"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

J. T. Garrett to Head Lions Club

At the annual election of officers Tuesday J. T. Garrett was elected President of the Lions Club for another year.

Mr. Garrett is a charter member of the Club and has served as Secretary and Treasurer of the Club the greater portion of the time since it was organized twelve years ago.

Other officers were elected as follows: M. A. Edwards, first vice president, J. R. Lock, second vice president, L. J. Smith, Lion Tamer, Dr. R. R. Lovelady, tail-twister, Emmett Day, Secretary-treasurer, and Fred W. Turner and J. C. Scarborough directors.

THIS WEEK'S PAPER

The editor and family have exerted our very best efforts this week to get every store in town to carry an advertisement announcing the Trades Day next Tuesday, offering encouragement and a little inducement to the public to come to Santa Anna for our Trades Day program.

Proud to say that most of the merchants are cooperating and several of them have purchased space in this paper to tell you of their merchandise and invite you to Santa Anna. Some, of course, do not see fit to cooperate.

In behalf of those who are cooperating by using advertising space in this paper, we will appreciate it if you will give them the benefit of your business when in town. A merchant who has good values to offer and spends a portion of his income to tell you about it, is, in our opinion, entitled to first consideration, and personally speaking, we have always found better values in stores that advertise than we find in stores that do not advertise.

Stores will build a town, non-advertising stores will kill a town. Just what kind of a town do you want? If all the merchants in the town were just like you, what kind of a town would your town be?

We certainly appreciate the nice lineage of advertising in this paper, and are printing several extra copies for free distribution to help our customers carry their messages to the people.

The Santa Anna News is glad to cooperate with the other business places in town in any legitimate move for progress and development, and we hope never to be found short in our efforts. A town where all the merchants did their part toward betterment and trying to bring more trade to town would soon grow out of proportion in this country, and become the leading trade center in the southwest, but that place will never be found, for there are too many people in the mercantile business who have missed their calling and will never wake up to discover it.

To Celebrate 79th Birthday

Mr. C. M. Henderson, father of several good friends to this editor, paid us a call Saturday afternoon, the main purpose of his visit being to extend the editor an invitation to his birthday party Sunday, June 16th.

We thank Mr. Henderson very kindly for remembering us and extending to us an invitation to join in the celebration of his 79th birthday, where a number of his children, their families and a few other friends will meet to make merry and spend a pleasant day, and promise that, unless we are called out of the county on some important mission, we will be there in person and a portion of the pleasures will be ours to enjoy.

Leon Bartlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ed Bartlett, a student in Simmons University at Abilene was among the members of the Glee band who were chosen to make the trip to Europe. The band will sail from New York June 19 and will tour several European countries and give concerts before returning home in the fall.

T. H. Upson was in Fort Worth on business last week.

Prospects Bright For Good Crops

There is something doing in Santa Anna all the time. Last week was one of the busiest weeks this office has experienced this year, due in part to the closing of the Santa Anna Schools, and this week has been another good one, due in part to the Trades Day events next Tuesday.

The main feature of the day next Tuesday will be a Cow and Calf Show. All types of cattle are expected to be on exhibit, and cash premiums will be offered for the better ones in both milk and beef type.

This should be an interesting show, since most of the scrub stock was discarded last year under the Government program, and especially so since the fine rains over the country, with plenty of grazing and a fine feed crop in prospect.

An average grain crop is now approaching the harvest, some have already started the reapers and binders. Small grain bids fair to bring profitable prices, livestock, more especially the food types, cattle, hogs, sheep and goats are selling higher than they have been in several years, and work stock is also demanding much better prices.

The Knap-Coleman Glass Company is now making those famous milk bottles again after being shut down several weeks for repairs. According to those who did the repair work the plant is now in better shape for production than it has ever been, which, coupled with the experience of the last year, the plant should turn out better ware and more profitable business in the future than it has in the past.

Reapers, binders, combines and threshing machines are being repaired and put into readiness for the harvest, and people are most too busy to stop. It looks like this country is making headway toward recovery, and all will welcome the day when it arrives.

We would like to repeat our former suggestions in regard to a general spring and early summer clean-up. School is now in vacation for several months, and several families are doing common labor, and a general clean-up campaign should be carried out very economically. Unless a weed cutting campaign is carried on, the weeds are soon going to be obnoxious throughout the town. The weeds are tender now, and would not be hard to cut, but later they will be tough and will not likely be cut this season.

Weeds, besides being unpleasant to look upon, are hibernation places for flies, mosquitoes and other pests; they are unsanitary and help to hold and create filth, thus they are unhealthy and should be destroyed. Chickens, cats, dogs and other things hide in weeds when sick, often die and thru flies, mosquitoes and other insects, disease is spread to other animals and fowls, and often times people are afflicted with diseases spread from animal and fowl life, such as undulant fever, malaria, and such contagious diseases.

It is very important that the weeds, tall grass and such growths be destroyed early, and the premises kept clean during the summer and fall months, and we do not hesitate to call attention of the public to such things, for we think that is all that will be necessary. This is just a reminder, and we hope it will be received and complied with in the same spirit it has been offered.

If you approve this suggestion start the movement on your premises and see how it spreads.

