Mountain Echoes

Barbara

Saturday is clean-up day in Santa Anna. It is hoped that everyone will take part in the morning's work.

A group of boy scouts, Sam Allen, Jody Day, David Robinett, Mark Turney and Larry Benton and Marty Warnock, have challenged a group of girls in a clean-up project to see which group can collect the most trash during the morning. Girls being challenged include Sandra Harris, Gaye Harvey, Michelle Cozart, Vicki Smith and Belinda Aldridge.

The winners will be entertained with a hamburger supper by the losers.

No doubt this will be two busy groups Saturday morning.

The following poem, originally published in the Sleep Eye, Minnesota HERALD, and has been recopied a number of times. Women's Lib, take note:

GRANDMOTHER'S PERFECT DAY

Grandmother, on a winter's day,

Milked the cows and fed them hay,

Slopped the hogs, saddled the mule,

And got the children off to school.

Did some washing, mopped the floors

Washed some windows and did some chores,

Cooked a dish of home-dried fruit

Pressed her husband's Sunday suit,

Swept the parlor, made the bed,

Baked a dozen loaves of bread.

Split some firewood and lugged it in,

Enough to fill a kitchen bin.

Cleaned the lamps and put in oil.

Stewed some apples she thought would spoil,

Churned the butter, baked a cake,

Then exclaimed, "For mercy sake

The calves have got out of the pen."

Went out and chased them in again.

Gathered the eggs and locked the stable,

Back to the house and set the table,

Cooked a supper that was delicious,

And afterwards washed all the dishes

Fed the cat, and sprinkled the clothes,

Mended a basket full of hose.

The opened the organ and began to play:

"When You Come to the End of a Perfect Day,"

Former Resident W. Calcote Receives High Army Award

Willie N. Calcote, a graduate of Santa Anna High School, was recently given recognition by the U. S. Army for meritorious performance of duty and presented the highest award given to civilians by the Army.

Calcote, son of Leston Cozart of Trickham and the late Carrie Cozart, is Director of Management Information Systems with the U. S. Army Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, at Huntsville, Alabama. Calcote was presented a medal and plaque which read:

As director of Management Information Systems, U. S. Army Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama, from March 1970 through January 1973. During this period, Mr. Calcote displayed exceptional managerial and leadership ability and characteristics. His dynamic efforts achieved very significant reductions in personnel and equipment resources while increasing productivity and improving services provided. He served on many special assignments, thereby making outstanding contributions to the successful accomplishments of Army programs. His exemplary performance inspires many others to greater achievements. Mr. Calcote's outstanding leadership qualities provide a model for emulation by managers at all echelons, and reflect great credit upon himself, the U. S. Army Missile Command, and the United States Army.

BIG 'TRASHATHON' PLANNED SATURDAY FOR ENTIRE CITY

The city-wide clean-up day will be held Saturday, and preparations are being made for at least 200 people to take part.

The AARP chapter, sponsors of the clean-up, will be in charge of the activities which will include assigning work areas to those volunteering for jobs.

Children in the schools are being asked to help with the clean-up, and they will be in supervised groups throughout the town. Everyone who helps is asked to bring yard tools if possible.

County and city trucks are to be available for hauling the trash and debris as it is collected.

A number of organizations have volunteered to help with the cleanup, and all those willing to work are to be present at the Community Civic Center at 8 a.m. Saturday morning. It is planned to have the work completed by noon Saturday.

A free barbecue dinner will be served at the center at noon to all those who have worked that morning. The Chamber of Commerce is providing meat for the barbecue and several local men have volunteered to do the cooking. Groups and individuals are donating the other food for the dinner.

The work day should be a good time for a community get-together and also help beautify our community. Mrs. P. B. Snook, chairman of the event, is still making lists of areas in the town that especially need cleaning up and also names and addresses of those who need help with their neighborhoods.

Cash prizes are to be given children collecting the most trash during the morning, so the day can be profitable to the youngsters taking part.

This is to be a big event in Santa Anna and everyone is urged to help in any way possible.

Girls Track Team Wins Third; Four Qualify for State Meet

Four Santa Anna girls qualified for the state track meet which will be held in Austin on May 11 and 12. Although the SAHS team compiled 48 points to tie for third place in the regional meet, they will be competing in only two events at state.

