In order to do this we must ask the cooperation of all advertisers and those who turn in news for publication.

Everyone is requested to get us your copy one day early. All rural correspondents are requested to get your copy in the Monday mail.

We will appreciate your cooperation.

Fire Destroys Mrs. Annie Stovall's Home Early Mon.

Mrs. Annie Stovall's frame home in the southwest part of town was destroyed by fire about 3:30 a. m. Monday. Of undetermined origin, the fire spread rapidly through the ceiling and upper parts of the rooms.

Mrs. Stovall was sleeping near the back door and had the door open, but the screen latched. When she awoke a part of the ceiling had fallen on her hand and the smoke was very intense. She said she did not know whether the smoke or the piece falling from the ceiling woke her, but if she had not been right near the door, she did not believe she would have been able to get out of the house. She said a dress, a pair of shoes and her purse were within reach when she woke up, and she grabbed them and that was all she saved. The remainder of the contents of the house was a complete loss, as was the complete structure.

Our local fire department must be handed a big pat on the back. To be called from sound sleep at 3:30 in the morning, get the trucks and get to the fire and find it already completely out of control, then before the fire can destroy a small building such as Mrs. Stovall's house was, to bring it under control, is something of a feat that training does.

The fire department is composed of local citizens who have the interest of the town at heart, and do their best when called in an emergency. A strong north wind was blowing at the time of the fire, but it was contained in the one building and extinguished in a very reasonable time.

Mrs. Taylor was educated in Jerusalem and Lebanon. She attended Scottish Mission School and was graduated from the English College in Jerusalem.

Our Trip

Your editor and family took about a 1500 mile journey through West Texas and Eastern New Mexico last week and called it a vacation. Actually, it was mostly driving.

We went to Alpine, the Big Bend National Park, the Davis Mountains and old Fort Davis, McDonald Observatory, Carlsbad Caverns, saw Billy the Kid's Grave, and visited some relatives.

Mostly, it's a "fer piece" between places in the area we were in. From Alpine to the Big Bend Park is 102 miles and we saw two cars and one or two houses in that distance. We returned the other way and saw a few more cars and another house or two. We would not advise making this trip just for a short sight-seeing trip. However, if you like the mountains and have a few days to spare, make reservations and you can have a wonderful time.

It's a beautiful drive from Alpine to Fort Davis, but we were under the impression most of the old fort had been restored. However, we found it to be in very bad repair. Most of it has rotted away and apparently very little is being done to preserve or restore this old fort.

We got to the observatory too late to be admitted for the tour, but enjoyed the visit there. It is certainly a large project and just with the naked eye you can see for miles. Not telling where you might see with the large telescope.

Most everyone has seen the Caverns and know what we saw there. It is a wonderful experience to see such spectacular achievement of nature. You wonder just how it could all be possible as you pass along the walls.

Another disappointment was the grave of Billy the Kid. Although we did not go there just to see his grave, it was on the way, so we stopped for a look-see. There was no doubt but what it was his grave, along with two pals that were buried with him about 79 years ago. But, the cemetery had not been very well kept, and all the other graves of old timers were just marked, mostly with no names. This was located in the back yard of a small run-down trading post and souvenir place.

We stopped in Artesia, N. M., bought gasoline and telephone our old friend, Roy Richardson, who works in a bank there. Was nice to talk to him. He said he likes it fine there and they have a growing economy that is diversified.

At McAlister, N. M. we visited a great-uncle and aunt. It has been 20 years since we had been to their home and really enjoyed our visit. Their home is located on the spot where they unloaded their covered wagon in 1905 and homesteaded their first quarter-section. Many quarter-sections have been added in the ensuing years. They are looking forward to observing their 60th wedding anniversary in about two more years.

As we stated, we drove 1500 miles and enjoyed every bit of it. As luck would have it, we enjoyed cool weather most of the time we were gone.

We want to express our appreciation to all who helped to make it possible for us to get a few days off from our labors here.

How a City Library Helps A Town

Following is the third in a series of four written articles on "How a City Library Benefits Our Town", composed by high school students. This article is by Ann Stiles and was judged to be the third place winner. Ann was presented a membership in the local library for one year.

HOW A CITY LIBRARY BENEFITS OUR TOWN

By Ann Stiles

Libraries provide amusement for people both young and old. Libraries have books for the adventurer or books for the timid. It has books for romantic girls. It has humorous stories, tragic stories. It has encyclopedias for people with questions otherwise unanswerable. It has dictionaries for spelling. Some libraries have records for you to listen to. A library is wonderful entertainment for all at a cost of practically nothing.

Libraries can be and are very useful and helpful to you and me. If you have five thousand words there has but four thousand words, you can go down to the library and get that thousand words and more for you. You can get answers to those arguments you're having with your next door neighbor from the encyclopedia in the library. When your club needs extra money, give a play! Head for the library and look up Macbeth. If you need to build scenery, look in the magazines and books for instructions. You can't figure out whether to use hoop skirts or bustles in the play, then use the library's shelves! That's what they're there for. There are many ways like these in which you may use your town's most helpful building, your library.

Knowledge is given freely to all who want it from the library. For the first grader that doesn't read well, there are exciting books that are easy to read to make him learn to enjoy reading. If he enjoys it, he will read more, therefore he will learn more.

