Hospital District Election Set June 20

Bailey County commissioners will have a lengthy agenda for their meeting, scheduled at 10 a.m. Monday, May 8.

After formally opening the meeting and paying routine county bills, commissioners will consider the following:

Consider resolution regarding Section 89 of the Internal Revenue Code; review county treasurer report, and departmental reports; meet with Jimmy Rogers to discuss 1988 audit; open and consider bids for building; consider resolution for Extension service; consider liability insurance for sheriff's office; meet with Jo Ann Head of the Texas Department of Health; meet with representatives for county medical insurance; consider 9-1-1 resolution and miscellaneous items.

The American Legion, in an effort to make sure all deceased veterans are recognized, has asked that anyone having a family member buried in Bailey county that was not recognized last Memorial Day contact an American Legion member.

Parmer County, will be going to the polls on June 20, to decide if they are willing to establish a Muleshoe Area Hospital District.

This was the outcome of the first meeting of the temporary board of directors of the hospital district authorized last week by the Texas Legislature.

Also scheduled by the newlysworn board will be a general town meeting to explain the problems facing West Plains Medical Center AND the Muleshoe Nursing Home.

New director Bob Finney commented, "People need to talking about the hospital, but we're talking about the nursing home, too.

"If we have to close the hospital this time, the nursing home will close at the same time. They're like Siamese twins they're one and the same - and inseparable."

District Judge Jack Young administered the oath of office to the five temporary directors authorized by the Legislature in the bill that created the hospital

Receiving the oath of office were Bob Finney, Tim 'Buck' Campbell, Vance Wagnon, Neal Caswell and Darrell Jennings of Lazbuddie, who represents the Parmer County area included.

Immediately after the oath made the board 'official,' Dave Marr, who was acting as moderator suggested the board elect officers.

Buck Campbell was elected president; Darrell Jennings, vice president and Bob Finney, secretary. It was also voted to have regular meetings of the Muleshoe Area Hospital District every third Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m. at the City Hall Council Chambers.

Board members emphasized that each and every board meeting will be an open meeting, and the public is and will always be welcomed and urged to hospitals closing their doors or operating in debt, U.S. Representative Larry Combest (R-Texas) is urging a House Appropriations subcommittee to fund sweeping reforms to revive America's rural health care system.

In a letter to the House Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, Combest stressed the need to designate funds for several rural health programs which currently lack sufficient appropriations. Combest, a member of the Congressional Rural Health Care Coalition, said legislation presented to the subcommittee is vital to the survival of small, rural hospitals.

"For many communities in Texas, as in other states with large rural areas, these small hospitals are too often the deciding factor in life-or-death situations," Combest said. "If a seriously injured accident victim has to be transported 40 miles to the nearest urban hospital because a local facility was not available, the chances of survival lessen with every mile traveled.

In his letter, Combest highlighted two bills which are being considered by the subcommittee. Combest writes in the letter that he is stressing the urgency of these bills because "We believe they offer the greatest opportunity to protect and strengthen the rural regions of our country."

"During the past two years, more than half of all Hospital closures have involved rural hospitals, and more than two thirds of the remaining hospitals in rural areas are operating in the red," Combest stated in his letter, sent to the subcommittee today. "To help reverse these shocking trends, the coalition supports H.R. 1583, the Rural Hospital Recovery Act of 1989."

The legislation, which Combest is cosponsoring, would eliminate the disparity between ral and urban Medicare reimbursement rates. In nearly all cases, urban hospitals receive more in reimbursement for identical medical procedures than do rural hospitals.

Additionally, H.R. 1583 would increase funding for Rural Health Care Transition Grants from $15 million to $25 million and extend the program to cover the next three years. The grant program assists smaller hospitals in adapting to new trends in medical care and technology in order to offer more advanced treatment to rural residents.

"Passage of this bill would correct the inequitable Medicare reimbursement differences be-Texas A&M veterinarian helps find solutions to pet behavior problems

"Some people just try and live with it, and eventually they get to the point that they're so frustrated they're going to do something with that animal," said Beaver, a veterinarian and animal behaviorist at the Texas Veterinary Medical Center at Texas A&M University.

Treatment of pet behavior disorders can range from identifying and changing factors in pets' environments that bring on odd behavior to medical treatment for physical ailments that cause unacceptable behavior, said Beaver, whose practice includes helping hundreds of pet owners each year solve the puzzle of their animals' sometimes seemingly unexplainable behavior.