Elizabeth Morris placed second in the 440 yard dash and also ran one leg of the 440 yard relay which placed second. Others on the relay team are Tony and Becky Allen and Sharon Keeney. Only first and second place winners are eligible to compete in the state contests.

Eldorado took the team championship at the regional meet with 79 points. Aspermont was second, and Santa Anna and Baird tied for third.

Others scoring points for the local team included Jana Eubank, sixth in shot put; Tony Allen, sixth in 100 yard dash; 880 relay team, third; Becky Allen, fourth in 220 yard dash; Debbie Coyle, a ninth in 880 yard run; and mile relay sixth (Lisa Herring, Darla Hufford, Janice Martin and Denise Blair).

on hard-facing conducted by industry personnel from Whittier, California.

The short course of Santa Anna High is scheduled to begin May 14 at 7:00 p. m. in the vocational agriculture building. Other meetings in the series of four nights will be held at 7:00 p. m. in Vo. A.G. Bldg.

During the dates the short course is in progress, Mr. Barton will be available to assist farmers with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Mr. Billy Riley.

Farmers interested in attending the short course should write or call Cullen N. Perry, or the teacher of vocational agriculture, Mr. Billy Riley. An entry fee of $5.00 will be charged. Farm Welding Short Course Certificates will be presented to each enrollee who attends all the training sessions. Mr. Barton states that the short course will be adjusted to wishes and interests of farmers enrolled but that he expects to cover such subjects as safety in welding, factors controlled by the operation in running a bead and striking an arc, types of electrodes, preparation of joints distortion, cutting, hardsurfacing, and pipe welding.

School Personnel Elected At Recent Trustee Meeting

At a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Santa Anna Independent School District, the following faculty members were elected for 1973-74, all subject to assignment: R. C. Smith, Mattie B. Davenport, Dorothy Harris, Ruth Dodson, Nadean Harris, Dwight Hudson, J. A. Smelley, Larry Steele, Jane Wagner, Billy Riley, Winnie McQueen, Sue Newman, Steve Ncikel, Cynthia Maedgen and Joan Jones.

Also re-elected were Mrs. Sandra Cammack, Business Manager, Mrs. Loweta Pope, Librarian and Study Hall Supervisor, and Mrs. Sharon Greenlee and Mrs. Sybil Dean were recommended as teacher aides subject to funding of ESEA, Title I Federal Funds. Loyd Taylor and Carlton Baker will continue as custodians and Alline Rutherford, Darrel Ashley, Delma Blair, Claude Langford and Sybil Dean will continue as bus drivers. Mrs. Udell Copeland was re-elected as food service director, with cafeteria workers to be Mrs. Thelma Upchurch, Opal Langford, and Gladys Wardlow.

The board voted to recommend to the County Board of Trustees that Mr. Ken Bowker, Counselor, Mrs. Edna Weels, Nurse, be continued in the count cooperative program.

Cullen N. Perry, Superintendent, has two years remaining on his contract and Floyd Marshall, Part-time principal, has one year remaining; therefore, no action was taken on these positions. Lucille Dean and Margaret Crews are retiring; therefore, the vacancy in grades 2 and 3 will create some reassignments. Due to a decrease in the average daily attendance, the state will fund only one of these positions for 73-74. A vacancy will also exist in the Title I Remedial Program, but employment will be subject to Federal Funding.

The administration has expressed disappointment in the lack of interest students have shown in vocational courses made available next year in auto mechanics, building trades, metal trades and cosmetology. Distributive Education will be made available if sufficient interest of students and business people make it possible.

In Our Opinion

By W. T. HAYS

THE WATERGATE incident reached its climax Monday night when President Nixon assumed responsibility for it, although he admitted that he knew nothing about it previous to the bugging.

The President made the address to the nation over television shortly after beginning a clean-up of his administration in which several of his close associates resigned.

In essence, the President followed the example of former President Harry Truman who had a sign on his desk, "the Buck Stops Here."

There is probably no question that President Nixon had no prior knowledge of the illegal bugging, and it is hard to understand the judgement of those who did. It contributed nothing to the presidential campaign because it was pretty well cut and dried as to its outcome when the bugging took place.

The President said that anyone who had a part in the incident would be asked to resign, in an effort to restore the integrity of his office.

Nixon also praised the federal judge and the free press for bringing to light the "intrigue" behind the Watergate office bugging.