Now you can find out what that person everyone is talking about did. You can go to the library and read, read, read! Find out who's who and what's what. Don't be left in the dark ages! Know how to be up with the times.

Now you can make your own atom bomb. All you need is a book on atoms from the library, an A-1 laboratory, and a few billion dollars. Of course, you wouldn't want to make an atom bomb, but it is nice to know the how and why of it all. This is one great asset of having a city library. You are able to learn the how and why of things without a great cost to yourself.

Libraries are helpful, they provide entertainment, and they provide knowledge for one and all.

Former Glass Plant Employee Pays Old Debt Saturday

For those of us who have money owed us from many years back, keep faith. Possibly all is not lost.

Last Saturday, Joe Mizer of Drumwright, Okla., walked into the Purdy Mercantile Co. and said he wanted to pay a bill that was slightly overdue. As it developed, Mizer had worked for the Knappa-Coleman Glass Company that operated in Santa Anna in the early 1930's. He said when he left here he was walking, owed several bills and was completely down on his fortune.

The Purdy's had discarded their records for that period several years ago, and thus had no charges against the man. However, he said he knew what the bill was and he paid them $5.00 for a pair of shoes he got about 29 years ago.

Apparently a $5.00 pair of shoes 29 years ago was a pretty fancy pair. Purdy said he extended credit to a number of the employees of the glass plant, and when it folded up there were several who did not pay their bills.

No doubt there are other places of business here that suffered considerable loss when the plant closed.

Everytime your editor hears of a case of this kind, it brings hope that someday someone who found a billfold containing $250, that was lost while in military service, will at least return a part of it.

Three Wrecks Mar Week End

Three car wrecks in Santa Anna or involving Santa Anna folks happened during the past week. Mrs. William Tryon had a wreck near the underpass going to Coleman, the second happened near the home of Mrs. Mace Blanton, and the third happened at the intersection of Highways 67 and 84 just east of town.

Mrs. Tryon's wreck happened about 5:15 p. m. Thursday, June 18, just the other side of the underpass on Highway 84. Their 1958 Cadillac was heavily damaged and Mrs. Tryon and two of their sons were injured some. One of the younger boys was thrown from the car as it turned over. The other and Mrs. Tryon ended up in the back seat when the car stopped.

Bud Simmons, investigating officer, said Mrs. Tryon apparently touched the brake and the car went into a skid, then hit the embankment and turned over about three times. A tire apparently blew out during the accident. Randy Tryon was still in the car and Terry was lying beside the road. None were seriously injured.

The second wreck happened at the corner of South 8th Street and Avenue C. Paul Ray Wright of Cisco, driving a 1955 Mercury, was traveling north on 8th street and Lonnie Lowry of Coleman, driving a 1955 Ford, was traveling south and attempted to make a left turn at Avenue C. The cars collided. No injuries were reported and damage to each vehicle was estimated to be light. Charges were filed against Lowry for failure to yield right of way. This wreck happened about 7:15 a. m.

Sunday morning, June 21, two cars were involved in an accident in the traffic circle where Highways 67 and 84 meet just west of town. Bill Jack Massey of Coleman was driving a 1950 Studebaker and entering Highway 84 from Highway 67. Jerry W. Herring, 39, Grand Prairie, driving a 1959 Chevrolet owned by Leroy Casey of Santa Anna, was traveling east on Highway 84. The autos collided in the two-lane intersection. The Studebaker was owned by John H. Bower Jr. of Coleman. The Chevrolet struck the Studebaker on the left side. The Studebaker was considered a total loss. Damage to the Chevrolet was estimated at $700.00.

Charges of speeding were filed against Herring and the investigation is not complete as yet.

Cardilia Ruth Massey, 9, daughter, and Jack Massey were both admitted to the Santa Anna Hospital and released Monday.

Some of the others in the wreck were injured, but none were considered to be serious.

Mrs. Richard Smith spent last week in Tyler with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Smith.

Lions Club Ladies Night To Be Thursday Night

Thursday night of this week the Lions Club will observe their annual Ladies Night Program and have the installation of officers for the coming year. The Lions Club year runs from July 1st each year.

E. C. Grindstaff, District Attorney of the 119th Judicial and a long time member of the Ballinger Lions Club, will be the guest speaker for the occasion. Lee F. Craig of Coleman will be the installing officer for the new officers.

All members of the Lions Club are expected to attend, and a special invitation is extended to others who would like to attend. Tickets may be obtained from Lee Strothers at the post office or from Walter Holt.

Street Paving About Ready To Start

Mayor Ford Barnes said early Wednesday morning that the rain Tuesday morning might delay street paving for a few days, but most of the streets in the south part of town were about ready to lay, and as soon as the weather permits, it will get underway.

There are several projects underway. The primary ones at this time are around the grand and football field and in Willis Avenue by the Presbyterian Church to the Rosewood Highway.

Another main project is Avenue A. Paving will run from North 8th Street through to North 1st Street, near the North Side Church of Christ.

Horne's To Have Open House Sunday Afternoon

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Horne announce they will hold an open house in their new home on Avenue A Sunday, June 28th, between the hours of 3:00 and 5:00 p. m. The family moved into the new home about a month ago. Finishing touches are still being completed on the house.

