by
Carol Kingsbery Sandra Hosch

The seniors are planning their annual trip. At last report they were going to Corpus Christi, but they change their minds nearly every other day.

The stage band went to Ballinger Tuesday for a stage band festival and contest. They competed against other class B schools.

The FHA had their monthly meeting Monday night. The May meeting is by tradition the Graduates Tea in honor of the junior high and high school graduates. New officers were also installed and the meeting was termed a success.

FHA is now ready to take a short vacation but only till June, when executive meetings begin.

Last week Santa Anna students had a special treat, the "North and West", an English husband and wife team. They sang English and American folk songs. Everyone enjoyed the program—especially Ricky Beal.

Girl Scout News

Plans for the Heart of Texas Girl Scout Council's "International Friendship Festival" scheduled for Saturday, May 6, at Camp Wood Lake, are being finalized, it was announced by the council's president Dan Wolfe of Stephenville. Time for the event is from 10:00 a. m. until 2:00 p. m. and those attending are asked to bring their own lunch and drink.

Schedule for the day includes the opening "Parade of Flags" which will include two representatives from each troop. One of the representatives will carry the troop flag while the other representatives will carry the flag of the country the troop is representing. Purpose of the festival is to encourage troops to learn more about the countries in the world Association of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides, and to single out one country to learn as much about the peoples, traditions, and customs as possible. During the opening ceremony, the American flag and the World Association flag will also be presented.

Mr. Wolfe will serve as the master of ceremonies. Brownie Troop 93 of Lampasas will demonstrate their Mexican Hat dance and Junior Troop 43 of Brownwood will do a Swedish square dance.

Each troop may enter a poster selected by the troop to represent their chosen country. Brownie posters will be displayed in the Brownie unit; junior posters will be displayed in the Activity Building; and Cadette and Senior posters will be displayed in the Trailblazer unit. First, second, and third place ribbons will be awarded the top three posters from each age-level group. Posters will not be accepted for judging after 10:30 a. m. All the buildings will be open for visitors from 12 noon on so posters may be viewed.

Special patches, designed for the event, will be available during the day. Troops wanting to place an order for the patches will do so upon arrival in camp. Orders will be filled and ready for distribution at the Trading Post during the lunch period.

Special "Share-Ins" will be held directly following the opening parade of flags. Each age-level group will go to their particular unit at camp where songs, demonstrations, skits, etc., will be held. Council staff members will be on hand to answer questions pertaining to camp and to assist with program events. Parents are invited to share in the festival and to view the camp facilities.

The event will close with the formal awarding of ribbons and retiring of the American and World Flags.

FIGHTING OFF INFECTIONS

Transplanting a thymus sounds like a gardening delight. Actually, it's an intriguing new medical procedure that can save lives.

The thymus—a gland in the lower neck and upper chest—helps to fight off infections from viruses, fungi and a few bacteria like the TB germ. The gland apparently instructs the bone marrow to prepare bodily defenses and ward off the microscopic invaders. Someone with a deficient thymus has no such defenses and can be susceptible to fatal infections. Even vaccinations can be extremely dangerous for such people.

Third and fourth successful thymus transplantations in medical history were recently performed by Dr. Richard Hong of the University of Wisconsin, whose research was supported by the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association as well as by federal agencies. The technique itself, quite different from other transplant procedures, is fascinating.

The technique involves injecting into the patient's thigh the thymus tissue from a 12 to 20-week-old fetus. This is done under local anesthetic, and the process may be repeated several times. If the body rejects the injected thymus fragments, it usually does so only after they have sent their instructions to the bone marrow cells. The instructions may last as long as ten years. Then another transplant can be made.

According to Dr. Hong, the thymus is sometimes slowly worn away in many chronic diseases. Now transplants may help build up the body's defenses and thus prevent or treat many kinds of illness.

"The role of thymic therapy," says Dr. Hong, "is just beginning to be explored." He predicted an "exciting" future for the technique. It's a future that bears watching.

Six Simple Questions For The Present State Representative

Why do you deny voting for the infamous Sharpstown Banking Bill when page 225 of the official House Journal of September 8, 1969 shows that you did?

Why did you vote against HCR 87, the resolution calling for an investigation of the passage of these special interest banking bills? Your vote is on page 1125 of the House Journal of that date.

Why, on February 1, 1971, did you vote to kill an amendment which would have greatly strengthened HJR 18, the Ethics Bill requiring full financial disclosure? Look on page 253 of the House Journal of that date.

