Mountain Echoes

There is no way to accurately report on the rain in our community during the past week. Each part of the area has had different amounts, all welcome.

The Rockwood-Whon portion of the community has had the least of all, and what has fallen has been in light showers. Our official report for Santa Anna was not available. However we all know it rained nearly every day during the last week.

We know the quickest way to vacate an area.

A light hail storm passed through town Tuesday afternoon and within minutes all the automobiles on the downtown street had disappeared. You wouldn't believe how fast Mildred Galloway got from the hardware store to her auto which was parked just around the corner.

The hail—marble sized variety—covered the ground downtown but none whatsoever fell at the west city limit. No damage was reported from the brief storm.

The recent rains have brought out the wild flowers which usually bloom in April. A new crop of blue bonnets are in bloom since the late rains, and the roadsides and pastures are a mass of color.

The end of school is just a week away. Santa Anna students will have final examinations on May 25 and 26.

Junior high graduation will be Saturday night, May 27, and the high school graduation will be on Monday night, May 29.

The big annual graduation issue of the NEWS will be next week.

Probation Man Gives Program At Lions Club

Lee Jones, probation officer for a four-county area, was a guest at the Tuesday meeting of the Santa Anna Lions Club and presented the program to the group. He told of his job with both adults and juveniles and of the work he has in the Santa Anna area. Mr. Jones was a guest of Cullen Perry.

During the brief business session, club members chose an electric clock, inscribed with the club's name, as the award for being one of the two high-point clubs in this zone. The new clock will be installed in the clubroom. The group also voted to purchase a first aid kit to be kept in the building.

Quarterback Club To Meet Monday

The Santa Anna Quarterback Club will meet next Monday night, May 22, at the high school. President Bob Burton has called the meeting at 7:30 p. m. to discuss the summer baseball program which is sponsored by the club.

All members of the Quarterback Club are urged to attend and parents of children participating in the summer program are requested to be present.

CJC Extension Classes Start Tuesday, June 6

Cisco Junior College will inaugurate a new extension program in Coleman beginning with the summer semester of 1972, according to an announcement by Dr. Leland Willis, CJC President and Carroll Scott, Dean of Faculty. The Coleman classes are set to begin with registration on June 6.

The program will be similar to the ones already in operation in Graham and Cross Plains whereby the Cisco college offers various courses which are held in the facilities of the high schools in those cities.

The Coleman extension program will begin on a quite large scale with seven different courses being offered for the first semester of summer school, Mr. Scott said. All classes will be evening meetings, which will enable people with day jobs to enroll, he continued.

The complete schedule is as follows:
MONDAY - WEDNESDAY PLUS ONE FRIDAY (Five weeks)

English 113 Composition and Rhetoric (Freshman English)
Government 214 American National Government

Psychology 113 General Psychology
TUESDAY - THURSDAY PLUS ONE FRIDAY (Five weeks)

English 213 Readings in English Literature (sophomore English)

History 113 History of the U. S. to 1865

Math 113 College Algebra
Sociology 213 Principles of Sociology

Mr. Scott said that each class would meet from 6:45 to 10:15 each evening held, with classes beginning on June 7.

Registration will be held at Coleman High School on Tuesday evening, June 6, from 6 to 7 p. m. with classes beginning the following evening.

Cost for one three-hour course is $35.25, and two courses will total $65.50 for Texas residents. Scott explained that the very low tuition cost is due to Cisco Junior College's being a state-supported school, and students taking the courses in the extension programs are eligible for the same state tuition level as are those going to school on the main campus in Cisco.

Mr. Scott further pointed out that a class must have at least 12 students to be held, but that CJC and Coleman school officials were anticipating adequate enrollments for all seven classes. He also said that any course listed in the CJC catalogue could be offered if there was a sufficient demand of 12 or more students desiring the course.

