Senate Puts A New Check On Price Subsidy

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—In a sudden and dramatic turnabout, the senate rose up to do battle with the administration again today over the government's plan to roll back retail food prices...

The formidable task of the conferees was this: to reconcile diametrically opposite proposals in the senate version and the house-approved bill which lifted all subsidy-rollback restrictions...

Genevieve administration-sanctioned provisions which would have authorized a six-months rollback expenditure up to $525,000,000...

The bill now would invalidate the present subsidy-rollback on retail prices of meats and butter. Lawmakers disagreed generally on what final form it would take after the house-senate conference committee finished with it...

First Cigarettes Sent To Soldiers

The first order of 11 cases of cigarettes for men overseas was shipped off Tuesday to the South Pacific area, according to an announcement by Dale Thompson, American Legion commander.

Funds for the cigarettes were raised Saturday when MacArthur Cigarette Overseas days was sponsored by the Legion and from collection boxes placed in downtown stores.

Four of the cases of cigarettes went to the army and navy and three to the marines. All told the amount represents 5,500 packages and Thompson believed that it would not be long before other cases could be sent with funds being collected from the downtown boxes.

Now Is Time To Strike, Chiang Tells His Allies

CHUNGKING, July 7 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek issued a call today to the United Nations to strike at once in force against Japan because now, he declared, is the opportune moment "to reap great results" in reducing the time and cost of final victory.

In a message to the people of the Allied Nations on the anniversary of the day six years ago that China was attacked, the war leader asserted Japan now "is at her weakest as her ready resources are approaching a point of exhaustion."

"Should we let her have further respite to complete impregnable defenses and to wage a long drawn-out war with us," he added, "the time and price the Allies will have to pay to defeat her will be many times longer and heavier than what are required today."

General Chiang, who told his own people in another message that the time limit for utter defeat of the Japanese invasion armies "cannot exceed two years," urged full support of the Roosevelt-Churchill agreement to "wage the war on the Japanese and European fronts with equal power."

U. S. Naval Forces Bombard Kiska Nazi Break-Through Claimed In Kursk Area

Moscow Says Enemy Paying Huge Price Bitter Conflict Is Raging Between Orel And Zelgorod

The Berlin radio quoted a German military spokesman as announcing today that the Germans had broken through the main Soviet fighting line at several points in the Kursk area, center of the Russian bulge below Moscow.

No details were given as to the distance of the claimed penetrations, but it was stated that the break-through came during a German counterattack.

The claim was made in a trans-oceanic, propaganda agency, dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press.

Earlier Berlin accounts of the eastern front fighting said the conflict was raging between Belgorod and Orel with the initiative "firmly held by the Germans."

The salient of the Soviet front south of Orel now is the scene of northwest of Belgorod-Kursk-south of Orel now is the scene of fighting continually increasing in violence.

The Wednesday German high command communique had claimed penetrations deep into Russian positions but did not give the exact points.

Meanwhile, Moscow said the German army had paid a terrific toll in tanks and manpower as the price for the "insignificant gains" achieved in two days of bitter fighting in the 1943 summer offensive on the Orel-Kursk-Belgorod front.

Acknowledging the loss of two unidentified towns near Belgorod at the southernmost end of the revitalized 165-mile front, the Red army announced last night that it smashed 1,571 enemy tanks and shot down 214 planes while the German loss in dead exceeded 10,000.

The Russians counted the German loss in tanks at 586 for the first day's fighting. The midday communique yesterday quoted the figure by 152 and last night the Soviet information bureau added another 423 in a special communique.

The regular midday communique later listed 110 German tanks destroyed, in the Orel-Kursk sector.

Advices from the front indicated the German high command was sending waves after wave of armored units, and infantry against the strongly defended Soviet positions, making no appreciable headway.

Farmers Urged To Make Reports On Measurements About half of the compliance pre-measurements required by the AAA for farmers have been received at the AAA office it was announced Wednesday.

Farmers were again urged to bring in their reports as soon as possible while clerks are not working on other AAA business and able to handle the measurements quickly.

Marketing cards for farmers cannot be issued until the measurements are in and have been spot checked.

Just Like Bachelor Writing Baby Book FORT MYERS, Fla., July 7 (AP)—Bernard Galkin, author of a best selling manual "How to get a commission in the army, navy, marines, coast guard, and merchant marine," has been promoted to the grade of corporal at the Buckingham army air field, near Fort Myers.

New Tax Plan Under Study

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Congressional and treasury experts collaborated today in drafting a new tax formula whereby persons whose incomes have increased because of the war will pay a larger share of the war's costs.

Such a plan, if written into law, would apply to individual income the principle of excess profits taxes as now applied against corporate income.

The house ways and means committee yesterday ordered the experts to study and report on the feasibility of such a tax, and at the same time announced it would begin consideration Sept. 8 "on a non-partisan basis" of a new general tax measure with new and higher levies.

Treasury experts and the committee's tax staff were asked to suggest "alternative means of raising additional revenue," including information on a sales tax, the so-called spending tax, compulsory savings and increased individual and corporate income taxes.

Under the excess-profits scheme a person who earned say, $2,400 before the war and now receives $4,800, would pay more taxes than another person whose income before the war was $4,800 and still is.

FDR Will See Giraud Today

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—General Henri Giraud, commander of French forces in North Africa and Co-Chairman of the French committee for national liberation, will arrive at the White House late today for a conference with President Roosevelt.

The White House announced that Giraud and all the members of his staff accompanying him would see Mr. Roosevelt at 3:30 p. m. c. w. t. Afterward, Giraud and his principal aide and the President and Admiral William D. Leahy, personal chief of staff to Mr. Roosevelt, will have tea at the White House.

The White House twice has emphasized the military nature of the Giraud trip to Washington and has said its purpose is to discuss the conduct of the war with the Axis and consultation with the combined Anglo-American chiefs of staff here.

Senate Votes To Lift Corn Ceiling WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Legislation to raise the ceiling price of corn from $1.07 a bushel, Chicago basis, to $1.40 was approved by the senate today and sent to the house.

Passage came on a voice vote with only a scattering of "noes." Farm state senators pushed the bill through despite an admitted attempt by Senator Danaher (R-Conn.) to load it down hopelessly with amendments.

Post-War Committee To Meet Thursday A meeting of the chamber of commerce post-war planning committee has been called for 12 noon Thursday at the Settles hotel by Raymond L. Tollett, chairman. Attack Timed With Moves In The Solomons

Loss Of Cruiser Announced; Jap Sinkings Heavy

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—An American naval task force bombarded the Japanese base on Kiska Island last night, the Navy announced today, in an attack apparently coordinated with the United States offensive against Japanese defenses in the South Pacific.

A Navy communique reporting the action in the North Pacific also disclosed that the American cruiser lost in battle with Japanese forces in Kula Gulf on the morning of July 6 was the 9,700-ton light cruiser Helena.

