Teamwork May Provide Economic Lift For Area

Coleman County and other counties in the area may be able to find an economic lift in banding together in becoming a part of an economic development district designed to help improve the economy in each of the counties.

According to Brad Helbert, executive director of the West Central Texas Council of Governments, the council last week approved plans for the district. It will extend over a 19-county area over which the council presides. Counties in our region are Brown, Calahan, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland, Fisher, Haskell, Kent, Knox, Jones, Mitchell, Nolan, Runnels, Scurry, Shackelford, Stephens, Stonewall, Taylor and Throckmorton.

Helbert says the district is being created at this time because most counties in the region have received letters encouraging them to begin correcting their economic problems.

"It is no ordinary letter, either. It's from the federal government," Helbert says, and it is only dispatched after an area's hard time have gone on for too long.

"After a county has had unemployment that exceeds the national average for 24 straight months," Helbert says, "the government sends them a letter asking them to form a district to help overcome unemployment problems.

Helbert says he expects all the counties in the region to participate in the district because being part of the district will have benefits for cities of all sizes in the region.

For instance, these cities will be able to get assistance filling out federal grant applications from a staff member who will be employed by the economic district.

And because smaller cities do not usually have economic development departments to inform them, the district will be able to inform them about available funds they might not be aware of.

Another advantage for the smaller city would be the beginning of a revolving loan program that would lend money to small businesses in the area.

The district would lend the business some federal grant money and then the business would ultimately pay the money back, then the money could be lent to another small business to help them.

The U.S. Department of Commerce will fund $50,000 of the program's costs while the council of governments will pay for about $16,000 for the first year of the district's operation.

After the first year, the commerce Dept. will continue to pay their share while the council of governments will pay $8,000 and the participating counties will have to pay $8,000.

Helbert said he did not expect the fee to deter counties from participating, and he said he thought every county would ultimately be a member of the district.

When asked if this economic development district would benefit Santa Anna, City Administrator Max Eubank, stated that he and Mayor Thelma Brooker are planning to attend a meeting in the near future and would be able to speak more to the subject after obtaining information that would be made available there. He did feel that anytime communities could band together in teamwork they can more readily take advantage of opportunities and programs offered.

At the present time the City, through a program of the Council of Governments, is employing two teenagers during the summer. Wages for the two are paid through the Summer Youth Employment Program (SYEP).

FOUR FROM SANTA ANNA ATTEND CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT AND DISCIPLINE PROGRAM...Four Teachers from Santa Anna Independent School District were among the teams of personnel from 12 Texas School districts and the Dallas County Juvenile Department who took part in the final of four weeklong Classroom Management and Discipline Program (CMDP) sessions at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos July 18-22. Under the direction of Margaret Dunn (center, standing), the program is designed to help participants establish and maintain a learning climate that fosters self discipline and provides a basis for academic and personal success in the state's schools. Revival Begins Sunday At First Baptist Church

Herman Cramer of Seguin will be the evangelist when the First Baptist Church of Santa Anna holds a revival beginning Sunday, August 7, with two morning services to be held at 9 and 10 a.m. Services Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights will be at 7:30.

Cramer is a Texas-based evangelist who has conducted 40 revivals a year since entering full time evangelism 9 years ago.

As a young man, Herman lost his father in death and began as a teenager, seeking success, measured to the world's standards. After high school, he began farming forty acres of land and by the age of 28 had acquired over 3,000 acres in the Rio Grande valley. Successful to the world's standards, he found himself lost in God's sight, he experienced a dramatic personal relationship with Jesus Christ, which resulted in a total change in lifestyle, he sensed God's call to preach, and answered that call within months of his conversion.

He attended Southwestern Seminary from which he graduated. After finishing school he was called to pastor First Baptist Church of Dilley, Tex., located seventy miles south of San Antonio. He pastored there five years.

