

Mountaineers End Season With 4-4-1 Season Record

The Mountaineers completed their regular schedule Friday night by playing a tie game with the Burnet Bulldogs on the local field. This was the first tie game played by any team of District 9-A during the entire season. The Mountaineers ended the season with a 4-4-1 record and a 1-2-1 conference record. They were predicted to end the season in last place, but will apparently end in third place, behind Mason and Llano.

Mason romped all over Llano Friday night to win to the tune of 41-0 and Goldthwaite was idle. This week Mason will play Goldthwaite and should win by a lopsided score, and Llano and Burnet will play. Llano should win this game. Thus far, Burnet has not won a conference game, but has a tie with Santa Anna; Goldthwaite has won one conference game (over Burnet) and lost to Llano and Santa Anna; Llano has lost only to Mason and has won over Santa Anna and Goldthwaite; Mason has not lost a game this season.

FIRST QUARTER

The Mountaineers kicked to the Burnet 10-yard line and David Garrison returned the ball to the Mountaineer 48-yard line. The Bulldogs kicked into the end zone on the first play from scrimmage, then gained to the 40-yard line, where the officials gave them a first down, then penalized them 15-yards, back to their 45-yard line. After picking up 5 yards, then losing 4, the Bulldogs punted to the Mountaineer 18-yard line. The Mountaineers gained 7 yards, then lost 3, gained 5, then punted to the Burnet 37-yard line. The Bulldogs made four first downs, working the ball down field to the Mountaineer 10-yard line with a first down and 10 to go. On three successive plays they lost yardage and then fumbled with the Mountaineers recovering on their own 25-yard line. The Mountaineers picked up 5 yards, then fumbled and Burnet took over on the Mountaineer 29-yard line, and gained 4 yards as the quarter ended. Out of 32 plays in the first period, the Mountaineers had the ball for six plays.

SECOND QUARTER

On the first play in the second period the Bulldogs were penalized 5 yards then lost another 5 yards, back on the Mountaineer 35-yard line. They picked up a first down on the Mountaineer 17-yard line, then were penalized back to the 23, passed to the Mountaineer 14-yard line, then Donald Ray intercepted a Burnet pass on his 9-yard line. Making four first downs in a row, the Mountaineers worked the ball to the Burnet 31-yard line, then a 15-yard penalty from the point of foul put them back on the Burnet 42-yard line. On fourth down and needing 14-yards, they attempted to run the ball, but were unsuccessful, with the ball going to Burnet on the Bulldog 38-yard line. From that point, the Bulldogs drove all the way to the 22-yard line in seven plays. From the 22-yard line Bill Goodman dropped a pass in the arms of Kenneth Baker, on the 7-yard line and Baker went the remaining distance untouched. Goodman passed to David Garrison for the two points after TD, making the score 8-0 for Burnet.

The Bulldogs kicked to the Mountaineer 3-yard line and Ray returned the ball to his 36-yard line before being brought down. On the last play in the first half, the Mountaineers made a first down on their 47-yard line.

Out of 34 plays in the second period, the Mountaineers had the ball for 14 plays.

THIRD PERIOD

The Bulldogs kicked into the end zone to start the third period. Jennings took the ball and brought it back to the 8-yard line. A 5-yard penalty put the Mountaineers back on their 3-yard line, then Ray got loose and brought the ball out to their 24-yard line. On the next play a fumble was recovered by Burnet on the Mountaineer 25-yard line. Four downs failed to gain but 6 yards for the Bulldogs and the Mountaineers took over on their 19-yard line. The Mountaineers worked the ball up to their 41-yard line and punted to the Burnet 27-yard line. The Bulldogs made a first down, lost 2 yards, gained 2 yards, then Buddy Wylie got in their backfield and dumped the ball carrier for a 12-yard loss, and the Bulldogs punted a short one to their 47-yard line. The Mountaineers lost one yard, then gained a first down on the Burnet 35-yard line. The period ended with the Mountaineers gaining another first down on the Burnet 23-yard line.