President Willis stated that "Cisco Junior College is very happy to work with friends in Coleman in instituting this new extension program there. We feel confident that the people of that area will respond and show a real interest in establishing an extension program for higher education in that region of the Big Country."

A number of Santa Anna people have expressed interest in the classes and will be among those enrolled.

MOVED TO TOWN

Mrs. Lige Lancaster has moved into Santa Anna and is residing in an apartment at the downtown Mountain City complex. Mrs. Lancaster moved from the family farm in the Trickham community.

Fund Drive For Scout Troop 30 Now Underway

The Santa Anna Boy Scouts are having a fund drive to purchase needed equipment for Troop 30. Bob Burton, Scoutmaster, is in charge of the drive.

Tents, water cans, repairs to the Scout hut, and construction of a rifle range are among the items planned by the funds.

Letters requesting help for the organization have been sent to many local people, and all donations to the group will be appreciated, according to Mr. Burton.

Santa Anna Man Gets BS Degree From Tarleton

Ted Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ford, received his bachelor of science degree in agriculture education from Tarleton State College last Sunday.

Ford had completed his requirements in practice teaching last week in the Comanche High School agriculture department.

While at Tarleton, Ted has been on the dean's list and was a member of the livestock judging team which won many honors over the state.

Ford is recipient of an assistantship grant from the Houston Livestock Show and will enter graduate school at TSC this fall and serve as assistant professor in the animal husbandry labs. The grant was awarded for Ted's participation in stock shows in high school and college and for academic achievement in TSC.

Ford's wife, the former Diana Blackwell, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Blackwell of Brownwood and formerly of Rockwood. The couple will reside in Santa Anna this summer where Ted will work with his father in the welding business.

Four More Kids Pre-Enrolled For 1972 Term

Pre-enrollment is continuing for the 1972-73 kindergarten-Headstart class which will begin at the next school term. Only six children were enrolled at the first session last week and four more have been enrolled since that time. The four new names are Deborah Jean Bodine, Chris DeLeon, Joe Enriquez, and Michelle Roach.

There are about 25 children in the kindergarten - headstart program this year and that many are expected for the coming term. It is helpful to have the children pre-enrolled so that the teacher, Mrs. Sue Newman, may make preparations during the summer months.

Any children who will be five years old on or before Sept. 1, 1972, are invited to enroll in the local kindergarten-headstart class. Mrs. Newman will be available from 3:30 to 4:00 p. m. each weekday for parents and children to enroll.

Local Student Top Winner In MOD Walkathon

Janice Martin, SAHS junior student, was top prize winner in the recent March of Dimes Walkathon. Although not among the first to finish the entire 20.9 mile round trip walk from Coleman to Santa Anna, Janice had the most sponsors and collected the most money for the March of Dimes.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felton Martin of Trickham, Janice enlisted 76 sponsors for the walk and collected $100.13. She received two certificates from the Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority, sponsors of the walk, and 12 merchandise prizes from Coleman merchants.

Bobby Dela Rosa of Coleman was first to complete the walk; Edward Diaz, 12, was the youngest to make the foot tour; Micky Bartley, 21, was the oldest; and Lisa Herring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Herring of Santa Anna, was the first girl to complete the walk.

A total of $1,164.28 has been collected from the sponsors, and more money is still to be collected and turned in by the people who took part in the walkathon.

Report Given Of Screw Worms Near Trickham

Coleman County's first confirmed case of screw worms was reported last week. A worm specimen from the nose of a young calf was confirmed as a screw worm by the Texas Animal Health Lab at Mission. The local outbreak was in the S. D. Cupps herd on the Bear Yarbrough place on Home Creek.

Cattle in the Cupps herd and surrounding herds were sprayed after the confirmed case was reported, and the area marked so that air drops of sterile flies could be made.

The screw worms in Coleman County are the first in the immediate area although Mills County has had one case reported this year.