When an attempt was made on May 7, 1969, in HCR 25 to correct the injustice in insurance rates by making insurance companies submit ALL their income to the State Insurance Board, why did you vote to kill this resolution? Your vote on page 1704 of the May 7, 1969 House Journal caused higher rates on insurance in Texas.

Why do you deny that you voted for an increase in the sales tax, an increase in gasoline tax, an increase in cigarette tax, and an increase in the tax on automobiles when page 2898 of the House Journal of May 6, 1971 shows you voted for these increases?

Can you still tell the people of Brown county that you have served their best interest in your two terms in the State Legislature?

We, the supporters of CHARLES SPELLMAN, do not think you have and we intend to

ASC News . . .

by Joe K. Taylor

The "no grazing" period for set-aside acreage on farms participating in the 1972 feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs began Monday, May 1 and will continue for five months ending Sept. 30.

This announcement was made by the chairman of the Coleman County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, Rankin McIver, who explained that a condition for participating in the voluntary farm programs is that set-aside acreage may not be grazed during five principal months of the growing season. Nor may set-aside acreage be harvested except for designated alternate oilseed crops and emergency hay.

The alternate crop exception to the non-cropping requirement is for those farmers who have signed up to use set-aside acreage for growing non-surplus, non-price-supported oilseed crops and in return accept a reduction in set-aside payments. Crops approved for this purpose include, safflower, mustard seed, sunflowers, crambe, castor beans, guar, sesame, and plantago ovata.

Production of farm food is a very competitive business and this keeps margins low. Retail food prices over the years have not advanced as much as other main categories in the cost-of-living index.

Farmers are getting a smaller share of the food dollar, too. Farmers receive only 38 cents from the dollar consumers spend for farm-raised food; this is down from 49 cents twenty years ago.

Twenty years ago people paid 23 per cent of their average disposable income for food; in 1971 they spent 16 per cent of their average disposable income for food; and in 1972 they are expected to spend less than 16 per cent of their average disposable income for food.

Farmers produced and marketed over 8 billion pounds of beef in 1951 and over 21 billion pounds in 1971.

Beef consumption per capita was 56 pounds in 1951 and was 114 pounds in 1971, an increase of two times.

One-third of our beef was Choice grade beef in 1951; now 60 per cent of our beef produced is Choice grade. Thus the total production of Choice beef is four times larger than 20 years ago.

Meats are free to respond to market demands and meats are very competitive with one another. There are no price supports on meat and no pro-man County.

Accent on Health

There are thousands of children in Texas today who are susceptible to one or more preventable diseases. Most of these youngsters are between one and four years of age. State health authorities have mounted a massive immunization campaign aimed at the preschool child in an effort to reduce the number of unimmunized against several deadly and common childhood diseases.

"The Texas Legislature moved last year to require certain immunizations for all school-age children as a pre-requisite for attending school," said Texas Health Commission Dr. J. E. Peavy, "and it will go a long way toward reaching all school-age children who have not maintained their immunization levels. But even this measure will not reach what we consider the prime group of susceptible children—the preschooler between the ages of one and four."

Dr. Peavy stressed the importance of giving protective immunization to all preschool children immediately. "Otherwise, parents run the risk that potentially deadly diseases like diphtheria, polio, measles, rubella, tetanus, or whooping cough may strike their unprotected preschool child," said Dr. Peavy.

tion is given. Today, one dose of measles vaccine given to children one year of age or older offers almost 100 percent protection. It's the best odds a parent can find anywhere in child health care these days.

Since the Salk and Sabin vaccines were discovered a decade ago there has been no major polio outbreak in Texas. But Texas has always had more than its share of this disease. In a five-year period in Texas, 121 of 133 victims of polio were under five years of age. Nothing further need be said on the necessity of immunizing all preschoolers against this disease. Again, three doses are necessary for complete protection.

When a youngster transmits the rubella virus to a pregnant mother—particularly during the first three months of her pregnancy, the results can be devastating—a baby born with severe birth defects. That is why it is important to have mass immunization of all children between one year of age and puberty.

VOTE FOR NEW HOPE FOR RURAL TEXAS

Ben Barnes knows what it means to watch our rural areas lose population while more and more people crowd into our cities. As a youngster growing up, he followed the hay baler and the threshing machine in sandy West Texas. And he saw first hand the people move away and the stores close up. As Governor, he will work hard to bring new vitality and new opportunity to our rural communities. And of all the candidates, only Ben Barnes has the vision and the capacity to get something done about it. For a better tomorrow for rural Texas, vote for Ben Barnes for Governor.

