Improvements And Changes On The Local Scene

During recent weeks several changes in ownership of homes and businesses have been made, some new construction is underway, and new pavement is being put on several local streets. Following is listed at least a part of the changes. Others that may have taken place, we have not learned of yet.

SERVICE STATIONS

The latest change in service stations is the purchase of the L. E. Abernathy Texaco Service Station by Thomas Wristen. Wristen took over the operation of the station, located at the junction of the Coleman and Rockwood Highways, Monday of this week. He has an announcement concerning the change elsewhere in this issue of The News.

Wristen is a graduate of Santa Anna High School. After being discharged from military service about 14 years ago, he went to work in Coleman where he has been employed since. He and his family live on their farm south of town. We are glad to welcome Mr. Wristen to Santa Anna and hope he will enjoy a prosperous business here.

Other recent service station changes include Billy Joe Scott taking over the operation of the new Gulf Service Station in the west part of town, formerly operated by J. A. Harrington.

Harrington bought a lot east of the Santa Cooperative Gin and has built a service station there where he is handling Premier products.

NEW HOME

The Roy Hornes are in the process of building a new 3-bedroom home on Avenue A in the northwest part of town. Mr. Horne is manager of the Santa Anna Tile Company. The new home will likely be ready for occupancy about mid-May.

NEW PAVING

Several streets are in the process of being paved. These include the street between the school gym and Mr. J. M. Cheaney's home; Avenue A from North 4th Street to North 8th Street; North 4th and North 6th Streets from Wallis Avenue to Avenue A; and North 5th Street from Avenue B to Avenue A; Willis Avenue from South 5th to the Rockwood Highway. In front of the Presbyterian Church; and one block of Sky Cove Street. Just in case the reader might not know where Sky Cove Street is, it is a short street between the Ford Barnes' and the lot just east of them that was recently purchased by O. L. Cheaney.

NEW BUSINESSES

Two new businesses are scheduled to be opened in the near future. Mrs. Norval Wylie plans to open a new florist shop within the next month in the house where Mrs. Ann Kulp lives. The shop will be in the front of the house.

Harry Crews, former operator of the South Texas Lumber Co. here and in Coleman, is making preparations to open his own lumber yard here, to be known as the Santa Anna Lumber Co. It will be located in the old South Texas Lumber Co. building. Mr. Crews should be ready to open for business within a few weeks.

MOVING AROUND

Glen Copeland has purchased the new home in the southeast part of town built by Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Seale. The deal is in the process of being closed now, and the Copelands plan to move in as soon as all the paper work is completed.

Lewis Newman recently sold his farm at Shields to Mr. and Mrs. Otis Bivins. The Walter Newman family has been living there. The Walter Newmans purchased the Carl Autrey home here and the Autreys and Newmans are moving this week. The Autreys are moving into the Carl Ashmore rent house near the high school temporarily.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wristen have purchased the former V. L. Grady home on Avenue C and plan to move into it as soon as some redecorating is completed on the inside of the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Kile have moved from their location on Avenue A to the Lela Hays house on Wallis Avenue.

Questions And Answers On Sonic Booms

This we begin a discussion No. 6 in a series of 15 discussions on sonic booms. This information has been furnished us for publication by Congressman O. C. Fisher.

6. Do sonic booms create significant vibrations on a structure?

There is a peculiar scientific fact that enters into the misunderstanding of vibrations. Scientists have observed and proven that people observe things by perceptions that are false. For example, it was reported that the structures were being shaken violently and the ground was jumping up and down an inch or two when large aircraft were flying overhead. Even the scientists who went out to investigate admitted to this feeling. Yet, measuring the pressures with the most sensitive instruments available indicated no movement — slamming a screen door drove the measuring instrument completely off the scale. The fact is that false perceptions of movement are received because the sense organs in the skin require only pressures measured in a millionth part per square inch to cause a sensation of movement. It is therefore difficult for people to believe that there is no vibration of the earth; that what they feel is only a false perception. As for the other fact about vibration, many people are familiar with the principle of vibration in harmonics and the feeling given by vibration of interior walls and ceilings on its own plane. Most structural elements of houses have natural frequencies of vibration ranging from 5 to 20 and even 40 cycles per second. The sonic boom, when it reaches the ground from an elevation of 10,000 feet or more, is equivalent to a frequency of about five or less cycles per second. Thus, the elements of the house want to vibrate much more rapidly than the boom. It is known that when a slowly vibrating force is applied to a structure which has a much higher rate of vibration, the structure cannot sense the vibration period of the force and behaves just as if the applied force were steady. The structure is "not in resonance" especially if the force is only applied one time. It, therefore, has a tendency not to vibrate by its harmonics. While the latter may and in some cases do occur, they are imperceptible in magnitude.

