SAHS Band Judged Superior (1), Will March In Austin Saturday

Starting with the "Theme From Blazing Saddles" the Mighty Mountaineer Band marched its way into the UIL Regional contest, to be held this Saturday in Austin, when they performed at the District marching contest in Brady last Saturday. The Flag Corp was featured as the band played their lively rendition of "Russian Sailor's Dance" and the combined group of excellent band showmen finished their show with the beautiful, "It Was Almost Like A Song" in front of a very appreciative audience.

The band will travel to Austin for a 12:00 noon marching performance at the Regional competition at Memorial Stadium Saturday. They plan to leave after the pep rally Friday afternoon, so they can have a full nights rest and be ready to present their best show Saturday morning. They plan to arrive back in Santa Anna about 6:00 p.m. Saturday.

Santa Anna and Menard were the two Class A Bands to advance to the regional contest from the district contest at Brady.

Band Director Lonnie Baker is very proud of his band as is the rest of the community, and especially those who have had the opportunity to see the group perform. The "1" rating the band received at Brady is the first a Santa Anna Band has been awarded in several years. The last time a Santa Anna Band advanced was in 1983 when they ended up being named the number three band in the state in Class A.

The Santa Anna Chamber of Commerce has been busy making preparations for the Christmas season and the various activities they will be sponsoring in the community during December.

The annual Christmas season opening will take place on December 2, the first Friday of December. In addition to the annual Christmas parade and Lions Club pancake festival, there will be a window decoration contest.

$25. First place prize in the window decorating will be $35; second place, $25; and third, $10.

The Chamber will be drawing for four gifts of $25 each in "Santa Anna Dollars". Registration for the "Santa Anna Dollars" will be done at various local businesses.

In addition to the usual activities the Chamber has planned other events. On Saturday, December 11, there will be a Mexican luncheon from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at the Lions Club building. For $5.00, you can be treated to homemade tacos, tamales, enchiladas.

More detailed information will be published about all the events in upcoming issues of the News.

Local Masonic Lodge To Mark 100th Year

December 12, the Santa Anna Masonic Lodge, Mountain Lodge 661, will mark their 100 years of existence in Santa Anna.

Special events are planned for Saturday, November 5, to observe the occasion. Leonard P. Harvey, Deputy Grand Master of Texas, will be the guest speaker for a banquet for local masons and their wives. Other Grand Lodge dignitaries will also be on hand to help celebrate the event. The local Eastern Star will host a tea for wives of the visiting Masons sometime during that day.

Mountain Lodge 661 was chartered in 1888 and was a strong influence in the development of the young town of Santa Anna. According to lodge history, most of the civic leaders of the time were members of the lodge and large numbers of visitors from surrounding lodges are shown to have attended meetings here - when men came horseback from Sam Houston Lodge at Trickham, lodges at Thrifty, Voss, Coleman and other towns, they really were interested in the principles of Freemasonry.

As one lodge member states, much has been written about the forces that have shaped the course of American and Texas history, but almost without exception, historians have failed to mention Freemasonry in their narratives.

In both the American and Texas Commonwealth, Masons were few in number in comparison to the total population, but they appeared as leaders in the revolutions out of all proportion to their numbers in their respective Societies. We are told that the "Indians" who threw tea into Boston Harbor came from a Masonic Lodge that met that night. In the first Continental Congress, twenty-two members out of a total of fifty-six were Masons. Thirty one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence were Masons.

Among the officers of the American Revolution there were 103 Generals, 29 staff officers, 146 Colonels, 91 Majors and 312 Captains, who were Masons. Among the fifty-five members who met in Philadelphia to draw up the present Constitution, thirty-three were Masons, including Washington, Madison and Ben Franklin. Four of the five members of the first Supreme Court were Masons.

It is difficult to separate the history of Masonry in Texas from the history of Texas. Both the leaders of Democracy in Mexico and the United States were Freemasons. Stephen F. Austin and most of his assistants were Masons. Of the ninety nine men who worked out the first constitution of Texas, See Masonic Lodge Page 2

Halloween Carnival Will Be Monday Night

The Santa Anna PTO and Band Boosters have combined in a joint effort to make this year's Halloween carnival a success and to give the youngsters (of all ages) of Santa Anna some place to go to have a good time and a safe time.

The carnival will be held at the school cafeteria Monday night following the coronation of the Halloween Queen and court in the high school auditorium. Votes for the queen candidates may be cast when purchasing tickets for admission to the coronation. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students. The coronation is sponsored by the Santa Anna High School student council.

Ribbons will be given for the best costumes at 8:00 P.M. Categories to be judged are K-3; 4-6; 7-12; and adult.

Booths will open at 7:00 p.m. and close at 9:30. They will be located in the school cafeteria, in the old gymnasium and possibly other locations on the school campus. Directions will be available at the old gym. Tickets will be 25 cents each.

The Band Boosters will sponsor the cake walk and the hay ride. The hay ride will go by the Senior Class spook house enroute.

The PTO will sponsor the concessions, bingo, darts and a cotton candy booth.

The Senior Class will have the haunted house, horse rides and duck pond.