Combest says Congress will be considering needed legislation to attract medical professionals to rural hospitals, as well as other bills addressing problems with the nation's rural health system. He said that although he will continue supporting additional reforms and measures to upgrade rural hospitals and facilities, these particular bills are crucial for the survival of rural health care in America. Exchange Student Visits Turkey

The following article was writen by Shani Cate, daughter of Rodney and Pat Cate of Washington, formerly of Sudan. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Cate of Sudan and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weaver of Littlefiled.

Shani is an exchange student in Turkey in the American Field Service program.

How can ten months of living in a country half way around the world change someone's outlook on their own life, their own country, and the world around them? Easily! But the real question is How Can I go on to explain an experience that has done all of this plus left a tremendous mark on what is to be the rest of my life.

As obvious as it is to everyone that taking someone out of a familiar culture and putting them into a new one with completely different traditions; ways of life, and ways of thinking, is going to have some deep rooted effects on that person, no one really knows just how deep-rooted and drastic those changes are until they have experienced it themselves. No longer will I shun the ways of others, and believe the way I so things is right, but the way others do them is wrong. No longer will I not appreciate having the privilege of meeting a foreigner and learning about his or her culture and way of life, knowing that they are going all the same things I went through while I was abroud. And no longer will I be surprised at anything. If I have learned anything, it is that everything is possible in this world.

My experience in Turkey has proven to be many things, a great learning experience (not only learning about Turkey, its culture and its language but about myself). A year to make wonderful friends and to interact with those whom I would say are the friendliest people in the world, a time to represent America and to let Turks see what America really is, a year of relaxation and a time to reassess my goals and make decissions about my future, and an experience to bring us one step closer to world peace and friendship.

In the seven months I have been in Turkey, I have been lucky enough to witness the small, but still important differences between Americans and Turks (things such as eating habits, differences in personal hygine and their whole etiquette) to the more important differences such as the presence of the more traditional sex roles, the religion (Turkey is ninety-nine percent Muslin), family life, etc and thirdly, I have been able to witness Turkey's continious struggle in trying to become recognized by the rest of the world as a Westernized country that could be an asset to have as

My experience has not been extremely smooth and easy going. It has been hard at times, but I am living with a wonderful Turkish family, and that has made all the difference between having a bad experience and a good one. If I could explain seven months in Turkey, I would surely do it, so everyone could know what a great place it is and what a wonderful I have had but that would be impossible-there is a lack of words and time for that. Everyday is filled with new experiences and changes. No, no one will ever know what I have gone through, what I have felt or just how much I love the country and friends that I will be leaving behind when I board my flight home in June. And that is too bad, because it has been an experience of a lifetime that I will never forget nor regret. And it will be a part of me for the rest of

"Algy hugged me at the ball game.

"He got excited." "That's all very well," sniffed the other girl. "But I don't hafta go to a ball game to get a hug."

Essence Of Europe Travelers Meet

On April 29, just fourty-five days before "The Essence of Europe" trips commences, the travelers met in the home of Doug Chitwood to make further plans.

How to combat jet lag and how to not get sick on the trip were discussed. General guidelines for tipping and local courtesies were also discussed.

Celebrating!

A young stenographer, unmarried, caused a number of raised eyebrows at the office one day when she began passing out cigars and candy tied with little blue ribbons.

"Say, what's the occasion?" one of her fellow workers finally asked.

"It's a boy," the steno announced proudly, displaying a small diamond on her left hand. "Six feet tall, weighs 178 pounds."

Michangelo was shown. Many of his statues will be viewed while in Italy. After the film, the travelers presented information about the highlights of the stay in Italy. Monica Swint told everyone about St. Peter's Basicilica. A.J. Liles described the Colosseum and Assissi was the topic by Michelle Finney.

Burnley Riley then spotlighted St. Mark's Square in Venice. Tivoli, just outside of Rome, will be an extra tour in which the group will participate. Kelly Conklin gave this report. Doug Chitwood's report on the Pantheon was the last to be given. Sandi Chitwood served bread sticks, cheeses, and snacks from Italy and sherbet to Michelle Finney, Burnley Riley, Monica Swint, Kelly Conklin, A.J. Liles, Becky Conklin, Johanna Wrinkle and Doug Chitwood.

The last meeting will be the end of May and last minute plans will be discussed.

Grandmothers Shower Honors Mrs Vinson

ing Mrs. Linda Vinson was held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 2 in the home of Paula Winkler.

Mrs. Vinson is the grandmother of Brandon Ray Vinson. son of Ray and Debbie Vinson. Guests were greeted by the honoree, Linda Vinson; Paula Winkler, Vickie Garner and Sandy Pena, and registered by Jean Whalin.