7. Do sonic booms create significant vibrations on the ground?

Soils, even tight clay, are considerably looser than most building materials and as a result it becomes much more difficult to make the soil mass vibrate. When the mass of soil in and around a house down to the level of the footings is considered and an attempt is made to move or vibrate such a mass with the puny force of a sonic boom, it appears completely out of reason. Scientists dealing with nuclear explosions have found that even good sized air bombs which produce many, many times the pressure of a sonic boom have very little, if any, effect on the ground or on structures such as walks, pavements, pipes, footings, etc. It may be said with confidence, therefore, that no sonic boom is going to break up concrete walks or drives or break up basement walls or floors.

8. What effect will the sonic boom have upon windows and doors?

No mention has been made of openings in a structure. Sonic boom effect upon windows and doors must be considered. First, consider the windows. The sash, frame, mullions, etc., because of the materials of which they are built, are all elements which are more than strong enough to resist the relatively minute force of the boom. The glass, however, is another matter. Glass is in one sense a strong material, however, it is relatively brittle compared to other building materials when used in thin sheets. The methods by which it is their store building. White with red trim, the new paint has improved the looks of the building considerably.

REMODELING

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Welch are in the process of remodeling the inside of their home.

Abbreviated Names On Refund Checks

"Don't fret if that refund check from Uncle Sam doesn't show your full name," says Ellis Campbell Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue Service.

Due to mechanical limitations on the high speed electronic machines now printing tax refund checks, only the taxpayer's first initial of the given name, or names, is being used.

In rare instances, where a taxpayer's surname is unusually long, one or more letters at the end of the surname may even be dropped.

The IRS representative advises taxpayers to endorse their refund checks exactly as drawn. Then, if letters are omitted at the end of a surname, a second endorsement should be made showing the full surname.

manufactured are apt to produce internal "locked-up" stresses. The methods of installation and the workmanship employed are apt to produce additional stresses due to its being bent ever so slightly when installed. Thus a sharp blow, even though a light one, may shatter the glass. This is not to say that sonic booms will always break windows because they definitely will not. Experiments with large explosions have shown that ordinary window glass will break at free stream pressure ranging from 18 to 70 pounds per square foot. This is much greater than the force produced by booms and supports the idea that glass breakage is much more apt to occur because of the stress induced during manufacture and during the installation.

Doors, with the exception of glass areas, are much stronger than necessary to resist boom forces. Weak points are the locks and the hinges. If the lock is loose fitting, the impact of the boom may be sufficient to jar the opening and cause the door to bang against the wall. Under this condition, or if the door is partly ajar, the hinges might pull loose or cause a split in the door jam.

9. Will the sonic boom damage masonry walls or plaster?

It is well known that bricks, blocks, plaster and mortar do not have any measurable ability to creep. When laid up into walls or ceilings, they also have locked-up stresses which are caused by such things as the hydration (curing) of the mortar or plaster, shrinkage due to the drying out of mortar or plaster or the effect of expansion and contraction between hot summer and cold winter temperatures. Since these materials have no "give" they either stand all these force combinations indefinitely or fail after about one or two seasonal cycles. It may, therefore, be said that these brittle structures adjust themselves to their environment very rapidly by cracking very early in their life. No one will deny that if the boom forces were appreciable, brick, block, or plaster stressed close to the point of failure by the combination of locked-up and seasonal forces might be overloaded; but since the boom force on a structural element is far less than that of a good stiff windstorm or, in many cases less than that of a healthy boy jumping on the floor, it is difficult to see how a wall could remain poised just at the point of failure for any length of time without being tipped in by other more frequent forces.

On at least two separate occasions the Air Force has attempted to test sonic boom damage. In each case small, light, dwelling type buildings were put up and the interiors furnished with the usual household items, including mirrors, bric-a-brac, dishes, etc. These structures were subjected to booms, both diving and level flight over a wide range of altitudes and speeds. Not a single case of even a dish or window breakage was observed. While not scientific in nature, these demonstrations afford a good basis for saying that the sonic boom does not cause structural damage unless it occurs at very close distances to the structures.

Most Household Workers Under Social Security

Do you know that you are required by law to pay social security for most employees who work in your private household?

This requirement and other helpful information about social security are explained in a handy, four-page leaflet "Do You Have A Maid?" according to R. R. Tuley Jr., manager of the Abilene Social Security Office. The leaflet was published jointly by the Internal Revenue Service and the Social Security Administration.

It contains a clip-out card for employers of household workers to mail to Internal Revenue Service for tax reporting forms.

