CONVERTS ATTIC INTO BEDROOM

A small attic room in her home has challenged Oneita H. McClain. Reddell, of the Leaday Home Demonstration Club, to take the bedroom demonstration. The room is very small with steeply sloping ceilings and walls, one window in the east and a door in the west. She plans to make the room light and liveable through the use of thin, light curtains, light wall paper and woodwork, and the addition of a small dressing table, gay rugs, a suitable bedspread, and a low chair. It will be interesting to watch the progress of this attic room being transformed into a liveable bedroom.

Our admiration for this country grows as time goes on. No country but a truly great country could have stood what this country is going through and still exist with its credit unimpaired and its financial structure as sound as it has ever been. Those who are in a position to know say that the resource of this country is such that it can continue spending as it is at present for ten years without impairing our credit. The per capita debt in England is $800. In this country the per capita debt is $200.

General Hugh Johnson set a new record for official frankness when he stated in committee meeting that the chief fault with the NRA was his own failure to properly and efficiently administer it. It takes a big man to admit his short comings thus in a public confession.

Some one has worked out this simple formula for success. It sounds so sensible and so reasonable we pass it on: "Simply do the things you already know you ought to do, and stop doing the things you already know you ought not to do."

SAHS. A Difference There!

If a person works extraordinarily hard and feels that he deserves a little blue along with red, he sometimes tells the others all about his expectations. He will brag until they really expect a glorious array of A's, and then he gets the report card! Too late he sees his sad mistake; that is when he feels his least!

The other fellow though, quietly vows that a better showing will be his. He works until he is almost dead, but he is far too proud to boast. His report marked the rivers, trails, cities, card comes at last and he has made the grade. His joy is now complete.

"Hey, John," she cries, "Let's see your grade." "I'm afraid, dear Jane, could do better.'

However, when he shows his card, that fellow feels his best!