A. G. Weaver, permanent president of the Baylor University Class of 1935, was presented two degrees at the closing exercises of the University this week. A. G. is the son of Mrs. Burgess Weaver, and was co-valedictorian of the class of 1931 of the local high school. He has been one of the most prominent students in the University since he has been in Waco.

Brownlee Hunter returned home this week from Waco, where he is a student in Baylor University.

Supreme Court Kills Blue Eagle

The greater portion of the new deal program, fostered by President Roosevelt, was dealt a death blow Monday when the Supreme Court ruled the NRA unconstitutional.

The Frazier-Limpke moratorium law was also declared to be unconstitutional, as was one or two other measures of importance to the new deal program.

The AAA program was not affected, but all codes under the NRA met their Waterloo in the ruling of the court.

The administration is much perturbed and at a loss to know what method of procedure is best to pursue. A voluntary code system is being considered, and may be urged into effect.

The NRA codes, in our opinion, were intended for betterment, and in many instances have been beneficial, however some have undergone hardships trying to carry on under the code requirements. A code of fair prices and hours should be respected, but just how to go about arranging for such things is beyond our comprehension.

MMES. ALSUP ENTERTAIN

Mesdames Clarence and Russell Alsup entertained the members of the Christian Aid Society Monday afternoon at the Russell Alsup home. The affair proved to be one of the most delightful and elaborate affairs ever enjoyed by the Society.

Wild flowers were used profusely for decorations.

Mrs. C. F. Freeman conducted the devotions, which were followed by very interesting Bible and garden contests.

Tables were arranged to seat the twenty-four guests at a beautiful luncheon while games and stunts were in order in the yard. The tables were centered with dolls gorgeously dressed in the color scheme of pink and orchid. Each guest found a small gift at her place at the table.

Following the luncheon capsules were passed, and there was a great deal of laughter when the stunts enclosed were carried out.

The entire Society was saddened when the announcement was made that Mrs. Russell Alsup will move beyond Coleman soon. She has been one of the most prominent members of the organization, and her place will be hard to fill.

Douglass Home Destroyed By Fire

About one o'clock Tuesday afternoon the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Douglass, four miles southwest of town, was discovered to be on fire and a call was made to the Santa Anna Fire department for help.

Several firemen made the run in the new firetruck, and exerted their best efforts to extinguish the flames, but the blaze had razed the building too far to be brought under control and extinguished with one tank of water.

The new fire truck carries a large storage tank of water and a small fire outside the radius of the water mains can be put out but in this instance the fire had spread to such proportion that the water supply was insufficient to bring it under control and hold it.

Very little of the furnishings were saved. The building and most of the furniture were a total loss without insurance. The loss was estimated at $4,000.

MOST AGRICULTURAL IMPORTS ARE BELOW TEN YEAR AVERAGE

Imports of competitive agricultural products for the eight months, July 1, 1934, to March 1, 1935, were lower than the average for the same months of the previous 10 years in every case except feeds and sugar, according to a study made by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The figure shows that imports of fruits, excluding bananas, were 25 per cent below the 10 year average for the July 1 to March 1 period; vegetable oils and oil seeds, 14 per cent below the 10 year average; meats, 17 per cent below; vegetables, 51 per cent below; wool, 56 per cent below; dairy products, 61 per cent below; and eggs and egg products, 78 per cent below.

Sugar imports from July 1, 1934, to March 1, 1935, were 5 per cent above the 10 year average for these months and imports of feeds 186 per cent above. The most severe damage resulting from drought was to grain and forage crops. Drouth damage to the 1934 corn crop is estimated at about one billion bushels and to the wheat crop about 300 million bushels. Production of oats and barley was reduced about 50 per cent by the drouth.

Imports of wheat for domestic consumption from July 1, 1934, to March 1, 1935, were 9,511,000 bushels. About half of this amount was low-grade wheat for feed, and about half was durum wheat for seed and the manufacture of macaroni and similar products which require this particular kind of wheat. Production of durum wheat in 1934 in the United States was approximately one-tenth of average.

Corn imports for the eight-month period totaled 6,509,998 bushels, less than one per cent of the estimated loss due to drouth.

Noncompetitive imports, including coffee, tea, spices, cacao, rubber, and silk were about 99 per cent of the 10 year average.

Imitation may be the sincerest flattery but one of the biggest mistakes an individual can make is to try to copy some one else's personality. One's personality is distinctly his own and is his best asset. If the obvious faults, contrary to convention these of course should be corrected, but to try to change one's personality is a mistake. It makes one appear like an imitation. The plan for any man is to foster his traits and build his own personality about them.

Imitation may be the sincerest flattery but one of the biggest mistakes an individual can make is to try to copy some one else's personality. One's personality is distinctly his own and is his best asset. If the obvious faults, contrary to convention these of course should be corrected, but to try to change one's personality is a mistake. It makes one appear like an imitation. The plan for any man is to foster his traits and build his own personality about them.

ON TEXAS FARMS

Hansford county has gone in for concrete subirrigation tile in a big way this spring. Through an agreement with relief agencies labor has been furnished from the relief rolls for making and installing the tile while the farmers have furnished the cement and sand and have agreed to pay one-fourth of the produce from the sub-irrigated garden for the year 1935.

Twenty other gardens using 12,000 feet of tile have been sub-irrigated by farmers in this county working independently, making a total of 32,000 feet of tile which will sub-irrigate Hansford county garden, according to G. Lester Baykin, agricultural agent for the county.

