Local Guardmen Preparing For Encampment

1st Lt. Billy J. Harvey, Commander of Combat Support Company, 2nd Battle Group 142nd Infantry, our local National Guard, went to Abilene on Sunday to participate in a pre-camp planning conference with participants from area units. He was accompanied by 1st Lt. Bruce B. Stark, Mortar Platoon Commander, First Sergeant John Hensley and Master Sergeant Charles W. Wristen, Unit Administrator. They were met in Abilene by 1st Lt. Jimmy L. Robinett, 1st Lt. Jerry Tongate, 1st Lt. James M. Perkins and representatives from the two platoons of the unit in Brady.

The purpose of the conference was to plan and anticipate some of the problems arising in the course of the Annual Active Duty Training which will begin this year on June 28. As usual, this training will take place at North Fort Hood, Texas. The participants of the meeting were also advised of the individual and unit merit awards and trophies proposed for members of the Second Battle Group, for proficiency in training attained during the two weeks period.

Lt. Harvey said the training this year would be different from previous years due to the reorganization of the unit in March. He stated further that while many problems were anticipated, exhaustive planning has been underway for some time and that he expected that local members of the unit would receive more and better training than in recent years. Lt. Harvey also recalled that the unit was rated as "Excellent" for the same period last year, the only one of five separate companies in the old 142d Infantry Regiment scoring that high. Also, the unit was rated as "Superior" for their Annual General Inspection last fall, which measures unit functioning during an entire training year. This means, Lt. Harvey stated further, that the unit will be hard pressed to maintain like ratings this year, however, since most present members of the unit were also members last year, he had no particular worries along those lines.

Also referring back to the reorganization of the local unit earlier this year, Lt. Harvey pointed out that the new organization authorized more members for the local unit than in the past. The new organization provides many jobs in the fields of electronics, radar, mathematics, etc., positions which were not previously authorized. He stated that when a young man became a Junior in High School, it was time to start thinking about his obligation under the Universal Military Training Act, and that the National Guard offered the best and most convenient method of satisfying that obligation. Interested young men and their parents can get full explanation of the obligation and of the benefits of community service in the National Guard at the Armory. Lt. Harvey said further that the unit has always taken pride in the number of its members who were Veterans and in the number of its members who have 5 or more years service.

The local unit will leave here on Sunday, the 28th of June, by motor convoy enroute to North Fort Hood, expecting to arrive by 12:00 noon. The members of

Minor League Organized For Baseball Program

Monday night at the regular meeting of the Quarterback Club, a Minor League was organized for the benefit of the younger boys. The fact that the boys in the younger age brackets were not getting to play more than two innings per game, and also because of the danger of playing with older boys, the Minor League was suggested. It was approved by the 25 or more attending the Monday meeting.

A. D. Donham, secretary of the club and general manager of the summer program, was to get the teams organized and make up a schedule. All boys who are unable to make the regular line-up on the little league teams, and other boys who want to play, are invited to contact Mr. Donham as soon as possible. He will want to assign you to a team. These minor league teams will be composed of boys 7 years of age and up.

Apparently there will be one team from Rockwood, to be managed by Roy England. There will be at least two teams and possible more from Santa Anna. Glen Copeland and Kenneth Harris will manage one team; Thomas Wristen, B. J. Harvey and Earl Irick Jr. will manage the other team. If more managers are needed, Mr. Donham said he thought they would be available.

It is planned that the minor league games will get underway next week, probable at the end of the week. Some of the games will be played at Rockwood.

This will leave a total of ten players on each of the Little League age teams. In all likelihood, there will have to be some borrowing and other shifting around to field the teams on their playing night. However, under this new schedule, all the boys will get to play much more ball. The little boys will have the opportunity of gaining much more experience, and the older boys will have the opportunity of playing the entire game.

This new set up should give a better line up of games for the season.

Standings in the Little League as of the beginning of the week were:

the unit are looking forward to the new type training they will receive at the camp this year. Although time is running short, there is still time for a young man to enlist in the unit in time to go to camp with them this year.

Awards Presented For Best Themes On Library Value

During the last few weeks of school, the Santa Anna Library, under the direction of the sponsoring organization, the Self Culture Club, sponsored a theme writing contest among students in the high school, in an effort to gain better recognition for the library and for what it stands for. Primarily, the organization wants the facilities available there to be used by everyone in town.

A gold medal was presented to Don Hunter of Rockwood, for the first place paper on "The Value of a Library to a Town." The award was made by Mrs. C. D. Bruce at the awards session at the high school during the final week of school.

The second, third and fourth place winners of theme on the same subject were presented one-year memberships in the Library. Second place was won by Patsy Clifton, third by Ann Stiles and fourth by Sue Garrett.

All the themes will appear in The News during the next several weeks.

Mrs. Cullen Perry is president of the Library Board; Mrs. Edd Jones is secretary. Presidents of all civic clubs in town are members of the board, as well as the mayor.

Following is the first place winning theme by Don Hunter:

HOW A LIBRARY HELPS A TOWN

BY DON HUNTER

A library isn't just a place to pass the time away. It is an institution which can benefit a town, like a bank of a post office. A library is a place to read, but most of all it is a place to learn. It can help the young and the young-at-heart into lands of imagination or adventure. Or perhaps help that high school or college student in his studies, such as research papers or themes. The books in a library aids the citizens of a town in the understanding of people, places and things.

A library has the power to bring the extraordinary to the ordinary and the ordinary happenings into the most thrilling and fascinating happenings.

