FUNDS DEPLETED

A 4th Polio Shot Is Urged

The National Foundation has urged all persons who have already received a minimum of three Salk Vaccine shots more than one year ago, to immediately go to your doctor and get a booster shot. The potency of the three shots has not necessarily deteriorated, but it has been deemed advisable to get the fourth shot.

All parents who have not completed the series of three shots is advised to get the series underway immediately.

Although the incidence of polio is greatly reduced all over the nation, there are several cities in the north and mid-western part of the nation that are undergoing an epidemic of polio at this time. This could also happen here, or in this part of the nation.

Most of those who are taking the disease now, are ones who have not had the Salk Vaccine Shots. Admittedly, some who have had one or more of the shots do contact polio, but their cases are much lighter than their counterpart, and their cases are arrested much faster and without near the crippling effect suffered by those who have not had the shots.

It is a small price to pay for such a beneficial investment.

Dr. William Tryon, local physician and surgeon, said the Salk Vaccine shots should be given as follows: The first shot immediately to those who have not received it, the second shot should follow in one month, the third shot should be given six months later, then a booster shot should be administered each year thereafter.

NATIONAL FOUNDATION FUNDS DEPLETED

Money in the Santa Anna and Coleman Chapters of the National Foundation is exhausted. Actually in both funds there is less than $100 now and by the end of the month of July just about all of that will be gone. During the past several years, many thousands of dollars have had to be borrowed from the National Headquarters, and none of it has been repaid, except through the normal divisions of March of Dimes funds from each drive.

Within recent days a new patient aid program has been announced by the National Foundation, whereby most families of old polio patients are going to have to make different arrangements for some of the services that have been rendered by the National Foundation. This has been brought about by several things. First, and foremost, is the fact that March of Dime drives all over the nation this year fell way short of what they had been getting each year, and because of the added programs of the National Foundation is short about $11 million of what they had hoped they

Good Crowd At Annual All-Day Singing Sunday

The annual All Day Singing held in connection with the Second Sunday Singing group, was held at the Elementary School Cafeteria the past Sunday. An estimated 90 persons were served dinner at the noon hour and in the afternoon the attendance was swelled to about 150 persons. Everyone enjoyed a great day of singing and visitation.

At the noon hour the meal consisted of fried chicken and boiled ham, furnished by the association, and a wide variety of other food that was brought by most of those in attendance. An offering was taken at the end of the program that paid for all expense and left a little over for the program next year.

Included in the singing were quartettes, double quartettes, trios, duets, solos and lots of good group singing. Singers were present from San Angelo, Coleman, Brownwood, Comanche, Zephyr, Brooksmith, Rockwood, Trickham and other places.

In the business meeting, Mrs. Phelin of Brownwood, was elected treasurer of the group, and the next All-Day Singing was set for the second Sunday in July, 1960.

budget for the year would be. Other reasons include the fact that resources other than the National Foundation have expanded. Although there are still not enough, there are many more qualified personnel to care for patients. Hospitals and rehabilitation facilities have expanded. Individual income and resources are greater. Over 121 million people are now covered by some form of health or hospitalization insurance.

So, the National Foundation feels that certain types of support that has been given by them must be transferred to other agencies and resources. In some instances, this will take a lot of doing. The job of the National Foundation has done in patient aid has been so enormous that many people are inclined to think they have unlimited resources. This has never been the case.

Space does not permit us to publish the entire list of changes made by the National Foundation. However, some that affect this locality include: (1) all patients with a confirmed diagnosis of paralytic polio are eligible for chapter aid for a period up to 2 years following the onset of the disease, (2) some priority patients are eligible for chapter aid beyond two years provided the patient's physician certifies that further disability, or make the patient more independent. Under home attendant service or nursing home care, the patient is entitled to a maximum of two years aid after the date of onset.

Actually, the new regulations include 14 typewritten, single-spaced pages. Anyone interested who desires to read the new regulations are invited to do so. However, we only have one copy and it must not be taken from The News office. The copy says these regulations will be changing from time to time, and changes may be made at anytime.

Football Season Tickets On Sale

The annual sale of season tickets to all the home football games got underway this week with a number of the local businessmen and both coaches having them to sell.

The tickets are made up into a little booklet that has the seat and row number printed on the cover and an admission ticket inside to each home game, for the high school and junior high school. The high school game tickets are on individual cards, each a different color and the junior high school games are all listed on one card, and will be punched as the ticket is used. No tickets may be used for games other than the date printed on them.

The complete book sells for $5.00, which is $1.00 for each of the high school games and 25 cents for each of the junior high games.

GI Loan Interest Rate Increased

Effective July 2, 1959, the interest rate which may be charged for GI loans will be 5 1/4 percent. This increased interest rate has no effect upon loans closed before that date. J. P. Mims, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco, Texas, said today.

Loans closed on or after the July 2 date may be charged the new higher rates unless the lender has previously made a binding commitment to grant the loan at a lower rate, he added.