City Council Takes Action On Number Of Problems

Mayor Brooker called the meeting to order last Thursday when the council met after having to postpone the regular meeting for a week due to the lack of a quorum for the regularly scheduled meeting the previous week. Present were the Mayor, Chief of Police Ken Brixey, City Clerk Alys Pelton, City Administrator Max Eubank and councilmen, Alex DeLeon, Jim Spillman, Derriel Warnock, Quinton Daniel, and Susie Voss.

Several other citizens were present for the meeting. The Council passed a resolution that gives the Mayor authority to act as the corporate official for the city in signing papers for the sewer farm grant application to the Department of Commerce.

City Administrator brought several items to the attention of the council when he gave his report and offered recommendations. The council gave Eubank the authority to pursue action against a resident who had taken unauthorized use of city water. The City has an ordinance against the theft of water service with a fine of up to $200.

Eubank also recommended the termination of Donnie Lappe as the City's attorney. The Council unanimously approved the action.

The third recommendation approved and state and the dignity of free men.

proved by a vote of the council was that of raising the reconnection fee to restore water service to a residence when a bill has been outstanding to $25 from $10.

Eubank reported that eight sections of sewer pipe had been destroyed at the sewer farm by persons doing some shredding, Ap-

S.D.A. Students To Trick-Or-Treat For Canned Goods Sunday Evening

The Santa Anna Roadrunner Pathfinder Club and students of the Seventh Day Adventist School will be conducting their annual campaign of trick-or-treating for canned goods on Sunday, October 30, between the hours of 4 and 5 p.m. These canned goods, along with fresh items provided by money given, will be used to make Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets to be delivered to needy families here in the community.

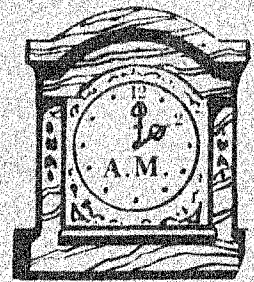

The young people will be in dress uniform and accompanied by an adult driver. If you have any questions or if they somehow miss you, there will be someone at 348-3286 or call the S.D.A. School anytime for information.

Daylight Savings Time Ends Sunday

To help you remember to change the time I'm writing you This little rhyme.

Sunday's the day To fall back it is said So set your clock backward When you go to bed.

You'll be early for church and all else you do if you forget to set your clock back at two. (Borrowed, author unknown)

Two o'clock a.m. on October 30th (Sunday morning) is the time we set our clocks back one hour. Of course, you know by now that it isn't necessary to stay up until 2:00 a.m. just to change the clock. Just set it back an hour before retiring for the night. If you forget to do so, you could be real early for church services Sunday morning. Enjoy that "extra hour" of rest Sunday morning!

The Junior Class will have the basketball shoot, marriage booth, jail house, and picture taking.

The Sophomore class will have a ring toss and the Freshman class will have the football throw and the sponge throw.

The Science Club will have the fishing booth. The Perk Board will sponsor the walk-about.

See you all there. Don't forget to bring your spooks!

Democrats And Republicans Together?

Mills County has a Democrat Cemetery, but Republicans also rest there. It is named for a hamlet founded nearby in 1876 by two brothers who were such active Democrats that they named their town for their favorite political party. Only the cemetery remains today.

In the past, the people of Santa Anna have been very generous with this project. Four or five baskets have been delivered each season in the past, and the organizers of the project than you for your help.

An inspiring incident at the Methodist Lord's Acre auction was when the last quilt pieced by the late Thelma Upchurch went up for sale. Seems the family had found the quilt top when going through her belongings after her death a year ago. She already had it marked "for the 1988 Lord's Acre". Her sons turned the beautiful quilt top over to the Methodist quilting ladies who did the quilting and finishing.

Thoughts From Our Pastors

John Stanislaw
First Baptist Church

This coming Monday will be Halloween. There will be voices at our doors saying: "Trick or Treat". That is part of the Halloween tradition. As I think about this I am sure glad the Kingdom of God doesn't operate like this. There are no tricks.

It was no trick when God took on the form of man in Jesus. It was no trick when he healed the blind, lame and hungry people. It was not a trick when he walked on water. It was no trick when he was beaten and hung on the cross. It was no trick when he died and was buried and arose from the grave on the third day. It was no trick when he ascended back to the right hand of our heavenly Father's throne. It's no trick when he forgives us of our sins. It's no trick when he walks with us through the storms of life. These and many more benefits are not tricks, but treats.

One of the greatest treats that God gives us is eternal life in Heaven. It is not a trick. Eternal life is not something that He tricks us with and then takes it back. Eternal life is a gift from God. "...but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord", (Romans 6:23). You can't earn it or work for it because sin is what pays wages. The only thing that works do is show evidence that we have eternal life in Heaven and sometimes even works can be deceiving. So my salvation is not based on me, works, Ten Commandments, or the sermon on the mount. As the song says, "My hope is built on nothing less than Jesus' blood and righteousness; I dare not trust the sweetest frame, but wholly lean on Jesus' name." Therefore, in the kingdom of God there are no tricks only treats at God's expense. God will treat you if you will accept Jesus Christ as your Lord and Savior.

Rehearsals Begin For Christmas Cantata

Rehearsals began Sunday afternoon for the annual Santa Anna Community Choir Cantata that will be held in December. Choir members from several local churches met to begin work on the program, with Patrick Hosch as director.

