Earthquake Terrifies Mexico City Populace

Radio Tells Of Damage In Manzanillo

Lightning Accompanies Shocks; People Flee Into Fields

MEXICO CITY (AP)—At least three persons were reported killed and more were feared dead Saturday in a heavy earthquake which caused much damage at Colima and shook other cities of Mexico.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A sharp earthquake accompanied by vivid lightning struck the city early Saturday.

Terrified people of the suburbs fled to parks and fields.

Damage here was not thought great. Telephone lines were down between Guadalajara and Colima, causing fears that Colima, badly damaged by a quake early this month had been struck again.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Mackay radio station here received a message from the captain of a boat known as Chicken-Of-The-Sea saying buildings were demolished in Manzanillo, Mexico, by an earthquake Saturday.

Ritz Installs New Unit Here

Sound Improved By Power Unit In Popular Playhouse

In keeping with their policy to give movie-goers the best to be had in the way of modern equipment, the management of the Ritz Theatre has just installed a new power unit in the projecting and sound apparatus in its building.

The equipment was installed under supervision of F. W. Winkler, representative of the Western Electric. The work was started on Tuesday night following the last show, and completion was made the following afternoon about 3 o'clock, so there was no interruption of the program schedule.

The new power unit, which consists of rectifier bulbs, three transformers and a series of filters, transforms A C current into direct current, and serves to clarify the sound in the pictures.

"This new equipment," said Jack Hendrix, operator at the Ritz theatre, "is quite an improvement over the old style battery equipment formerly used in our projecting room, and the sound from the pictures is made more audible and clear."

Shouse Opens Fire On GOP

Platform Just Like Hoover Democratic Chairman Says

CHICAGO (AP)—An attack upon President Hoover and the Republican party was made Saturday night from Democratic headquarters here.

Joseph Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national committee, called the Republican platform "hanging on every controversial issue." He declared its prohibition plank was "perfect counterpart of style and method of Hoover—it can be read by anybody into accord with anybody's idea."

Hundreds Of Dollars To Leave Big Spring Daily After Sunday When Many Federal Taxes Begin

Hundreds of dollars daily will pour from Big Spring into the coffers of the federal government as the result of the gigantic new tax bill that is to go into effect on June 21.

The measure provides that most of the new excise taxes and special levies be applied 15 days later, after being signed by the president on Monday morning, June 21.

Excise taxes on manufacturers will be paid by the manufacturers on all goods they release into the trade channels on June 21 or after. This will be felt by the public as soon as the goods move to distributors and wholesalers and then to the retailers.

Practically every special levy will affect Big Spring citizens in one way or another.

The three-cent first class postage rate goes into effect on July 6. The increased second class rate becomes effective July 1. The air mail increase starts July 6.

Emil Fahrnkamp, postmaster here, has been advised of the various changes in the second class matter. The new rates will reach the high levels of 1921, the highest level on record.

Mail rates are now 5 cents for the first ounce and 8 cents for the second ounce, but this will be increased, making it 8 cents for the first ounce and 13 cents for each additional ounce.

Many of the taxes to go into effect June 21 are those which will also touch upon local interests.

There is to be a tax of 4 cents per gallon on lubricating oil.

To illustrate how this will affect a resident here, the best grade of motor oil for a Ford usually costs 35 cents a quart and that totals $1.75 for a change of oil of five quarts. Under the tax this price will be increased to $2.00.

Wort is to be taxed 15 cents a gallon but this will not affect people hereabouts for there are no wort factories.

The word wort was coined recently and means beer in the form just before it is fermented sufficiently to contain alcohol. In the east this is common and is sold by large quantities.

However, the cost of manufacturing home brew is to be increased slightly as there is a tax of 3 cents a pound on malt extracts.

And wines will increase slightly, as grape concentrates are to be taxed 20 cents a gallon.

Tires and tubes are to be taxed at the rate of two and one-half to four cents a pound. It is unofficially reported this will cause an advance of from $2 to $4 a tire.

Toilet preparations are to be taxed 10 per cent. If milady wishes a bottle of perfume that sells for $3 now, this will cost $3.30 after June 21.

Definitives also are to advance in price. The popular price now are 25 and 50 cents per tube. This will be a 5 per cent tax and will increase the cost to 26 1/4 cents and 52 1/2 cents.

If Big Spring women want furs for next winter they had better buy them before Monday morning. A fur costing $100 now will cost $110 after the date as the tax on these is 10 per cent.

Force Added To Carnival Plans Here

Drum and Bugle Corps Sought For Trade Excursion Trips

With less than two weeks separating workers from the opening day of the "Carnival of Values" here June 30, July 1 and 2, efforts are being redoubled to complete final arrangements for the celebration.

The first actual step heralding the carnival will be taken Wednesday when a motorcade leaves the city for points east and north. June 27 a second trip covering territory south and west will be made to advertise Big Spring and the carnival.

Efforts to enable the local American Legion drum and bugle corps to make the two trade excursions are being made. Several business men will have cars in Wednesday's caravan which will pass through Coahoma, Westbrook, Colorado, Loraine, Roscoe, Sweetwater, Snyder, Gail, Lamesa, Sparenburg, and Knott. The party will leave Big Spring early Wednesday morning and return late the same evening.

Meanwhile committees are working feverishly in order to have advertising material complete for the first motorcade. Original specifications call for copy to be in Monday. Vic Fjellsten and Shine Philips will have charge of the trade trips.

C. T. Watson, manager of the chamber of commerce, announced Saturday that merchants participating in the carnival would be furnished with the "Carnival of Values" program.

G. L. Leonard of Lubbock sent in his acceptance Saturday to address the carnival crowd. He will speak the first day but will "stay all three." Levens is candidate for state senator from this district. Penrose Metcalfe, state representative of this territory, will also appear.

Watson Saturday was in touch with Judge C. P. Rogers, who is in Sweetwater for the Ferguson rally of last night, and authorized Rogers to extend a personal invitation to Jim and Ma to speak here during the carnival. Rogers, a candidate for district judge, took part in the Sweetwater program.

It was still uncertain whether Governor Ross Sterling would appear here during the celebration. Tom F. Hunter, gubernatorial candidate, has already accepted an invitation.

Featuring one day of the affair will be a baby show open to children under two years. Prizes will be awarded to the three winners in each of three classes. The first class includes babies up to six months, the second class babies over six up to twelve months, and finally babies over twelve months but under two years. Mrs. W. D. McDonald, assisted by Mrs. Garland Woodward and Mrs. Louis Palma, will be in charge of the babies. Doctors will act as judges.

Kepps Phil Omega, local social fraternity, will foster a terrapin derby each day of the carnival. After the race of the last day a grand finale will be staged, prizes being awarded winners.