Mike Anderson, a former music director of First Baptist Church of Santa Anna will lead the music and provide special music. He attended Howard Payne University and was a member of the Heritage Singers while a student there. He now resides in Austin.

Special youth activities have been planned each evening at 6:30. An ice cream supper for everyone attending will follow the closing service on Wednesday night.

Local Group To Make Appearance When Commissioners Meet On Ambulance Service Contract Issue

A group of Santa Anna citizens intend to be at the Commissioner's Court meeting in Coleman Monday morning at 10:00 a.m. when the group meets to open and consider bids on Ambulance service for Coleman County. Most of those planning to attend from Santa Anna will be there in support of local ambulance provider Jimmy Eisenhower who has been pushing for a split contract so that he would have an opportunity to serve this part of the county and receive a share of the subsidy paid out by the county.

The group will present a petition to the court that asks for the court, according to Eisenhower, "to recognize that Santa Anna needs an ambulance service as well as Coleman." Eisenhower adds, "The city of Santa Anna ought to be represented by their tax dollars as well as Coleman" and that all those tax dollars should not be spent in Coleman or going out of the county. Eisenhower stated the petition has been signed by many from various rural areas. All signers are not just local city residents.

The controversial issue of countywide ambulance service by a single provider was taken to the people in the form of a referendum at this time last year and Ed Freeman of Brownwood subsequently was awarded the contract to receive a subsidy from the county to provide county wide ambulance service with two ambulances stationed in Coleman.

The contract granted to Freeman last year is up for renewal and the court several weeks ago announced they were again accepting bids for the service and that the bids would be opened at the regular meeting of the commissioners on Monday, August 8.

Eisenhower and many other local people feel that Coleman has been favored in the deal since the ambulances are stationed in Coleman. Eisenhower argues that when he makes his bid, he feels he will have to agree to station an ambulance in Coleman. He also feels that Santa Anna will again be slighted in that there will be no stipulation for there to be an ambulance stationed in Santa Anna. Freeman was allowed to place his ambulances in Coleman and was not required to station an ambulance in Santa Anna.

This writer contacted Judge Pete Skelton on Monday of this week to see whether the contingent of Santa Anna citizens, or any individual citizen representing the group, would be heard during the meeting. I was told they had not requested to be put on the agenda and for that matter, neither had Mr. Eisenhower made a request at that time to be on the agenda. The Judge emphasized that anyone wishing to address the court on any subject at any time

Coleman County Man Shot Dead; Suspect Charged

A 44-year-old Coleman Man was killed last Wednesday at a residence six miles south of Coleman on FM 1026. The shooting occurred at approximately 4:15 in the afternoon, according to investigators.

Lloyd Slayton was found dead of an apparent shotgun blast and was pronounced dead by Justice of the Peace Emory Rider. An autopsy was ordered and the body was sent to the Southwest Institute of Forensic Science in Dallas.

A 61-year-old man, Otis Randolph Trull, was arrested at his residence where the shooting took place. Charges were filed against Trull Monday. He has been released from the Coleman County jail in lieu of $2,500 bond.

The Deputy said, Slayton is believed to have died from a wound to his chest from a 20-gauge shotgun blast.

Turner said the shooting apparently followed a domestic dispute.

Vandalism At Business Under Investigation

According to Police Chief Ken Brixey, someone broke a cap off of a gas storage tank at Uncle Arthur's convenience store on Tuesday night of last week and stuck a water hose into the tank. The tank was filled to almost overflowing when the water hose stretched out across the property and stuck into the tank was noticed by policeman James Morris while on a routine patrol around town about 4:14 Wednesday morning.

Not only was the case of "probable malicious vandalism" as Brixey termed it, an act against the property of Marty and Terri Warnock, owners of the business, it could have been potentially hazardous for the city if the tank had overflowed and the gas gotten out into the streets and possibly into the sewer system. Quick action by the gas retailers that service the store, who pumped the tank clean, dried it out and then refilled it with good gasoline, put Warnock back into the gas selling business hurriedly, although it did involve only one tank. According to Brixey, the incident is still under investigation.

