Pride In Santa Anna

It's Catching IIII

Santa Anna Firemen work to put out the burning trucks at the wreck site Wednesday afternoon. Although they would rather not have had to use it for an incident such as this, they were able to find out that their new equipment could handle that type of fire in record time.

Two Killed in Crash

Two persons were killed and one trapped in the vehicle and burned injured Wednesday, August 3, in a two-vehicle head-on accident on south of Santa Anna.

to move their August 8 meeting into the main courtroom for the opening of bids on an ambulance service contract. Twenty-five visitors were present, about half that number being Santa Anna residents.

A petition bearing 300 signatures was presented. The signers were identified as being from the southeastern part of the county and most being from Santa Anna. The present Coleman based service was said to be too slow or not available. Also, that since service is available from two providers in Santa Anna who are unsubsidized, it makes no sense to pay taxes to subsidize an out of town provider. Petitioners ask for the new contract (to be effective the end of September) to provide for basing anibulances at both Santa Anna and Coleman.

Two bids were opened. Bids had been requested for both a 1 year and a 3 year term with the base of operation not being specified.

Jimmy Eisenhower of Santa Anna submitted bids for both terms and with ambulances based in Santa

FH Owners Offer Comments

The Santa Anna News has spoken with representatives of both funeral homes which have ambulances in Santa Anna.

Jimmy Eisenhower of Santa Anna Funeral home expressed gratitude to all the people who provided help and support in trying to obtain subsidized ambulance

The County Commissioners had Anna and Coleman. If awarded the contract, he stated he would form a new corporation named Santa Anna Funeral Home Emergency Service. His bid for a one year contract was for a county subsidy of $9,350.00 a month. For a 3 year contract his bid was $7,950.00 a month. Ed Freeman of Coleman County Emergency Service submitted bids on both the one year and 3 year contract options but with ambulances based at Coleman. Freeman has the current contract with the county. His bids were: 1 year, a county subsidy of $5,000.00 a month; 3 year, $4,995.00 a month.

County Judge, W. W. "Pete" Skelton then opened the meeting for discussion. For several minutes there was none. Skelton explained that Precinct 2 Commissioner Jake McCreary was absent because of some heart problems he is having. In response to a question, Freeman said that his response time for a Santa Anna call was "8 or 9 minutes". Eisenhower said it is not fair for "my tax dollars to go to Coleman for ambulance service when the same service is available

Donnie Henderson of Henderson's Funeral Home pointed out that they have been providing ambulance service in Santa Anna for the past 16 years and planned to continue to do so in the foreseeable future. H added that their ambulances and drivers are certified by the State tor. Department of Health and are on call 24 hours a day in Santa Anna....You subsidize my competitor. Is that fair?"

Once started, the discussion moved freely until about 11:30 when all seemed to have had their say. Skelton then moved the meeting back into the Commissioners meeting room where the discussion continued. At 12:10 the motion was made to make the award for a 3 year period and to contract with Coleman County Emergency Service. The motion passed unanimously.

That done, the commissioners moved to recess the meeting until after lunch.

After the noon recess the commissioners approved county membership in the Economic Development District being organized by the West Texas Council of Governments as part of a nationwide program under auspices and partial funding by the U.S. Department of Commerce.

The tax rates for the county for the next year were set at the amounts estimated to yield the same revenues as for the current year. The new rates are: General Fund, 26.27c; Road and Bridge Fund, 14.13c.

Commissioners then discussed details of a proposed budget. Shirley Sansing, County Auditor, will draft a proposed budget for the county which will be reviewed by the commissioners at their next meeting. The public hearing on the commission approved budget will be Sept. 12 at 10:00 a.m.

Invoices were approved for payment as read by the County Audi-

The accident occurred about 5:15 p.m. Wednesday when a 1981 Toyota pickup in the southbound lane failed to negotiate a curve and crossed the center line to the northbound lane. The pickup collided with a 1986 International truck tractor and semi-trailer owned by Builders Transport in Rotan.

According to investigating officer Highway Patrolman Pat Salas, the pickup exploded on impact. The trucks collided in the north-bound lane, the force of the collision took them across the south-bound lane and they came to rest in the west bar ditch. Both occupants of the pickup were Odessa, driver of the truck tractor. He received minor cuts and bruises. The two deceased persons were pronounced dead at the scene by Judge Emery O. Rider of Coleman. A charred wallet was found in the driver's seat of the pickup. A driver's license in the wallet indicated that the driver was Brett Allan Banks, 24, of Abilenc. Bodies of the two were taken to a forensic center in Dallas for autopsy and positive identification. The other occupant of the pickup was indetified as Jared Bronson Shick, age 17, of Abilene.

Who Was Jabez?