The Helena was under command of Captain Charles Purcell Ceell of Louisville, Ky. Neither the fate of the skipper nor the safety of individual crew members was reported.

"The next of kin of the casualties aboard the Helena will be notified as soon as possible," the Navy said.

The cruiser, which had been damaged at Pearl Harbor and was restored to service during the first 12 months of war in the Pacific, was the only announced American loss in the battle, in which six Japanese ships were "probably sunk," and several others, presumably four or more, were damaged.

A communique from General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters last night had numbered the damaged ships as four but today's Navy communique said only that there were "several."

Using the MacArthur figure, Japanese naval ship casualties of all types, including sunk or damaged, now total 315 and the enemy has suffered an additional loss of 338 non-combatant ships. The comparable American figure for combatant ships, including the Helena, is 103 vessels overdue and presumed lost, destroyed to prevent capture or sunk. Figures on American ships damaged are not available in their entirety.

The report of the attack on Kiska was very brief. It said only that the enemy was bombarded there and that his shore batteries "did not return the fire."

Kiska has been under aerial bombardment whenever aerial permitted recently but has not been attacked by surface ships in a long while.

Navy men on a quick check of previous war bulletins found no record of a surface attack later than last August 7.

At that time warships shelled Kiska shore installations and ships in the harbor, simultaneously with the start of the invasion.

School Census Down Slightly

Big Spring Independent schools and Howard county common schools show a loss of 21 pupils for the year 1942-43 as compared to last year according to a completed census figure sent to the state department for checking and approval.

A break-down of the figures shows that the city schools gained 95 pupils over last year but the common schools showed a loss of 98 pupils and Coahoma and Knott schools a loss of nine pupils each.

Comparative figures show that last year city schools had a total of 3,498 scholars while this year the figure is 3,593. Common schools dropped from 1,147 last year to 1,049 this year.

Vast Tonnage Of Bombs Poured On Sicily Field

By DANIEL DE LUCE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 7 (AP)—Flying fortresses from North Africa and Liberators from the Middle East command poured hundreds of tons of high explosive and fragmentation bombs on Gerbini airfields in southern Sicily yesterday as the air strike of that vital enemy base roared through its 35th hour.

The all-out effort to knock Gerbini and its four satellite fields from the map appeared nearing completion, photographs revealing terrific damage to administration buildings, hangars, parked aircraft and landing strips from the relentless poundings of the last two days and a night.

At Gerbini flying fortress gunners of the Northwest African command destroyed 41 enemy fighters and a plane was shot down during yesterday's double daylight blow.

A Middle East communique said that approximately 50 Liberators participated in yesterday's smash, dropping more than 285,000 pounds of high explosive and fragmentation bombs on the Gerbini fields, covering runways and dispersal areas and leaving large fires burning. One enemy fighter was reported destroyed and two damaged while every Liberator returned safely.

Flying Fortresses from this base struck shortly after dawn. Five planes of the northwest African force were reported missing from the day's operations, against two enemy aircraft destroyed.

During Monday night RAF Wellingtons hammered at Gerbini, starting five fires, while Biscari and Milo airfields were assaulted by south African Bostons and Baltimore and British Bostons. The same night heavy British bombers of the Middle East command pounded railway installations at Catania, eastern Sicilian port.

Axis fighter opposition which reached a crescendo Monday, when more than 100 war planes attacked a single formation of 27 Flying Fortresses, dwindled yesterday to almost nothing, returning pilots reported. The fourth day of the concerted attack on Sicily's airfields from here saw the score stand at 110 Axis craft destroyed against an Allied loss of 19.

Veteran observers cautioned against jumping to the conclusion that the Allies have won complete air supremacy over Sicily, but the sudden falling off in enemy fighter interception indicated that the Germans had lost most of their Sicilian-based land planes and were in need of reinforcements.

Besides continual bomber missions, yesterday's operations produced many effective fighter-bomber sweeps in which military targets of all kinds on Sicily were surprised and strafed. The bombings continued almost until dusk, with RAF Baltimores mauling Milo airfield and Mitchells turning for another drubbing of Biscari.

A pilot said that the anti-aircraft "looked like big wads of black cotton—they were putting it up thick and heavy."

The ceaseless, concentrated punishment of the enemy's frontline defenses hardly could be anything else than a tremendous headache to Nazi Field Marshal Baron Von Richthofen, who was reported to have been transferred to Italy from Russia to stave off the Allied challenge for air mastery over Italy's southern territories.

Judged by past results achieved and verified during the north African campaign, an attack such as is being hurled against Sicily destroys more enemy planes on the ground than in the air. It saps the enemy's morale and hamstringing counter-measures by making a battlefield of each enemy air base.

TIRES APPROVED Fifty eight grade I tires and nine grade III tires were approved Tuesday by the tire panel of the local ration board. Also issued were 31 passenger tubes, 17 truck tires, 12 truck tubes, eight tractor tires and five truck re-treads.

Nearly Half Of Gasoline Renewal Forms In Error Approximately 550 "A" card applications have been mailed in to the local ration board for renewal before the deadline of July 21st, according to clerk's estimates Wednesday, but of this number around 200 had to be returned for being incorrectly filled out.

The board issued 4,900 "A" cards in the first issuance of rationing of gasoline but will not have this volume this time, it was explained, due to the ration board now operating at the Big Spring Bom-

Precautions Urged Against Paralysis

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP)—Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, today said poliomyelitis was assuming epidemic proportions in some sections of the state, and listed measures which should be taken to control the disease.

The health department said 80 new cases in 27 counties were reported this week compared with 39 reported last week.

For the first six months this year polio cases totaled 176 compared with a seven-year median of 85.

The health department issued measures which should be taken by communities and parents to aid in control of the disease: "Strict sanitary measures must be observed in all communities. Stringent efforts should be made to eliminate the house-fly and to destroy its breeding places. All mosquitoes and mosquito breeding places must be eliminated at once."

"Every effort should be made to constitute approved garbage collection systems immediately. Safe water supplies must be assured. Where adequate municipal sewage disposal systems are not in operation, it is vitally important to promote and maintain door privies."

"All swimming pools should, under rigid supervision, maintain those standards approved by the Texas state department of health. This necessarily includes maintenance of proper chlorine level. Where such standards are not maintained, those pools should be closed immediately."

"All raw foods and vegetables should be washed thoroughly before using and protected from flies, mice and insects. All cat-

Stevenson To Appeal For Farm Tires

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP) — Gov. Coke Stevenson said today he would urge Max McCullough, regional administrator for the office of price administration, at a conference here tomorrow to do something in response to appeals from Texas farmers for tires to move their crops.

The conference was requested by McCullough, the governor told his press conference.

Stevenson read a letter from Brazoria county which he described as typical, saying the crops there would be left in the fields unless tires were obtained for trucks and trailers to move them.

"I expect there are enough tires in Brazoria county filling stations to take care of the demand," Stevenson commented.

