District 10-a football champion DeLeon was defeated last week 17-6 by Eldorado in the bi-district clash at Brady. Eldorado will advance to the quarter-finals with Blooming Grove in a Friday night game at Brownwood.

The City of Santa Anna is joining the trend for conserving energy. Only a few Christmas lights will be put up this season in order to conserve electricity. In former years the colored lights have decorated the streets in the entire downtown area.

If the rumor has gotten out that Mrs. Henry (Verna) Newman has "lost her marbles", it just isn't so. If it's being said she gets out before daylight to hunt objects in the grass, perhaps we can explain.

Mrs. Newman's niece, Helen Nichols of El Paso, was leaving the Newman home early, early one recent morning, and enroute to the car dropped a bag of pecans in the grass under a mesquite tree. Mrs. Nichols got on her hands and knees in the semi-darkness and picked up all the pecans she could retrieve.

We wonder what a passing motorist thought, especially since the vehicle made a U-turn at the end of the street and came back by for another look.

It goes to show there is usually a reasonable explanation for everything!

Robert and Suzanne Smith returned Saturday night from New York City where they spent the several days sightseeing. They were among the group of parents and friends accompanying the Cisco Junior College band and drill team for their appearance in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade. The Smith's daughter, Suwanee and Lucinda, were among the group participating.

Suzanne stated upon returning that it was the best Thanksgiving she ever had. Being in New York City made her thankful to be living in Santa Anna!

School Musicians To Give Program

A community-wide Christmas program is being planned at Santa Anna High School on Sunday afternoon, December 16, at 5 p.m. in the school auditorium. The program will be presented by the music department of the school under the direction of Steve Nickel.

Featured will be the 32-piece senior band and a 95-voice chorus. The program will include Christmas carols, hymns, and other traditional Christmas music and narration.

Reorganization Of Legion Post Set Wednesday

Plans are being made here to re-activate the Jack Laughlin of American Legion Post in Santa Anna, and a meeting of local veterans has been set for Wednesday night, December 5, at the Lions Club building.

Thirty-nine eligible veterans have already been notified of the meeting, and all others interested are urged to be present for the meeting next Wednesday night at 7 p.m.

Roy Holt of Kingsland, 21st District Vice Commander, and several of the Kingsland Post members will be in Santa Anna for the meeting.

The local American Legion post has been inactive for several years but was not disbanded. The charter is still intact, and only reorganization is needed to become active again.

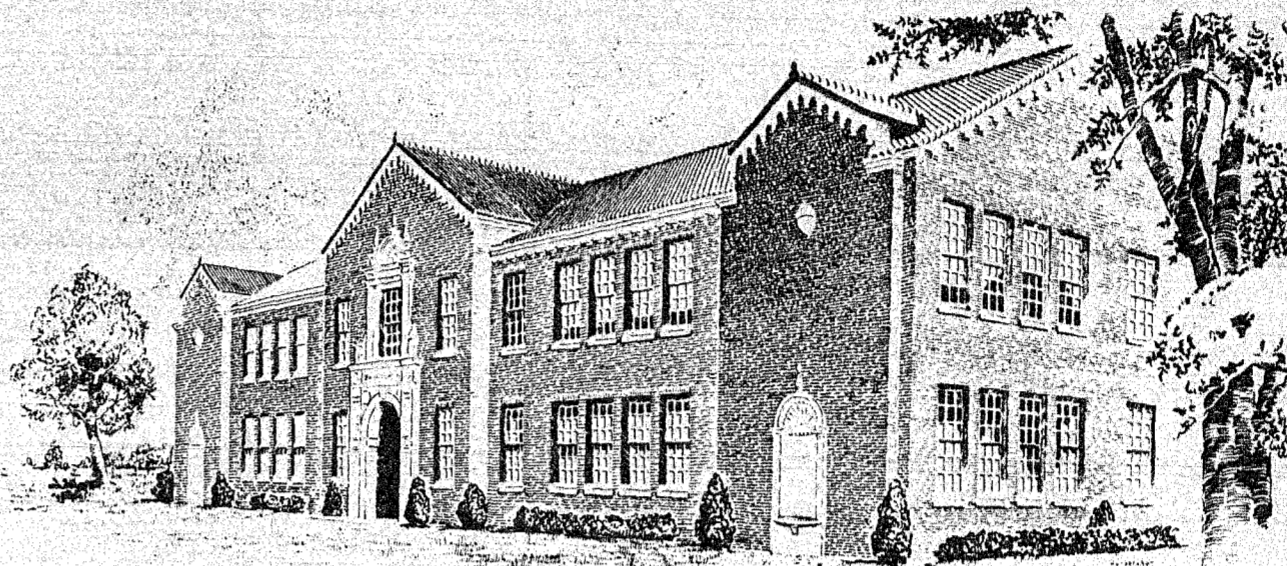

Holt, son of Santa Anna natives Roy and Mildred Pearce Holt of Copperas Cove, has been an outstanding leader in American Legion and has been instrumental in organizing a number of new posts in this district.