Also included in the police report received by the News was an incident that sent a juvenile boy to the hospital. Two other juveniles were arrested for aggravated assault in connection with the incident. They were taken to a detention center. Charges were filed Monday in the case and the two were turned over to the district attorney's office. The boy who was hurt in the fracas was released from the hospital after a few days but will return in the near future for some surgery related to the beating.

Thomas Felty

Services for Thomas N. Felty, 96, of Coleman were held Monday, August 1 at 10:00 a.m. at Steyens Funeral Home Chapel with burial in Leaday Cemetery.

Mr. Felty died Friday at a Coleman hospital. He was born in Fannin County and had lived most of his life in Coleman County. A retired blacksmith and farmer, he was a Baptist and the widower of Mary Nancy Stephenson.

Survivors include his wife, Vera Little Felty of Fisk; two daughters, Irene Camron of Santa Anna and Sandra Kay Dean of Fisk; two sons, Cecil Dwayne Felty of San Angelo and Robert Dwayne Felty of Clovis, N.M.; seven grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Gladys Hunter has donated one of the new printings of her book "Historically Speaking".

A number of good books have been donated recently by Janet Neff, Doris Stearns and Gwen Walker. These books will soon be on the shelves and ready to be checked out.

The librarian asks that everyone check to be sure you do not have any overdue library books. There are a large number of books checked out at this time. We are glad people are using the library however overdue books cause a problem because many of the books in our library are on loan from the Abilene Library and must be returned.

Thoughts From Our Pastors

Signs of the Times

If we read the road signs correctly they direct us to where we're going. You may say that that makes sense, and in most cases it does make sense. However, there are exceptions to the case. Sometimes pranksters get their perverted pleasure out of turning the signs so that they misdirect travelers.

When I was in a certain country there were very few signs. The reason was that the people could make something useful out of the signs. This meant that the signs placed to direct people to their destinations were "misappropriated" for individual use. It seems that the people also took great joy in misdirecting travelers when asked for directions. This apparent lack of interest concerning the needs of others and the disrepair of the roads made travel very difficult. It was not uncommon to use up a twenty-four hour period in covering one hundred and twenty miles.

I saw a marquee sign the other day that went something like this, "The road to success is always under construction." The more I think about it the more the little message means to me. The word success means different things to different people. To me success has come to mean a saving relationship with Jesus Christ. Every goal I had set, every desire I was striving to attain was set in motion when I discovered eternal life.

Everywhere we turn we are discovering that old markers are being torn down. Once well defined standards are being redefined causing some to lose direction.

In Ephesians 5:27 Jesus declares that he will present the Church to himself a bride not having spot or wrinkle or any such thing. One of the signs of the times is Satan's obvious success in Tearing down standards of the church. Many feel it their duty to attack those who are struggling with standards. We can only go to God's words for our answers. If after we have recognized the "tree trunks" in our own eyes, and on our knees let our Lord remove these offenses, then and only then can we hope to help our brother or sister. One of the most painful conclusions we must come to is that after reading the signs of things to come, reform needs to start in our own hearts and in our own lives. Only then can we hope to prayerfully and humbly approach anyone else about their problems.

I love you, I pray that God of creation be your constant companion.

Most Of you know I grew up in Santa Anna. When I was growing up we had a town with pride. Most of the citizens kept their property clean.

Yes, we would gripe about some things we didn't like, but this did not keep us from pulling together to help make this a town we were proud of. Yes, many of us aren't able work in our yards, but we can clean up better than we are doing.

Seat Belt Usage Higher

AUSTIN - Six out of 10 Texans now buckle up when they get behind a steering wheel.

According to a survey conducted in June for the highway department, safety belt usage has increased since January, and is less than six points from the peak rate reported in 1986.