The VA Manager's explanation followed a series of inquiries from puzzled veterans following announcement of the new rate. Once a loan has actually been closed, subsequent legislation has no effect on the interest rate charged for that loan, Mims said.

State Capitol NEWS

AUSTIN, TEX. — Whatever the outcome of the summer tax battle, when the smoke has all cleared, the fire won't go out. Like live coals banked in ashes, the tax issue will be ready to flame up again when new fuel is added.

Sources of new fuel are easily foreseeable.

Every member of this Legislature, by his voting record, expressed a tax viewpoint. Many of them will have to face opponents attacking this viewpoint in the 1960 elections. Since a new law moves primaries up by two months, campaigning will begin long before the dogwood is out — maybe while the Christmas lights are up.

Many candidates may be wary of lighting into an issue on which it's almost impossible to take an all-around popular stand. But whoever gets elected and comes to Austin in 1961 will find the old tax monster waiting, bigger and fiercer than ever.

This Legislature will likely enact just barely enough new taxes, mostly on "old favorite" sources, to cover the budget. But the 1961 budget will have to be bigger. For some time population growth and other factors have kept budgets going up by about 10 percent every two years.

Additionally, there will be, as always, demand for new programs, new buildings, new spending. Hale-Aikin school improvement program alone would call for at least a $100,000,000 tax bill.

Only hope for avoiding an even hotter tax battle in '61 is for 1960 voters to give their elected officials clear instructions on what they want and how they're willing to pay for it.

BATTLE LINES

Show-down fight of the second called session came on a $90,000,000-a-year tax bill based on about three-fourths selective sales taxes, one-fourth business taxes.

It was in line with expressed sentiments of the Senate, but many House members regarded it as "another insult". All the five Senators and five House members on the conference committee that worked out the bill signed the report and recommended adoption.

It was designed to get revenue from these sources over a 2-year period:

TOBACCO — Cigarettes up 3 cents a pack (for two years — then back to one cent) to raise $69,000,000. Other tobacco products, except snuff, a 25 percent tax to raise $13,500,000.

NATURAL GAS — raise in the production tax from 7 to 8 percent to bring in $12,000,000.

CORPORATION FRANCHISES — increase of 75 cents per $1,000 capital to May, 1960, 50 cent increase thereafter, to raise $32,000,000.

UTILITIES — a 20 percent increase in gross receipts tax except for telephone and telegraph, for $3,000,000.

MOTOR VEHICLES — increase in sales tax from 1.1 to 1.6 percent, for $20,400,000.

BEVERAGES — liquor up from $1.48 to $1.68 a gallon, wine up 20 percent, for $6,000,000.

BOATS, MOTORS, AIRPLANES — a new 1.6 percent sales tax, for $3,250,000.

RADIOS, TELEVISIONS, PHONOGRAPHS — a 2.2 percent sales tax, for $6,000,000.

CAMERAS — temporary 10 percent sales tax, for $6,000,000. Provisions for more vigorous tax collecting would bring an estimated $4,000,000 more.

NEW INSURANCE BILL

Out of the House-Senate conflict over the State Board of Insurance came a reorganization bill aimed at getting rid of at least some present officials. Sen. Floyd Bradshaw of Weatherford introduced the bill calling for organization of a new three-member, full time Board of Insurance.

One member would be designated Commissioner at a $20,000 salary. One would be the chairman at $15,000. Nothing in the bill says present members could not be appointed, but all appointments would be subject to Senate confirmation.

Senators tried to oust present Commissioner William A. Harrison two years ago, were balked by Board Chairman Penn Jackson and an Attorney General's ruling that they lacked this authority.

Since then Senate hostility toward Jackson and Harrison has been open and frank. Senate appropriation bill slashed salaries to one-third for Board members. House held out for full-time Board.

Senate's counter — offer was the reorganization bill... with a full-time Board to please the House and a chance to name new members to please the Senate.

LET NATURE BE

A group of West Texas ranchers won another round in their court fight to force a cloud-seeding firm to leave the weather alone.

Texas Supreme Court upheld an injunction to stop "weather modifying" program by Southwest Weather Research, Inc.

Weather Research had been hired by a group of Fort Stockton cotton farmers to drop silver iodide pellets into clouds that threatened to bring crop-destroying hail storms.

Water-loving ranchers brought suit. They contended the cloud seeding not only chased off the hail but moisture of all kinds.

INSURANCE CUT DUE

State Board of Insurance has ordered reductions in auto insurance rates ranging from 10 to 15 percent in some parts of the state.

Effective date is August 1. Most of the cuts will stem from a reduction in expenses, such as agent commissions, rather than low accident rates. State-wide the cuts will amount to about $226,000,000, saving some drivers as much as $20 a year.

In some areas, mostly larger cities, the drop will be smaller, and in a few counties the rate will rise.

Board Chairman Penn Jackson said that a merit rating plan, setting lower rates for accident-free drivers, will be made later.

Read John 17:1-10.

I have given unto them the words which thou gavest me; and they have received them. (John 17:8.)