"Employers paying their maids, cooks, chauffeurs, companions, yardmen, and other domestic help cash wages of more than $50 in a calendar quarter of the year must make quarterly reports to Internal Revenue," R. R. Tuley Jr. said. "The report must be accompanied by the payment of 5% social security tax on wages paid. This tax is shared equally by employee and employer."

Free copies of the booklet are available upon request. You may get your copy by visiting or writing to the social security office located at 203 Fannin (Box 6168), Abilene, Texas. Ask for Leaflet 21.

Converted Jew To Be Presbyterian Church Speaker

DR. HARRY A. MARKO

Dr. Harry A. Marko, a converted Jew, will speak in a series of lectures at the First Presbyterian Church beginning Friday, March 6 and continuing through Sunday morning services March 8th. The evangelist and Missionary for The American Board of Missions to the Jews will speak at 7:30 each evening and at 11:00 a. m. on Sunday.

Born to Jewish parents in Roumania and nurtured in the Hebrew Scriptures, Dr. Marko was a member of the synagogue choir, a graduate doctor and singer. He came to the United States at the age of 21 and at the age of 45 was converted to Christianity near a small town near Austin, Texas, by a chance acquaintance whose name he did not know. He is now a preacher of the Gospel of Christ and Field Representative for the American Board of Missions to the Jews. This, in short, is the story of Dr. Marko.

Topics he will discuss at the series in Santa Anna include: "Story of His Own Conversion"; "What is being done among the Jews and their response"; "Why I believe that Jesus is the Messiah"; and "The Jew in Prophecy."

A cordial invitation is extended to all denominations to hear each of the series.

World Day Of Prayer Observed

The annual World Day of Prayer observance was held at the First Christian Church Friday, February 13, beginning at 8:30 a. m. The observance was well attended and all present felt the meeting well worth while.

Mrs. L. O. Garrett, leader of the program, read appropriate scriptures. Members of the congregation read scriptures in response. Theme for the observance was "Lord, I Boice" taken from John 9:35. The service was composed by nine women of Egypt.

Several designated hymns were sung with the Rev. Ray Elliott leading them. Elliott also sang a solo, accompanied by Miss Elsie Lee Harper at the piano. Several special scriptures were read by Eld. Harold R. Robbins. Interspersory prayers and silent prayers, were also features.

Mrs. J. W. McClellan told of the beginning of the World Day of Prayer and its growth through the years. She also told for what purposes the offering each year is used. All parts were well rendered.

A very good offering was received for the world-wide work.

Surprise Alert Called For Local National Guard

A surprise alert was sounded for the local National Guard Company Sunday morning. The alert included the entire 35th Division of Texas.

The local alert was sounded for 3:00 a. m. and continued through 10:00 a. m. Lt. Billy Joe Harvey, commander of the local unit, said about 85 percent of the company was on hand by 3:30 a. m. The alert was called "Operation Awake" and each company was to set up its own plans for the alert.

The local company has a disaster plan and immediately put it into action. Presumably, a tornado struck the main street area of Santa Anna at 8:00 a. m. The guard set up nine guard stations in town and patrolled the area to keep down looting and to care for wounded. They also set up an aid station in the school gym and a guard station at the hospital. All minor injuries were treated at the gym and those suffering major wounds were carried to the hospital. Guards at the hospital were to keep civilians from overcrowding the hospital attempting to contact members of their families, who might have been wounded.

Lt. Harvey said everything went off like a clockwork and they were well pleased with the results. Out of 47 enlisted men and four officers, 40 men and their officers were present.

Lt. Harvey said they have an alert plan, where he is notified first when an alert is sounded. He in turn has four persons to contact, then each of them has a set number to contact, followed with each of those contacting the remainder of the company. In this alert all contacts were made in person or by telephone. Their alert system also calls for contact by radio, television or telegram.

The company spent the remainder of the day in a regular drill period. Each Third Sunday, all National Guard units hold a Multiple Drill, spending eight hours in training.

State Capitol NEWS

Austin — The season of the "hard luck story" is in full swing.

Legislative committees having to do with taxing and spending are in almost constant sessions. On the one hand they hear from the state agencies that want more money — of their dire needs, of the gloomy future that awaits the state if their programs are under-financed.

Equally mournful are the stories of those who would be the targets of new taxes. It would be like putting up a "Keep Out of Texas" sign for new businesses and accompanying prosperity, say many business and civic leaders of the sharp new tax bites. Texas communities trying to build up their areas by bringing in money-making enterprises would have the rug pulled out from under them, say the tax critics.

In this arena of clashing viewpoints, the legislators must serve as both judge and jury. Few lawmakers expect to collect any noseays for their efforts — no matter how sincere or well-considered. Some expect they may have to displease both groups — by cutting spending requests and raising taxes — all in one woeful session.