All local veterans are urged to attend the meeting.

Film Is Slated On December 9

A new Billy Graham film, "Isn't It Good to Know", will be shown in Santa Anna on Sunday night, December 9. The film will be shown at 7 p.m., and people of all denominations are urged to attend.

There is no admission charge, and the public is invited.

SANTA ANNA HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING...is slated for extensive remodeling under the proposed school improvement program. The attractive structure was built during the 1927-28 school year and has served the community all since that time. The steel and masonry building will be modernized and a new heating and cooling system added under the proposed plans.

Holiday Event Set December 7 In Santa Anna

The annual Christmas season opening in Santa Anna will be held next week, on Friday, December 7. Plans are underway for the activities on that day and for the holiday activities during the following weeks.

Local businesses are to unveil their Christmas decorations on that day, and the Lions Club Pancake Fiesta will be held during the day.

A downtown parade is planned for 2 p.m., and will feature bands, floats, and Santa Claus.

Everyone in the community is invited to be in town all day Friday, December 7, to take part in the holiday activities.

Remodeling of HS Building Proposed in Improvements

Santa Anna School District voters will go to the polls on Saturday, December 15, to decide on a bond issue totaling $600,000. The proposed improvement project has been in consideration for several years and was planned with the help of a citizens committee.

The initial project in the program will be the remodeling of the present high school building and construction of a new gymnasium. The project will also include a new home making building and covered walkways between the buildings if enough money is available. Otherwise the present homemaking department will be remodeled.

The present high school building, built in 1927-28, is of sound construction. The building is of steel and masonry with the only wood in the floors ceilings and woodwork. It is basically a better building than could be built at the present time.

A new roof, using as much of the present roofing as possible, will be added under the proposed project. The exterior walls will be cleaned, and a new heating and cooling system added. The present steam heating system is completely inadequate and has not given proper service for several years.

Better lighting, new metal windows, stair treads and ceilings are also proposed. Also planned is new floor covering, insulation, painting and redecoration as needed.

The planned improvements are to keep present and future accreditation and to bring the fine old building up-to-date to meet modern standards.

The new physical education building will provide facilities for all grades and replace the present gymnasium which was constructed in 1948 as a temporary structure. However, the old gym would be left for auxiliary uses as long as possible.

A homemaking building, planned to adjoin the high school on the east, would give more classroom space in the high school building. Construction of the new facility would cost about $10,000 more than renovation of the present department and in addition release the needed space in the present building for other classes.

Local voters are being asked to help provide children in the community with good educational facilities. The plans are being made to provide buildings arranged and equipped for today's teaching methods, and to meet future needs.

Information on the proposed bond election is being prepared for each voter, and will be made available to everyone in the district within a week or two. Included in the information is the exact cost to each taxpayer. The tax increase will still be well under the tax rate of most school districts in the area.

Absentee voting in the election will be done at the school business office starting next week and continuing until December 11. The election on December 15 will be held at the Vocational Agriculture building with Glen Copeland as election judge.

The Santa Anna Independent School District is in excellent financial shape, and the proposed bond issue is the first major project for the district since the Elementary School building was constructed about 1950.

OPEN SEASON....C. H. Deer, C. C. Gilbert and H. B. James, left to right, display their "catch" of rattlesnakes which they captured Monday afternoon on the Gilbert place east of Santa Anna. The largest of the snakes, held by Mr. Deer, was well over three feet, and all the snakes were very much alive and protesting being put on public display. Two other smaller snakes were also caught from the same den.

In Our Opinion

THE ENERGY CRISIS was put on the shoulders of the people Sunday night when President Nixon told the nation what he proposes to curtail use of fuels in the months to come.

Actually his proposals will not be mandatory until Congress acts with the possible exception of the use of heating oil.

However the setting of a national 50-mile-an-hour speed limit is possibly not within the jurisdiction of the President. According to the Texas Good Roads Association, the President, nor the governor has the authority to set speed limits on highways, even though they may be federal highways or interstate highways. Only the State Legislature has that authority, and they are not in session, and probably will not be for some time.

