Changes Made On Disability By New Laws

Several changes were made in the disability insurance part of Social Security. One would reduce the "waiting period" from six months to five, letting benefits start with the sixth full month of disability instead of the seventh month as in 1972 and earlier years. Blind persons will now be insured for disability benefits if they are fully insured whether or not they meet the usual recency of employment provisions.

Children disability benefits will now be payable if a son or daughter becomes totally disabled before age 22 rather than before age 18 as in past law. Also, if the disability terminates, benefits can be reinstated if the son or daughter again becomes disabled within seven years of the recovery.

A change is made in the manner in which receipt of workmen's compensation benefits affect social security's disability benefits which will often enable social security payments to be increased.

AUSTIN'S 'MR. WEATHERMAN' IS A MOUNTAIN CITY NATIVE

The following story is copied from the December 17, 1972 issue of the Austin American Statesman. Wilbourn (Buddy) Weaver is the son of Mrs. Burgess Weaver of Santa Anna.

For over 20 years, Wilbourn Weaver has brought sunshine, ice storms, northerns and sometimes even snow to the attention of Central Texans on his daily radio broadcasts.

And Sunday, December 17, Weaver, assistant-in-charge of the Austin Weather Service Office, was honored for his completion of 30 years of government service.

Known to many as "Mr. Weatherman," Weaver has been forecasting the 7:20 a. m. and noon weather reports over the Central Texas Radio Network here since 1949.

Originally from Santa Anna, Weaver graduated from Baylor University in 1929. He received his meteorology and training through the U. S. Army and served at Tinker Field in Oklahoma City until 1946. After the war he was a civilian forecaster of Carswell Field in Fort Worth later joining the U. S. Weather Bureau at Big Spring until 1949 when he moved to Austin.

The Austin Weather Service is responsible for broadcasting the Austin area forecast at noon seven days and week and at 7:20 a. m. every day except Sunday.

Weaver's broadcast goes out to the Austin area and to 17 counties in Central Texas.

Seven meteorologists including Weaver run the weather service located next to the Federal Aviation Administration Flight Service Station on the ground floor of Municipal Airport.

Because the weather service's primary function is aviation observation, they work closely with the Flight Service Station to provide weather reports and briefings to pilots.

The weather service's readings include temperature dew point, barometric pressure, wind velocity and direction cloud height. Horizontal visibility, rainfall and amount of sunshine. The instruments are located alongside one of the runways to give pilots more accumulate data when flying under instrument conditions.

The weather service, besides providing information to pilots, distributes Austin area forecasts

Santa Anna News
Santa Anna, Texas
Dear Sir:

I have intended to write you about how much I enjoy the news you publish of years ago, but I guess it takes a complaint to make you do so.

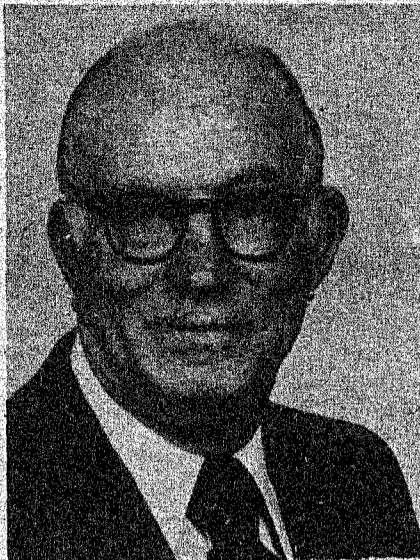

In your December 14th News you published news of 45 years ago and told about a senior class electing Odelle Brown as president. You mentioned that there were 43 enrolled, but you only mentioned 42 and I was your 43rd member.

Santa Anna was home to me all of my life until I married and it will always be home regardless of where I live. My parents were born in the country close to Santa Anna. They were Ed and Lucille Vollenhine Baxter. So you see I read the News from cover to cover with great interest. I also enjoy Barbara Kingsbery's column about happenings in Santa Anna.