That's where central gas air conditioning comes in. It can bring you together. All summer long. As close as you want. All summer long.

And it won't cost you much, either. In fact, if you have gas heating in your home, you could easily have half a central air conditioning system already. Because you may be able to use the duct work and furnace blower you already have. That saves about fifty percent on installation costs.

That's just part of the savings. Gas costs less to operate than electricity. And you get special low rates during the long hot summer months.

But you'll save more than money with gas. You'll save time and energy, too. Because with central gas air conditioning there are fewer moving parts. Fewer breakdowns. Fewer repairs.

This summer, have central gas air conditioning installed. For love's sake.

The time of year has come to start thinking about summer and all that the warm season brings to our part of the country. There may not be as much combining of oats as some seemed to think earlier. As one farmer so aptly put it, there are a lot of "40 mile per hour oats" in our area; if you drive by on the highway at 40 mph they look alright, but out in them they get a little thin. At least, we have some oats this year to worry about!

Register Boat As Time Nears

Austin — Some Texans have more to think about this month than auto licenses, inspections, and income tax.

It's boat registration time. And this year more Texans than ever before are affected by registration laws, since all motor-powered boats to be operated on public waters must be registered.

Formerly, certain types of small craft were exempt from registration even though equipped with motors. Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials urge boat owners to get their boats registered as soon as possible if they haven't already done so. The deadline is March 31.

Boat owners who are renewing their registrations are being issued permits of varying duration in order to create a "staggered" system of renewals in the future. Applicants with original transactions, such as those with new boats, are not on the staggered system and will receive papers for a two-year period.

Applicants can expect to receive their registration papers and decals in two to two and a half weeks from the time of mailing, according to Clayton T. Garrison, department director of finance and data processing.

Department officials offer the following tips for getting boats registered with a minimum of effort:

—If you never registered the craft before, obtain application papers at a department district office or write to Austin headquarters. The district office can issue a temporary receipt when you pay the registration fee. Decals for your two-year permit will be sent to you by mail.

—If you want to renew a registration, you may have received a notice in the mail. If you did not, obtain one from district office or from Austin headquarters. Study the back of the form to determine the correct registration fee for your boat. Send the fee and application to Austin.

—Be sure your renewal form is a 1972 form.

—Try to get the application in soon, as March 31 is the expiration date on registrations of all boats which were currently registered as of Dec. 31, 1971.

Officials remind boat owners that the staggered renewal system creates a varied fee schedule, and most fees have increased as well. So be sure of the correct amount before sending in your payment with the application form.

Another reminder is to those

OLD MAN'S WILL

Harvey was dismayed to learn, when his father's will was read, that he had been left out altogether. In short order, he challenged the will in court.

"My father was past 90 when he signed this document," Harvey pointed out. "He was solvent in his personal habits. He was getting forgetful. And he was totally blind. In such a condition he was certainly not competent to make a will."

However, the court held the will valid. The judge said advanced age, even though accompanied by assorted frailties, does not automatically mean a person is incompetent to make a will.

On the contrary, the law has shown a special tenderness for wills made by the elderly. One judge's explanation has often been quoted:

"It is one of the painful consequences of extreme old age that it ceases to excite interest, and is apt to be left solitary and neglected. The control which the law still gives to a man over the disposal of his property is one of the most efficient means which he has, in protracted life, to command attention."

Of course, old age may indeed be accompanied by real incompetence. In another case, the will of an 86-year-old woman was thrown out because in her declining years she had been unable even to whose boats did not have to be registered under the old system but now have to be registered: You should submit your application as soon as possible, since your craft was technically in violation of the law if it was not registered by Jan. 1.

The decals which are to be placed on the boat are color-coded to indicate when the registration is to expire. Red decals indicate expiration in 1972, blue decals 1973, and yellow in 1974.

In addition, the month and year of expiration are printed on the face of each of the Texas-shaped decals.

recognize friends and relatives. The court said a will she signed while so disabled did not truly reflect her "will" at all.

But in a close case, the law gives a will the benefit of the doubt. This is not only a matter of concern for the elderly but of preference for wills as the best way to transfer property at time of death.

For if there is no will, all sorts of unpleasant things may befall the heirs. The most money may go to the least deserving. Taxes may be needlessly high. Costs of administration may be exorbitant. Family heirlooms may spark family feuds.