A library in general is a meeting place where citizens can intelligently talk together. In the library the opinions and experiences of generations past combined with the opinions of those about you in the present serve to guide a person and a town in the right direction.

A town cannot stand alone but a town can stand higher if it is educated. Education is the basis of our nation, our state and community. The two great institutions, the schools and the libraries, are the two institutions which we can best use for this purpose. After graduation from school most people have to look to a library for their education and entertainment.

A library does all these things, but most of all it dispels boredom.

Once a person, or a town, becomes interested in a library, it forms into a habit. Probably one of the best habits to be had.

The understanding and knowledge gained through reading and studying at a town library are not merely important to the citizens of the town, but also to the town, because a town is determined by the citizens it has and their ability to understand and work with others. For a town is a unit and a unit cannot stand divided. So, in summing up, a library is an institution for the distribution of enjoyment, knowledge, and understanding for a town to prosper and grow.

Small Grain Harvest Gets Slow Start

Harvest of small grain in this area got a rather slow start a few weeks ago, then for the past couple of weeks considerable rain has been falling, to prevent harvest of fields that were ready.

Now, the fields are beginning to dry out some and the harvest should really get underway within a few days. Some wheat and oats have been brought in this week, but most of it has a moisture content that is too high. If we do not get any more rain, by the end of this week there should be lots of acres ready for harvest.

Most oats are expected to be rather light because of the dry weather suffered earlier in the year, then with the heavy rains coming right at harvest time. Wheat is expected to run about normal.

County Agent Resigns Effective End Of This Month

Jack B. Brannen, County Agriculture Agent, announced his resignation to the Commissioners Court Wednesday morning. The resignation is effective June 30, 1959. Jack is leaving the Extension Service to become associated with the Ralston Purina Company. He will be located some where in Texas east of Austin in a area assigned after a short training period with the Company.

Jim Williams, County Agent in Real County for the past two years has accepted the Coleman County Agents job to take the place vacated by Jack. Jim was previously the assistant County Agent in Coleman County in 1956 and 1957.

In submitting his resignation to the court, Jack stated that he had never worked in a county where the people were so pleasant and easy to work with. The cooperation of the various organizations, businesses, newspapers, and radio made the work a real pleasure. Brannen told the court he hoped his work had been a credit to the Extension Service and a real service to the people of Coleman County. He further stated that he and his wife will never forget the many friends and the courtesies extended to them.

Flood Damage Heavy On Mukewater Creek

Can the damage from flooding on Mukewater Creek be reduced? The directors of the Coleman County Water Control and Improvement District are of the opinion that about 80 percent or more can be controlled.

Recent rains on the Mukewater Watershed put the creek out of its banks in a number of places. This resulted in considerable damage to growing crops, fences, county roads and bridges and to the land itself. Valuable top soil was washed from the J. A. Fleming fields, part of it being deposited along the roadway, in ditches and part of it went on with the water. The Corral Holt, Hardy Blue, H. O. Norris and Mrs. Burgess Weaver farms all suffered extensive damage to fences and land. These farms are where the proposed Flood Control Site No. 5 in the Mukewater Project will be located. Also suffering heavy damage was land on the Pierre Rowe, J. E. Brewer, R. L. Todd and C. A. Crump farms, where

Swimming Lessons To Begin Monday Morning at 10:00

The annual "Learn to Swim" program will get underway Monday morning, June 15. The first three weeks of the program will be used for instruction to boys of school age. The next three weeks will be used for instructions for girls of the same age bracket.

The swimming program is a part of the locally sponsored Community Chest program. All School age students are urged to take the swimming instructions.

The school board has let the group rent one of the school buses and Leonard Moore will do the driving. All boys of school age are invited to participate in the first three weeks of instruction.

Mrs. Dalton Hicks, chairman of the swimming committee, said the bus would leave the high school at 10:00 a. m. each morning, Monday through Friday. Each student taking the swimming lessons is to bring 10 cents with him each day to help pay the expenses of the bus, driver and pool.

The group will return to the high school at about 12:00 noon each day.

The swimming program is made possible through the cooperation of Mrs. M. L. Marrs of Coleman, owner and operator of The Pool. The Pool is located about 2 miles west of Coleman on the Farm-to-Market road to Winters.

Mrs. Hicks said at least two mothers would be on the bus each day during the program. She urged all the children who are not swimming to take advantage of this opportunity to learn to swim.

Four Kentucky Boys Charged In Clover Grill Robbery

Four boys from Kentucky were picked up in Andrews last week, and during the time they were being questioned, admitted breaking into the Clover Grill here the night of June 3. They had taken money from the cigarette machine, and a few other small items from the cafe.

The boys have been transferred to the Coleman jail. They range in age from 18 to 21 years. This robbery is not associated with two other robberies at the Grill and other Santa Anna stores earlier in the year. Thus far, no arrests have been made in the other cases.

Heavy Rains Fall Near Shields Monday

Noble Carpenter, who lives about 1½ miles south of the Shields Community, reported a heavy rain in the area south of Shields Monday morning. He said about one inch fell at his home, and to the east of him, around the Douglas Milligan home, about 4 inches fell in a very short time.

A light rain fell in Santa Anna at the same time.

proposed Site No. 6 will be located. Similar damages were reported on the other eight sites where proposed flood control projects will be.