All stock farmers and ranchers are urged to watch their livestock for signs of screw worms and to send in samples of any worms that might be of that variety. Vials for mailing the samples are available at County Agent's office in Coleman and at the Santa Anna National Bank.

Final Concert Will Be Given By S. A. Bands

The school bands will present the annual end-of-school concert next Sunday afternoon, May 21. The concert will be held at the high school auditorium at 2:30 p. m.

Band director Aubrey Edwards will present the beginner band, junior band and the senior band in selections during the program.

There will be no admission charge and the public is urged to attend.

A two-year member of the Tarleton Rodeo Club, Vicki is serving as secretary of the organization this year.

Besides being active in the Rodeo Club, Vicki Jo is a member of the women's basketball team where she was chosen this year as one of the most valuable players. She was also on the deans list for the fall semester and was recently honored for her academic and collegiate group activities.

The 1970 SAHS graduate will return to TSC for the summer term.

Funeral Held For Grandson Of S. A. Woman

Lynn Cunningham, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Webb Cunningham of San Antonio, was buried on Tuesday, May 16, in Edna, Texas. The boy died early Monday in a San Antonio hospital of injuries he received in a motorcycle accident in San Antonio last week.

A former Santa Anna resident, Mrs. Cunningham will be remembered here as the former Ann Turner. The family resided in Santa Anna several years ago while Mr. Cunningham was overseas in the service.

Survivors include the parents; one half-brother, Dale Little of San Antonio; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Dewey Dixon of Santa Anna; and a number of uncles, aunts and cousins.

Mr. Cunningham is now out of the service and a deputy sheriff in Bexar County.

ed that the State's local fund assignment for the coming year will be $35,985, which is $700 above the amount for the present year.

Announcement was made of the Cisco Junior College extension program for Coleman County with classes to start early in June in Coleman.

The school board voted to endorse Ken Bowker for school counselor for the rural schools in the county. The final choice of cooperative counselor is made by the County School Board.

Following other miscellaneous discussion, the meeting adjourned.

Lone Star Gas Opens Office At Former Site

The Lone Star Gas office in Santa Anna has reopened this week as headquarters for the Santa Anna Unit, Abilene District, but not as a business office as before.

The building, located at the corner of South Santa Fe and South Second streets, has been remodeled inside and repainted outside and other work is being done at the location.

M. L. Leck of Brownwood is manager of the office which was formerly located in the Liberty Community. The rural building is now being used as storage by the company.

The Hartman Plumbing and Electric Co. is continuing as local business sub-station for the company.

In Our Opinion

By W. T. HAYS

A COMPARISON OF CRITICISM from different sources of the President's action in Southeast Asia is, to put it mildly, interesting at least.

The Russians were probably at least critical of the President's action. They said, in effect, that it was a dangerous move, and that such action invited retaliatory action, but they didn't unleash the usual bombast that follows an action of this importance. They did say that they would continue aid to North Vietnam.

The Red Chinese said we were "insolent" and claimed it was a "dangerous move of US imperialism to extend the war."

Now let's see what some of the front-running Democratic candidates for President said: They followed the Communist line almost to the letter.

President hopeful Hubert Humphrey said the President was flirting with disaster in resuming the bombing and mining the northern ports, while George McGovern couldn't have thrown a bigger fit if Nixon had mined his home driveway. Criticism also came from Kennedy and McCarthy had the nerve to stand in front of a bunch of demonstrators and tell them they were doing the right thing.

Such antics as these are music to the enemy's ears. They couldn't ask for more cooperation from an agent in the United States than they are getting from some of its presidential candidates.

What it all boils down to is that the Democrats are putting politics ahead of country. They know already that the hopes of the Democratic party this year are pretty slim, and we will have to agree with them unless the Democrats come up with a man the people can support — something they haven't come up with yet.

Secretary of the Treasury Connally told them right when he criticized Democratic action in the Senate last week when they voted disapproval of the President's Vietnam action. He said it was "shocking that candidates for the President would align themselves with such a position," and added that it might be possible that he would not vote Democratic this fall. He's not by himself.