The family states no other form of invitations will be issued. They invite all their friends to attend the open house and a dedication service to be held during the hours.

The house is located on Avenue A, the first house east of the home of Mrs. H. L. Markland.

Mrs. Hattie McKowen left Wednesday morning for Lovington, N. M., where she will visit relatives.

Wading Pool Open On Mondays And Fridays

The Wading Pool committee announces the Wading Pool is now open on Monday and Friday afternoons from 4:00 to 6:00 p. m. All children under 10 years of age are invited to participate in the activities.

One parent or some other adult is required to accompany each child that will be wading in the pool. This rule has been adopted by the Summer Recreation Program, and must be carried out.

Since the pool has been filled, there has been some children going there earlier in the day and playing before time for the activities to begin. Some have been throwing trash and other rubbish in the pool also. The pool has been rather dirty when time for wading to begin arrived.

The ladies in charge of the pool request that no one go into the pool before the 4:00 o'clock time, and those who have been responsible for the trash and dirt that has been thrown in the pool, to please refrain from doing this.

If the rules are not abided by, it may be that the wading pool will have to be discontinued.

3-Month Schedule For Social Security Representative

A field representative of the Abilene social security office will make regular visits to Coleman during the next three months, according to a schedule which was received from E. T. Tuley, District Manager.

The schedule posted in a public place in the front of The News office. You are invited to look at the schedule any time.

The representative, Mr. E. Glen McNair, will be at the front of Public Welfare at 10:00 a. m. on each of the next three Tuesdays.

Anyone who has any questions about the representative's schedule, or wanting information about social security, should contact him there.

Persons planning on retirement should file their claims at least sixty days before actual retirement to avoid possible delay in receipt of benefit check for first month of retirement, Tuley added.

Interested persons can meet the representative or secure additional information by writing to the Social Security Administration, P. O. Box 5168, Abilene, Texas.

State Capitol NEWS

Austin — At it again, for the third time this year, Legislators go into the second special session wearier, but wiser.

Midnight wind-up of the second session brought show-down votes indicating what each house will and will not accept in the way of a tax program. Next conference committee on taxes will know that the line of compromise must be more finely drawn between Senate and the House thinking.

In addressing the new session, Gov. Price Daniel reminded lawmakers of the "up against it" state of things. "Every function of state government depends on enactment of an appropriation bill before Sept. 1 with a tax bill to support it," said the governor.

State's fiscal year and present appropriations run out Aug. 31. Unless a new appropriation bill can go into effect the next day, the whole state operation — including hospitals, schools, employ salaries and pensions — will stop.

This is unthinkable, of course. No lawmaker could go home and face the voters with things in such a state.

But there's another pinching factor which the governor emphasized. Cost of deficit financing plus loss of potential tax income means that each day's delay costs the state an estimated $200,000. Despite this, the House took a four-day weekend and the Senate 3½ days.

But some lawmakers seemed to feel the delays, deadlocks and head-knocking were not necessarily expensive wasted motion, but milestones along the long, hard road to democratic compromise.

"We've crossed a lot of bridges we won't have to cross again," said Rep. Don Kennard of Fort Worth.

NO SURRENDER

Legislature was thrown into another session when the House rejected, 117-to-23, a conference committee tax bill that was largely based on Senate thinking.

Senate approved, 19-to-12. Some House members were indignant that three of the five House appointees signed the conference committee report which House opponents called a "complete surrender" to Senate wishes.

House passed a tax bill that was divided about 50-50 between taxes on business and selective sales taxes. Senate pared back the business taxes to about 18 percent, added new or heavier sales taxes to make up the difference.

Conference committee proposed a bill that would have raised $177,066,000 with essentially the same levies approved by the Senate plus a temporary hike from $1 to $2 in drivers licenses.

Appropriations conference committee was reportedly deadlocked and never made a report.

After the new session opened, most of the same taxing and spending bills were introduced again, including the twice-killed abandoned property bill.

House quickly repassed the same appropriation bill it had passed before. Most bills are expected to follow the same pattern they did in the last special session — up to the point where the conference committees start working out differences.

ONE MADE IT

Only a major money bill to make the grade is the bookkeeping bill, passed by both Houses and signed into law by the governor.

Effect of the law is to change accounting procedures so that an estimated $28,000,000 more will be credited to the state's general fund when the fiscal year runs out Aug. 31.

It means that much less that has to be raised to balance the books.

STUDENT FEE BILL BACK

Rep. W. S. Heatley Jr. of Paducah re-introduced a bill to let colleges require students to pay up to $30 a semester for various campus services.

Bill passed the House last session, but died in the Senate on the last day. Sen. William S. Ply of Victoria was Senate sponsor.

Heatley, Ply and other supporters pointed to the crying need for new money and said college presidents were urging the bill. Opponents said there were better places to get money than from working-their-way college students who would rather do without the football tickets, parking spaces, etc., covered by

Know The Meaning Of Shapes Of Traffic Signs

"What safety warning is on a triangle traffic sign?" An amazing number of Texas motorists do not know the answer to this question, according to J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association.