Even the highway department cannot change the speed limits except for safety reasons. Conceivable the President could call the present condition an emergency.

The highway patrol, although they do not say so publicly, are apprehensive about a 50-mile an hour speed limit. Those who are already dropping their speed on a voluntary basis, are causing problems to the law enforcement agency. They are causing traffic snarls and long lines are building up on single lane highways to the point where drivers are taking more chances in passing the slow drivers. This could become as much a hazard as the fuel shortage.

The highway department doesn't look forward to a slower speed limit in that it would cost $800,000 to change the 35,000 speed limit signs on Texas highways.

As for the closing of service stations on Sundays, that may, or may not have very much effect on the use of fuels. Those who plan to drive on Sundays could purchase their gas on Saturday night, even though they possibly could not drive as far as they would like. Also the sale of gas cans would probably boom.

Another effect on the highway department is the fact that, if the lowering of the speed limit did save fuel, every gallon saved would cost the department five cents tax money.

Many think that a compromise on 60 miles per hour would receive a lot more cooperation from the motoring public. It will be hard for anyone who makes his living traveling from city to city to drop his speed 20 miles an hour and still cover his territory. He would either have to make his calls less frequent or cut his territory to match his travelling time, and that would mean less money for him.

Many of us would go along with most things in the matter of the fuel crisis if we were convinced that the shortage is really as bad as they say. There is skepticism among some in knowledgeable places on whether it is as bad as we are told.

Another thing that bugs drivers is that much fuel is wasted on bad roads and poorly-timed traffic lights. Bumpy roads with frequent slow downs and stops burns up more fuel than speed, and having to stop at every intersection because of the timing of traffic lights is a major factor in fuel consumption.

Whon News

By Mrs. Tom Rutherford

We are glad to report Mr. Tom Vinson who had surgery a week back in an Abilene Hospital, was able to come to his home here Monday, and the family reports he is doing fine. The doctor ordered complete rest for at least five weeks. For a man who is active and always working, that is a rather stiff order. So we feel sure Mr. and Mrs. Tom Vinson would appreciate company.

Mrs. Tom Berry of Scottsdale, Arizona, a daughter of the Vinsons, and James Tom Vinson of Hurst, a son, have been here during their father's stay in the hospital. James has returned home and Mrs. Berry left for her home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Bearden and children of Mullin visited in the Darwin Lovelady home last Wednesday. They were enroute to Lubbock for Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Fitzpatrick had all their children at home for Thanksgiving dinner. They were Mr. and Mrs. Jacky Bullion and Michelle of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. Don Fitzpatrick and Neil Fitzpatrick of Tarleton State University. Mr. and Mrs. Don Fitzpatrick went to Crowell Friday to attend the wedding of Don's buddy, Mr. Donnie Forrester.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Floyd Morris and baby attended funeral services for Mr. Mike Van Horn of Elberta, Canada who passed away following a brief illness. Mr. Van Horn was 93 years of age but was very active and was visiting in Brady when he was stricken ill. The services were conducted Saturday afternoon, and following the service the group visited in the Clarence Morris home in Brady.

Charles Ed Hill of Blooming Grove and a friend of the Fitzpatricks was a guest in their home Sunday enjoying a day of visiting and friendship together.

Mrs. Billie Lovelady and her sister, Juanita Minica of Santa Anna visited Thursday afternoon with their brother, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Baker, in Zephyr.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Floyd Morris and son visited Friday with Floyd's sister, Mrs. Dovie Morris, in Mason.

Mrs. Pearl Avants of Santa Anna and son James of Coleman spent Friday on their farm here.

Mr. and Mrs. Rick Wheeler and daughters, Christi and Erica, of Pasadena and a friend, Randy Killeen of Baytown, and Mr. and Mrs. Hilary Rutherford, Rocky and Dena, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Rutherford, Tonna and Todd of Bangs had Thanksgiving and spent the weekend with their parents, the Tom Rutherfords. We had a wonderful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Floyd Morris and Jeffrey of Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. John David Morris of Coleman were Thanksgiving guests with their parents, the Floyd Morrises.

Transacting business in San Angelo during the past week was Mrs. Billie Lovelady of Santa Anna and Mrs. Juanita Minica and Mrs. Audrey Sanford of Zephyr. The two ladies are sisters of Mrs. Lovelady.