Once I went to a police station to see an officer on a certain piece of business. I found him deeply absorbed in reading his Bible. Seeing me, he beckoned me to sit down.

After finishing the reading of the Word, he apologized to me for keeping me waiting. He told me that it was his habit to read the Word of God every morning before beginning the work of the day. It was his delight to read it for guidance in his work throughout the day. It shed light on his daily path. He could not neglect it, as he knew that it was of daily help to him.

He was known for his integrity and uprightness among the officers and men of the police force. No one could induce him to do wrong. His superiors entrusted to him the most urgent and confidential tasks. It was Christ's spirit in him and his habitual reading of the Word of God which made him what he was.

Local Guardsmen Return From Camp Sunday

On Sunday morning, July 12, at 6:30 a. m. a convoy of jeeps, light and heavy trucks rolled past the city limits and up to the National Guard Armory to be unloaded with lightning speed and efficiency. Thus ended another period of Summer Field Training for the members of Combat Support Company, 2nd Battle Group, 142 Infantry, our local National Guard Unit.

The members of the unit were smiling, tired, chigger and mosquito bitten, poison ivy besmirched and happy to be home. Underneath the smiles and calamine lotion must also be detected a glow of accomplishment for a difficult job well done. As Colonel Ralph M. Krieger, Battle Group Commander, stated in a talk on Friday afternoon, "The group came to camp as a group of individuals and will leave as a unit, functioning unit."

This statement was particularly true of our local unit, which had many problems confronting it from beginning to end. The first big problem was that the unit is what is termed as a "split unit," meaning that elements of the unit are located in two different towns. Our unit is divided between Santa Anna and Brady and - until camp - many of the members were not acquainted with one another. Then, too, all members in both towns were confronted with the problem of learning completely new weapons, and the functioning of a completely new type of organization.

Had they been present to see their relatives, friends and casual acquaintances could not help but have been impressed by the spirit and enthusiasm with which the members entered into the training. Resulting was a Combat Support Company which lacked only two points winning the trophy for top proficiency in training. The trophy, incidentally, was won by our neighboring unit, Coleman's Company D. In the beginning, the training of our unit was broken up into small sections progressing toward the functioning of the unit as a complete team. It was this spirit of teamwork that highlighted all training received by the unit.

The training in the schedule for this camp consisted of Advanced Individual Training and Weapons Qualification. The schedule prescribed by Major General Carl L. Phinney, Commander of the 36th Division, is designed to begin during this year's field training and during the best of the year at the Armory. Gen Phinney has a goal for the division the beginning of this training, during next year's field training. The result will be a functional, mighty arm, dedicated to the guardianship of the peace.

The local boys who lost their portable lux-holes when the unit was reorganized in March of this year, learned how to dig holes for themselves and their weapons, in the early part of the first week. Then, beginning Wednesday at noon, they entered into training on their new weapon, the 4.2 inch Mortar. After a brief weekend of freedom, they went to the "chigger-patch" on Sunday afternoon where they continued training on the Mortar. On Tuesday afternoon of the second week, Mortar Gunners Tests were administered. There was time to test only six men resulting in SP-5 Bobby J. Densman qualifying as an "Expert" gunner and SFC Charles R. Bosch, SFC Henry R. Carrell, Sgt. George M. Baucom, SP-5 Kenneth W. Henderson and Pvt. Donnie L. Clifton qualifying as "First Class" gunners. Other members of the Mortar Platoon could have qualified had there been time to administer the test to them. In the meantime, SFC Donnie Simmons, and Pfc Tommy Stark were becoming surveyors, while SFC Don Davis and SP-4 Daniel Gilbert were learning to install the network of wire required for telephone communications. The high point of the camp came on Thursday when all sections were put together on a firing range to fire service ammunition. Since the Combat Supply Company of another Battle Group did not qualify any gunners, our boys got to fire both allotments of ammunition. They left the firing range with the impression that "this 4.2 Mortar is a real weapon" after firing and seeing their own demonstration of fire power.

While the Mortar Platoon was in training, Lt. Jimmy L. Robinson's Guided Missile Platoon and Lt. Claude Hudson's Recon Platoon were both busily engaged in training on the tanks. The members of both platoons are located in Brady. Though training was hard and time was short, the members of the unit did not neglect their housekeeping. Many mothers will be shocked to learn

Final Rites For Ray B. McCorkle Held In Strawn

Strawn, Texas — The final "30" mark has come for one of West Texas' most colorful old-time newspapermen.

Ray B. McCorkle, 67-year-old retired publisher, editor, writer, columnist, and clergyman, died Tuesday morning in a Mineral Wells sanatorium following a fatal stroke Monday. The veteran journalist and minister, who had been making his home in Strawn for the past two years, had been in failing health since 1954 and became invalided three years ago.

Funeral services were scheduled to be held in the First Baptist Church, Strawn, Thursday, July 16, at 10:00 a. m. The Rev. Larry Stallings, pastor, officiating. Interment was in the Mount Marion Cemetery in Strawn. Masonic burial rites were conducted.

