oct. 10.

James Mallow, band director, would like to find the owner of a clarinet that has been in the band room apparently since the band played during the Centennial celebration during the summer.

The Beginners Band has 24 members this year, the Junior Band 23 members and the Senior Band 43 members, making a total of 90 band students.

The band will conduct their annual magazine sale in the very near future. This is to raise funds needed for operational purposes.

Sarasota, Florida Resort City

Aerial View—Sarasota, Fla.

Gay, colorful, cosmopolitan Sarasota, Florida, bills itself as "Florida's Entertainment Capital."

Favored by nature with 35 miles of fine, white sand beaches, an unexcelled climate and major tourist attractions, this Gulf Coast city attracts thousands of visitors annually, both winter and summer. They come for a vacation and, falling under Sarasota's siren spell, often establish a permanent home.

Since 1950 Sarasota has more than doubled in population and assessed valuation. Building permits in 1956 reached the $12,000,000 mark, making Sarasota one of the fastest growing cities, on a per capita basis, in the Sunshine State. During the winter season the population swells from 35,000 to more than 70,000. There are over 13,500 accommodations and 390 restaurants in the county.

While there are some 100 light industries in the county, and the area is nationally known for its celery farms and cattle ranches, it is primarily a resort center. Its attractions range from carnival to culture and are varied to suit every taste. Of widest interest, probably to young and old alike, is the winter quarters of Ringling Bros., and Barnum and Bailey Circus, open to the public the year round.

Sarasota boasts several museums and an extensive colony of artists, writers and musicians. Two museums were left the State of Florida by circus magnate John Ringling; a third was created in his memory.

Sunshine Springs Water Circus, and The Circus Hall of Fame are great tourist attractions. Sunshine Springs, Sarasota's answer to Cypress Gardens, is a man-made lake with 15 miles of water front. Four water ski shows are presented daily to thousands of spectators in a grassy amphitheatre. Swan boats wind through canals in the beautiful tropical gardens.

Still relatively new is a $150,000 "Gay Nineties" building especially designed to house a collection of more than 65 antique autos.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

On the inside cover of the Student's Handbook on the Federal Income Tax Course that was given to approximately 45,000 of our North Texas high school and college students during the past year, there is a breakdown of the 1958 budget estimate. This breakdown is entitled "Where $73.5 Billion Will Come From in 1958." The Bureau of the Budget estimated that $38.1 billion would come from individual income taxes; $21.1 billion from corporation income taxes; $8.9 billion from excise taxes; and $5.4 billion from customs and other receipts. This 1958 budget estimate went into history with the 1958 fiscal year ending June 30 of this year. This is a lot of money of which we each owe a big share. However, most of us still have time during our income tax year of 1958 to read our income tax instructions and see that we pay no more than we owe.

Flowers From The

BY MRS. A. L. ODER

I have been here now two full weeks and I don't believe there has been 24 hours at a stretch that it hasn't rained some. On Friday night when floods were falling elsewhere, a part of Austin got three inches in 40 minutes.

During last week Mrs. S. K. Moredock, formerly of Santa Anna and a neighbor of mine, called me on the phone and we had a pleasant talk. The Richard Smiths of Santa Anna were visiting relatives here and the Moredocks, and I also talked to Mrs. Smith at the Moredock's.

Good luck to the rat control efforts. They were getting bad at my house before I left and I had poison put out, but I am afraid they are having a great time while Mrs. Tatum and I are both away.

We have had more pests this year than I have ever known. Grasshoppers ate more peaches from a good tree than I got last summer and gophers and squirrels were digging holes in my back yard when I left, which if I had stepped in, might have gone up to my knees.

Seeing in The News that Allene Jones was going to have a birthday on the 22nd I tried to get her on the phone Saturday but she was working. I thought she and the Reids might be going to Santa Anna for the week end. I called up Margaret and she said they would not be going as Mr. Reid had to work. She said for Aleenes birthday she was baking her a cake and would buy her a nice cover or container for it.

I never miss an opportunity to boost our little town and I believe if we let people know about our advantages, an abundance of good water, natural gas and other blessings, people will move in among us.