Hemphill county tried out lath subirrigated gardens a few years ago finding them satisfactory but not very durable. Last year County Agricultural Agent H. M. Cantrell supervised the installation of tiled relief gardens which proved very successful. This year 16,000 feet of concrete tile have already been made and laid in the county.

MARSHALL: One hundred acres seeded with Bermuda and lespedeza in March 1934 on the farm of Web Rogers of Harrison county is furnishing excellent grazing for 75 dairy cows, according to G. M. Morris, county agricultural agent. Mr. Rogers thought that the dry weather in the summer of 1934 would cause the grass and clover to die out, but it is up to a good stand.

Fifteen acres of pasture land contoured in March 1934 by U. C. Lowry of Harrison county is also coming along fine. Lowry thinks the contours will help his upland pastures a great deal, according to the county agent.

The 1100 acre pasture of the Peterson brothers which was cleared and brushed, during 1933, with 5 acres seeded to white Dutch clover, black medic, Dallis grass, carpet grass, Bermuda grass and lespedeza, is also furnishing excellent pasture.

KERRVILLE: Forty-eight dollars was made recently by the Kerrville Home Demonstration Club at a sales day at which aprons, children's clothing, quilts and pillow protectors, home made bread, cakes, pies, jelly, native ferns and cacti were among the articles sold. All home demonstration clubs in the county contributed and cooperated in the sales and the proceeds were turned over to the county home demonstration council to help fill the budget of $162.25 for the year.

Another sales day will be held June 22, in connection with the wardrobe achievement day, according to Miss Frances Wilrey, Kerr county home demonstration agent. Each club will sponsor one event until the full amount called for in the budget has been raised.

PLAINVIEW: "It's easy to make rugs from the threads of burlap sacks," says Mrs. O. E. Faver of the Stoneback Home Demonstration Club, according to Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, Hale county home demonstration agent. "You pull three threads, twist them, and thread your needle. That's much quicker than cutting one-fourth inch strips of material to use. Good burrap sacks are plentiful and easy to dye. They do not drink the dye as woolen materials do, so this makes them cheaper."

Mrs. Faver has sent one of her burrap-hooked rugs to the Extension specialist in home industries for standardization.

Under told his subjects the other day that the one thing in the world he desired was peace. In view of the program of expansion being carried on in the German army and navy and air and submarine equipment we conclude that the present ruler of Germany desires peace so much that he is willing to fight for it.

In a good many instances the purchase of a tractor has shown a lack of horse sense.

Not long ago we attended the movie "Wagon Wheels" which told the story of an overland trip across the plains in prairie scooters. It was brought out in the picture that when traveling was favorable the train made as much as fifteen miles a day. The next day we read of the transcontinental airplane flight in which the same entire distance was covered in eleven hours and five minutes. The fliers stated that better time would have been made except for the fact that they ran into a storm in Colorado. The speed of the plane was 240 miles an hour. In other words the plane traveled as far in one hour as a wagon train would in sixteen days under the most favorable conditions.

NACOGDOCHES: A mattress cover of heavy material which will fasten at one end with snaps so that it may be removed and washed is being made by Zela Mae Johnson, Nacogdoches county bedroom improvement demonstrator, for her new 50 pound home made mattresses, home demonstration agent. The mattress was made at a demonstration at Zela Mae's home supervised by Miss Stokes.

In taking care of the mattress, Zela Mae expects to sun and beat it every sunny day for three weeks. After she begins using the mattress she will turn it each day when she makes her bed and sun and beat it every week when possible.

Every man likes to have a day of now and then in which he can do as he pleases. A day in which he is not at the beck and call of his business and every one else. As a rule the average man doesn't get much time on such a day, but that is just as he would have it. He doesn't want to do much, so appointments to keep, no routine. What a glorious feeling of freedom such a day gives.

The administration is not running the country to suit the United States Chamber of Commerce judging by the addresses made recently when that organization met in Washington. The present administration should not feel that any special distinction is derived from the fact that the National organization is not satisfied with the way things are being done since the records show that no administration has been successful in satisfying entirely the United States Chamber of Commerce.

What a picnic the manufacturers of Sen Sen would have had in years gone by if their advertising men had only gotten hold of this halitosis idea. For instance there would be the possibility of such alluring and compelling headlines as "Before Your Best Friends Tell You: Us: Sen Sen."

The best booster any community can have is a man who walks up to the counter on Saturday night and faces a pay roll. It is on such as these that communities are built.

No one can imagine what a toothache feels like until he has had a toothache and no one can imagine what it feels like to be without a job, without money, hungry and a family at home in need until he has been in that situation.

A friend tells us that he sent several chain letters with the hope that he might get back the $1500. To date he has received seventy cents and this he tells us is all he expects to get. He consoles himself with the thought that even with such a poor return he has fared better from the chain letter scheme than from any of the many other get rich quick schemes in which he has participated in the past twenty years.

It used to be that your neighbor watched you to see what time of night you got in and checked up regularly on your conduct. Now your neighbor watches you to see if you have turned in your car on a new model.