Varied entertainment, all free will be offered visitors at the three day program sponsored by Big Spring merchants. Headlining will be political speaking, baseball, motorcycle polo, gun club shoot, golf exhibition, tennis, luncheon, baby show, terrapin derby, bathing, tennis, and other features.

V. E. Fjellsten, of Fjell's Service Stations, announces they have been appointed as official service stations for the Delco Remy and Northeast Automotive parts, accessories and repairs. A complete stock of automotive electrical parts is now on hand at his station at Second and Hurry streets. They will serve both the wholesale and retail trade.

Contamination Totally Absent In City Water

Big Spring water has no contamination by bacteria, the director of laboratories of the department of health reports to City Manager E. V. Spence after having tested five samples of water from the local supply.

The samples sent for laboratory tests were taken from hydrants at the following places in the city by H. W. Leeper, city inspector: Crawford Hotel Coffee Shop; Smith Brothers Drug Store; Masters Cafe; Club Cafe and Settles Hotel.

For each of the five samples the laboratory chief marked "no contamination" whatever.

Mr. Spence pointed out that space would be available in the new City Hall here for making all types of water tests and analyses and that Big Spring would be in a position to do such tests for other communities when the new building is occupied.

FRANCE HUSTLED FROM CONVENTION PLATFORM

Sen. Joseph I. France of Maryland, candidate for the republican nomination for President, was speedily removed from the speaker's platform at the republican national convention in Chicago when he sought to place the name of Calvin Coolidge before the convention. Refused recognition by Chairman Snell, France was removed by police and convention officers shouting, "You'll have to carry me off. I have my rights."

Veterans Begin Leaving Capitol After Senate Votes Down Payment Of Bonus By 62 To 18 Majority

WASHINGTON (AP)—A call for recruits to fill widening gaps in the ranks and swell their number to 50,000 was issued Saturday by leaders of the veterans' army. They were disappointed and disgruntled by the senate's defeat of the bonus measure.

By nightfall reports from the capitol were dotted with members of the tattered army plodding homeward. "Have 150,000 men here by fall" was the slogan passed out.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate's overwhelming defeat of payment of the soldiers' bonus by a vote of 62 to 18 Friday discouraged veterans who made the pilgrimages to the capitol hoping for cash payment of their service certificates.

Soon after daylight Saturday roads out of Washington were dotted with groups of weary, misshapen ex-soldiers, homeward bound. Their leaders vainly strove to hold their ranks intact, declaring only about 150 had gone home to recruit other marchers. Police said the veterans were leaving in large groups and prepared to furnish truck transportation fifty miles out of the city. They expected to move 1000 Saturday.

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the bonus bill out of the way and adjournment next week probable congress started work Saturday on unemployment relief and government economy.

The senate debated the two-billion dollar Democratic unemployment relief bill, which sponsors claim will provide work for the jobless and stimulate business.

In the house a conference report on the battered national economy bill was presented preparatory to consideration Monday, when settlement of the governmental pay cuts controversy may be reached. President Hoover began preparing recommendations for further governmental economies.

Prizes Offered In Three Classes For Carnival Of Values Baby Show

Details of the Baby Show to be staged as a part of the Big Spring Carnival of Values program were announced Saturday by the committee in charge, composed of Mrs. G. A. Woodward, W. D. McDonald and Louis Palma. Babies are expected to be entered from all the surrounding communities.

Three classes will be entered, with prizes for the three babies in each class adjudged nearest perfect.

In addition, there will be a Grand Prize for the most perfect baby in the entire show. The Grand Prize will be a 1x14 portrait of the baby. Class 1 will include babies six

76 Per Cent Of Creditors File Claims

Secured Creditors Would Received Bonds In New Company

NEW YORK (AP)—About 76 per cent of the creditors of the Cosden Oil company, which went into receivership in November 1930, have deposited claims in favor of a proposed reorganization of the company, it was announced Saturday.

George E. Walker, member of a New York law firm which is handling negotiations, said 84 per cent of secured claims had been deposited and 70 per cent of unsecured claims.

He said the date for deposit of claims had been extended to July 9 and that success of the proposed reorganization was forecast.

J. S. Cosden heads the reorganization committee and would be the active operating head of the proposed new company. Large blocks of capital stock as well as a majority of claims of creditors have been deposited in favor of reorganization, Walker said.

The Cosden Oil company was formed in February, 1928 by J. S. Cosden, well known oil man, and associates. The company owns 199,960 acres of undeveloped leases in Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, South Dakota and Arkansas. At the end of 1931, based on statements of the company's receivers, the company had a total of assets of $11,612,000. Its refining plant is located at Big Spring, Texas.

The reorganization proposal was submitted to creditors and stockholders last March. In exchange for assignments of secured creditors it is proposed to give first mortgage 6 per cent bonds of the reorganized company and 6 per cent general bonds for unsecured claims.

Dawes Finds Depression Is Lessening

Says Small Business With Low Overhead Improving Some

CHICAGO (AP)—Charles F. Dawes expressed the opinion Saturday that "we have reached the turning point of the depression." Returning to personal business was Dawes stated that small business with low overhead seemed to be showing some improvement, adding that the larger ones must monthly follow. He declared lower taxes were essential to full recovery.

The Republican Prohibition Problem

The resolution committee worked for several days trying to improve a prohibition policy. The product of its labors is a plank which amidst elaborate hemming and having and much solemn protesting proposals to amend national prohibition as we have known it since 1920 and to substitute for it some sort of new but largely undefined federal system. The proposal deserves to be sympathetically and carefully examined. For the moment it may be of some interest to note the main elements of the confused conflict out of which this proposal emerges.

There are really four sets of views which are in conflict. At bottom, one might say at the level of sincere conviction, there is a conflict of principle between those who wish to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment, returning to the old Constitution, and those who wish to repeal and then substitute another amendment. Both agree that states which wish to remain dry should be protected against invasion from wet states.

The simple repealers insist that Congress has ample powers under the old Constitution to protect the dry states by reviving the Webb-Kenyon Act and the Reed Amendment. This, I take it, is the view of the crusading wets. The other group, who might be called the administration wets, are also for the Eighteenth Amendment as we now know it, but they are not sure that the old Constitution affords sufficient power to protect dry states. They feel moreover that the right of the Federal Government to regulate the liquor traffic inside the states should not be wholly abandoned. They wish, therefore, to reserve the power at Washington to supervise the manner in which liquor is legalized in the states.

Washington is to supervise the manner in which liquor is legalized in the states. This view is held, I believe, by such men as Secretary Mills and Secretary Stimson. The conflict of principle here is one in which both sides are entitled to complete respect. The issue is one of high policy which should and will be debated thoroughly by the country, regardless of what form of words is put into either party platform here at Chicago.