Carlene Stroud and Sandy Pena served a vegetable platter, ranch dip, cheese and crackers and coffee cake.

The serving table was accented with a spring floral bouquet, with nursery teddy bear and matching acessories. The honoree's corsage consisted of baby booties in assorted colors and yellow ribbons.

Special guest was a great great aunt, Lula Vinson.

The hostesses gift was a money tree. Hostesses for the occasion included: Paula Winkler, Vickie Garner, Sandy Pean, Carlene Stroud, Jean Whalin, Marr. One election will be conducted within the boundaries of the proposed district in Bailey County; and a separate election held in the area in Parmer County which is proposed to be included in the Hospital District.

He said each election stands alone, and cannot be added together. A simple majority will either pass or fail the district in either county.

Finney said everyone needed to understand that less than 45 days will pass before the election, and said he did not believe it was the new board's duty to run a campaign. It is the responsibility of concerned citizens and businesses to conduct a campaign.

He said the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture is putting together a nucleus committee of eight people who will be responsible for conducting the pre-vote campaign. He also said there is not a shortage of people, enthusiastic and interested people willing to work on the campaign to assure that our hospital and nursing home will be able to stay open.

The board is optimistically hoping for a 90 percent vote in the affected areas, but there is a very short period of time to get everything together.

According to Jennings, "This board's responsibility is to start working now, looking for solutions. So, immediately after the election, we will be ready to work on the problems we're facing."

Of immediate concern, are the unpaid bills at the hospital, and

Kiwanis Program Puts Emphasis

On Skin Cancer By: R. A. Bradley

Twenty-three people greeted this beautiful morning at the Old Corral after the sandstorm last (Thursday) evening. Present were 16 regular members, two new members, three honorary members, and two guests.

Honorary members were Lacy Morris, Chad Johnson and Jon Keith Turner. Two new members installed were Mickey Merriott and Eddie Morris.

These gentlemen were installed by Team Captain Glen Morris on Team #3. We are very proud to have these gentlemen join our team. Welcome to the Club.

Guests were Robby Clapp, son of Don Clapp and Herman Morrison. We welcome these guests and invite them back.

President Keith Turner called the meeting to order and Glen Morris led the club in the pledge to the flag. The invocation was given by R. A. Bradley. J. O. Parker gave the friendship coin to Hugh Young. J. O. is trying to keep the friendship coin in Team #2 and trying to 'butter up' the team Captain, Hugh Young, so he could get Hugh back next week. Good try, J. O.

Sweetheart Justine Hanes was not present this morning. Justine we know you are very busy this time of the year with the end of school and HERO contest. We congratulate you on your contest in Houston. You may be sixth in state in HERO, but you are #1 with us. See you next Friday.

Our program this morning was about skin cancer. The most common kind of cancer, it is curable if detected early and treated. Exposing your skin to the sun is the greatest cause of skin cancer. Protect yourself from the sun and examine your skin regularly.

Also, Finney said people will have to decide what level of service they want at West Plains Medical Center. Do they want a 'First Aid Station' or a place where they can do 'Brain Surgery?' The higher level of services desired will drive the tax rate higher.

But, Marr reminded that "People will NOT be voting for a 25 cent tax rate. They are voting for a MAXIMUM rate of 25 cents. There's nothing, at this point, that says the tax rate will be as high as 25 cents."

Attending the meeting were all five Muleshoe Area Hospital District Board members; District Judge Jack Young; Dave Marr; Gordon H. Green; Harvey Bass; John Chisholm; Bob Donaldson; Howard Watson, Judy Watson and Cleta Williams.

20 Teachers Trained For TES.

Fire Department

News by: Alton Parker

On Wednesday, May 3, members of the Muleshoe Fire Department met to discuss some unfinished business from the week before.

After the meeting began and minutes were read, the subject of repairing the two and a half ton truck for use as an extra water truck was discussed, as well as the pending repair of one of the small, quick-response trucks.

Wednesday, the firemen voted and approved the repair of both vehicles, with members of the department doing the work on their own time.

Chief Jack Dunham said that the Panhandle Fireman and Fire Marshall Association Convention will be this month, and the state convention is next month.

Cleta Williams Editor Muleshoe Journal 304 W. Second Muleshoe, TX 79347

Dear Ms. Williams:

I wanted to write you and extend my thanks for covering the seminar for the media. We certainly enjoyed holding the seminar and providing to the business people of your area some of the many ways that can be implemented to make their businesses grow.