The processing tax is a tariff just as much as is the tariff that is levied at New York harbor or at any other port of entry. The difference is the processing tax is called by another name and its payment is not concealed as is the tariff on manufactured articles. It has been suggested that in as much as the manufacturers decide on whether a tariff shall be placed on certain manufactured articles as well as the amount of the tariff that the farmers and growers and producers be allowed to vote on whether or not a processing tax shall be levied as well as the amount of the tax.

Good judgment, good reasoning and common sense are by no means common.

Eleven states have laws placing the financial responsibility upon the city or county in which lynching occurs.

We may say a lot of hard things about him from the platform and direct legislation against him but the man who can create a pay roll is the type of genius this country needs and we shouldn't be too hard on him.

An administration can be changed at the whim of the people but the weather man stays on the job and continues to dish out the kind of weather that suits him regardless of its popularity or unpopularity.

It is said that the rings in trees afford an accurate record of the wet and dry years and show when growing conditions were good or otherwise. The large redwood trees in California noted as the oldest living things on earth furnish a record of this kind, that extends back three and four thousand years. The largest tree is the General Sherman. This tree is 32 1-2 feet in diameter and is between 3000 and 4000 years old. A slice of a redwood tree in a museum in Chicago has been marked to show at what stage in its growth Mohammed was born, the battle of Hastings, the year Charlemagne was crowned, and the discovery of America.

SOMETHING YOU CAN'T CAN

Most married folks would never cease To thank their lucky stars If they could preserve domestic peace By means of family jars. -Pathfinder.

Mrs. Claude Alvey, bedroom demonstrator of the White Chapel Home Demonstration Club, is making a tufted bedspread with the curtains to match. The combination is unusual and very attractive. The spread and curtains are made from cream colored unbleached domestic with the tufting design worked in the green thread. The same all-over design is being used on both spread and curtains and is much more effective than a spotted design would have been. Tufted curtains are quite new and are an attractive addition to Mrs. Alvey's bedroom.

Mrs. J. D. Gordon, bedroom demonstrator of the Oak Grove Demonstration Club, has fixed the floor to her bedroom using old lubricating oil mixed with an equal amount of turpentine. The floor was first cleaned with soap and then heavy sandpaper was used to smooth down any rough spots in the wood. If there are any wide cracks in the floor they can be filled in successfully with plastic wood, thus making the surface smooth and even. The oil mixture was then rubbed into the wood with a soft cloth and allowed to stand for an hour, after which the surplus oil was wiped off. Such treatment gives the floor a dull oak finish that is very attractive and easy to clean.

A Canadian farmer ordered a bathtub from Chicago. It was promptly shipped but went astray. On its arrival the farmer refused to accept it. "I ordered that there bathtub three months ago," he wrote, "and now winter is coming on and the bathing season is practically over. You can exchange it for a wood stove or keep it. I have no use for it."

Hugh Murrell of Shield was in Santa Anna Monday.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Let potatoes stand 15 minutes in hot water before baking and it will take half the usual time.

To clean ivory enameled furniture dampen a cloth in warm water and use ordinary baking soda as you would cleaning powder.

Add a little bluing to the boiling water to whiten clothes. Doughnuts will not absorb fat if 1-4 teaspoon ginger is added to dough.

If you want candles to last twice as long, try the following plan: Take each candle by the wick and give it a good coating of white varnish. Then put away for a day or two to harden. The varnish prevents the grease from running down and so preserves the life of the candle.

A few drops of turpentine on a woolen cloth will clean your shoes and a drop or two of lemon juice will give them a brilliant polish.

Be true to your teeth or they'll be false to you.

It always pays to keep danger away.

Presbyterian Church

We are still inviting you to come to church. It will do you good. Let us give God part of our time. You can do that by attending church, if you come in the right spirit.

There will be no preaching Sunday evening as the pastor will be out of town. May we have a good attendance Sunday morning.

S. D. Harper left Sunday for Eldorado where he is visiting in the S. D. Harper, Jr. home.

Tom Johnson of Rockwood visited in Santa Anna Sunday.

A news item from the office of John Tarleton College at Stephenville states that John David Harper of Santa Anna has been recommended for the Tarleton "T" in track for 1934-35.

Man criticizes woman for her extravagance, but she never wastes two dollars worth of shotgun shells in order to get a twenty-five cent rabbit.

Nor goes into a restaurant and buys a 25 cent meal and gives the waitress a twenty-five cent tip because he smiled at her.

Nor uses twenty gallons of gasoline and pays a twenty-five dollar boat hire to get where the fish aren't.

Good Taste Today By EMILY POST Author of "Etiquette," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc. MISCELLANEOUS

DEAR Mrs. Post: I like tinted nail polish and my husband doesn't. He argues that such polish is decidedly opposed to good taste. We have gradually gotten into an argument about this, which is becoming irritating out of all proportion to its trifling subject, and we have decided to ask you to decide whether tinted nails are anything for a husband to grow rabid about?

Answer: Since the supposition of a husband's growing rabid over nail polish is not quite believable, I'm not quite sure whether this letter is intended to be answered seriously or to be taken as a jest. However, supposing the question to be genuine, I would say that nails carefully manicured and slightly tinted are certainly in good taste. But glittered or silvered or deeply colored ones are something else again. In fact, those deepest red ones, which look as though the nail had been torn off and the finger ends left bleeding, are revolting to all except the few who have become inured to the shock of them. As a matter of fact, I doubt very much if a man can be found who does not hate them.