Cutting across the debate on principle there is a debate on expediency. The issue here is whether to recommend a course of action to Congress which will or will not give the voters a chance to decide national policy on prohibition. The candid school insists that the proposal submitted to the voters be one which they can either ratify or reject. The clever school has been trying to devise a tricky proposal which when submitted to the voters will ascertain their views but will not necessarily amend the Constitution.

The long secret negotiations for the last forty-eight hours have been an attempt to arrive at some acceptable formula out of the permutations and combinations of these four elements.

The affair over the prohibition plank has disclosed once more the peculiar weakness of Mr. Hoover as a political leader. Until a short time before the convention assembled he seems to have taken no position on the question. Then it transpired that the repealers were very strong and that the convention if left to itself would take a radical position. Thereupon, without giving any public expression to his own convictions Mr. Hoover set out to dictate through secret channels what the convention should do. He frets that he has discredited everybody and is accumulating all the blame for all the different disappointments.

It would have been possible for him to speak out clearly and promptly. He did not do that. It would have been possible for him to stand aside and let the conven-

Who'll Really Pay

ATTORNEY General James V. Alfred has pending suits against eleven of the major oil factors, can well afford to exercise discretion. According to the 'Gulf Coast Lumberman' the suit industry last year paid 5.8 per cent of the total state revenue from taxation. The eleven defendants in the suits represent approximately 80 per cent of the industry, upon which it is estimated that more than 10 per cent of the Texas citizenship is directly dependent for their livelihood.

Assuming that the attorney general is right and that the indictments he charges against these defendants are correct and that he is able to prove in court that when these defendants agreed to follow a specified code of ethics they were violating the Texas anti-trust law; were the Texas statutes designed to demand the most extreme penalty for such transgressions? Would it not seem more expedient, particularly in days of economic stress such as these, to consider the attorney general's function one of regulation, rather than penalization?

For fines, cancellation of charter and permanent expulsion from the state. Under the laws of Texas, a Texas corporation convicted and punished in this manner can not be acquired and carried on by other corporations.

With the oil industry as vital a factor in Texas economic welfare as it is at present, it is not surprising that Attorney General Alfred should look well to possible consequences in demanding such a devastating penalty for the alleged violations of Texas anti-trust statutes.

We believe that in the prosecution of the duties of the attorney general's office, foresight should dictate his action, since the scale of industry are so delicately adjusted at this time that unanticipated restrictions detrimental to public welfare might result from blind adherence to the punitive possibilities of the statutes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Aderholt and family left Saturday for Spur for a visit before deciding where to locate.

Joan Crawford Comes To Ritz

Travis Banton, Gown Designer, Describes Ten Steps Taken In Creation Of Screen Costumes

There are ten steps in the creation of every costume that appears on the screen, it was revealed recently in an interview granted by Travis Banton, studio gown designer. Take as an example, the satin and sequin evening ensemble in which Carole Lombard appears in one of the scenes of Paramount's "Sinners in the Sun" which is being shown at the Ritz theatre for two days, beginning today.

This gown was created by Banton especially for the scene in which it is worn by Miss Lombard and the interviewer induced Designer Banton to outline the elaborate and circuitous details in the creation of this particular gown as an illustration of the care taken by Paramount to have the gowns worn by their stars correct in every detail. The ten steps are as follows:

- 1. Banton receives the final script on "Sinners in the Sun." He reads carefully and compiles a list of the number and type of costumes required by the script.
- 2. He holds a conference with Miss Lombard, the director, and the cameraman as to the type of costumes they prefer. Special attention is given to the outfit to be worn in the climactic scene of the picture.
- 3. A sketch in water colors of the most important costume is made by Banton. Complete details of colors, lines and accents are shown in this sketch.
- 4. The sketch is submitted to the director and Miss Lombard for a final check.
- 5. After the check is received, Banton instructs the studio shop to purchase ten yards of pearl white satin, six yards of black satin and twenty yards of massed silver sequins.
- 6. When material is delivered, Banton holds a conference with the head fitter, who supervises all the seamstress work on the costume.
- 7. Next day, Miss Lombard arrives for the first fitting. The gown of white satin and scarf of sequins is pinned carefully to the lines of her figure. The wrap of sequins, lined with black satin, is fitted for length and drapery. Banton closely supervises all fittings.
- 8. Another conference is held with the fitter if any small changes have been decided upon during the first fitting.
- 9. The second and final fitting is held the following day.
- 10. The gown is worn by Miss Lombard on the set, where the cameraman takes a careful look at it under the various lights to ascertain the best illumination and angles.

Miss McIntyre Has Buffet Supper For Dr. Mrs. Hardy

Miss Gertrude McIntyre was hostess for a lovely buffet supper Friday evening at her home on Scurry street complimenting Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Hardy, of Sonora, a recent bride and groom of the city.

Naturalisms and attractive place cards were used for decorative notes on the small tables at which the guests seated themselves.

After the supper instead of indulging in bridge the evening was spent on the hostess' lawn.

The guests in addition to the honorees, were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Parks, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Fahrkamp, Misses Andrea Walker and Nancy Dawes and Will Dawes.

Trainmen Auxiliary Showers Members With Many Attractive Gifts

The members of the L. A. of B. of R. T. cut their meeting very short Friday afternoon due to the serious illness of Mrs. Iverson, one of their members.

They held a short business session and took time to present Mrs. Josephine Lowry with many lovely gifts during a surprise shower.

Those attending were: Misses Bonnie Allen, Ethel Clifton, Gertrude Watson, J. T. Meador, C. A. Schull, Eloise Baker, Lowry, Wm. Van Crunk, Jennie Hawk, Jas. Sendlin, Minnie Moore, Eva Fox, Alma Busbee, Cleo Byers, Maude Gray, Florence Douglas, Sarah Frazer, Della C. Hicks, Daphne Smith, and Mr. J. T. Allen.

MISSIONARY FROM BRAZIL WILL SPEAK AT E. 4TH

Mrs. A. B. Deter will speak at East Fourth Street Baptist Monday and Tuesday evenings at 8:15. She will also address the W.M.S. at 3 p. m. Monday. It is hoped that every missionary Baptist in Big Spring will hear Mrs. Deter speak. She will return to Brazil some time in July.

Elissa Landi Has Trio Of Leading Men

In her latest Fox picture, Henry King's "The Woman in Room 13," opening at the Ritz Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday, Elissa Landi is supported by three of the screen's most popular leading men. They are Ralph Bellamy, Neil Hamilton and Gilbert Roland.