There is no way this writer could support any candidate who would put his party above the best interests of the nation, or who would use such an action to try to win votes of a disillusioned few — and that is exactly what they have and are doing.

So we put thumbs down on Humphrey and McGovern Now! Also we will add the possibilities of Kennedy and McCarthy to the list — even though they are supposedly not candidates as of now.

IN COUNTY CONVENTIONS in Texas, most delegates elected will go to the state convention next month uncommitted. This could be good or bad. If the conventions elected solid citizens as delegates who are willing to run a straight, fair state convention, then it will be good.

But if the delegates are like some who have been present in past conventions, it could be bad. Usually there are groups who make every effort to steal the delegate votes for their candidate and they will use extreme moves to get the job done. This will be done in the district caucuses and the ultra liberals will try to get a committed delegation to McGovern or Humphrey while the conservatives will probably try to get them committed to Wallace.

An uncommitted delegation to the national convention would have tremendous bargaining power and would have a lot of effect on choosing the Democratic nominee. Used right they could help select a Democrat who could win in November — but used wrong could insure the re-election of Mr. Nixon.

Depending on one's point of view, that could be good or bad. If we have a dovish liberal running against Nixon in November, we can expect four more years under the Republican administration — like it or not.

STATE Capital NEWS
By BILL BOYKIN

Austin — Texans displayed at May 6 primaries a strong enough desire for new state governmental leadership to assure a change in top offices and a major legislative turn-over as well.

Reform candidates Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde and State Rep. Frances (Sissy) Farent-holz of Corpus Christi charged into the Democratic gubernatorial runoff. Mrs. Farent-holz scored a stunning upset over Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes. Smith finished a distant third. Republican gubernatorial runoff candidates are State Sen. Henry Grover and Albert B. Fay, both of Houston.

Houston newspaper executive Bill Hobby lead State Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville in the lieutenant governor's race and both already are campaigning hard for the June 3 runoff.

John Hill of Houston squeaked through without a runoff over Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin and Bill Pate of El Paso.

From there on, the state-wide incumbents managed to stay on top. One, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, led widely but was forced into a runoff with a former employe Jim Wallace of Austin.

Former U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough has a runoff with Barefoot Sanders for the Democratic nomination to face GOP Sen. John G. Tower.

There will be at least 14 new faces in the Texas State Senate, and all observers concede the body will be more conservative than the present Senate. Six senate seats will be decided by runoffs. Republicans will oppose Democrats in 12 general election races. One Republican Senator is unopposed.

In the House, a total of 64 incumbents did not seek reelection or were defeated. (Actually, 14 were defeated.) Sixteen more incumbents were forced into House runoffs, including Speaker Rayford Price of Palestine. More than 65 incumbent representatives were renominated. Republicans were nominated in 76 of the 150 districts.

CANE ACREAGE ALLOCATED — The U.S. Department of Agriculture has allocated 25,700 acres in the Lower Rio Grande Valley for sugar cane harvest.

The allotment includes counties of Hidalgo, Cameron, Willacy and Starr. Allocation is the first in almost 50 years for Texas and, according to U.S. Sen. John Tower, is expected to return a cash crop worth more than $50 million to Texas growers.

Cotton, citrus and vegetables are produced in the area, but Tower said growers need an additional crop with a stable economic base. Mainland sugar cane production in the U.S. has been concentrated in Louisiana and Florida. The allocation goes to Rio Grande Valley Sugar Growers Inc., a cooperative which already has 2,500 acres in cane which will be used for seed in the scheduled September 1973 processing.

MISSION SEEKS BUSINESS — A 10-member Texas trade mission team in Moscow and Bucharest may return with more than $60 million in business for oil drilling and petrochemical manufacturers.

Texas Industrial Commission said the mission which began last month offers an opportunity for Texas to take the first step toward capturing a portion of a virtually untapped $22 billion market in Eastern Europe.