Admitting that he had turned his campaign to others because of the pressing problems of his office, especially the ending of the Viet Nam conflict, Nixon called for a new set of standards to insure that future political campaigns be as free of abuses as possible.

Politics has always had some who would stoop pretty low in order to defeat their opponents, and that ranges from local races to the national. Texans have not always been above reproach in their political dealings and some of our governor's races have seen some pretty low tactics in the last 25 years. However, we expect candidates for the presidency to be above such tactics and the Watergate scandal has certainly not helped the Republican cause.

Naturally the Democrats have made hay while the sun shines because of the wire tapping incident, and we can rest assured that it will be an issue in the next campaign. Someone will drag it out.

We hope, however, that the action of the President will have some effect in stopping all the hubbub that is now taking up the time of politicians in Washington so they can get on with more productive work.

Trickham P.O. Has Open House Monday, May 1

By MRS. JOHN HUNTER

Open house was held Monday at the Trickham post office, observing "Postal Week" and the special commemorative stamps of Postal People were on sale.

Mrs. Minnie Wilson was appointed postmaster in charge at Trickham by the Regional office in Dallas when the post office was discontinued and became a branch of the Santa Anna office August 4, 1958, and is still serving. Mrs. Wilson had served as postmaster a good many years before that.

Doug H. Moore of Santa Anna, present for the open house, has been carrier on the Whon-Trickham route for some 35 years.

The Trickham post office was established April 10, 1879, according to the National Archives and Records Service in Washington, D.C., but Mrs. Gay, in her book, "Into the Setting Sun," places the date much earlier, probably when the name was spelled Tricum. According to March, 1876, records, Coleman County Court ordered E. H. Fiveash Ranch on Mukewater near Tricum to be a smallpox hospital for that part of the County.

ASCS NEWS

During the last half of May, some 24,000 Texas farmers will receive a crop acreage questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

This information will be the basis for determining the planted acreage for the State and for each county. Accurate estimates are of great importance to farmers in planning production and marketings and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas agriculture.

The Texas Legislature has provided a program of estimates for each county. Texas covers such a wide area that State totals alone do not provide adequate information on Texas most basic industry, Agriculture. This is a cooperative effort of USDA's Statistical Reporting Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

It is important that farmers, who are required to set aside any acreage under the feed grain and wheat programs, be sure that this acreage complies with the qualifications of the acreage as set out by the ASCS.

If the set-aside acreage for the farm is less than five acres and a whole field is not given, the area must be at least two chains wide if it does not extend the entire length or breadth of the field.

This acreage must be cropland on which crops such as cotton, feed grain and wheat are normally planted and harvested. It must equal in productivity to the other land on the farm.

If anyone has a question that their set-aside might not come up to the above specifications, an employee of the County Committee may check your set-aside and tell you if it will qualify prior to your compliance report. The cost of checking this acreage is paid by the farmer.

ATTEND WORKSHOP

Supt. Cullen Perry and Edwin Hipsher, school trustee, was in Brownwood Monday to attend the annual workshop for school administrators and school board members in the area.

The meeting was held during the afternoon and through the dinner hour on the Howard Payne College campus.

"The Lord is Risen" SPONSORED BY YOUR FRIENDS The Seventh Day Adventists

The night of the first day of the week had worn slowly away. The darkest hour, just before daybreak, had come. Christ was still a prisoner in His narrow tomb. The great stone was in its place; the Roman seal was unbroken; the Roman guards were keeping their watch. And there were unseen watchers. Hosts of evil angels were gathered about the place. Had it been possible, the prince of darkness with his apostate army would have kept forever sealed the tomb that held the Son of God. But a heavenly host surrounded the sepulcher. Angels that excel in strength were guarding the tomb, and waiting to welcome the Prince of life.

"And, behold, there was a great earthquake; for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven." Clothed with the panoply of God, this angel left the heavenly courts. The bright beams of God's glory went before him, and illuminated his pathway. "His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow; and for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men."

Now, priests and rulers, where is the power of your guard? Brave soldiers that have never been afraid of human power are now as captives taken without sword or spear. The face they look upon is not the face of mortal warrior; it is the face of the mightiest of the Lord's host. This messenger is he who fills the position from which Satan fell. It is he who on the hills of Bethlehem proclaimed Christ's birth. The earth trembles at his approach, the hosts of darkness flee, and as he rolls away the stone, heaven seems to come down to the earth. The soldiers see him removing the stone as he would a pebble, and hear him cry, Son of God, come forth; Thy Father calls Thee. They see Jesus come forth from the grave, and hear him proclaim over the rent sepulcher, "I am the resurrection, and the life." As He comes forth in majesty and glory, the angel host bow low in adoration before the Redeemer, and welcome Him with songs of praise.