BANE TO BUSINESS — As expected, businesses, large and small, take a dim view of Gov.

Price Daniel's proposal to increase corporation franchise taxes.

Industry spokesmen told of probable increases of from 50 to 250 percent in the amount they would have to pay. They complained, too, that they'd have to pay a tax whether they were making money or not, since the tax would be on capital, rather than income.

Rep. J. E. Winfree of Houston, sponsor of the bill, told the business representatives, in effect, "It's this or something else."

UT PLEADS CASE — University of Texas "will sink back into mediocrity," declared exes and officials, unless the school gets a better appropriation deal than that proposed by the Legislative Budget Board.

University officials asked for a two-year appropriation of about $34,006,067. Budget Board recommended $27,920,624.

Dr. Logan Wilson told the House Appropriations Committee that people seemed willing to pay broad-based taxes for highways. Why not for higher education?

Herman Jones, Austin attorney and spokesman for alumni, emphasized the importance of improved education to this country's position in international affairs. "I don't want it put in the history books that this generation kept the budget low and let the nation die," said Jones.

UT officials also said they would be opposed to establishing a third medical branch — at San Antonio, Austin or elsewhere — until they have gotten enough money to make "first class" the existing Dallas and Galveston branches.

PRISON PROBLEMS — Even more impassioned are the pleas of those concerned with appropriations for the Department of Corrections.

Texas Prison System is operated at about half the national average cost per inmate, says Supt. O. B. Ellis. For some years Board members have been warning of dangerously overcrowded conditions, and the need for more buildings.

A slash in funds and personnel, proposed by the Legislative Budget Board, would bring sheer ruin to the bulging prisons, in Ellis' view.

Prison System has even more immediate pinch in that it has no money to finish out this fiscal year. It had a crop failure last year, when floods wiped out cotton on the prison farms.

Since the Prison System is heavily dependent on its own production, it, like any hard-hit farmer, needs some "cash money" — about $500,000 — to tide it over for this year.

SOMETHING'S GOTTA GO — We can't continue our present services and take a budget cut too, Texas A&M Extension Service officials told legislators.

Budget Board recommended a slightly lower Extension Service appropriation for 1960 than it had for 1959. Service had asked for sizeable increase to help offset extensive loss of county agents to better-salaried jobs in industry.

Spokesmen for the Farm Bureau and numerous other rural groups appeared before the House Appropriations Committee to plead the importance of Extension Service work.

DEADLINE EXTENDED — Senate General Investigating Committee, a creation of the last session, has until March 2 to complete its voluminous report.

After nearly 20 months of activity, the Committee had had 27 hearings, piled up 7,500 pages of testimony. All hearings were public, and some brought unsettling repercussions in the fields of insurance regulation and tax collecting.

Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, chairman, is recommending such work be continued by a Joint House-Senate Committee. There must be some sort of "watch dog", Herring believes for the state's billion-dollar-a-year business.

SLOW DOWN! — Chronic speeders would soon find themselves getting around on shoe leather under a strict new measure proposed by Rep. Ben Lewis of Dallas.

Under the bill, the first speeding conviction would bring a 30-day license suspension; the second, a 60-day suspension; the third, six months; and all thereafter, one year. A record of each conviction would be carried on the driver's license.

Speeding, Lewis pointed out, is regarded as a leading cause of accidents.

ANTI-HAIR-SPLITTING — "Harmless errors" would no longer be grounds for reversal of a criminal court conviction under a measure being sponsored by Rep. Tom James of Dallas.

Only "substantive errors" would require the throwing out of a trial court decision.

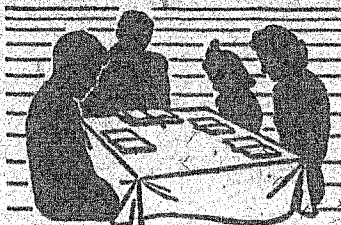

There has been some criticism in recent years of Court of Criminal Appeals decisions which nullified convictions because of such things as misspellings and typographical errors. James' bill was recommended by the Texas Law Enforcement Commission.

Read II Timothy 2:19-26

Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away, and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit. (John 15:2.)

Each year on the first spring-like day in February, I take time to prune my grapevines. When we moved into our present home, the three grapevines on the arbor had been neglected and so bore little fruit. A friend taught me to prune the vines. After cutting them back severely, I feared I would have no grapes. But in the fall I had luscious grapes in abundance!

My loving Lord comes to cut away the fruitless branches of my self-effort and feeble service to make way for His renewed grace and strength. The purging process is painful, but I know my heavenly Father is the husbandman.