The statistics are based on a semi-annual survey by the Texas Transportation Institute. In the 1986 TTI study, observers recorded driver restraint use in 14 cities to determine average compliance, and four additional cities were surveyed in the two 1988 studies.

The 14-city average in 1986, shortly after the law mandating seat-belt use took effect, was 66.1 percent. That average dropped to 59.7 percent by January of this year, but climbed to 60.6 percent in June - a gain of 4.9 percentage points.

The 18-city figure rose even more, from 54.1 percent in January to 59.2 percent in June - a 5.1 point rise.

"We attribute much of the rise to stronger law enforcement efforts," said Gary Trietsch, safety and traffic operations engineer with the highway department. "Without police out there writing tickets, some people just won't take the time to buckle up," he said.

Public education is important in getting people to understand why they should use seat belts, Trietsch added, "but it seems some people have to believe they really might get a ticket before they'll change their behavior."

Laredo showed the most startling change, increasing compliance by 17.7 percentage points between January and June, followed by El Paso with a 17-point rise and Tyler with a 14.3 percent increase. All three cities recently have made substantial increases in enforcement.

Laredo, Tyler and Austin participate in a federally-funded program to encourage safety belt enforcement.

Other surveyed cities which had higher safety belt usage rates for the six-month period included Amarillo, Beaumont, Bryan-College Station, Corpus Christi, Dallas, Houston, Midland and Wichita Falls.

Working Mothers Rate Appliances

The Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers surveyed the readers of Working Mother magazine last year to gather information about the use of 16 major and portable appliances in dual-career families.

Some of the results were quite predictable, and others a little surprising. Here are some of the conclusions:

- Ownership and use of a washer and dryer, dishwasher, garbage disposal and microwave oven saves working mothers 20.5 hours a week, the equivalent of a part-time job.
- Dads use microwave ovens more than any other appliance. Over 56 percent report using the appliance regularly.
- Over 60 percent of the women reported that their husbands help

Don's Diary

By Don Rutherford

Paul has been considering his past and recalling some of his advantages and privileges of his past living. Now he is contrasting the tremendous opportunity of serving the Risen Christ. Now we hear him say: "all is loss except to win Christ".

In this verse fourteen of Chapter four we come to the Holy of Holies in Paul's battle for his past and present tense of living. Step by step he has been leading us to this place. In this verse we find "The Believers...Attainment".

This attainment is found in three fixed nouns. First there is a fixed purpose. "This one thing I do." What was Paul's fixed purpose in life? What did he desire more than anything else? "That I might know Him", that was his fixed purpose.

There are two ways we can "know" Christ. There is that natural knowing or that knowing and believing enough that we have our fire insurance paid. This kind of knowing gets us to church each week: it helps us to sing; to listen to sermons but then without any change we continue merrily and unconcerned down the same path. These kind of folks are spiritually cold or even dead. They are like buckets half filled trying to splash over the side.

But it is not the "know" of Paul's fixed purpose. Paul's "know" was to know Christ experimentally.

To overflow with God's goodness, one has to be filled with Him. How can we know Christ Experimentally? First we know the power of His resurrection. Resurrection power is never defeated by barriers of any kind. When we come to that place of absolute and complete submission to God's will then we can really know Him. Second, to know Him we must know the fellowship of his sufferings. Complete submission does not exclude suffering however it does provide an unmovable foundation essential to endure the storms of suffering. And last, if we are to know Him we must "be made comfortable unto his death." Only when we come to that place of complete surrender can we really know victorious Christian living. That is tough! That is impossible! That is, unless we do it in the power of Christ.

Second, Paul had a fixed attitude. "Forgetting those things which are behind". How much difficulty and hurt have those "things" brought to us? We still cling to them! Anything that does not draw us closer to God should be set aside. Not because of legalism but because we choose to do so. Like a runner, laying aside his ankle weights! This verse has been called (Holy Amnesia). How much should we forget! Past failures, let Him take care of them. Past sins, take them to God! Cast aside the weight of guilt by taking them to God himself. His door is never closed. He never takes a holiday. He is ever present and ready to deal with us.

