Lions to Hold Annual Election Next Week

Officers for the ensuing year will be elected at the regular weekly luncheon next Tuesday. The following names were submitted by the nominating committee at the luncheon Tuesday. President: J. T. Garrett, W. H. Thate; First Vice President: M. A. Edwards, W. DuBols; Second Vice President: J. R. Lock, W. R. Mulroy; Secretary - Treasurer: Emmett Day, Rex Golston; Tail Twister: R. R. Lovelady, A. L. Haley; Lion Tamer: L. J. Smith, O. A. Etheredge; Director (one year term) Fred W. Turner; Director: (Two year term) J. C. Scarborough.

Twenty-two of the 25 members were present at the luncheon Tuesday. Rex Golston, Jr., who represented Santa Anna in the "My Home Town Speaking Contest" at Plainview last week, during the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was the only visitor and the club members enjoyed hearing Rex recite his splendid oration again. Rex made a good showing but failed to capture first honors.

Lion M. A. Edwards gave a report of his trip to Washington, D. C., last week, where more than four thousand farmers and farm representatives went in the interest of the AAA farm program.

Mr. Edwards, together with all others who attended the great farmers meeting, returned almost overwhelmed with enthusiasm over the Administration program, especially after hearing President Roosevelt speak. The President was very pleased with the showing made by those directly interested in the maintaining of the Agricultural program.

Mr. Edwards has been busy this week going out in the rural districts evenings and explaining the value and virtues of the AAA program to interested farmers.

SAMMIE KIRKPATRICK DIES IN CALIFORNIA

The body of Samuel Thomas Kirkpatrick, 30, who died Tuesday, May 21, is expected to arrive here Friday night on the east bound Santa Fe for burial here Saturday morning.

Sammie, accompanied by his companion, left here two weeks ago for the Los Angeles Sanatorium at Duarte, California, where they had hopes of his recovering from a malady that has kept him confined to his room for the past three years.

Deceased was born in Santa Anna November 20, 1905, the oldest child of Mrs. J. J. Kirkpatrick and deceased husband. He was graduated in the Santa Anna Schools, later attending the Baylor School of Pharmacy in Dallas for his higher training. After graduating in the school of Pharmacy he returned here and worked in several drug stores before going to San Angelo where he worked for the San Angelo Pharmacy. His health failed him three years ago, and he gave up his work and returned home. He has been growing weaker since, and but little hope had been held for his recovery since his first breakdown.

Funeral services will be held at the Methodist church here Saturday morning at 10:30 and interment made in the Santa Anna cemetery.

Mr. Kirkpatrick was married March 14, 1929 to Miss Jewel Cole, a former teacher in the Santa Anna school system. He is survived by his widow, his mother, Mrs. J. J. Kirkpatrick, one brother, Everett, and three sisters, Mrs. Warren Caylor of Waldrip, and Misses Maurice and Evelyn of Santa Anna. He is also survived by a large number of relatives and warm friends.

Tom Sealy and Miss Velma of Austin spent the week-end in the home of their parents, Dr. and Mrs. T. R. Sealy and attended with them the wedding of Miss Mary McClellan of Coleman and Mr. John B. Hall, Jr. of Dallas in Coleman Saturday.

H. L. Voss, Sr. has accepted a position as prescription clerk in a drug store in Llano.

Regarding 1934-35 Cotton Contracts

Cotton Tax-Exemption Certificates which were issued in 1934 must be turned in at the County Agent's office to Mr. H. H. Jordan, Assistant in Cotton Adjustment, that new certificates in the form to be used for 1935 may be issued to the holders in time for ginning this fall. Of course, this applies only to those who have excess certificates on hand and those who call to turn in certificates which are to be replaced by usable ones for 1935 must have the old ones with them.

Holders of the 1934 form of tax-exemption certificates will please call at the County Agent's office with these certificates without further notice, as no cards will be mailed to holders. It would be impossible for workers in this office to know what persons hold certificates from the 1934 crop. The certificates in the old form cannot be used in 1935 and no change will be made on the exchanges. The same number of pounds will be issued on the new certificate.

These old certificates should be brought in as soon as possible that the exchange might be made for this county at an early date.

Due to the scarcity of funds for the carrying on of reduction programs for 1935, the County Agent's office greatly appreciates the cooperation of the farmers of the county in calling at the office to assist in completing papers. The Bankhead Applications for Tax-Exemption Certificates will be ready for signatures within a very few days, and cotton growers may call at the office when they are in town, or at their convenience, to sign these applications. This will help in this work being completed early.

The vote of the farmers of Coleman County and all other wheat counties of the United States in the national wheat referendum will be taken on one day, Saturday, May 25, between 9 o'clock in the morning and 8 o'clock at night, county agricultural agent, C. V. Robinson, said.

The referendum, to obtain sentiment of wheat farmers toward a 1936 adjustment program, will involve signers of 575,000 wheat contracts in 37 states. A separate vote of non-signers will be taken.

"Two short crops and the adjustment program have reduced the surplus of wheat in the United States so that by July 1, 1935, the carry-over is expected to be down to normal," according to Garland Abbott, Secretary of the Coleman County Wheat Production Control Association.

He went on to say that wheat prices in the United States have been maintained above world levels, and American wheat farmers have enjoyed higher prices than farmers in the other major exporting countries.

Statistics gathered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration show that wheat consumption in the United States is relatively stable and the potential wheat acreage in this country is still capable of producing a burdensome surplus. The world wheat situation has shown little improvement since the spring of 1933. World prices are still very low, and the export trade is extremely limited. "Acreage and production base periods will remain the same under a new wheat program and adjustments required under the contracts would be limited to a maximum of 25 percent of the base acreage," according to John R. Edmonds, special wheat compliance agent for Texas at College Station.

"A heavy vote is essential to indicate to the country that the wheat farmers really are interested in their own program," George E. Farrell, director of the division of grains of the AAA said in an address at Enid, Oklahoma on April 30.

