Mountain Echoes

By Barbara
Kingsbery

Local druggist Robert Barkley is touring the middle East and is remembering kindly all us home folks.

One meager little post card arrived at Phillips Drug this week with the following message:

"This card is for Mrs. T., Mrs. K., Cline, and all the coffee sots that lounge around in there--including bankers, ginners, (and other loafers), farmers, newspaper tycoons, government employees, experts, weather forecasters and other liars--and anyone else that thinks I should have sent them an expensive air-mail, fullcolor post card from the Middle East."

bk
Although most of you destroy your old copies of the NEWS, some subscribers send them to relatives, then on to friends, etc.

Dick and Rose Bass send the NEWS to their son, Bennie, who is in the Air Force stationed in Italy. Bennie in turn sends the paper to friends who are currently living on the "white cliffs of Dover" in England.

The people in England have no connections with our mountain city people, other than being friends of friends, but they report an interest in Santa Anna happenings and especially in the content of a small town weekly newspaper.

We readily admit there is no similarity between the NEWS and any city publication--nor do we try.

bk
After a few days of cool weather last week, this week has been especially hot--and dry--in this area. Everyone but the cotton farmers are wishing for a good rain, and they would probably not object.

S-Anna Steer Roper Wins Again

James Allen, Santa Anna's own RCA cowboy, is back at home for the winter after covering over 50,000 miles since last spring. The 1971 national champion Steer Roper almost repeated his record this past weekend as he was runner-up in the 1972 National Finals and ended in fifth place in the RCA steer roping standings--the identical position as last year. The Pawhuska, Oklahoma steer roping finals last weekend climaxed the 1972 season which was the best season, money-wise, of Allen's.

The Pawhuska roping last weekend moved James from eighth to fifth in the championship standings after he won first in one go-around and fourth in another.

On a new horse, Snip purchased last winter from Bill Pennington of Fort Worth, James won nearly $13,000 during the season. His other three roping horses, ridden only when he had to, accounted for another $1,200 during the season.

James attributes his success to Skip, a 10-year-old unregistered gelding that is a half-brother to Micky, the horse on which roper Dean Oliver won five RCA championships. James, a well-known horse trainer, trained Skip last winter, and thinks he is the best mount he has ever had.

Many of the miles on the rodeo circuit were in the northwest which included rodeos Oregon, Washington, Montana, Colorado, Nebraska and Oklahoma. At Pendleton James was runner-up for the all-around title which he won in 1971.

Not all the prizes are cash. At one roping James was awarded a pair of silver mounted spurs for tying the fastest steer in the show, and at another roping he was awarded a bronze sculpture of a roper and steer made by a young Western artist and valued at $1,500. The sculpture is now on display at the First Coleman National Bank in Coleman. The Santa Anna roper was a winner at 12 of the 19 RCA ropings he entered this year.

Allen and Skip will be resting awhile from the lengthy circuit, then it is back to work on the family ranch and his winter occupation as a horse trainer.

James already has 15 horses to train for steer roping and expects others during the next few months. His wife, Ann, and their four children help with the training process, which includes working the chutes for the roping. Guy, an eighth grade student, is his father's main helper with the horses, and Gip, aged 12, is "the best chute help there is", according to Allen.

Allen's horse training ability was proven when one of the horses he trained was among the mounts in the national finals last weekend. Owned and ridden by Dewey David of Riverton, Wyoming, the Allen-trained horse won in two go-arounds of the roping.

James, son of Orville Allen and the late Bertha Allen, has been roping as long as he can remember. He started roping goats from a Shetland pony about the time he started to school. Encouragement from his father and older brother, Willard, now of Brownwood, and help and advice from Max Horne and Tom Kingsbery, have been instrumental in his roping career.

Although James is at home for awhile, the ropings will continue. He will go to Happy later this month for a steer roping and to the big San Angelo Steer roping on November 4 and 5.

WELL MOUNTED. . . James Allen, Santa Anna RCA steer roper, has returned home after completing the 1972 steer roping circuit. He ended the season at the National Steer Roping Finals at Pawhuska, Oklahoma, where he was second place in the average and ended with fifth place in the RCA steer roping standings. Allen is shown atop Snip, his favorite roping horse that carried him to the winners' circle.

Rule Bobcats Maul Mounies

The Santa Anna High School football team has an open date this week after suffering the third defeat of the season last Friday night.

The Rule Bobcats, a powerhouse in Class B football circles, won over the Mountaineers by a 27-0 score.