The governor also said he would discuss with McCullough the livestock situation in Texas.

"I want to devise some means of getting cattle to market," Stevenson explained. "The ranges now are overstocked."

Stevenson said in response to questions that he thought the point rationing system as applied to meat ought to be abolished.

"I agree with the president that we ought to keep living costs down," he said, "but I have never thought we should have rationing of meat—or sugar, coffee, gasoline or tires."

Capt. and Mrs. A. H. Jensen and daughter and Mrs. A. C. Moninger and son are guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Sanders and family.

Downtown Stroller

MOSTLY ABOUT THE WEATHER. . . . Met up with Mrs. J. A. MYERS and while sharing the shade of her parasol we thought we saw the Crawford hotel roof on fire. Despite the heat and what have you we rushed down to tell them, and got informed that it was just an incinerator they were cleaning out. Forty degrees hotter than before, we marched away, just a couple of false alarmists.

Mrs. ORA BLANKENSHIP and Mrs. SHIRLEY ROBBINS were discussing the war or something on the sidewalk the other day but we didn't stop to help them settle the discussion because we were too hot. What we laughingly call our brains were being fried to a deep brown shade.

Caught a glimpse of EILEEN KNIGHT in town the other day but didn't get to talk with her. She is living in Dallas now and understand she was just here for a short vacation. With a new up do hair arrangement, she looked awfully nice.

Visited a minute with BUEL CARDWELL downtown. We were envying him the air conditioning at his bank but he claims it was out of order. Immediately we felt better and no longer so envious.

Visitor in town is Mrs. J. Q. KIRBY of Bowling Green, Ky., who is here visiting her mother, Mrs. L. B. STOCKTON, and sister, Mrs. JOHN NORTHINGTON, for a few weeks.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, J. D. McGregor, was attired in a white street length dress with white accessories. She carried a bouquet of white shasta daisies centered with a white orchid.

The bridegroom was attended by Lieut. Charles Gibson.

Chiang's Fighting Words Of Six War Years

AP Features.
Six years ago today, the second World War began. On July 7, 1937, a band of Japanese opened fire on Chinese troops on the Marco Polo Bridge at Lukanchiao, on the outskirts of Peiping.

Throughout the years since, one man has held China together, directed movement of her unyielding armies. He is Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

These are excerpts from his messages to China and the world during the six years of war, taken from the Generalissimo's new book, "Resistance and Reconstruction," published by Harper:

1937: Since we are a weak country, there is only one thing to do when we reach the limit of endurance we must throw every ounce of energy into the struggle for our national existence and independence. When that is done, neither time nor circumstances will permit our stopping midway to seek peace. . . . Only a determination to sacrifice ourselves to the uttermost can bring us ultimate victory.

1938: Future historians will, I believe, regard our war of resistance as the most significant event in this period of world history, since by our enormous sacrifices we are contributing not only to the good of the Chinese nation but also to the welfare of all mankind.

1939: The outbreak of war in Europe is a great misfortune for mankind. But we can clearly see the cause of it. Eight years ago Japan tore international treaties to pieces and began her aggression in China. . . . It is unfortunate that . . . foreign powers have not enforced effective measures . . . to check Japanese aggression. As a result of their failure to do this, Europe too has been at the mercy of aggressor states, and the spirit of aggression and violence has spread like wildfire.

DESTRUCTION - Shanghai, 1937

VENGEANCE - Salween Front, 1943

1940: The new Japanese slogan, "New Order in East Asia," . . . means Japanese control of East Asia by means of the annexation of China. Actually, however, the Japanese are forging for themselves fetters from which they will never free themselves; they are moving towards their own destruction and collapse. The beginning of that collapse will mark the deliverance of the Northeast.

1941: Looking at the world today we see vast changes going on: the moral and material life of humanity will undoubtedly be profoundly modified by them and all political and economic theories will be recast as a result. One thing, however, appears certain: that a nation must be armed and organized with modern efficiency if it is to survive, while thought and action incompatible with national fighting strength stand to be eliminated by the demands of time.

1942: The history of past wars is full of examples of early successes won by those who are disastrously defeated in the end. . . .

Our enemy has taken the evil course to make us his slaves; we for our part have made our aim the freedom and equality of status for our people. On his side the motive is self-seeking; on ours it is justice. Justice is always triumphant over greed.

1943: We can see already the first signs of coming victory in this world war against world aggression. The time of the enemy's defeat is near at hand.

Wants More Light Thrown On Quotas For Newsprint

WASHINGTON, July 7, (AP) — Rep. Maas (R-Minn.) disclosed today he intends to try to back up with restrictive legislation his assertions that the War Production Board threatened "The Freedom of the Press" by its handling of newspaper quotas.

Maas told the House that WPB, which has ordered a new reduction in newspaper for the present quarter ranging up to five percent for the larger newspapers, was:

1. Using control of production "For Censorship."
 2. Favoring some publishers over others.
 3. Operating with no rules, or standards, and "in star chamber proceedings," issuing "secret orders from which there is no appeal."
- Maas said he was preparing a bill that would require the WPB to make all its decisions public, in the case of each newspaper or magazine publication requesting additional white paper, how much time was required handling the case, why the delay, if any, and the entire proceedings would be submitted to Congress each month.

Food Production Movie To Show Here This Week

Farmers and food producers of this community will find much "food for thought" in the wartime Food Production movie—"Twenty Fighting Men"—to be shown at the three R&R theatres—Ritz, Lyric and Queen—on Friday of this week.

Produced in the interests of more "Food for Victory" by Purina Mills, St. Louis, Mo., and brought to the local theatres by H. M. Neel and Sons, Purina dealer, "Twenty Fighting Men" is a graphic presentation of the vital need of additional food production for our armed forces and allies.

The picture opens with dramatic war shots taken from war department files showing how food has been destroyed all over Europe, how necessary food is to our armed forces abroad, and how quickly farmers have responded to the need for increased wartime production.

Hero of the movie is a typical farm boy, home on leave, who attends a meeting of neighboring farmers and recalls the important role which food is playing in the war. He recites the dramatic incident of how American food captured a North African fort without a shot fired or a life lost.

Based on his former experience on an average U. S. farm, the soldier proves that enough additional food can be produced on each farm through better management, more careful sanitation against disease and parasites, and better feeding to produce enough meat, milk and eggs for twenty fighting men for one year.

The movie is a part of a "Food for Victory" crusade now being sponsored by H. M. Neel & Sons, a feature of which is the free service of Neel in assisting local farmers reach their wartime food production goals.

Japs Fled So Suddenly That They Left Breakfast Rice On The Fire

By J. NORMAN LODGE
WITH U. S. OCCUPATION FORCES ON RENDOVA ISLAND, July 1 (Delayed) (AP)—Japanese soldiers fled so suddenly before the invading Americans on this central Solomon island that their breakfast rice was found still boiling.