Mrs. Sherman Gehrett, Mrs. Minnie B. Pinney, Mrs. J. T. Riley, Mrs. Doris McDermott, Miss Ruby Harper and Miss Rebecca Turner visited in Cisco Sunday.

Miss Mary Ellen Keel of Gaineville came Tuesday evening to visit in the home of her aunt, Mrs. F. E. Combs and family.

CONGRATULATIONS!

The editor and family acknowledge receipt of several invitations and announcements of graduation at the closing of this school year. The number is too numerous for us to purchase gifts for all, but in our hearts we possess a feeling of gratitude worth more than could be measured by any gifts we might buy.

We love our friends, and treasure them above all other earthly possessions. It is real gratifying to see so many of them succeed in achieving a high school education. It means a great deal, in fact, it speaks well for a young man or young lady to step out in life and master a high school education. We congratulate you upon your success in your school work, and permit us to admonish you to press onward and upward for still higher things. The accomplishment is so far only a foundation upon which to build an education. The better you prepare yourselves for the future, the better and bigger service you can render in life. When a person falls short of his very best, life is not what it should be, and the service is not what is expected of you. Faith, courage and endurance will win, and winners always get more out of life. Step out in life; do your utmost and life will be real instead of a tragedy.

Class Night

Members of the graduating class were in charge of the annual Class Night Wednesday evening at the High School auditorium. The program included the Commencement exercises of No Joke High School, who gave for their motto, "Me for a diploma." Their class flower was Washby's Best; Class Animal, a pony; and the Class Color light tan.

Miss Bess Inez Shield read the salutatory, and Winston Hall read an essay on "Pies." Miss Beth Barnes, president, gave the class history, which was very cleverly written, and Miss Gladys Creamer put the class, but not the audience, to sleep with her oration, "The Autobiography of a Microbe." Miss Mary Hoopes essay on "Weddings" was well received, and Rex Golston's oration on "Life" was exceptionally well-delivered and clever.

Miss Barnes read the Class Will, and Vernon Ragsdale, as the "Ideal School Board President," presented the diplomas in the way that many others may have wished they could. He threw them at the class and said "Here they are! Take 'em" and everyone scrambled for his.

Awards Made

Mr. J. R. Lock presented the "Honor S" to the deserving students, and explained the three classes of awards made in the local high school. These include the letter and sweater, the chenille letter, and the Honor S booklet. Awards are made in football, senior track, tennis, junior track, playground ball, press, debate, essay, extemporaneous speaking, declamation, scholarship and basketball.

Mr. Emmett Day made the presentation of the S. H. Phillips Scholarship Cup and the Mrs. Comer Blue Scholarship Cup. The Phillips Cup is presented each year to the boy in the seventh, eighth or ninth grade who makes the highest average for the year. The cup was presented first in 1927.

L. H. Powell received the cup this year, with an average of 92.15-32. H. W. Kingsbery was a very close second with 92.5-12. The Blue Cup is awarded each year to the high school girl who receives the most grade points for the year, and is based both on the quality and quantity of work done. This cup was presented first in 1932, and was won by Miss Kathryn Rose Pinney. Miss Franche Merritt won it the next two years.

Miss Emma John Blake received the cup this year with 319 grade points, and Miss Annette Shield was a very close second with 317.

Miss Mattie Ella McCreary presented the Scribblers sweater to Miss Elizabeth Rollins. This sweater and Honor S is presented each year to the most outstanding member of the Press Club.

Commencement Exercises To Be Held Tonight

Mrs. J. W. Trapp of Daniel Baker to Deliver Address

Friday evening at eight o'clock in the high school auditorium, sixty-two seniors will meet one of the greatest occasions of their life time! It is commencement time! Caps and gowns—and diplomas—have arrived, and what senior is not eager for the time to come when he will wear and receive these?

The commencement address is to be delivered by Mrs. J. W. Trapp, an instructor in the Daniel Baker College of Brownwood. Miss Besse Evans, a local student in Danier Baker will play a violin solo and will be accompanied by Miss Mae Branton, head of the violin and piano department of the same college. Other special music is to be rendered also. Miss Beth Barnes, the class valedictorian, will speak on "Our Contributions," and Miss Bess Shield, class salutatorian, will give the welcome address. Mr. Frank Turner, president of the School Board, will award the diplomas.

As a word of favor to the class, it should be said that, out of sixty-two, eleven seniors made a yearly average of around 90. This is the first time to happen in several years. The seniors realize that they are just beginning, although they regret leaving the school where so many happy hours have been spent.

Former Superintendent Here

B. T. Withers, former Santa Anna Public School Superintendent, had been here for the past two weeks with his wife, who received surgical care in the Sealy Hospital. He spent last week-end at his home in San Angelo and attended the Baccalaureate Services of the High School there Sunday, and was accompanied back here by his little daughter, Willa Wayne. The other daughter, Miss Margaret, is one of the honor graduates of San Angelo High for year, and their son, B. T., Jr., is a student in the San Angelo Junior College.

Mrs. Withers was able to be carried home this week.

Mrs. Marion Pollard left Monday evening for Dallas where she is attending a Medical Convention.

Mary Hoopes, Frances Gregg, Gladys Creamer, and Mildred McDonald, Mrs. Billye Jean Riley, and Eddie Vaughn Mills, Dosh T. McCreary, and Vernon Ragsdale.

Bookkeeping Achievement Certificates are presented each year to the outstanding Senior students. Certificates were presented to Ernestine Thames, Bess Inez Shield, Charlotte Mosley, Mary Ola Milligan, Mozelle Moss, Mildred McDonald, Dosh T. McCreary, Frances Gregg, and Billy Baxter.

Patman Bonus Bill Killed In Senate

President Roosevelt vetoed the Patman Bonus bill, delivering his veto message to a joint session of the House and Senate at noon Wednesday.

Immediately following his veto message the House voted 322 to 98, to override the President's veto.

The matter was then left up to the Senate, who voted Thursday 54 to 40 but less than a two-thirds majority necessary to carry the measure over the president's veto.