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening my employer invited me to go home to supper with him and his family, so that afterwards we could finish some work. His wife and young daughter were extremely pleasant and hospitable, but never asked me to remove my hat. I went to the table with it on and worked for several hours after the meal in the same discomfort. Is it necessary to wait until the hostess says something?

Answer: Your employer's wife might perhaps have asked you if you would like to take off your hat. But I imagine that she thought you preferred to keep it on, since you did not take it off before going into the dining room. Whenever you go to anyone's house for an evening meal and are wearing a day dress and hat, you take off the hat only if you want to. Asking anyone to take off hat or gloves is rarely if ever heard in the present day. A hostess sometimes says to a friend who continues to sit in a heavy coat, "Don't you want to take your coat off?" This is not a phrase of hospitality so much as an exclamation made because she feels that her guest is absent-mindedly unaware of her own discomfort.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPERS, JR.

Austin.—Happy, indeed, must have been the reflections of the governor of a state which has a million citizens on relief rolls, depending for the bread of life upon a government dole, as he spoke to a huge throng of merry-makers last weekend at Yoakum.

The occasion was the eighth annual "Tom-Tom" celebration, honoring the tomato, once the despised "love-apple" of our grandfathers, which they regarded as an ornamental, but inedible garden plant.

Yoakum people discovered more practical use for the tomato, and back of their carnival event lies one of the most interesting and inspiring stories in the modern history of Texas.

In 1925, following a disastrous drouth in South Central Texas, community leaders in Yoakum, hustling little city of 5655 souls situated on the border of Lavaca and DeWitt counties, 118 miles southeast of Austin, decided to do something about the situation. Cotton and feed crops were burned completely up, and there were no other important crops. O. R. Davis, then president of the Chamber of Commerce, experienced in whole sale marketing of vegetables, made a study of the Yoakum trade territory, and decided that tomatoes were the answer. An expert was hired, with the Chamber of Commerce and business men of the community co-operating, and intensive instruction was given interested farmers in growing, harvesting and marketing tomatoes for early spring trade. Phillip Welhausen, Yoakum banker, financed the experimental crop during the first year, which totaled 13 carloads, grown on 40 experimental acres.

From that beginning, Yoakum ships 600 cars of tomatoes, from about 35,000 acres, into every important American city. It operates 15 commercial packing sheds and a commercial cannery is being built. Average net return from tomatoes is around $150 an acre, under depression conditions, with exceptional instances where the gross return has run as high as $500. The labor-payroll, for packing, grading and loading, alone, is $11,000 a season.

But Yoakum folks didn't stop at that. Having learned the lesson of diversification, they didn't make the mistake of getting into a one-crop rut again, even one so profitable as tomatoes. So now they ship 20 cars of dressed turkeys, 200,000 pounds of fowls, 30,000 pounds of spring chickens and 5000 cases of eggs a year. Whole milk marketed in the Yoakum area, from fine Jersey cows that were introduced, yielded about $12,000,000 to farmers last year.

So it is no wonder that Yoakum folks, including Editor H. D. Melster of the Yoakum Herald, whose paper rendered valiant service in the planning and carrying out of the new deal agricultural program, are proud of the tomato, and pay due homage to it annually.

Perhaps, as Gov. Allred paid his tribute to the tomato, he was thinking that the credit really should go to a people made of the stuff of pioneer Texans, who were dismayed by no difficulty, but simply met and overcame such problems as arose, using whatever materials were available to do the job with. Perhaps he contrasted the spirit of the people of Yoakum, who developed leadership under stress, and took an humble garden plant and carved an economic stability for themselves, with the thousands in some of Texas' larger cities, who have simply given up and hold out their hands daily for a government dole to prevent them from starving.

Warm weather in Texas invariably brings political activity, and this year is no exception. Wets and drys assembled in Austin and Dallas, respectively, last week-end, and laid plans to launch the repeal battle in June. Sinews of war, the first requisite, are being raised, and oratory will begin promptly after this important financial angle is cared for. In Austin, Charley McDonald, Jim Ferguson and Rep. Emmett Morse of Houston were the featured speakers of the wet faction. Jim Ferguson declared himself, to the consternation of some of the wets who doubt if he will be helpful to their cause.

In Dallas, the dry cause was given the atmosphere of a holy war, with meetings held in First Baptist church. Mrs. Claude de Van Watts, W. C. T. U. leader; Bishop Boaz, Tom Love, Dr. C. M. Rosser, all veterans of the prohibition wars, spoke. Messages of co-operation came from Gov. Allred and Dr. George Truett. Rep. George Moffett of Chillicothe spoke for the dry faction in the legislature. Surface harmony, at least, prevailed at both sessions.

Both sides are wondering what part U. S. Sen. Morris Sheppard will take in the campaign, if any, in view of his campaign against national repeal. He faces re-election next year, and his vote to override the president's veto on the Patman bonus-inflation bill came as a surprise to many Texans. Rumors that Jim Ferguson may get into the race against him were revived in Austin, following Jim's appearance at the wet rally.

COLEMAN JUNCTION II. D. C.