I still have cousins who live there and visit several times a year.

I really enjoy the Santa Anna News.

Sincerely,
Dorothy Baxter Thompson

and weather reports over a teletyped weather wire sent as a public service to media and Department of Public Safety offices across the state.

The weather service is also responsible for information distribution of severe weather and-or tornado watches and warnings.

The collection of climate records keeps the service busy 24-hours a day. Weaver said they work n shifts with two or three men in the daytime and the man at night.

Weaver says that weather forecasting is challenging because every day the situation is different and constantly changing.

He says that in all the years he has been forecasting Austin's Weather he particularly remembers Christmas day in 1955 when the temperature hit high of 90 degrees.

"You just never knew what's going to happen next," he said.

Fast Truck Ride Not Fast Enough For Illegal Hunt

Two men arrested by game management officers in Hardin County will probably think twice before they mix illegal hunting and women drivers again.

Bill Matzke was patrolling at 3:30 a. m. recently when he heard a shot. He investigated and flushed a pickup truck which was hitting speeds of more than 90 miles per hour on a winding farm-to-market in the Big Thicket.

Matzke radioed ahead to another officer who set up a roadblock, which the pickup ran. When the officers finally stopped the pickup, they found two women in the cab. In the back was a dead deer and two badly shaken men.

All four were arrested and levied fines totaling $925.

In Our Opinion

By W. T. HAYS

IT LOOKED TO US like the people gave a mandate to the President when he was re-elected last November, to end the Viet Nam war in his own way, but do you think the red-loving Congressmen and Senators will listen?

It boils down to what will it be—peace on President Nixon's terms or on McGovern's?

McGovern ran on a peace-at-any-price platform and was soundly defeated. The President was, in effect, told to end the war the way he had been trying to end it—by talk if possible and by force if necessary.

So what happens? The North Vietnamese reneged on a near settlement and Nixon resumed the bombing long enough to change their minds and when they agree to resume negotiations with some promise of settlement, the McGovern discredited philosophy suddenly rears its ugly head again. That borders on treason because if anything will scuttle the peace talks again it is the publicity that this bunch of peaceniks are getting.

The House Democratic caucus voted to end the war immediately by cutting off funds. McGovern, as if he had a right to demand anything after the showing he made with the people, is asking the President to appear before the senate and "explain his policies." They are signing the old familiar surrender chorus.

This peace-now song must be a welcome sound to the enemy who would like to win the peace while losing the war.

Nixon asked the Congress to do nothing to endanger the negotiations and if any request ever made sense, this one did. This bunch of pinkos are willing to gamble the very security of this country for political gain within their own ranks. They certainly are not gaining it from the people. They are willing to force this country to surrender the very things they have gained in this war at the cost of many lives and financial cost to the people, and if anything was ever at odds with the will of the majority that is.

Sen. William Fulbright made the statement, "the war has gone on long enough." Certainly it has, but the negotiations have not, and the more these communist lovers yell about it the longer the negotiations will have to go on.

It is a shame that elected representatives of the people will not recognize the will of the people who put them in office and give the President all the help they can in ending this war in an honorable fashion.

Anyone who would out his political ambitions above the welfare of his country is nothing more than a traitor, and should be dealt with accordingly.

What can we do? Write your Congressman and Senators expressing your views. Letters have more effect than anything you can do.

Appreciation Expressed For Welfare Help

It has been the privilege of the Santa Anna Seventh-day Adventist church to assist in the welfare work in the community. The support of the friends in the city and nearby places has been appreciated. Many pieces of good clothing have come in response to the announcement on Radio Station KSTA for clothing. They want to extend a hearty Thank You for this help and also to the Radio station that has been so helpful in getting the needs before the public.

The church Welfare department has distributed during 1972 1,003 pieces of clothing. Twenty-two persons have been helped in one way or another. One piece of furniture, and five pieces of bedding have found places where badly needed.

Workers in the welfare projects by the church have put in 130 hours in getting the clothing sorted, some mended, packed and distributed.