The unpleasant event in Washington was among the most sensational events of the year, and is more than likely to bring about the biggest political upset in the 1936 election of anything that has happened since the ending of the war in 1918.

The measure is not a dead one, and will continue to be agitated until it is settled, regardless of the right or wrong of the measure.

FORMER RESIDENT OF SANTA ANNA DIES

Miss Louella Chambers received word Monday of the death of her cousin, Mrs. Mattie C. Patterson, who succumbed Saturday after an operation in a Hobbs, New Mexico hospital.

Mrs. Patterson lived in Santa Anna for a while about forty years ago, and lived with Mrs. M. E. Chambers and Miss Louella from March until September of last year. She has many friends who will regret to learn of her death.

ABILENE WOMAN BURNED AS GAS RANGE EXPLODES

Mrs. J. O. Martin, formerly of Santa Anna, who was injured Monday morning when a gas range exploded at her home, 1765 North 11th street, was reported improving Tuesday.

Although burns about Mrs. Martin's face, neck, chest and arms were extensive, they were not regarded as serious. She was knocked down as the door was blown off the oven of her range. —Abilene News.

Vanderpools To Oklahoma

Rev. and Mrs. Homer Vanderpool left Monday for Goodloe, Oklahoma where Rev. Vanderpool delivered the Commencement address for the Panhandle Agricultural and Mechanical College closing exercises Wednesday evening.

Rev. Vanderpool was pastor of the College Methodist Church before being given the local charge. He delivered the Baccalaureate Address for the local graduating class last Sunday evening to a packed house.

Mrs. Claud Boone and little son and Mrs. Glover McMillon of Raymondville are visiting in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hall and family.

Santa Anna Schools Close This Week

This week marks the closing of another very successful year of school in Santa Anna.

We have heard school, read school, and talked school until we find it difficult to think or write about anything except school. One graduating from high school, one graduating from grammar school and passing into high school, one passing from the eighth to the ninth, and one still in grammar school, and invitations coming in from California to Maine to attend the graduating exercises of children of former friends, sweethearts, kinfolk and others, renders us next to an impossibility or a noncompensatus, whatever that is, instead of an editor.

The several hundred students of the Santa Anna schools are rejoicing over the progress of the year, some have plenty to be thankful for, while others have not made much effort, hence, not much progress.

The largest graduating class in the history of the school system graduates here this week. The names of the graduates will be found elsewhere in this paper.

And this reminds us of what we heard one of them say about four years ago, when she was promoted from grammar school to high school. "What is the use in going over there and spending four more years. I've already learned all there is to be learned from books." Well, young lady, after you have spent four very successful years in high school you have only built a foundation for an education, and now if you can arrange to spend another four years in some good college, you will have a fair foundation upon which to build an education to help you go thru life. Believe it or not, the top has never been reached.

We would like to encourage each of you to profit by the education you have received in your home school and use it for a stepping stone to higher and nobler things.

You may not have the proper advantages offered you to continue in your schooling, but opportunities are often created by will power, and where there is a will there most always is a way. Use that bulldog tenacity, self determination, and continue your efforts and here's hoping you win.

There is no such thing as easy sailing; if you are looking for something easy, go jump in the lake and settle the matter, for you can't get anywhere without trying.

If you are preparing for a life of service, go to it, and some way will be provided. You do not have to wait to see the future end before you start. The thing to do is to take advantage of the opportunities offered, tho' they be meager, and make the best of them you can.

We read in history of great men who created their own opportunities, who would never have gone down in history with any record of note had they not waited for opportunity to knock at the door, especially waited until the opportunity knocked them down and dragged them out and pushed them on to success.

There is no limit to what you can do if you will exert your efforts and properly use your intellect and energies. Life will be short and sweet if you keep on doing the best you can. There is no pleasure to be derived from a misspent life. Joys come only to those who live lives of usefulness. If you expect to live in the future, prepare now.

Funderburks to Palestine

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Funderburk and children, Weldon and Allene moved this week to Palestine, where they have purchased a furniture store and plan to make their home. They came here from Miles one year ago when Mr. Funderburk began carrying the mail to Rockwood.

They have many friends here who regret to see them leave, but who wish them every success in their new home.

Central Colorado Authority Bill Signed by Allred

There was much cause for rejoicing in Coleman county this week, when Governor Allred signed the Central Colorado Authority Bill, which authorizes the expenditure of one-half million dollars for water improvement in Coleman county.

This Act, in our opinion, is one of the greatest forward steps toward development and progress ever made in Coleman county.

As soon as the necessary steps can be made, two or more major water projects will be constructed in the county, one near the central part of the county in the Coleman district, and one near Santa Anna, and several minor projects in various places where water is needed during extensive drought periods.

The bill carries with it a tax diversion of 75 per cent of state ad valorem tax for twenty years, which is to be used to liquidate the floated debt.

WHAT WOULD JESUS DO?

The religious drama, "What Would Jesus Do?" will be presented at the High School Auditorium Sunday evening, with several churches of the town co-operating. The play is sponsored by the First Christian Church and directed by Mr. A. C. Hefner. Members of some of the other churches will be in the play.

You will enjoy the play and be benefited by it. It represents the religious conditions of today. Preliminaries will begin at 8:00 and the curtain will rise promptly at 8:30. Please be on time, as no one will be seated during the presentation of any act. There will be no admission charge.

The play is in three scenes and is a drama of Christian actions. The scenes are laid in the minister's study and the time is any modern year.

The cast of characters is as follows:

Mr. Wolford Warren, Minister, Eugene Haley; Robert Degener, Church Secretary, Afton Pieratt; John Taylor, Newsboy, Sonny Gipson; Mrs. Ellen Warren, Minister's wife, Kathryn Cramer; Judge Landers, Magistrate, Homer Smith; Peter Vall, Old man, A. C. Hefner; Velma Duffy, Absent Member, Gladys Creamer; Richey, Housekeeper; Mrs. R. R. Lovelady; Jerry Durant, Reporter, John W. Burden; Grace Blanchard, Heiress, Mary Strand Dellinger; Donald McMullen, S. S. Supt., Paul Oder; Margaret Endorf, Pres. Y. P. C., Sylvia Ann Everett; Harvey Kendall, Deacon, Wayne Durham; Pete McCracken, Gangster, Double.

