THURSDAY NIGHT ACCIDENT

Pictured above is the late model Ford belonging to Van Aldridge, after he collided with a freight train Thursday night. The accident happened about 10:55 p. m. as Aldridge was going north on South First Street.

Aldridge, along with the entire cast of the Senior Play, had practiced the play Thursday night. He was on his way home and was alone in the car. Starting across the railroad tracks, he ran into a moving freight train about eight feet behind the engine. The train pulled him down the track some 15 feet before coming to a stop. Both were traveling slow. The train was headed west.

Damage to the car was estimated at $500 or more. Aldridge did not suffer any injuries and fulfilled his part in the Senior Play on Friday night.

Civil Defense Plans Completed For Disaster If One Hits This Area

During the nationwide alert Friday morning, April 17, members of the Santa Anna Civil Defense Unit met in the Community Chamber of Commerce office and discussed and laid plans for emergency use in Santa Anna.

As there is apparently very little likelihood that Santa Anna would be bombed in case of an attack on this nation, we are not particularly concerned about this kind of disaster, but the county is prepared to receive many people from other areas that might be bombed.

Of primary interest at the present time was preparation for emergency use in case of a major disaster such as a tornado striking Santa Anna.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. C. D. Bruce, local chairman, and panel chiefs, W. F. Barnes, John C. Gregg, M. R. Simmons, Cullen N. Perry, Norman Hosch, Mrs. Tom Kingsbery and Fred

Murray. The old Payne Variety building was designated as local disaster headquarters. Under the planned program, no person will take it upon themselves to engage in or direct any operation without first clearing through the headquarters building. All persons acting in a supervisory capacity during an emergency will be recognized by the Civil Defense Arm Band.

SIGNALS

Tornado warning signals will be given when a tornado is spotted in this area, as follows: the fire siren will ring three times for 30 seconds with a 30 second wait between each blast. For a major disaster, such as a tornado striking the area, the signal will be five 30 second blasts on the fire siren with a 60 second wait between each blast.

Immediately upon the sounding of a major disaster signal, all persons assigned to any of the Civil Defense teams will report to the headquarters building. Organization will be immediate. Each member of each team is to report to your panel chief, where instructions will be given. All persons are urged to stay away from the immediate disaster area unless you have actual business there, or are sent there by one of the panel group chairmen.

The town is divided into five sections and area wardens have been or are being appointed for each area. These wardens will assign duties to block wardens, and block wardens will see after his block.

The primary thing to keep in mind when a disaster strikes is to keep calm, do what authorized persons tell you to do, stay out of the disaster area unless you have a reason for being there, do not use the telephone anymore than necessary, and keep your radio on as some instructions will likely be given over that media where possible.

Plans are fairly complete for the Civil Defense teams to go into immediate action when and if a major disaster strikes here. Your cooperation will be appreciated by all concerned.

Ray Owen Gets Long Awaited Dividend Check

Ray Owen received his dividend check from the Veterans Administration last Saturday. This check, in the amount of $38.50 was the dividend on his National Service Life Insurance policy that he carried while in the services during World War II.

Soon after the war, dividends were paid to most veterans who had left the service and cancelled their insurance. In notifying the veterans they were to receive the dividend, they told the vets not to write about their claim, as it would only tend to delay the process. That was in 1948, eleven years ago.

Ray said he supposed if he had written them about it, the claim would have been delayed another ten years or more. There was $11.00 interest paid on the claim.

Rain and Hail Fell Here Last Saturday More Monday

Rain and hail fell in the Santa Anna area Saturday afternoon. The clouds apparently formed over the county, moved east to Brownwood and then in a northeastwardly direction. Very little wind accompanied the clouds locally, but in the Brownwood area and at Lake Brownwood winds up to 60 miles per hour were reported.

The moisture amounted to 1 1/4 inches, as reported from the government gauge at the Coleman Gas Company office. This fell apparently from three and possibly more clouds. Large hail fell from the first cloud, but there was not very much of it. From the second cloud large and small hail fell with enough falling to almost completely cover the ground and drifts were fairly large in places. The third cloud let go of more large and small hail and lot of water.

Very little damage has been reported. The most we have heard of was 250 broiler size turkeys lost at the Griffin Turkey Farm. Bill Griffin said the turkeys bunched up and smothered to death, because of fright. Some crop damage was done, especially in the area just east of town. An hour after the rain was over the pastures and ditches near the Warren Aldridge place east of town was still covered with hail. Other areas in that direction reported considerable hail.

The moisture was appreciated very much by the farmers in this area. Very little fell in the southern part of the county.