Musick said that many drivers who have been driving for years do not know — or have forgotten — that traffic signs have easily identifiable shapes.

"Prospective drivers must learn the shapes of traffic signs for their driving examinations, but they soon forget their meaning," Musick said. "However, with today's hazardous traffic conditions, each driver owes it to himself to know and remember as many things as possible that will lessen the chances of an accident. It may not seem important, but the ability to recognize the types of sign shapes, at a glance, is a safety feature we should all add to our driving habits."

Musick listed the six basic sign shapes as being: octagon, which means stop; round, first railroad crossing warning; white crossbuck, last railroad warning; diamond, warning of dangerous or unusual conditions ahead; triangle, yield right of way; and rectangle, which states such laws as speed limits, passing regulations and similar laws.

Musick emphasized that traffic signs are designed to warn both motorists and pedestrians of traffic laws and of dangers that lie ahead. Thus, offering preventive measures for the protection of all.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

It's no news to most of us that the fee.

PUBLIC BEACHES ASKED

Providing public access to Gulf Coast beaches is the only non-money matter submitted by the governor to the new session.

House passed such a bill overwhelmingly last session, but it died in the Senate on the last day.

A recent State Supreme Court ruling changed the general conception of where the boundary line is between private and public ownership along the coastline. To clear up resulting confusion, the House-passed bill provided for a "public easement" of 200 feet from the low tide mark. It also prohibited fences or other obstructions.

Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston re-introduced the bill in the new session.

OIL CUT AGAIN

Texas oil production will take another tumble when the July allowable takes effect.

Railroad Commission ordered production cut by 226,044 barrels a day and run on a nine-day producing pattern. Ten producing days were allowed for June which was a cutback from May.

Oil men testified that they not only had more gasoline than they could sell, but faced the prospect of running out of storage space.

ARRANGED CONTRACTS HIT

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has filed an anti-trust suit against certain Houston electrical contractors and an electrical workers union.

Wilson said his office had gathered evidence indicating the Southeast Texas Chapter of the National Electrical Contractors Ass'n. was dealing in advance, which member of the group should be allowed to make the low bid on a job. Then others, said Wilson, would put in higher bids.

Suit also charges that members of Local 716 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers aided the contractors' association by not sending enough workers to jobs of non-members.

Price-fixing conspiracies, Wilson declared, cut away the foundation of a competitive free enterprise economy.

this piece of sod in our particular part of Texas is just about the finest place there is. Few Texans, even those living in Alaska, will deny that we have many advantages not enjoyed by the rest of the world. Most of us know that Texas is a community property state and that this means Pa owns half and Ma owns half. However, a lot of us forget the community property laws when we file our income tax return, get divorced, inherit property, give property away or retire. The community property law has a big effect on the income taxes you will owe in all of these cases. It usually helps but it can also cost you money. Check on the differences in income taxes you owe under community property law. It can save money and trouble.

Commissioner of Health

Call them red bugs. Call them harvest mites. Call them chiggers. By whatever name, they mean sleepless nights and ceaseless spasms of itching misery.

This is their season. It will last from now until cold weather cuts into their ranks. A few people have an apparent immunity to chigger attacks, but the vast majority of us are oh-so-susceptible.

They — the chiggers — have a special affinity for low, damp places covered with vegetation. Bermuda grass harbors them well, but for some unexplainable reason they are not usually found in carpet grass.

Just for the record, it's the larvae which do the damage, attaching themselves with their mouthparts and sucking blood until they become engorged and fall off. The fiery itching is caused by an anti-coagulant material they inject into their host.

Although adult chiggers — large, red and velvety — are probably harmless to humans, their wayward offspring can be serious as well as annoying. Not that they spread any specific disease — at least not in this country — but their bites demand scratching which frequently causes secondary infections in the form of sores and boils.

To learn where chiggers are harboring, stand a piece of black cardboard on end where you suspect their presence. If after a few moments you see tiny yellowish or pinkish mites accumulating on the upper edge, you know it's time to check your supply of insecticide.

Chiggers attack lizards, snakes, birds, and rodents with the same vigor and resourcefulness they display in attacking humans. No distinction is drawn between man and lesser animal species, which is hardly complimentary to us Homo sapiens.

Light applications of sulphur dust on lawns and low branches of shrubs have been used successfully for years to control chiggers. Nowadays, the new insecticides such as chlorodane and lindane give better results. Just follow the directions on the label.

A quick word of caution: Be sure to avoid unnecessary exposure to the insecticide. If you spill the concentrated material on your skin, wash it off immediately. And be sure to keep children and pets out of the yard until the spray dries.

"Tourist Drum" Leaves Home For New Waters

Fish are tourist, too. Biologists have found a far traveling drum along the Texas coast. This 7½ pound fish traveled 245 miles in a year after it was tagged.

The fish was caught near Texas City recently by D. J. Diese of Jacinto City. It carried a Game and Fish Commission tag.

According to Ernest Simmons, Laguna Madre biologist, the fish traveled from the "Land Cut" which separates the upper and lower Laguna Madre, to Texas City. It increased its weight by a little more than a pound in making the move.