Some ran to sniper posts on stumps and in tree tops when the United States doughboys swarmed ashore yesterday in the new offensive. The job of ferreting out the snipers continued today, and as I sat atop a coral outcropping, balancing my typewriter on my knees because of lack of a more suitable place, there was an occasional ring of a Japanese .25 calibre bullet going through the coconut trees.

No one paid much attention. Generals sat without steel helmets, hardly breaking their conversations.

Major Martin F. Clements, chief of the army's Solomon Guards, and Lieutenant F. A. "Snowy" Rhoads reported coming onto one kitchen where the Japanese had left their boiling rice.

The two officers and their native guards accounted for at least 25 Japanese marines in the sector of the island they invaded.

Then there was Lieut. Ellis Satterthwaite who, investigating a crude hut, heard a noise in the doorway. He turned and saw a Japanese staring in. The young officer, the quicker on the draw, fired and the enemy soldier fell.

Lieut. Satterthwaite said he didn't know who was more surprised, he or the Japanese. "I thought I would find some souvenirs inside," he said, "but I'm satisfied as it is."

Lieut. Col. David M. Ross of Berea, Ky., was leading his regiment in an assault when one bullet nipped his upper arm and another ruined his canteen. He refused to retire and calmly put on his first aid bandage himself. Then he continued forward.

While units of all services participated in the various stages of the Rendova occupation, the actual storming and fighting was the Army's show.

Troops participating were excellently trained for jungle fighting. Their morale was high and they have reason to hate the enemy.

They are in complete command of Rendova Island, looking forward to their chance to drive on to New Georgia and eventually into Tokyo.

Valley's Food Shipments Set A New Record

WESLACO, July 7, (AP) — The Rio Grande valley shipped a record 42,515 cars of wartime food crops to market centers in 44 of the 48 states during the 1942-43 season which opened last October and closed June 3, the U. S. Market News Service reports.

The 1942-43 loadings set up a new high record, exceeding by nearly 4,500 cars the previous high mark of 37,844 cars set during the 1941-42 season.

Grapefruit shipments, in keeping with federal crop estimates, boomed to 15,672 carlots, compared with 13,119 a year ago. Oranges totalled 1,863 cars against 1,387 the previous season.

With the exception of tomatoes, carrots were the biggest of the 1942-43 vegetable deals with 2,889 going to market against 1,890 a year ago. Tomato shipments to June 3 had reached 4,248 cars.

GOOD NEWS FROM THE PRODUCTION FRONT

WORKING TOGETHER

American enterprise and its time-tested production methods are meeting and fulfilling the most imposing demands ever placed upon the industry of any country

IT HAS BEEN our privilege to play an important part in war production—geared with the supply services of the Army and Navy, and with almost 19,000 other producers who have worked with us.

Figures show how successful this "partnership" has been. But they do not show the valuable direction and cooperation we have had from Army and Navy officials. Nor do they indicate the fine spirit shown by our suppliers and sub-contractors.

While 18,735 organizations have shared our big job of war production, there have actually been more than 68,000 such "partnerships" established. For, in many cases, several divisions have gone to the same source, for different types of work.

It is interesting to note that nearly three-fourths of the firms which have furnished us parts for war products, employ less than 500 people. Of these more than half employ 100 or less.

We have chosen our sub-contractors and suppliers carefully, in order to secure those best qualified for the work at hand.

In this we have had one great advantage: "Sub-contracting" is merely a wartime extension of a time-honored General Motors method. We have always dealt with thousands of suppliers of materials and parts.

And so we have known how to proceed in establishing sources dependable as to both quality and efficiency of performance—not only among organizations with which we have formerly worked, but also with thousands of others.

This sub-contracting "know-how"—combined with manufacturing "know-how"—is largely responsible for the consistent quality of the war goods produced. It also accounts for cost reductions totaling hundreds of millions of dollars.

The "partnership" of the Armed Forces, General Motors and the thousands of other businesses involved—some large, some small—is but one example of cooperative wartime endeavor by the automobile industry.

All companies in this mass-production industry have been cooperating with one another—and with organizations not formerly supplying the automotive industry—in order to utilize all knowledge and facilities suited to the task.

The success of this method demonstrates one fact of tremendous importance to all Americans:

American enterprise and its time-tested production methods are meeting and fulfilling the most imposing demands ever placed upon the industry of any country.

of the southeastern Solomon Islands, including Guadalcanal.

Today's communique made clear that American planes were pounding out a steady rain of destruction over Japan's South Pacific bases as part of the general offensive which began a week ago today.

A United States naval victory in the Solomon—probable sinking of six Japanese warships and damaging of four others out of a cruiser-destroyer force at a cost of one cruiser—was announced one week after the outbreak of the current Pacific offensive.

The triumph, recorded by guns of American ships which flashed in darkness of July 5-6 in the Kula Gulf above New Georgia Island, was attached in a communique from headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Although bearing out in clearer outline an earlier announcement from the Navy in Washington that the Kula Gulf battle definitely was an American victory, today's communique left many details to be filled in, including how many of the enemy ships hit were cruisers and how many destroyers. One definitely was a destroyer, blasted by 500-pound bombs of American planes after it had been beached by damage suffered in the naval engagement.

The communique also bore the assuring news that American forces on Rendova Island, seized at the outset of the new drive in the central Solomons June 30, now have been re-entrenched, and that frantic efforts of the Japanese air force to checkmate the offensive by fresh raids on Australia, New Guinea and our Solomons holdings have been broken up.

ing and food handling establishments should adhere strictly to the state law concerning the sterilization of dishes and utensils. In the present emergency, those restaurants with insufficient personnel to keep the place in a proper sanitary state should close one or two hours a day so that their staff can assist in maintaining cleanliness and high sanitary standards.

Every effort should be made to secure approved milk. Rats and mice should be eliminated. Every effort should be made to maintain in the home the same sanitary standards that are necessary in community life. Particular attention should be paid to personnel hygiene.

"Overexertion" in children should be avoided. Children should not visit homes where there is a sick child. It is advisable to reduce to a minimum all human contacts especially in children during an outbreak of this disease. It is not advocated that schools, churches and theaters be closed.

"Early symptoms of infantile paralysis are headache, fever, vomiting, drowsiness, followed by stiffness in the neck and back. When suspicious symptoms appear a physician should be called immediately."

Freight Line Hearing Due To End Today

Hearing on Sunset Motor Freight Lines application to maintain service between Dallas and El Paso heard the end of its second round here Wednesday.

Examiner Horace Soule said that the two-day stand of the railroad commission hearing in Big Spring was due to end during the afternoon and he transferred to Sweetwater. Hearings also will be held at Abilene and Dallas before Soule closes testimony and formulates his report to the commission.

Protestants, including the T. & P. Transport Co., Merchants East Freight, Dalby Motor Freight Lines, introduced 10 witnesses during Wednesday morning, all of them testifying that at existing service now is adequate for needs.