Another light rain fell Monday afternoon, sprinkled with very light hail. This rain was 1/8 inch, bringing the total to 1.40 inches.

Heavier rains were reported to the south in the Monday rain.

And the cold wintry weather continues to plague the state, Santa Anna included.

There is a division for juniors and others who would like to enter flowers in the show. Everyone is invited to bring an arrangement of specimen, and have them at the building by 11:00 a. m. in order for them to be placed for viewing.

The public is cordially invited to attend the show.

Four Buildings Robbed Last Thursday Night

Last Thursday night could have been a very disastrous night for Santa Anna, had all the signs been right. However, as it turned out no injuries were reported, damage was light, and very little money disappeared.

The first thing to happen was Van Aldridge, traveling north on South First Street, ran his car into a west bound freight train. Van was not injured, but considerable damage was done to his car. See story and picture elsewhere on this page.

Sometime later in the night, four local business houses were broken into. Very little damage was done at either place, and only one place reported anything of value missing.

At the Bailey Lumber Co. a screen was cut on a window going into the office section of the building. The glass was broken out, the window unlocked and pried open. After apparently going through most of the things on the desk and table and not finding any money, the thief left without doing any more damage.

At the Clover Grill, entry was made by taking the shielding off the air conditioner on the south side of the building. The only thing missing here was about $35 out of the cigarette machine. The thief took a large flower pot off the machine, set it on the floor out of his way and proceeded to pry the machine open. Damage was light to the machine.

At the Texaco Company Warehouse, the only thing that could be found missing were 13 depository checks that are not negotiable. Apparently the thief or thieves apparently tried to make entry through the warehouse door but could not get the door open after breaking a lock on it. They got an empty gas drum, set it under the office window, broke the glass and crawled in. After going through the desk and other places in the office, they broke another lock going into the warehouse where the checks were found. Very little damage resulted however.

At the Gulf Warehouse, the hasp on one lock was broken, and another lock was broken, but if entry was made in the building, no sign could be found of it. Nothing was missing.

Thus far no leads have developed in the case that is being investigated by the Coleman County Sheriff's Department.

State Capital NEWS

Austin — With just about three weeks left in the regular session, legislators will be under much pressure — to do many things and do them fast.

Each day that passes without agreement on financial matters heightens the possibility of a special session as soon as this one ends.

Many measures will be trampled under or pushed aside until 61. But as Speaker Waggoner Carr told the House, the problem of raising some new money "won't go away. It has to be faced."

made this session, the huge "something for everybody" omnibus tax bill recommended by the House Tax Committee brought howls of protest.

It would raise an estimated $151,000,000 a year by raising some old taxes and placing new taxes on hundreds of items. Tabbed for increases are natural gas, motor vehicles, cigarettes, liquor, wine, beer licenses.

New targets include hotel rooms, restaurant meals, cigars, chewing tobacco, snuff, aircraft and auto parts, dozens of luxury items (jewelry, furs, cameras, watches, silver, etc.), radio and TV parts, business machines, commercial rentals, club dues, construction materials, dance studios, reducing salons.

Officially, the bill is known as the Tax Committee substitute for H. B. 727. Unofficially, it's called a lot of other things.

House members showed no more eagerness to rally behind this broad-based approach than they had for Gov. Price Daniel's less "spread out" plan.

GIVE LITTLE, TAKE LITTLE

Two appropriation bills of varying sizes have been passed by the House and Senate. Differences will be adjusted by a conference committee of members from the two houses.

Both bills call for spending nearly $2,500,000,000 during the next two years. House bill is slightly larger. It calls for approximately $333,000,000 from general revenue. Senate would spend only $307,000,000 in general revenue.

To satisfy both houses, the conference committee will try to reach a compromise between these two figures. However it's worked out, it's already clear that spending will considerably exceed the $281,000,000 spent from general fund for 1958-59.

ROUGH SLEDDING

Governor Daniel's "abandoned property act" barely squeaked by its first test on the House floor by a 71-69 vote.

Measure would allow the state to take over money and property unclaimed for seven years or more. Estimates of how much it would bring in immediately range from $20,000,000 to $50,000,000.

Many bankers fear such a law would cause people to be afraid to put their money in banks and decide to stick it in a sock instead.

Backers of the measure say the banks and other businesses are holding and getting the benefit of property that does not belong to them, should be used to benefit all the people.

CO-OP BILL SHUNTED ASIDE
A bill to allow rural electric co-ops more "elbow room" has been sent to the Attorney General for an opinion.

Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton, sponsor, protested to the House State Affairs Committee that this would kill the bill. This late in the session, delay is usually fatal.

Highly controversial, the bill would allow co-ops to add new customers after the area of their lines is annexed to a city.

ADVERTISING BILL ADVANCES

A state-financed advertising program for Texas moved close to final enactment despite heated opposition from an advertising man in the Senate.

Proposed bill would create the Texas Development Board to supervise tourist advertising by the Highway Department and industry by the Texas Industrial Commission.

Sen. George Parkhouse, an advertising man from Dallas, objected, not to the idea of state advertising, but to the way it would be handled. He declared the suggested $100,000 appropriation would be wasted.

But the bill gained final approval in the Senate and next-to-final passage in the House.

FIRE-POLICE BILL GAINS

A shorter work week for many city firemen and policemen is near to legislative approval.

Senate has passed the bill finally, and a House committee has recommended passage.

Bill limits firemen's working hours to 72 in cities of 10,000 to 50,000 population, 63 hours in cities of 50,000 to 125,000 and 60 hours for all larger than 125,000. Policemen would work the same hours as other city employees.

City officials have protested the measure would raise local expenses and aggravate an already acute revenue-raising problem.

TEXAS DERBY?

Not given much chance of passing, but exciting some interest is a proposal to legalize horse racing and betting in Texas.

Rep. Homer Koliba of Columbus introduced the measure which was sent to a House subcommittee. Thoroughbred horse breeders pointed out that legalized pari-mutual betting could bring in a lot of tax money.

Opponents, including Dr. W. R. White, president of Baylor University, charged it would bring crime, poverty and immorality.

Pari-mutual betting was outlawed in Texas in the thirties, but proposals to return it come up frequently, always giving rise to lively legislative debate.

SHORT SNORTS

A youth vs. age battle was abandoned when the House failed to give enough votes to a proposed constitutional amendment to raise minimum age for Senators from 25 to 30, House members from 21 to 25. Opponents countered with a measure to set maximum age for legislators at 60.

Guards are needed by the Texas Department of Corrections, according to Director O. B. Ellis. Men interested in permanent employment by the department should contact J. F. Heard, assistant director in charge of business and custody, Box 32, Huntsville.

Mrs. Rex Golston returned to her home here last week, after spending a month with her son, Col. Rex Golston Jr., and family in San Francisco. Another son, Webb, arrived from New Mexico over the weekend for a several days visit.

Mrs. M. C. Switzer returned home recently from Cross Plains where she had been with her mother, Mrs. A. H. McCord, who suffered a broken hip in a fall.

Rockwood Boy In County Jail

A Rockwood boy was picked up last Thursday by the Sheriff's Office and lodged in the county jail. Charges of theft were filed against him.

Apparently he had stolen several air conditioners, water pumps and various other items in some of the communities in the southern part of the county; they took them to Brownwood and sold them.

Most of the articles reported stolen have been recovered.

A Big Chance

Last Thursday afternoon the State Highway Patrol set up just east of town and were checking vehicles to see if they had the 1959 inspection sticker on the windshield. They stopped a Brownwood car that did not have the inspection sticker, and upon further investigation, they found the car contained 15 cases of beer, one case of whiskey, 1/2 case of vodka, and some other spirits.

The man was brought to the Justice of the Peace office and paid a fine for not having the inspection sticker on his car then turned over to the county authorities, to be processed for the liquor violation.

He was taken to Coleman where charges were filed against him for transporting liquor in a dry territory.

Egg and Cookie Shower Planned By Christian Church

The C. W. F. of the First Christian Church met in regular session Wednesday afternoon of last week in the church annex. Some increase was noted in attendance. Mrs. Oscar Boenigke presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Charles Benge. Mrs. Coy Brooke brought an interesting devotional.

It was voted that the group would sponsor an Egg and Cookie shower on Wednesday, May 6, for the Juliette Fowler Homes for Orphans and Aged, in Dallas. All church families and any one interested are urged to keep this date in mind. A large shower is hoped for.

After the meeting several women remained awhile and did some work in the kitchen.

W. H. Jones Speaks
Up For Electrical Industry In City

In a recent meeting of the Houston, Texas City Council, W. H. Jones, a former Santa Annan now serving on that council said, in regard to a probe being made by the Attorney General, "this is the first electrical scandal in the history of Houston that didn't affect the City Hall."

Jones has been associated with the electrical industry in Houston for the past several years. For years before his election to the City Council Jones was attempting to clean up the industry. Since his election, he has made good progress along that line.