First United Presbyterian Church will host the cantata this year, with the narrator to be selected soon. The presentation will be "Carol of Christmas" by John Peterson, which includes some of the favorite Christmas carols in different arrangements.

Dear Editor

I subscribed to the Santa Anna News for my brother, Billie R. Conley, of Seagoville in October a year ago. His paper quit coming about a couple of months ago. Would you please check to see if he has somehow been dropped from the mailing list.

I miss Santa Anna so very much at this time of the year when Mother Nature dresses the trees, shrubs, vines, etc. in such beautiful browns, reds, and golds.

My work with Mended Hearts, Inc. kept me from Homecoming this year.

We apologize for the disruption in the delivery of your brother's Santa Anna News. As that is about the time we went to computer mailing, we suspect there was some error in putting his address on into the computer. We will make the correction and he should receive his paper properly.

This is not the first time this problem has arisen since we went to computer labels. The labels are a great improvement but in the change over, there were bound to be some mistakes made. TEXAS TRIVIA

Fort McIntosh, established near Laredo in 1949 and originally named Camp Crawford, served as an active military establishment until the end of 1946. During the Civil War, it protected Confederate supply routes into Mexico. During the Spanish-American War, the garrison included two squadrons of black soldiers who remained in the area and established Laredo's black population. The fort reverted to the city in 1947 and is now the site of Laredo Junior College, Laredo State University and parts of the popular Nuevo Santander Museum complex.

SAHS Students Share Their Writings Exercise

By James Hartman
For some people this word evokes the thought of a jogger, sweating hard as he makes his way along a road or in a park. Others consider exercise the work done in lifting a twelve-ounce soda. But regardless of your conception of exercise, it is an important part of good health; the lack of exercise can lead to problems...some more serious than others. Proper exercise is important to the metabolism of the body. Not enough exercise can cause a slowing of the metabolic process; therefore, not all of the ingested food will be converted to energy. Some will be stored in the body as fat. Over a period of time, this excess poundage can lead to a significant weight problem.

As the fat content of the body increases, much of it is deposited in the arteries. As the level of fat in the blood vessels rises, the passage of blood is slowly blocked off. This process is known as hardening of the arteries, and can be a factor in high blood pressure as well as other, more significant problems. As this hardening effect takes place in some major arteries, the blood flow to important destinations is gradually cut off. Constricted blood flow to the brain can cause dizziness and memory loss in the initial stages, and possibly more severe damage later on. Poor blood circulation to the heart is a leading cause of heart attacks, which kill thousands of Americans each year.

And yet all of the pain and suffering brought on by these conditions is unnecessary and preventable through maintaining proper exercise and a balanced diet. Exercise is one of the principle components necessary to good health and long life, and it costs nothing. So don't become a victim of the effects caused by lack of exercise, not when prevention is as easy as a walk in the park.

Tex Wright Will Have Spooky Place

Tex Wright has informed the News that he will have a very spooky place at his residence at 1008 Ave. B for the Halloween Trick or Treaters. Wright goes all out each year to provide a fun place for the youngsters to visit at Halloween and this year will be no exception. In fact, Tex tells us he has a new, scary exhibit ready and warns that it is not for the faint of heart!

DAIRY FACT

Research has found that calcium from chocolate milk is absorbed equally as well as calcium from other dairy foods such as whole milk, cheese and yogurt. The oxalates, calcium blockers, in chocolate milk can be safely ignored. Also some people who absorb calcium adequately from food sources may be less able to utilize the calcium from calcium carbonate.

SAFETY SENSE

Halloween Do's And Don't's

Halloween night can be a scary experience for parents who are concerned about their little ghosts and goblins out trick-or-treating. Here are a few safety-tips from PUNCHY, the ambassador for Hawaiian Punch fruit punch, that can help alleviate concern while ensuring your child's safety:

• Tell your youngsters to stay in the neighborhood, watch traffic and make sure they stay with a group of children. Younger children should carry their phone number and address with them, and go trick-or-treating with a responsible adult.

• Choose costumes that are loose, reflective and fire-resistant and avoid flammable items, such as unguarded candles.

• Don't let them eat unwrapped candy or treats. Check everything your children have collected before letting them eat it.

• Whatever age your youngsters are, Halloween at home can be just as much fun as out in the neighborhood. You can plan a party for all the children in the neighborhood. Decorate for the event and be sure everyone wears a costume. Consider such activities as a scary storytelling contest, best costume contest, a pumpkin carving contest and bobbing for apples. Serve food with a

Texas A&M researcher finds tenant organizations tend to reduce crime

COLLEGE STATION - An effective way to reduce slum conditions in public housing is to organize tenants and let them make and enforce their own rules, concludes a study on low-income housing problems in the United States.

The research, which focused on slum minimization in the United States, was conducted by Davison Efigiri, a graduate architecture student in urban planning at Texas A&M University. It involved 16 urban housing projects in three cities.

Efigiri found a strong correlation between a good tenant organization and low incidence of crime. Dr. Gordon Echols, head of the Urban and Regional Planning Department at Texas A&M, said Efigiri's study proved a point and perhaps tenant organization lends itself to communication and that leads to avoiding the problems of crime and vandalism.