Paul had a lot to forget! But through the forgiveness of Christ he went from a destroyer to a missionary. From one who watched Stephen being stoned to death to one who was willing to die himself. Third, Paul had a fixed goal. "Reaching forth...I press toward the mark of the prize of the high calling". Paul's highest goal, his crowning attainment was to follow Christ. His highest achievement was a commitment to Christ, "to know Him". "King of my life, I crown thee now, Thine shall the glory be, Lest I forget they thorn crowned brow led me to Calvary". The believers Attainment...To know Him. P.S. The nearness of God is primarily dependent on man not on God. (Emil Brunner)

HEALTH HINTS

Here's a fact that will shed some light on sunburn. Wearing certain fragrances or taking medications can make you more prone to serious sunburn. Be sure to check with your dermatologist to find out what elements can make you more prone to a nasty burn.

Sunburn itch or insect bite itch can be soothed instantly by an all-purpose cream that quiets itch nerves on contact. One such is Lanacane Creme, which works faster than other products and can be used by the whole family.

Sam Just Has A Good Time

While his 12-year-old sister, Jill, was competing in the 4-H horse show in Abilene last week, Sam Hosch, son of Paschal and Joyce Hosch of Tulia and grandson of Jewel Hosch of Santa Anna, was getting attention from a writer for the Abilene Reporter News. Sam and some other youngsters had their picture taken while riding bikes and otherwise entertaining themselves on the show grounds. Katie Dickie then interviewed him for an article which appeared in the Sunday edition of the Reporter News.

Ten-year-old Sam Hosch has big brown eyes, a wide grin, a sandy-blond crew-cut and a fun-loving manner. What's more the Tulia fourth-grader is clearly a believer in having a good time -- wherever and whenever.

And as far as he's concerned, horse shows are supposed to be fun -- whether you're a participant or not.

Sam did not participate in the State 4-H Horse Show going on in Abilene last week but since his 12-year-old sister did, the family was there to see Jill compete. And that left it up to Sam to entertain himself.

That's why he came to Abilene equipped with his Nintendo video game, his dog Flaxy and a bike.

The Nintendo was hooked up in the travel trailer he, his parents and his sister were staying in during the show. He's pretty good at the game.

"Nobody can beat him," says Sam's new friend, Audie Mitchell, 9, of Brownwood.

As for the bike, it's for getting around the Taylor County Expo Center grounds, where the show was being held. "It's pretty far to the horse barn," Sam says, "But it's not as far as at the World Show in Tulsa. That place is big."

Bikes provide transportation, and when friends like Audie bring their bikes, it's another way to have fun.

Meanwhile, Flaxy makes a good companion when the tanned boy needs a friend.

The Tulia youth, son of Pascal and Joyce Hosch, is a horseman -- and a pretty good one, if he might add. He likes the trail competition best, although he does compete in Western pleasure, horsemanship and showmanship.

But since he wasn't competing at the show which ended last Saturday,

He kept busy entertaining himself. "It's not too hard to do," he says. "I know lots of people here, We go to lots of horse shows."

In fact, his family left from the 4-H show in Abilene to go to the American Junior Quarter Horse Association World Championship Show in Tulsa, Okla.

Of course, Sam pays more attention to horse shows when he happens to be entered, he says. But he does find time in between Nintendo games to watch his sister compete, and he was planning to watch his old friend David Dean, 9, of Fort Davis, compete in showmanship classes Thursday afternoon.

"We watch some of the stuff some times," he said. "But we also do lots of other stuff."

And other "stuff" has to be fun.

Americans Can Add Family Name To Wall of Honor

In the new Ellis Island Immigration Museum, you can walk in the historic footsteps that millions of immigrants took to freedom.