Severe flood damage was reported in the unprotected portion of Deep Creek Watershed in McCullough County. No flood damage occurred below the eight flood control structures on the protected portion of Deep Creek Watershed. It is reported that watergaps below the Deep Creek structures have not washed out during the seven years since the projects were completed.

Mukewater Watershed lies in southeastern Coleman County and southwestern Brown County. It contains 37,500 acres of land. The bottom land area includes about 8,960 acres of flood plain and 511 acres of stream channels. Mukewater Creek floods frequently and causes high annual damages.

During the 29 year period from 1923 to 1942 inclusive, there was 38 floods on Mukewater which covered more than half of the flood plain. Twenty-three of the larger floods came during the spring months causing great damage to growing crops. Fifteen of the floods came in the early fall, prior to harvest time, and to late for planting of alternate crops, thus destroying the entire crop for that season, except for the small grain already harvested earlier in the year.

The work plan of Mukewater Creek Watershed calls for ten flood retaining structures. These structures, along with needed land treatment measures, are calculated to reduce the flooding by 80%. For each dollar spent the average annual benefit will be $2.32.

The directors of the Mukewater WCD hope to get all the easements on the 10 projects cleared by early in July. If this is done, construction can begin in the 1960 fiscal year. July 1, 1959 to June 30, 1960.

State Capitol NEWS

Austin — First called session of the 56th Legislature will end automatically June 16.

It would be hard to find anyone around the Capitol who would bet on the state's money problems being wrapped up by that date.

Senators began their work on the tax bills sent them by the House with an air of deliberate calm. They even waited 48 hours before beginning hearings to give everybody time to ready his presentation. (This is the "tag" rule whereby if one senator "tags" a bill, it cannot be heard except with 48 hours notice.)

Main issue was a bill to raise new revenue for 1960-61 spending needs. Gov. Price Daniel appeared personally before the Senate State Affairs Committee in behalf of H. B. 7. This is the House-passed bill to tax natural gas, interstate corporation franchises, utilities, liquor, cigarettes, autos, etc.

Governor Daniel stoutly defended the bill on all counts, but said he would not "feehurt" if the Senate wanted to make some changes.

Industry spokesmen and chamber of commerce representatives told the committee the bill would drive business away from Texas. "Our customers," said one company man, "will not pay a premium for a made in Texas label."

Others complained that H. B. 7 not only would tax the same groups that have been hit before, but would hit some from several directions at once.

Governor Daniel's reply to those arguments is that business should bear a portion of the tax burden to keep from dumping it all "on the family budget," as in a general sales tax.

HARD GOING

Governor Daniel's abandoned property bill, killed during the regular session, made it back to the House floor, but only after a committee had attached crippling amendments.

As introduced, the bill would have allowed the state to take over property or bank accounts unclaimed for seven years. Committee changed the waiting period to 15 years. This cut the estimated first-year take from $20,000,000 to $3,000,000.

This is one of the bills recommended by the governor to pay off the $65,000,000 deficit that accumulated during the 1958-59 biennium.

House Taxation Committee killed outright Rep. Jerry Sadler's proposal to levy a one percent gross receipts tax on manufactured goods.

THUMBS DOWN ON THESE

Governor Daniel vetoed nine of the some 50 bills passed during the regular session.

Among these was the "de no vo" bill which would have provided for an entirely new trial when decisions of state agencies were appealed to the courts. Governor Daniel said it would have disrupted oil and gas conservations procedures of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Also turned down was a bill to create a Fort Bend County water district. Governor Daniel said it was in conflict with state-wide water planning. Rep. Jimmy Day of Brookshire, sponsor, made a critical speech on the House floor, contending the governor had signed a bill just like that one two years ago.

Another vetoed bill would have provided for repayment to persons who have paid fines or served sentences for crimes of which they were not guilty. Governor said the intent was good, but with no limitations in the bill, the taxpayers had no protection.

ONE SOLUTION

Many observers believe that much of the current legislative trouble — the slow start, delays, bickering between members and last-minute do or die legislation — would not happen if the office of Speaker of the House were an elective post.

Certainly this would eliminate the factions that exist in the Lower House.

Evidence of the desirability of such a plan is found in the office of the Lieutenant Governor, who performs identical functions in the Senate. Both officers have apartments in the Capitol Building, but only the Lieutenant Governor is elected by the people.

Selection of the House Speaker is made by the House members themselves. This delays the start of nearly every session. Furthermore it provokes many bitter battles, divides the House, and creates deep wounds that never heal. Also, much time is wasted during sessions by various groups campaigning for the Speakership for the session that still is two years away.

The real loser in the battle is the public and they have no choice in the matter, as things stand now.

Demands for making the post an elective one would have to come from the people, as there is considerable feeling among public officials against the idea of elective offices.

OF MOTES AND BEAMS

A resolution to add to the lobby expense reporting law brought on House debate as to who's holier than who.

Reps. Zeke Zbrank of Daisetta and Don Kennard of Fort Worth proposed requiring lobbyists to report cost of transporting legislators. It was a jibe at several senators who recently flew to Tennessee in a gas company plane.

Rep. Jerry Sadler of Percilla reminded the House that House members had in previous sessions gone in droves on various lobby-arranged flights. He made the suggestion of Biblical origin, that the House "get the beam out of its eye before we try to get the mote out of a brother's eye."

House voted 71-52 with Rep. R. H. Cory's (Victoria) suggestion of "not meddling in the Senate's affairs."

STUDENT FEES DEBATED

House members considered a bill to require students in state-supported colleges to pay an activity fee of up to $30 a semester.