FOURTH QUARTER

Four plays gained another first down on the Burnet 12-yard line, then four plays later Ray went over from 4 yards out for the TD. Ray went through the line for the two extra points, making the score 8-8.

The Mountaineers kicked to the Burnet 16-yard line and they brought the ball back to their 33-yard line. Three plays gained to their 40-yard line, then a backfield in motion penalty set them back five yards, where they would have made a first down, and the Bulldogs punted to the Mountaineer 27-yard line. Ray took the punt and returned to the Burnet 48-yard line. Picking up from three to 10 yards a try, the Mountaineers got to the Burnet 5-yard line with a first down and goal to go. Three plays put the ball on the 2-foot line then a 5-yard penalty set them back almost to the six yard line and on their last try, they failed to gain but very little. Burnet took the ball and on the first play a Burnet boy got loose and Aldridge just barely managed to tackle him before he got in the clear. Trying desperately to score, the Bulldogs passed almost every down, but failed to make but two first downs, with the ball going to the Mountaineers on the Mountaineer 41-yard line. The last play of the game netted one yard for the Mountaineers.

Thus ends the football season for this year. The Mountaineers have won four games, lost four games and tied one, for a .500 standing.

Quail Hunters To Be Plentiful This Season

Austin, — Early reports have indicated there'll be a big crop of quail for the opening of the season Dec. 1. Now indications also point to a good crop of quail hunters, according to the assistant director of wildlife restoration of the Game and Fish Commission.

"We've had a lot of good food and cover this year, and a wonderful hatch of birds," he said. "Our men from every part of Texas tell us that conditions are excellent and birds are plentiful."

The quail season begins Dec. 1, and ends Jan. 16. The limit is 12 birds per day, or 36 in possession.

Applications are still coming in for the public hunts to be held on the Gene Howe Wildlife Management area in the Panhandle. These hunts are scheduled for Dec. 6; Dec. 20; Jan. 3, and Jan. 15. All applications must be in the Game Commission office in Austin by 8 a. m. Nov. 14. A drawing then will be held.

The hunters will be paired, with 10 pairs of hunters each day, for a total of 80 hunters. Only persons over 17 will be given permits. The bag limit on this area is 10 birds per person. Shooters are urged to bring their own dogs. There is a heavy growth of flowering weeds and dogs are needed to prevent loss of birds.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Barnes went to Waco Thursday night to attend a concert at Baylor University, where Van Cliburn, world famous pianist, was guest artist. He was accompanied by the Baylor Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of the Vienna-trained conductor, Dr. Daniel Sternberg. Another feature of the program was the Grand Opera songs by the famous basso, Dr. Miklos Bencze, a refugee from Hungary. There were also numbers by 200 voice Oratorio Chorus of Baylor.

Car Check Urged In Safety Drive

Most people don't know that they may be harboring a killer right in their own garage.

That automobile in your garage is only as safe as its mechanical condition makes it. If its headlights are aimed too high — or too low — or in the wrong direction — or one is burned out, it can easily be the direct cause of a motorcade.

If the brakes are not adjusted properly or have a fluid leak that may cause them to grab or fail at a crucial moment, that car can be a killer.

If the taillights and spotlights aren't working from the rear, the car can be the direct cause of death.

It may be raining and the windshield wipers aren't good enough to keep the windshield clear. It could be too late by the time the walking child is seen. The result can be negligent homicide. You will have been harboring a killer in your garage.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director, Texas Department of Public Safety, says, "Don't take chances. Make sure your car is safe to drive. Have it inspected now at one of the Texas Department of Public Safety's 4,300 official inspection stations."

CRAB APPLE CHOOSING

By F. L. Rowley

THE news spread like a prairie fire. Ernie Rankin was leaving town. Ernie had been restless ever since he won the baking contest at the county fair. Some folks said he'd gotten a swelled head and wanted to be a big chef in New York. Others said that the fellows had needed him so much since he won that 'woman's prize' that he couldn't take it any longer. Pat Mills ran up to her room when she heard the news. She knew that Ernie would not come back if he did go. Even if he wrote, his letters would drop off after awhile. She thought of the wonderful dreams they had shared before Ernie won that 'terrible' contest. She heard Uncle Jake's caw on the stairs and quickly dried her eyes. "Dawling won't help none," said Uncle Jake when he saw her face. "Now, if it was me, I'd be in the things so pleasant for Ernie that wild horses couldn't drag him out of town."