The drum also surpassed other Texas tagged fish records by 100 miles, according to biologist Terrance Leary at the Marine Laboratory at Rockport. The tags used in this study are small, stainless steel clips attached to the lip of the fish. Each bears an identifying number.

This migrating fish, according to Simmons, is further evidence that drum, which congregate in Laguna Madre during the drought periods, migrate and spread out in other bays during wet years.

Any person catching tagged fish are asked to send the tags to the Game and Fish Commission.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hunter and family of Abilene, spent the weekend with their parents, Mrs. Ora Hunter and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dunn.

The Upper Room

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Acts 9:26-31.

He (Barnabas) was a good man, full of the Holy Spirit and of faith. (Acts 11:24.)

In the New Testament we have references giving insight into the life and character of Barnabas.

Luke says of him, "He was a good man." Only a good man would sell his land and lay all the money at the apostles' feet. In the early days of the church it took a good man to see that the gospel was meant for the Greeks as well as for the Jews. It took a man of spiritual insight to see the capabilities of Saul, the new convert to the faith.

Barnabas was "full of the Holy Spirit." The apostles surnamed him Barnabas, meaning "son of encouragement." They sent him out to tell others of Christ and teach and encourage the believers.

Barnabas was a man of faith — faith in God and in the church. He had faith in others. He convinced the apostles that Saul of Tarsus was worthy of acceptance into their fellowship. Later on, Barnabas remained steadfast in his faith in Mark when Paul had lost confidence in him.

Luke has paid deservedly high tribute to Barnabas in his simple statement: "He was a good man, full of the Holy Spirit and faith."

PRAYER

Our Father, we thank Thee for godly persons of the past and of the present. We thank Thee that by Thy grace we, too, can walk in the light of Christ amid the darkness of this world. In Christ's redeeming name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Godliness begins in us with our acceptance of Christ as our personal Saviour.

New "Joy-Rider" Law Goes Into Effect August 11

Austin — The Texas Department of Public Safety reminded today a new State Law — designed to take the joy out of illegal joy-riding — will go into effect August 11.

The new statute passed by the regular session of the Legislature and signed into law recently by Governor Price Daniel, carries penalties for joy-riding a person's car without his permission.

Heretofore, the offense was a misdemeanor unless it could be proved that the "joy-rider" intended to keep the vehicle. This made it universally difficult to conduct a felony prosecution, according to Department officials.

Therefore, they pointed out, many of these cases were filed as misdemeanors, simply because conviction was more likely. In this way, however, the maximum penalty was $1,000 fine or one year in jail.

The new law divided the "without consent" statute into two classes, based on the value of the vehicle "borrowed." The taking of a vehicle valued at less than $200 without the owner's consent still will be considered a misdemeanor, without change in penalty. But if the value of the vehicle taken is more than $200, the offense is a felony with possible heavier penalties ranging up to three years in prison.

In passing the new law, the Legislature stated: "The fact that the present law does not now provide sufficient penalties for the offense of driving a vehicle without the consent of the owner and the act of joy-riding has become a serious problem in many instances. This amendment is needed for the speedy administration of justice."

It is hoped that this new law will serve to alleviate this steadily increasing problem of automobiles which has nearly doubled in Texas in the past 10 years, said Col. Homer Garrison Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

He cited national statistics indicating that some 67 percent of the auto theft arrests involve juveniles under 18 years of age, and pointed out that while some 95 percent of the vehicles stolen are recovered, the average loss due to damage or bad maintenance is approximately $200 per vehicle.

Garrison noted that the theft rate per 100,000 population in Texas increased from 122.4 in 1948 to 167 in 1958. He said 15,402 vehicles were stolen last year, compared to 7,855 in 1958.

Make it a habit to keep your feet on the ground and you'll never have far to fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Lige Gober received a letter from their nephew, A. B. Lightfoot, who has been touring countries in the Holy Land for the past six weeks. Rev. Lightfoot and about 50 other ministers were sent to the old world on a missionary work tour. They are due to return to the United States this week. Rev. Lightfoot said they had been rather busy, covering about twice what is usually covered in a days time. He said he had taken about 1,800 pictures, been spit on, nearly arrested, struck down by an angry Arab, and had various other things to happen to him. The church he pastors in Odessa sent him on the tour. Stapling machines and punches at the News office.

Good Rain Falls Here Wednesday

The Coleman Gas Company rain gauge showed a total of 1 1/2 inches of rain fell here early Wednesday morning. It fell slowly and did not make much noise about it. Reports from over the area indicate it was a fairly general rain. Less than one inch fell near Rockwood and toward Santa Anna from that area about two inches fell. More than an inch fell north and east of Santa Anna. This will put a stop to the small grain harvest for a few days. However, most farmers and ranchers will benefit considerably from the good rain.

PARSONS REUNION

Vegetables Subject Of Extension Publication

There is a vegetable to suit almost every menu need, say the extension food and nutrition specialists. In countless ways, vegetables — fresh, canned, frozen or dried — contribute interest and variety to menus. Vegetables are also important in the diet for general good health. According to the Texas Food Standard, the daily food guide for Texans, three kinds of vegetables — green or yellow, other vegetables and Irish or sweet potatoes are good nutrition for every homemaker.