Born in Nayarro County on Aug. 20, 1891 and the son of an old-time circuit rider and Baptist missionary, the late Rev. J. R. McCorkle, he moved to Santa Anna in Coleman County with his parents in December, 1897, at the age of six.

He began his long newspaper career as a printer's devil and learned the trade as a boy apprentice in the employ of various weeklies in this area. He launched his own career as a publisher at Peacock at the youthful age of 16. He later founded one of the Coleman newspapers and over the years had been associated with Amarillo Globe-News, Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, and other newspapers in Texas and other states. Always lured to fields alive with adventure and excitement, McCorkle also was a member of the staff of the Ranger Daily Times during the rip-roaring era of the fabulous oil boom days in the Eastland County area in the early 1920s.

For a time in the turbulent early 1930s, he was employed as a public relations man by the United States Chamber of Commerce, headquartered in Oklahoma City, and was personally acquainted with the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt during the early years of his presidency and interviewed the former chief executive on numerous occasions.

Prior to his retirement due to failing health, McCorkle had resided in Eastland County where he was actively associated with newspapers in Eastland and Ranger. He also served for a time as news editor of radio station KERC, Eastland. During his employ as editor of the Eastland Daily Telegram, McCorkle served as Eastland County chairman of the "Democrats for Eisenhower" committee. For this energetic work in that colorful 1952 campaign, McCorkle won personal commendation from the President.

He was a former student of Howard Payne Academy and College in Brownwood where he studied theology and journalism. A life-long Baptist, McCorkle was ordained as a minister in 1932 and served as pastor of churches at San Angelo and in the Big Spring and Fort Worth areas. At the time of his death, he was a member of the First Baptist Church, Strawn.

He had been a Mason for nearly half a century and at the time of his passing was a member of the Eastland Masonic Lodge. He also was a Shriner. Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Rose McCorkle of Strawn; one son, J. R. McCorkle, L. S. Vegas, Nev.; a daughter, Mrs. Grover C. Lee Jr., Strawn; 15 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren. A stepson, the late Garnet Lloyd Frederick of Houston, preceded his stepfather in death several years ago.

Other survivors are one brother, Robert E. McCorkle, Coleman; a stepbrother, Horace Fy, Lubbock; three sisters, Mrs. LaRue Cox, Brownwood; Mrs. Melvin Lamb and Miss Mary McCorkle of Santa Anna; one step-sister, Mrs. L. L. Evans of Brownwood; and an uncle, J. Ed Bartlett of Santa Anna.

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

A PRESIDENTIAL VETO of the housing bill, Democratic Chairman Paul Butler's attack on the Democratic leadership in Congress, and a substantial cut in foreign aid, produced headlines in the Capitol city last week.

The veto, which was expected, puts a quietus on an over-ambitious housing bill. The President properly labeled the measure as inflationary and entirely too costly. Proponents claim the bill called for less than requested. But they never mention the fact the bill also authorizes 190,000 additional public housing units which would cost the taxpayers $3.7 billion and which were not requested. And this despite the fact more than 100,000 additional units are already authorized that have not been constructed.

FOREIGN AID may be reduced substantially this year as a result of the Senate action last week. The President had requested authorization for $3.9 billion. The House acted first and trimmed the budget figure down to $3.5 billion. The Senate approved an amount just a little higher than the House had provided. Actually there is and has always been a lot of fat in foreign aid and much of it can and should be cut out or reduced even more.

DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN Paul Butler's attack on Senator Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Rayburn seems to have backfired on the talkative chairman. Butler, who always plugs for more and more spending and more and more liberal and socialized legislation, was kowtowing to the radicals in the party. But probably to his dismay the chief back-fire came from such moderates and liberals as Senator Green of Rhode Island and Assistant Senate leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

GUM CHEWERS—Americans are chewy people, by gum. Last year they paid $306 million for 250 million pounds of chewing gum, enough for more than 200 sticks for every man, woman, and child! But gum manufacturers are not satisfied; they aim for an annual chewing consumption of 500 sticks a person.

GAME GROUP MEETING—Austin—The regular quarterly meeting of the Game and Fish Commission will be held in Austin Friday, July 24. It has been announced by Howard Dodgen, executive secretary. The meeting will be open to the public.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hosch and children were in Fort Worth Tuesday for a medical check-up for Pat. They carried Michael to Dallas to spend a week with relatives.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: I am a farmer 74 years old, and I am receiving social security benefit payments each month. Even if I have net profit from farming of over $400 in a year, I do not have to pay any more social security taxes, do I?

ANSWER: Yes. If you have net profit of $400 or more, you are required to pay self-employment tax regardless of age.

QUESTION: I became 65 on May 28 and applied for social security retirement payments. I received a retirement check for the full month of May. Can I keep it?

ANSWER: Yes, you can receive a retirement check for the entire month even though you reached 65 only a few days before the end of the month. Upon your death no payment will be made for the month of death, regardless of what day of the month you die. Administering social security payments are made simpler by not dividing months in this way.

