Mountaineer Band To Perform At Howard Payne

The Santa Anna High School Mighty Mountaineer band has been invited to perform at halftime of the Howard Payne homecoming football game in Brownwood Saturday afternoon. The performance will take place at 2:00 p.m. They will be entered in the parade competition that morning.

Mountaineers Travel This Week, Junior High At Home

The Santa Anna High School Mountaineers will travel to Rochelle this Friday for a 7:30 game. They trounced all over Miles here last Friday before a capacity homecoming crowd. The 40-20 victory started their district play in high fashion. Coach Gray says they must keep that intensity to defeat Rochelle's wishbone offense this week and continue their district quest. See page four for a report on last week's game.

The Junior High Mountaineers are at home this week for a 6:30 game Thursday evening after suffering their first loss at Miles last week. That story is also found on page four.

The Junior Varsity is idle again this week.

Report On Open House

Attendance at the recent school open house was good. Approximately 200 attended the K-6 open house and about 100 were in attendance at the 7-12 open house. There were many favorable comments from parents as they were allowed time to meet the teachers. The teachers were also allowed time to explain what they expected in their classes and to explain their classroom rules and grading procedures. Plans are for the open house to become an annual affair.

TASA/TASB

The Texas Association of School Administrators/Texas Association of School Boards joint convention was held in San Antonio on September 30 - October 3. In attendance from Santa Anna were Supt. and Mrs. Gerald Brister and Business Manager Judy Hartman and Stanley Hartman. Also in attendance were board members and their guests, Gary, Theresa, Dennis and Toby Absher, Danny and Glenda Cook, Roddy and Debbie

Rachel Phillips Named Homecoming Queen

Rachel Phillips was named Homecoming Queen during halftime activities of the football game last Friday. Rachel is a senior student at SAHS and also serves as drum major of the Mighty Mountaineer Band. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Phillips. Dean, Dickie and Gail Horner, and Terry and Darla McIver. In addition to attending their 200 individual and general sessions, the administrators and board members viewed exhibits from 250 commercial companies. The local group was also treated to a night at Sea World and a concert and dance featuring Johnny Rodriguez and Louise Mandrell. The trip was very interesting, enlightening, and enjoyable.

TEAMS

On October 25th and 26th, the district will administer the exit level Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills. The TEAMS, mandated by House Bill 72, passed by the second called general session of the 68th Texas Legislature in July, 1984, measures basic skills in the area of mathematics, reading and writing in grades 1, 3, 5, 7, 9 and in math and English language arts in grades 11/12 prior to their receiving a high school diploma.

The TEAMS exit test is administered at least twice each

What you hold in your hands is documented proof that we are a nation of divergent voices, all of whom have the right to be heard, whether we agree or not. And that is truly unique compared with the majority of the world.

Coach On Leave Of Absence

Coach Sandy McSpadden has asked for and been granted a leave of absence. During the leave of absence, High School Principal Frank Gray will be Athletic Director and head football coach. The district is presently seeking a certified English teacher to assume classroom duties.

October Is Attendance Month

October is a very important month for school attendance. The district will receive state money based upon the average daily attendance for October; therefore, it is important that the students attend school.

Homecoming Is Once Again A Big Success

A bonfire, parade, pep rally, a winning ball game, coffee reception, business meeting, lunch and class reunions made up the most of the festivities this past weekend when Ex-students of Santa Anna high school once again gathered for their annual homecoming.

They came to town from near and far to renew old friendships and recall old memories and our community was a beehive of activities.

Winners for best floats in the Friday afternoon parade were as follows, 1st place to the Senior class float, "Past, Present, Future"; and 2nd place to the Freshman class for the float "Hang the Bulldogs". The best decorated car was that carrying Homecoming Queen candidate Holly Hoffman. The best decorated door in the high school belonged to Mrs. Becky Martin's class and in the Junior high, Mrs. Kingsberry's class.

The Mountaineers entertained the Exes Friday night in fine fashion with a big win in their first district ball game of the season, when they defeated the Miles Bulldogs before a capacity crowd by a score of 47-20. The band put on another stellar performance and all the homecoming celebrities were introduced.

Ex-student of the Year, Ada Lois Newman Williamson was escorted to the football field for introduction by president of the Ex-student Association, Dickie Horner. Coming Home Queen, Donna Williams Faries was escorted by Eddie Jones, 2nd vice-president of the association and Coming Home King, Ted Ford was presented by Gay Rutherford Abernathy, 1st vice-president of the association of ex-students.