They were Elton Taylor, electric company operator; A. H. Pyle, manager McCrorey store, Jess Bailey of Big Spring Welding Co., H. M. Macomber of Big Spring Auto Store, Roy Tidwell of Big Spring Motor Co., C. B. South of Big Spring Laundry, Clyde Denton of Howard County Implement Co., Shine Phillips of Cunningham & Phillips drug store, J. W. Elrod of Elrod Furniture, and M. A. Cook of Southern Ice.

Butchers Asked To Kill Full Meat Quotas

Appeals were made by the Howard county USDA war board meat sub-committee Tuesday for all butchers to either kill their full quotas or assign them to those who can and will.

This, the committee reported, offered the quickest and best hope of overcoming a repeatedly threatening meat shortage in Big Spring. Already, there were reports Tuesday that some slaughterers and butchers were adopting this practice in order to keep a limited supply of beef available for local tables.

Meat quotas may be assigned by a holder to another with approval of the USDA war board and other responsible agencies. The committee urged that these transactions be made individually or through the board.

Attention of farmers also was called to their right to kill three animals for market during the year without affecting their rights to butcher for home consumption. One of these three may be a beef, it was pointed out at the committee meeting. If all farmers avail themselves of this right, it also will have a marked effect in averting the threatened shortage.

P. O. To Close On Sat. Afternoons

The federal postoffice here will go back to its former schedule of closing on Saturday afternoons, Postmaster Nat Shick announced Wednesday.

Originally, the office was kept open on Saturday afternoons when the 48-hour week went into effect for postal employees. When later interpretations made it apparent that the 48-hour week was not in reality mandatory, it also developed that its establishment did in no way provide for additional postal facilities.

Consequently, check on business have been operated for the past two Saturdays and Shick said they showed conclusively that there was no real demand for keeping the office open.

He urged patrons to do their business with the office this and subsequent Saturdays before 1 p. m. when all windows will close.

Mercury Hits New High For Season

The heat wave promised to hold on, with "little change in temperature" being the forecast. Other Texas points sweltered, too, Abilene having a reading of 100 and Fort Worth 103.

He related that he and other soldiers in his division bathe regularly in the Mediterranean. "It's the biggest bath tub we've found, and with the bluest water imaginable."

Complete check of activities of county sheriff's department, constable's department and highway patrol office showed that 26 cases were filed over the holiday weekend in such law violations as drunkenness, disturbing the peace, affray, hot checking, speeding, and other highway violations.

Combatants Tuesday evening made a wise selection of their battleground in event of casualties. At any rate police had a call to the rear of a local hospital to treat a fight—but it apparently was terminated without bloodshed before arrival of the officers.

Friends said Wednesday that reports by police that a man, picked up after he had fired shots in a small hotel here early Monday, had been released to the state hospital were in error. Instead, they said, he was taken to a local hospital for treatment.

NEW YORK, July 7. (AP)—The stock market retreated mildly today in a session marked more by the absence of buyers than by any increased offerings.

Steel and rails were among the more backward shares but losses were small going into the final hour. Chemicals and some pivotal motors also participated in the gradual decline. Most resistant spots were in the utility section.

Volume shrank with the tape halting intermittently and transactions for the full five hours amounted to about 650,000 shares, well under Tuesday's turnover.

"The flowers are for yesterday and the monuments for tomorrow."

'I'd like to tell you what the Japs did to some friends of mine'

I AM LIEUTENANT (J. G.) ANN B. BERNATTUS, U. S. N.—a nurse, back from Bataan. I have a message for you . . .

"Those American boys—who fought for you with their backs to the wall, waiting for help that never reached them—came from the land of plenty. But when their lives were at stake, all they had was . . . plenty of nothing!"

"They were outnumbered, outgunned, and out-supplied. They were so short of ammunition that anti-aircraft gunners often had to hold their fire until the enemy planes were on top of them. They were so short of bandages and gauze that we nurses had to wash out the old ones and use them again.

"But they were never short of courage. They never spoke of surrender. They just went on fighting, and hoping, and dying. And no sacrifice was ever too great.

"Let me give you an example. One terrible day on Bataan we had 285 patients on our operating tables in 8 hours—a new patient every two minutes of the day.

"A sailor was brought in with his abdomen blown to bits. He was a goner and I think he knew it. 'Doctor,' he asked, 'is there any hope at all?'"

"The doctor wished to reassure him and replied, 'We'll do everything we can!' The sailor tried to roll over. 'Doc,' he begged, 'get me off this table and save one of those other fellows who still has a fighting chance.'

"That was the kind of men we had at Bataan. And they would want you to remember not only what they did, but what they did without.

"They would want you to remember it, but not with flowers and memorials. The flowers are for yesterday and the monuments for tomorrow.

"Remember them now—this month and every month—by buying War Bonds!

"Buy guns and planes and shells and ships and tanks—for those other countrymen of yours who are fighting so far from home. See to it that never again, any place in the world, will American fighting men be caught short as they were on Bataan! That never again will American wounded perish for the help your dollars might have sent!

"Certainly taxes are higher. Certainly the cost of living has gone up. But the men on Bataan were never ten-percenters!

"They gave everything they had. And now it's up to you to buy War Bonds not only if you can, but all you can! Please believe me, folks—that's the way the boys on Bataan would like to be remembered!"

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—Elsewhere in the nation, baseball diamonds may be the stage for all sorts of promotion stunts to attract Joe Customer or keep him happy while the teams don uniforms, but it's strangely quiet down here on Moccasin Bend, ballfield of the biggest ball park Barnum of them all.

It's unheard of.

There hasn't been a single elephant hunt in the Chattanooga Lookouts' park this season. And faltering attendance figures could stand a little boost, too.

"I guess old age has got me," smiled the irrepressible Joe Engel, just turned 50, whose antics in the past have made baseball history.

"And besides, we don't need any promotion to beat those other clubs. We're going to win the second-half pennant."

"I guess the fans are just waiting before the start really coming out. The Southern Association ends the first half on July 4."

Joe's inactivity—strange indeed for the man who once traded a player for a turkey and has put on everything from that elephant hunt to a mimic battle in the Lookout park—could well be due to the good standing of his hustling hired hands.

Since the opening day of the season, the Lookouts have been in the battle for a spot in the first division. Right now, however, they're smack in the middle of a big bunch of bad luck with their three strongest pitchers out with injuries and another awaiting the well-known nod from Uncle Sam.

"I've wired Griff (Clark Griffith of the parent Washington Senators) please to send me 'just one tiny anemic pitcher,'" asserted Engel, proving that the old rocking chair hasn't benumbed all his wits.

Another answer to Joe's quietude, and probably more nearly the real one, may be found in his health. He underwent a serious operation early in the Spring which kept him in bed for several weeks and has incapacitated him to some extent since.