The tour, organized by the petrochemical industry, is the first of its kind behind the iron curtain. It is designed to promote sales of oilfield equipment, refinery and chemical production equipment and instrumentation, controls and services of these operations.

STAMP PROGRAM PLANNED — The State Department of Public Welfare has been called on by the governor to develop a pilot food stamp program in preparation for a statewide plan.

A state-funded program will be proposed in the special session of the Legislature next month. Federal courts have ordered all counties to have either a food stamp or a food commodity program for the needy. The stamp program is expected to generate $235 million in economic activity.

COURTS SPEAK — The American Party once more was unsuccessful in trying to have the new law providing state financing for primary elections declared unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court.

The High Court, in another case, held by the owner of a factory in Hemphill was not liable for damages in an accident caused by an independent contractor hauling logs to the plant.

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld a Hays County district court decision on preventing a contractor from bringing a second suit over the same paving contract transaction against Holiday Inns.

APPOINTMENTS — W. E. (Buck) Tinsley of Austin has been re-appointed to a new six-year term on the Texas Water Development Board of which he has been chairman for the last year.

Governor Smith appointed Jefferson Kerney Brim Jr. of Sulphur Springs eighth district judge.

Smith picked W. L. Kindel of Houston, Mrs. Ida L. Kenney of San Antonio, Mrs. Printis E. Ellis of Paris and Dr. John T. King of Austin for membership on the Governor's Committee on Aging.

"BILLION DOLLAR" BOUNDARY VICTORY WON — Attorney General Martin hailed a favorable decision for Texas in a boundary dispute with Louisiana as "a billion dollar victory" for the state and the cities of Orange and Port Arthur.

A special master appointed by the U.S. Supreme Court decided Texas is entitled to the western half of Sabine River, Sabine Lake and Sabine Pass. Louisiana's claim to the entire stream was denied. Martin filed the suit in 1969. Louisiana will have an opportunity to file an objection to the master's decision in the court.

GRAND JURY PROBE BEGINS — Travis County grand jury this week began an investigation of hiring practices of two state legislators.

The panel subpoenaed daughters of Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford and Rep. John Allen of Longview and several other witnesses. Ratliff and Allen hired each other's children over a period of years.

House and Senate payroll clerks have been instructed to bring their records on certain employees of Ratliff and Allen. Ratliff resigned April 26 after widespread newspaper coverage of the hiring practices.

NEW WELFARE GUIDELINES ADOPTED — New guidelines have been adopted by the State Board of Public Welfare to eliminate abuse by medical assistance recipients.

One purpose is to eliminate unnecessary medication and unnecessary doctor's office visits. Guidelines will limit prescriptions to three a month and limit cost per prescription to a maximum of $15, with a $35 monthly maximum. Drugs used to treat chronic illnesses will be exempt.

A second rule would limit visits to a doctor's office to five per month per recipient, not to exceed 10 a year. Some exceptions are possible.

Old Phonographs Are Hobby For Son of Santa Anna Lady

(The following story is from the Canyon, Texas, Sunday News.)

The family sits around the kitchen table, the kerosene lamp flickering on the table.

Faces are softened in the light. Mama rocks to the music as she knits, and Dad pats his foot. The kids play games as they listen with only half interest.

But as the fast music stops, your eyes clear and the room changes from the early 1900's to 1972. And you remember you are listening to a record cylinder being played on the early model phonograph invented by Thomas Edison.

Frank Adams, an English instructor at West Texas State University at Canyon (son of Mrs. Kitty Adams of Santa Anna), has taken up the hobby of collecting and restoring the old phonographs including the large and small horns attached to the mechanisms.

He started his hobby only last year, but a look through his house shows already a beautiful collection, shined and polished by his own hands.