Korean Vets Urged To Apply For School Funds Now

"Apply now. Don't get caught in the rush."

This is the advice that J. P. Mims, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco gave today to all Korean veterans planning to start to school in the fall under the Korean GI Bill.

By applying now, a veteran can beat the rush and can eliminate any chance of a delay at the last minute, Mims said. To help veterans get started, he issued this check list.

1. Since the law allows a veteran to change his GI course only once, he should give plenty of thought in advance to his goal.

2. If he is undecided about what to train for, he may ask for VA vocational counseling.

3. He should be sure that his course has been GI-approved by the state in which the school is located.

4. He should make all arrangements for gaining admission to his school before he even files his application with VA.

5. The GI training application should be completely filled out and signed. The veteran should send it, along with a photostatic or certified copy of his separation paper to the VA regional office.

6. A veteran with dependents should have the necessary proof of dependency.

7. A veteran should take along enough money of his own to tide him over the first two months of training. It takes about that long, ordinarily, for his first monthly GI check to reach him.

FARM SAFETY WEEK

Farm work accidents claim about 3,500 lives each year, which is more than any other major industry. About 12,000 farm residents lose their lives each year in all types of accidents.

troubles each year. Pretty grim statistics, aren't they?

To make the picture more grim, the National Safety Council says many of the deaths are somebody's fault—and could be prevented.

This is the reason the President has proclaimed this week beginning July 19, as National Farm Week and requests all persons and organizations interested in the welfare of farm people to support and participate in its observance.

The National Safety Council says human failure—ignorance and carelessness—are the main causes of farm accidents each year.

As individuals, rural residents can help in the battle against farm accidents by making regular inspections of their homes, buildings, fields, machinery and equipment. A little repair and extra care is about all it takes to bring safety home to the farm.

As groups, farmers can work for safety, too. Rural organizations should make accident prevention a part of their activity, a feature on their programs, a subject of their discussions.

Farm Safety Week is a good opportunity for rural residents to take a few lessons in safety and then practice them all year long.

Many farm groups are planning special programs during Farm Safety Week and a number of rural ministers will participate in the special week at church July 19.

The theme of this year's Farm Safety Week is "Safety Makes Sense."

STUDENT GUIDANCE: What Does It Really Mean?

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first of a series of articles dealing with vocational guidance released by the National Foundation for Student Guidance to weekly newspapers throughout this state. The purpose of this series is to acquaint the parents of the youth of this nation with the pressing need for understanding and providing adequate vocational guidance to the students of American schools.

The author of the series, Dr. Edward C. Roebler, is widely known in this field. He is Professor of Education at the University of Michigan. He has written numerous articles and books dealing with this problem for various publications.

The National Foundation for Student Guidance is a non-profit organization dedicated to creating a better understanding of the need for vocational guidance throughout the United States.

By Dr. Edward C. Roebler

Just exactly what is vocational guidance? What is embarrassed if you don't know the answer. The truth of the matter is that probably the majority of the parents of school age children in this country are in the same boat as you.

Frankly, insofar as the overwhelming majority of American educators is concerned, this is not a good situation. You need to know about vocational guidance and what it means because you owe it to your children to know.

Basically, vocational guidance is simply this: a service provided through our school systems to assist pupils in making intelligent decisions regarding subjects which will prepare them for their future work. You've heard the saying about "a suitable job for a suitable boy" and it is unfortunately true that too many human beings find themselves in the predicament where it is too late to do anything about it or when it means living up to a security of financial security in order to shift occupations.

As a result, it is undoubtedly true that many talents are wasted because young men and young women aren't going to the work they are best fitted to do in which they are most interested.

At the risk of oversimplifying the problem, let's say that the primary function of vocational guidance is to prevent any square pegs from getting in round holes.

When grammar school youngsters are asked, "What do you want to be when you grow up?" The most popular answers are always locomotive engineers, policemen, nurses, movie stars, doctors, forest rangers, firemen, and maybe busdrivers; but these answers are dream answers. In just a few short years some of these same youngsters may be thinking seriously about engineering, education, journalism, banking law, medicine, or business administration.

In every high school of America there are young men and young women who are perplexed about their future, their educational and vocational plans.

We owe it to our youth and to our country to do everything we can to see that the native talents of American youths are steered in the direction which will best serve mankind as well as the individual.

Let's take a look, for example, at Bill. He could be in any high school in America. What's on Bill's mind? For one thing, he is wondering whether he will ever amount to anything. Like everyone else he wants to be somebody — nothing extra special but a regular guy with a regular job living a respectable life. Bill wants his share of the future. He wants a chance to develop some special skills and to get those things which we in America take for granted.

It all sounds quite simple to those of us who have already made a place for ourselves in the world of work. To Bill, however, it is not quite so simple.

Bill is wondering about a lot of things. Should he go to college? He'll need help. Perhaps his family would have to give up all its savings. And what about his brother and sister? They will need help, too. Or, after high school, should he take some special training? Should he follow his Dad's trade or strike out on his own?

Dad could help him get started, sure, but maybe Bill isn't sure he wants to do what Dad has done all his life.