I also wanted to thank you for bringing to my attention the value of the newspaper as a form of media advertising. I know that I will never forget our conversation nor ever leave out the newspaper in my presentation.

It is apparent after talking with you that you are very proud of your community. You have every reason to be proud and I applaud it. As a small community resident myself I take great pride in who we are and what we do.

We look forward to the next time we can come to Muleshoe and enjoy the tremendous hospitality. Thanks again for your help and your input.

Janes Ranch House Report

By: R. A. Bradley

Eleven people came out to help on the Old Janes Ranch House Tuesday night.

As usual, much work was done -- sanding, scraping paint, patching walls, filling of cracks and cleaning of beams and stripping off paint was done.

This is all necessary, getting the old house ready for painting.

Your help is needed very badly. If anybody would, please come out and help us get it ready so we can paint.

Those who worked on Tuesday night were Cara Juan Schuster. A. T. Henderson, Norman Head. Maureen and Robert Hooten. Vivian and T. R. White, Janie and Frank Saldana and Marie and R. A. Bradley.

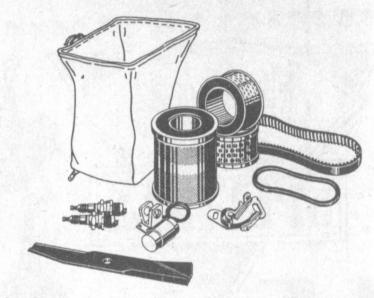

In the past, we have had special groups to come, so here is a plea for them to come again. Here is a special plea to the Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, SCAC students, volunteer fire depart. ment, Jennyslippers and each and every one in this community.

We will appreciate your help very much. Please use this as a special invitation. See you next Tuesday night, 7 p.m., at Janes Ranch House.

First County Agent Hired To Work In Smith County

In Texas, agriculture production has come a long way since 1906, when the first county agent was hired in Smith County. He was headquartered at Tyler.

Agents throughout Texas are now preparing educational programs for the remainder of '89 and the decade of the 1990s.

The first agent was W.C. Stallings, who was employed by far-sighted leaders enthused over the success of special farm demonstration work on the Walter C. Porter farm near Terrell. Demonstrations were conducted in cotton and other crops, and also emphasized new farm practices.

This demonstration work at the Porter farm had started only three years earlier.

Congress passed the Smith-Lever Act in 1914, paving the way for a Cooperative Extension Service in each state of the nation. The Extension Service was charged with the mission of disseminating research findings from land-grant colleges and State Agricultural Experiment Stations to the people.

Through the years, the Extension Service has earned a reputation of dealing with critical issues and major concerns of the people, and in being at the forefront during times of emergencies.

A big challenge for the Extension Service in Texas came during World War I, when county agents were called upon to help with an all-out agricultural production effort to feed and clothe needy people throughout the world.

During the "Great Depression" of the 1930s, agents worked with farm and rural people to help them produce and conserve most of their family food needs.

Extension, through its network of county agents, has been deeply involved in assisting with many other national emergency programs, such as those resulting from hurricanes, droughts and floods, animal health concerns and problems, such as the outbreak of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) in 1971.

Interest in food preservation and home gardening has brought thousands of new urban and suburban residents to local County Extension offices seeking information.

Many new agricultural, maricultural and biotech frontiers have emerged in recent years. Extension county marine agents now serve in a number of Texas coastal counties and assist commercial fishermen and shrimpers. Integrated pest management programs are moving ahead in many new areas. Livestock programs are designed to improve overall reproductive efficiency and increase the calf crop percentage. Improved crop varieties, which require less water and time to mature, are among other newer trusts. Agriculture today represents a whole new--but sophisticated--

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service will observe the Diamond Anniversary of Extension work, beginning May 8. The observance marks enactment of the Smith-Lever Act. Many special activities of a historic nature are planned in the state by Extension Program Councils and other groups to call attention to some of the highlights of the past 75 years and to recognize leaders and other key individuals who have helped make the program successful, said Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter, Extension Service director.

Nationally and at the state level, observances of Extension's 75th Anniversary will be kicked off in early May and will continue for many months as they are keyed to special local programs and activities.

NOTES. COMMENT

You can get into lots of trouble sometimes by repeating what your heard someone say.

It never occurs to some that others have sense enough to manage their own affairs.

There may be nothing new under the sun but the present generation is seeing it for the first time.

The human race, in the struggle for improvement, is handicapped by two classes of citizens: those who take everything lightly and those who take everything too seriously.