Ellis Island, in New York Harbor, was to many the gateway to "The Land of Opportunity." Now, decades later, Ellis Island presents Americans with another opportunity.

As a nation of immigrants, many of us still possess personal or familial memories of our immigrant heritage. Ellis Island, just one-half mile from the Statue of Liberty, stands as a symbol of all our immigrant heritages. Between 1892 and 1954, Ellis Island welcomed over 17 million new Americans to the country. Over 100 million Americans alive today are descendants of those immigrants.

Right now, construction crews are working to repair the damaging effects that three decades of disuse have had on Ellis Island. They're restoring the Great Hall, where 17 million immigrants started new lives as Americans, and finishing the infrastructure for the Ellis Island Immigration Museum, where millions will come from around the world to learn the story of the American Immigrant.

Crews are also working on an exhibit that presents Americans with an opportunity: The American Immigrant Wall of Honor.

Americans may become directly involved in the creation of an important exhibit at The Ellis Island Immigration Museum with the American Immigrant Wall of Honor. All Americans have the opportunity to honor their families and their own unique heritage at this national monument.

Families and individuals who make a donation of $100 or more to the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation can have an ancestor's name permanently inscribed on the American Immigrant Wall of Honor.

In addition to the inscription on the Wall, immigrant names will be entered into a computer register at Ellis Island. The donor's name, and country of origin of the immigrant will be part of this computer register. Donors will also receive an official certificate that honors their immigrant ancestor.

The opportunity to honor one's own forefathers inside a national monument is only available through the end of 1988. To participate in the American Immigrant Wall of Honor, write to: The Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation, Inc., 52 Vanderbilt Ave., NY, NY 10017-3808, or call (212) 883-1986.

AUGUST SHOWERS: It's been a couple of months since those refreshing April showers, but August promises a good chance to see a different type of shower - the meteor shower. The men also visited in the Whon cemetery.

I enjoyed a nice visit this Monday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Terry of Coleman. Probably you have guessed where. It was in the Whon cemetery. Seems they were checking graves for the new Book # 3 which is coming off the press before too long. I also helped them in locating graves in our community which they had not been able to locate. And you can also guess why I was in the cemetery. I was mowing the cemetery. Have a nice week.

Drink Fluids To Avoid Heat Exhaustion

Soaring summer temperatures mean everyone who works or plays outdoors needs to take precautions.

"Drinking plenty of fluids before, during and after outdoor activity can help you avoid heat exhaustion or even heat stroke," said Dr. Alice Hunt, a nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Inadequate fluid intake can be dangerous. A decrease of more than 4 percent of body weight through rapid fluid loss from sweating can cause muscle cramping and spasms," she said. "It may also affect cardiac function and temperature regulation in some cases."

Four percent of body weight is just 6 pounds in a 150 pound person and 2.4 pounds in a 60 pound child, according to the specialist.

Hunt offers the following suggestion for maintaining fluid intake: Weigh yourself before and after heavy outdoor activity. Each pound lost represents two cups of body fluid which should be replaced.

Drink water often while you are outdoors, even before you feel thirsty.

Plan jogging or walking excursions in areas where water fountains

Two fishermen try their luck at dusk on Lake Buchanan, the oldest and largest of the Highland Lakes in Central Texas. Besides offering great fishing for Striped Bass and many other species, Buchanan has long been a favorite with Central Texans for boating, skiing and sailing. The 23,000-acre impoundment has many beaches, docks, marinas and leisure home developments, as well as public and commercial campgrounds and boat ramps. Lake Buchanan is located about 70 miles northwest of Austin. Tourism Division, Texas Department of Commerce photo.

The heat pump will keep you cool in the summer and warm in the winter. You'll also save money because the heat pump delivers two or more units of heat for every unit of electricity used.

Plus as a WTU customer, installing a heat pump with a seasonal energy efficiency rate of 9.0 or above can qualify you for $500 when your home meets WTU's Energy Saving Plan requirements.