Maybe Mommy was with Dad's job but Bill wants to do something with electronics — at least he thinks he does.

What about chances for finding a job in that field?

And how about the armed services? He might be able to get some special training if he enlists. How much choice would he have?

And so it goes. Lots of questions. Where are the answers? Professional guidance is the answer.

If Bill were the only one with such questions, there would be no need for vocational guidance. But the case of Bill can be multiplied many times and in addition there are all the Marys and other young women who also have special problems in career planning.

Bill and Mary need special help in planning for and gaining a foothold in a career.

Actually, there are many reasons why Bill and Mary find today's decisions rather difficult — perhaps even more confusing than the choices which faced their parents only twenty years ago. A few more examples of the challenges and obstacles which confront the Bills and the Marys might help all of us understand more clearly the increasing need for vocational guidance not only in the large schools but also in every one of the small schools.

Jack will soon leave high school, having earned top honors in his class. He would like to try for a medical degree some day, but he realizes it will take at least eight years of college work. Jack is wondering whether he has what it takes to get good marks in college. What would he do if he found, after a couple of years in college, that he couldn't do the work well? He would also like to know whether to go to a small college or a big university. Because his scholarship will not cover all his expenses, he would like to know how to earn part of his way. Or would that affect his marks and thus stop him from being accepted at a medical school? What would he do if he were not accepted?

Jack also knows that there are many who would like to get into these schools and that there are not enough places for all of them. What else could he do for a living? Maybe something in biology, chemistry, or pharmacy?

Refrigeration has changed the transportation of foods, such as oranges from crates to cans.

Farming has become so highly mechanized and scientific that fewer farmers can feed more people.

Jill is a tenth grade student in a large school. She has made up her mind if she leaves school. How does one go about finding a job? Does a high school diploma make any difference in finding jobs? If she decided to stay in school, which ones of the many courses should she take? For a change, she would like something which interests her. Of course, if she "sticks it out," how can she do better work in English?

Jim is not interested in a college degree. But he wants a trade of some kind, some work where he can build or repair things. He is not sure as yet what trade to enter. In or near his home town are three kinds of schools, a trade school, a technical school, and a college offering a two-year course. There are also several industries with apprenticeship programs. He is wondering whether to go to one of these schools, to start an apprenticeship as soon as he graduates, or to begin learning a trade in one of the armed services. What is best for him?

Ron dropped school when he was sixteen. Since that time he has held several "dead end" jobs. Each one paid enough to live on, but none of them offered him a chance for promotion or learning any special skill. Whichever way he turns he learns that the "good" jobs require at least a high school education. At the present time he is waiting to be drafted and feels sorry for himself, not sure what to do while he waits. Ron needs guidance desperately.

Industrialization in America has brought about an increasing number of occupations — probably more than 40,000 at the present time. Technological changes have been taking place at such a rapid pace that forecasting occupational trends has become a hazardous occupation. Twenty years ago there was no such person as a space doctor. Today we cannot predict how many will be needed in the next twenty years.

Refrigeration has changed the transportation of foods, such as oranges from crates to cans.

Farming has become so highly mechanized and scientific that fewer farmers can feed more people.

Currently she is undecided about whether to drop school as soon as she is sixteen. She is wondering what kinds of work

The influences of American inventiveness upon jobs is endless. Young people today must aim at a "moving target" for the world of work does not stand still. They have to learn to aim at and adjust to as many foreseeable changes as possible — quite a task for even an expert on the subject.

As America becomes involved in a struggle for survival it is essential that every person develop his talents as much as possible. As a nation it is impossible to depend upon sheer numbers in the population for survival but rather upon ingenuity and an ability to outproduce unfriendly nations. Our young people are the hope of the future. They will be "pressured" to do this or to do that. Recruitment for various occupations may influence someone to enter an occupation for which he is not suited and where he is not as productive as he might be.

Somehow the Bills and Marys must work their ways through the maze of opportunities, blind alleys and obstacles. They can be helped in an organized manner. This is vocational guidance.

An organized approach to vocational guidance is already present in some schools throughout America. In these schools Bill and Mary are helped to find various kinds of information about themselves and possible educational and occupational opportunities. Some of the information is given to them individually, as they need it, or in groups, such as regular classes, homerooms, or occupational planning courses. In addition, counselors, and teachers with special skills counsel and talk over with the students how they can best use their talents in relation to different kinds of training and occupational requirements. Because young people grow and change with new experiences, they find these services available to them all through high school. Many who see the value in helping young men and women "get a good start" in the world of work hope that every young American can have an opportunity to receive adequate vocational guidance in his high school, regardless of its size or location.

FARM SAFETY WEEK

Farmers Urged To Set Up Own Safety Program

Austin — Inoculation of farm animals is considered a sound practice among farmers and ranchers, because it has been proven time and again that it is easier to prevent disease than to cure it.

Another sound, modern and proven phase of farming and ranching, but not quite so widely accepted, is inoculation against accidents by eliminating hazards.