Adams' favorite is an old Victor made in 1908 that has the original steel needle and matching wooden horn. The scarce machine was restored in about two months of spare-time work, and it plays the early-day disc-type records.

The wooden horn, according to Adams, makes the sound much richer and fuller than many of the early metal horns that were used with the machines.

And the Victors are rare in themselves.

"You may find many more Edison players than Victors," the collector explains. And once found, the machines are generally in poor shape, extremely hard to restore to natural condition.

Adams' collection is a 1905 Standard with matching horn and an Edison Fireside model. The Fireside model sits atop an Edison record cabinet that holds the cylinder records, which were last made in 1929.

The ornate horn is suspended above the player on the Fireside and the player will take two-inch, four-inch and even five-inch cylinders. The Adams found it in Happy Texas. He spent hours refinishing, varnishing, gluing, and polishing the cabinet, to find that it was rare among collectors.

Adams notes the cylinder type records were first made in two and four minute size, out of celluloid with sapphire needles. Edison and Columbia soon began making a five-inch cylinder called concert size, and the collector points out some of those originals are selling for as high as $50.

The signet horns give varied sound depending on the size and length, Adams says.

"The bigger the horn the more sound you get, and the longer the horn the more resonance."

The cylinders remained popular until World War I, but because of storage problems, etc., the makers went to the disc records," he suggests.

Another windup machine in the Adams home is an Edison with an unusually large horn handpainted by Mrs. Adams. The machine is built with a sewing machine cover on it, OLD Phonographs No. 2 and the horn is painted in shades of violet with pansies and daisies on the outer rim.

"I simply repainted the flowers that were on there originally," Mrs. Adams says, "except I put pansies instead of pink roses on it."

In refurbishing the machines, many times Adams must find old parts to fit into the motors, then he must sand and refinish the exterior and finally varnish the finished product. Decals may be purchased from several firms throughout the United States to stick on the machines.

Dents in the horns often must be hammered out, and the work consists of lots of "elbow grease" and long hours.

Another phase of the record playing collection is the records. Among the ones stored in the Adams home are several Uncle Josh records, and an original Sousa's Band selection.

Ada Jones, the famed singer who died in 1922, even graces many of the Adams' evenings, along with Billy Murry and Caruso.

The Sousa's Band number is dated May 29, 1898, and the listener suddenly loses himself from the 1970's to the turn of the century and revels in the great sounds in their original reproduction.

Burkett Rancher Gets SCS Award From This Area

O. W. Mayfield of Burkett was acclaimed Outstanding Conservation Rancher of 1971 by the Central Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District at a dinner in Coleman last week. Mayfield was presented an engraved plaque by Coleman Lions Club president, Glenn Thomas, in recognition of his conservation work.

Radio station KSTA of Coleman was awarded a plaque in appreciation of the help the station has given the district over the past several years. Station owner and manager, Bob Griffin, accepted the award on behalf of the station.

The dinner was given by the Central Colorado SWCD directors for the sponsoring businesses and organizations of the district newsletter. J. H. Martin, chairman of the board, expressed the board's appreciation for the tangible way they have participated in helping spread information on soil and water conservation.

Martin also recognized the Commissioners Courts of Coleman, Taylor and Callahan counties and the Coleman City Council for their interest and help in sponsoring the six flood prevention projects in the district. They were told that without their help the projects would not be possible.

District Conservationist Bob Pearson of Coleman presented a slide lecture on "Conservation—what is it and how it helps in our district." Pearson pointed out that conservation means wise use of our natural resources and showed how proper land use and treatment and flood control practices not only holds the land for the farmer and rancher but keeps our streams and lakes clean and pure.

Due to the recent rains in Coleman County it appears there will be some wheat and oats harvested.