FOURTH ANNUAL ARKANSAWERS' REUNION

The Fourth Annual Arkansawers' Reunion will be held next Sunday, May 26th, in Hearn Park at Bronte, Texas.

An extended program has been arranged and is due to begin at 10 in the morning and continue until late in the afternoon. Dr. J. D. Sandefer of Abilene is the principal speaker on the morning program. Music will be furnished by the Hardin-Simmons Cowboy Band, Bronte Rhythm Band, and a number of vocal selections.

If the weather is favorable, several thousand people will enjoy the day at Bronte.

BANKER - ORATOR

We don't know whether the joke is on Emmett Day or the committee to select the speaker for the Seventh grade graduating class of the Rockwood school. Mr. Day often refers to M. A. Edwards' public addresses as being "Another Dry Talk." But it does not occur to us that the banker's talks are so dry, after all. Anyway Mr. Edwards was selected to deliver the address to the Seventh grade graduating class of the Rockwood school Wednesday night, and very ably filled the place.

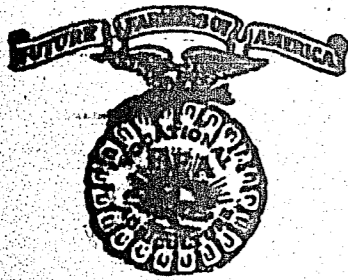

Mrs. J. C. King, daughter, Miss Georgia, and grand-daughter, Miss Hearnthal King of Rockwood were Santa Anna visitors Wednesday.

NEWS STORY

Most of the members of the F.F.A. are planning to enter the profession of farming when they get out of school.

General farming is the most popular, but some are planning other kinds.

The ultimate aim of the vocational course is to train the individual to find in farming his own best development, and to equip him to secure a livelihood for himself and his dependents.

The specific aims are to produce a living at home and to care for farm equipment, and to restore and maintain the fertility of the soil. Other aims include the improvement of plants, improvement of livestock and poultry, the control of insects, and the managing of farm business.

These aims were determined from the study of farm survey summaries and from discussions with business men, farmers, students, the county Superintendent, and from the study of reports from Chambers of Commerce and other civic organizations.

"ARTICLE XVI. Section 20. (a) The open saloon shall be and is hereby prohibited. The Legislature shall have the power, and it shall be its duty to define the term 'open saloon' and enact laws against such."

Subject to the foregoing, the Legislature shall have the power to regulate the manufacture, sale, possession and transportation of intoxicating liquors, including the power to establish a State monopoly on the sale of distilled liquors.

(b) The Legislature shall enact a law or laws whereby the qualified voters of any county, justice's precinct or incorporated town or city, may, by a majority vote of those voting, determine from time to time whether the sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes shall be prohibited or legalized within the prescribed limits; and such laws shall contain provisions for voting on the sale of intoxicating liquors of various types and various alcoholic content.

(c) In all counties, justice's precincts or incorporated towns or cities wherein the sale of intoxicating liquors had been prohibited by local option elections held under the laws of the State of Texas and in force at the time of the taking effect of Section 20, Article XVI of the Constitution of Texas, it shall continue to be unlawful to manufacture, sell, barter or exchange in any such county, justice's precinct or incorporated town or city, and spirituous, vinous or malt liquors or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication or any other intoxicants whatsoever, for beverage purposes, unless and until a majority of the qualified voters in such county or political subdivision thereof voting in an election held for such purpose shall determine such to be lawful; provided that this subsection shall not prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages containing not more than 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight in cities, counties or political subdivisions thereof in which the qualified voters have voted to legalize such sale under the provisions of Chapter 116, Acts of the Regular Session of the 43rd Legislature."

Sec. 2. Such proposed Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at a special election to be held throughout the State of Texas, on the fourth Saturday in August, 1935, at which election all voters favoring said proposed Amendment, shall write, or have printed on their ballots the words:

"FOR the amendment to the State Constitution repealing State-wide prohibition, prohibiting the open saloon and providing for local option."

And those voters opposed to said proposed Amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words:

"AGAINST the amendment to the State Constitution repealing State-wide prohibition, prohibiting the open saloon and providing for local option."

If it appears from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes cast are in favor of said Amendment, the same shall become a part of the State Constitution.

Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for such election, and shall have the same published and such election held as provided by the Constitution and laws of this State.

Sec. 4. The sum of Eight Thousand ($8,000.00) Dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of the State Treasury to pay for the expense of said publication and election.

LOOKING FORWARD

Are you continually looking forward to something pleasant and interesting, something to brighten the world and make others happy? Why not try it? Maybe you have not realized how much it helps others if you smile and make life worthwhile. School is over. After nine long months of drudgery and hard work everyone is looking forward to a pleasant vacation. "Work while you work, play while you play; that is the way to be happy and gay." Did you not learn that while you were in the first grade? You should put work first; then after work came play.

Everyone should have some plans for the future—he should be looking forward, not as a pessimist but an optimist. Wear a smile and be happy. Make others happy with you.

BASEBALL
 Baseball is very rapidly conquering the world. It has been recognized as the national game of the United States. In Canada, although they do play football, it is becoming very popular.

The United States has organized many professional teams in the "big leagues." Cuba likewise has its professional teams in the "big leagues" of the United States.

A few years ago many league teams made a tour around the world. They established clubs in some of the cities in South America. They also established leagues in other distant lands.

FINAL EXAMS ARE TAKEN MONDAY AND TUESDAY

If one had seen the long faces of the students of SAHS last Monday and Tuesday, he would have wondered what was wrong. He soon would have found the trouble to be final exams, however.