Mountaineers Lose To Tough Eden Bulldogs

Bronte Here Friday, 7:30

"We took a good old county kicking. Those were the words of Coach Frank Gray after the Mountaineers were defeated by the Eden Bulldogs last Friday night.

Santa Anna lost a blowout to Eden as the Bulldogs shut out the Mountaineers 28-0 in a battle of 15-A teams with 2-0 records.

Eden put 13 points on the scoreboard in the game's first 15 minutes, and then relied mostly on a rugged defense to shut the Mountaineers their first district defeat in three outings.

Eden, ahead at halftime 21-0, put the game away with an eight-minute 83-yard scoring drive on its first possession of the third quarter.

The Bulldogs had done their homework well and were able to shut down Santa Anna's highly-revered ground game. The Mountaineers finished with a minus five yards rushing and 34 passing.

Eden did most of its offensive damage on the ground, rushing for 24 yards.

The Bulldogs took the lead 2-0-into the ballgame on a nine yard run by Brandon Mikeska. They made it 13-0 less than 2 1/2 minutes later, scoring on a 35-yard pass play.

Mikeska had a 15-yard TD in the second quarter and Scotty Robles capped the long third-quarter drive with a five yard run.

Eden has won all three of its district games and is 6-1-1 for the season. This was the Mountaineer's first district defeat. They are now 4-4 overall and 2-1 in district.

The Mountaineers host Bronte at home this week. Game time is 7:30 Friday at Mountaineer Stadium.

Three Named As Boosters; Friday Is Parent's Night & Gun Auction

The Mountaineer Boosters have named three as Boosters of the Week. Rob Cheany, Stanley Hartman and Charles Wetsel are being honored for their devotion to the Mountaineers and for their work as announcers of the home games.

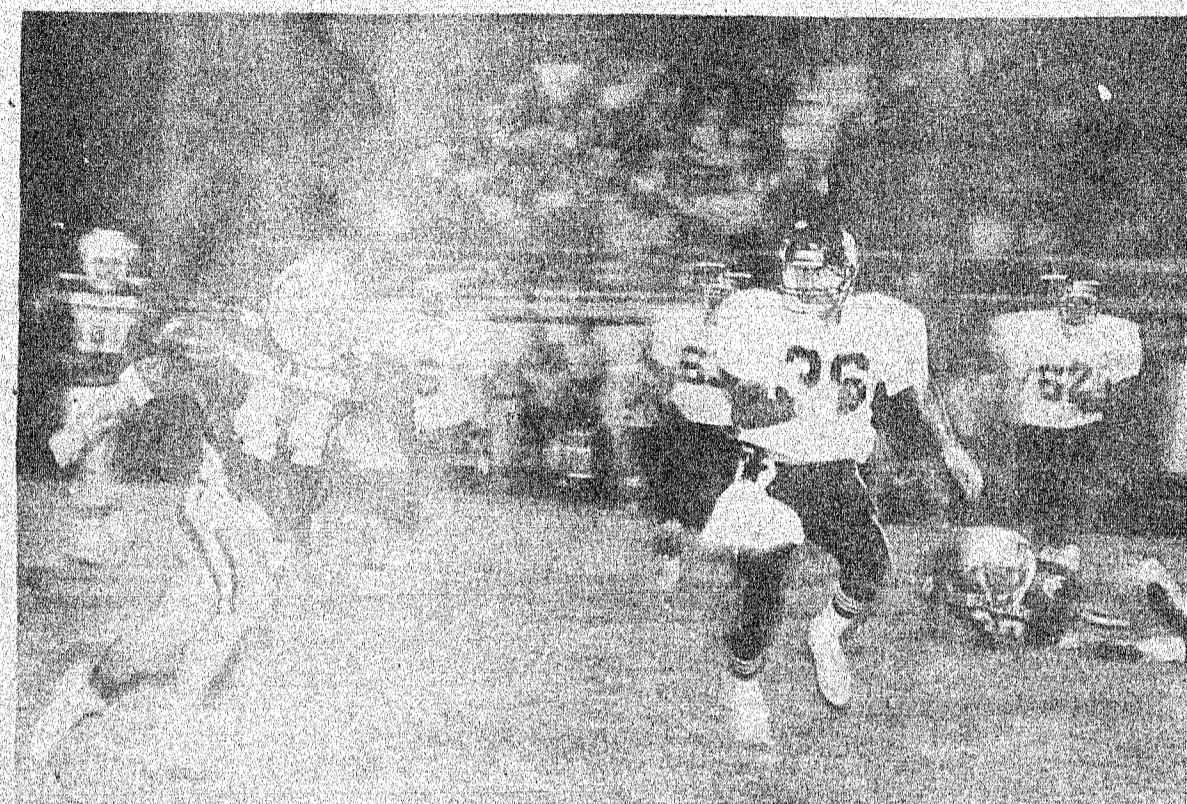

Friday night has been designated Parent's Night. All varsity and junior varsity football players and their parents will be recognized prior to the game at about 7:00. All parents are urged to be there.

Jerry Cupps will be the auctioneer at halftime when the Boosters auction off a shotgun. Proceeds will go to the Emma-Lee Pool fund.

It isn't so much what a person attempts, but what he finishes in the long run that really counts.