Bellamy is one of the most prominent and promising newcomers to the films. He has been in pictures less than a year and gained his first success as the hateful prison camp commandant in Warner Baxter's picture, "Surrender." He has since appeared in "Disorderly Conduct," "Young America" and "Forbidden."

Neil Hamilton is well known to movie fans, having portrayed leading parts in "Beau Geste," "The Modern Age," "The Great Lover," "Dawn Patrol," "Strangers May Kiss" and "The Sin of Madelon Claudet."

Gilbert Roland dates his film experience back to the days of the silent drama when he was starred in such outstanding successes as "The Dove," "The Woman Disputed" and "Camille." His first talking picture was "New York Nights," in which he played opposite Norma Talmadge. He has since played in "Monsieur Le Fox" and "The Cardboard Lover."

Another popular player in this dramatic photoplay is Myrna Loy. Miss Loy has undoubtedly played more hateful roles on the screen than any other actress. Her only respite from these unsympathetic roles, which she recently stated were not exactly to her liking, was in the recent film, "Transatlantic," in which she played the trusting wife of a philandering husband.

"The Woman in Room 13" revolves around the dramatic theme of who was the woman in the concert singer's room the night he met his strange death. It is based on the well-known Broadway play of the same name.

Acc-El Business Meeting

The members of the Acc-El Bridge Club met at the home of Mrs. Lindsey Marchbanks Friday afternoon, instead of Thursday for a business session.

Delicious refreshments were served to the following: Mmes. Alfred Collins, Glen D. Quilley, Clarence Wear and Warner Neese. Mrs. Neese will entertain the club at its next session.

Mrs. Frazier's Pupils Give Summer Recital

Mrs. Bruce Frazier presented her pupils in piano and voice at the First Baptist Church Friday evening in a very enjoyable recital.

A profusion of orchid thistles and cedar vied with garden flowers in the decorations of the church. The pupils wore lovely summery costumes and evening dresses with the exception of Mrs. Roy Lay who was dressed in a very becoming Indian costume for her two character songs, "Silver Faun" and "In a Canoe" which were among the most enthusiastically received numbers of the evening.

Mrs. Aderholt Honoree At Nice Farewell Shower

The teachers of the Intermediate department of the First Baptist Sunday School showered Mrs. J. W. Aderholt, superintendent of the department, with many lovely handkerchiefs at a surprise farewell shower given Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. L. Gommillion.

After a short program of clever games Mrs. Cornellison read a very appropriate poem and presented the gifts.

Ice cream and cake were served to the following teachers and girls: Mmes. Aderholt, H. O. Hayward, Travis Reed, R. E. Day, D. J. Doolley, L. I. Stewart, J. J. Schultz, W. D. Cornellison, W. W. Grant, J. F. Dodge, Zolie Mae Dodge, Verna Kinard, Quizzie Bea King, Lillian Clayton, Billie Frances Grant, Betty Doolley, Edna Verne Stewart.

Sympathy Needed

Barbara Stanwyck returns to the Ritz theatre Thursday only in her newest Columbia drama, "Shoppers," which relates the story of a girl who put herself on the bargain counter because decency didn't pay. She had always wanted to be decent—had always held herself apart from the common people she necessarily had to associate with—and then came the surprising moment when people who represented all that she thought was fine and decent tried to buy her off. Falsely accusing her, they offered her money to leave town.

"You" she cried as she flung the money back, "You—the nice decent people—are the real cheap ones—trying to put a price on something that there can't be a price for. If that's decency, I'm glad I'm common."

So the mother who prided herself on her decency, separated her son and the common girl he loved for six years—six years of climbing to dizzy heights of fame for the girl—but the day comes when she takes a lesson in decency from the girl she despised.

"Shoppers" is an original story by Sarah Y. Mason, written especially for Miss Stanwyck's emotional talents. Regis Toomey plays the hero and ZaSu Pitts, Mrs. Blonnie Iverson is seriously ill in Wink.

Joan Coming To Ritz Today

"Lety Lynton" Role With Robert Montgomery With Success
Beautiful Joan Crawford comes to the Ritz Theatre Friday and Saturday in "Lety Lynton," her newest picture. She is again starred with the bias Robert Montgomery. This sophisticated pair gives even better acting in "Lety Lynton" than in "Our Blushing Brides" or "Untamed" the other two pictures in which they appeared together.

Announcement Of Nuptial Rites Of Miss Cardwell Made At Attractive Tea

Mrs. T. S. Currie Hostess To Many Friends Of Honoree, Niece Of Mrs. J. O. Tamsitt, Who Will Be Married Sunday

Mrs. T. S. Currie was hostess at a beautifully appointed announcement for Friday afternoon at her charming home in Edwards Heights, in honor of Miss Ruth Cardwell, of El Paso, niece of Mrs. J. O. Tamsitt.

Miss Cardwell's marriage to Mr. Robert Mathews, of El Paso, will take place Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church.

The spacious rooms were attractively decorated with large baskets of pink and orchid-hued wild thistles and tied with bows of harmonizing tulle.

Mrs. Robert Parks greeted the callers at the door. In the receiving line were Mrs. Currie, Mrs. G. Cardwell, Mrs. F. G. Powell, Mrs. G. J. Tamsitt and the honoree.

Minnie Belle Williamson presided over the guest book.

Each guest was presented with a carnation to which was tied two heart-shaped cards. On the cards were the words: "Say it with Flowers." Ruth Cardwell to Robert Mathews, June 10. Winifred Piner and Doris Cunningham presented the announcement cards.

Mrs. Parks charming sang "At Dawning" accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Omar Pitman.

The dining table was spread with a beautiful imported lace cloth over blue and centered with pink and white carnations. Pink candles burned in silverholders.

Pink and white mints and cakes and pink and white sandwiches in heart shapes were passed by Miss Agnes Currie, assisted by the following: Misses R. C. Strain, Cecil Wasson, Harvy Williamson, Omar Pitman, Pete Malone, Robt. Beverly, W. M. Paulsen and Miss Andrea Walker.

About 50 or 60 guests called between the hours of five and six.

Mrs. Kinard Elected Head Of Miriam Club

Mrs. Jess Andrews was hostess to the members of the Miriam Club for a meeting Friday afternoon at which officers were elected for the coming term.

Mrs. J. A. Kinard was made president; Mrs. Glass Glenn, secretary; Mrs. Gene Crenshaw, vice president; Mrs. Ora Martin, treasurer; Mrs. J. N. Cauble, reporter.

The members who attended were: Misses Kinard, Crenshaw, Glenn, Dee Foster, Martin, Cauble, and C. L. Mann.

Mrs. Glenn will entertain the members next Friday.