The Rule record is 5-0 for the season while Santa Anna posts a 2-3 standing.

The Bobcats scored a touchdown in each quarter of play and all but one extra point was good. The Mounies made some good gains on the ground but could never reach pay dirt.

The Mountaineers get into district competition next week when they host the Ranger High School team on Friday night, October 27. The district games will all begin at 7:30 p. m.

1972 First Bale Is Ginned For Mr. S. M. Fellers

S. M. Fellers of near Trickham had the first bale of cotton ginned this season at the Santa Anna Co-op Gin. The cotton was brought in Monday morning, October 9.

The bale was from 2300 pounds of seed cotton and ginned out 625 pounds and looked like very good quality cotton according to Pierre Rowe, temporary manager of the gin.

Shortly after the first bale arrived, J. D. Brown of Brown County arrived with two bales of cotton, making three bales ginned by mid-afternoon Monday.

ISRAEL - 9-29-72
 Dear Barbara:

Traveling in Israel is an experience that can only be done—but never adequately described. But since your readers are not here eating stuffed squash and falaffel in person, maybe sharing a few impressions with them will be helpful.

Two big impressions: the new and the old. First the new: Israel has all the marks of progress—from air pollution in Haifa to modern sprinkling systems in the Esdraelon valley. Buildings are going up in every area, especially highrise apartment buildings. Nazareth, the town where Jesus was raised, for example, was only a tiny village until recently. It now numbers about 55,000 people and is still growing. Tel Aviv, Israel's largest city, was only a stretch of sand dunes along the Mediterranean Sea just 25 years ago.

Some things new are only old problems with modern dress. In every place there are soldiers by the hundreds, many carrying new automatic weapons as they wait for a bus or hitch-hike home for a weekend. Much of the heavy taxation in Israel is allotted for military purposes. War, however, is old in Israel. At every ancient archeological site, one is reminded of the great battles of Kings Saul and David, and such early leaders as judge Deborah and conqueror Joshua. Life goes on undisturbed here although swept-winged jets roar overhead daily and the evening news-casting report daily skirmishes between Israel and the neighboring Arab countries.

The old is Israel's greatest asset. Millions of tourists flood the county annually and require the services of many modern hotels, restaurants, and transportation facilities. But they mostly come to see the remnants of the world's most historically interesting area.

The old here is really old. When I think of the U. S. and things old, such places as Philadelphia and Boston come to mind with historical sites perhaps three centuries old at most. Here it is common to speak of a city or excavation from 30 or 40 centuries ago. Many "digs" have produced treasures dating to the times of the patriarchs of the Old Testament—Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

The influence of many cultures can be seen throughout the land, one wave of people building over the remains of former times and each leaving their mark for today's archeologists and historians and tourists to see and study.

As far as traveling to Israel is concerned, let me recommend it highly as very worthwhile and relatively inexpensive. Hotels and restaurants are somewhat cheaper than in United States, but of course if you want to live high and spend alot, you will have opportunities to do so. No special visa or shots are required, English is widely spoken, and Americans are treated with friendliness.

The food is almost completely new to American tastes. Some widely eaten things are familiar: tomatoes, figs, olives, pickles, rice. But there the similarity ends. Falaffel, the Israeli answer to the hamburger is a split piece of tough, flat bread (pitta), stuffed with small fried balls of dough with a meaty flavor, tomato pieces, pickles, and cucumber chips. This combination sounds strange, but the result is a filling and cheap meal served on every street corner all day long.

Hello to everyone in Santa Anna.
 Robert Barkley

In Our Opinion

By W. T. HAYS

THE BELDEN POLL, a Texas polling organization which has polled voters in this state for many years, recently said that President Richard Nixon would carry 59 per cent of the state's votes with Sen. George McGovern getting 35 per cent and six percentage points divided between others and undecided.

This is pretty close to what was predicted from the end of the Democratic convention when the McGovern forces took over and nominated "the one most likely to fail" to unseat the President.

In the first place, it is pretty hard for any party to unseat a president after his first term, unless he has been pretty terrible, and most will agree that Mr. Nixon has not been that bad. Further, with a pretty large segment of the population bordering on the conservative, McGovern's political ideology just won't get him elected.