Vicente led the Mountaineer offensive attack with 204 yards and two touchdowns. All of the team played well on defense limiting Eden to a total of only 95 yards. Defensive standouts were Billy Joe Diaz, Carlos Garza and Rusty Fleeman with ten tackles each.

The "no pass, no play" regulation will hurt Santa Anna the last two games of the season. Thursday, October 27, the Junior Mounties will travel to Bronte for a 6:00 p.m. game.

Junior Mountaineers Beat Eden For First District Win

After losing two games, the Junior Mountaineers came back and played well Thursday night. They defeated the Eden Junior Bulldogs 12-0 for their first district win of the year.

The Bulldogs, after receiving the opening kick-off, picked up one short of scoring until midway of the second quarter. Once again it was to come. Two plays later, Vicente Frusto ran 62 yards for the first score of the game. Good defense of Billy Joe Diaz, Rusty Fleeman, and Netza Siller forced the Bulldogs to punt on their next possession.

Each team had good drives stopped short of scoring until midway of the second quarter. Once again it was Vicente Frusto who provided the excitement. He took the ball on a reverse and ran 85 yards for the final score of the game. The Mountaineers did cross the goal line again on a beautiful 55 yard pass from Rusty Fleeman to Vicente. However, the play was nullified by an infraction.

Set Your Sights For Success

Each year many hunters go into the woods as unprepared to kill anything as if they were carrying an unloaded gun. Due to the fact that they failed to sight in their rifles, they cheat themselves out of game, and many lose the chance at "one in a lifetime" trophies.

There is nothing mysterious or difficult about sighting in a rifle. Greatly simplified, it is the process of adjusting the sights so that they are aligned on the same point where the rifle shoots the bullets. This is done by firing the rifle at a specific point to determine where the bullets are striking. Next, the sights are adjusted so that they are aligned on the bullet impact area. A very old, but apt description of a well sighted rifle is one that "shoots where she leads."

A good solid rest and some type of pad to fire the rifle from is important. A benchrest and sandbag arrangement is best, but a rolled up sleeping bag on a table or even on a car hood beats nothing.

Next, all it takes is time and a safe place to shoot. Your best bet is to contact a local gun club. Many of these host a "sighting-in" day for local hunters each fall. If you choose to free-lance on "open land," make sure you have the landowner's permission and make doubly sure you have a safe backstop to stop your bullets.

Ear and eye protection, in the form of ear plugs and shooting glasses, is highly recommended.

If you are mounting a new scope, make sure the mounts and rings are correctly installed and tight. Degrease and seal the mount screws that go into the receiver with Loctite, shellac or clear fingernail polish. Do not seal the ring screws that hold the rings around your scope.

If your rifle was sighted in last season, you should still check it out before taking it afield this fall. Stocks have been known to warp, or the sights may have been knocked out of alignment during storage. Also check all screws in the stock and scope mount with a proper size screwdriver before you begin shooting.

If you have carefully foresighted or used a collimator with a new rifle or scope, you can skip a preliminary shooting session at 25 yards to "get on paper." Otherwise, getting close at short range is highly recommended since you could miss the entire target at longer ranges.

Next, put a target at 100 yards, and fire three or four rounds off the bench. From the center of this group measure the distance both vertically and horizontally to the bull's-eye. Now, adjust your sights accordingly, moving the rear sight or scope adjustments in the same direction you wish to move the group so that it will be on target.

Hunting with a well sighted rifle is basic to this season's success. For no matter what else happens, it will all come down to one: hot and your ability to put it where it needs to go. HP

THEN and NOW!

Then: Halloween has been celebrated longer than many realize. October 31st has been the official day of Halloween or the Eve of All Saints' Day since 834. One favorite Halloween tradition, the Jack O'Lantern originated in Ireland. Legend has it a stingy man named Jack was barred from heaven because of his miserly qualities, and forbidden to enter the underworld because he played practical jokes on the devil. Jack was condemned to walk the Earth with his lantern until Judgement Day.

Now: The pumpkin face Jack O'Lantern which we know today combines many Halloween traditions. It's a symbol of the harvest as well as a friendly or scary mask and a reminder of the Irish legend. A unique addition to the Jack O'Lantern tradition is the OH Lantern family. The eight funny Halloween faces, each with its own distinct personality, are the creation of sculptor, Todd Masters. This year, baby lanterns joined the Oh Lantern family. Other additions to this whacky family are mini-pumpkin finger puppets which feature the same fabulous faces. You may also want to look for the "Pumpkinification" Kit so family members can have fun turning each other into a Jack O'Lantern! However, as you enjoy these festive Halloween traditions you may want to think of the legendary Irishman and remember to treat as well as trick!

Trees Across Texas

The week of October 16-22 is National Forest Products Week, a period set aside in appreciation of the importance of trees.

From the largely treeless Panhandle to the Rio Grande Valley and from El Paso to the "Piney Woods" of East Texas, trees and tree products contribute to the Texas economy and the personal well-being of Texans.

Windbreaks in West Texas and the Panhandle shelter homes and fields, thereby reducing residential utility bills and conserving valuable topsoil and soil moisture. Urban forests provide shade, trap pollutants, filter noise and add to the livability of our cities. Forests across the state provide homes and food for wildlife and support a growing outdoor recreation industry. Texas-grown Christmas trees, which are fresher than trees imported from other states, promise to capture and increasing share of the "natural tree" market in the state.