The lowerclassmen looked worried because they did not know much to put on their papers, and the seniors were so serious because they knew that these were to be their last exams.

Those going were Miss Nauvel, the sponsor, Doris Rollins, Vesta Evans, Juanita Pritchard, Carlene Ashmore, Ruby Lee Price, Helen Marie Lovelace, Floyd Smith, Doris Spencer, William Mitchell, Julian Kelley, Earl Creamer, and Jot Tucker.

SENIORS ARE HOSTS TO JUNIORS

Friday night, May 17th, in the W. O. W. Hall, a number of seniors and juniors had an apparently most enjoyable time in spite of the stormy weather. All was going on well until about a half hour before time for the party to begin. A storm came up and kept the larger part of both classes away, but those that did go did not seem sorry they did.

Horse racing was the main game of the evening, and various others were played. Confetti, toy horns, and ice cream were enjoyed at a late hour.

Carbon: Where they keep street cars. Clinch: To burn lightly. Creamate: To make into cream. Dipper: For babies only."—McMurry War Whoop.

"Which one," retorted the peeved male, "the dark lock, or the one that you gave me when you were a blonde?"—McMurry War Whoop.

SENIOR CLASS POEM

Thus ends a glorious adventure, For high school days are gone! But listen, memories still linger Of happy hours that have flown.

Together we have worked and plotted To be the very best class, And surely our goal is accomplished, By willing work of each lad and lass.

Many difficult tasks we have encountered, But we have finished them with a song— A song that filled the hearts of us, Who together have grown strong.

And now, brave seniors, the time is come, To make a higher aim, What shall we make it—a golden life?

Then, a golden life we will gain, So, farewell to teachers and classmates, Those we are leaving behind— We give you the best of our wishes.

May supremacy of all be thine!

WHEN I AM A SENIOR

By a "Fish" When I am a senior I am going to have my choice seat in the study hall. I shall yell "fish" until I am blue in the face and enjoy it; I can say "Take advice from an upperclassman!"

I shall invent a way to keep the senior flag up (seniors might say, "Or a microscope for seeing the freshmen's!"), and above all things I am going to be dignified.

This is my idea of an ideal senior, and I am going to be an ideal senior when I am one.

SAHS
STUDIOUS SENIORS

The senior class seems to be very industrious. There is a large per cent—thirty-five and one-third, to be exact—having more than sixteen, the required number to graduate, credits on record. Leading this list is Beth Barnes, also valedictorian.

Some of the names of the studious members of the senior class, with their number of credits if over sixteen are: Beth Barnes, 20; May Campbell, 19; Leon DuBois, 18 1-2; Mildred McDonald, 18; Frances Gregg, 17 1-2; Sylvia Ann Everett, 17 1-2; Evelyn Evans, 17; Ruth Marie Moore, 17; Vernon Ragsdale, 17; Bess Inez Shield, 17; Inez Tucker, 17; Kathryn Wylie, 17; Willis Burney, 16 1-2; Holland Cheaney, 16 1-2; Floyd Gilbreath, 16 1-2; Floyd Goodjohn, 16 1-2; Charlotte Moseley, 16 1-2; Zaida Ruth Moseley, 16 1-2; Weldon Spence, 16 1-2; and Jesse Williams, 16 1-2.

CHAPEL TALK ON
"OUR FACULTY"

After seeing all these notes I have you know that I have a lot of data to dispose of, and I may as well put it off on you, since the senior class won't have many more times to get vengeance on you anyway. I'm supposed to make a talk on our faculty, so you know it's going to be long and dry.

Elucian Niell, Prop.

that they have no postulant, saponaceous reason for being among us. To prove this, I'll tell you a few things about some of them. To begin with, Mr. Lock is too lazy to even walk on his shadow!

After observing Mr. Prescott, one cannot help but notice how he walks and how he parks his car. Why, you'd think he's the dumbest cluck you ever saw, but he's a real politician. All politicians are liars, you know. The other day he was overheard to say he wouldn't have economic security until after his election to Congress.

Miss McClendon goes around with a frown on her face all day, so everybody will think she is angry with someone. Not long ago, I heard some one say Miss Naugle would make an excellent pedicurist.

The little blond member that always acts so badly that you think he has the St. Vitus Dance is Mr. Dean. You can always tell when he's coming down the hall—he makes more noise than Faye Routh does. In defining some of the New Deal terms, Mr. Dean said that the Bonus is the framework upon which the body hangs! That reminds me of something that took place in economics class. Mr. Lock is a real filibuster, too. Willis Burney asked him what foreign entanglements meant, and Mr. Lock told him it was some kind of flypaper made on Europe! That wasn't nearly as bad as another Mr. Scarborough pulled though. Beth Barnes asked him what inflation meant, and he said it was a slight digestive ailment that was common in the House of Representatives.

Mr. Womack's immeasurable conceit around sophomore girls is almost unbelievable! He's pretty bad in the American History classes, too. The other day Tub Cheaney asked him why the president of the United States had to have a cabinet, and Mr. Womack said, "Why, so he can have a storage place for old curios!"

Miss McCreary is the victim of so much pointless dirt that I'm afraid to say anything about her. She might retaliate. "The best dope of all is on Mr. Godwin! He's so stuck up, he won't even pick up SENIOR GIRLS when they are on their way to town after school! To get even, these girls presented him with a nice big Goof Bar yesterday, right in front of the rest of the street corner sailors. Maybe he won't be so high hat from now on.

We have very interesting Home Making classes. You know we're supposed to get in mind what kind of man we would pick for a husband. Miss Hays has always told us that the men with the best promises are the men with the poorest memories! If an outsider happened to hear Mr. Scarborough talking talk, he'd think that Mr. Scarborough was superintending a bunch of morons over here.

The seniors wouldn't want a long, dry speech to be made—it might have to be to agree with the faculty—but we WOULD like to extend our heart felt thanks and appreciation for all the faculty has done for us. Seriously speaking, we have an unusually competent faculty.