Vegetables with a deep green or yellow color are excellent sources of vitamin A which helps prevent colds and skin infections, night blindness and improper growth in children. Other vegetables include all those that are not green or yellow, and supply other needed vitamins and minerals, the specialists added. Topics of discussion in the bulletin are: buying vegetables, how to store vegetables properly, methods of preparation (recipes) and vegetable platters. Contact your local county home demonstration agent for a copy of the bulletin.

Cottage Cheese Makes Thrifty But Elegant Dessert

Call it Dutch, call it baker's or call it pot. By any name, cottage cheese is still the same fine milk product it was in colonial days. Settlers from Holland and Germany introduced the art of making cottage cheese to this country. Their skill for making and using "Smearcase" has been passed down from generation to generation. Here's one of their recipes that has become famous. It's called Dutch cheese cake. It's an inexpensive, but elegant dessert, calling for 1 pound cottage cheese, 1/4 cup milk, 1/2 cup sugar, grated rind and juice of 1 lemon, 1 pie crust, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup chopped raisins, 3 eggs beaten and 2 tablespoons melted fat. Bake the crust in a deep pan until a delicate brown. While it's baking, press the cheese through a fine sieve. Add first the milk, then the sugar and salt and the raisins; next the beaten eggs, melted fat, lemon juice and grated rind. Stir until mixed well. Fill the baked crust with this. Bake in a moderate oven until firm in the center — about 15 of 20 minutes. Cottage cheese is no longer confined to areas settled by the Dutch and Germans, for it is sold in every community in the country. Since 1925, per capita consumption has risen from less than a pound to nearly 3 1/2 pounds, says the Texas Extension Service.

Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Price, Danny, Jimmy, Eva Jane and Kim of Overton spent a week recently with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Price.

19th Annual Estes Reunion Held Sunday Patriarch 99 Years

Visitors found a friendly welcome at the 19th annual reunion of the Estes family at the Coleman City Park the Third Sunday in June. The patriarch, J. A. Estes, and many of his descendants were present for this reunion, marking Mr. Estes' 99th birthday and Father's Day. Among the pictures made was a five generation one of Mr. Estes, Matt Estes, Herman Estes, Kenneth Estes and his son, Kenneth Jr. The first reunion was in 1940 when the Rev. J. N. Hester, a son-in-law, was named president of the group. During the business session he was again named leader and keeper of the family records. His wife, Mrs. Myrtle Estes Hester, was named secretary-treasurer, and Don Estes, vice president. The Rev. Mr. Hester gave in his report a membership of 260 including 70 families. There were 95 members and 19 visitors at this reunion. Mr. Estes was born in Murfreesboro, Tenn., June 19, 1860. He and Miss Fanny Dunaway were married in 1883 and came to Texas in 1891, settling near Waco. When asked about his "urge to go west," he grinned and said a brother who had been in Texas as a couple of years had a riding plow and he only had a walking plow in Tennessee, so he put Mrs. Estes and the kids on the train and headed west. After about four years around Waco, he heard of the cheap leases on land and came to the Rockwood area. The family came in two covered wagons, the trip from Waco taking 12 days. They scraped snow off the ground to make down beds to sleep on. Mr. Estes has been a Methodist over 75 years. He and Mrs. Estes had been married almost 70 years when she passed away. Fourteen children were born to this union. He has lived in his present home place since 1900. Mr. Estes drove his own car up into his 90's. Towns represented at the reunion were Bovina, Lubbock, Fort Worth, Abilene, Waco, San Angelo, Houston, McGregor, Bangs, Durant, Okla., Coleman, Sweetwater, Dallas, Brownwood, El Paso, Tyler, Alice, Brownfield and Rockwood. A niece, Mrs. Cora Cluck of Waco and her daughter, Mrs. Kirk McGuire of Tyler, were present for the first time. Mr. Estes listens to the radio news and enjoys having friends visit. He is hearty and spry for his years and plans to make the next one to the Century Mark.

Use Care In Firing Briquettes

Be careful when firing charcoal briquettes, says the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. This is a major problem when cooking over an outdoor grill. Don't let an accident mar your family's enjoyment of an outdoor barbeque.

The Council cites two rules to observe when starting a charcoal fire: never use gasoline, either raw or in a mixture, to kindle any fire, never add any kind of liquid fuel after the fire has started.

There are several methods you can use to start a fire safely. Paper or excelsior under the briquettes takes time and fanning but produces results. Some manufacturers treat the briquettes with a substance that burns readily when ignited. These cost a little more but are easier to fire.

Kerosene or a commercial charcoal lighter fluid also may be used. Put some of the briquettes in a five quart oil can and pour the kerosene or starter fluid over the briquettes until they are started. Pour off the excess fluid and you can use it again.

Put the saturated briquettes in the pit or brazier and light. Use a long candle or a paper "wick", made by twisting a sheet of newspaper into a tight "stick" shape. This will protect your hands.

Whether your grill or pit is located in the back yard, a lakeshore, park or recreation area, make sure it is located in an open space well away from buildings and trees, the Council cautions. Remember that the first B in barbeque stands for "Be Careful!"

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Stockard and Angela visited in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stockard, over the weekend.

A TOP-LEVEL TUG OF WAR is taking place over who the big spenders are, and it may turn out that the taxpayers will get a good break as a result.