Over $327 is the amount of cash turned on this work, and $346.20 has been expanded for various needs.

Again appreciation is expressed to the community for their assistance in making this report possible. The Welfare Department is now located on the second floor of the Old Santa Anna Hospital building, entrance using the steps on the east side and will be open to fill needs one afternoon a week. The hours will be announced later.

Mrs. John Hart, the 1972 Welfare leader, rendered this report to the church board meeting Monday night.

Trickham News

By Mrs. Oscar Boenicke

I returned home last Tuesday from Houston. When I got to Austin on the bus I got word that my sister, Ruth Driskill, had died about the time I left Houston. I took a deep chest cold and was sick which was the reason I came home. My sister didn't know I was there. She was in a coma over a week before she died.

Ruth's funeral was Thursday morning, January 4, at ten o'clock at the Niday Funeral Home in Houston. She was 64 years old on November 24. Her husband, Lee Driskill, preceded her in death over six years ago. They were both buried in Houston.

The Driskills were parents of eleven children, seven girls and four boys, most of them living in Houston. All were at her funeral. Ruth was a wonderful Christian mother and a sweet sister. Other survivors are three sisters and two brothers.

Wednesday evening some of the McIver family came over and brought our supper. They were Bernice and May McIver, Irene Durham, Ethel Johnson and Grady McIver.

The Ben McIver family all met at the Rankin McIver home for supper Wednesday evening. They were Bernice and May McIver, Grady and Genia McIver, Irene and Marcus Durham, Inez and Roy Miller and Ethel Johnson, and Rankin and Nattie McIver, Sherrie, Darla and Chris. Also Russi James had supper with them.

Thursday morning Gertrude Martin and Russi James visited me. I don't know what we would do without our friends. I am enjoying some beautiful pot plants brought for us to enjoy.

Friday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. Aunt Pearl Ford died in the Bangs Rest Home. She was 95 years old on August 23, 1972 and was just worn out. She just got weaker each day until her heart just quit. Her funeral was on Sunday at 2 p.m. in Davis Morris Funeral Home chapel in Brownwood. Burial was in the Trickham Cemetery.

She had been a member of the Central Methodist Church in Brownwood for a long time and Pat McClatchy, her pastor, and Skip Blancett, the Bangs Methodist minister, officiated.

Aunt Pearl is the last one of her family. She lived to be older than any of the rest. Most of her nieces and nephews attended her funeral and six of her great-nephews were pallbearers. She was loved by all who knew her.

After the funeral all the McIver family met at the Rankin McIver home to all be together before Ethel Johnson left in a few days to back to Manhattan, Kansas where she is house mother for the university there. All the sisters and brothers were there and also Mr. and Mrs. Cullen Bobo and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Storm and Terry and Orabeth McIver.

All the Elmer Haynes family were at Aunt Pearl's funeral. They are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Haynes of Brownwood, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haynes of Trickham, Mr. and Mrs. George Haynes of Lovington, New Mexico, J. R. Haynes of Santa Anna and son, Jessie Haynes of Coleman. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haynes and Julia of Brownwood and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lineberry of Bangs.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stockman of Kile, Texas were the ones of Aunt Etta Whitten's family there, and Mary and Oscar Boenicke were the ones from our family there. We are all cousins and nieces and nephews of Aunt Pearl Ford. Also some of Uncle Walter Ford's family were there.

Sherrie McIver went to Austin last Thursday to visit her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Byler. She came home Monday. She will return to college this Thursday to Angelo State University.

Ann Martin plans to go back to Lubbock to Texas Tech Wednesday if she can get over the roads out there. It is bad now and still will be unless the weather gets better.

Russi James and Oma Lee Dockery visited the Bill Vaughns Sunday evening. The Jack Dockerys visited their son and family, the Ray Dockerys, a little while Sunday evening near Rockwood.

Lou Vaughn visited the Oscar Boenicke Saturday evening.

The weather has been so bad, and still is, so we won't have much news this week.