Clean Water Still Concern For Texans

For the second time in as many years, government and private groups concerned with the quality of drinking water will join in a nationwide observance of National Drinking Water Week, May 1-7. This year's theme is "Drinking Water: On Tap For The Future."

In Texas, Gov. William P. Clements, Jr. has proclaimed the week "Water Utilities Awareness Week." In his proclamation, he cited the importance of water as our most precious natural resource and praised the people responsible for water and wastewater treatment in the

A coalition of industry groups, government agencies, and citizen organizations throughout Texas and the U.S. have launched a public information campaign to underscore the need for protecting drinking water both now and in the future. Later this year the groups also will publicize tighter water quality regulations resulting from the Safe Drinking Water Act Amendments of 1986. Effective this year, changes to that act will tighten regulation of chemical impurities, such as lead, in drinking water.

The Texas Department of Health (TDH) Division of Water Hygiene is responsible for enforcing the Safe Drinking Water Act in this state. Among the division's tasks are:

• Inspecting all 7,250 public water systems.

• Protecting the safety and quality of drinking water. Inspectors submitted more than 7,483 water samples for chemical testing at the TDH laboratories last year, and took 2,722 legal actions against violators.

• Ensuring proper construction, operation, and maintenance of public drinking water systems.

• Certifying more than 10,100 water works operators statewide.

Reviewing engineering plans for both new and existing water treatment systems, completing 747 reviews last year alone.

• Maintaining chemical and bacteriological sample records from all public water systems, totaling some 340,744 such records by the end of 1988.

• Providing technical assistance (53,877 times in 1988) to owners and operators of both public and private water supply systems.

WPMC Reception Honors Nurses On Special Day

Think of a very dedicated group of people in our community -- and the services they provide -- and you naturally have to think of our nurses.

Nurses at West Plains Medical Center; nurses at the Muleshoe Nursing Home; nurses in the Texas Department of Health; and nurses in the doctor's offices.

On Thursday, they were singled out for special recognition during "Nurse's Week."

An open house honored local nurses in the 'yellow dining room' at the Muleshoe Nursing Home. All the local nurses were invited to stop by for snacks during the day from a table that graphically depicted some of their duties.

Kay Swint, director of nurses at West Plains Medical Center, listed all her nurses and aides and they are as follows:

Registered Nurses (RN) included Rebecca Smallwood, Marita Smith, Richelle Watkins, June Green, Eula Ratliff and Margaret Jenkins.

Licensed Vocational Nurses (LVN) are Lucille Harp, Lorena Stigaullde, Susan Salazar, Linda Tucker, Jacqui Baker, Yvonne Moss, Pat Dodson, Margaret Kimbrough, Margaret Epting and Debbie Proudfoot.

Nurses Aides are Mary Garza, Juanita Marines and Delfina Martinez and Dorothy Spencer is Ward Clerk.

Sherris Nelson is the RN and director of nurses at the Muleshoe Nursing Home. Her LVN's are Nelda Crawford, Janell Verner, Elsie Williams and Maria Bond.

Med aides are Beulah Shelby, Nancy Patterson, Celia Lopez, Hilma Rojas, Margaret Gingery and Opal Moton.

Nurses aides at the nursing home are Janice Bennett, Maria Flores, Maria Orosco, Dorothy Smith, Dorena Woodruff, Tina Galvan, Mary Jo Bond, Vangie Leal, Buhie Palmer, Maria Toscano, Delores Orozco, Bobbi McCray, Darlene Prather, Emalena Elizarraraz and Janie Lopez.

Charles Rodney from OreGideo News wrote the following tribute to nurses:

MORE THAN A NURSE She seemed more than a nurse as she entered the door;

The sweet smile on her face I'd ne'er seen before. I was longing for something-I didn't know what As I lay there stretched out on my hospital cot.

She started to talk as nice as could be,

And then I was sure God had sent her to me. I was weak, and I could not read

Progress Baptist Revival Slated Thru Wednesday

Progress Baptist Church has planned revival services that get underway with the Sunday morning service, and continue through May 10.

The evangelist will be Rev. Ken Horn, pastor of First Baptist Church, Plains. Rev. Horn is a graduate of Littlefield High School and Wayland Baptist University. He has pastored various churches in West Texas since 1974.

He is a member of the American Association of Christian and Family Counselors and is said to have great insight on the needs of today's family.

Bill and Terri Coleman of Littlefield will be the music evangelists. They have been involved in music evangelism since 1982. Many of their songs are written by Bill Coleman and scored by both.