As I accept His help, I feel a new surge of peace and have the assurance of His presence. Life takes on renewed meaning as I live in obedience to His will and in the hope of bearing fruit for Him.

PRAYER:
Our Father, we thank Thee

that Thou dost look after each of us, Thy children, in love and tenderness. Prune away the dead branches of our lives, and fill us anew with the Holy Spirit. Keep us abiding in Christ, our living vine, that we may bring forth fruit for Thee. In the name of Thy Son, Amen.

Poor Visibility Cause Of Many Accidents

"Poor visibility is one of the most serious problems facing the motorist in winter driving," J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, said today.

"In addition to the hazards of skidding, that winter presents, the problem of reduced visibility can make driving especially treacherous. Motorists must be able to see danger to avoid it," Musick said.

He also warned motorists to replace windshield wipers that have become worn out or baked stiff by the past summer's sun.

"Fewer hours of daylight, slippery streets and streaked windshields all serve to reduce the distance a driver can safely see," he said.

"Also keep the inside of car windows clean and free of smoke or steam. Danger may approach from the sides, or rear, as well as from the front."

The safety expert said that in almost one out of seven fatal accidents, the driver's vision was obscured. In two out of five of these cases, the obstruction was on the vehicle itself, such as rain, snow or sleet on the windshield.

"Keep these figures in mind," Musick warned, "and keep alert to the road ahead. No sane person would drive with his eyes closed, so why drive when vision has been obstructed?"

Income TAX FAX

Questions and Answers About Your Individual Income Tax Report for 1958, as Presented By The Texas Press Association.

Do you have reimbursed expenses paid to you by your employer on a per diem basis and on a fixed mileage basis for your car expenses? If so, and you can qualify, as below, you do not have to report this reimbursement as income or detail the expenses on your income tax return.

An extensive study has been made of the rates of mileage allowances and per diem allowances in lieu of subsistence paid employees by a substantial number of employers, including States and municipalities, and the method of accounting for these allowances required of the employees by such employers.

On the basis of this study, it has been administratively determined that for purposes of section 1162-17(b) of the Income Tax Regulations an employee who pays or incurs ordinary and necessary business expenses for travel (including meals and lodging) and transportation for which he is paid by his employer a fixed mileage allowance or a per diem allowance in lieu of subsistence at rates not in excess of 125 percent of the rates authorized to be paid by the Federal Government in the locality in which the travel is performed will be deemed to have been required to account to his employer for such expenses for purposes of such regulations.

The maximum mileage allowance on a fixed scale authorized to be paid by the Federal Government for use of a personal automobile on official travel is 40 cents per mile and the maximum per diem allowance on a fixed scale in lieu of subsistence authorized to be paid while traveling within the continental United States is $12.00 per day. Accordingly, it is held that for purposes of section 1162-17(b) of the Income Tax Regulations an employee will be deemed to have been required to account to his employer in cases where the rates of mileage allowance or per diem allowance in lieu of subsistence paid by the employer are not in excess of 12½ cents per mile and $15.00 per day, respectively.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. In 1958 I operated my own farm and made a profit of $1-700.00. How do I report this income in order to receive credit for social security?

A. You report your self-employment income on Schedule F of your income tax return and forward it to the District Director of Internal Revenue before April 15th of 1959.

Q. What tax return forms should I file if I operate my own farm?

A. You should file Internal Revenue Form 1040 and Schedule F. The Schedule F is a profit or loss statement and shows how you arrived at your net profit for the year.

Good Soil Samples Make Soil Tests Better

College Station — The use of fertilizer on Texas crops and pastures will pay big dividends in the areas where plant food is needed to boost yields. The cheapest, easiest and best method for determining fertilizer needs is to test the soil. But, adds W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist, the soil test is no better than the soil sample from which the test is made.

In fact, points out Bennett, chemical tests based on poorly taken soil samples may actually be misleading. Here are suggestions from the chemist on how to take a good soil sample. A spade, probe or auger can be used for taking the soil sample. Sampling should be done to a depth of six inches. If a spade is used, dig a V-shaped hole to the six inch depth and take a half inch slice of soil from the smooth side of the hole. Then cut away all but the center one inch of the slice and place it in the container being used for collecting the individual samples from which the composite sample will come.

Take a composite sample from each soil type in the field. For example, take a sample from the level ridgetop and another from the slope. In getting the composite sample, from 10 to 15 individual samples should be taken from over the area. These should be collected in a clean container and thoroughly mixed before the soil for the composite sample is placed in the sample box. In taking the random samples, Bennett says field depressions, old fence lines or unusual areas within the sample area should be avoided. Too, separate samples should be taken from areas that have been cropped differently.