I am doing some of this writing on Sunday afternoon. It is now 3:35 and I have just enjoyed a pleasant talk with Mrs. Eva Conley of Temple. She and her son, Winston and wife and their twin sons had come for a visit with the Moredocks, but they were not at home.

I believe I have mentioned before about the many beautiful trees in and around Austin. Although raised in a timbered country, I have never seen anything to equal it. We had mostly pines. Here oak predominate and there are immense. Naturally, there are lots of acorns. My father and other old timers used to call them mast and would say when they were plentiful they would have plenty of good meat the next winter. There must be enough acorns in these parts to make a ham for at least every family. I never see a hog any more.

TRANSPLANTED LIFE
By Ona F. Lathrop

I PICKED up a couple of blooming begonia plants that morning when I was buying flower seeds at the garden shop, and took them along when I made my daily call on my parents.

"Thought you might like to set these out in your porch boxes," I suggested to my dad, who was in his usual chair on the terrace. Maybe, just maybe, I could get him interested in gardening once again. He wasn't much interested in anything anymore. Perhaps it had been a mistake to bring my parents here to our town when Dad had to retire because of a heart condition.

Dad just grumbled, "Hm! Begonias! Beefsteak begonias, eh? Well, thank goodness you didn't bring a red geranium, anyway." "And what, may I ask, would be wrong with a red geranium? In fact, I nearly did bring you one."

"Nothing! Only they remind me of my boyhood in the slums." Mother had come out in her housecoat and dropped into a chair nearby, trying to cover her deep cough. "Now Charles, you know you never lived in slums. Don't let your mother hear that!"

"Well, it was a row of little red brick cottages all alike—I can see them yet—everyone with a front stoop and a pitiful potted geranium struggling on the kitchen windowsill."

"They say flowers grow easily in this southern climate, and vegetables simply sprout. I picked up these seeds hoping I could get Jim to put me in a garden."

Both my parents looked at me as if I'd suggested they plow up a forty and plant it by hand.

My grandmother came hobbling to the door. "That you, Eileen? Good to hear a cheerful voice around here. Never saw such a morgue. When Grace is sick, I try to help; but they're trying to put me on the shelf."

"Just some flower seeds I was hoping Jim would plant."

"Let me see." She took them in her knotted old fingers and handed them lovingly. "Mignonette, calendula, sweet alyssum, marigolds! My, my, this takes me back! I can remember when I had all these in that little plot behind our red brick house."

"Yes, I remember—all too well. But they all dried up and wilted in midsummer, and we used it for a baseball lot. Never did grow much."

"Well, my radishes and onions were good early," she sighed. "How I loved them! You know, these just give me an itch. I wish—"

"Now Mother, at eighty-three? You know you couldn't hoe with your arthritis."

Other Mother gathered the seeds up in her apron. "Maybe that's just what I need to limber me up. Sit around all day—I just get stiff."

We followed her around the house to where the men had just finished putting in a new water pipe. "Look at that," she cried. "A whole strip all dug up nice and fresh. I'll bet all I'd have to do would be to rake that down and these seeds would grow."

"Now Mother—" my folks began to protest, but I shushed them.

"Fine, Other Mother. I'll bring you one of those little hand cultivator tools and you can use the beat pillows to kneel on."

"I'll run down to the garden shop and bring the tools," I said. "And I could bring you a few plants to transplant too."

My dad was brushing the soft warm dirt with his big capable hands. "Might as well bring along a few onion sets too," he called after me, "and a red geranium."

It had taken Other Mother and me together to do it, but perhaps they would be transplanted successfully after all!

ROCKWOOD HOME DEM. CLUB MEETING

There are five varieties of corn meal and two varieties of grits. Loaf corn bread retains more thiamine than corn muffins, and corn muffins retain more than corn sticks, which is important because lack of thiamine causes nervousness, depression, tendency to tire easily, poor appetite, poor digestion and slow heart beat, according to Mrs. Jack McSwane, Mrs. Jack Cooper and one visitor, Mrs. Goldie Miller.

Grits, Wednesday afternoon at the Home Demonstration Club meeting at the Rockwood Community Center.