Mrs. Pearl Avants of Santa Anna and her son, James Avants of Coleman, spent Wednesday night on their farm here. Mrs. Faye Marcee of Coleman joined them Thursday for Thanksgiving dinner. Calling Thursday morning were Dougy Avants Jr. and Jacky Lynn Avants of Brady and Kem Turner of Midland. Thursday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Avants and children of Brady and Kem Turner of Midland and Mrs. John X. Steward joined them here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wimpy Watson of Lubbock spent Saturday night on their farm here. They left early Sunday morning to visit with Mrs. Watson's sister and family in Waco and to visit a sister-in-law, Mrs. Bill Davis, who was here from Germany and leaving for her home Monday. The Watsons were returning to their home at Lubbock Sunday afternoon. They visited briefly with the Tom Rutherfords.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Fitzpatrick's father, Mr. Tim Snowden of Brady, is not feeling so well, but to date he hasn't been hospitalized. He does go to the doctor daily, and we hope he will soon feel much improved.

Mrs. Darwin Lovelady reports her son, Randal of Tarleton State University, was home for the Thanksgiving holidays, but from Friday the holiday was not much enjoyed. Randal had a tooth pulled Friday that gave him some trouble, but he was feeling very well Sunday following the loss of lots of blood.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Moore were on their place here during the holidays and also at the Jim and Faye Gill Ranch here and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Moore in Santa Anna. Jim and Faye Gill of Coleman were on their ranch here Sunday.

SA Adventists Start Campaign For Ministries

Seventh-day Adventist reaction to a devaluated dollar will be reflected in the church's World Service Appeal this year. John D. Loveridge, Santa Anna pastor, explained that an increase in the goal has been necessary to help compensate for the loss in the buying power of the U.S. dollar.

Saturday evening, the 24th, is the date set to launch the campaign, which is to help become acquainted with the worldwide ministries of the church, as well as to raise funds for their service support.

"A loss to our work of $3.5 million has resulted from the dollar devaluation," Loveridge said. "This problem, added to continuing inflation, makes this year's campaign more important than usual."

The immediate crisis of devaluation was met with special appropriations from the reserve funds, plus a worldwide "dollar-devaluation offering" which was taken in all churches. Members were urged to increase their weekly giving. As a result no overseas personnel have been brought home.

During the next two weeks volunteers will be calling from door to door to distribute free copies of THESE TIMES magazine, which has been especially prepared for the appeal. This issue depicts the church's work around the world and reports accomplishments during the past year.

Most of the church's $59 million budget this year is supplied by donations from its own members. This gives non-members an opportunity to help to whatever extent they desire.

Thailand Princess Konjana Makes Visit To Santa Anna

Santa Anna had a very special visitor last weekend. Princess Konjana Viparksup Nai Nakonsawon of Thailand was a guest in the home of Mrs. Burgess Weaver and Miss Pearl Wilburn. The Princess was making her first visit here with her husband, Burgess Weaver III, and infant son. Also here were her parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Weaver of Dallas.

The young couple was married over a year ago in Bangkok, Thailand and came to the United States during the summer. They plan to visit here with his family until spring, then return to Thailand. The new Mrs. Weaver and her husband met while he was in the US Army working with intelligence in Bangkok and she was with the Thai intelligence. He has now completed his tour of duty as a Green Beret.

Betty Crocker Annual Search Set December 5

The 20th annual Betty Crocker Search for Leadership in Family Living will be held in high schools throughout the United States on Tuesday, December 4. More than 750,000 seniors will take the written knowledge and attitude examination to choose the local entries in a $111,000 scholarship program.

Formerly called the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow search, the examination will be available to all 24 SAHS seniors, both boys and girls. Last year was the first year that boys took the test, and the change in the program's title reflects the increased emphasis on mutually shared responsibility for family leadership.

Participating seniors will take the 50-minute examination which will be graded by Science Research Associated. The local winner will receive a specially designed award from General Mills and will, with all other school winners, compete for state and national honors.

Awards for state and national winners include scholarships, reference books, college grants and an expense-paid trip to the Nation's capitol for all the state winners.

More than nine million students have taken part in the annual examination since its beginning in 1954-55. Winner of the SAHS award last year was Carol Kingsbery Hounsell.

The winner of the local test will be revealed in February.

education in private schools but also attended the public government schools as an "example" student, an honor given to those with high academic records. She studied English for a number of years as is required by all Thai schools. Her college major was accounting. Her father is a graduate of Harvard University.

Since Thai young people are given responsibility at a very early age, Princess Konjana started working with the family businesses while still a student. Since holding the government job last year, the attractive young woman has taken over management of a bus company, real estate and other personal business holdings.