In numbering the sample boxes, make sure the box number corresponds to the number shown on the information sheet and keep a record of the sample numbers and the area from which each was taken. The soil sampling sheet — it's available from the local county agent — should be filled out as completely as possible. The samples along with the information sheets may be mailed directly to the laboratory at College Station or taken to the county agent's office or community leader for transmission to the laboratory. The test results should be back to the sender in 3 weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Stacy and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cate and grandson, Joey, of Bangs, were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Stacy on Sunday.

Self Culture Club Hears Book Review

The Self Culture Club met in regular session Friday, February 13 with Mrs. Hardy Blue as hostess, in her home. Attendance was better than usual with 16 members and one visitor present.

After a short business session, Mrs. Blue introduced Mrs. Joe Burroughs, teacher of English in the Coleman High School. Mrs. Burroughs reviewed the book, "Please Don't Eat The Daisies," by Jean Kerr. This new book is very well written and quite humorous. It was splendidly reviewed. The book deals with a mother and four young sons, and their daily routine.

Following the review, the hostess served refreshments carrying out the Valentine theme. The dining table, laid with lace, was lighted with red candles. The center-piece carried out in decorations the Valentine theme and Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays.

"Valentine Greetings" was the theme carried out on individual heart shaped cakes, iced in white and topped with red roses and one of the letters. Each individual cake was mounted on a white, heart shaped Valentine. With the cakes was served hot fruit punch.

Mrs. Blue presented Mrs. Burroughs with a gift.

The next meeting of the club will be the annual Federation Day Dinner, to be held at 6:00 p. m. on Friday, Feb. 27 in the dining room of the Truck Harbor Cafe. Following the meal, the group will adjourn to the home of Mrs. C. D. Bruce, where the program will be presented.

ANOTHER GRASSHOPPER PLAGUE IN 1959?

Agricultural workers are keeping a close watch this year on grasshoppers — that ravenous insect that engulfed much of the Texas Panhandle in 1958.

A late fall survey of insect eggs shows that grasshoppers are likely to be more widespread in the Western States this year but not so heavily concentrated as during the scourge of last spring.

During the survey, grasshoppers were found on 22,666,922 rangeland acres in 15 Western and Midwestern States as compared with 18,686,492 in 1957. However, where the previous year's survey showed many areas of extremely heavy infestation, the most recent count revealed most of the acreage to carry only a light or moderate number of hatchable eggs.

Field workers check the hopper eggs in order to give advance warning to farmers and ranchers. Later spot samplings will be made as the year progresses. One encouraging note in Texas and Oklahoma is the fact that they have found considerable parasitism of grasshopper eggs by blister and beetles, which should reduce the egg hatch.

Colorado, Montana and California have the largest range-hopper populations, followed by Wyoming, Utah, Oklahoma and Texas. Some 3,400,000 acres in Texas have an egg count ranging from "light" to "very abundant."

The effects of the Texas Department of Agriculture's campaign against the hopper last spring showed up clearly in the survey. Few grasshoppers were found in many of the areas treated with insecticides. Over 1,000,000 acres were treated in Texas during the campaign.

Grasshoppers are a very real threat to the farmers' and ranchers' pocketbook. The average annual loss to crops and range forage in 17 states west of the Mississippi is estimated at $90 million.

Pest control workers urge land owners to keep a sharp eye on potentially threatening areas so they can act promptly if spring surveys show that grasshoppers are hatching in abundance.

Civil Defense Book Available

Austin — A new booklet, available from Austin, outlines for American citizens responsibilities of a sort they haven't faced in nearly a century.

Not since the War Between the States has any person in this country stood embattled on his own doorstep. Never before has the entire nation, from East Coast to West Coast, been regarded as vulnerable to possible attack.

The Looklet, "What You Should Know About the National Plan for Civil Defense and Defense Mobilization," takes a hard look at this possibility in terms of what each citizen can do to protect himself.

It is an official publication of the federal Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization. Copies may be obtained by writing the State Defense Office, Capitol Station, Austin.

Purpose of the book is to show the individual citizen what his government may be expected to do for him and what he must do for himself in the event of an enemy attack on this country.

Fertilizer use the last half of 1958 increased slightly more than 4 percent over the same period of 1957, reports J. F. Fudge, state chemist. This increase represents almost a 9,000 ton increase over the 213,000 tons during the last half of 1957.

"Ways to Fight the Pink Bollworm" is the title of a leaflet, L-219, just released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Experiment Station also has released MP-306, "Commercial Meat Packing Plants in Texas." Both are available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. The former may also be obtained from local county agents.

Tribute will be paid to twenty million men and women in Washington, D. C., ceremonies during National 4-H Club Week, February 28-March 7. They are former 4-H Club members who helped build the program from its humble rural beginnings in the early 1900's to its unprecedented national scope and membership of more than two million farm and urban youth.