Mrs. Tom Bryan led the club pledge and prayer. Mountaineers Take First Win Over Menard 14-0

The Mountaineers took their first win of the season Friday night over the Menard Yellow-jackets by a 14-0 score. The game was played on a very wet field and was marked by blocked punts, fumbles, penalties and incomplete passes. The Mountaineers made only five first downs and Menard made only two, one of them being on a penalty for the Mountaineers.

The game started with the Mountaineers kicking to the Jacket 6 and the ball was returned to the Jacket 29-yard line. The Jackets lost three yards, then gained back two and punted to the Mountaineer 35. Arthur Windham took the kick and returned the ball to the Menard 35. The Mountaineers made a first down, then failed to make the necessary yardage for another first down with the ball going over on the Jacket 16-yard line. The Jackets punted to the Mountaineer 27-yard line on first down, with no return. Three plays gained a first down, a 5-yard penalty against the Jackets and a two yard gain put the ball on the Mountaineer 43, then a loss of 13 yards brought about a quick-kick formation. The punt went out of bounds on the Jacket 45. Three plays for the Jackets gained only 3 yards and they attempted to punt, with the punt being blocked and the Jackets recovered on their 29-yard line, a loss of 20 yards. Another attempted punt was blocked and Jerry Johnson recovered it on the Jacket 3-yard line. Two plays later Donald Ray scored from the 2 and then swept right end for the two points. The quarter ended with the Jackets in possession on their 29-yard line.

Failing to gain, the Jackets punted to the Mountaineer 34-yard line and Windham returned the ball to the Jacket 47-yard line. A 15-yard penalty put the Mountaineers back on their 39-yard line. A 5-yard gain and an attempted pass used up their downs and they punted to the Jacket 23-yard line with the ball being returned to their 41-yard line. Failing to gain, the Jackets attempted another punt and it was blocked, with the Mountaineers taking possession on the Jacket 38-yard line. Jennings made a first down, a 5-yard penalty put the Mountaineers on the 30-yard line, then Aldridge, Jennings and Ray picked up a first down on the Jacket 12-yard line. Four downs gained only 1 yard and the ball went over. The Jackets attempted to punt out and it was blocked again, with the Mountaineers recovering on the Jacket 6-yard line. Four plays gained only two yards and the ball went over. The half ended with the Jacket's in possession on their 8-yard line.

Beginning the third period the Jackets kicked to the Mountaineer 5 and Ray returned the ball to the Mountaineer 36-yard line. The Jackets' short punt gave the Jacket's the ball on the Mountaineer 44-yard line. Gaining only 5 yards, the Jacket's punted to their 16-yard line with no runback. The Mountaineers gained 2 yards then lost 12 yards and fumbled but recovered. A punt gave the Jacket's possession on the Santa Anna 26-yard line. The Jacket's made a first down, then fumbled and the Mountaineers recovered. The Mountaineers run one play then fumbled with the Jacket's recovering on the Mountaineer 24-yard line. The Jacket's fumbled and Santa Anna recovered on their 22-yard line. A short punt was good for only 5 yards and the Jacket's returned the ball to the Santa Anna 6-yard line. On fourth down the Jacket's fumbled and the Mountaineers recovered on their 1-yard line. A short punt was good for 13 yards then the Jacket's picked up 4, a 15-yard penalty put them back

Do Teenagers 'Murder' The Language?

LISTENING to the words that some TV writers like to put into the lines of teenagers appearing in their dramas and comedies, one might think that a new language has been introduced without the older generation knowing anything about it. One is also inclined to wonder what happened to some of the simple phrases like "thank you," "please," and "How do you do?"

Teenagers have a language of their own. It's true. But it is not a complete language as it is oft pictured in books and on TV screens. They may use this language extensively within their own group, but otherwise, they know how to use the English language and they use it when the occasion calls for it. There are exceptions, of course, but the average teenager knows how to be courteous and mannerly and how to observe the rules of good behavior. Actually, if there were some way to make an effective count-the author believes a survey would disclose that a definite minority of the teenagers in this country seldom use words like "crazy man," "real cool" and such. We must be realistic about it and say there is probably one or more teenager in every town who talks this way, and, perhaps, talks this way all the time, but you'll never find them by the dozen in the average town.