Accordingly, to the person who has grown old without having made a will, the law's advice is plain:

Better late than never.

DOPE PUSHERS?

Do we really have a dope problem? Do you want to hear William O. Breedlove tell you the true facts about the abuse of drugs and dope, or do you want to be an ostrich and stick your head in the sand and pretend there is no dope problem in McCulloch, Brown and Coleman Counties? What about the Reward for dope pushers in Coleman County? Will your teen-age child be the next to be found in a house or apartment with several grown men who are known dope pushers?

Ladies and gentlemen, I am William O. Breedlove, candidate for 35th District Judge. Listen to me for the next few minutes about dope and then ask your own law enforcement officer, your doctor, your pastor, or any parent of a teen-ager who is still in Junior High School what they can tell you about dope.

First let's talk about a dope pusher whom I shall call Mr. X. Approximately two years ago Mr. X sold dope (LSD) to an undercover agent in Brown County, then as the result of that sale a search warrant was issued for his residence and when the search was made the law enforcement officers seized a quantity of dope. As the result of these actions the Brown County Grand Jury returned two indictments against Mr. X., one for sale of dope and one for possession of dope. Mr. X. was first tried on the sale of dope and was convicted by a jury and was given a two year probation sentence. While the trial of the second case was still pending and Mr. X. was out on bond, he, along with three other persons fire-bombed the Brown County Courthouse and when they were caught the other three pled guilty to arson and incriminated Mr. X. Of course Mr. X. had to plead guilty but the present judge took his present punishment under advisement and said he would wait to decide on the punishment after the second case of Mr. X. was tried. This trial was put off and continued from time to time until once again the law enforcement officers in desperation got another search warrant and searched Mr. X's residence and again seized more dope and found a 15 year old girl in the house with him. With these additional cases staring the judge in the face he finally made this astounding decision. He revoked the probated sentence given Mr. X. by the jury and sentenced him to two years in the penitentiary. On the second case Mr. X. pled guilty to possession of dope and the judge sentenced him to two years to be served at the same time he served the two years given him by the jury in the first case. In the third case for arson and fire-bombing the courthouse which the judge still had under advisement, the judge sentenced Mr. X to two years in the penitentiary to be served at the same time he served two years in jail for sale of dope in the first case and at the same time he was serving the two years for possession of dope in the second case. In the fourth case Mr. X. pled guilty to possession of dope and the judge sentenced him to two years in the penitentiary to be served at the same time he was serving two years for the sale of dope as fixed by the jury, and at the same time he was serving two years for possession of dope in the second case. In the fourth case Mr. X. pled guilty to possession of dope and the judge sentenced him to two years in the penitentiary to be served at the same time he was serving two years for the sale of dope as fixed by the jury, and at the same time he was serving two years for possession of dope in the second case.

With all four cases running concurrently this meant that the jury had sentenced Mr. X. to two years in the first case for sale of dope which he would have to serve, and the judge had not increased this punishment one single day in the other three cases.

Approximately six and one-half months ago Mr. X. was taken to the penitentiary to serve his two years, and about a week ago he wrote to the various law enforcement officers stating that he would be eligible for parole in June of this year, which is only 8 months after he was sentenced to serve the two years.

The District Attorney did not prosecute any of these four cases and the Brown County Attorney had to represent the State and he pleaded with the judge not to stack all four cases so they could be served at the same time, but to no avail.

Over a year ago the younger brother of Mr. X. was declared a delinquent child by me while I was Brown County Judge after he confessed the burglary of a neighbor's home. In an effort to give him a second chance I put him on probation in the custody of his mother. Several months later Mr. X's same little brother was again arrested and accused of possession of dope. On this occasion the evidence was not so clear and compelling, and since I wanted to give him every benefit of the doubt and upon his assurance that he would never again consider doing anything even close to violating the law, I again returned him to the custody of his mother. Approximately three days later the police again had Mr. X's same brother in jail for the possession of illegal drugs and informed me that at the time of his arrest he and his very young companion had glue all over their faces and had been sniffing glue. Based on this evidence I ordered that Mr. X's little brother be taken from the custody of his mother and be placed in the custody of the Texas Youth Council at the Gatesville State School for Boys, and the clerk, under the order of the court issued a Writ directing the Sheriff to take the boy forthwith to the Boys School. Mr. X's mother had an attorney file for a Writ of Habeas Corpus in the 35th District Court before the present judge. A hearing was held without my knowledge and without my being even called as a witness. No entry was ever made on the 35th court records and nothing could be found by me regarding a finding by the present judge as to why my order had not been carried out.