An earthquake marked the hour when Christ laid down His life, and another earthquake witnessed the moment when He took it up in triumph. He who had vanquished death and the grave came forth from the tomb with the tread of a conqueror, amid the reeling of the earth, the flashing of lightning, and the roaring of thunder. When He shall come to the earth again, He will shake "not the earth only, but also heaven." "The earth shall reel and fro like a drunkard, and shall be removed like a cottage." "The heavens shall be rolled together as a scroll;" "the elements shall melt with fervent heat, and the earth also and the works that are there in shall be burned up." But "the Lord will be the hope of His people, and the strength of the children of Israel." Heb. 12:26; Isa. 24:20, 34:4; 2 Peter 3:10, Joel 3:16.

At the death of Jesus the soldiers had beheld the earth wrapped in darkness at midday; but at the resurrection they saw the brightness of the angels illuminate the night, and heard the inhabitants of heaven singing with great joy and triumph: Thou has vanquished Satan and the powers of darkness; Thou has swallowed up death in victory!

Christ came forth from the tomb glorified, and the Roman guard beheld Him. Their eyes were riveted upon the face of Him whom they had so recently mocked and derided. In this glorified Being they beheld the prisoner whom they had seen in the judgment hall, the one for whom they had plaited a crown of thorns. This was the One who had stood unresisting before Pilate and Herod, His form lacerated by the cruel scourge. This was He who had been nailed to the cross, at whom the priests and rulers, full of self-satisfaction, had wagged their heads, saying, "He saved others; Himself He cannot save." Matt. 27:42. This was He who had been laid in Joseph's new tomb. The decree of heaven had loosed the captive. Mountains piled upon mountains over His sepulcher could not have prevented Him from coming forth.

At the sight of the angels and the glorified Saviour the Roman guard had fainted and become as dead men. When the heavenly train was hidden from their view, they arose to their feet, and as quickly as their trembling limbs could carry them, made their way to the gate of the garden. Staggering like drunken men, they hurried on to the city, telling those whom they met the wonderful news. They were making their way to Pilate, but their report had been carried to the Jewish authorities, and the chief priests and rulers sent for them to be brought first into their presence. A strange appearance those soldiers presented. Trembling with fear, their faces colorless, they bore testimony to the resurrection of Christ. The soldiers told all, just as they had seen it; they had not had time to think or speak anything but the truth. With painful utterance they said, It was the Son of God who was crucified; we have heard an angel proclaiming Him as the Majesty of heaven, the King of glory.

The faces of the priests were as those of the dead. Caiaphas tried to speak. His lips moved, but they uttered no sound. The soldiers were about to leave the council room, when a voice stayed them. Caiaphas had at last found speech. Wait, wait, he said. Tell no one the things you have seen.

A lying report was then given to the soldiers. "Say ye," said the priests, "His disciples came by night, and stole Him away while we slept." Here the priests overreached themselves. How could the soldiers say that the disciples had stolen the body while they slept? If they were asleep how could they know? And if the disciples had been proved guilty of stealing Christ's body, would not the priests have been first to condemn them? Or if the sentinels had slept at the tomb, would not the priests have been foremost in accusing them to Pilate?

The soldiers were horrified at the thought of bringing upon themselves the charge of sleeping at their post. This was an offense punishable with death. Should they bear false witness, deceiving the people, and placing their own lives in peril? Had they not kept their weary watch with sleepless vigilance? How could they stand the trial, even for the sake of money, if they perjured themselves?

In order to silence the testimony they feared, the priests promised to secure the safety of the guard, saying that Pilate would not desire to have such a report circulated any more than they did. The Roman soldiers sold their integrity to the Jews for money. They came in before the priests burdened with most startling message of truth; they went out with a burden of money, and on their tongues a lying report which had been framed for them by the priests.