The Mighty Mountaineer Band entertained the exes prior to the business meeting on Saturday morning and played the National Anthem and the school Alma Mater after the meeting was called to order.

James Hartman, Santa Anna High School student body president, welcomed the Ex-students. The invocation was given by Eddie Jones and Superintendent Gerald Brister gave a report from the schools.

Secretary of the ex-student Association, Deborah Aldridge Long, read the minutes of the 1987 meeting and Dickie Horner lead the business meeting. Special recognitions were made by Gay Abernathy and Horner introduced the special guests, Ex-student of the year, coming home queen and coming home king.

James Medcalf, of the class of 1948, was honored as having traveled the greatest distance, from Shelton, Washington. Bessie Watkins Stanley of the class of 1921 was recognized as the ex-student from the earliest class, of 1921, and Letha Ragsdale Parker of Denison, the teacher from the earliest class, 1934.

A painting of a Mountaineer done by ex-student Gary Patterson was presented to the school by the booster club and shown to the ex-students at the Saturday morning meeting. Ex-student Robert Pritchard, owner of Frames & Things of Brownwood, had framed the painting.

The group re-elected Roberta Morgan Tomlinson and Randy Brown as directors for the new year. Other officers with another year to serve are Dickie Horner as president, Gay Abernathy as 1st vice-president, Eddie Jones, 2nd, vice-president and Deborah Long, secretary-treasurer.

Mineral Appraisals Down; Utility Appraisals Up

John Burke and Terry Pipkin of the Thomas Y. Pickett Company of Dallas were at the Monday, October 10 meeting of the Coleman County Tax Appraisal Board, presenting the 1989 contract for mineral and utility appraisals for Coleman County.

Due to the decline in petroleum prices, mineral appraisals are down approximately one million dollars over the prior year. However, utility appraisals have increased slightly, but over $300,000 less is shown in Coleman County by Pickett & Company this year.

The contract is for $59,000 for the company's services, which is paid in quarterly installments by the Appraisal district.

Barbara Kingsbery, Chairman, lead the meeting. Others attending were Jake McCreary and Richard Johnson. Dwight Nanny and Lang. C. Martin were absent.

In addition to routine business, Chief Appraiser Bill Jones gave an update on tax collections, showing 98 percent of the 2987 taxes collected for the eight entities. The 1988 collections are coming in well, with over half of the year's taxes usually collected during the first month when the three percent deduction is available.

Mr. Jones also stated that the

The week of October 2-8, just passed, marked National Newspaper Week with this year's theme being "Newspapers: Freedom in Our Hands."

To mark the week, Webster Hawkins, president of the National Newspaper Association, wrote the following which we were unable to share with you last week due to limited space:

As you read this, consider what you hold in your hands. Not just a copy of a familiar harbinger of news, whether weekly, daily or something in-between. Not just a newspaper that we expect to be delivered at a regular time, a comfortable reference, and such an integral part of our lives that we rarely give it special heed.

Thoughts From Our Pastors

John Howze Full Gospel Fellowship Pentecostal Church Of God

St. John 3:16 "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

This scripture has been often referred to as the "Golden Text of the Bible". It is the central truth of the Bible. It is also the most important message in the Bible.

More messages probably have been centered around this scripture than all the others combined. Though it has been preached on hundreds of thousands of times, it is still the sweetest message in God's word, both to the sinner and to the believer.

God so loved the world, means, every man, woman, boy or girl regardless of race, color, creed or status in this life. Jesus was born in the lowest place so no man would feel lower than Him. He is meek and lowly of heart!

God gave His son before the beginning; when the world was in the planning stage before creation. He rolled the scroll of time past Adam and Eve's failure on to the end of time, seeing man's need of repentance, regeneration, and restoration. His plan was to supply the need of every man.

It doesn't make any difference if a person was, or is, a murderer, rapist, dope addict, alcoholic, or church member, that love is extended to all. Jesus is no different to any person. Romans 3:23 says "For all have sinned and come short of the Glory of God."

The Old testament sacrifices could never take away the consciousness of sin. There had to be a sacrifice that could clear this out of the way. Jesus, the pure, spotless lamb of God, had to die and become sin for mankind. He knew no sin, so his blood was the only sacrifice that could cleanse us, because it was pure. God willingly gave His only Son. Jesus willingly came to do the will of the Father. They both loved us enough to pay the price that we might be free from sin.

Romans 6:23 "For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord. All we must do to receive this free gift is to ask his forgiveness for our sins. Revelation 3:20, "Behold I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him and he with me" Romans 5:8. "But God commendeth his love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." Romans 4:25. "Who was delivered for our offenses, and was raised again for our justification."