Fee would cover such things as health services, parking privileges, tickets to athletic and cultural events, book rentals, subscription to campus publications, etc.

Students now pay about $12 less on a voluntary basis.

Rep. W. S. Healy Jr. of Paducah, sponsor, said all the college presidents favored the bill.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

Each year thousands of people end up owing Uncle Sam money after April 15, on their income taxes for the year before. Some of these simply forget to send in their check for the taxes. Others misfigure the tax. Still others take the option of having the government figure their tax and send them a bill.

If you owe Uncle Sam money you will do yourself a favor by promptly sending a check when you receive your bill. The provisions of the law are very strict and the Revenue Officers must, by law, take prompt and orderly steps to collect taxes due. It's a lot easier to go and borrow the money or make some other arrangement than to try to delay collection by the government. Unfortunately, quite a few taxpayer have their salary levied on or their property seized and sold when they try to delay paying. Internal Revenue makes a reasonable effort to collect before seizure and sale but it is up to you to make more than a reasonable effort. It can save you a lot of trouble and embarrassment.

Weddings Not What They Used To Be!

The American bride sweeps down the aisle with all the self-satisfaction of a modern Diana returning from the hunt with a stag slung over her shoulder.

But this spring ritual wasn't always the victory celebration of the female. And everything about the wedding—including the word itself—is designed to remind her that she once was, at best, a marketable commodity—and at worst, fair game for any strong-armed marauder.

The best man, for example, there for the trip home, after visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sheffield and Mike in Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Harden of Fort Worth spent the weekend with the A. L. Kings and returned home Sunday, taking Barbara and Carol, who had spent 10 days with their grandparents.

Sunday guests with Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hellman were Mr. and Mrs. John Fulbright and boys of Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. Hilary Rutherford of Brownwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Boss Estes and grandson, Mike, went to Lubbock last Thursday and visited to Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Reeves and family. The were accompanied by Mrs. J. O. Harkey, who will visit in the Reeves home enroute home to Los Angeles, Calif.

Mrs. Claud Box took Mrs. Marshall Campbell and Johnny Pat to their home in Eastland last Wednesday and spent the night.

Mrs. George Rutherford reports her daughter, Mrs. Wagie Filippans of San Angelo, who recently had surgery, is doing nicely and thanks everyone for the nice cards and kindnesses received during her illness.

The Straughan family are especially grateful for the wonderful meal served at the Community Center, when the family attended memorial services for Mr. Straughan.

Bobbie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Rehm, is home for the summer, after completing work on her degree.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Straughan of College Station, spent the weekend with home folks and attended funeral services for his grandfather. Morris is attending A & M College and is listed among the Distinguished Students.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee McMillan visited in the Harold Straughan home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Steward were Saturday supper guests with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pearson and boys at Eola.

Sony Steward is spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Pat Patterson at Irving.

Jerry and Nikki Johnson spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Arnold and Meri Jan at Midwest City, Okla. Enroute home they spent Saturday night with their mother, Mrs. Johnson, in Fort Worth.

is believed to be a relic of the days when a man simply carried off a girl who had wandered too far from home. The husband-to-be usually brought along a muscular friend to fight off pursuers, according to the World Book Encyclopedia.

The bridegroom had to hide out for a while until the girl's family got tired of searching for them. This was the beginning of the honeymoon.

Of course, these tactics didn't foster togetherness—and may have started the continuing battle between a husband and his mother-in-law.

The practice of buying a wife left a girl with fewer bruises. But it didn't do much more for her pride, especially when some African tribes thought she was worth one ox.

The betrothal of children was common among early Anglo-Saxons. The bridegroom's pledge of marriage was accompanied by a "wed"—security for the purchase price of the bride. From this comes our word "wedding."

"Giving the bride away" merely represents the time when the father delivered his daughter to her fiancé, who paid up.

Among some modern tribes, however, notions of romance have persuaded the father to renounce his loot, and the bride gets the traditional gifts.

Summer Traffic Toll Might Reach 650 Deaths Unless...

Austin — J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, warned Texans today that increased travel during the peak vacation months of June, July and August could — on the basis of past records — bring a traffic toll of more than 650 deaths and 31,000 injuries.

"This, of course, does not have to happen," Musick said. "The size of the actual toll will depend on how many drivers heed or fail to heed a few common sense rules that could save their lives and the lives of their friends and neighbors."

Musick emphasized several rules that will assure vacationers of a much higher degree of safety in their travels, they are:

1. Have a complete service check on the car; brakes, tires, steering, lights and windshield wipers.
2. Be extra careful on strange roads.
3. Hold your speed to 60 mph or below on the open road. Read and heed traffic warning signs and signals.
4. Put the time of arrival at your destination last in importance and your safe arrival first.
5. Don't drive too long, let someone else drive, or get off the road and take a nap.
6. Watch for pedestrians and animals along the highway.
7. Remember, you are on vacation, so be patient and courteous; streets and highways are no place for irritable drivers.

Mrs. Frances Everett spent the weekend in Abilene with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Everett and girls. Other visitors in the Everett home were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Everett and Jayne of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Hildegard Everett of Eastland.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Wells and family and Mrs. Oneita Curtis of Coleman, were weekend visitors in Odessa with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Talley and family.

Jimmy Arnold of Odessa visited Saturday and Sunday with Don Davis. Jimmy was a former room mate of Don's at McMurry College.