Meanwhile the report of Christ's resurrection had been carried to Pilate. Though Pilate was responsible for having given Christ up to die, he had been comparatively unconcerned. While he had condemned the Saviour unwillingly, and with a feeling of pity, he had felt no real compunction until now. In terror he now shut himself within his house, determined to see no one. But the priests made their way into his presence, told the story which they had invented, and urged him to overlook the sentinels' neglect of duty. Before consenting to this, he himself privately questioned the guard. They, fearing for their own safety, dared not conceal anything, and Pilate drew from them an account of all that had taken place. He did not prosecute the matter further, but from that time there was no peace for him.

When Jesus was laid in the grave, Satan triumphed. He dared to hope that the Saviour would not take up His life again. He claimed the Lord's body, and set his guard about the tomb, seeking to hold Christ a prisoner. He was bitterly angry when his angels fled at the approach of the heavenly messenger. When he saw Christ come forth in triumph, he knew that his kingdom would have an end, and that he must finally die.

The priests, in putting Christ to death, had made themselves the tool of Satan. Now they were entirely in his power. They were entangled in a snare from which they saw no escape but in continuing their warfare against Christ. When they heard the report of His resurrection, they feared the wrath of the people. They felt that their own lives were in danger. The only hope for them was to prove Christ an impostor by denying that He had risen. They bribed the soldiers, and secured Pilate's silence. They spread their lying reports far and near. But there were witnesses whom they could not silence. Many had heard of the soldiers' testimony to Christ's resurrection. And certain of the dead who came forth with Christ appeared to many, and declared that He had risen. Reports were brought of the priests of persons who had seen these risen ones, and heard their testimony. The priests and rulers were in continual dread, lest in walking the streets, or within the privacy of their own homes, they should come face to face with Christ. They felt that there was no safety for them. Bolts and bars were but poor protection against the Son of God. By day and by night that awful scene in the judgment hall, when they had cried, "His blood be on us, and on our children," was before them. Matt. 27:25. Nevermore would the memory of that scene fade from their minds. Nevermore would peaceful sleep come to their pillows.

When the voice of the mighty angel was heard at Christ's tomb, saying, Thy Father calls Thee, the Saviour came forth from the grave by the life that was in Himself. Now was proved the truth of His words, "I lay down My life, that I might take it again. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again." Now was fulfilled the prophecy He had spoken to the priests and rulers, "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up." John 10:17, 18; 2:19.

Over the recent sepulcher of Joseph Christ had proclaimed in triumph, "I am the resurrection, and the life. These words could be spoken only by the Deity. All created beings live by the will and power of God. They are dependent recipients of the life of God. From the highest seraph to the humblest animate being, all are replenished from the Source of life. Only He who is one with God could say I have power to lay down My life, and I have power to take it again. In His divinity, Christ possessed the power to break the bonds of death.

Christ arose from the dead as the first fruits of those that slept. He was the antitype of the wave sheaf, and His resurrection took place on the very day when the wave sheaf was to be presented before the Lord. For more than a thousand years this symbolic ceremony had been performed. From the harvest fields the first heads of ripened grain were gathered, and when the people went up to Jerusalem to the Passover, the sheaf of first fruits was waved as a thank offering before the Lord. Not until this was presented could the sickle be put to the grain, and it be gathered into sheaves. The sheaf dedicated to God represented the great spiritual harvest to be gathered for the kingdom of God. His resurrection is the type and pledge of the resurrection of all the righteous dead. "For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with Him." 1 Thess. 4:14.

As Christ arose, He brought from the grave a multitude of captives. The earthquake at His death had rent open their graves and when He arose, they came forth with Him. They were those who had been collaborators with God, and who at the cost of their lives had borne testimony to the truth. Now they were to be witnesses for Him who had raised from the dead.

During His ministry, Jesus had raised the dead to life. He had raised the son of the widow of Nain, and the ruler's daughter and Lazarus. But these were not clothed with immortality. After they were raised, they were still subject to death. But those who came forth from the grave at Christ's resurrection were raised to everlasting life. They ascended with Him as trophies of His victory over death and the grave. These, said Christ, are no longer the captives of Satan; I have redeemed them. I have brought them from the grave as the first fruits of My power, to be with Me where I am nevermore to see death or experience sorrow.

These went into the city, and appeared unto many, declaring, Christ has risen from the dead, and we be risen with Him. Thus was immortalized the sacred truth of the resurrection. The risen saints bore witness to the truth of the words, "Thy dead men shall live, together with My dead body shall they arise." Their resurrection was an illustration of the fulfillment of the prophecy, "Awake and sing, ye that dwell in dust; for thy dew is as the dew of herbs, and the earth shall cast out the dead." Isa. 26:19.