AWAIT DEPORTATION

Jesus Flores, Megael Molina, and Manuel Hernandez were held Saturday in the county jail awaiting deportation action. They were taken by the Border Patrol working in and around Big Spring.

An automobile sleeping wheel invented in England is mounted on springs, instead of spokes to prevent transmission of road shocks to driver's hands.

HOPE CHEST SPECIAL

from your own yard on informal errands and feel plenty awank in so doing.

Beautiful fast color materials come ready cut with instructions for sewing them together. The under brim next to one's face is a lovely tint of peach pink, the bow at the back Bambino blue with the dainty print of the hat harmonizing them into a most pleasing color scheme. The brim is cut triple thickness to hold a little starch, there is an inner crown strip and smart little turns to the brim ends which all add to its satisfyingness. Bonnie Bonnet is No. 427, price 50 cents, adjustable, by the way, to fit any head size.

The gloves are really just boy size white cotton work gloves that will protect your hands and wrists from much grime and many scratches. We cut triple thickness gauntlet tops 4 inches wide in circular style that match your hat. These are to be attached to the ready-made gloves, both included in order No. 427B at 25 cents.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHERRY DIXON, 19 and pretty, falls in love with DAN FILLIPS, newspaper reporter whom her wealthy, aristocratic parents have forbidden her to see. When Cherry learns Dan's telephone messages have been kept from her she steals out of the house to meet him. Her father discovers this and threatens to send her to California. Cherry defies him and he orders her to leave.

She goes to Dan, tells him what has happened and asks him to marry her. The ceremony is performed that night by a justice of peace.

Cherry looks for an apartment but is discouraged to find them so expensive. Dan works late one night on a tip that TONY TOSCALA, gangster chief, is coming to Wellington. Cherry unconsciously gives this news tip to a reporter on the rival newspaper. The other paper gets the story and Dan's boss threatens. "One more tip and you're fired!"

DIXIE SHANNON, movie critic, helps Cherry find an inexpensive apartment. Dan and Cherry move from the hotel. Cherry finds housework and cooking trying MAX PEARSON, handsome friend of Dan's, is the first guest whom they invite to dinner.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

Dan Phillips grinned as he fumbled in a pocket for the key. "I tell you there's nothing like it," he said to Pearson, "because it's great to have a home to come to when you're through work. To know someone is waiting for you there—glad to see you and hear how the day's gone."

The key was in the lock now. Dan swung the door open and stepped back for the other to enter.

"You know," Dan continued, "I used to think a fellow gave up a lot when he married—freedom, the right to come and go as he pleased and all that. Well, it's the bunk! The past two weeks have taught me that much. Of course not many men have wives like Cherry—"

"She's a pretty girl," Pearson agreed.

"Pretty? Say, Cherry's got everything! Beauty, brains, a wonderful disposition. And the way she's taken to housekeeping—"

They were half way up the stairway. Suddenly an odor, strange and unpleasant, reached their nostrils. It was certainly a penetrating odor and it seemed to come from above.

Dan sniffed. "Wonder if something's burning?" he said uneasily. "Smell like—like rubber or something, doesn't it?"

"Not rubber," Pearson said. "But there does seem to be something wrong." He coughed.

They had reached the second floor landing. The funny odor heavier and they were certainly coming from the rear apartment.

"It's smoke!" Dan exclaimed, taking the last steps in two leaps. "Cherry!" he cried, rattling the doorknob. "Are you there? Open the door! It's Dan—"

There was no answer. A frantic, seemingly endless moment then the latch gave. The two men pushed the door open.

Smoke in thick gray clouds, filling their throats and smarting their eyes, swept past them. The room was filled with it. There were no flames they could see.

"Cherry!" Dan called again. "Where are you?"

Pearson closed the door and crossed the room to raise the windows higher. "It seems to be coming from over there," he said, pointing toward the kitchen. He stopped in another fit of coughing.

"Cherry!"

Dan had the kitchen door open. Yes, that was where the smoke was coming from. It poured forth in dense, almost suffocating clouds. Pearson saw Dan's arms go around an indistinct figure. "Why, darling," Dan was saying. "You mustn't stay in all this smoke! You've got to get out of here! What in the world happened? Tell me about it—"

The girl made some answer but the words were so muffled Pearson could not hear them. Dan spoke again. "But it's all right now," he urged. "Don't cry, honey! Be sad, but don't cry. Lord, I was frightened!"

The situation was embarrassing for Pearson. The living room was gradually clearing of the heavy air. He saw that the table had been drawn out and laid with dishes and silver. That there would be no dinner served was obvious. The whole meal must have gone up in flames.

"Cook here," he said, addressing Dan's tweed back. "I'll run along and drop in some other evening. You don't want company tonight. Some other evening—any time. Tell Cherry it's perfectly all right with me."

Dan faced about. "Don't go Max," he said. "There's been a little accident. Something wrong with the oven. We'll all have to eat somewhere else. Just as soon as Cherry's ready we'll go out together. The three of us. But you mustn't leave. Neither of us would ever forgive you. Would we, Cherry?"

The girl's face was not white. Pearson heard her say, trembling as though to keep back the tears, "No."

"Well, of course if you'd rather," he agreed uncertainly.

There were a few more minutes in which Dan flourished a large white handkerchief and drew cold water for Cherry to bathe her eyes. Presently she appeared. She even managed to smile as she made her apologies to Pearson. Her eyes were red-rimmed and swollen.

While she was changing her dress and repairing the damage of the tears the two men settled themselves with cigars. Dan explained what had happened. Cherry had put a roast and vegetables into the oven. They were nearly done when she remembered that she had not enough cream. It was only a block to the grocery store and she hurried all the way, certain nothing could happen to the meal in her absence. But when she came back longer than Cherry realized. The flames under the oven had a trick of blazing up higher and these two circumstances had combined to create a disaster. When Cherry returned to the apartment she found the roast burned to a cinder and the rest of the meal as black.

"You're the first guest we've had here, you see," Dan went on. "Naturally she's rather hard hit. She's really learned to cook awfully well. Last night you should have seen the dinner she had ready for me!"

Cherry, when she appeared 15 minutes later, did not look "hard hit." She had been taught that hospitality consists of the manner in which you receive guests rather than what is set before them. Her soul writhed in mortification but she determined to conceal it. Dan had been sweet to pretend everything was all right!

Before the mirror in the "dressing room" (it was really the bathroom), she brightened her cheeks with rouge and touched her lips with scarlet paste. A cloth dipped in icy water and held to her eyes had removed the red lines about the rims. Cherry slipped a slim,

A Marathon Student!

They were an attractive couple—the tall, handsome Pearson and the slender girl in black. Other diners paused to notice them.