Our WASHINGTON Letter

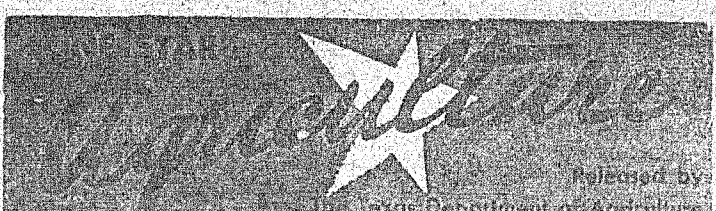

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

IS THE U. S. PRICING itself out of business? That question is being asked over and over, even as Labor leaders are pressuring Congress to increase the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour and an expansion of coverage. They theorize that by upping the minimum, the general wage levels are pushed upward. Moreover, they contend that by forcing minimums upward in the south, where production costs are less, less business will be attracted in that direction.

THE SIMPLE FACT IS that due to high costs of production, more and more American manufacturers are moving their plants to foreign countries where wages are lower. The National Cash Register is doing it. Tile and brick makers are doing it, with some going into Mexico. Most of the tile now used in Houston is imported from American-owned plants south of the border.

An Illinois company has a wage cost of $2.90 per hour, making eight - penny nails which sell for $9.80 per 100 pounds in carload lots. Similar nails from a German plant, with a wage level of 90 cents, are now delivered in Illinois for $3.32.

Take barbed wire. Last year more than one half of the barbed wire sold in this country was imported. A jobber in Dayton can buy a ton of barbed wire made in Germany for 25

FARMERS BEWARE OF ILLEGAL SEED HUCKSTERS

The springtime peddlers of "bargain basement" seed are again at work trying to dupe unwary Texas farmers into the purchase of their illegal and doubtful wares.

Texas Department of Agriculture inspectors are tracking down all leads into operations of fly-by-night seed hucksters reportedly operating within the state whose misrepresented seed is a potential menace to our farmers.

Under the state's agricultural laws, all field seed offered for sale in Texas must bear a Texas Tested Seed Tag regardless of where the seed comes from. This tag gives required information as to the value and qualities of the seed and the name and address of the person or grower offering it for sale. The exception is an individual farmer's seed production when not advertised outside his home county nor transferred by common carrier.

The seed salesman in question are operating in violation of the law by offering unregulated seed for sale in Texas. These salesmen often operate as truckers with stock samples from which the unwary farmer may book for future delivery. The unregulated seed, which they actually deliver could be below official tolerance levels in fertility and purity and also contain a harmful percentage of noxious weed seed capable of contaminating good farm land. As any farmer knows, contamination of good land by such hard-to-eradicate weeds is worse than a plague of grasshoppers.

Although farmers should apply the same precaution in buying any planting seed, the major concern at present is for small grain seed for fall planting now being offered for sale. Very often the prospective buyer is told that the seed being offered is registered or certified in another state. No matter where the seed originates it must have a Texas Tested Seed label in addition to the out-of-state registered or certified tag to be legal.

The best buy for any Texas farmer, in the long run, is seed which has been tested and tagged with the official Texas Tested Seed label.

4-H Clubs Contribute Their Share Of Peak Milk Production

June is designated as Dairy Month. The reason is that during this 30-day period production of milk, cheese, and butter reaches its peak.

Throughout the state 4-H dairy projects are contributing their share to the over-all peak production month. More than three-quarters of a million 4-H Club members across the nation are engaged in two specific dairy award programs.

Some of the boys and girls are raising their own dairy animals under the guidance of Extension Service specialists and county agents. They are learning about production, sanitation, marketing and showmanship. Another group is specializing in dairy foods demonstration, learning for themselves and then showing others why and how dairy products are essential to a balanced diet and good health.

A total of 12 college scholarships will be presented to the nation's top winners to be announced next fall during the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Other awards include expense-paid trips to the congress, wrist watches and gold-filled medals.

The Oliver Corporation, Chicago, will again provide 4-H awards for the dairy animal project winners, while Carnation Company, Los Angeles, will present awards to the dairy foods demonstration winners.

Both programs are under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

less than similar wire made in nearby Cleveland, where wages are three times as high.

A typewriter concern reports that it has identical plants in Germany and the U. S. It pays $2.25 an hour to workers in the American plant, less than 80 cents to its workers in Germany.

And so it goes clear across the board. Last year 169 American plants moved to Puerto Rico, attracted by lower wage rates and tax advantages.

But despite this trend, the steel workers are demanding increased wages, and there may be a strike! Four years ago the U. S. was exporting more than four times as many autos as it was importing. Now imports are running four times exports.

JUNE DAIRY MONTH: RECOGNITION OF A VITAL INDUSTRY

This is dairy month, the time of year when we pay tribute to what is perhaps our most vital farm industry because of its essential health-giving products. As the saying goes, milk is nature's most nearly perfect food. To help us to remember that it is dairy month and to make us more conscious of our constant need of milk, here are some interesting facts about milk and milk products.

There are more than 200 nutrients in milk. Considering its cost per pound, milk offers more food for the money than any other food material available. There is enough energy provided by one glass of milk to: play 9 holes of golf, clean house for two hours, walk one mile, sew for two hours, or climb 186 stairs.