Still that didn't hamper his staging, or attempting to stage, one gigantic stunt for something bigger than baseball.

Just up from his operation, Joe agreed to jump into the icy Tennessee River in return for a friend's purchase of a $100,000 war bond during the campaign here. Engel showed up at the river bank only to be restrained, without too much difficulty, by a Coast Guard shore patrol on the grounds that the jump was an unnecessary risk of life and limb in waters patrolled by the Guard.

So there's plenty of life left in the old master of kidding.

Sens Beaten Sixth Time In Eight Starts

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Next to trying to find a good steak the biggest waste of time a baseball fan can indulge in is worrying about the New York Yankees.

The American League champions went west a week ago and lost four games in a row.

What it amounted to, however, was that the Yankees were just teasing their rivals. By way of proving that they were only fooling the champs have won three games in the last two days and suddenly zoomed back to a three-game lead.

They whacked out a 5-4 decision over the St. Louis Browns last night to give Marius Russo, the sore-armed southpaw, his first victory of the season and accomplishment of the stunt in spite of the super-heated hitting of Chet Laabs.

Laabs, whose hot hitting streaks in mid-summer are no rarity, drove in all four of St. Louis' runs and collected his tenth home run of the year and fifth in four days. But this individual display was wasted because the Yanks bunched a single and there doubles for a four-run rally that sewed up the game in the fifth inning.

The Yankees' return to control of the league lead has been helped by the slump of the second place Washington Senators, who dropped a 16-inning 4-3 game to the Detroit Tigers yesterday for their sixth defeat in eight games of the western trip.

After tying the score at two-all on Bob Johnson's homer in the fourth, the Senators battled 11 scoreless innings and took the lead with a run in the top half of the 16th. Then they gave the game away in the Tigers' turn at bat as Gerry Priddy led in one run on an error and relief pitcher Rae Scarborough forced in the other with two walks.

Milo Candini escaped the defeat, being removed for a pinch-hitter in the ninth.

The victory lifted the Tigers within a half game of second place. Lefty Al Smith of the Cleveland Indians shut out the Philadelphia Athletics 2-0 on four hits in a mound duel with Orle Arntsen which was decided when the Tribe scored the only runs of the game in the eighth inning.

The St. Louis Cardinals boosted their National League lead back to four games by blanking the Philadelphia Phillies 4-0 on three hits by Harry Gumbert, who earned his fourth straight victory and sixth of the season. The Cards scored three runs before a man was out in the first inning and Gumbert could have coasted, but didn't. He gave just three scattered singles and let only one runner get as far as second.

Meanwhile the Brooklyn Dodgers were humbled 9-4 by the Chicago Cubs, who acquired their first triumph of the year in Ebbets field. Claude Passeau, going the route for his seventh win, was tapped for 13 hits while the Cubs made only 10 of three pitchers, but the Braves bunched theirs for three runs in the first, two in the second and four in the seventh.

In the day's only other game the Boston Braves noosed out the Cincinnati Reds 1-0 in a pitching battle between Al Javery and Ray Starr. Each hurler gave only six hits, but Javery himself singled home the game's lone run in the second inning.

Pro-All Star Grid Contest Shapes Up As Fine Affair

PRO-ALL STAR . . . 2 Col 30 . . .

CHICAGO, July 7, (AP)—Here's a coaching staff of five experienced fellows; they have 17 fine football players who are assured of reporting for practice next month—and many more on the way.

It's the 1943 College All-Stars, who on August 25 will be pitted against the champions of the National Football League—this year the Washington Redskins—for the 10th time, in Dycbe stadium in suburban Evanston.

So the All Star game, which might have become a war casualty for lack of talent, appears headed for as fine a performance as it's ever had.

The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., sponsors of the game, have compiled a roster of excellent collegians. Some of them have not yet ended their university careers but special conference eligibility rulings are taking care of that. Most of them are enroute to the service. Some are already in but will play while on leave. The ma-

NEW YORK, July 7, (AP)—Arne Anderson, Sweden's newest mile record-maker, is due to try for another of Gunder Haegg's records tomorrow and this time the track fans hereabouts will be ready . . .

Since Arne's 4:02.6 mile last week they've heard a lot about various Swedish steppers, including Anderson, who has run 1,500 meters in 3:48.6, a half mile in 1:50.8, 3,000 meters in 8:11.4 and 5,000 in 14:18.2. . . . Then there's 22-year-old Rune Gustafson, runner-up to Anderson last week in 4:06.6—he's the boy Haegg's handlers consider the real prospect in Sweden—20-year-old Arne Ahlsten, Oke and Arthur Johnson and Harold Kjalmar, who all have done 1,500 in about 3:49. . . .

GI DODD, America's best miller, set his own record for 1,500 at 3:50.2 in winning this year's national title.

Only Two 'Veterans' On Illinois Squad

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 8, (AP)—Coach Ray Elliot has 30-odd players out for summer football practice at Illinois—but it's not as good as it sounds. Until last night only one member of the squad, Ralph Palmer, had had previous college experience. Now Elliot has two "veterans" on hand, since fullback Theron Bradley, former Illinois freshman and later a varsity performer at the University of Wyoming, has reentered Illinois.

Cosden-Jones Test Is Near Crucial Level

Down to the "crucial horizon," the Cosden Petroleum Corp. No. 1 Chester Jones, southeast diagonal offset from the W. S. Guthrie No. 1 Pauline Allen discovery well in the Vincent area, set 5 1/2-inch string with 100 sacks Tuesday.

At the same time, shift is being made from rotary to standard tools and it is likely that a week will elapse before operations are resumed. Depth is 2,965 feet and although operators said it was impossible to correlate with the No. 1 Allen, which had depth corrected twice at the last of its run, they estimated the Jones well was possibly 10 feet higher on structure. Location is 660 feet from the north and west lines of section 5-25, H&T.C.

Indication of the eventual linking of the East Howard and New Read pool on the eastern Howard county line was seen in the showing of the Cosden No. 1 Read, out-post test half a mile west of the Read pool. The test carried 2,200 feet of oil at 2,918 feet and was being swabbed through tubing preparatory to a 1,100-quart shot from 2,880-2,918 feet. Location is 330 feet from the south and west lines of section 48-30-1N, T&P.

The Dawson county, the Gulf Corp. No. 1 Carrie Slaughter, Od-dovician wildcat in section 30-1, J. Pointevant survey, was reported at 1,790 feet after setting surface 13-inch string at 302 feet.

Editorial - - Planning For Future

Looking toward the coming of peace and weighing economic problems, George T. Trundle Jr., Cleveland engineer, poses a pertinent question to his fellow industrialists: "Suppose you do wind up the war with only a hundred thousand dollars cash in your company treasury. What's the difference, if you have a product designed, on hand, and ready to sell to the post-war public?"

energies and all our resources on winning the war. But it happens to be the exact opposite. If nobody planned anything at all against the coming of peace, what would we do with all the millions of men back from the services, and the even greater army of men and women released from the country's warplants? Planning for peace, it seems to us, is part and parcel of the war effort. It must be carried on simultaneously—without interrupting the main business in hand, which is winning the war, but carried on nevertheless.