How pleasant could one be in five minutes? Ernie looked nervous. "Hi Pat!" he said hoarsely. "Lo Ernie." "I suppose you think I'm taking a big gamble?" She shrugged. "I hope your restaurant is a success," she said simply. "Some of the things we planned to do; the things we talked about—well, I guess plans don't always work out the way they're drawn up, do they?" "No, I don't suppose they do, Ernie." "That lot over by the creek, the one with all the crab apple trees on it. It's still for sale." "Is it? I haven't been over that way lately." Pat wondered why she was lying to Ernie. She'd spent the entire morning picking crab apples for jelly. "I guess maybe you've forgotten the promise we made down by the creek?" "I have not!" She said it without hesitation. Ernie studied her as the red came to her cheeks. Those plans all seemed so far off now. Ernie reached for her hand. "Let's go out on the porch." Pat nodded. She didn't trust her voice. "Pat, I've been wondering. You know why I want the restaurant, don't you?" "You like to cook?" He smiled. "Sure, but that's not the main reason. I want it to make money. It costs money to get married; to buy a yellow-brick house."

Too Much 'Paint' Hides Natural Beauty

By C. D. Smith

Answers for an intelligent young lady of fourteen years: Do not let it worry you one bit that your friends "make fun" of you because they wear lipstick and you do not. Lipstick is a much-used and valuable beauty aid, but there are thousands and thousands of beautiful women who have never used it, or have used it sparingly because their natural beauty is such that they do not need it at all.

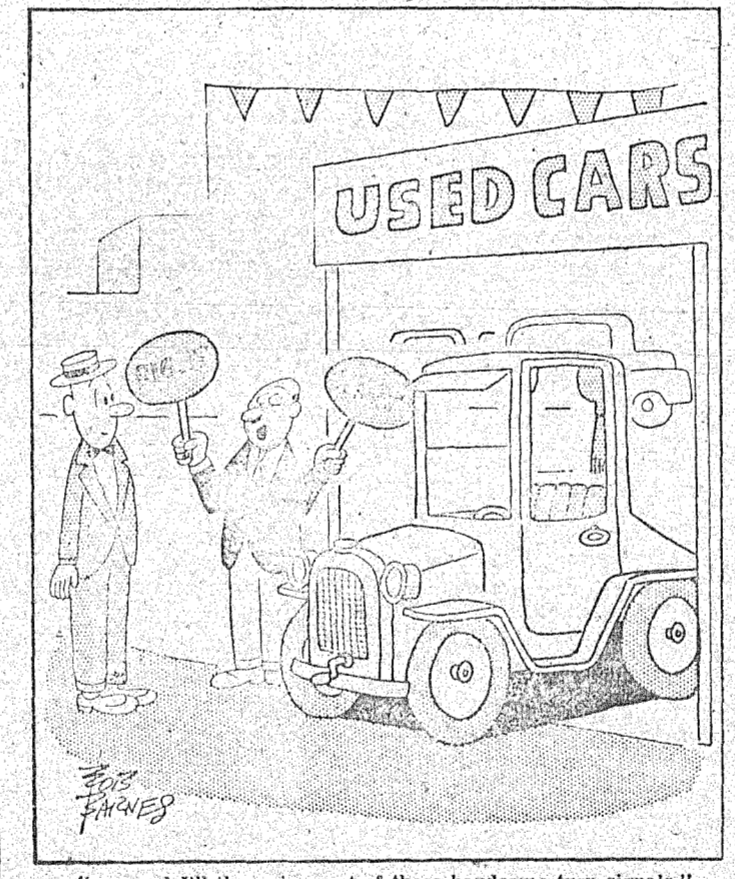

Many teenage girls, because they do not use the right shade of lipstick—or because they use too much of whatever shade they choose—manage to make themselves look distracting rather than attractive. Many of them start using it when they are much too young, at a time when the natural beauty of youth needs no artificial aids.