In I Chron, 4:9-10 there is a most interesting character. No where else in

He was named JABEZ because he was born in great pain and Jabez sounds like the Hebrew word for pain. We also know that he was more honorable than his brothers and that he believed in praying to God. With great intensity he prayed fervently that God would grant him four things; he prayed that God would bless him indeed, that God would be with him, keep him from evil and enlarge his borders. It sounds like a selfish praver but was it?

We know from the last of the verse that it was not a self-centered prayer because we read that God granted his request. God does not answer selfish

What lesson, if any, is here for us today? first we see he had a desire to be kept from evil. Most Christians, both clergy and lay people would do well to desire the same and pray fervently to that end. Jabez was more honorable than his brothers but we are not told how or why. Perhaps because of his desire to be kept from evil, he was so honorable. We could ask ourselves, in all sincerity and all honesty, "Am I more honorable than my relatives and if not, why not?" This is not to :ompare ourselves with others and surely not to judge others. The scriptures forbids both. God has called all Christians to be conformed to the image of Christ. If we are not as far along in this conforming process as some of our relatives we should ask selves if we really want God with us, all the time. Would you have wanted

God with you last Friday night of Saturday night? Today, there is no need for a Christian to pray that God would be with him. Jesus has already promised that He would never never, no never forsake or leave us. Rather, enlarge his territory. What does that say to us? I suggest that one thing we could do, after desiring righteousness, being found honorable, kept from evil and acknowledging God's presence, we ask God ton expand our ministry, out outreach, our witness, our responsibilities and our accountability. Have you ever asked God to allow you to reach more and more people with the truth of the glorious saving Gospel of Jesus Christ? Have you fervently asked

God to use you to reach more and more of the eternally lost with your per-

Library Notes

The final summer reading program for this year at the Santa Anna Library was on August 4. Twenty five certificates have been awarded. Members read from 3 to 52 books. Some of these were read-to-me members.

A special treat for the day was a demonstration of the knew fire truck and how it can extinguish fire with foam.

Self Culture Club members Mrs Ethyl Williams, Mrs Mae Blue and Mrs Grace Short provided punch, cookies, candy and gum.

A video tape that was make last year was shown. It gave dramatic proof of changes in the boys and 20 boys and girls had enrolled or participated in the program this year. Visitors were from Fort Worth, Austin and Arkansas.

Nine boys and girls from the 7th and 8th grades were junior leaders. It required about 30 men and women and one high school girl to present the 5 programs.

The theme for this year was exploring. Santa Anna members learned about (1) the early history of Santa Anna,(2) Communication from telegraph to telephone, (3) Things that fly were balloons, kites, airplanes and space vehicles, (4) Past worlds were seen in fossils and mastadon bones,(5) Controlling fire with foam.

Any boy of girl who failed to receive their certificate may pick it up at the library. A list of the books that the member read must be presented in order to receive a certificate.

Any child reading 3 or more books received a certificate. A white ribbon was attached if 6 books were read. A red ribbon was given for reading 10 books and a blue ribbon for 20 or more books. A gold seal was attached to the ribbon if the child read 40 or more books.

The top readers for the summer were James and Brandi Wristen. The were read-to-me members and had over 50 books read to them during the summer reading program. They received certificates and blue ribbons with gold seals.

Certificates with blue ribbons were given to Chanda Simmons, Amanda Lemmon and Rence Privitt, all from the upper elementary group. These girls each read over 20 books. There were no blue ribbon readers in the lower elementary group. A large number sonal testimony of salvation? Have you earnestly desired to reach more and more people of different races, creeds or ethnic origins? Do you really long to reach people in socio-economic levels different to your own? If our hearts are right and our motives pure and we seek only the glory of Jesus Christ, I believe we can and should so pray. Furthermore, if these conditions are met, I believe that God will do for us what He did for Jabez. He will grant that which we request. Around & A The News received a letter from Verner Blair Hamon LaMadrid who lives in San Diego, California. She reports there are several former Coleman County residents living in her area. They have started a 42 club that they call "Texas 42'. They also enjoy reading about old friends and neighbors in The Santa Anna News. She sent us a story about her childhood in Santa Anna, which we will print as space permits. She requested that the story be given to the library to be part of the book that the Summer Reading Program is putting together.

Lea Luschen was in Temple for a medical check-up and from there drove to Fredericksburg for a visit with Mrs Ace Reid Sr. The two ladies drove to Kerrville for a visit with Ace Reid Jr.

Household Products Add to Pollution

Many of the chemicals in household cleaners, solvents, sprays and pesticides are toxic and known to reduce indoor air quality.

An average home may contain dozens of aerosol products, for example, and these products often contain methylkene chloride, which is a recognized animal carcinogen that may present a cancer risk to humans.

The paradichlorobenzene found in moth ball crystals and some air fresheners is also a suspected carcinogen. pollution inside our homes as well. To improve air quality indoors, try to identify, eliminate, exhaust or dilute possible harmful substances. Whenever you work with household chemicals, increase the air mix by opening windows and doors.