I want to thank everyone who gave me their subscriptions to each of the papers this last year.

I also want to thank everyone for the cards, flowers and food brought in to us and all the kindness given to us during our sadness at the loss of my sister and aunt this last week.

May God bless each of you for your thoughtfulness.

POINTS TO PONDER

W. F. Cawyer

Friends, most, if not all of the religious division of our day would be solved if we all understood the dispensations of the Bible. There have been only three.

We who live today in the Christian dispensation or age are so very fortunate because we enjoy a High Priest who has passed into Heaven itself to appear in the presence of God for us (Heb. 9:24). Christ being come a High Priest of good things to come by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands -- this is to say not of this building (Heb. 9:11).

As mediator of the New Testament, Paul refers to the other ages (Eph. 3:5-6) in which he declares that the Gentiles were to be fellow-heirs with the Jews during the dispensation of grace (Eph. 3:2).

We Gentiles were excluded from the first covenant (Deut. 5:2-3), quote, "The Lord made not this covenant (the one made at Horab) with our fathers, but with us, even us, who all of us here alive this day."

The fourth commandment given at Horab, "Remember the sabbath day to keep it holy" (Ex. 20:8) was given to those people who had been in bondage in Egypt. Therefore the Lord thy God commanded thee to keep the sabbath day (Deut. 5:15). No Gentile was ever in Egyptian bondage -- therefore no Gentile was ever commanded to keep the sabbath day.

We who live today keep another day, the Lord's day, which is the resurrection day. This was the day that our Lord was declared to be the son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead (Rom. 1:3). Thank God for the resurrection day!

Series H Bonds. The gift that pays while he's waiting to collect.

There's a long list of traditional gifts that you give to welcome a new addition to the family.

But aside from being cute or making noise, most of them have little other value. Here's one not on the list, that makes a lot of sense. Series H Bonds. Series H Bonds are different from Series E Bonds (the kind most people are familiar with) in that you purchase them at face value. But after that they make a nice little allowance for your child while he's growing up.

For the first ten years of his life he'll get an interest check every six months. One will come for his birthday. The other can be used to help buy some of the things he needs, or saved for something special.

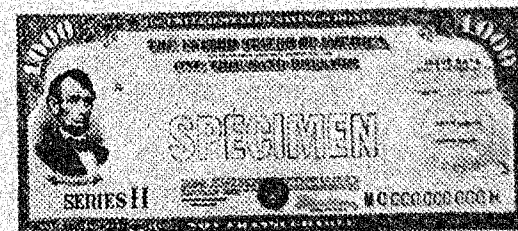

And when he's ready, his H Bonds can be cashed in for the full amount you paid.

Your local bank will accept purchase applications for series H Bonds. They are sold in denominations of $500, $1,000, and $5,000.

And since all H Bonds purchased after June 1, 1970 pay a bonus, the interest checks after the first five years will be bigger. Rates now average 5 1/2% per year when held to a maturity of 10 years.

Give Series H Bonds. The gift that pays.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. H Bonds are redeemable after six months. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.
Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

ASCS

A preliminary explanation of the newly announced 1973 Feed Grain Program is being mailed to Coleman County Farmers with feed grain bases, reports Rankin McIver, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

"As they sort through their Christmas mail, I hope they find the explanation and put it aside for special attention," he said, explaining it is the first official word to be sent directly to farmers on the major provisions of the 1973 feed grain program.

Sign-up for the 1973 feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs begins Feb. 5 at ASCS county office and continues through March 15.

The 1973 Feed Grain Program includes barley, corn and grain sorghum, and producers may elect to participate under one of two options.

Commodity loans will be available to all participants in the feed grain program on the farm's entire production. National average loan rates will be $1.08 per bushel for corn (No. 2 basis); $1.79 per hundredweight ($1.00 per bushel) for grain sorghums; and 86 cents per bushel for barley.