just as they do their party dresses—for special occasions. And they do not choose the brightest shade of red they can find; they select the shade that beauty specialists recommend for their type of complexion and hair coloring. It is, a wise teenage who seeks the advice of an older woman—mother, perhaps, or a friend who is a beauty specialist, or merely a person of good taste—before using any lipstick at all. There is nothing wrong with the use of lipstick, powder or rouge. They have a place and a purpose. Yet, like all useful things in this world of ours, they "backfire" when they are overworked or used excessively. Properly used, lipstick adds color and contour to the shape of the lips; wrongly used, it gives the appearance that the wearer is "all mouth." Painted lips attract attention. People take notice—but the majority of them are probably wishing they could tell the young lady a thing or two about proper beauty care. If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORD, KY.

AMERICANA Cities To See Boise, Idaho—Beautiful Woodland

Capitol Building—Boise

According to legend, French-Canadian trappers shouted "Les Boise," meaning "the woods," when they came upon a beautiful woodland in the early days. Such is fitting origin for the name "Boise" which describes one of the city's most distinctive features—its innumerable and beautiful trees.

Long before the arrival of the white man, Indians headquartered in Boise Valley because the nearby mountains formed a natural fortress against harsh elements. Boise became a pioneer wagon-train stop on the old Oregon Trail, a military outpost, and a rendezvous for early trappers. Boise was once the principal supply base for incredibly rich mining areas. Historians say that the Boise Basin gold discovery "was unquestionably the richest and most extensive gold district on the Pacific Coast." No one knows how much ore was taken out, but estimates place the amount as high as $100,000,000. Since 1864, when it was made Capital, Boise has been the hub of Idaho life. The Statehouse grounds are beautiful, bordered by majestic trees, several of which were planted by great American Presidents.

Boise lays claim to diversity... is known as a place where people love to work and love to play. Some 68,000 people live in this city where Western hospitality is much more than a slogan. Boise is fast gaining a reputation as a traveler's mecca, since it is an ideal spring-board to recreation unlimited in rugged and majestic Idaho. When one hears of Idaho, one hears of the Basques, a colorful people with a fascinating background. Six decades ago, they came to the Boise Basin in search of a substitute for their native land. They came from the Basque provinces in the northeast corner of Spain and in adjoining France. Despite the geographical location, they deny kinship with France or Spain. Proficient fishermen, the Basques are known throughout the world as sheepherders, the industry that brought them to Idaho.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M. D., Commissioner of Health

What do people die from most? How many accidental deaths were there in 1957? What was the leading cause of death in 1932?

These and other questions involving vital statistics are ever available from the Division of Vital Statistics of the State Health Department.

Most people look upon the Division of Vital Statistics as merely a place to obtain a copy of a birth certificate for a new job, or a copy of a death certificate for an inheritance.

This is true, but the division offers many other services as well. Some are familiar; others are unknown except to public health workers.

Let's take the first question: Just what do people die from most?

By careful compilation of death statistics, listing cause of death, place, conditions and other information, it is possible for statisticians to determine what diseases are killing the most people in Texas.

What value is this? It was just fifty years ago that tuberculosis was the leading cause of death.

Medical and public health officials could see this frightening fact and direct their activities toward curbing the disease.

Year after year, employing various methods for lessening the occurrence and severity of tuberculosis, the researchers' only method of checking their progress was by checking statistical death records.

In this manner they were able to discern which measures were the most successful. Today, tuberculosis is no longer the leading killer it was.

Refined techniques are carried on today with emphasis on other diseases.

For instance, the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Clinic uses death records to check on past patients of the hospital. In this way they hope to find out how successful are certain methods of cure. The study is on a continuous basis, and began several years ago.

Similar studies can be applied to heart patients. Heart and cancer diseases are the two leading causes of death today.