Washington Daybook— Dewey Rated As Top Man At Governor's Meeting

By JACK STINNETT COLUMBUS, O. — Notes on one Thomas E. Dewey from the biggest Conference of Governors in all the 35 years these pow-wows of the state execs have been held. Gov. Dewey of New York may not be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1944, as he insists, and anybody who tries to draft him may get "a sock in the eye from Albany," as his intimates here declared, but he was certainly top man on the Governor's Conference.

To those of us who knew him in his racket-busting days as district attorney, and later during his ill-fated drive for the Republican nomination at the Philadelphia convention two years ago, here was a different Dewey. In those days he was stiff with formality. He played unapproachable and although no one questioned his accomplishments as a prosecutor, his press conferences frankly were a pain in the neck. Imagine the difference then, the other day, when he greeted a handful of the newsmen in his shirt-sleeves, chain-smoked cigars from a silver holder and "letting of the man and a clearer confidence. When he talked off the record, he had something to say that gave us a better understanding of the man and a clearer conception of his views. He didn't pontificate, either.

This is the first time since he has become Governor of New York that Dewey has made a public appearance outside of his state.

Swim In Blazing Oil Students Must Learn How To Save Lives

By BOB GEIGER

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo.—It's a strange school "room." The Captain pours oil on the swimming pool water, touches a match to it and commands a dozen high school boys and girls to dive into the leaping flames, as though they were abandoning ship in a sea of blazing oil. "Certainly it's dangerous, but so is war," says Capt. Eugene R. Exaud, retired army officer known to almost all of the 2,500 citizens of Glenwood Springs as The Captain.

to join the Waves, the Waacs, the Navy, the Army, and the Marines, petitioned School Superintendent M. R. Moorhead to make swimming a compulsory public school course. A student doesn't get his high school diploma unless he can float one minute and swim 50 yards; fifth grade pupils must be able to float 30 seconds and swim 25 yards. Physically handicapped are excused. Captain Guild emphasizes a shipwrecked person should be able to float for hours, until help might arrive. Swimming may be useless if shores is 1,000 miles or so away. "In war time there should be a swimming course in the United States," says Captain Guild, who was made conscious of the desirability of knowing how to swim during World War I. "So far as I know, however, this is the first public school system to make this sort of training a required subject."

There were 100 students in the course in spring and 95 of them passed successfully. Each had about eight hours of instruction; one hour per lesson. Captain Guild says the average person can learn to swim in that time. The drill: "How to abandon ship, float and swim under blazing oil," is the final test for Captain Guild's advanced students. "If you come up breathing into this mass of flame, the fire may kill you," the Captain tells Iola May Wood, Helen Pappas, Mary Carpenter, Dan Espinosa, his own son, John Guild, and the other members of the advanced class. The flames leap many feet high over the water, half way up the diving tower. The class stands on the stone edge of the pool with fire burning their toes. At a signal they all take a deep breath and leap. Diving, they swim under water for 15 or 20 feet and come up at the side of the blazing circle of water. Some dive back under the flames, come up in the middle of them and churn with their arms. "By doing that, if the flames aren't too fierce, a person can get a breath of air and perhaps save his life," explains The Captain. "The oil is only a tiny film on the fire is dispersed from that the water. Break that film and area. This drill helps a student lose his fear of diving into flaming water and proves to him it can be done without harm. Many men who could swim have gone down with the ship rather than dive into fire that surrounded it. The students are taught to remove clothing in the water, capture an air bubble in a sleeve or pant leg and float on the garment. This is similar to army and navy training. The advanced students also are taught life saving technique and receive Red Cross swimming cards with their diplomas. Captain Guild, retired in 1938 because of disability, was passing through Glenwood Springs and stopped to swim in the City's hot pool, now a Navy convalescent center. He stayed. When selective service started he saw many western Colorado men, including cowboys and miners, joining the Navy or Army without knowing how to swim. He started a free school to teach them. This was so successful that parents of school children became swim fans. "We use a system developed by Benjamin Franklin, who found that everybody can float if they will let themselves," says Captain Guild. "Girls float better than boys. I don't know why. Only occasionally do you find a 'stinker,' a person who won't float in water." Already Captain Guild has turned out a champion swimmer. She is Norma Benedek, a high school girl, who captured the 100 meter back stroke championship in the Rocky Mountain AAU meet after only a year of instruction. She also has saved a life. "At least one of the young boys, Dan Espinosa, at 12 years of age, equaled the unofficial world record for 50 yards free style," says The Captain. "I say unofficial because in these young age groups no organization has compiled a set of standard, official records. "But turning out champions isn't our purpose. We want to save life."

ONE WORLD By Wendell L. Willkie

Chapter Three Besides my concrete assignments from the president, I had gone to Russia determined to find an answer for myself to the actual problems posed for our generation of Americans by the simple fact that the Soviet Union, whether we like it or not, exists. Some of these answers I believe I found, at least to my own satisfaction. I can sum up the three most important in a few sentences. First, Russia is an effective society. It works. It has survival value.

With these exceptions, the plant would compare favorably in output and efficiency with any I have ever seen. More than 35 per cent of the labor in the plant was done by women. Among the workers we saw boys not more than 10 years old, all dressed in blue blouses and looking like apprentice students, even though the officials of the factory pulled no punches in admitting that the children worked in many of the shops, the full 48-hour week worked by the adults.

Hollywood— Work In Bakery Is Advantage To Dramatic Career

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD — Every reporter knows that some of the best acting done in the land is by bakers. It is by no means a new discovery, but it never occurred to me before that selling bakery goods behind a counter would further a dramatic career. Florence Bates, whose dramatic life began at 50, endorses the dispensing of the loaf, the cake and the cream puff as good histrionic training — the dispensing of anything for that matter — which she has had in her bakery experience and her years as an attorney in her native Texas make her believe she missed little in the way of dramatic training by turning actress late in life. "If you don't think lawyers do a lot of acting," she says, "you haven't been around courtrooms much. As for salesladies, well, try sending sweeties and you'll find a crummy customer when you're feeling mayhem and murder."

On the whole, the plant seemed to us Americans to be overstaffed. There were more workers than would be found in a comparable American factory. Special Sign But hanging over every third or fourth machine was a special sign, indicating that its worker was a "Stakanovite," pledged to overfulfill his or her norm of production. The Stakanovites, strange as it would seem to us, are actually pieceworkers, paid at a progressively increasing rate on a speed-up system which is like an accelerated Bedeaux system. The Russian industrial system is a strange paradox to an American. The method of employing and paying labor would satisfy our most unsocial industrialist. And the way capital is treated would, I believe, completely satisfy a Norman Thomas.