Don Pritchard, who was in military service for three months is home now. He was stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Oder and Sally had breakfast Monday with his mother, Mrs. A. L. Oder, on their return trip to Corpus Christi, after attending funeral services in Anson on Sunday for her grandmother, Mrs.

A. S. Reeves, who died on Saturday. Sunday night they visited with his brother and her sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Oder in Abilene.

Mrs. O. T. Stacy and Janie, after spending a week here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stephenson, returned Sunday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stacy at Trickham. They are staying in this area for a time, while the husband and father is stationed with the Air Force at Cape Cod, Mass.

H. D. Meeting

Forty-six persons from Coleman County attended the District 7 convention of Texas Home Demonstration Clubs last Thursday in Ballinger. Of this group, Mrs. Henry Pittard, Mrs. Myrtle Gray and Mrs. Roy Stockard attended from the Liberty Club. Delegates were present from 16 counties in the district.

Using the theme "When you educate a woman, you educate a family" E. C. Grandstaff, 119th District Attorney, spoke on "Sense of Values" to the 259 guests registered for the convention in the First Methodist Church.

The speaker, who was a county judge for 11 years, is familiar with home demonstration work, which he praised as "an organization from which women derive pleasure and knowledge which they pass on to others."

He stressed high values necessary to carry on a community and a democracy and the importance of the home in giving children the proper values, saying that he wonders "if we don't give them too much, too soon, when we should be giving them religion and responsibility instead."

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

SPRING FEVER, cherry blossoms, and Fidel Castro combined to spotlight the news on Capitol Hill this past week. Among Texans perhaps the most welcome and important thing that happened was that over-due rain in Texas!

On the cherry blossom front the annual festival on the Potomac, which attracts hundreds of thousands of spectators each year, went off on schedule. Miss Susan Rogers, daughter of Congressman Walter Rogers of Tampa, was chosen Miss Texas for the occasion. She performed well and looked the part that pleased all Texans who saw her.

CASTRO'S grand entry into the U. S., on invitation of the Nation's newspaper publishers who are now in annual session in D. C., was received in a cool but courteous atmosphere in official circles. The new Cuban Dictator, who has already legalized the previously outlawed communist party in Cuba and placed known communists in key government positions, says he would be neutral if by any chance the U. S. and Russia should become involved in war.

REAR ADMIRAL C. C. KIRKPATRICK, formerly of San Angelo but now chief of the Navy's Information service in Washington, is another Texan who has "gone places" in military circles. A contemporary of General Al Lueddecke, formerly of Eldorado, but now General Manager of the important Atomic Energy Commission, the two occupy key positions for which only the highly qualified are selected.

AMONG TEXANS who have called on us recently have been Houston Harte, San Angelo newsman, Emil Lochette of Fredericksburg, Gordon Geistweid of Mason, Pat Cagle of Comanche but formerly of Brownwood, Melvin Shell of Gorman, W. E. Fricke of Fredericksburg, Forrest Kile of Bangs, the John Matneys of San Angelo, Vester Hughes, Jr. of Dallas but formerly of Merton, and Wendell Mayes of Brownwood.

A new one going the rounds here — taking note of the bankrupt condition of Soapy Williams' welfare, State of Michigan — is: "I'll take a Michigan on the rocks!"

YOUR EYES and VISION
By A. L. SPERRY, O.D.

Cross Eyes

No. 2 of Series of Four

In describing their child's trouble with crossing his eyes parents often say to us that they think there can't be too much wrong — he only crosses one eye or one eye at a time. So let me straighten up what appears to be a widespread misconception of the general public — there just ain't no such thing as crossing BOTH EYES SIMULTANEOUSLY except from paralysis unless the child is just doing it as a stunt. The truly cross eyed person couldn't find his way around while both eyes are looking at the end of his nose — he's got to see where he's going and so must use one eye or the other for his looking — the eye not being used is the one which crosses.

This confusion in the public's mind about how the crossing works is understandable in that in confronting such an individual one has difficulty deciding where the person is looking. If he is looking you in the eye one of his eyes will be fixed on you and the other will be pointing in another direction. The big confusion arises when he is facing you but not looking you in the eye. Thus NEITHER eye looks at you, and they are pointing in different directions. This is when you get the impression that both eyes cross. They don't. He is just using his looking eye to see something not directly in front of him.