J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, says "The average medical costs for farm and ranch injuries will run from $105 per accident. This excludes the costs of hiring extra labor for replacement and lost production."

"In Texas, farm machinery poses the greatest hazard and the severity of such accidents reaches its peaks during June, July and August, which is all the more reason why farmers and ranchers throughout the state should observe National Farm Safety Week, July 19-25, by eliminating as many hazards as possible."

Musick listed the following do's and don'ts that every farmer or rancher should observe in setting up his own accident prevention program:

1. Keep ladders and steps in good repair. Provide hand guard rails where they are needed.
2. Avoid storing loose materials overhead.
3. Keep loose wires, boards and scrap metal picked up.
4. Don't allow nails or hangers to protrude unnecessarily.
5. Keep hand tools in safe racks. Urge your employees to always use the right tool for the job at hand — improvising can be expensive.
6. Keep guards in place on power shafts, belts and chains.
7. Keep pens and corrals in good repair.
8. Do not step over or under moving belts.
9. Do not use foot to push a running belt from a pulley.
10. Turn off power equipment before unclogging or adjusting it.
11. Cut off electrical current when working with a conductor.
12. Remain alert to the possibilities of falls — they are one of the greatest hazards around a farm or ranch.
13. Allow gasoline motors to cool off before refilling them.
14. Do not wear loose fitting or torn clothing around machinery.
15. Don't forget the home when planning an accident prevention program. During 1958, 1,202 lives were accidentally lost in Texas home accidents and more than 72,000 persons injured.

Straight Talk

By Tom Anderson

"What can I do?" That's the question more and more patriotic Americans are asking. "What can I do to save my country from bankruptcy, defeat, and slavery?"

You can do plenty. If America can be saved from becoming a socialist-labor-welfare dictatorship it can only be saved by a revolution at the grassroots. Our nation can be saved the same way it was founded, by rebellious patriots demanding a return to home rule. Our state governments have almost entirely lost their sovereignty and have become weak, hungry, competing panhandlers for the federal syndicate.

Here are some things we need to do to save America: (We must save the world but the only way to do that is to save America.)

First, kill the federal personal income tax. This is the one most vital thing we can do. It would automatically solve many of our problems.

The federal income tax threatens to lead us to complete federal dictatorship, yet the left-wingers say maybe we haven't raised taxes enough. The same New Deal Socialist crowd who argued for years that we could spend ourselves rich now believe we can tax ourselves richer.

Sell to the highest bidder the 700 federal, tax-free, rent-free, interest-free corporations which lose 10-billion dollars a year.

Limit the peacetime debt now. If they can't tax it or borrow it, they can't spend it. Compel an annually balanced budget and retire the national debt. Curb the Supreme Court. Drastically reduce U. S. aid to friendly foreign countries. Eliminate it to enemies like Tito, Russia's Trojan Horse. A friend bought is not worth the price paid. Kill federal grants-in-aid to state and local governments and substitute state-grants-in-aid to the Federal Government. Drastically reduce aid to veterans not disabled in war. Reverse the trend in Legislative, Executive, and Judicial branches of the Federal Government to take over and supplant local self-government with a federal bureaucracy so vast that it is beyond the understanding and the reach of the people. Protect the rights of the states to run their own affairs.

PAY-AS-WE-GO

Kill the present Social Security System and install in its place a pay-as-we-go Social Security System.

Do away with Postal Savings System, which competes unfairly with banks, and save $63,000,000. Demand return to a stable and sound dollar. Increase Parcel Post rates to cover indirect costs and save $50,000,000. End the loans for college housing, thus saving $146,910,000. Set up a single, civilian-manned commission to buy all non-combat materials for all three branches of the armed services. Centralize control over disposal of government surplus.

Give up our pet projects: postal subsidies, business subsidies, airport subsidies, highway subsidies, veteran subsidies, and so on, until we can pay-as-we-go.

Protect us from treaties, executive agreements, and secret diplomacy by passing the original Bricker amendment. Get the Federal Government out and set the farmer free. Give Red China a seat in the United Nations — our seat. Outlaw the Communist Party. Communism is a godless religion, a conspiracy which masquerades as a political party. Reduce the military establishment drastically, at home and abroad. Sixteen thousand Pentagon jobs are double-stuffed, for instance.

Cut off trade and relations with Communist nations and their satellites. Form new clubs for specific purposes, like Robert Welch's CASE (Committee Against Summit Entanglements).

Subscribe to libertarian publications like American Mercury, American Opinion, National Review, U. S. News & World Report, Freeman and Human Events, and don't renew subscriptions to publications which promote the socialist-labor-welfare state.

SUPPORT PATRIOTS

Support the advertisers in the libertarian publications and help conservative commentators like George Sokolsky, Fulton Lewis, Dan Smoot, Wayne Poucher, and Dean Manion remain on the air by your contributions or your purchases of the products they advertise.

What a man says he is, is not what counts. Practically every lawmaker says he's against inflation, against Socialism. A look at their voting records makes fools, cowards and liars, or voting booth prostitutes out of most of our lawmakers.