Last Fall President Eisenhower needled the Democrats by accusing them of extravagance with the taxpayers' money. Actually, the Republican record on that score had been nothing to write home about.

Now, with a lot of public alarm being felt on Capitol Hill about too much spending — and with an eye on the 1960 elections — leaders of both political parties have grabbed the economy torch and are doing some maneuvering in an attempt to get ahead of the parade.

Thus far the Democratic-controlled House has whacked the President's budget on appropriations rather substantially, and so has the Senate to some extent. But the liberal forces in the Democratic camp are pushing hard for some extravagant spending measures, with some initial successes noted.

Right recently Democratic leaders, perhaps smarting a bit from Republican goading and the dangers inherent in a free-spending label being stamped on them as political issue, the applying some brakes that may be a good omen for the taxpayers. Senator Lyndon Johnson is leading the drive, but he has some toughie liberal spending colleagues to placate in the Senate.

Here are a few spending policy examples:

Early this year the budget requested $200 million for a Federal-aid airport development program. The Senate promptly passed a $465 million bill! The House scaled this down to $297 million. A conference committee, apparently yielding to public demands for more economy and probably to avoid a Presidential veto, has recently decided to settle for about the budget figure.

But not so with the mammoth housing bill. The President requested a modest $1.5 billion. The Senate approved $3.6 billion. The House went on a rampage and jumped it to $6.1 billion. A conference committee has agreed on a compromise, with an over-all total of $5.1 billion. (A $100 million item for Veterans' housing had in the meantime been taken out of the bill and passed separately.) If approved, the Housing bill may rate a Presidential veto.

SEVERAL OTHER non-essential spending bills, totalling several billions, dealing with such subjects as aid to education, depressed areas, community facilities, etc., are pending, with the ultimate outcome uncertain at this time.

FRESH PLUMS TOP USDA'S JULY PLENTIFULS IN SOUTHWEST

Fresh plums top the July list of plentiful foods in the Southwest, as California's new crop is estimated at 64 percent more than last year.

Peaches, lemons and limes are other fruits on the list. Eggs will continue plentiful, as will ice cream and small-sized turkeys. Summer vegetables will show up in wide array throughout the area.

Peanut butter and vegetable fats and oils complete the July list of plentifuls, as announced by the USDA's Southwest Food Distribution Division, Dallas. Each item is expected to be in heavier — than — normal supply and menu planners will find it economical to rely heavily on these foods.

308 Pay Fines For Fishing Without License

Fishing violations topped the list of arrests made by game wardens during the month of May, according to the report of the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

There were nearly 400 fishing arrests made by the wardens, with 308 of them for failure to have a license. The Texas license costs $2.15 and is good for both fresh and salt water and for residents and non-residents alike.

Although all legal game hunting has been closed for several months, there were several violations for killing quail, doves, ducks and even killing deer in the closed season.

The 448 persons arrested in May paid fines of $7,596.45 plus court costs of $852.

Eight persons served time in jail for their violations.

"We do everything we can to publicize license requirements for the fishermen," the director said. "Despite the warnings, however, people still take a chance on getting caught and many of them do. If you plan to fish outside your home county, or with a rod and reel anywhere and are over 16 and under 65 you'll need a license."

Prepared by American Foundation for Animal Health

We hear much, these days, about the effects of stress on human beings . . . but many farmers are not aware that stress helps to cause health problems in livestock, too.

For example, there is a dairy cattle disease known as "ketosis" which is believed to be brought on in part by stress factors. Ketosis is causing dairy farmers a loss of approximately $5,000,000 per year, and for that reason has been made one of the prime targets of National Livestock Loss Prevention Year in 1959.

High producing cows are most likely victims of ketosis.

One unfortunate thing about ketosis is that it usually strikes the high-producing cows during the years when their milk yields are at top levels . . . from the second fresh period on.

Many authorities believe that the drain on these cows may be greater than the nourishment they are receiving, and that this may enter into the causative picture. Also, an endocrine gland imbalance has been cited as another possible factor.

When a cow develops ketosis, she may show either high excitability or indifference. Sometimes her appetite will fail, and she will lose weight. Also, there will be a drop in milk production, and the sick animal may develop incoordination or slight paralysis.

Fortunately, these victims of ketosis can be brought back to normal if they are given treatment promptly enough. The veterinarian usually injects medicines directly into the blood stream, and there is often marked improvement within 24 hours after treatment is administered. The key to success in these cases is to get treatment started with utmost promptness.

Preventive steps are important, too. These include: protecting cows against stress and exposure, no drastic changes in feed volume just before calving, use of thoroughly-balanced rations, and bringing cows to maximum grain feeding as soon as possible after calving. Quality hay and roughage are also an essential part of prevention and treatment.

Wheat Farmers To Vote July 23

Marketing quotas for the 1960 wheat crop were proclaimed on June 1 by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Tarr Benson. This seventh successive proclamation of wheat marketing quotas is required by a wheat supply that is 99.6 percent above the normal level.

The Texas share of the 1960 allotment will be 4,092,251 acres, which is nearly 7,000 acres less than the 1959 allotment of 4,099,094 acres.