After that first dance they returned to their table. Then danced a second time and then a third. Cherry's head came just above Pearson's shoulder. She had to tilt backward to meet his eyes. Their steps matched perfectly and the syncopation became more haunting, more hypnotic.

Pearson's arm tightened imperceptibly about the girl.

Dan and Cherry were alone in the apartment. It was nearly 11 o'clock and Cherry, in a rose negligee, was brushing her hair for the night.

"Honestly, don't you think Max is a wonder?" Dan asked. "Isn't he about the most interesting talker you've ever met?"

The girl agreed. She hastened to turn the conversation into other channels. But half an hour later in spite of repeatedly telling herself not to—it was Max Pearson of whom Cherry was thinking.

What was it she had read in Max's dark eyes? Surely—oh, surely she had been mistaken!

Cherry and Max and Dan chose a table near the wall. One look at the menu card and the girl was relieved. She did not want to talk. How could she forget the failure of her entire day's work—the labor, expense and careful planning that had literally gone up in smoke.

Pearson's voice interrupted her thoughts. She said, "I'm sorry but I'm afraid I wasn't listening."

He said, "Won't you dance this one with me?"

Other couples were already circling the cleared space. The music was a waltz from a German motion picture. It's slow rhythm was melodious, contagious.

"Go ahead," Dan urged. "Personally I couldn't stagger as far as the next table. I'm all in tonight!"

Cherry smiled. "I'd love to," she said.

They settled on the order and

Two Howard Tests Finish During Week

Harrison No. 2 Denman Is 119-Barrel Pumper Initially

Two wells in different pools in Howard county have been completed in the past week: L. C. Harrison's No. 2 Denman in the Coahoma pool, the farthest eastern in the county and Merrick & Lamb's No. 2 Chalk in the north end of the Chalk field.

Harrison No. 2 Denman pumped 119 barrels of oil the first 24 hours. It showed the first oil from 2,330-35 feet, drilled to 2,850 feet and was shot with 300 quarts from 2,719 to 2,905 feet. Location is 1,500 feet from the south line and 385 feet from the east line of section 10, block 20, township 1 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey, a south offset to Harrison No. 1 Denman, which extended the field one-half mile west from Sinclair No. 1 Dodge, the discovery producer.

R. J. Wallace's No. 1 Bell ran tapered tubing but had not flowed. It struck the first oil from 2,480 to 2,520 feet, drilled to 2,844 feet and was shot twice, first with 300 quarts from 2,560 to 2,839 feet and next with 80 quarts from 2,480 to 2,520. While cleaning out early last week the well swabbed 77 1/2 barrels of oil in 24 hours. It is 1,980 feet from the north line and 2,660 feet from the west line of section 12, block 30, township 1 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey, Sinclair-Prairie No. 2 Dodge, the most test in the area due to reach the pay, ran 8 5/8-inch casing at 1,778 feet in line. It is 1,315 feet from the west line of section 11, block 20, township 1 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey.

Merrick & Lamb's No. 2 Chalk was completed for 168 barrels of oil in 24 hours a nine pump. It topped the pay at 1,692 feet and drilled to 1,770. Location is 900 feet from the north and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 12, block 29, W. N. W. Ry. Co. survey.

Pure Oil Co.'s No. 12 Chalk, 1,980 feet east of the Merrick & Lamb well, prepared to pump with the total depth 1,850 feet. It showed a barrel of oil in four hours from 1,651-80 feet, topped the pay at 1,726 feet and had a slight increase in oil from 1,741-48 feet. Location is 900 feet from the north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 12, block 29, W. N. W. Ry. Co. survey.

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

Today Lois Madison's ambitious baseball nine, playing its first game of the season collectively and the first for several of them individually, moves toward Forum for a practice game with Charles Ferguson's old field crew, Payne or Mahoney, the latter recruited from Coahoma, will do the mound work for the locals with Bob Potter held in reserve, and Cramer will no doubt pitch for Forum.

Madison's squad is composed of himself, Billy Bass, Baker, Fred Martin, Ray McMahan, Paul Madison, Sammy Sain, Payne, Mahoney, Newton and Potter. There is two infielders, three pitchers, no catchers, and enough outfielder for two ball clubs. Of the lot Bass, Martin, Payne and Potter are in fairly good condition.

Incidentally the veteran Payne did not ever play in the old West Texas league, which numbered among other cities Abilene and Carlsbad, New Mexico. Payne has never played professional baseball. Sain was the loop for a year and a half and was leading the league in hitting in 1921 until struck by one Jess Vick's fast pitches. In those days, Sain advised, Vick could throw a ball fast. Potter opened the season of 1926 with the Philadelphia Athletics, ended it by trading his release from the Big Spring Cowboys.

Sain says that baseball has slipped considerably in the last decade. The class D and C leagues, he declares, are no longer fast circuits. He indicates the Lone Star top in 1924, where he played along with "Pepper" Martin, Sam West, Moore Clobough, Sneed Jolley, Gene Moore, and others. He points to the number of West Texas league recruits that are making good in the Texas League, many of them no better than in their class D days.

M. H. Ballard and Leo Brady will meet in the final of the Abilene city tourney. Last year Ballard won 6-3, 6-2, 6-3, but Brady is the better tournament player of the two. He won the West Texas championship at Big Spring over Rayborn Brown in 1930 6-4, 6-2, 6-1. Sunday the Abilene netters will meet San Angelo's supposedly crack team in an elaborate duel meet.

Both cities will be represented here during the Carnival of Values.

Shirley Robbins announces himself ready for young Jack Satterwhite in this afternoon's Sand Belt association play. Robbins qualified for the championship flight in the West Texas with a 35 and lost in the first round to Clayton Bonner, Wichita Falls city champion, 4 up and 3 to play, while Satterwhite flashed a 31 and went to the finals where he was beaten by Jimmy Phillips of Ranger 9 up and 3 to play.

Robbins was tied with four others for thirty-second place with a 35. Only one was permitted in the championship flight. On the single hole playoff the local star sent his drive into the rough, but came out with a No. 4 shot that was almost dead to the pin, winning the hole with a birdie four.

Incidentally we are advised that green fees at the Country Club are now 25c per nine holes or $1 maximum for a day's play.

Harry Lee, who we believe was onetime president of the golf society and who used to break 30 when he spent a good bit of his time on the course, is ready to explain the insistence of caretaker John Northington that all green fees should be played in advance. Lees declares that recently two players played No. 11, 12, 13, and 14 four times, and another two some cravies through the wire fence no No. 7 without paying.