Princess Konjana is a great-granddaughter of a former King of Siam, thus still holds her title as a direct royal descendent. Her family's home is still referred to as a palace, and on state occasions the Thai people bow at the feet of the Princess. However she or other members of her family are not heirs to the throne of Thailand. She and her husband will make their home in Thailand where they will operate the businesses. Their home is a villa on the seacoast.

Thai women wear Western clothes, with pants and slacks being acceptable there for the women just as they are here. Traditional Thai costume is used for formal occasions.

Mrs. Weaver seemed to enjoy her visit to Santa Anna and was impressed by the serene atmosphere of a small town. She likes metropolitan Dallas which is much like Bangkok with its three million people.

While in Santa Anna Princess Konjana was entertained at a tea in the home of Mrs. Ford Barnes.

Leola Barnes' 'Silver Century' Published in Second Edition

SILVER CENTURY, an extraordinary collection of verse by Leola Christie Barnes of Santa Anna, is now in its second edition.

The poems, published by the Naylor Company of San Antonio, deal primarily with Texans throughout the state's history, but also include illuminating insight into the author's philosophies.

Mrs. Barnes' feeling for the continuity of history and the timelessness of patriotism make her verse as satisfying today as it was almost four decades ago. In her mind's eye, the poet envisions a notable parade of giants: the Spaniard, Coronado, is struck with the vastness of Texas plains; French La Salle off course, lands on Lavaca Bay; Father Massinet establishes the first mission in Texas; Austin's colonists come in peace and stay to die in freedom's cause.

While commemorating the past, the poet injects a sharp note of satire in comparisons with the present. The Old Spanish Trail, where once was heard the tramp of invader boots, "Now bears the grinding shriek of brakes." The giant oak tree, where the Father of Texas once held court, now attracts "lamenting tourists" to its cooling shade. Visitors to the Alamo "talk of Travis' line" and of Bowie's courage:

Of one who asked
Of men to lift his cot.
But once outside
They murmur, "O how hot!"

However, summer's heat is certainly a fact of life in Texas which the poet brilliantly depicts in sonnet form. In fact, she recreates the West Texas scene in the diverse aspects of a climate which brews both a whirling sandstorm and a cooling evening breeze and of a life-style which accommodates both the realism of its hard-riding cowboys and the romanticism of its genial Latin population.

This state of Texas has frequently been the subject of broad humor or of extravagant praise. But who would be better qualified to report its unique character with understanding and appreciation than this native daughter of a native daughter of a native daughter of Texas?

Leola Christie Barnes has shared her thoughts with others as a lecturer on her travels but primarily as a writer. Her most recent work was HER MAJESTY NEVERTHELESS (Naylor), a biography of Maria de Magnon with foreword by Price Daniel, former governor of Texas. Previously, she had published four collections of poetry; CRIMSON DAWNING, PURPLE PETALS (Naylor), SILVER CENTURY (Naylor) and WEST TO GLORY. She earned bachelor of science and bachelor of oratory degrees at Daniel Baker College (now merged with Howard Payne College) and received an honorary degree in literature from Leon de Aryan University. She has also been elected a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts and Letters in London. She and her husband, W. Ford Barnes, live in Santa Anna, where he formerly served as mayor.

Dr. and Mrs. T. Richard Sealy entertained the faculty members of the Sealy Hospital Training school with a four course dinner on Monday night at seven o'clock.

Music was furnished during the dinner by Miss Velma Sealy and also by radio. After the last service the men retired to the drawing room to smoke, after which plans for the training school were discussed.

In arranging the calendar for the Santa Anna Independent district, the Board of Education set November 1st as the day upon which compulsory attendance should begin. All children who have reached their eighth birthday and have not reached their fourteenth birthday were compelled to attend school for at least four school months beginning November 1.

Elmo Eubank, wife and baby were Dallas visitors last week, and had the misfortune of losing a suitcase containing several dollars worth of clothing.

The Santa Anna News has been requested to announce that there will be a singing at Watts Creek Sunday night November 7.

Fire of unknown origin broke out in the main store of the Adams Mercantile Company Tuesday night, just after midnight, and destroyed one of the largest and best stocks of goods in Coleman county. The loss at this time has not been estimated except in a casual way, and we are at a loss to state just what the damage approximates, but in our judgement the figures will run near $75,000 on the building and stock.

Culvel Lowry, Jess Allison, Roy Casey, and others made up a party from south of town, and left this week for Shackelford county where they expect to stage a wolf hunt, and incidently visit with friends.

Thanksgiving has come and gone. We have so much to be thankful for, for if we have our health, it means more than anything else. We need to be thankful every day.