We will be the first to say that some of McGovern's idea are not bad. It is mainly the extreme that he goes to in what he proposes. There is no one who would say that the administration can do no wrong. There are complaints that come from all segments of the population, and the minority groups of this country have been the "fall guys" for years and years. We agree that they deserve a better break than they have gotten. However, we can't go along with a large guaranteed income that will go to anyone without any effort on their part, whether they be white, black, brown or yellow. Say what you will, the WPA required those on its rolls to do some work for their money, and as a consequence, many civic projects became a reality that would never have happened without them.

If either administration would come up with a plan that would require those on welfare, those physically able that is, to do something to earn what they get, then they would get some support from every segment of the population, all races, and all creeds.

Another thing that divides the country is the Viet Nam war and there are extremes on both sides of that. Some of us who would like to see the end of the war believe that there is an "in-between" area from the two extremes. There are those who want to end the war by capitulation to the enemy and hoping that they will "do right" by us, and there are those who would have us go "all out" in trying to destroy the enemy. We believe that both are wrong, but that we do need to keep enough pressure on the north to cause them to want to negotiate an end to the fighting.

Most Americans are not brutal, even though you would sometimes think so at a football game. We don't enjoy reading or seeing pictures of the suffering in either north or south Viet Nam, but history has borne out the saying "War is Hell" and we have grown accustomed to brutality in war time. The human element in each of us seeks revenge for the killing of civilians in the south until we will overlook the same thing in the north. And we will not condemn the south for their killing and overlook the same thing from the north.

It just boils down to the fact that what Nixon has done will more nearly coincide with the thinking of the average citizen than will the theories that have been put forth by McGovern.

If things don't change radically, you can count on a Republican President for four more years.

The Rockwood 4-H Club member was one of the 15 finalists in the State contest, representing Coleman County and District 7.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Bryan of Rockwood, Leann was winner of both the county and district contests and winner of the all-cotton awards.

She and her mother went to Dallas Thursday and were on hand for the judging Friday morning, a luncheon at noon Friday, and two style shows Saturday held in the Women's Building at the Fair.

Leann's winning outfit was a brown leather-look cotton fabric hot pants and tunic over a beige waffle-weave long sleeved blouse. Matching beige knee boots completed her ensemble.

Leann is a senior at Santa Anna High School where she is active in many clubs and organizations. She has entered the "Make it Yourself With Wool" contest for several years and competed on the state level last year with a Western suit she had made.

Upon graduation from high school Leann plans to attend college to study fashion designing or home making.

The additional set-aside provision is again being offered under the 1973 wheat program to encourage retirement of additional land to prevent excessive wheat production. An acreage up to one hundred fifty percent of the domestic allotment may be set aside for payment if the set-aside base is this large or larger. We feel that it is very important that you understand the method for determining the base from which voluntary additional set-aside may be made.

The first consideration is the 1972 wheat acreage certified as planted for harvest. Secondly, the 1972 additional set-aside is added in and the total of the two constitutes the 1973 set-aside base. However, in cases where the 1972 certified acres plus additional set-aside is less than the allotment, planting credit given to prevent allotment loss, (substitution, prevented planting, failed acreage, grazed off acreage) will be used to the extent needed to bring the set-aside base up to the domestic allotment.

You will notified on November 1 of your 1973 set-aside base for your farm. From this you subtract any intended 1973 additional set-aside and the result is the wheat permitted acreage you can have remaining for harvest. The 1973 set-aside base is important only to those who wish to offer additional acreage for payment in excess of that requires to participate in the program. If you elect to set-aside only the required or minimum acreage, you will still be eligible for wheat certificates and your wheat acreage is not restricted.

If you planted less wheat, or lost wheat acreage in 1972 because of drought, flood, hail or other natural disaster, you can request consideration for a possible adjustment in your 1973 set-aside base. Requests must be filed within fifteen days from the date of the letter to be mailed November 1.

SPACE AGE

Present-day rapidity of progress makes yesterday's luxuries the necessities of tomorrow.

If by any circumstance there would be a candidate for president of the USA who had laid waste to virtually two small countries, killing people with bombs, napalm and other instruments of war, indiscriminately, forcing our own citizens to participate in these criminal activities and making levity about people who protest these activities as the police take them away, I would not be a party to these crimes by voting for him or his cohorts.

DON'T TAKE RURAL TEXANS FOR A RIDE... ...AND DON'T TAKE US FOR GRANTED.

HERE'S WHAT NIXON IS DOING TO RURAL AMERICA

WHEAT SCANDAL - Giant wheat exporters made huge profits at the expense of individual wheat farmers, many in Texas, on Soviet trade.

TAXES - Wall Street Journal says federal laws favor the corporation or investor who farms on the side for a tax write-off.