The sad part of it all is that many grownups who have no children of their own, or who have no contact with teenagers in any way, accept the characterizations they read and see as typical of the teenage group as a whole. Teenagers are like adults in the respect that some are good; some are bad; some are courteous, others are not. But just as in the adult world, it is impossible to select a particular teenager's manner of speech or deportment and say that it is "typical." It can be said, but it will never be so... and anyone who has much to do with teenagers knows it well.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

BATTLES ON THE GRIDIRON

While we think of the wars that may ravage the world anew, battles on the gridiron have already begun. There will be claims by big teams, if they suffer defeat by smaller teams, that it is early in the season; there will be upsets of big teams because some small-teams have "pointed" for certain games, and there will be records broken. But soon after January the First, when all the bowl games have been decided, the colleges and universities will be down to their regular work.

Let us hope that the lines in the paraphrase written by some college boys years ago:

Lives of football men remind us That they write their names in blood, And, departing, leave behind them

Half their faces in the mud," may not be true of present warriors of the gridiron, thanks to better training and conditioning, more open play, and many safeguards. And we hope the brightest memory of this or that star may be the fair way in which he played the game.

Football

An attempted pass on the first play in the final quarter was not good and the Mountaineers took the ball on their 21-yard line and punted to the Jacket 44-yard line. The Jackets picked up 5 yards on three plays and punted for short distance, to the Mountaineer 44-yard line. Ray picked up 2 yards, then Ray broke into the clear and picked up 49 yards, to the Jacket 4-yard line. Lowell Pembroke pushed the ball over on the first try. The try for extra points failed. The Mountaineers kicked to the Menard 26-yard line and they returned the ball to their 47-yard line. Three pass attempts failed, and the Mountaineers drew a 15-yard penalty, giving the Jackets their 2nd first down. On the next play the Jackets were penalized 15 yards, back to the 47. One pass attempt was not good, then Santa Anna was penalized 15 yards again, then the Jackets lost 7 yards on a fumble with the Mountaineers recovering. The Mountaineers were penalized 5, picked up 3, penalized 5, picked up 2, attempted a pass then punted to the Jacket 41-yard line. The Jackets were penalized 15, then gained 3, attempted a pass, then galved 12 and attempted a pass on their last down. On the last play of the game the Mountaineers lost 5 yards.

Only one pass was completed during the game and it was a Menard pass. This was called back due to an infraction. Thus, for the record, there was no passes completed during the entire game for either side.

Billy Castleberry, Menard full-back, and Jimmy Blanton, Mountaineer guard, ran together on the first kickoff of the game and both boys were injured when the face guards on their helmets met. Blanton's face guard cut a deep gash on Castleberry's face and Castleberry's guard broke a tooth for Blanton. The injuries were not considered serious. Blanton went back in the game later on. Castleberry was taken to the doctor and was brought back to the game, but was not able to play anymore. Just before the first half ended, Clint Horne, Mountaineer guard, suffered a shoulder separation. He will be out of action for about three weeks.

This was a hard-fought defensive battle, with the offense of both teams being hampered by the wet field. The line play on both teams was good. Horne, Allen, Ray, Johnson, Riley and others were outstanding on defense.

Central Colorado Soil Conservation District News

Now is the time to plant winter cover and soil improving crops. Winter legume crops adapted for this soil conservation district are winter peas, vetch and Madrid Sweetclover. Vetch should be planted only on mixed or sandy soils. The planting period is about Sept. 15 to Dec. 15. All seed should be inoculated with the proper inoculate. Moisture conditions are now excellent for legume planting. Winter peas or vetch may be planted in rows, broadcast or drilled with small grain. Madrid Sweetclover should be planted in regular width rows. It may be planted in early fall or in February or March. John Will Vance of Shields and Jim Dibrell of Echo, had good results from Madrid Sweetclover last year and this year. Good crops of winter peas were grown last fall and this spring by Oscar Gould, O. W. Calk, John Lambert, Earl Zirkle and O. E. McSwain, among others. To improve and maintain soil fertility and water intake, most soils should have soil improving crops on them every four years.