After luncheon, I began to question a short, wiry young fellow whom the director had introduced to me as the superintendent of production, his bright young man. He reminded me so much of the promising American industrial type that I decided to try to find

Miss Bates now is lending her booming and her plumply charming wiles to "Saratoga Trunk" in the role of Mrs. Coventry Bellop, a woman who lives by her wits and her bullying among the socially minded denizens of Saratoga Springs. As soon as she read the Edna Ferber novel, Miss Bates had an idea she might be called to play this role. When she heard Sam Wood would direct, she was sure of it. The character actress and the director have been a mutual admiration team since she played in his "Kitty Foyle." She says she'd rather play a small part in a big picture directed by him than a starring role in somebody else's course, is not a minor role. Miss Bates says it's the first she's had that really fits her physical proportions. The first woman lawyer in Texas — she hung out her shingle in one's way up — quipped up practice in 1929 to go with her husband, a business man, to Mexico. They met reverses, but had enough left to come to Los Angeles and buy a bakery. They ran it two years, and it paid off in money as well as "dramatic training." A friend who was studying at the Pasadena Community Playhouse urged her to try for an acting career. The first time she attended an open reading she won a part, and rather to her astonishment she was an actress. In two years there she did 25 character roles, and it was in the cards that sooner or later she would be invited to the studios. She was just the type for the "Rebecca" role, and has been the type ever since. She sometimes wonders where she might be today if she had tried to be an actress in her ingenuous days. "Very likely," she says, "behind the counter of a bake shop."

Hand Labor Parts of the manufacturing process were crudely organized. The woodworking shops seemed to me to rely too much on hand labor, and their product showed it. Also, some of the electrical and plating shops were on the primitive side. The plane produced was the new-made Stormovik, a single-engine, heavily armored fighting model. VETERAN ACTOR DIES
HOLLYWOOD, July 7. (AP)—The roster of actors in the silent era of motion pictures has lost another name in the death of Charles E. Stevenson, 55, who appeared in Hal Roach comedies for 14 years.

Story

out from him what were the urges and the lures under the communist system that caused him to educate himself beyond his fellows, to work the extra hours necessary to become superintendent over 30,000 men, and to acquire the knowledge that was clearly leading him toward the top.

Glad to Answer
He said he'd be glad to answer my questions. He told me that he was 32 years old, married, and the father of two children. He lived in a comfortable house much better than the average, and in peacetime had an automobile.

"How does your pay as superintendent of this factory compare with the pay of the average skilled worker in the plant?" I asked him.

He thought for a moment: "It's about 10 times as much."

That would be on the same ratio 25 or 30 thousand dollars a year in America, and actually was about what a man of similar responsibility in America would receive. So I said to him, "I thought communism meant equality of reward."

Equality, he told me, was not part of the present Soviet conception of socialism. "From each according to his capacities, to each according to his work."

Worker's Money
From this young executive I learned that the Russian worker can use his money in much the same way that we here in America can. He can spend it or save it, invest it in a home, a place in the country or in NON-INTEREST bearing government bonds.

Russia does not permit anyone to make a return on capital—therefore the non-interest bearing bonds.

Different Ideas
After listening to him declare that he was in complete accord with the economic and political theories of that state I asked him, "But if you happened to hold different ideas, could you express them and fight for them?"

It took me 10 minutes of hot colloquy to get him even to consider such a supposition, and then his answer was only a shrug of the shoulders.

It was my turn to be impatient and I said, somewhat sharply, "Then actually you've got no freedom."

Father a Peasant
He drew himself up almost belligerently and said, "Mr. Willie, you don't understand. I've had more freedom than my father and grandfather ever had. They were peasants. They were never allowed to learn to read or write. They were slaves to the soil."

"When they sickened, there were no doctors or hospitals for them. I am the first man in the long chain of my ancestors who has had the opportunity to educate himself, to advance himself—to amount to anything. And that for me is freedom."

"It may not seem freedom to you, but, remember, we are in the developing stage of our system. Someday we'll have political freedom, too."

Typo Union At Providence Strikes

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 7 (AP)—Members of the Providence Typographical Union No. 33 went on strike today in a contract dispute at the Providence Journal company plant and a picket line was established at the building, a union spokesman said.

The company announced earlier this week that, in the event of a strike, publication of the Providence Journal, the Evening Bulletin and the Sunday Journal would be suspended pending settlement.

Suspension would mark a break of 114 years of continuous publication in Providence.

Urge Europe Copy Swiss

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—Dr. Alexander A. Vakar, professor of modern languages at Willamette University, recommends, as a solution to Europe's almost constant war, a parliament of Europe in which each county would preserve its linguistic and cultural individuality and have as its pattern the trilingual country of Switzerland.

THE WAR TODAY: China's Main Asset Still Is Spirit

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's declaration of faith in Allied victory over Japan—the outside limit for which he daringly sets at two years—is pleasing to read on this sixth anniversary of the start of the China-Jap conflict, especially coming as it does from one of the greatest leaders of our time.

However, this statement would be dangerously incomplete without the general's accompanying caution to his people that the "present marks the beginning of the greatest trials." The Allies have before them "the hardest stretch

War Production Makes No Gains During Month Of May

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) — Production of planes and naval vessels reached new highs in May, the War Production Board's monthly report showed today, but the over-all output of munitions remained unchanged from April.

WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson's report noted declines in ground ordnance, miscellaneous munitions and merchant vessels.

Dallas Newspaper Executive Expires

DALLAS, July 7 (AP) — Albert Swinsky, Jr., 46, vice-president and general manager of the daily Times Herald and president of KRLD Radio corporation, died in a hospital here yesterday as the result of injuries sustained subsequent complications from a fall at his home May 11.

A native of Dallas, Swinsky became a route carrier for the Times Herald in 1910. From October 1918 until February 1919 he was an advertising solicitor for the old Dallas Journal.

From the Journal, becoming its advertising director in 1921, a position he held until his elevation to vice president and general manager in 1941 after the death of E. J. Kiest, publisher of the newspaper.

Some Islands Must Be Re-Occupied

LEEDS, England, July 7 (AP)—H. V. Ewart, Australian attorney-general and minister for external affairs, said today a separate attack on every Japanese-held island in the Pacific would be "preposterous" and unnecessary.

Ewart, who arrived in Britain three weeks ago, declared, however, it is essential to attack and reoccupy "some islands of crucial importance" and then apply pressure on Japan from all directions, including China and the Pacific.

Office Workers Are Stranded During Elevator Strike

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—An estimated 28,000 office workers and visitors were stranded yesterday in the towering structures of Rockefeller Center by a 85-minute strike of 225 elevator operators.

Officials of Rockefeller Center, a showplace of the city, and of the AFL building maintenance craftsmen's union said the walkout resulted from an internal dispute in the union.

The American soldier in Alaska meets up with a hundred little things that remind him of home. One of them is Coca-Cola.