"Improving Family and Community Living" is the Club Week theme, and this year a special salute to 4-H alumni will be given. The week will not only evaluate benefits gained by adults through 4-H experience but will present an opportunity for 4-H boys and girls to review their past achievements and plan future activities.

In the capital, the alumni will be represented by a man and a woman, 1959 recipients of national key awards presented annually to eight former 4-H'ers for good citizenship and outstanding service. They will join six national 4-H delegates who will call on President Eisenhower to present him with the 4-H report to the nation on behalf of all club members.

Texas will have an important role in the week-long program. Its own 4-H champion, Marilyn Wood, of 310 North 8th Street, Donna, is one of the six delegates.

Farmers who own young calves seem to be experiencing more and more winter losses due to a condition known as "pneumonia-enteritis" complex.

Today, this is causing an annual loss estimated at more than $30,000,000. It has become such a problem that it has been singled out as one of the major targets of National Livestock Loss Prevention Year in 1959.

Keep calves in small group.

Really, this is two diseases in one... calf pneumonia and bacterial or virus scours. Either of the two is serious, but when the calf contracts both, the consequences can be disastrous. Under confinement, calves are more likely to pick up the disease viruses and bacteria from contaminated air and bedding.

The best way to check pneumonia-enteritis losses is to have treatment started when first symptoms appear. Symptoms may include fever, loss of appetite, scouring, coughing, rapid breathing, and gauntness. Scouring may begin before pneumonia symptoms appear. The owner may mistake such scouring for simple dietary scours, when it may actually mark the onset of this fatal pneumonia-enteritis problem. So, when symptoms appear, it is wise to have a veterinarian make a diagnosis, to make sure which condition exists.

It is best to isolate sick calves and place them in dry, well-ventilated quarters. If treatment is begun promptly, the chances of the calves recovering are improved considerably. One item on the plus side is that calves which recover usually carry lifelong immunity.

From the preventive standpoint, the farmer can take several precautionary steps—being sure that calves have the first milk or colostrum, keeping calves housed in pens alone, or in small groups of the same age, making sure that barns are well ventilated, not drafty, and that they have ample dry bedding.

Ethel Barrymore popularized the lines, "That's all there is, there isn't any more."

TEXAS FUTURE FARMER WEEK TO BE OBSERVED FEB. 21-28

Governor Price Daniel and Dr. J. W. Edgar, Commissioner of Education, compliment the 36,000 Texas Future Farmers. Bill McDowell, State FFA President is shown receiving a proclamation from Governor Daniel designating February 21-28 as FFA Week in Texas.

Governor Price Daniel and Dr. J. W. Edgar, Commissioner of Education, complimented the 36,000 Texas Future Farmers today as the organization prepared to celebrate FFA Week in Texas February 21-28.

Bill McDowell, State FFA President, received the proclamation of the special week from Governor Daniel on behalf of the largest State FFA Association.

"The FFA is composed of boys who are studying vocational agriculture in the public schools in preparation for careers in farming, ranching, and related agricultural occupations. In studying the science of agriculture, these Future Farmers are striving to continuously improve this great industry for the welfare of all citizens," the Governor said.

Governor Daniel pointed out the valuable service the FFA has performed for our State by developing leadership, encouraging cooperation, promoting good citizenship, teaching sound methods of farming, and inspiring patriotism among its members. Dr. Edgar commended the vocational agriculture students in the 900 high schools in the state for their aggressive leadership training program. "Through the FFA, the boys who have the will, the energy, and the foresight are developing into outstanding farmers and ranchers, leaders in their community and well-rounded citizens of our country," Edgar added.

Pedestrians Must Help Reduce Toll Of Traffic Deaths.

"Pedestrians must accept their share of the responsibility, along with motorists, if we are to reduce the overall toll of traffic fatalities in 1959," J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, said today.

"This is especially true during winter months," Musick said. "When a driver's visibility is frequently reduced to only the traffic directly ahead."

The safety expert pointed out that more pedestrian fatalities occur in urban areas during the winter months than in any other season. This is because winter months mean slippery streets, longer hours of darkness and poorer visibility.

"Pedestrians should observe extra caution in crossing streets, obey all traffic signs and signals and make sure they are seen by motorists as they step into the street," Musick warned. "And there should be no jaywalking or sudden exits from between parked cars."

Musick outlined five cardinal rules for safer wintertime walking:

1. Cross at intersections and obey all traffic signs.
2. Be wary of slippery streets and take your time in crossing.
3. At night wear or carry something light in color as a warning to approaching cars.
4. Be courteous and give the driver a break in winter weather.
5. Accept your responsibilities for keeping yourself alive.

