Thoughts From Our Pastors

BY Anthony Thibodeaux First Christian Church

WILL WORK WONDERS TODAY

Many years ago a man by the name of J.M. McEachem of Georgia told the story of Artie Lathern, who was a good shortstop in the early days of baseball. Artie Lathern could field, throw, hit, and run with the best of them. But none of these talents played a part in the contribution Artie made in our

When Artie broke into the Big League, he noticed that players went about in a silent, workmanlike manner. They played good ball, but they left the noisemaking to the fans.

Now young Artie was not the silent type. Baseball was the most important thing in his life, and he loved to win. He wanted to tell his feeling to the whole world, and while he was out on the field he did just that.

As the players stood poised waiting for the pitch, from the shortstop position would come the staccato chatter of Artie Lathem, always shouting encouragement to the pitcher. At first, Artie received hard glances from his teammates, but before long the "Peppery chatter" of the shortstop caught on and rang throughout National League parks. As a result, his team developed spirit and talking it up became an integral part of our national

If you're working for a firm and making its products, it's worth "talking those products up". It's surprising how quickly words of praise "catch on". We know how fast and how far those wwords travel, later to develop into orders that will keep the production lines busy at peak load.

That is exactly the kind of philosophy we need at our churches....People "talking it up". Without doubt there is a "lot of talking" amongst us, but whether it is "talking it up" or not might be another subject. So we call on each and every member to dedicate this month as "TALK-IT-UP" Month. And we'll see if EVERYBODY concerned is not better off. Furthermore, it will give the right kind of publicity which our churches needs.

Remember, talk of the good things, there is bound to be some good things to talk about...Sell the church...do a little PUSHING AND PROMOTING and you will be helping.

We recall some of the last words spoken by Jesus to his disciples before his ascension to the Father. He had finished his earthly ministry, and the right foundation for his church had been laid, and was to be established in just a few days. On Pentecost. And he knew that the Church could not go forth and be victorious with competent witnesses. So from the Mt. of Olives he ordered his disciples to return to Jerusalem and wait until they were endued from on high with the Power of the Holy Spirit.

The Disciples proved to be faithful witnesses, and it is left to us as Christians to witness for Christ and His church in our day and age. Let us be found faithful to the desires and commands of Our Lord. The best place for a Christian to be found on the Lord's day is in the Lord's house, assembled with the Lord's people, worshipping the Lord in spirit and in truth.

LOCAL SPONSORS GIVE BOOKS THROUGH YOUTH AWARENESS

Students in the Santa Anna Schools, in the first, fifth and ninth grades, will be receiving books presented by civic-minded leaders of the Community. The books are the centerpiece of the "Youth Awareness Program." Many communities throughout the nation are participating in this program.

The books to be presented are "MY FAVORITE BOOK" to the first grade students of Santa Anna. "THE WAY TO GO" to the fifth grade students of Santa Anna, and "BE THE BEST YOU CAN BE". given to the ninth grade students of Santa Anna and Coleman.

"MY FAVORITE BOOK" is designed and written to bring "positive" influences into each of these children's lives. It illustrates the beauty of their world and the people who are in it, especially themselves.

The civic-minded leaders who are sponsoring this program see it as a valuable contribution toward the development of the young people in the community. These sponsors are:

The other two books, both handsomely bound and illustrated in fullcolor, is a collection of eight short stories. Written to appeal to young people in today's world, the stories reinforce traditional moral values. For instance, one of the stories emphasizes the importance of being a responsible person; another shows how highly honesty should be valued; another focuses on the danger of drugs and alcohol.

The Program is described as being a response to a growing concern felt by parents and others throughout the nation. Too often, it is maintained, young people are the innocent victims of harmful influences that undermine the sound values parents are trying to teach their children in the home. National statistics on drug and alcohol related accidents involving teenagers, on missing children, teenage pregnancies, teenage suicide are cause for alarm. The great majority of parents do not have these problems. Nonetheless, they worry about them: peer pressure is a strong influence on young people.

The response of the local sponsors of this Program, when asked why they are participating in it, can be summed up as follows: "This community means a lot to me. Our young people are our most precious resource. They are our future. This rrogram is good for our young people, their parents and our community."

Ushers were Conice Boenicke and Justin Haynes, brothers of the bride. They wore black dress pants with pink shirts and burgundy ties and cummerbunds, topped by white linen jackets.

Devon Brand carried the wedding rings on a heart-shaped satin and lace pillow. Landon Schulze was the candlelighter, and rice bags were distributed by Ryan Boenicke and Lance Schulze.

The brass archway, flanked on either side by seven-branch brass candelabra, was at the altar. The candelabra and archway were entwined with greenery, pink rosebuds, and carnations. Potted palms and ferns were used to complete the setting for the candlelight ceremony. The family pews were marked with double bows of pink and burgundy

Mountaineers Give Early A Battle

Goldthwaite Here Friday Night

It was hot, dry and tiring, and the temperatures were still in the upper 90's when the Mountaineers faced the Early Longhorns Friday evening in their first scrimmage of the season.

Class 3A Early outscored the Class A Mountaineers 2-0. One score came against the first team and the other against the second team. However, the coaching staff was pleased with the outcome of the meeting between the two teams. The Mountaineers showed a marked improvement over the first outing of last season.

The lack of injuries during the scrimmage was an accomplishment in itself. Both teams played with lots of intensity and the Mountaineers showed a hard-hitting defensive effort. However 7 turnovers hurt any Early rushed for 162 Yards with 12 first downs and the Mountaineers had 78 yards with 5 first downs.Coach Galen Privitt says that technical mistakes were the Mountaineer's undoing. But he was quick to add that he wasn't concerned about that as it was things that could be easily corrected.