Eliminate spray-can aerosols from use in your home or turn on vents when you do use them.

BY VERNER BLAIR HAMON LAMADRID

I arrived in Santa Anna, Texas on July 14, 1916. I've always been grateful to Dr. Tyson for dropping me off at the home of Sam M. and Minnie E. Hamon who lived a couple of miles south of town.

I had two older sisters and two older brothers to help spoil me, tease me and scare the dickens out of me at times.

I was named for Mrs. W.T. Verner and a Mrs Blair and my first name of Verner Blair has often caused unknowns to presume I am a male.

My first memory of the neighbors was of the John Pearce family, the Verners, the Ellie Campbells, the Boyds, the Schulers and the Townsleys.

The Pearce family lived north of us and a barbed wire fence bordered their property. To make it convenient for the neighbors to visit there were some steps built which could be climbed to get on either side. The Pearces also had a rambunctious goat which could make a person scramble to get over the steps before he had a chance to give help with his horns.

My first playmate was Bob Pearce, but my mother was certain the goat was in his pen before I chanced to meet Bob in the pasture, under the live oak trees for a picnic.

The Townsleys had one son about my age. I very well remember giving him a shove when he was afraid to jump off a board we had propped upon a saw horse. I remember he cried, and his toe bled. I ran in the house and hid under the bed. I think I was about four years old and I have always been sorry that my attempt to help Tom make the jump ended in such distress.

The Campbells were great to visit. Calvin and Dutch were good friends to my brothers and their entertain the thought that I might sister Eron was good company for go back there to live some day.

Whittie and Blanche, my sisters. 1 was five years younger than my youngest brother, Samuel. So I usually followed the boys around trying to do all the things they did.

My father had a dairy farm and there were usually calves in the that make a persons hair stand on corral. The boys liked to pretend they were in a rodeo and took turns trying to ride the biggest calves.

One Sunday while they were daring one another to ride one of the biggest calves (it was lying down) i went over and managed to get astraddle it. It hopped up at once and went bucking across the lot and threw me off in a fresh cow pile!

One day a horse kicked my father and he was taken to the Sealy Hospital. Mama went along too, and all the worry made her sick too, so my sisters, Blanche and Whittie took over the job of running the house. Unfortunately I developed a stone bruise at the same time. 1 cried day and night with the pain..but every time they mentioned the Doctor..I had a fit..so they just rocked me and walked the floor with me.

Finally a missionary from India came...Miss Lena Boyd was her name. She too, rocked me and told me to listen to the little bird singing in the tree top.. he was singing "Peter, Peter" ... so after she left I waved my foot around in the

After the Verners moved away the Eubank family moved into their house and for the first time I had girl play mates. Mildred and Pauline were the younger ones of that family and we had many happy times together, before my family moved away to New Mexico.

I have been back to Texas many times to visit relatives and even air..singing "Peter, Peter"..I kept this up until my cousin came from Glen Cove.. He was just out of the army from World War L.and he said, "Oh, don't sing that Song !#$%+" a bunch of swear words end!

Sales Tax Receipts Up

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that payments to cities and counties that collect local sales tax increased again this month.

"The Texas economy is steadily improving," Bullock said. "Cities and counties across the state are still seeing the benefits."

Bullock sent checks totaling $133.5 million to 1043 Texas cities that collect local sales tax at either one or one and one-half percent.

August's checks represent taxes collected by monthly and quarterly filers in June and reported to the Comptrollers Office by July 20.

Santa Anna received a check that was 23.26% larger than the check received this time last year. Total tax payments for the year are up 51.87% over a year ago. Tax payments to the city of Coleman are down from a year ago.

IN THE PINK: In captivity, flamingos are fed carrot oil to keep their feathers pink. Ranger Rick magazine reports that carrot oil contains carotin,m a chemical that gives the flamingo's feathers a pink color. Without this chemical the bird's annual growth of new feathers would be white. In the wild, a flamingo's pink color comes from the carotin in the tiny shrimp-like animals they eat.

The Practi-Care practice management computer system by Lanier, a division of Harris Corporation. is used primarily for patient manage-

Whose parents, T.J.Adkins are deceased. Vonnie with her husband Jack and 15 year old daughter, Rhona, had visited on Thursday with Jim and Faye Gill of Coleman. But Vonnie reports Whon will always be her home and told us if possible she would really love to live here again.

Some may think of Vonnie as a young lady who never had a serious thought but Vonnie had become a wonderful lady. She has a husband and 3 children, 2 daughters still home. A son married and Vonnie has 2 grandmother which is Vonnie grandmother has been deceased for years. It was wonderful to see Vonnie, her husband and daughter. As time goes by we grow old and younger ones grow up. Vonnie and family also visited her father, Mr T.J.Adkins, grave in the Santa Anna Cemetery. CRP Signup Period Ends On Aug. 31

Seattle.