The Pastor at Progress Baptist, Charles Fisk, said, "Please do not miss the opportunity to receive a blessing through their music.

"The congregation and I invite everyone to join us in these special services and let God touch your life. "Services will be Sunday at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m. on Monday through Wednesday nights. Please join us in all the services this week you can attend."

Three-Way School Sets Registration

Three Way ISD requests that any family with children that will be four (4) years old by September 1, 1989, inform the district by either coming by the Principal's office or calling 927-5315. The principal said the purpose of this request is to determine the number of prekindergarten age children for the 1989-90 school year.

To be eligible for pre-kindergarten, children must be four years old by September 1, 1989 and must be either eligible for limited English proficient or qualify for free lunches. If fifteen or more children are identified as pre-kindergarten age, the program will be offered at Three Way during the 1989-90 school

Parents are asked to please inform the Three Way ISD by May 12, 1989.

. Three Way School will also have pre-registration for all kindergarten age students on May 16, 1989. Registration will begin at 10 a.m. in the kindergarten room at the school. Students must be five (5) years old by September 1, 1989 to be eligible for kindergarten.

Although Splawn has one Holland windmill in her collection, her interests center around western windmills which have a wooden stand and stock tank.

In 1925, Splawn came to Muleshoe with her family in a covered wagon from Turkey, Texas. She said they lived in tents until they could build a

Welcome To Muleshoe

WELCOME TO MULESHOE--A "Big, Hearty Welcome To Muleshoe" is extended to the Paul Coker family, who have moved to Muleshoe where he is manager of Mission Cable. He was formerly associated with Lincoln Cablevision in Ruidoso, N.M. Prior to that time, he was with CATV-TV in Dimmitt for eight and a half years. He started his cable career in Friona in 1962. He became regional manager of Mission Cable TV Service in September, 1988. Pictured from left are Margaret Coker, daughter Staci, 16; and Paul Coker. Staci is a sophomore at MHS. They are also the parents of Mike, Sheila and Mark, and have three grandchildren. The Cokers are members of the First Baptist Church. They enjoy outdoor sports, needlepoint, crochet, fishing and building radio-controlled model airplanes.

Conservation Tillage Helps. Control Erosion

By: Rodney Duus, S.C.

Conservation tillage is any tillage and planting system which maintains crop residue on the soil surface to prevent erosion. Soil erosion can be caused by either wind or water.

The benefits of conservation tillage are: (1) improved soil and water conservation, (2) reduce costly inputs while maintaining or improving yields and profits.

Topsoil that is lost through wind and water erosion is a resource that can never be replaced. The primary cause of soil erosion is poor tillage practices that leave the soil surface bare and exposed to the eroding forces of wind and water.

Conservation tillage will help a farmer save money in three areas: energy, time/labor, and machinery costs. Tractor fuel is the largest single use of energy in agriculture. Conservation tillage conserves fuel by reducing the number of trips a producer makes across a field.

Eliminating tillage obviously means eliminating the time that would be required for each tillage operation. Conservation tillage will reduce the need for various tillage implements. In a reduced tillage operation the farmer could eliminate his moldboard and disk since residues need to be left on the soil surface.

Conservation tillage conserves moisture because: (1) evaporation is less since soil is not turned over and exposed to the sun rays, (2) reduced till soils will hold more moisture after a period of time because of the increased organic matter, and (3) crop residue traps water during a rain giving it more time to soak in. In winter residue will trap snowfall and prevent it from drifting from the field. Reducing tillage helps reduce soil compaction. Soil compaction is a problem that is created by man and heavy equipment. In compacted soils roots are restricted in their ability to grow both horizontally as well as vertically. As a result of compaction plants are stunted and never reach their full yield potential.

Mulch covered soils are firmer and support traffic better than tilled soil. This will allow the producer the opportunity for a more timely harvest during rainy periods. Ruts may be formed that will need to be smoothed out Double cropping is yet another benefit of conservation tillage.

The major obstacles to successful double cropping are time and moisture. The second crop must be planted as early as possible in order to give it time to mature before frost, while also having sufficient moisture to germinate and grow. Conservation tillage can make double cropping easier and more practical by eliminating some tillage

If you have any questions about conservation tillage, come by the Soil Conservation Service Office, 105 E. Ave. D. Muleshoe, TX. Telephone 272-5124.