Another misconception is that the cross eyed person sees in both directions at the same time. This arises from the fact that there are generally two different types of crossed eyes. (1) The same eye crosses all the time and its mate does all the looking. In such a case vision in the constantly crossing eye will deteriorate and the person will be, for practical purposes, one eyed. (2) And then there is the situation which leads to the above belief — where there is an alternating cross. That is, the individual has his choice of looking with either eye and is equally good with either. He can switch from one to the other so fast that it is hard to catch him at it but he never uses both eyes together as they were meant to be used. An increasing sidelight of this situation is that when such a person gets up to the bifocal age, about 43, they often like to fudge on the necessity for bifocals by having us put their reading prescription in a single vision lens on one eye and their distance prescription, in single vision lens also, on the other — and are usually very happy and satisfied with their peculiar ability.

Regarding the above example where one eye crosses constantly, the eye can often be straightened surgically if glasses and orthoptics fail but if the condition has been allowed to exist too long the person will usually continue to sub-consciously ignore what the eye sees and thus the only advantage to the result is a cosmetic improvement — in other words, the eye still will not work even though it appears in line with its mate.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, D. D., Commissioner of Health.

How often have you asked yourself, after reading a newspaper account of the authorities swooping down on a narcotic den, what would prompt a person to willingly become a slave to the drug habit?

It seems unreasonable that any normal, healthy person would deliberately endanger his life, family and future by allowing himself to become enmeshed in a net from whence there is often no escape.

Yet, many thousands have developed the sleeping pill habit without considering the possibility of becoming an addict to the drug. A habit of this type is a menace to health as well as the cause of an alarming number of deaths.

"Sleeping pills, or 'goof balls'" as they are commonly referred to by addicts, belong to a group of drugs known as the barbiturates, which when properly used have a high medical value. The too frequent or indiscriminate use of the drug may lead to serious illness, mental crackups and death. As an individual continues to use sleep-inducing medicines without consulting a physician, the dose required to relax and put him to sleep grows larger and larger. It is here that the grave danger lies — the tentacles of addiction have entangled him and he is unaware of the fact.

His tolerance to the drug has been so greatly increased that to be effective, the dose must necessarily be greater than a physician would ordinarily prescribe for a patient.

In severe cases, to overcome the habit of inducing sleep with these pills, the help of a physician is advisable. But in most cases good living habits, moderate exercise and sufficient rest will insure sleep.

Often drinking a glass of warm milk before going to bed and light reading to relax the mind will help produce sleep. Regardless of how the habit is broken, it should be broken before it causes serious damage.

HUMANE SLAUGHTER OF LIVESTOCK

Following considerable pressure from the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Congress passed the Humane Slaughter in 1958.

The law resulted in about $5 million being spent by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for a research project to find livestock slaughter methods which would comply with the law.

Three methods have been approved. They are: chemical, the use of carbon dioxide gas for sheep and swine; mechanical, the use of captive bolt stunners of gunshot on sheep, swine, goats, calves and cattle, horses and mules; and electrical, the stunning of swine, sheep, calves, and cattle with electrical current.

Designated methods require that the carbon dioxide gas or electric current be administered so as to produce surgical anesthesia in the animals quickly and calmly. The captive bolt stunners and firearms must produce immediate and complete unconsciousness with a minimum of excitement and discomfort. In addition, the animals must also be driven to slaughter-preparation areas with little excitement or discomfort. Areas through which the animals are driven must be free from hazards that might accidentally produce pain.

These provisions might raise the eyebrows among old-time slaughtermen — and the law has caused considerable controversy, as well as expense. Nevertheless, the designations were made after advice and consultation with the Humane Slaughter Advisory Committee established in accordance with the law.

Packers offering meat products for sale to federal agencies after July 1 of next year must comply with the law. Ritual requirements with respect to slaughter are deemed by the Humane Slaughter Law to comply with the public policy it expresses and so are exempted from the terms of the act.

Research is still continuing to update acceptable slaughter methods. As new methods are developed they will be considered and evaluated by the Advisory Committee.

Survey Ordered On Bald Eagles

What is happening to the American bald eagle? Made famous as the national emblem, and representative of liberty and freedom, it is fast decreasing in numbers.

The National Audubon Society has instigated a study in an attempt to ascertain the present status of the species and the cause of its decline.

All field personnel of the Texas Game and Fish Commission have been asked officially to cooperate in this study. A notice has been sent out by Howard Dodgen, executive secretary, asking wardens, biologists and others, to cooperate in a three-year study.

They will be asked to report on finding nests, young eagles, and even sighting eagles in flight. They are to make confidential reports on the nesting areas, so they will not be molested by the general public.

Mr. Dodgen also suggested sportsmen assist in the project by notifying game department personnel when these bald eagles or their nests are found. At the same time, he warned of the heavy penalty in court for the killing of these eagles.