Both, winter peas and vetch can be grown off and returned to the soil in time for planting of summer crops. Madrid Sweetclover is a biennial and is normally left on the land two years. Farmers and ranchers throughout the district are reporting very satisfying results from deferred grazing. Needed cover has been grown and in most cases there will be a surplus for grazing this winter. From September until frost is one of the most important phases of the deferment period. It is during this period that most native grasses are seeding. These seed should be allowed to mature before the grazing period begins.

Vernon Bullard and Ozro Eubank & Sons report they have cut their surplus blue panic and sorghum alum fields for hay. Due to recent rains these fields should produce sufficient growth for some additional grazing and leave a 12" stubble height needed for maintenance and cover.

Several inquiries have been made by co-operators in reference to requests for fish they have ordered. According to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, a large number of applications are received each year and hatchery production is generally less than the demand. Federal hatcheries produce and distribute fish on a seasonal basis. However, the Service is usually able to fill each year's applications if they are received early in the year. No definite date has been announced as to when fish will be delivered. This is determined by the superintendents of our fish-cultural stations who must endeavor to make as many deliveries as possible with a minimum of truck travel involved. The usual distribution season is from May through October. In order that necessary preparations can be made to receive the fish, the superintendent of the hatchery who will supply this vicinity will advise the applicant approximately one week before the fish will be delivered.

The annual election of a district supervisor will be held in

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. I receive social security disability payments. I have two children under 18 years old. Can they get any payments, too?

A. Yes, under the change in the Social Security Act effective Sept. 1958, your children can receive monthly payments, and so can the children's mother if they are in her care. In other words, your wife and children can receive payments, but an application must be submitted to us in order for the payments to begin.

Q. I applied for disability payments several months ago, but my application was disallowed because I did not have 1 1/2 years of work covered by social security during the last 3 years before I became disabled. Does the recent change in the law make me eligible?

A. Yes, if the only reason your claim was denied was the failure to have the 1 1/2 years of covered work. Of course you still must be disabled, and you still must have had as much as 5 years (20 quarters) of covered work out of the last 10 years before becoming disabled.

Zone 5 on Oct. 7. Zone 5 includes the area in the southwest part of the county that lies west of the Fisk-Gouldbusk FM road then on to the Colorado River and out the Abilene Highway eight miles, then west to the county line. The district is divided into five zones, one of which elects a supervisor each year in rotation.

A few cancellations of requests for dam enlargements have been received since recent rains have replenished many farm and ranch water supplies. Others, who have made application to ASC for cost-sharing and who plan not to enlarge their water supply this year, could help by stating their intentions to the ASC or SCS.

Today's MEDITATION

The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read Psalm 32:1-7.

I said, I will confess my transgressions unto the Lord; and thou forgavest the iniquity of my sin. (Psalm 32:5.)

Some years ago I was pastor in a rural church. I often visited a blind man, who was almost 90 years old. I would read the Bible to him and pray. He would tell me of his work in former years.

One time when I paid a visit to him, he was very dejected. He said he had something he must confess. So he told of an old sin done in his early youth. The remembrance of it had been a burden on his soul through all the years. But he had never had the courage to confess. As a result, his heart could find no peace.

He now asked me to pray together with him that the Lord would forgive him and give him peace.

This is an illustration of the great truth given in Psalm 32. If we try to hide our sin, we will not find peace. If we acknowledge our transgressions unto the Lord, He will forgive our sin.

PRAYER
Our heavenly Father, help us, we pray Thee, to bring every sin to the throne of grace. Forgive 500 killed - 3000 wounded!

Quite a slaughter, isn't it? That's a reliable estimate, however, of those who will be killed or injured by accident this hunting season. There's only one tragic explanation for it — MISTAKEN IDENTITY. Experienced hunters seldom cause these accidents.

If you hunt only once in awhile, be doubly sure:

1. That your vision is good enough.
2. That you hold your fire until you are sure.

Don't kill or injure your hunting friends. Have your vision examined by a professional optometrist EVERY year.