The record high of almost 60 billion quarts of milk produced in 1957 was enough to fill a river more than 3,000 miles long, 40 feet wide and 3 feet deep. The river would stretch from Boston on the east to San Francisco on the west coast. Square quart milk bottles filled with this amount of milk and placed side by side would form a band around the world 140 times, and these same bottles, stacked one on top of the other, would reach to the moon thirty times. The fast-growing milk product, sales-wise, in the U. S. is cottage cheese. Consumption of the popular low-calorie, high-value food increased by 80 percent from 2.9 lbs. per capita in 1947 to 5.2 lbs. in 1957.

There are some 400 cheeses recognized by name today in spite of its widespread use, cheese was not prepared commercially until about 100 years ago. It takes 10 quarts of milk to make one pound of cheese. In other words, 20 pounds of milk provide a single pound of cheese. Finished cheese contains a large proportion of the milk proteins, the minerals, the fat, and the fat-soluble vitamins found in the milk from which it is made. Per capita consumption of cheese in the United States has risen from 4.7 pounds per person in 1925 to nearly 8 pounds in 1958.

Ice cream making dates back to about the first century A. D. when Nero sent slaves to the mountain tops for the required snow and ice. Commercial production dates back to 1851 in Baltimore by the hand-cranked freezer invented in 1846 by a woman, Nancy Johnson.

Butter has been churned for thousands of years as a home-made product. The first butter creamery established in the United States began operation in 1848 at Goshen, New York. From that inauspicious beginning, the butter industry spread across the nation to become a vital part of dairying.

Dairying is the greatest single source of farm income in the nation. About 20 cents of each dollar of cash receipts from farm products comes from dairying. In other words, one-fifth of the nation's agricultural income is from dairying.

Milk Prices Rise Only 20 Percent In 10 Year Period

Can you think of any food that has gone up so little as milk since the war?

Average price for a quart of milk is only about 20 percent higher now than 10 years ago, says the Agricultural Marketing Service.

However, the milk you're buying now is better than the milk you bought before the war. It's cleaner, safer to use, consistently tastes good and keeps longer.

Also, today's milk is pasteurized, homogenized and frequently has vitamin D added.

Better breeding and management of dairy herds has enabled dairymen to keep the costs of milk fairly stable, says the Texas Extension Service dairy husbandmen.

Letter From Billy Singleton

A recent letter from Billy W. Singleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Singleton of Santa Anna, gives some pointers on Germany. Billy is with the U. S. Army, stationed at Mantelth Barracks in Fuerth, Germany.

Singleton states he has found the people of Germany to be very nice and friendly. Most of them are proud to have American troops in their country. Germany has recovered considerably from the war, according to Singleton. They have modern buildings and wonderful housing projects, with modern shopping centers.

Stating they use the term "Marks" as a medium of exchange, compared to values in America, items of value are very reasonable. Four marks are equal to one dollar. He said a $650 television set in America would sell for 2,600 marks in Germany.

Singleton said if anyone had the opportunity to visit Europe, it would be a wonderful trip.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

According to the amount of income tax we pay, our economy in the northern half of Texas is growing at the rate of 4 percent per year. Most of us wish that our own personal economy would grow much faster. One way to make it grow faster is to read your instructions and save on your tax dollars. If you want the government to have the money you can loan Uncle Sam the money you save on your taxes by buying U. S. Savings Bonds and drawing interest off of Uncle to help your personal economy grow. At any rate it always is a good idea to know more about the taxes on your business. It always saves money and even if you find you owe more you save trouble with the tax men and that is always a worthwhile saving.

Comment from the Capital -

WHAT IS IT?

by Van Neff

Is it good . . . or is it bad? Does it do the job . . . or does it fall far short?

We're talking, of course, about the Kennedy-Ervin "Labor Reform" bill that the Senate has just passed and that the House of Representatives is now considering. Senator Kennedy, a well-intentioned man who sponsored the bill to reform the evils uncovered by the McClellan Committee, calls his draft "a solid, responsible labor-management reform bill."

Some important people, however, are in disagreement with his appraisal.

Senator Hickenlooper says of the bill, "It has a fairly small amount of good in it."

Senator McClellan, who has been knee-deep in the investigations and knows what is necessary, says "very deficient."

Senator Goldwater sums it up with, "A flea bite to a bull elephant!"

They are not pleased with it. Yet it has been passed by the Senate.

We all realize that the McClellan Committee uncovered vicious racketeering in unions, crooks who hid behind the Fifth Amendment, amazing stories of union gangsters who will stop at nothing to achieve their goal of unionism at any price! Under this guise, unionism at any price, unscrupulous unionists are building their own evil power, feathering their own nests.

Obviously, there is a need for strong, effective labor reform. The answer, unfortunately, is not the Kennedy-Ervin bill. There is not one fully effective measure of reform in this bill that actually would put a stop to the evils disclosed by the investigations. Instead, there is a long list of concessions that serve to strengthen unions, not reform them.

There is no provision for the protection of the small business-man who has given his employees every possible benefit, and, based on the whim of some union official, overnight finds himself facing economic ruin from an unfair picket line thrown around his shop.

Unions still are allowed to propagandize without limitation. They can still use union dues to back candidates who will, in turn, back their measures! But what about the small business man? He can hardly do a thing, for in the eyes of union bosses, it will be construed as constituting an "influence" on his employees' right to unionize. According to the new bill, the employer must report any costs, even of activities wholly legal and permissible.

The bill does nothing about such serious evils as secondary boycotts and blackmail picketing. These, they leave for some future bill - someday! - maybe!

We cannot settle for half-way reform. The people need - and demand! - strong legislation.