The 1972 Price Support rate for wheat grading No. 1 is $1.31 a bushel. Wheat is highly classified and there are a number of premiums and discounts according to the grade of wheat. The protein premiums on wheat up to 15 per cent are as follows:

12.0 - 12.4:	1 1/2 cents per bushel
12.5 - 12.9:	3 cents per bushel
13.0 - 13.4:	4 1/2 cents per bushel
13.5 - 13.9:	6 cents per bushel

Locally the protein content of wheat is not determined and included in the grade.

There are discounts for wheat grading No. 2 and lower. These discounts are as follows:

No. 2 wheat,	1 cent
No. 3 wheat,	3 cents
No. 4 wheat,	6 cents
No. 5 wheat,	9 cents.

The County Committee will approve loans on wheat stored in approved warehouses only.

The loan price on oats grading No. 3 is 66 cents a bushel. This is stored in an approved bin on the farm. If the oats are stored in a warehouse, warehouse storage is deducted which amounts to 11 cents a bushel if stored prior to May 30; from May 30 to June 30 its 10 cents a bushel; and from July 1 to August 1 it is nine cents a bushel. Oats stored on the farm will not be graded at the time of inspection.

Oats stored in the warehouse will be graded and premiums and discounts figured according to the grade. Oats grading No. 2 or better will receive a one cent a bushel premium and oats grading heavy and No. 2 will receive two cents premium. Oats grading No. 4 because of test weight will receive a discount of three cents a bushel. Oats grading No. 4 because of being badly stained or weathered will receive a seven cents a bushel discount.

When you have completed delivery to the warehouse for loan storage, please bring your warehouse receipts covering the commodity to the ASCS office for completion of the loan.

PTA People Taking Action—Where It Counts!

This youngster has just committed a crime and probably soon will be sent to prison. What happens to him when he is released is a vital concern of the National PTA and the National Juvenile Court Foundation. Together these organizations are working to establish a nationwide volunteer program for the juvenile courts.

It's as American as apple pie with a name that's become a household word. It's big enough to tweak the nose of the federal government, yet never forgets that its strength comes from grass roots America. It relates to the present and is flexing its muscles to meet the challenges of the future. It's PTA, people taking action where it counts.

With almost 10 million members, the National PTA is the world's largest volunteer action organization. During its 75-year history of working to provide quality living and quality learning for all Americans, some of the greatest accomplishments on behalf of children and youth have resulted from the work of the PTA.

In recent years, the National PTA has

- Developed an action program for use by its 52 branches and 40,000 local units emphasizing drug abuse, education, environmental problems, human relations, poverty, disadvantage and hunger, and student unrest.
- Maintained a "volunteer lobby" in Washington, which not only works in behalf of education and matters pertaining to the welfare of all children, but also has been lauded for the instrumental role it played in the passage of the Drug Abuse Education Act.
- Created "Project PTSA," which converts high school PTA's into parent-teacher-student associations, to involve students in PTA work.

Backing up the work of the National PTA, state and local PTA's across the nation are channeling their concerns into action where it counts. Some of the exciting things happening in PTA's include:

- A student recently was elected president of a high school PTSA in Hawaii.
- A midwestern PTA and local drug council co-sponsored a drug information conference which involved the total community, enlisted a well known television personality, and gained nationwide attention.
- A southern PTA set up an information center to facilitate accurate communication during a heated controversy centered around the bussing issue.
- A western PTA has a volunteer corps that runs an all-day, five-day-a-week study hall to which teachers may send students who need individual help.

"In the PTA we are people taking action," says Mrs. John M. Mallory, Endicott, N.Y., president of the National PTA. "PTA members turn anxiety into action and aspiration into achievement."

Membership in the PTA is through the local unit (local PTA) which is usually organized in a school, and is open to all persons interested in the welfare of children and youth. Nominal dues include membership in the local, state, and national organizations.

DON'T JUST SIT THERE... JOIN YOUR PTA!

Pollution, drug abuse, crime... those things don't affect people like this because they live in a snug little world, comfortably apart from what's happening today. It's a good thing there are others who do care... like the millions of PTA members who live in every state of the nation, working tirelessly for the welfare of children and youth. If you care about what's happening today and want to do something about it, join your PTA... people taking action where it counts!