San Angelo Man Is In Representative Race

B. A. CARTER

B. A. Carter, above, of San Angelo has entered the race for the Democratic nomination for state representative from this district with the following statement:

"I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination to the office of Representative of the 51st Legislative District of Texas, composed of the counties of Glascock, Howard, Irion, Reagan, Sterling and Tom Green, subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held on July 23, 1932. I am a firm believer in the principle of the 'Equity Redemption'. Our state has always recognized this principle in dealing with delinquent tax matters, and I would apply this principle to real estate contracts.

I have never believed that a man or woman should be disfranchised because of the fact that they didn't have money to pay their poll tax before the first day of February, and although I believe in collecting poll tax, I feel there should be some change made in our present law, so that the poor man will have an equal break with the rich man. Our present laws with reference to the collection of delinquent taxes is entirely too complicated and cumbersome and entails a heavy burden upon the property owners in redeeming his property from tax sales. I favor wiping out the entire laws as now constituted and substituting therefor a plain, simple statute which will result in the speedy collection of delinquent taxes and effect a great saving to our tax payers.

There are many other matters that I would like to mention that should have attention at the hands of our legislature, but space does not permit their enumeration here, but I shall expect to inform the people of my views on said matters from time to time during the campaign and to elaborate on the special matters and things herein set forth which I shall advocate because I believe they are right.

I am a friend to education and shall use my best efforts to foster same in every way with the least expense possible, giving and granting to our eleemosynary institutions as liberal a support as is possible at all times. If you believe with me on the things herein advocated and want to see the expenses of our state and county governments reduced, give me your support, and I promise in return therefore that you shall never have cause to regret your action in my behalf. Respectfully, B. A. CARTER.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Helms and son, Ralph, of El Paso, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. J. T. Morris.

While OKLAHOMA shook with monsters' tread

DOWN where the heat of earth's internal fires stands at 100 degrees—a mile and a quarter below the surface of Oklahoma—lies a treasure trove, the Cambro-Ordovician oil pool. Millions of years have passed since Nature formed that pool—ages which saw the rise and fall of the dinosaurs—ages which played a priceless part in the mellowing and filtering of this remarkable crude. Cambro-Ordovician crude oil is the oldest of the Mid-continent crudes. It has mellowed longer, filtered longer, contains less carbon than younger Mid-continent crudes. When refined and blended in the great Sinclair refineries—de-waxed and freed from petroleum jelly, this oldest of Mid-continent crudes becomes Sinclair Opaline, a product of 80 million years of Nature's priceless treatment. Have the nearest Sinclair dealer change your oil to Sinclair Opaline according to the Sinclair Law of Lubrication Index. Drive as fast as you like. Notice how quietly your engine runs. Then, at the next draining period examine the used Opaline. Observe how it still holds its rich lubricating body. Observe, especially, how little oil your engine has used up. These are proofs of lubricating quality you can actually see and feel.

There Are Two Principal Groups Of Merchants In This Country!

The first and larger is the PRICE GROUP. Its appeal is always on price. It tries to buy and sell things cheaper, cheaper, cheaper.

To meet its demand manufacturers are continually lowering standards.

The other is the QUALITY GROUP. Here the effort is to offer the best possible quality at each particular price. To win the business of these merchants, manufacturers must produce better and better quality. The result of this competition is the very best merchandise to be had in each price classification.

Without Any 'ifs, Ands Or Buts' This Store Has Always Belonged To The Quality Group

Our whole endeavor is to give you the best possible value at whatever price you pay.

And in these times of stress, our entire organization is pledged anew to the maintenance of our Quality Standards.

Local People Express Their Sentiments On Resubmission

Local sentiment is almost entirely against resubmission of the 18th amendment to vote of people in each state by congress, according to statements made in interviews the past week with pastors, heads of two railroad brotherhoods and W. C. T. U. leaders.

Some of those interviewed apparently either failed to distinguish between a vote for direct repeal and a vote for or against resubmission by congress, or else they felt one was an "end" movement as the other.

One of the railroad men expressed bitter opposition to the open saloons but declared the people have a right to vote on what they want. One pastor expressed the opinion the question ought to be resubmitted.

The opinions follow:

Sore Bleeding Gums

"Only one bottle Leto's Pyorrhea Remedy is needed to convince any one. No matter how bad your case, get a bottle, use as directed, and if you are not satisfied druggists will return your money. Cunningham and Phillips—adv.

Mrs. C. T. Thomas, president of the Big Spring W. C. T. U. made the following statement: "Resubmission is a wooden horse, an enemy program. It comes from Greeks bearing gifts. Once let it in and we shall find that the saloons, not friends, hop out of it."

R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church, says:

"Having lived in the days of the open saloons and under the eighteenth amendment, I see no reason for resubmission. I am for observing and obeying all the laws, rather than repeating them. Bring back the saloons and keep the automobile and gasoline, my guess is for the first thirty days, we would not have doctors, hospitals, undertakers, and preachers enough who would be needing their services."

"No, no repeal but observance and obedience to the prohibition law, as well as other laws. This we must do or confess that the United States can not make and enforce a law."

Charles Kobry, chief of the engineers of the B. & O. says:

"I am bitterly opposed to the open saloon but I feel that the people have a right to vote and to say what they want."

W. C. T. U. Vice-President Mrs. Geo. W. Davis, vice-president of the W. C. T. U. and a very active worker in that organization, makes the following statement:

"When we consider the tremendous asset, economic and moral, that the 18th amendment is to the United States, the question naturally arises, 'Why this agitation for its resubmission and who are its proponents?'"

"The answer is, 'The wets, of course, financed by European money.'"

"For, as Dr. Atticus Webb stated in his address here at the First Baptist church this last April, the wine-producing countries of Europe are doing everything within their power to make the United States an open market for their liquors, sending millions of dollars to promote the wet interest. Already the wets are in control of the radio and the press. The wet propaganda is going far and wide. Already we have approximately 38,000,000 people of foreign extraction, mainly European, which is more than one-third of our entire population, which at the last census, numbered 122,000,000. But shall Europe rule America? No! America for Americans!"

"When, on January, 16, 1919, the 18th Amendment was written into our Constitution, it was by the vote of 46 of our 38 states, ten more than the three-fourths required

And that, too, before a single woman in the United States was qualified to vote on a national question. In the following year, August 1920, women were granted the right of suffrage through the enactment of the 19th Amendment. This year, 1922, they will vote to protect their home from the demon rum. And it may be, in this crisis, the vote of the women which will uphold the 18th Amendment. We pray God that it will.

"Surely the level-headed business man will uphold it, too. For he must realize that the 18th Amendment has made it possible for him to operate his business six days a week because of sober employees."