The Senate, we realize, has passed the bill. Now it goes to the House of Representatives - men who are very close to our problems! It is up to the House to see that this bill is revised to provide real protection for workers, employers and the community against union racketeering.

The Senate failed, now we look to the House to do the job.

The Master Eye

In our case history we usually inquire of the patient whether he is right or left handed. We are especially interested in the answers to this question if the patient happens to be a child. Frequently the patient or parents' response is "Whatta ya need to know THAT for?" And this type of response tells us that this patient has in the past probably been accustomed only to the "quickie" type eye examination. There are usually many fine points of examination and diagnosis skipped over in this type of examination and this is just one of them. Avoid that kind of examination.

The desirability of knowing which hand is used by preference is related to our need to know which is the dominant or "master" eye. Most conscientious practitioners report to the school authorities on the visual conditions of the student including which eye they find to be dominant. Ordinarily a right handed person is also right eyed and right footed — "right side dominant." When a person is, for instance, right handed but left eyed we classify him as having "crossed dominance."

In years past some teachers and schools habitually tried to change a normally left handed child over to right handedness for, I suppose, the sake of uniformity. This resulted in many normally left side dominant children doing many things in to them, an abnormal manner. School and teachers no longer practice this alteration of natural hand preference but many parents do. They try to change the child to right handedness before the age when trained educators who know better take over.

While authorities recognize that much research remains to be done on the effects of crossed dominance, certain facts seem evident... that "cross" dominance is related to nervous instabilities in children, to inaccuracy in golf, tennis, baseball, marksmanship... in general it is tied up with poor muscular coordination. Many authorities feel that speech defects, especially stuttering, and crossed dominance go hand-in-hand. It has been demonstrated that there is a relationship between crossed dominance and reading disabilities. Mirror writing tendencies are believed to be connected with some type of confusion in eye-hand dominance.

Authorities conclude that the dominant eye is significantly related to various characteristics of human behavior. Although it is not at present known exactly how many areas there are in which knowledge of the dominant eye may be important, it deserves far more consideration than it has ever been given.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M. D. Commissioner of Health.

It's sad but oh-so-true: the hay fever season lasts all year in Texas. The reason: the wide range of climate and soil conditions which produce an assortment of offending flora—trees and shrubs and grasses. This might be some consolation, though: the state is running generally behind schedule in the rain department. And during dry weather pollen production goes into a slump.

Ragweed pollen is still the biggest enemy of the watery-eyed set, but mountain cedar, scrub elm, and a variety of other plants and grasses also cause their share of sneezing misery.

From mid-winter until early spring, people from Dallas southward are affected by the pollen of cedar, a profusely growing tree with a bad habit of pollinating like it was going to be banned tomorrow.

Fall hay fever sufferers probably blame for their troubles. A late-summer pollinator, the elm is common over most of the state, but it is particularly profuse in the bottomlands of the Guadalupe and Trinity Rivers. The mesquite causes minor allergic trouble in West Texas during May, June and July. Cottonwoods and poplars are pesky sources of red eyes and congested noses wherever they are found.

Grass hay fever is possible through spring, summer and fall over most of Texas, and in the winter in the Rio Grande Valley. Bermuda grass is the chief offender. Rhodes grass is a potential hay fever factor in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Ragweed pollen is now almost as abundant at Dallas and Houston as in the north central states. It is a serious summer and fall problem as far west as San Antonio and all along the Gulf Coast to Brownsville.

In arid parts of Central and West Texas, Russian thistle is a leading cause of inhaled allergies. Other local causes are sugar beets and Palmer's amaranth. Sage pollen is a potential factor in West Texas. Sand sagebrush, a dominant native plant in the Panhandle, is suspect as a trouble maker.

How to get relief from hay fever? A sea voyage during "your" season would do it. So would staying in an air-filtered room. But since neither action is practical you'll just have to sneeze and wipe unless you check with your doctor about the best method of treatment in your particular case.

Traffic Deaths On The Increase On Texas Highways

Austin—The Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety warned today a "dramatic upward trend" in Texas traffic deaths has been established this year even before the heavy summer-holiday travel season.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr. said unless something happens to change the trend, it could mean that an all-time record of traffic deaths could be in the making for 1959.

He said the death trend appears to be leveling off at about 10 percent above 1958, when 2,342 traffic victims were counted, and pointed out this could mean 233 additional deaths this year if the pace is maintained.

"With travel up an estimated three percent this year, and with the Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and the Christmas holidays yet to come, this could mean we're driving for an all-time high in motor-cides on the streets and highways of Texas," Garrison said.

Garrison reported that as of Friday noon, May 29, at least 833 persons were killed in traffic, compared with 753 during the same period of 1958—an increase of 11 per cent.

"This means 80 more lives were lost in traffic violence," he said. "We appeal to every driver to observe these cold, hard statistics and realize those summer trips are potentially more dangerous this year than last."

"We also must realize it is extremely likely that one of the biggest killers on the long, hot summer road is fatigue—an insidious demon that can attack even those of us who observe all the other known safe-driving practices."

"Our statistics cannot reflect how many traffic deaths are caused by fatigue, only that the death car was on the wrong side of the road, ran off the road, or rammed into a slower-moving vehicle. They cannot tell us that the driver was asleep, or nodded at the wrong split second.

"Don't let your vacation enthusiasm cause you to drive when you should be resting. Don't push yourself to make up for lost time. Don't get caught napping at the wheel."