AARP CHAPTER TO ORGANIZE IN SANTA ANNA NEXT WEEK

Remember the old saying—"You're only as old as you feel."

More than three million older Americans are confirming the truth of this adage by proving that you can feel good even though you're old.

As members of the American Association of Retired Persons a new activist identity for older persons in keeping with their motto "To serve and not to be served."

Founded in 1958 by Dr. Ethel Percy Andrus—a woman who steadfastly affirmed her inalienable rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, even past age 65—the association is now the largest organization committed to making retirement living more enjoyable for the nation's 20 million older citizens.

As AARP Executive Director Bernard Nash says: "AARP is an organization of individuals, 55 years of age and older, bound together by a desire to seek solutions to the problems of older Americans, whether they be economic, social, medical or political."

AARP's earliest efforts were designed to provide economic assistance to older persons living on fixed retirement incomes. When Dr. Andrus discovered that adequate health insurance was not available to protect persons over 65 against sudden and costly illness, she led the association's fight to develop the nation's first group health insurance program for older persons.

Since then, AARP has added life and automobile insurance with non-cancellation features to its array of insurance programs and has instituted other services available to members for a $2 annual membership fee.

Today the AARP Pharmacy Service provides members with prescription medicines and other health needs at reasonable prices on a walk-in and mail-order basis. An association-sponsored Travel Service annually guides 10,000 older persons on world-wide and local tours especially designed for the mature traveler. The Institute of Lifetime Learning, a unique educational program for AARP members, offers a wide range of classroom and home study courses, minimally priced and geared to the individual and his interests.

Through its program of legislative representation, AARP maintains involvement in issues of national concern to older Americans, including pension reform, health care proposals and Medicare and Social Security legislation.

And the monthly AARP News bulletin and bi-monthly Modern Maturity magazine keep members informed of association activities and other matters of interest to older persons.

But while these programs of economic and social self-interest are vital for persons seeking retirement lives of independence and dignity, they do not present the total picture of AARP.

"In addition to fighting the battle for adequate means for older persons," Nash states, "we offer an alternative to the paucity of meaning which has too often afflicted the older Americans."

The alternative? Fulfillment through involvement. "It is our purpose to provide a channel through which the skills and human resources of older persons can flow into constructive community service," Nash continues.

In implementing this commitment, AARP offers to its members an outlet to community involvement through the activities of its more than 800 chapters throughout the country.

Many of these groups participate in national AARP programs such as driver improvement courses, sponsored in cooperation with the National Safety Council or a new Consumer Information Desk Program which provides counseling, referral services and direct assistance to troubled consumers.

Some AARP groups are sponsoring tax counseling courses for older persons in their communities or participating in the government-sponsored "Meals on Wheels" or Foster Grandparent programs.

Still others send volunteers to work in local hospitals, day care centers or schools.

Through each of these activities, AARP members are discovering a new dimension of life in their later years. They are finding that retirement brings not only the freedom from many of life's routine responsibilities, but a freedom to pursue long-neglected interests and explore new avenues of activity and service.

For these three million older Americans, AARP is providing the opportunity to join with others in seeking new vistas for creative and meaningful maturity.

To these people—the dedicated and the active—AARP has become a way of showing all of us that life, at any age, is just as good as we make it.

A local chapter of the association is to be organized in Santa Anna next week. The organizational meeting will be held on Friday, May 26, at the community center of the Mountain City Apartments. A covered dish luncheon will precede the business meeting.

Retired persons in the Santa Anna and Bangs area, 55 years of age and over, are urged to be present. Mrs. Patsy M. Fowler of Odessa and Mr. Jerry Johnson of Arlington, state officers of the AARP, will be present to give more information on the organization. Several local people belong to the AARP but have not been affiliated with any local chapter.