Why not send all officeholders for whom you have a right to vote a list of things you're for? Tell them you'll be watching their votes carefully. Demand that they state clearly how they stand on each issue listed. Kill Civil Service, so millions of unneeded government workers can be fired. Insist that the labor union monopoly be ended and that unions be placed under the same anti-trust, anti racketeering, tax-paying laws as are businesses.

Limit the time any congressman can serve to, say 12 years. Too many of them get so cynical, so important, and so stricken with Potomac fever that their main objective in life is to stay in Washington.

We have tried the little-pruning - here - and - there method. And the bureaucratic wilderness gets larger, denser, wilder every year. We need to dig up by the roots entire agencies, bureaus, and activities.

This nation was founded by men who believed in God, in individual freedom, in high moral values, in personal responsibility. Whether we survive as free men or slaves depends on whether we can resurrect our moral strength. We must fear slavery more than we fear war. The wages of wealth are comfort, complacency, caution, and cowardice.

Missile strength, manpower strength, H-bomb strength get the headlines. Few ever mention the greatest weapon: spiritual strength. Who — we or the Communists — have the fanatical zeal necessary to survive? Which will make the most sacrifices and the least compromises?

We are in a war for survival. And we are losing.

Lincoln said, "Our safety, our liberty, depend upon preserving the Constitution of the United States as our Founding Fathers made it, inviolate. The people of the U. S. are the rightful masters of both Congress and Courts, not to overthrow the Constitution, but to overthrow the men who pervert the Constitution." Let's start overthrowing, now.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M. D. Commissioner of Health

"School days, school days. Good ol' golden rule days!" Here they come again, and if you're a wise parent you'll get ready a head of time.

There is lots to do — buy clothes, fit shoes — and if your child is entering first grade, chances are you need a birth certificate copy.

School districts in Texas require that entering students be six years old before September 1. Otherwise they must wait until the following year.

The best means of proving your child's age and birth date is to have a certified copy of his birth certificate.

In many areas of Texas, copies are available from local registrars of vital statistics in health departments or county court houses.

You may also obtain a birth certificate from the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health in Austin.

To do so, you must send one dollar requesting a copy. Be sure to include the child's name, date and place of birth and the parent's name.

It is important that parents take care of this chore as early as possible. During August and September the Division of Vital Statistics is swamped with literally thousands of requests each week for birth certificate copies.

If you want to be sure your child has his birth certificate when school starts, request it now.

Rough estimates place the number of upcoming first graders at about 250,000. That makes for a lot of birth certificate copies.

In addition to birth certificates, it would be wise to check with your school district regarding any vaccinations that may be required.

It would be a good idea — if you have not already done so — to get your child started on his series of three Salk polio shots before school starts.

Also, a fourth shot or "booster" is generally recommended for added protection a minimum of one year after the initial series.

Another smart idea that will pay off, is adjusting your child's schedule to approximate that of school time including bedtime, meals and especially waking time.

Bifocals Always Seem Too High To New Wearer

Some weeks ago we described a few of the problems and peculiarities of learning to wear bifocals. We find we overlooked one of the most common complaints. "Doc, this bifocal is set too HIGH — the line is in my way".

There is, hardly a bifocal wearer who at first didn't have this opinion whether expressed to his eye doctor or not. Normally we set the top of the bifocal approximately even with the edge of the lower lid. If the wearer holds his head in the normally straight position and is looking straight ahead he will be looking above the bifocal. If he holds his head straight but tries to look at the ground a few feet in front of him he will hit the bifocal and the ground will appear blurred. This is what many bifocal wearers initially complain of. They think they should be able to see the ground clearly.

The fact is, any bifocal will interfere with some long established seeing habits because, after all, a person ordinarily is between forty and forty-five years old when he first begins to have to wear bifocals. How much this interference annoys one depends entirely on the adjustability of the person himself. Then occasionally we do find it necessary to lower the bifocal a little to aid the person in his adjustment.

We have one patient who is a typical salesman — full of pep and good cheer, big cigar, and a hearty greeting for everyone he meets. His posture is normally very erect, chin up — so high in fact that the cigar resembles some sort of antenna as he floats down the street. His glasses are trifocals but he wears them only at his desk, not walking about. He can't keep that chin down out of the clouds. He DOES hit the near segment when he's trying to look straight ahead.

Others of our patients have a fond habit of stretching out on the couch to watch TV a few hours after supper. Naturally in this position the bifocal will be right in the way. No possibility of lowering it enough so that it wouldn't be in the way for this particular position. Solution: we make them a pair of single vision glasses focussed for TV distance and then they can enjoy this favorite pastime with no problems.

Any way you approach it the bifocal wearer faces some adjustment to his new appliance. After all, the bifocal is admittedly a substitute. It substitutes for the normal focussing ability of the young eye which has been lost due to natural processes of age. A substitute is never as good as the real thing, but used with understanding and patience it can be very effective and workable and eventually become almost a part of the wearer.