All said and done, he "felt real good about the showing the team had against the 3A school." "We feel good about being able to compete with them as they were supposed to be able to handle us a lot easier than they did," Privitt commented.

The Mountaineers will host Goldthwaite in a scrimmage here Friday night. The junior varsity scrimmage will get underway at 5:30 followed by the varsity.

Privitt expects the Mountaineers to come out on top this time. Goldthwaite is a good team, but not the strong team they have been in the past few years. They were handled easily by Mason in a scrimmage last week. However he cautions that anything can happen when the two teams get together. "It will be a good stiff test for us".

Everyone is encouraged to be at Mountaineer stadium Friday night to support the Mountaineers who last week were rated 7th in the state by the Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll.

When you're dusting the roses or spraying the trees, it's easy to get pesticides on your body as well as the plants. Taking a shower removes the pesticides from youbut what about your clothes?

"Spills and spray from common garden pesticides contaminate clothing, so it must be specially treated to avoid potential health hazards," says clothing specialist Dr. Ann Beard.

"It's best to change clothes in the garage, if possible, and put contaminated clothes aside before going inside to shower." advises the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist.

"Don't put the clothes in the hamper to wash with the family laundry," she cautions. "Research shows that pesticide residues are transferred from contaminated clothing to other clothing, especially when laundered together."

Pre-washing will help remove pesticide particles from the fabric, advises the specialist. YHou can pre-wash clothes outdoors by hosing them down or soaking them in a bucket, or bring them inside to machine wash on the pre-wash

She emphasizes that pre-washing is highly recommended when a wettable powder-type pesticide concentrate spills on clothing, because it clings to clothing fibers.

"Pesticide residues from less toxic or dilute pesticides can usually be washed out in one machine washing." says Beard. "However, use both prewashing and several machine washings on spills from wettable powder or concentrated liquid pesticides."

According to the specialist, how you machine wash the clothes is important too. Washing them in hot water will remove more pesticide than washing in warm or cold temperatures. Cold temperatures in particular, are relatively ineffective in removing pesticides from fibers.

Use either a liquid or powder heavy-duty detergent containing phosphate carbonate to wash clothes. Laundry additives such as bleach can be added, but they don't help remove the pesticide residues.

Beard also advises using a full water level on your machine, even if you have only one or two contaminated garments. That will allow the water to thoroughly flush the fabric.

The heat from either line-drying or machine-drying will provide further chemical breakdown of pesticide residues, she adds.

"After you've washed the clothes. a pesticide carry-over to other laundry loads is possible," notes the specialist. "Rinse the washing machine with an empty load using hot water and detergent, just as you did the contaminated clothes."

"Exposure to garden pesticides can cause skin rashes, headaches, nausea and a number of other problems," says Beard. "It just makes good sense to adequately wash gardening clothes so these hazards are minimized.

The Temporary Employee... A Potential Liability?

Dear Commissioner Nabers: I recently hired someone to do a temporary job for me. He knew it would only take a few days and yet when the work was finished he filed a COMMISSIONER claim for unemployment benefits. Mary Scott Now TEC says they are going to pay the guy. I thought an employer didn't have to worry about this if someone was just temporary or partm

Dear D.C.: You cannot imagine how many times a week someone in mv office answers this question. Sometimes I feel like dropping leaflets all over the State to get the word out: There is NO DISTINC-TION under the law of unemployment compensation between temporary, permanent, probationary, part-time, or full-time employees.

ANY unemployed individual can file a claim for benefits. Whether a claiment is paid depends upon the reason he was separated from this last work. If the work ends, as in your situation, then he is LAID OFF FOR LACK OF WORK and will most likely receive benefits.

Your business will have immediate financial liability on the claim ON-LY if the individual worked for you long enough to have wages from your company in his base period. Which brings us to our next

Dear Ms. Nabors: Please explain what the "base period" is. -F.D.

Marfa, Tex.

Dear F.D.: The base period is a year's worth of wages. The commission looks at these wages to determine a claiment's monetary qualification for benefits as well as the actual benefit amount. Employers who paid the wages earned during the base period are potentially liable on an umemployment claim.

It is not possible to know for sure what the base period on any individual will be UNTIL THAT PER-SON FILES A CLAIM. You can. however, make a reasonable calculation by first ASSUMING a claim date. Then:

NO COMPARISON ... to newspapers

Newspapers Remain "The Public's Choice" By A Wide Country Mile

Competition and new "ad fads" come and go - - but nothing ever comes close to threatening the newspaper's No. I role in producing public information. The newspaper formula is just as powerful today, as it was at the adoption of the Bill of Rights guaranteeing freedom of the press.

The Basic Ingredients For Newspaper Strength

* The newspaper is paid-for by its readers, who consider it as a member of the family. (Would you pay to have those uninvited circulars jammed in your mail box, or the "throw-away-?ewspaper?" tossed on your

* The newspaper is required (by federal law) to produce a certain amount of NEWS . . . BUT EVERY NEWSPAPER PRODUCES MUCH, MUCH MORE NEWS THAN IS REQUIRED. (Ever hear of a circular producing news, or performing a public service?)

* The newspaper regularly publicizes the facts and figures about its circulation, facts proven by the Post Office and a number of auditing bureaus. (Ever hear of a "freebie newspaper? or circular" certifying their distributions?)