"The smooth gray and brown cutworms are well known to most gardeners. The best remedy is poisoned bait made for use in small gardens by thoroughly mixing two level table-spoonfuls of white arsenic or Paris green with three pounds of dry bran. Then add from four to six quarts of water in which a half-pint of cheap molasses has been mixed. Let it set several hours and scatter over garden at the base of the plants." Thus explained Miss Alice Glenn Young to the Coleman Junction Home Demonstration Club at the meeting last Friday at the home of Mrs. R. W. Starnes.

Nine members and two visitors were present for the very interesting and informational meeting.

The Club is planning to put on a play soon.

Mrs. Claud Alvey of White Chapel and Mrs. Carmichael of Waco were welcome guests of the Club.

Delicious ice cream and cake were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be Friday afternoon, June 7, at the home of Mrs. Jimmie Lee Van Dyke. —Reporter.

TWO MINUTE SERMON

(By Thomas Hastwell)

THE GIFT OF TALENT: There is an interesting story in the New Testament known as the Parable of the Talents. According to this story the man who developed his talents and made them produce was blessed with larger rewards while the man who buried his talents was deprived of any reward. The third was rewarded as he had increased and developed his talent. If the parable teaches anything it teaches the responsibility of a man for whatever talent he possesses. This responsibility carries with it the necessity of developing and increasing his talent or talents whatever they may be. It tells us plainly that one talent developed will bring to us other opportunities and other talents and it also tells us that one talent neglected will see us deprived of even the one talent. How true. How many times have we seen this borne out. There are about us on all sides hundreds of examples attesting the truth of this parable. The more worthwhile the talent and the more diligent the effort the greater the reward. The individual who fritters away his life with little petty things of no consequence will never realize the reward that comes to the man who chooses something worth while and puts his life and soul into it. If we expect large rewards we must think big things and plan big things and work for big things.

CLARKSVILLE: From four and one-half to six tons of alfalfa per acre have been harvested by Martin Stiles of Annona in Red River county who has 21 acres in alfalfa, according to C. M. Knight, county agricultural agent. The lowest price paid for alfalfa hay, according to the county agent, is $20 per ton. "This new feed crop almost eliminates the need of corn and other grain crops that are selling at such high prices. It permits me to sell a few bushels of corn that I would otherwise have to feed my livestock in order to finish spring farming operations," Stiles says.

CALDWELL: A net profit of $31.15 for the month of April from her flock of 183 hens is reported by Mrs. Walter Duewall of Burleson county, according to G. C. King, county agricultural agent. Mrs. Duewall says that her hens laid 3756 eggs, or 313 dozen, which sold for $58.70. In addition, she sold three chickens for $1.50 bringing her total receipts to $60.20. She bought 1100 pounds of mash which cost $20.45, and 400 pounds of grain which cost $8.60, making a total expense of $29.05.

The expression "he can't take it" doubtless originated in the days when liberal doses of castor oil were regarded as the universal remedy for all human ills from bunions to mumps.

WHEN?

America will attain greater prosperity than ever before. More individuals and families than ever before will share in this prosperity.

More families than ever before will own their own homes.

Our current total of 21,500,000 automobiles will be doubled.

Our 13,500,000 telephones will be more than doubled.

Such little-used conveniences and comforts as air-conditioning equipment, sun lamps, and television receivers will be commonplace in the home.

Much better provision will be made for caring for those thrown temporarily out of employment.

In short, a better day will dawn—certainly!

That isn't the opinion of a professional optimist of the "prosperity-is-just-around-the-corner" school. It is the opinion of B. C. Forbes, the real-life financial analyst, who explains it in a recent issue of Cosmopolitan magazine.

The natural question to ask, then, is WHEN are all of these blessings going to come to us? And that, in Mr. Forbes' belief, is largely dependent on the activities of government. He is confident that the pent-up natural forces of recovery are rarin' to go—and that only man-made obstacles are standing in their way. Fears of inflation, stifling taxes, government competition with private business, industrial regimentation, bureaucratic regulation of our great businesses—these are the friends of depression and the enemies of recovery. What is needed, in Mr. Forbes' view, is "a sensible get-together between government and private industry; a pact to work in harmony rather than at cross purposes. A tremendous responsibility weighs upon our political leaders to bring that about. The American people are in no mood to let politics continue to interfere with the course of recovery."

ACTIVITIES OF BROWN WOOD DISTRICT AGRICULTURE BOYS

Schools from the Brown-wood district were represented at the Vocational Agriculture judging contest at Stephenville April 6. Five of the schools took part in the State judging contest at College Station April 18. Probably no other phase of the Vocational Agriculture work is quite so interesting and educational to the boys studying Vocational Agriculture as the contests. The boys always learn lots about agricultural work by taking part in the contests and also have the opportunity to make friends from all parts of the state, and find out what they are doing in Vocational Agriculture, and Future Farmer work.

to Stephenville and five to College Station, the summary report shows four trips to Brown-wood to the District Literary contest, four to Ballinger to the tanning school, and three to Eastland on Relief business.

The total expense for the month was $449.51, or an average of $40.92 per teacher during the month. The teachers traveled a total of 3,874 miles or an average of 659 miles per teacher.