A look in a forest products industries directory published by the Texas Forest Service reveals that the wood using industry in Texas extends across the state. Most of the wood using industry--the eighth largest employer among Texas manufacturing industries--is indeed, located in East Texas; however, wood products manufacturing facilities also are located in Potter, Cameron, Tom Green, Ector, Hall, El Paso and other counties far removed from the East Texas timber belt.

Thanks to recent products innovations and marketing initiatives, new manufactured forest products are adding to the state's economic base. One such innovation is the utilization of a statewide tree resource which has traditionally been considered no more than a pest: mesquite. Mesquite cooking wood production has become a multi-million dollar industry in just the past few years. Also, mesquite wood products such as furniture, flooring, novelties and even briefcases are becoming quite popular, even in other states.

Though it is mostly confined to river areas of Texas, native Texas pecan timber is spread throughout the state. This timber resource is attracting more and more interest due to its availability and unique appeal.

In Texas a fledgling industry is

Don's Diary

By Don Rutherford

Last week we spoke of turning points in our lives, especially as they dealt with career changes. But turning points do not have to be with career changes alone. There are many other "turning points" in life. The "empty-nest" is a definite time of turning. The "give it all away syndrome" that so many senior adults get is a definite time. The "I don't care" of a teen ager is indeed a definite time.

What makes these things happen? In the next few weeks I want us to look at some physical, emotional, and spiritual reasons of turning points.

Today let us look at the word "crisis". When a crisis comes into our private domain we are never the same afterwards. We will be left with battle scars when the ugly head of hurt rears up into our peaceful living.

What does a crisis do to us? There are four things we want to look at about a crisis event.

growing in the form of southern pine roofing shakes. As opposed to traditional cedar shakes, pine shakes are manufactured in Texas using Texas grown timber, thereby contributing to the Texas economy. Pressure treated with preservatives, the competitively priced pine shakes promise to last two to three times longer than cedar roofing.

A rather unusual forest product which is beginning to attract interest is shiitake mushrooms. These edible, perhaps even gourmet, mushrooms have been cultivated for years in Japan. Currently, the mushrooms are being produced in large volumes in Virginia and other eastern states. Shiitake mushrooms are considered a forest product since they must be grown on logs, primarily oak. Mushroom cultivation consumes large quantities of oak pulpwood. One of the appealing aspects of this endeavor is that it can be done on a small scale without a large capital investment.

With proper care and innovative use of our tree resources, Texas trees will continue to enrich our surroundings and produce useful wood products for future Texans as well.

It's Like A Whole Other Country.

Elections

Voting Yes

Some 40 to 50 million votes will be needed to win the 1988 presidential election. If current prediction are accurate, almost as many people will vote for the losing candidate as vote for the winner.

Some 80 million American adults, nearly a majority, will not vote at all. Such silence is usually viewed as approval, yet the new President will have the proven support of only about one out of four adults.

Two Parties?

Most of us believe only two candidates are running for President, but in fact as many as two dozen will appear on ballots in one state or another.

Those who met to create our nation made no provision for political parties. In the election of 1788, George Washington had no party. He was elected without opposition.

After eight years in office, Washington, in the Philadelphia Daily American Advertiser in September 1796, warned against political parties.

A group calling themselves Federalists wanted a stronger government in Washington. The Democratic-Republicans thought the states should keep more power.

Washington's advice about parties was ignored. In the December election, Federalist John Adams defeated Democratic-Republican Thomas Jefferson.

did promise a care free life but He did promise that He cared about our life.

If we took out people of the Bible who never experienced crisis we would have to take out Nehemiah, Jeremiah, Peter, Paul and, of course, Job. All these men were servants of God but they hurt. Your pastor or spiritual leader may hurt also! He is human.

Last of all, a crisis allows us into the hurting community. An old Indian says "Don't let me judge another until I have walked for two weeks in his shoes." As people who have been through the rough times we can be the hand-holders; the coffee-chasers; the hall-walkers; the prayer warriors; the encouragers; the rebuilders of those who may be hurting now.

Paula Ripple in "Called to be friends" says "When we have walked through the darkness we can see a new beginning." Crisis will change us!!

P.S. Hope is the power that gives a person confidence to step out and try.

Garment care in the 80s can be quite a challenge, involving a variety of fabrics, designs, dyes, and fabric finishes. As important as any of these factors, say home economists from Whirlpool Corporation, is garment construction.

It's a simple fact that well-made clothes last longer and look better through repeated use and washing. When selecting new clothes, the home economists suggest you look for the following:

- ample seam allowances.
- tight secure stitching
- finished seams.
- specific wash and dry instructions.
- trim and lining that can be washed and dried in the same way as the rest of the article
- snags and pulls.
- avoid clothes with puckered seams or wrinkles that appear to be pressed in.
- sturdily sewn buttons.

Those favored items in your wardrobe can remain favorites with proper use and care—and good construction gives them a head start.

All radiant space heaters warm people and objects in the ray's path—not the air. So it's important to remember that bigger doesn't always mean better. For maximum energy savings, lower the thermostat on your home's central furnace to 55-60 degrees, and place the heater only in the rooms that are being used. You'll enjoy warm comfort and lower energy bills all winter long.