WILD BABIES NEED TO STAY WITH MOTHERS

Austin — This is the time of year when young wildlife is on the prowl. A warning against capturing this wildlife has just been issued by the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission. He says it not only is illegal to confine wildlife without a permit, but it also is dangerous, from the standpoint of personal safety.

He points out that there are a few instances where injured young can be saved by a temporary treatment, but that generally babies of the woods are far better off if left in their own environment.

He suggests if you know of a distress case you notify your game warden as soon as possible. He can make proper arrangements and see that the animals are cared for.

The director also warned against disturbing bird nests, or even the frightening of parent birds from their nests. He says that children should be instructed not to molest baby birds or eggs in any way.

Finding shelter in the loft of an old building, they decided in their plight, to ask God's help to endure whatever might await them. The corporal, clasping his Bible began praying.

Heavy footsteps were heard on the stairs, and soon the door was being opened. They heard a few angry words spoken in another language. Then all was quiet, except for the corporal's voice still engaged in prayer. Presently, the door was quietly closed, and the sound of footsteps died away. That night the soldiers safely reached their comrades.

Probably unwittingly, these soldiers were carrying out the teaching of Jesus: "Always pray and never lose heart." Of course, it is not always true that men's lives have been spared by praying in the midst of trial and difficulty.

Nevertheless, Christians will continue to pray for themselves and for others. They pray in faith and assurance that their prayers will be answered, that understanding and tolerance may prevail among men.

PRAYER:

Hear our prayer, O God, for the coming of Thy kingdom on earth. We commit ourselves afresh to Thee, asking that we may become channels of Thy grace. Grant this day to those in perplexity. In Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

God helping me, I will make prayer my vital breath and never lose heart.

—Thomas Watson (Scotland)

VALUE OF COTTON INSECT CONTROL

Without modern chemicals to combat cotton insects, the Texas farmer would pay an annual toll to these pests amounting to almost one pound of seed cotton for every three pounds produced.

That figure represents an "average" loss to insects over a 20-year period. In some years, farmers would have given up half their crop to insect infestations, and in a few cases, three-fourths of their production, according to research studies.

The U. S. Research Laboratory at Waco has been studying the cotton pest problem since the late 1930's. It shows an average annual seed cotton yield of 1,049 pounds per acre from treated test plots. This is 309 pounds, or 42 percent, more cotton than the average annual production on untreated plots.

Insecticides are becoming more effective, too. The advent of modern organic insecticides have resulted in yield gains of 53 percent. Before 1954, when farmers depended upon inorganic insecticides, such as arsenicals and sulphur, yield increases amounted to about 34 percent annually.

Highest cotton production on treated plots and the greatest increase over untreated plots occurred in the 1955 tests. Treated cotton produced 1,461 pounds of seed cotton per acre as compared with only 773 pounds on untreated plots. The greatest percent increase was in 1946 when 403 pounds per acre were harvested from untreated plots and 1,034 were gathered from treated land. The percentage gain attributed to insect control was a whopping 156.6 percent.

The most troublesome pests during the years of research have been the boll weevil and bollworm. Until the mid-1940's, the cotton aphid was a big factor in yield losses but it has been losing its "punch" in recent years. The cotton fleahopper is erratic — causing heavy damage in some years and then practically disappearing in others.

The cotton leafworm and desert spider mite do not usually develop to proportions that can influence crop production.

In view of the proven importance of an insect control program, Texas farmers are urged to contact their local agricultural agents for aid in developing an efficient schedule of field treatment.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

District Director Ellis Campbell, Jr., recently gave a well deserved pat on the head to several hundred voluntary public servants. These were the newspaper editors and the radio and TV managers. According to Campbell's commendation the news editors and others have saved millions for our Texas taxpayers by emphasizing the benefits due the taxpayer. Taxpayers who read their tax instructions (as advised by your paper) prepare a correct tax return paying the tax they owe as well as taking all their deductions. Taxes are necessary but it is awfully important that we each pay our fair share.

Fire Destroys Compressor At Cochran Grocery

An early morning fire last Thursday, June 11th at about 3:00 a. m. destroyed the compressor and motor on the cooling unit at the Cochran Grocery, next door to the post office.

The fire was discovered by the night watchman, and quick action by the fire department saved the building and contents from certain destruction. Only a small hole was burned in the floor and a part of the side of the cooler was burned. The entire compressor unit had to be replaced.

This happened during the time when a heavy thunder and lightning storm was in progress.

A number of other motors over town have suffered considerable damage during the last few days, likely as a result of the weather.

The News office had one big motor to burn out, and we also had one to burn out at our home. R. R. Bozeman, electrician, said his shop was completely over-run with motors that have been burned out during recent weather storms.

Christian Revival Closed Friday

The revival meeting at the First Christian Church closed Friday night of last week. It was termed a great success. Evangelist Norman C. Connors of Abilene, preached the series. He was assisted by the pastor, Alvin Busby.

During the six nights of services, six came for baptism. The pastor did the baptizing Sunday night.

Charles Bengé was elected Sunday School Superintendent; Clifford Stephenson, assistant; Buddy Wylie was retained as Secretary and Treasurer. Doug Moore has been the Superintendent for a number of years, but urged a change.

During the revival Mrs. Jasper McClellan played the piano. Mrs. Don Pritchard led the singing.

Raymond Clark, a recent convert, is representing the church at a camp of young people this week at Camp Christian on Lake Brownwood. The pastor took him to the camp. He will return to his home Saturday.