Soil conservation work still is in the limelight with vocational agriculture people, with a total of 255,863 yards of terrace lines run, and 5,100 yards of terraces constructed, 32 outlets constructed, 210 acres contoured, oats turned under on 125 acres, 200 lbs. Commercial Fertilizer used, and legumes planted on 23 acres. It is interesting to note that 72 gardens were planted in April, 173 grape cuttings set out, 68 fruit trees set out, 41,909 sweet potato slips set out, 50 trees budded, 29 bu. certified cottonseed planted, and five tomato crops pruned.

Realizing the importance of controlling insects and pests of plants, the boys received practice along this line by spraying 10 gardens and sixteen trees.

The outstanding project note is that the boys fed out and sold 1093 broilers in April.

Future Farmer activities are always of major importance in Voc. Agr. Four chapters entered district literary contests, one Father and Son banquet was held, 17 chapter meetings held, 3 visits to pecan schools, 4 school grounds improved by V. A. boys, one school elected officers, 3 chapters made tour of community, 1 fishing trip, 20 members applied for certificates of merit, and one chapter sponsored a page of advertising to raise money for travel expense. A total of 25 evening school meetings were held with an average attendance of twenty-five.

Since AAA work is part of the program of V. A., the teachers held adult meetings, one group made up $13.00 to send delegates to Washington, four days spent by one group studying material concerning AAA, and two schools sponsored CWA work on school ground.

Schools included in this report are Brownwood, Bangs, Coleman, May, Pioneer, Rising Star, Santa Anna, Williams, and Winters.

Nearly five miles of concrete tile have been made and laid by relief workers in Ochiltree county this spring, according to the report of J. T. Stovall, county agricultural agent. The exact figures are 25,957 feet. The tile has been furnished in such cases as actual material costs plus a one-fourth of 1 of the garden crops which are produced on the subirrigated land. The material cost has been approximately one and one-fourth cents per foot.

There is an old saying "All things come to him who waits." There never was a greater fallacy. Rheumatism and death are the only things one can be sure of by this plan. Some towns from appearance have adopted this slogan. Instead of going out after things they sit down and wait for them. The only things that come to the town that follows this unambitious program is grass in the streets and boarded up store fronts. It may be a good slogan for an undertaker but it is a mighty poor slogan for an individual or a town.

UNDULANT FEVER MAY BE EXPECTED

Austin, Texas, May 30—This is the season when an increase in undulant fever cases may be expected, according to Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. An undulant fever patient complains of warmth and has fever. There may also be chilly sensations or severe shaking chills and sweats. The patient loses weight and feels weak. If illness is of mild type, the patient finds it hard to remain in bed. He tries to keep on with his work but has "no pep." Symptoms often continue for a number of weeks before recovery occurs. Fortunately undulant fever has a low death rate. Body temperature may reach a higher mark each day than the day before, and then gradually return to normal over a period of several days. Fever may be absent for some days and come back again to act the same way as before, registering higher each day and then gradually going lower. The patient's temperature chart as kept by the nurse in home or hospital, may resemble smooth waves or undulations. The appearance of the temperature curve in typical cases has given this disease the name undulant fever. The term "Malta" fever has been in common use in recent years but the name undulant fever is more accurate. Undulant fever is one of the infectious diseases known to be transmitted from animals to human beings. In cows and hogs, the germ causes a disease of great economic importance known as contagious abortion. When this germ invades the body, the resulting disease is undulant fever. Prevention is dependent upon (1) eradication of the disease in farm animals, (2) careful pasteurization of dairy products and (3) avoidance, insofar as possible, of direct contact with infected animals.

ODD ACCIDENTS

Seeing a ghost may be bad but John Forward, sea diver, believes it is far worse to be slapped by a dead man. While working about a submerged ship in East river he felt something slap his face and found it was the hand of a dead man. Waving back and forth with the tide the hand kept slapping away during the half-hour required to release the body.

A neighbor woman was killed and a boy and his mother severely shocked and burned when a kite flown by a Tennessee lad, Johnson Robinette, became entangled in a power line. Evidently forgetting Ben Franklin's experiments the tragedy occurred when they attempted to pull the kite loose from the wires.

Sleepwalking was a sad experience for 7-year-old Francis Bulac who lives in the nation's capital. He walked right through an open window and fell to the concrete sidewalk 25 feet below but received only minor cuts and bruises. His windows are now nailed down.

A Californian electrocuted his neighbor's cow with a .22 caliber rifle when he shot a bird. The bullet struck and cut a power wire which dropped across a wire fence through which the bovine was reaching for a particularly tempting tuft of grass.

Love is a peculiar thing and sometimes has strange consequences such as causing an Illinois couple, William and Marie O'Connor, to fall three stories and escape unhurt. They later explained they had been embracing near an open window.

Emmett Cox, formerly with the Santa Anna Poultry & Egg Company, who has been working in Fort Worth the past few months, is now back with the Santa Anna company, ready to greet former friends.

YOUNG ROOSTERS FOR SALE

We have a few Master Bred Rhode Island Reds and Barred Plymouth Rock young roosters for sale at a little above the price of common fryers.

We purchased new stock this spring from the Dixie Poultry Farm at Brenham, Texas, and selected the highest bred poultry we could find. The female birds are to be used in agricultural projects next year, and have been fed and cared for according to rules and regulations for better egg production. In the bunch we have a few surplus male birds, and will offer them for sale Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday, Trades Day at 50c each.