Electric Space Heaters Are Cost Efficient

When winter moves your family indoors, it's possible to stay comfortable while lowering your home's monthly energy bills. An effective, inexpensive, and easy solution is a portable electric space heater, according to the Edison Electric Institute, the association of investor-owned electric utilities.

A portable electric space heater gives your family warm comfort, without the expense of keeping the whole house warm. Another advantage is never having to buy and store fuel, or remembering to have enough on hand. And since electric heaters don't burn any fuel, you don't need to solve any ductwork or venting problems. You'll also have peace of mind with no open flames or dangerous exhaust fumes to worry about.

Portable electric space heaters come in a wide range of prices and styles, and many offer a safety feature that turns the unit off if it's tipped over. Because your space heater is portable, you can move it where you need it most, and because it's an electric space heater, installation is done as soon as you plug it in.

Space heaters put you in control of how much heat you want, by offering a range of wattages. In addition, many models have thermostats to maintain pre-set temperature levels. Quartz heaters, resembling a fluorescent light tube in a metal enclosure two to three feet high, or wide, are gaining popularity with consumers. Quartz heaters produce a wider heat band, and some have fans to force the heat farther out. Some of these also offer a timer to turn the element on and off.

CONSUMER ALERT

by Jim Mattox Attorney General

Credit repair: BEWARE

Texas consumers should beware of the recent proliferation of credit repair services--businesses that promise to improve a person's credit history or rating by removing derogatory information from a person's credit file. They often charge exorbitant fees, attracting customers through mass media. In many instances, these credit repair businesses operate in violation of Texas law.

In general, credit repair businesses operate by generating dispute letters that challenge information in consumers' credit files. Many credit repair businesses promise to remove derogatory information without concern for whether the information is correct.

Under the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act, a consumer has the right to go directly to a credit reporting agency to request that inaccurate information be corrected. The credit reporting agency cannot charge for this service. However, credit repair businesses take advantage of consumers' lack of knowledge of this law by offering to provide services that the consumer can usually do on his own.

In addition, many credit repair businesses also promise to obtain credit cards for persons regardless of whether they have been refused by card issuers or have bad credit. They prey on people who have a history of bad credit and are desperately seeking to build up a good credit record.

In response to deceptive practices of credit repair businesses, the Texas Legislature in 1987 passed the Credit Services Organizations Act. This law applies to any company which provides services to improve a consumer's credit history or rating, obtain an extension of credit for a consumer, or provide advice on how to improve or obtain credit. The act exempts regulated financial institutions including banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions. Non-profit organizations, licensed real estate brokers, lawyers, registered securities broker-dealers and consumer reporting agencies are also exempted.

The Act requires a credit repair business to file a registration statement with the Secretary of State before doing business and to obtain a $10,000 surety bond or surety account. The money is held for the benefit of consumers who have been

A&M marketing professor says children are an important consumer group

COLLEGE STATION - Whether it's at a convenience store or a toy store, children annually spend over $1 billion a year. Yet they are often overlooked as an important consumer group and sometimes treated with little respect, says a marketing professor at Texas A&M University.

Dr. James McNeal, who has completed one of the first books on children as consumers, says stores can teach children a good deal about smart shopping, such as how to compare products or even count change. Some retailers cringe at the thought of children coming in the door, however, says McNeal.

Interactions between children and retailers are large in number, said the marketing professor in Texas A&M's College of Business Administration. For example, he pointed out that a 10-year old makes an average of 2.3 trips to a store per week.

"They make as many trips to stores as adults and the money spent is discretionary in that they generally can spend it on anything they want," said McNeal. Other than viewing children as a current market for a wide range of items, retailers may view them as a future market that is to be cultivated now, or as an influential market that -- if courted -- could pay off in patronage from parents, McNeal noted.

damaged as a result of a violation of the Act. The law also requires specific written disclosures to be given the consumer before the consumer signs any contract for services or pays money. The Attorney General is authorized to file suit to enjoin violations and to recover penalties of up to $10,000.

Specifically, the Credit Services Organizations Act requires credit services organizations to provide a disclosure statement to a buyer before the buyer signs a contract or pays money. The disclosure statement must contain: 1) a complete description of the services offered and the cost of each service; 2) a statement of the buyer's right to make a claim against the bond or surety account; and 3) the name and address of the surety company, depository or trustee holding the bond or surety account.

In addition, every credit services contract must contain a conspicuous statement, in bold type, next to the buyer's signature that:

You, the buyer, may cancel this contract any time before midnight of the third day after the date of the transaction. See the attached notice of cancellation form for an explanation of this right.

If you have a problem with a credit repair company, contact any of my Consumer Protection Division offices in Austin, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Lubbock, El Paso or McAllen. The Attorney General's Office is the people's law firm. We're here to help you.

FRUITS & VEGETABLES

Not Just for Jack-O'-Lanterns

A nicely carved pumpkin can delight children at Halloween, but these relatives of the squash family are delicious for autumn treats, too.

Smaller pumpkins, sometimes called sugar pumpkins, are the best for cooking, says the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. They have a fine-grained flesh which is neither stringy nor watery like the larger field pumpkins used for Jack-O'-Lanterns.