Mrs. Evans and Miss Kirkpatrick have been with us a long time, and have been faithful, cooperative and diligent workers. Miss Karr has had particularly interesting geography classes this year, and Miss McClendon's leadership in the Pep Squad and Dramatic Club have been appreciated.

Mr. Godwin has won the favor of all the boys, as well as the girls, and he has assisted in getting the F. F. A. Charter back. Miss Naugle, Spanish Club sponsor, and leader of the second Dramatic Club has the friendship of pupils who can vouch for pleasant class periods. Miss McCreary was the present senior class sponsor for three years in Ward School. She is met with general favor everywhere, and is loved and respected by the student body. Mr. Womack, the Debate Coach, is well-liked, and his history classes are particularly interesting because he adds so many interesting facts that are not found in the text.

Mr. Dean and Mr. Prescott are sponsors of classes and have had an exceptionally good track team this year. These two men, with Mr. Binion, trained a football team last fall that TIED Coleman, and BEAT Coleman—a record not made in seven years.

Miss Hays, our beloved senior class sponsor, is a competent, faithfully striving faculty member. She has not isolated herself to the Home Making department, but she is a cooperative worker of the school's every activity. Members of her Tennis Club have brought fame to the school.

Mr. Lock, our faithful principle, has done much toward raising our morals. We always dread to see him coming on his regular round every afternoon during the seventh period, but then, if we are obedient to the school's rules, we have no need to fear him.

As for Mr. Scarborough, we have run out of adjectives, but he is everything and more that has been said about the other teachers. He is admired and respected by the student body. As a good citizen, he is an example for us. Indeed, we feel quite little when he starts explaining something, and you know there's a blank expression in your eyes as so much of what he says goes right over your head, instead of into it.

We have enjoyed our school years immensely, and especially this one. The year has passed quickly—many of us regret leaving school—but as alumni, we will visit our beloved school of many well-spent prosperous years. —Hank.

PETALS OF THE CLASS OF '35

'Twas just a decade and a year ago
That we like buds began to grow
To grow in knowledge and to live
The life of students of a will.
Each year did the bud's petals unfold
Until now the flower is purest gold.
Oh, beautiful blossom, truly you thrive
On the best of students—class of thirty-five!
Naming the petals one by one,
Making haste 'ere set of sun:
First we'll name our sponsor grand,
Miss Hays, we love her, understand.
The class will follow hand in hand—
Both is gay and smart, indeed,
Of the class, she takes the lead.
Bess Inez is full of pep,
Classmate true, with best of rep.
Eddie Vaughn, the honor boy,
Gives the senior class much joy.
Mary Hoopes, the sweetest girl—
Best you'll find in all the world. Elizabeth F. We sign her name, But call her "Fannie" just the same.

Zelda Ruth, the most joyous of girls,
Fortunate in having long, golden curls.
Buoyant Oran is gallant and brave,
In Economics class he cannot behave.
Evelyn Kirkpatrick we adore,
For zealous work we love her more.
Like wind among the autumn leaves,
Aurella sings with greatest ease.
Mindful lest he wrongly do,
Jack, to us, is meek and true.
Madge is bold and truly brave,
Last month her heart to a man she gave.
Charming Dora, lovable, discreet,
Sweetly accosting each one she meets.
Industrious is Velma, we all agree,
A cooperative classmate too, is she.

And the writer of these lines,
Likes the art of making rhymes.

Doc: "When did you first suspect that your husband was not all right mentally?"
Mrs. Prescott: "When he shook the hall tree and began feeling around on the floor for apples."

Mary Hoopes: "I would like to write a novel."
Bess Inez: "But do you know how to write?"
Mary: "Oh I shall use a typewriter."

Mozelle Moss: "The doctor I consulted tells you to play golf for your health."
Mary Bradford: "And if you already play golf, what then?"
Mozelle: "He tells you to stop."

Many a girl who spends all day splashing around in a swimming pool can put up an awful argument about water spilling her hands, when asked to bathe the dishes.

WIN OR LOSE, BE A SPORT

What is a good sport? Is he one who turns up his nose and becomes angry because he has lost? No! A good sport can take every knock on the chin and still face the world with a smile. He is one who can meet victory, but without vanity.

It is not what you win nor the honor you receive, but the way the game is fought, the attitude that is taken toward the victory or loss.

When you do not win, believe the contest is judged fairly, and that your opponent surpasses you in ability. It is a great joy to win, but if you do not do it truthfully and honorably, your conscience will whisper to you, even in all your pomp and glory.

What a disappointment it is to lose! Sometimes, one feels a prejudice toward the individual who has gained all the praises. You should not feel that way. Learn to press down the jealousy which may surge into your heart. Be happy in the other person's victory and gain the friendship and respect of your classmates and associates.

Who is the best sport? The boy who, in a tennis game, loses and grows very angry, and says, "He cheated," or the one who loses and says, "We played a fine game, and I am glad you won?"

If you lose, do you want to smile and compliment your opponent and tell him that you are glad? If you win, do you accept the honor graciously? It is not wise to brag about the victory which you have won. To see a person bragging and "scratching their stuff" is disgusting.

Whether you win or lose, accept the decision graciously and without content or jealousy and be able to say that you did the best you could. —The Kangaroo Tales.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

One has appeared on the campus who surpasses even the Keyhole Kid. This one, who will probably be dubbed the "Mystery Prophet," not only possesses a magic cloak to make himself invisible but also boasts a wonderful sort of telescope for peering into the future and making the hidden things of the vast, unexplored "To Come" apparent.

What! Evidently, the very first senior he is to view has attained success in his chosen profession. A sharp, masculine voice booms over the radio, "Left, right, left..." Eager for a good look at Jimmie Baird in charge of a company of soldiers, the Prophet trains his scope closer upon the student—and alas! the imagined vision is quickly banished! A long row of chorus girls wearily going through a morning rehearsal in Hollywood takes the place of the "epic and epic" khaki. However, as Jimmie suddenly yells, "Snap into it there!" it seems that he intends to be military in one respect—discipline.