Mrs. George Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Field visited Sunday in Brown Ranch and Coleman.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Griffith of Coleman visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jess Griffith.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.

HENRY A. HOLLE, M. D.
Commissioner of Health

If you have ever been leery of drinking from water systems on interstate trains, planes, buses or ships — forget it. Unsung men who ride rails and highways, air and sea lanes, and yet other men who stay at home make it possible for the traveling public to shrug off those apprehensions.

Interstate quarantine regulations say carrier companies can load drinking water only at those points approved by the surgeon general of the Public Health Service. The surgeon general, in turn, bases his approval or disapproval or recommendations made by state health departments.

Engineers of the Texas State Department of Health or local health department personnel working cooperatively with them routinely inspect watering point facilities at bus and train depots and air and sea ports within Texas.

Their partners in this venture of guaranteeing water of safe quality to travelers are Public Health Service water specialists who ride the carriers to inspect on-board plumbing.

Watering-point inspectors are a curious lot. They want to know the type of hydrants and buckets and hoses used to fill water storage tanks of conveyances. What protective devices are used? How are they handled during loading operations and how are they stored when not in use?

They ask questions about and look into facilities for handling ice used to keep drinking water cool during long trips aboard carriers.

What sort of treatment does the water get and where does it come from? Cross connections with other systems could mean contamination and a load of sick passengers.

They even get curious about the condition of service platforms, methods by which conveyances dispose of wastes and presence or absence of employee sanitary facilities.

Inspectors recommend "favorable" or "prohibitive" certification depending on whether the system is up to par or erring at the time of inspection. Prohibitive certification can be erased only by correcting defects.

All this effort is spent toward one objective: To get travelers to their destination in distant states — without getting sick on the water they drink on board enroute.

Railroad, airline, and port officials cooperate in the program by improving drinking water facilities and replacing obsolete equipment with the result that traveling today is more comfortable and convenient than ever before.

ASSISTANCE AVAILABLE FOR CONSERVATION WORK

College Station — Is conservation being left out of your farm plans because of the cost involved? Would you include it in your plans if you could receive financial assistance and procedural advice?

If you answer "yes" to both of these questions you may be interested in some programs that can help make this increasingly important practice a part of your operations, suggests Lynn Pittard, extension assistant soil and water conservation specialist. The Farmers Home Administration has money available to lend for soil and water conservation work. Pittard explains. As much as $25,000 may be borrowed and paid back in 20 years or less.

Information on these and other programs and facilities for which you might be eligible may be obtained from the office administering the program or from your local county agent.

THIRD SESSION OF MISSION STUDY AT ROCKWOOD

Quiet music, "Take Time to be Holy", opened the third session of mission study, directed by Mrs. Tom Bryan, when the Woman's Society of Christian Service met at the Rockwood Methodist Church Monday afternoon. Chapters discussed were "A Christian View of the Meccan Road" and "Is Christianity the Way?"

Mrs. M. A. Richardson brought the devotional from Revelations. The Rev. J. W. Tickner gave the closing prayer.

Present were Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Bryan, Mrs. J. T. Avants, Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Tickner, and Mrs. John Hunter.

MRS. FERGUSON MOVES FROM ROCKWOOD

Lots of water has passed under the bridge since Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ferguson came to Rockwood from Batesville, Ark., in January 1917. Not to mention two World Wars, she has seen lots of changes in our community. Mrs. Ferguson boarded school teachers when we had some 225 students with a faculty of eight. Now we have no school. We once had two gins, meat market, millinery store, bank, and drug store. Now most things are moved away.

Mr. Ferguson passed away a good many years ago and Mrs. Ferguson has lived alone. She will be 91 come June, and often speaks of the youngsters she started in her Primary Sunday School Class. She has been a faithful worker in the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the church.

Mrs. Ferguson hopes to make her home in Coleman near her old friends and neighbors.

Reports Show Fish Hitting Over State

Austin — Fabulous catches of fish are being reported from all over Texas, according to the executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

Party boats on the Texas coast are coming in with heavy loads of red snapper; crappie of the barn door variety are hitting in most of the fresh water lakes, and there is a run on white bass in practically every stream of the State.

"Despite unsettled weather fishermen have been taking their limits in many places," the secretary said. "Although the heaviest catches are being made from the snapper banks, trout, red fish and flounder have been abundant, too."

He warned fishermen: "Be sure you have your license; don't get greedy and take more than your legal limit, and be careful with your boat during high winds over rough water."

Mrs. and Mrs. Dean Bass and young boys, Clay and Wade, of Lampasas, were weekend visitors with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Parks and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bass.