FARM ISSUES - Under Nixon, parity dropped the lowest since 1933. Nixon held up payments of nearly $400 million for feed grains in 1970, forcing farmers to borrow at highest interest rates in history.

CONGLOMERATE SCANDALS - Big Business first, the public second - that's the Republican philosophy. Anti-trust suit against ITT dropped at the same time ITT pledged $400,000 to finance Republican Convention.

Harry S. Truman said, 'The Republicans admire our government so much they want to buy it.'

Let's face it. The Republicans just haven't changed much since the days of our grandfathers. They still favor Big Business over the average working man and woman. And while they're taking us for a ride, they keep telling us what a 'dangerous radical' Senator McGovern is.

That's what they said about Harry S. Truman.

HERE'S WHAT McGOVERN IS DOING FOR RURAL AMERICA

HIS STANDING - George McGovern has been elected time and again as a Democrat from a Republican farm state . . . because they know where he stands.

TAXES - His tax proposal would end the loopholes for tax-loss farming by giant corporations and the wealthy individuals who compete unfairly with family farmers. McGovern's proposal calls for the same tax on capital gains as on earnings.

FARM ISSUES - He sponsored and co-sponsored: Meat Import Limitation Law; Dairy Import Act; Wheat, Feed Grain, and Soybean Emergency Reserve Bill; Rural Development, Rural Job Development, and Rural Telephone Acts; Farm Credit Act; and other pieces of important legislation.

HIS BELIEFS - George McGovern knows that the answers to many of our most pressing problems in America today can be found by developing genuine opportunities for everyone in our small towns and rural areas throughout the country.

Let's not be taken for granted by the Nixon Republicans. Rural America has always fared best under a Democratic administration. If you want to stand up and do something good for rural America, the answer is to help put a Democrat in the White House. We need George McGovern . . . and George McGovern needs us.

RURAL TEXANS NEED A DEMOCRAT.

RURAL TEXANS NEED McGOVERN

NEW DPS POST TO SAHS GRAD WENDELL REHM

Wendell Rehm, son of Mrs. Lillian Rehm Hodges of Coleman, has been assigned to the Safety Education Service of the Department of Public Safety in a ten-county area which includes Coleman County. He will be working with news media, schools, civic clubs, industry, etc., coordinating safety programs and promoting safety.

Rehm began work in his new position October 1. His wife and their children, Braxton and Jae Lynn, will join him in Abilene later this month.

The former Rockwood resident and Santa Anna High School graduate has worked in Snyder the past ten years as a Highway Patrolman with the DPS. He joined the DPS in June 1960 and after graduation from the law enforcement academy in Austin was assigned to work in Mitchell County. He also worked two years in Colorado City before moving to Snyder.

SDA Minister Speaks Against Any Addiction

"The older generation must remove youth's excuse for pot smoking," says Pastor Miller of the Santa Anna-Coleman Seventh-day Adventist church.

Young people have pushed for legalization of marijuana because their parents use alcohol," said Miller. "And the kids have a point. It's forced this nation to focus on alcoholism which is more of a menace than many people want to admit."

Adventists, the church leader emphasized, have no quarrel with which is worse. "Both are drugs which do not help the nation's health," Miller said.

The church has introduced several programs aimed at solving the problems. Besides such rehabilitation programs as the 5-day Plan to Stop Smoking and the Four-dimensional Key to the cause of alcoholism, Adventists maintain a vigorous education program on drug abuse.

"We'd like to put the brakes on before the next generation is hooked on alcohol, tobacco, and drugs," said Miller. "Much information young people get is one-sided—the glamorous ads, the example of social drinkers, or peer pressure to smoke or drop a little acid."

Adventists support "Listen" Magazine, which promotes the value of a nonhooked life. The monthly journal features fact articles, personal experiences, and personality sketches of athletes and other teen heroes who endorse this way of life.

The magazine was the first to publish the revolutionary studies of Dr. Melvin H. Knisely, professor and researcher at the University of South Carolina. Knisely's studies, reported in "Reader's Digest" (June, 1970, Alcohol and Your Brain) indicate that drinking dangers the brain permanently from the first drink.

"We religiously believe," stated Pastor Miller, "that a life without false dependencies is going to have fewer conflicts, more meaning. This, besides freedom from adverse effects of alcohol, tobacco, and narcotics, is going to make for better health. He added, "We think that's part of what Christ meant when He talked of the "more abundant life."