The next scene would give some pupils a sense of homesickness. A student is "on the carpet" in an office. Soon discerning that it is president's office at Baylor College, Waco, Texas, the Seer looks hard before he can recognize Beth Barnes as the "Prof." who struggles bravely to be severe but wants so much to laugh at the frivolous but badly dressed young scholar.

He has to stare even harder, though, before he can realize the big, gruff Fort Worth policeman, whom everyone calls "Mike," to be Billy Baxter. It is known among his friends too, that Billy is the happiest of mortals, being kept so by his wife—a former classmate, Charlotte Moseley—who knows just how to manage him.

Another classroom so quiet and orderly a pupil could not dare to write a note for fear of the rustle of paper being instantly detected, as Rhea Boardman, retreating behind a big pair of glasses that make her look as a young owl, labors to impress upon the scatter-brained, fun-loving youth of Harvard College a little Hebrew—passes before the lenses.

Mary Bradford, becoming utterly bored with life—and her latest flame, surprises everyone by upsetting Helen Willis for America's tennis championship.

The succeeding scene takes the Crystal Gazer back to the farm and shows him a cozy home with plenty of freedom until he feels seriously in danger of breaking the tenth commandment. He is not a little startled to see a somewhat similar farm just to the right of the first. Annie Lee Brown and Alyene Burden, it is learned, are ideal New England farmeresses and neighbors.

A whole sea of faces next looms up before the powerful glass, but it is no trouble to pick out Jesse Brown, the smiling minister. In the congregation appear people of note all over the world. Not least important among them is Willis Burney, another senior of '35 and now a wealthy financier of Wall Street.

The picture gradually changes to another, gloomier section of the great American metropolis, where on a busy, bustling Saturday afternoon a demure Salvation Army miss distributes doughnuts—and her cheerful smiles—to hundreds of the city's distressed. Meanwhile, the Prophet, in spite of the extraordinary powers of discernment given him, is puzzled as to the identity of the dispenser of so much sunshine. He turns his gaze idly to the newspapers carried by the small urchin just now receiving his doughnuts. A long, romantic story about "Christine Buse, Wealthy Help-Selfy Heiress, Great Charity Worker in Salvation Army" catches his eye. Glancing up as the boy moves on, he beholds the now recognized heiress blushing painfully as she, too, had seen the story.

Bedlam seems to have broken loose suddenly as the scene shifts rapidly to Chicago. Frenzied yells come over the radio and a seething mob is seen in the telescope. Just as the Prophet is about to decide it to be only a political convention of 1930, a fog appears to lift and a baseball diamond to be the cause of so much commotion. The view is centered, though, upon the press box; where is seen May Cammell busily taking down in shorthand an account of the opening game of the season. If interviewed, she would probably inform one that she will be "going places and seeing things" soon as a foreign correspondent.

Holland Cheaney, it seems, has made a profession out of a diversion—auto racing. It is plain, though, that he does not rush much in other affairs of life, as it is rumored that his long time courtship of a former classmate, Christine Zachary, is about to terminate in a sensational marriage the next week.

Two nurses, one dark and one fair, are seen looking out a window in a Houston hospital. There is no difficulty in distinguishing Velma Cruger and Gladys Creamer. They are inseparable friends and intend going abroad soon to study medicine.

Dora Davis is also enjoying a quiet married life. She has been made even happier by winning the Nobel prize by writing during leisure time.

Utah. Sylvia Ann Everett, previously an efficient stenographer for a Dallas business firm, has just signed a contract for a minor part in a Metro-Goldwyn comedy. Big things sometimes have little beginnings, you know.

A large room moves quickly up before the glass. At first, the Mystery Solver wonders if it is to be a moving picture studio where he will see more of Sylvia Ann and is somewhat surprised to behold instead an Indian curio museum. He is more astonished, however, when he spies, half hidden by a big totem, Marjorie Fleming, the supervisor.

From a window he has been watching a circus just come to town. Upon closer observation, he discovers one of the tight-rope walkers to be none other than "Fannie" Fletcher. After still further progress among the clowns, acrobats, lion tamers, etc., he comes upon Floyd Gilbreath sitting on a pile of rocks and complaining that if he has to drive another stake he simply will be too exhausted to do a single stunt that night.

Rex Golston, at almost the very beginning of his profession as attorney-at-law, has climbed already to a seat in the House, where at the present he is reciting at a group of his political friends' request, the disadvantages of a certain bill under consideration.

Floyd Goodjohn, having selected accountancy as a career, is determined to stop only at the top.

Frances Gregg is already a successful opera singer. It is said she pleases her audiences greatly by her modest blushing at applause.

The next revelation, upon second thought, does not surprise the Prophet one bit. Winston Hall has become a great cinema critic. He always had a remarkable fondness for seeing shows, you know.

Mattie Haynes, popularly acclaimed Amelia Earhart the Second, has just completed a non-stop flight around the world. She was accompanied by her high school chum, Ora Alice Newman, now international poet laureate.

Mary Hoopes has also reached international fame as the most skilled surgeon the world has ever known.

Evelyn Kirkpatrick has become rich lady's secretary and is traveling abroad, where she meets Ruth Marie Moore, French countess.

Dosh T. McCreary is a judge, with hopes of attaining the Supreme Court bench.

Mildred McDonald and Mary Ola Milligan have received a great deal of publicity as up-to-date educators. At present, both are teaching in the University of Michigan.

Eddie Vaughn Mills is an electrical engineer, seeming to bend very amused glances upon the radio. Probably he is merely thinking what an ancient, unimproved sort it is.

Leon Morgan and Weldon Spence have become secret service men working along the Mexican border.

Zelda Ruth Moseley is an artist, also married to a rich old bachelor and living in Spain.

Mozelle Moss is a florist in Houston, where a glimpse of Oran Mullis, owner of excursion boats to the Gulf, is obtained.