WJHS Students Attend Retreat Near Floydada

By: Sue Espinoza

On Friday, April 28, six eighth grade students from Watson Junior High, and their two sponsors, attended the first Life Management Skills Retreat to be conducted on the South Plains (or in the Panhandle). They spent the weekend at the Plains Baptist Assembly grounds, near Floydada, with 26 other students and many other sponsors and counse-

Those attending from Muleshoe were Joe Alonzo, Angie Rincon, Herman Luna, Jolene Benevidez, Virginia Lira, Eric Cisneros and sponsors, Janie Balderas and Sue Espinoza.

Sponsored by the Migrant Programs Division of Education Service Center 17, in Lubbock, the weekend was designed to help migrant students take a more active role in school and more responsibility for their own education. Students from Muleshoe, Floydada, Ralls and Lockney participated and shared their thoughts, feelings and exper-

The leaders were Urbano Rios, a consultant from Midland area Education Center, and Robert Alfaro, a principal from Fort Stockton, along with Lubbock Education Service Center personnel, Bruce Roark, Tony Saldana and Marilyn Vieregge. Danny Ramon, a representative of Learn Talent Search in Lubbock, also helped lead activities.

He met with the Muleshoe group to discuss plans for future education and training, inviting the students to visit him and discuss their plans and let him help them find the way to get

The students tell about their experiences: "We learned it's important and fun getting to know other people and becoming the best we can be. We have to set our goals and then "go for.

There were different activities and games, and we acted out different things. We learned to communicate with many different kinds of people. Best of all, we met a lot of people who are now our friends.'

Post Office Week Focus 'Improvement'

The U.S. Postal Service has designated May 15-19 as "Mailbox Improvement Week."

"Each year a week in May is set aside to remind customers on rural, city motorized and contract delivery routes to examine and improve, where necessary, the appearance of their mailboxes," says Muleshoe Postmaster Abel Arguello.

"The purpose is to call attention to the need to provide mail receptacles that are conveniently located, safe to use, neat in appearance and designed to protect the mail from the weather," Abel Arguello contin-

There is no question that neat, attractive mailboxes improve the appearance of country roads and suburban streets. The Postal Service points out, however, that Mailbox Improvement Week means more than eye appeal. "Say that old dented box has sharp cutting edges or that the receptacle is too small, too hard to reach or made inaccessible by obstructions -- in such cases, the mail may be stamped undeliverable and the customer would have to come to the post office to pick it up. We need the cooperation of our customers to maintain service at its highest level," says Arguello.

Postal regulations require that rural and contract route carriers must have access to mailboxes without having to leave their vehicles. Such boxes must be located on the right-hand side of the road in the carrier's direction of travel where traffic conditions would endanger a carrier driving to the left to reach the boxes. The boxes also must be placed to conform with state laws and highway regulations.

Customers are requested to remove obstructions -- including vehicles, trashcans and snow -that make delivery difficult.

For both suburban curbline and rural roadside boxes, the Postal Service requests a height of 31/2 to four feet from the level. The address should be clearly printed on the receptacle to assure more efficient delivery.

Thre are approved traditional and contemporary mailbox designs. A customer-designed rural box needs the prior approval of the postmaster before it can be

One last safety caution from the Postal Service: Some mailbox supports are so massive (heavy metal posts, concrete, farm equipment filled with concrete), they are damaging vehicles and causing serious injuries to people who accidently strike them. The Federal Highway Administration has suggested mailbox mounting and support designs that post bottom of the box to ground offices will share with their customers.

If you have any questions concerning mailboxes, please contact your local post office for more information.

Nursing Home News

By: Joy Stancell

Rev. Mike Doyle of Muleshoe and Leo and Francis Garcia of El Paso conducted a special service for the residents in the day room Saturday, April 22.

Mildred Nieman and Julia Hawkins are in West Plains Medical Center at this time. Also Marlene Harper. Vera Gunstream and Edna Wiloughby are in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Please remember these in your prayers.

Friday, May 12th at 3 p.m. will be our Mother's Day Party. We invite you to come and help us honor our mothers and help make this a very special occasion.

Happy birthday L.H. Lewis. He was born May 25, 1900.

Darlene Bratcher our beloved nurse, had a birthday May 1.

Friday afternoon Lona Embry, and Mr. and Mrs. John Braten, Bethany and Benjamin from the Assembly of God Church came to visit and host a devotional. We enjoyed special songs and music by John and Becky. Bethany and Benjamin also treated us by singing for us. We enjoyed refreshments of cups of pudding and assorted cookies.