The urgent need to win the fight against inflation has prompted a thorough and searching review of Federal expenditures. The large Federal farm outlay brought it under close scrutiny. A higher priority was given in the review to those programs which generate farm income rather than those which merely supplement

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J. E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Since the beginning of time on earth, man has looked to the oceans, lakes, rivers, streams and springs for sustenance.

With three-fourths of the earth's surface covered by water, its resources seemed unlimited—and eternal. But man through neglect and indifference has polluted fresh water and saltwater, killing large areas for production of fish and shellfish.

The Marine Resources Division of the State Health Department is deeply involved in making certain that fresh, edible shellfish finds its way to the tables of consumers in this state and others to which it is shipped.

Marine life is a great resource in Texas, providing food as well as recreation for its inhabitants. But this resource is threatened in several ways. Many saltwater species—including shrimp as well as fish—spawn in the bays and estuaries which extend along the coast, but these spawning grounds have been filled in with dirt for commercial development or polluted with chemicals which kill the marine life itself. The chemicals come from industrial wastes as well as the chemicals which are used to control organisms which compete with man for the available supply of food and fiber—such as the spraying of cotton.

One of man's modern threats to himself has been found in the dumping of mercury into our waters. Mercury has been found in excessive quantities in fish and oysters, and pesticides also have created problems in marine life.

Commercial landings of fish and shellfish in Texas have a great economic impact on the state, and in 1970 amounted to 146.9 million pounds with a dockside value of $53.2 million. Commercial shrimp trawlers unloading in Texas ports made 61,444 trips into bay and Gulf waters to land 88.3 million pounds of shrimp valued at $48.6 million. Oyster fishermen in 1970 harvested 4.7 million pounds of oyster meats valued at $2 million. Blue crab fishermen landed 5.5 million pounds of crabs valued at $509,000 and edible finfish landings totaled 5.3 million pounds valued at $1.2 million.

Purity of shrimp, oysters and crabs are the primary concern of the State Health Department's Marine Resources Division. The oyster, which lives on reefs on the bay floors, has the ability to concentrate bacteria, heavy metals and other impurities which may be present in growing waters. The oyster also has the ability to cleanse itself as the quality of its environment improves. There is some indication, however, that other marine animals do not have this same ability to the degree that the oyster has. This perhaps accounts for the fact that oysters may be of safe, edible quality and other marine animals in the same waters may not be, but store up the impurities in their bodies.

Some bay areas in Texas have been closed because of excessive mercury densities found in crabs and oysters. Some formerly closed have been reopened following tests which showed oysters and crabs of safe, edible quality.

With the aid of its laboratories, as well as federal laboratories, the State Health Department is constantly checking the marine resources in Texas, collecting and analyzing some 1200 bay water samples in the first half of 1972. The Marine Resources Division must certify oyster and crab meat processing plants and has done so in 1972 for 103 oyster plants and 12 crab plants.

The list will include producers wishing to sell or lease out cotton acreage and separate list will be maintained for those producers wishing to purchase or lease additional cotton acreage.

Persons outside the county inquiring about listings of allotments are to get their information from the county office as the office is prohibited from reproducing these lists.

income. Since REAP and Water Bank fall in the latter category, they were the most vulnerable of the ASCS programs. Thus these programs have been terminated.

In addition, record farm income which is due in large part to your efforts in successfully administering ASCS programs is enabling farmers to bear, without serious economic consequences, more of the kind of expenses supplemented by REAP and Water Bank. Thus, these two among the ASCS programs were revealed to have the lowest priority in the budget review.

The County Committee has decided to lease cotton outside the county for one year. There will be no out right sale of cotton outside the county. Permanent transfer within the county or outside the county will be carried out by owners only.

The county office will maintain a list of names indicating an interest in selling or leasing cotton allotments. Farmers who wish to have their names put on this list may come by the office and do so.

The list will include producers wishing to sell or lease out cotton acreage and separate list will be maintained for those producers wishing to purchase or lease additional cotton acreage.

Persons outside the county inquiring about listings of allotments are to get their information from the county office as the office is prohibited from reproducing these lists.