Madge Phillips Vardeman is another senior sailing happily the sea of matrimony. She is with her husband in South America.

The view becomes more familiar and the Prophet soon realizes that he is again at home in Coleman County, where Mar. Gladys Pope is Home Demonstration Agent.

Floyd Powers is in Florida and a champion diver.

Vernon Ragsdale is a somewhat great figure in the golfer's world. He has given up hope of ever possessing a great stature, but makes ample amends by his accuracy.

Willie C. Revel is a telephone operator and junior partner in a San Antonio Telephone company.

Eleanor and Glenn Ridings, celebrated chemists, bring no little glory to themselves by discovering the cure for a new plague infesting the earth.

Billye Jean Riley vows she can never find life dull while continuing to be a radio crooner.

Elizabeth Rollins is a Parisian beauty expert.

Faye Routh is leader of the movement against abolition of the woman suffrage amendment.

The atmosphere grows so chill that the Prophet really cannot repress a shiver. Away on every side stretches barren, snow-covered hills of Alaska, down which comes a freight-laden sleigh. As it draws near and stops, Dawson See slowly unfolds himself from what had been thought a mere stack of furs and it is learned that he is an ethnologist. It also leaked out that under cover of freighting he occasionally prospects for gold.

Bess Shield, having become very wealthy and married an American foreign service man, is on her way to England where she will be presented in court.

Ernestine Thames is an interior decorator living in Del Rio, where she too, often sings over the radio.

Inez Tucker is high school librarian in a nearby town.

Aurella Tweedle is at her estate on Long Island. She is a leading society lady among the New Yorkers.

Scott Wallace, having turned country gentleman, is fishing in Canada.

Winifred Watson earns his livelihood as a photographer in Fort Worth.

Jesse and Roy Williams are managers of a Cincinnati, Ohio, insurance company.

The last senior, Kathryn Wylie, is a cartoonist and has a daily comic strip in the "Star Telegram."

Of course, it should be understood that, in spite of other occupations, most of the group had found time to marry the "dearest girl" or the "only man." Nature would have been no longer nature had they not.

Exhausted, the Mystery Penetrator bids everyone adieu and sincerely hopes they are satisfied with the images he has shown them of the great "To Be."

MISS BAXTER ENTERTAINS

Miss Josie Baxter entertained the members of her Physical Training Class and other guests with a delightful breakfast Wednesday morning. The tables were arranged out-of-doors where a riot of flowers, dew-washed shrubbery, and trees made a very pleasant setting.

Following the breakfast, which was served very attractively, a short program was rendered during which Mr. Ross K. Prescott gave the main address on the value of physical education. Others spoke on physical education and the benefits derived from the class.

Members present were Mesdames Roy Stockard, A. L. Oder, Lawrence J. Smith, A. L. Haley, R. W. Balke, F. A. Rollins, Leon Morgan, J. W. Kirkpatrick, Norval Wylie, Lucille Malone, and Miss Lena Jane Barlett. Other guests included Messrs. R. K. Prescott, Lawrence J. Smith, Clyde Dean, Rev. A. L. Haley, and Larry Smith.

TRICKHAM H. D. C.

The Trickham Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Walter Stacy last Thursday, and studied small garden enemies. Plant lice, small green sucking bugs are usually found just under the surface of the leaves, and as a rule attack cabbage, melons, and cucumbers. Miss Alice Glenn Young, county Home Demonstration Agent, gave a formula for use during the month of May when the insects are most likely to injure garden products. She said that 2 tablespoons of Black Leaf 40, and a piece of laundry soap on inch square in a gallon of water used as a spray will destroy the pests.

Ten members of the Club were present for the discussion. They also enjoyed a peppy game of "Stir the Froth" arranged by Mrs. Joe Stacy.

Plans were made for a picnic on June 6 to which the husbands of the Club members have been invited.

One visitor, Mrs. Tom Stacy was present.

Now we can Both SEE!

THIS wise father has put his reading lamp to double use. He found that when both he and his son shared the same light neither one could really see properly. So here's what he did: He bought a floor lamp equipped with an indirect lighting reflector. In the sockets under the shade he put 60-watt lamps for reading. In the reflector at the top he inserted a 300-watt Mazda lamp.

Now they can both see. Dad can place the lamp wherever he wants it without robbing the boy of the light he needs. In order to be sure that you have the right kind of light, ask for the free services of our lighting expert. He will measure your light with the Sight Meter. Then you will know. PARENT TEACHERS OBSERVE NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK

The Ward School Parent Teacher Association met Wednesday, May 15, in regular session and to observe National Music Week. Annually, a week is set aside by mayors, governors and the president of the United States in which the public, as well as musicians are asked to join in paying tribute to the culture and enjoyment which the art brings to each individual and the nation as a whole. President Roosevelt has said, concerning National Music Week: "I have a deep conviction that people who love music strive also for the best in other things. I am glad that this celebration is to continue year by year because music justly occupies a very great place in the cultural life of the people of our country." Mrs. C. B. Verner read a most interesting article, taken from "The Etude," "Why Every Child Should Have Music." Piano pupils of Miss Elsie Lee Harper, Mrs. E. D. McDonald, and Mrs. A. M. Turner gave musical selections. They were: 1. Harvest Moon by Harold Moore Spencer - Betty Ruth Blue. 2. Dolly's Funeral by Tschovkowsky - Merle Ferguson. 3. Spinning Song, by Elmreich - Alice Jane Lovelady. 4. Coming of Spring by Sarah Bravers - Talmage Turner. 5. The Butterfly by Merkel - Annette Shield. Miss Jewell Smith read a paper on "Immunization and Death Rate of Diphtheria." Following the program a resume of the year's work was given by the chairman of the standing committees. Delegates to the County P. T. A. Council were elected. They are Mrs. L. J. Smith, Mrs. Jess Howard, and Mrs. R. Balke. Following the business meeting the officers for the next year were installed by Mrs. C. B. Verner. The officers are: Mrs. M. A. Edwards, president; Mrs. J. L.