Approximately two weeks ago the Brown County Sheriff's office raided a house 6 miles south of Bangs and seized a quantity of dope and arrested three grown men and three teen-age school girls in the 15 and 16 year age bracket. These cases are still pending.

In several communities in Brown County the citizens are forming groups similar to vigilantes to watch the most notoriously suspected dope pushers in their area and are trying to collect enough evidence to assist the law enforcement officers in their effort to stop the sale of dope.

The law enforcement officers are working tirelessly in an effort to stop the dope pushers in our area. Other raids are coming and coming soon. Will your teen-age child be caught up in the next raid of some adult dope pusher's house or apartment.

Lets take the handcuffs off of the police and put the handcuffs on the Dope Pushers.

Birds Breathe In Unusual Way

Birds breathe with their lungs. And through their bones.

The bones of birds are hollow. They contain air, not marrow.

A bird with a blocked windpipe can still breathe if a connection is made between one of its bones and the outside air.

Birds, like people, have two lungs. But unlike people, birds have lungs that allow air to flow through the lungs instead of in and out. Air flows through somewhat the way water flows through a sponge.

The air flows into bones and into large air sacs, which are larger in volume than the lungs themselves. The sacs are located in the chest and abdominal areas and help to maintain high levels of oxygen and just the right amount of carbon dioxide in the bird's body. A bird's breath, in fact, is regulated primarily by the concentration of carbon dioxide in the blood. An increase in carbon dioxide stimulates breathing. A decrease causes breathing to slow down or even stop for awhile.

In many ways, the respiratory of birds works just the opposite to that of humans. For example, when birds inhale, their lungs diminish in volume. As they exhale, their lungs expand. The unique breathing system of birds increases their oxygen intake by 10 to 15 times when they fly and allows them to expend more energy, weight for weight, than a man does when he runs at top speed. Their system allows them to soar miles in the air where man can barely breathe at all.

Breathing is vital to life. And not just for the birds. Find out more about how your respiratory system works. Contact your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. It's a matter of life and breath.

The Make Yourself Over Clinic
BY DOLLY REED WAGMAN, Director, The Carnation Fashion Office

Q: Everyone is talking about doing patchwork or macrame for back-to-school. Do you have any other fashion ideas?
A: Quilting is the newest of the handcrafted fashions. Not just for robes or lounge-wear, now you'll find quilting used for slacks, vests, and ponchos. And doing the quilting yourself is where the fun is.

Choose a simply shaped garment without frills or tucks. Cut out each piece of the paper pattern twice - once for the facing and once for the muslin backing.

Spread a thin layer of cotton batting over the muslin and cover the facing. Baste the three layers together and you're ready to machine stitch. An easy pattern to start with is lattice-work. Then go on to a maze of interlocking circles, flowers of your own design, your zodiac sign or whatever turns you on! This is your quilt, so be as original as you wish.

Q: My nails are a mess! They split and peel and snag and never, never grow. Can't anything be done?
A: Plenty. But daily care is the trick. Don't think your complete repair job can be done in a 20-minute session on Thursday night. First, trim your nails as short as you can for comfortable wear. This cuts down the area of trouble, removes many little snags that can snag and pull. Second, get in the habit of using a cuticle cream. The use of a nutritive cream helps the matrix (that area between the base of the nail and the first knuckle) produce a better, healthier nail.

Third, always file gently, using the tip of an emery board or flexible file to shape the nail in a natural curve. Fourth, learn to apply base coat and polish with a flat brush. This literally "draws on the polish", leaving an ultra-smooth, slick finish. Retouch daily using a colorless top polish. And be sure to try one of the new protein-enriched base coats. Does wonders for improving the smoothness of the nail surface.

Q: I'm going away to college for the first time. My sister did last year and gained 20 pounds. How can I avoid that mistake?
A: Easily. Just step on those scales - minus all clothes - every single day. Catch the problem before it becomes a disaster. At plus-three pounds - no later - switch to a meal like Slender diet food from Carnation. Substitute this for one or two meals a day 'til you lose what you want. Completely balanced nutritionally, it gives you plenty of energy, keeps you from feeling hungry. Mix one packet of this protein packed powder in 6 ounces of milk for a delicious milk shake treat. Comes in five flavors of chocolate, plus Wild Strawberry and a French Vanilla. With whole milk, 225 calories, with non-fat, 164. Here's your new best friend in the figure department!