Glenda Jennings came Wednesday afternoon for a Sing-A-Long. Special guests were Lena Hawkins, Ollie Sebring, Holly Milsap and Irene Splawn.

Patsy Franklin had lunch with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gradean Franklin, Wednesday in their home.

Guy Kendall was visited by Mr. Faver Tuesday afternoon. He also visited Ernest Kerr.

Martha Smaltz was visited by her sister, Francis Billingsley of Texico, N.M., and sister-in-law, Gladys Hardage of Farwell, TX.

The nurses of the nursing home and hospital were honored Thursday with a reception in the yellow dining room in lieu of National Nurses Day. We appreciate our nurses and the fine job they do. Our thanks to all who helped by bringing refreshments.

The Fifty and Alive ladies made bibs for us. They are very nice and useful as well. Thank you ladies.

Harry Waddle Funeral Services Set Monday

Funeral services for Harry Waddle, 68, will be conducted at 11 a.m. Monday, at Immaculate Conception Catholic Church with Fr. Pat Maher, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in Bailey County Memorial Park under direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Rosary will be at 7 p.m. today (Sunday) at Ellis Funeral Home Chapel of the Chimes.

Waddle died at 12:10 a.m. Friday at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock following a lengthy illness.

He was born November 20, 1920 and moved to Muleshoe in 1950 from Levelland. He formerly owned and operated Western Drug, retiring in January, 1986.

He was married to Wilma Proctor on January 21, 1947 at Okmulgee, OK. She preceded him in death on June 2, 1988.

He was a member of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Muleshoe. A veteran of World War II, he served in the U. S. Navy. He was a member of the Elks Lodge and VFW, both of Clovis, N.M.

His survivors include one sister, Mrs. Frances Hughes, Orlando, Fla. and five nieces and nephews.

Lunch will be served for the family at 12:30 p.m. Monday at Immaculate Conception Catholic Church.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests that memorial contributions be made to West Plains Medical Center.

Churches And Crop-Dusting

It's not only the staples we grow that will determine our nation's future and that of the world. The youth we raise are our most vital resource. They must be protected from the blights that often threaten society.

Using the truths committed to them by God, the churches of our land have been helping young pe generation. Their efforts may not seem as dramatic as crop-dusting, but their results are even more important to your tomorrow and the world's.

Your family belongs in the church of its choice. Your children will find new incentives and encouragements at church. Your church will be better able to serve the Lord and the community with your earnest support.

Goodbye Abbie

One sometimes wonders whether we live today in the real world. One of these moments came when the media went into a tirade of effusive praise for the late ? Abbie Hoffman.

Hoffman was an agita- Q tor, sentenced for drug offenses, arrested 42 times, hid out from the law three years and then, when he surrendered, parlayed this into hero stuff!

He was against the system-the democratic system of the United States of America-and believed in violating the law to make his arguments. If everyone in a democracy behaved that irresponsibly, general chaos would result.

There have been many great Americans in the past who changed and improved the country and its system of government without violating the law and debasing the country's image.

Definition of Legal Publication

Art. 28A. Legal Publication, Definitions. "The following terms shall, unless the context indicates otherwise, have the following respective meanings:

"(1) The term 'publication' shall mean any proclamation, notice, citation, advertisement, or other matter required or authorized by law to be printed in a newspaper or newspapers by any institution, board, commission, department, officer, agent, representative, or employee of the state or of any subdivision or department of the state, or of any county, political subdivision, or district of whatever nature within the state, whether to be paid for out of public funds or charged as costs

"(2) The term 'newspaper' shall mean any newspaper devoting not less than twentyfive per cent (25%) of its total column lineage to the carrying of items of general interest, published not less frequently than once each week, entered as second-class postal matter in the county where published, and having been published regularly and continuously for not less than twelve (12) months prior to the making of any publication mentioned in this Act, except that any weekly newspaper shall be allowed to omit two (2) publication issues in twelve (12) months and still retain its status as a newspaper eligible to make any publication mentioned in this

"(3) The term 'political subdivision' shall include cities, towns, and villages, but this definition shall not be exclusive. "(4) The term 'district' shall include school districts of every kind, road districts, drainage districts, irrigation districts, levee improvement districts, conservation and reclamation districts, and improvement districts of every kind, but this definition shall not .

"(5) The term 'shall' whenever used in this Act shall be construed as indicating mandatory provisions in this Act. "(6) The officer, employee, agency, or persons charged with the duty of inserting any publication in a newspaper or newspapers shall select the newspaper or newspapers in which such publication is to be inserted."

Effective August 23, 1963