To the believer, Christ is the resurrection and the life. In our Saviour the life that was lost through sin is restored; for He has life in Himself to quicken whom He will. He is invested with the right to give immortality. The life that He laid down in humanity, He takes up again, and gives to humanity. "I am come," He said "that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." "Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life." "Whoso eateth My flesh, and drinketh My blood, hath eternal life; and I will raise him up at the last day." John 10:10; 4:14; 6:54.

To the believer, death is but a small matter, Christ speaks of it as if it were of little moment. "If a man keep My saying, he shall never see death," "he shall never taste of death." To the Christian, death is but a sleep, a moment of silence and darkness. The life is hid with Christ in God, and "when Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with Him in glory." John 8:51, 52; Col. 3:4.

The voice that cried from the cross, "It is finished," was heard among the dead. It pierced the walls of sepulchers, and summoned the sleepers to arise. Thus will it be when the voice of Christ shall be heard from heaven. That voice will penetrate the graves and unbar the tombs, and the dead in Christ shall arise. At the Saviour's resurrection a few graves were opened, but at His second coming all the precious dead shall hear His voice, and shall come forth to glorious, immortal life. The same power that raised Christ from the dead will raise His church, and glorify it with Him, above all principalities, above all powers, above every name that is named, not only in this world; but also in the world to come.

Scout Outing Very Exciting For Local Boys

A group of Santa Anna Boy Scouts had an interesting and exciting outing last weekend when they made a canoe trip down the Colorado River from near Rockwood to Winchell.

Sam Allen and Mark Turney were the first to be turned over in their canoe. In fact, the only ones who were not submerged at some time during the trip were David Robinett, Jody Day and Steve Nickel.

Joe Guerrero's craft overturned but he managed to keep his opened can of peaches intact.

One of the highlights of the trip was when Terry Day made friends with a rattlesnake and took his "pet" swimming with him. Later in the day Bill Day, one of the adult chaperones, killed a rattlesnake and cooked it for the boys' supper.

The group camped out—some in wet sleeping bags—near Winchell Saturday night and returned to Santa Anna Sunday morning.

Others in the group were Larry Benton, Bobby Burton, Jody Brusenhan, and Junior Brusenhan.

Local 4-Hers Compete With Demonstration

The Santa Anna 4-H Club will be represented at the District 7 4-H contests in San Angelo Saturday. Seven girls from the local club will take part in the method demonstration contests after presenting their demonstrations in county eliminations at Coleman last Thursday night.

Sandi Hipsher and Ginger Smith had a demonstration on natural resources; Joy Smith had a demonstration on foods and nutrition. A presentation on safety and emergency preparedness was given by Mary Rendon and Jana Shambeck; and Lori Herring and Sheri Hipsher had a demonstration on landscape and horticulture.

All of the local girls are in the junior competition and can advance no further than the district competition.

Mrs. Edwin Hipsher and Mrs. Maurice Rendon were coaches for the demonstration teams.

What Constituted the First Covenant

1 Kings 8:21 And I have set there a place for the ark, wherein is the covenant of the Lord, which he made with our fathers, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt.

Friends, notice that it plainly says that which he placed in the ark was the covenant.

Now read 1 Kings 8:9. There was nothing in the ark save the two tables of stone, which Moses put there at Horeb, when the Lord made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of the land of Egypt.

Note again, The two tables of stone was in the ark, which Moses put there at Horeb, when the Lord made a covenant with the Children of Israel. This covenant was made with the people who had been in bondage in Egypt. No gentile was in bondage in Egypt, therefore this covenant was not made with Gentiles but Jews only.

What made up the FIRST COVENANT? Will you please Read Ex. 34:27-28. This for your instruction and information. AND THE LORD SAID UNTO MOSES, write, for after the tenor of these words, I have made a COVENANT WITH THEE AND WITH ISRAEL. AND HE WAS THERE WITH THE LORD FORTY DAYS AND FORTY NIGHTS, HE DID NEITHER EAT BREAD NOR DRINK WATER, AND HE WROTE UPON THE TABLES, THE WORDS OF THE COVENANT, THE TEN COMMANDMENTS.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS CONSTITUTED THE FIRST COVENANT. 2 Cor. 3:7 For you information, please read through 2 Cor. 7-16.

More to follow.