The small pumpkins are excellent for soups, stews, vegetable side dishes, desserts, and baked goods.

Fresh pumpkin can be microwaved or steamed. Cut into 1 1/2- to 2-inch chunks. To microwave, cook 2 pounds of pumpkin chunks on high for about 8 minutes. To cook, steam over boiling water for 15 to 20 minutes.

Cooked pumpkin can be purced for use in breads, muffins, cakes, pies, and mousses. Allow about 2 pounds of pumpkin for every cup of puree.

Pumpkin season is short, so don't miss the chance for fresh pumpkin pleasures this fall. X

Pumpkin Orange Mousse

- 2 oranges
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped crystallized ginger
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg

- 1 cup cooked fresh pumpkin puree
- 4 egg whites
- 1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar

- Orange Cream
- 1/2 cup heavy cream
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated fresh orange peel

Grate enough orange peel to equal 2 teaspoons; reserve 1 teaspoon for the mousse and another teaspoon for the orange cream. Squeeze oranges and measure 1/2 cup juice. Place juice in a medium bowl; sprinkle gelatin over the juice. Allow to soften for 5 minutes. Pour in 1/4 cup boiling water and stir to dissolve the gelatin. Stir in the sugar, 1 teaspoon orange peel, ginger and nutmeg. Stir in pumpkin. Refrigerate mixture about 30 to 45 minutes or until it starts to gel, stirring occasionally.

In a large bowl, beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff peaks form. Whisk squash mixture vigorously for 15 seconds. Stir in about one-third of the egg whites and combine thoroughly, then fold in remaining whites. Pour into dessert glasses. Chill at least 1 hour or until set.

At serving time, prepare orange cream. Whip cream with sugar; fold in reserved orange peel. Garnish each mousse with a dollop of orange cream. About 145 calories per serving based on 8 servings. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Trickham News

By Mrs. O.R. Boenicke

Sunday school was held at Trickham at 10 a.m. Sunday morning.

The 84 party was held Thursday night at 6 p.m. There were only 14 present this week. The ones that come from Bangs and Santa Anna were not there. Ovella Williams was hostess.

I went to Church Sunday with Sylvia and Doug Perkins at Bangs and ate dinner with them and visited in the afternoon. We watched the Cowboys get beat by one. I thought sure they would beat this time. They had 20 the first half and the others did not have any. They got 24 the last half and the Cowboys got only 3 points, a field goal.

October 22, Ora and Joe Stacy and his sister Sammie went to Martin and Nancy home near Cleburne for Ora's 80th birthday celebration. Ora and Joe's daughter Zonelle and Bill Hultz and sons were there. Ricky, Ronnie, David Hultz and Ricky's wife Dail and daughter Rechel.

Wednesday Natalie McIver went to Abilene Country Club for her sister's birthday. They had lunch and played bridge. A.B. Hughes came by from Odessa to see Rankin and Natalie and had lunch with them Sunday.

Wanda McIver spent Saturday night with Genia McIver.

Thursday Florence Stearns visited Sug Stearns and Winnie Haynes. Lou Vaughn visited Florence Sunday evening.

Wednesday evening Daisy McClatchy, Edna Laughlin, Sybel Regor, Sug Stearns and Genia McIver all visited Leona Henderson.

Joyce Kirk visited me Saturday morning.

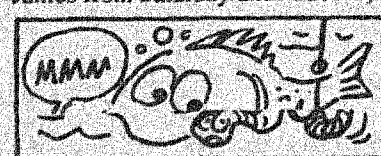

Yettev Cole and Russic and Florence Bauhch were hostess at the Porcelain Art Club at the Adams Street Community Center at Brownwood Saturday. Saturday night Inez and Melton and Judy and Russic and Oneta James had supper at Lord's Acre at Santa Anna.

Margaret and Warren Barton were in Harker Heights on Thursday for a birthday visit with Mildred Shine and Carl Vinson. Friday and Saturday the Bartons visited in Waco with Keith and Keith Jr., Chris, Kelley and Debbie Bilbrey of Dallas and Jane and Ben Varner. Maureen Bilbrey, Keith's wife, attended a funeral mass on Thursday in Quincy for her father, Edward Cierdi. Saturday Margaret and Warren visited with Kathy Bull, James Silar, Terry and Tresa Bilbrey all of Goldthwaite. Sunday the Barton and the Reverend Radford Allen and his wife, Dr. Lina Allen had lunch at Brownwood Country Club.

Visitors with Lou Vaughn were Joyce and Tona Kirk who came by Saturday. Genia McIver also visited her. Lou visited Edna Laughlin Sunday evening.

Recent news: Howell and Gertrude Martin took Russic James and Yettev Cole to eat out at Brownwood.

Inez and Melton and Judy Johnson of Granbury are visiting Russic James from Saturday until Tuesday.

...really cushion the blow.

A bag filled with air can be a plaything, or it can be a lifesaver. By 1993, all cars built to run on American roads will be equipped with air bags or automatic safety belts. Air bags aren't new. They've been thoroughly tested. They fill with a harmless gas and don't inflate in "fender-benders." Together with your lap-shoulder safety belt, air bags provide the best protection you can get.