Benson proclaimed a national wheat acreage allotment of 55 million acres, the minimum permitted by law, and announced State shares of the national allotment. He also set July 23, 1959, as the date for a referendum to determine producer approval or disapproval of quotas and announced a 39-state commercial and a 10-state non-commercial wheat-producing area for 1959.

If producers approve marketing quotas, under the proclamation announced June 1, the national average support price available to eligible growers in the commercial area will not be less than the minimum support to be announced before the referendum. On the basis of the present supply of wheat and present legislation, the legal minimum wheat support price for the 1960 crop would be at 75 percent parity. Individual farm marketing quotas will be the normal production or the actual production from the farm acreage allotment, whichever is larger.

The 1960 national wheat acreage allotment of 55 million acres is the minimum fixed by law and is the same as for the 1958 crop. If the allotments had been determined solely on the basis of the law's supply formula, the 1960 allotment would have been zero acres.

At least two-thirds of the producers voting in the referendum on July 23 must approve quotas for the 1960 crop if they are to be in effect. Growers who will have more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain in 1960 in any one of the 39 commercial wheat States come under the regulation of quotas and will be eligible to vote in the referendum.

A NEW PLAN TO HALT BRUCELLOSIS

Ultimate eradication of the dread livestock brucellosis disease is possible if new plans—already successful in limited trials—will succeed when available to Texas and other cattle states this summer.

The new anti-brucellosis tactic being initiated by federal-state cooperation involves tagging range cattle as they go to market and sampling blood as a routine during slaughter, thereby maintaining area status information on the costly disease of eventual elimination.

As planned, the animals to be shipped to market will be identified by tags showing state, county and herd of origin. This will provide the means for routine retesting as required for brucellosis-free recertification. When blood tests reveal reactors among the cattle, it will then be possible to trace and eliminate the infection in herds of origin.

Trials for the past three years in eight states showed that slaughter-house testing of dry and cull cows effectively discloses the brucellosis status of a range area and that the coding system is the most practical of several satisfactory ones tried.

This is how the recertification plan works: When blood testing for three years representing at least 15 percent of the breeding cows in a particular range area shows that not more than one percent of the animals and 5 percent of the herds have brucellosis, that area can be approved for recertification for three years. Other requirements to be met include vaccination of heifer calves and semi-annual milking testing of all dairy herds.

When slaughterhouse blood tests reveal reactors, federal-state officials will assist owners by helping to free their herds of brucellosis. The method thus provides constant vigilance on the brucellosis status of a range area.

Individual states will work out details of their own procedures but, in general, tagging is to be done by ranchers or other designated persons as cattle move from ranch to market. The thin and pliable but tough plastic tag will be glued over an animal's ribs and must stay put long enough for the animal to reach the most distant market.

Blood collection procedures will be worked out cooperatively by local, state and federal officials with individual plant managements to meet each slaughterhouse situation, but the procedure should be quite simple.

Cooperation of range cattlemen will be a major factor in the success of this plan, but from an industry which has so long been anxious to stamp out costly and troublesome brucellosis, this cooperation is virtually assured.

Photographers Have Special Seeing Problems

Photography, like fishing, has grown as a hobby the past few years to the point that now the click of amateur shutters is almost as frequent as the bang of TV six-guns. But whether amateur or professional, the object of photography is to record permanently some scenic which otherwise would be only a fleeting glimpse on the eye's fast moving film.

Of primary consideration is the fact that the photographer's eye must be in perfect focus before he can expect to attain same for his camera. Of course one type camera cannot perform all picture taking duties equally well. Generally photographers will deal with three types cameras: studio, reflex, and candid (including press and movie types).

In the studio the photographer must focus his portrait camera by means of a ground glass view plate which he must see clearly at about 12 inches. If a photographer is past forty this will be done through his bifocal which should be the large field "executive" type set high in the frame. Distance vision for posing the subject is available through the top half of the bifocal. This same type bifocal is convenient for the large field desirable for enlarging and developing work in the dark room.

The reflex cameras are often used for outdoor subjects and conventional bifocals may be much more desirable since the large field bifocal used for studio work could cause the photographer some difficulties in moving around over unfamiliar ground where the large bifocal interferes with watching one's step. Also the focus plate of the reflex camera is smaller than the studio camera and doesn't require such a large area bifocal size. General purpose bifocal size and focus is suited to this type photography.

Candid type photography is a rather special problem where glasses are concerned. Often these cameras provide a very small eyepiece for a viewfinder and glasses hold the photographer's eye slightly away from the eyepiece, thus constricting his field of view. An interesting solution to this problem which we have used successfully is to have the photographer's prescription for his aiming eye ground in a tiny lens, often no more than 3-8 inch in diameter, then glue it in the eyepiece of the camera. Thus the photographer can pocket his specs and see clearly through the eyepiece which now contains his glasses prescription. He also is not bothered by the distracting sidelight which is a problem when wearing glasses. Of course wearers of contact lenses will have no problem with these eye pieces.

For the benefit of the young would-be professional photographer, better have an expert evaluation of your color vision. Many people, especially men, go through life never realizing that they are color deficient. Colors don't appear the same to them as they do to most other people. Accurate color discrimination is an absolute must for good photography.