"This, too, is a machine age and what havoc would result from drunken drivers of automobiles and drunken pilots of airplanes. But notwithstanding, in our own state, Texas, the democrats by a vote of 231 to 564 declared for submission of the states to the question of repeal of 18th Amendment. Also, at the Republican convention in session at Chicago, a plank promising submission of a plan for modification of the 18th Amendment was written into their platform. In both parties it may be political strategy for each in striving for votes. The situation is a critical one and the days must stand to the guns and fight to the last ditch for the 18th Amendment."

Vicar's Opinion

William H. Martin, vicar of St. Mary's Episcopal church, who was reared in Kansas, says:

"I have lived in a 'dry' state; in a state that observed 'daylight closing'; in a state where the saloons were open day and night every day in the year; and under national prohibition."

"With these experiences, I am opposed to the open saloon; and to the sale of liquors."

"It would seem that resubmission would foster these things."

Mrs. A. H. Wade, president of the Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and also president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Firemen, expresses her opinion thus:

"As I have been asked for my personal opinion on the question of whether the people should be allowed a vote on resubmission or not, I will say this: That I do not think it necessary, for I believe the more substantial class of people would again vote it down."

"It is true that we do not have the proper enforcement of the prohibition law, but I think it would be far worse if we had open saloons. Personally, I can not see why anyone wants to use liquor. It causes so much misery in the world and so many heartaches to so many innocent people who are in no way responsible for it."

"I can not see any good at all derived from its use. There is nothing it can be used for that something not harmful can be substituted for with just as good results."

"Surely we have people who have our country's welfare at heart so much that they would not set a price upon their honor and by putting these people in office we could better the conditions that are existing."

"The use of liquor takes all the self respect from the user and makes paupers of those who might otherwise be useful and upright citizens. Liquor is only one form of narcotic and the countries that have put out narcotics have progressed much more than those that still allow narcotics to be used. We certainly want to go forward and not backward."

Rev. Mr. Smith's Opinion
The new pastor of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church, Woodie W. Smith, makes the following statement:

"My candid opinion is that the Eighteenth Amendment should not be repealed, but enforced. But, says one, it cannot be enforced because people will drink. This is equal to saying that the law against murder ought to be repealed, because people will kill. To say that the Eighteenth Amendment cannot be enforced is to acknowledge that our government is a failure and has lost its power and respect; and that the underworld has usurped control such a state of affairs does not exist."

"As one who has lived in the days of open saloons, and has seen the evil of those days, I want to say frankly that our people would do well to assist our officers in enforcing the Eighteenth Amendment rather than sing the chorus of the Anti that is going the rounds today."

"Before repealing the Eighteenth Amendment, we had better increase the capacity of all our hospitals; enlarge the staff of our physicians; increase the capacity of our casket factories; enlarge our funeral homes; and increase the acreage of our cemeteries or pad-lock every motor vehicle in the country, for the onslaught of humanity that would accompany the open saloon has not been equaled in all past history."

"Let me say again, I oppose the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, but favor a unanimous effort on the part of the citizenship of the United States to enforce it."

Rev. W. C. Buchrachschaber, pastor of the Lutheran Church, favors resubmission in the following statement:

"Prohibition, our noble experiment, has failed. This is the cry that rings from every quarter, and with it comes the cry to resubmit the prohibition question. And I believe the masses are justified in making this request. Everyone who will just be honest with himself must admit that Prohibition—the 18th amendment—is not a success. The past few years have seen more drunkenness, and more violence and crime because of the forbidden liquor than ever before. Even among women and girls it has become a common thing to indulge in strong drink. It is the horrendous fruit that the children of men crave."

"Mark you well, I am not in sympathy with the drunkard. A person who will fill himself or herself with strong drink until the senses are dull and numb, so that he or she cannot be held accountable for his or her deeds and actions, I say, such a person is a detestable foe. But we'll have such people, prohibition or no. And I firmly believe (and it is the Law of the just and holy Lord has no effect upon the heart and mind of such a person, then certainly our "thou shalt not" is futile—useless."

"I am heartily in accord with the movement to resubmit the prohibition question to the masses, and let the people of the individual states or of this grand old country of ours decide whether or no the 18th amendment shall remain upon our statutes."

Thimble Members Enjoy Luncheon

Mrs. W. D. McDonald entertained the members of the Thimble Club with a morning party at her home Friday. Potted plants furnished the floral note.

Rock was the diversion of the morning; and Mrs. Talbot was the high scorer. After the games the guests were served a delicious three-course luncheon by the hostess with the assistance of her daughter, Mrs. Cecil McDonald, and Mrs. Hodges. Mrs. Ina Smith and Miss Nell Davis came in at the luncheon hour. Other visitors were Meses, Arthur Pickle, J. L. Hudson, Vesta Leverett, Cecil McDonald. Members present were: Meses, E. Talbot, Fox Stripling, G. S. True, Pete Johnson, W. R. Ivey, J. B. Noel, J. B. Pickle, Sam Eason, W. A. Miller and J. B. Hodges.

Prize Winning Dresses In A. M. Fisher's Window

An interesting display of rural products is shown in Albert M. Fisher's window.

The children's dresses are the prize winners in the recent contest which created so much interest on the part of the club women.

The canned goods, showing the variety of relishes, pickles, vegetables and other products which all Howard county women can put up, came from the pantry of Mrs. Ches Anderson.

The members of the Howard County Home Demonstration Club desire to thank publicly the merchants who donated prizes for this contest, as well as J. Y. Robb, of the Ritz Theatre for the tickets to the matinee and Mr. Fisher for allowing his window to be used for display purposes.

"DAD"

DEAR DAD:

I am writing this to you though you have been dead thirty years.

It's only now, when my own hair is gray, that I understand how you felt. I must have been a bitter trial to you. I was such an ass. I believed my own petty wisdom, and I know now how ridiculous it was, compared to that calm, ripe, wholesome wisdom of yours. Most of all I want to confess my worst sin against you. It was the feeling I had that you "did not understand."

You understood me better than I did myself. Your wisdom flowed around mine like the ocean around an island. And how patient you were with me! How full of long-suffering kindness! And how pathetic, it now comes home to me, were your efforts to get close to me, to win my confidence, to be a pal!

I wish you were here now, across the table from me, just for an hour, so I could tell you how there's no wall any more; I understand you now, Dad, and, God! how I love you, and wish I could go back and be your boy again.

Well, it won't be long, Dad, till I am over, and I believe you'll be the first one to take my hand and help me up the further slope.

I know that the richest, most priceless thing on earth, and the thing least understood, is that mighty love and tenderness and craving to help which a father feels toward his boy.

For I have a boy of my own.

And it is he that makes me want to go back to you, and get down on my knees to you. Up there somewhere in the Silence, hear me, Dad, and believe me.