See them on display at the Santa Anna Poultry & Egg Company and pay Mr. Monroe for as many as you want. These same roosters should sell for $5 or $10 each in December, but we must separate the roosters from the pullets, and if you need two or three, or even more with your flock next year, this is your opportunity.

One man present when we approached Mr. Monroe to ask about disposing of the roosters immediately purchased six of them. Don't overlook this opportunity, for such an offer will not be repeated.

J. J. GREGG

The depression has resulted in every country turning more to its own resources and more to the idea of living within itself. Certain things cannot be produced in all climes and these will continue to be imported but the mass of goods that at one time were imported by every nation from others is smaller than it has been in a good many years and there are those who predict that it will not return in the future to its former volume. The theory of these prophets is that many nations having found that they can produce many of their own needs will not give up the practice and surrender their market to foreign producers.

A few years ago England was known as the mistress of the seas. It now appears that in the event of war this title may go to the nation that is able to build the largest submarine navy.

WHEN AN INCH IS A LOT

Rainfall as everyone knows is measured in inches and fractions of inches. But few people realize the immense quantity of water involved in an inch of precipitation. An inch of rain over an acre of ground is equal to 27,143 gallons of water and would be sufficient to fill a cistern 20 feet square and nine feet deep. It would weigh over 113 tons.

If some men were asked what they would do if they were president they'd have to go home and ask their wives.

Mrs. E. L. Sisk of Plainview is visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. H. B. Monroe.

Miss Reba Vinson, student in the Sealy Hospital School of Nursing, plans to leave this week for a several days visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pearce, in Shreveport, La., while taking her vacation.

Rev. A. E. Wilson of Comanche was here Tuesday evening and addressed the meeting of the Teachers and Officers of the First Baptist Sunday School.

IN THE DINING ROOM

DEAR Mrs. Post: Is it improper to put the left arm on the table while eating, or (2) May one rest one's left wrist or side of the hand against the table edge while eating? (3) Or may one rest both arms on table between courses or while talking after the meal, or (4) I rhaps even rest the elbows on table?

Answer: (1) Never lay arms on table at any time. Above all, do not encircle plate. Nor should an elbow be put on the table while eating, unless you are at home alone and too ill to hold your head up unsupported. (2) Yes, either. (3) No. (4) Elbow on table depends upon how it is done. Talking across a restaurant table, yes.

Dear Mrs. Post: (1) Are service plates too formal to use for breakfast? (2) I know the cocktail course and soup are placed on the service plates, but when the dinner plates are removed are the service plates returned to table and both salad and dessert course served from them? Nothing in my house is so confusing as this service plate question.

Answer: (1) The service plate at breakfast is merely the plate to be used for fruit or to put the cereal bowl or saucer or egg cup on. If the first course is a hot one, places are probably set with hot plates. (2) The service plate is merely the plate with which each place at table is set. Each time a plate is removed with one hand, a clean one (which may perfectly well be the service plate returned) is put in its place. That is all. Before dessert no plate is put down until the table is cleared and crumbed.

Dear Mrs. Post: What should be done with the long-handled spoon that is served with iced tea, iced coffee and lemonade? No matter what I do with it, it seems awkward in the glass while sipping or out of the glass on the tablecloth or tipping over the edge of a small coaster, which is sometimes put under the glass? And what should I do at a soda fountain?

Answer: At table put it on your plate after you have finished sipping. At afternoon tea, where you have no plate to put it, leave it in the glass and drink as best you can. At a soda fountain, when you have stirred the drink or eaten the ice cream, take a mouthful, which naturally empties the bowl, and then lay the spoon on the counter.

WHAT PRICE SILENCE?

DEAR Mrs. Post: I have been engaged for over a year to a man who has risen above his family, though he is not ashamed of them. He is innately refined and highly respected for himself and his professional achievements. I have not heard a word from his mother, which I can feel embarrasses him terribly. It does not trouble me, because I can easily imagine it possible that she cannot perhaps write very well, and does not want to display her lack of education. But whatever her reason, I feel sure that she intends no slight to me. But my mother is making a great "fuss." She takes a hurt attitude and feels mortified about the discourtesy to me, and threatens to take the matter up with my fiancé. Personally, I would rather never hear from his mother than hurt his feelings. So my question is: Couldn't I, without bringing down all the walls of convention upon my mother's head, write to his mother (she lives too far away to go to see her) and perhaps make her feel at ease with me enough to write to me? This is a long story but it does seem cruel to wreck my whole happiness on the keeping of the rule that a man's mother should write a letter to the girl her son is to marry. Are the rules of thumb so important that we should take serious offense at my fiancé's mother without even knowing anything about her intention—which you have so often written. Is the one thing that counts? Actually, I'm not sure that anything counts except my fiancé's love for me and mine for him.

Answer: I think your last sentence answers the question. The only thing I can suggest is that you talk to your fiancé frankly. Sure you ought to be able to ask him whether he would like you to write or whether he prefers that you do nothing. Make as little fuss as possible but say something such as, "Tell me, John, what would you like me to do about your mother; do you think she would like a letter from me? Of course I want to do whatever you want me to."

I can't quite understand why you are not able to say everything in your heart to the man you love. After all, your married happiness must rest on mutual understanding, on trust and confidence. You must not let unshared thoughts build a barrier between you.