COLLEGE STATION - Texas producers will have more time to consider effects of the drought because of the extension of the current signup period for the Conservation Reserve Program through Aug. 31. The move by the U.S. Department of Agriculture should be a plus for producers who need more time to analyze the drought's impact, according to Dr. B.L. Harris, soil specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The present signup period originally was to have ended on Aug. 5.

According to Harris, cropland which has been hayed in counties approved for drought relief is cligible during this signup for entry into CRP for the 1988 crop year - provided the land meets other program requirements.

returned home after spending 10 days in Seattle Washington attending a workshop on research and educational strategies for children with Down Syndrome, at the Experimental Education Unit, University of Washington. Mary Lea Mitchell spent the weekend with Lloyd Mock and Jennie and Lendsey Curb in Lubbock. She met with Lea and Betty upon their return from enrollment as a cost-effective option to control nonpoint source pollution, Harris said.

If trees are to be planted, the land needs only one-third of its total area designated as "predominantly highly erodible" to be eligible for CRP. Harris said. He encouraged producers to plant additional cover to protect wildlife and serve as windbreaks.

Producers should contact their local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and Soil Conservation Service county offices for specific CRP program details.

COLLEGE STATION - The mythical average American family spent an estimated $353 for clothing and shoes for each child ages 6-11 in 1987, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture figures.

Yet, depending on where they shop and what they buy, families can easily exceed that figure just buying school clothes, according to Alma Fonseca, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Fonseca priced a complete school wardrobe for a 10-year-old boy and another for a girl of the same age. Each wardrobe included enough underwear and socks, shoes, jeans, shirts and tops for a week at school; one casual and one dressy outfit; and a lightweight jacket.

When purchased at the discount store, the girls' wardrobe costs $249 compared to $576 for similar items at the department store. The boys wardrobe costs $182 at a discount store and $559 at the department store, she said.

"Most children don't need a complete wardrobe at once, so costs are spread over several months," she said. "Beginning the school year in summer shorts and making use of hand-me-downs from older siblings also reduces clothing needs,"

"Whatever the size of your clothig budget, it's good strategy to spend the most money to buy quality in those clothes that will be worn most often, receive the hardest wear and are laundered frequently," said Fonseca. "Then shop for these items during the children's clothing sales, generally held in August and October."

The specialist said that for staple items such as underwear, socks and T-shirts, discount stores mayhave real bargains, especially if you buy in quantity.

"Discount and outlet stores carry Strategies Cut Shopping Costs a variety of less-expensive clothign. but it may also be less durable. That may not matter if you expect the child to grow out of the item quickly, or it's a garment with a limited use, such as a dressy dress," she said.

The specialist said parents should check the catalog sales at the department stores that have mail-order services. Sometimes the catalog sale price will be less expensive than the in-store price for the same or a very similar item, Fonseca

"If your child is growing rapidly, buy sizes as large as possible without being ill-fitting," she urged. 'Clothes with adjustable straps and waistbands, raglan sleeves, stretchy fabrics, deep hems, dropped waistlines and two piece outfits provide more room for growth."

"You may be better off waiting to buy clothes as your growing child needs them," she continued. "This can also give your youngster time to see what the other kids are wearing and feel happier about his or her choices in school clothes."

She and my daughter Patsy were best of friends when the family lived here. But we all loved Vonnie. But time and distance has interfered with seeing her very often. program year is not eligible for entry into the CRP for 1988.

Under this conservation program, producers receive annual payments to keep highly erodible land out of production and planted with a protective cover which can include trees. Besides the annual rental payments, CRP participants also receive up to 50 percent of the cost of establishing vegetative cover, Harris said.

He said filter strips, or cropland areas 66 to 99 feet wide with a permanent cover and located next to streams, lakes and estuaries, will be eligible for CRP in this extended signup even if the cropland does not meet the soil erosion criteria.

This provision was introduced in the sixth signup period last February to permit farmers to use CRP

The Texas Coalition for Safety Belts had not achieved its goal of "One Deathless Day" as of July 15, coalition spokesperson George R. Gustafson announced recently. Gustafson is president of Texas Safety Association, one of the 49 member groups which make up the statewide coalition.

"Since the last progress report on June 15, we've had four days when only three people were killed. All the other days have had higher fatality counts," said Gustafson. The summer's deadliest day was June 25, when 20 traffic deaths were recorded, he said.

Days with three fatalities apiece were June 21, July 4, July 5 and July 13, according to the Texas Department of Safety.

The coalition hopes to achieve one deathless day during the designated "101 Driving Days of Summer" between May 28 and Sept. 5. Despite the early reports, Gustafson said the group is not discouraged. The last deathless day on Texas roads was on Jan. 5, 1977.