The fourth-ranking killer is accidents. Traffic accidents lead, but how and where and in what manner do these and other accidents occur? By careful scrutiny of death records, answers may be found that will enable engineers to build safety into homes and highways.

NOVEMBER PLENTIFUL FOODS

Turkeys and apples are headliners among foods in abundance during this month of November.

The 1956 turkey placements were not quite so large in Texas as last year but the mortality rate has been unusually low and there will be plenty of the traditional "Holiday" birds available at a right price. The bulk of the crop will be going to market in November and December, making more supplies actually available than during last year when sales were spread from the last of September through the Christmas Season.

As for apples, they're making history this year. This is the second largest crop in two decades and the largest since 1949. The country's commercial apple trees are expected to yield nearly 127 million bushels.

Along with turkeys, broiler-fryer chickens will be plentiful. Generous supplies of pork are also available.

Because so many young hens make up this fall's laying flocks, medium and small size eggs are expected to be most plentiful and are probably the thrifty buys.

The fall potato crop also is large. These are the storage potatoes that keep better than the more perishable "new potatoes" and are suited to many different cooking methods.

Another vegetable appearing in quantity on markets is cabbage. Record high yields have lifted crop prospects to 12 percent above a year ago. Because of heavy yields, much cabbage grown for kraut will be sold fresh. Cabbage deserves more attention from shoppers who appreciate vitamin C value and appetizing flavor, especially for salad use, at an inexpensive price.

The big cranberry crop this fall — the largest since 1953 — will bring plenty of these holiday berries to November and December markets.

Other plentifuls are canned ripe olives and walnuts — the largest production since 1949. Lots of dates and honey are expected which are excellent for holiday cookies, cakes, confections and everyday spreads.

Peanut butter will be in great plenty as will vegetable fats and salad oils.

If you're serving a crowd, you'll want to consider the large size cans of many different frozen berries. Canned berries are in good supply in both extra large and family-size containers.

The P. T. A. met at 2:30 p. m. on Wednesday November 5th. The vice president, Mrs. Ray Swindell, was in charge of the meeting. This was not a business meeting but several announcements were made. Mrs. Gertrude Martin's 6th grade won the room count. Membership cards were given to the members present and a reminder to everyone that it is never too late to join or visit the P. T. A.

The treasurer, Mrs. Felton Martin, reported the net total cleared on the P. T. A. Fun Carnival was $414.16. The presiding officer again expressed appreciation to everyone for their part in making the carnival the huge success it was.

Santa Anna Asked To Have 'Day' At Stock Show

Santa Anna has been invited to have a "day" at the 1959 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, which will be held Jan. 30 through Feb. 8 in Fort Worth.

In a letter, W. R. Watt, president-manager of the show, suggested that Santa Anna select a cowgirl sweetheart who can be introduced at the Stock Show rodeo. Watt also invited the city to send its high school band so that the students may give a concert on the exposition grounds. Band members will be guests of the Stock Show at the rodeo performance.

Watt expressed the hope that a delegation of citizens, wearing hat bands or badges proclaiming their hometown, would attend the exposition. A special section of seats at the rodeo also will be set aside if Santa Anna residents would like to sit together.

Dale Robertson, star of the TV Western series, "Tales of Wells Fargo", will be featured in all rodeo performances. He will star in a musical act designed especially for the Fort Worth show.

"The 'days' when various towns are honored add color and contribute much to the success of the Stock Show", Watt said in his letter.

He asked that the Chamber of Commerce, or any interested group work with the Stock Show officials to plan the special "day".

did not have all the data and estimates he needed at this time.

The program chairman, Mrs. Robert Markland, introduced our speaker, Mrs. Cullen Perry, who gave a very interesting talk on "American Education, Why?" At the conclusion of the lecture, a film, "Secure the Blessings" was shown.

Coffee and tea were served to members and visitors present.

"The Stock Show is looking forward to your acceptance and will give your plans as wide-spread publicity as possible", Watt said in his letter. "All of us will do everything in our power to make your visit enjoyable."