Whether you are a great sinner or a good moral person, you can't get that fellowship with God restored without repenting of your sin. That not only means to ask forgiveness for sin, but to turn from that sin as well. When we come to Him in repentance being sorry we ever sinned against Him, He will forgive, regenerate, and restore. This is an absolute truth. It will happen.

Library Notes
Check It Out

It is important for children to grow up in homes that are rich in language. Listening to new words and how they're used, sharing ideas and thoughts, and learning to communicate effectively are important skills in your child's reading development.

When you spend time talking to and with your child, you are helping to share the magic of words and the excitement of communicating ideas. Here are some specified activities you can use.

1. When you tell stories or read books with your child, have him or her retell parts of the story.
2. Encourage your child to create make believe conversations with pets or dolls. Join in on the fun, too!
3. Provide lots of listening activities for your child, such as records, plays and family sing-alongs.
4. Make up a story ("I was walking through the woods one day when I saw...") and ask your child to finish it.
5. Have your child dictate a short story to you (two to three sentences are enough) and write it on a sheet of paper. Encourage your child to illustrate the story. Staple several of these together and place this "book" in the family library. Read the stories back to your child frequently.
6. As you are working on a task or project, such as washing dishes or building a birdhouse, talk about it with your child. Encourage him or her to ask questions about the steps you take.
7. Encourage your child to use language independently by listening, showing interest, and asking questions.
8. Provide plenty of opportunities for your child to share thoughts about his or her feelings and emotions.
9. Share some sentence stems with your child, encouraging him or her to complete them. For example: "I get angry when..." or "When I get older, I want to..."
10. Talk with your child every chance you have. Help your child appreciate the richness of language and the fact that it serves as a natural way of sharing between two or more people.

First Residential Subdivision Okayed For Stacy Dam Area

Patrol Cars Purchased, New Jailer Named

The first residential subdivision was approved for the Stacy Dam area when the Coleman County Commissioners met recently.

Precinct 2 Commissioner Jake McCreary was welcomed back after his surgery and was able to participate in the discussion and vote on what may be the first of a number of sub-divisions at the Stacy Dam area in southwest Coleman County. James A. Hafner is the developer of that is being called "Stacy Dam Estates".

On the approved plat are 33 lots sized 110' by 200'. The total area involved is 19.5 acres and is located north of the store near the dam and east of the gates entering the construction site. A county road provides the north and west boundaries of the area to be developed.

Some provisions of the approved documents state that construction must be single family dwellings only and no less than 1200 square feet in area exclusive of garages, porches, and outbuildings. All construction is to be new. No trailers will be allowed, but doublewide buildings are approved if they are on pier and beam and with wheels removed and underpinned.

Provisions are also made for the developer to review and approve all building plans. Other action and discussions were as follows:

*Invoices received from the tax appraisal district and from the state for workman's comp insurance was approved.

*Several house furnishings located in the county jail building were purchased from H.F. Fenton. These had originally been bought and used by Fenton while maintaining a residence there. The items purchased will remain in the building for continued use by the county.

The Oct. 10 Regular Meeting of the Coleman County Commissioners was attended by all elected members, and by Chief Deputy Sheriff Wade Turner, and Gary Boyd and Grantland Groves of the Coleman Ministerial Association.

Groves and Boyd requested and received an increase of $50.00 a month in county funding of the food bank and the Leaves and Fishes Program. The county and the city will each fund the programs at levels of $200.00 monthly as service is expanded to the needy persons in the area.

Turner was present for the opening of bids on two sheriff patrol vehicles. Holley Chevrolet and Bledsoe Ford were the only bidders. The court awarded the bid to Bledsoe Ford, the low bidder. The net cost to the county after trade in is $14,850.53. The units purchased are LTD models with a special police package.

Turner also told the commissioners that a female jailer had been dismissed and that he was recommending Jackie Kenney be employed as a replacement. Kenney's hiring was approved with the understanding that the new jailer would get the necessary state certification as soon as possible.

An additional refrigerator/freezer with ice maker was approved for purchase from Sheriff Fenton. The unit was purchased by Fenton for his personal use and will remain in the kitchen of the jail after Fenton vacates the premises.

Barbara Freeman, County Treasurer, reported that income and expenses for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 were as follows: Income: $2,044,198.45; Expenses: $2,390,518.55. In addition, Precinct 2 and Precinct 3 each have outstanding liabilities on equipment of approx. $98,000.00. County funds on deposit at the end of the year totaled $432,028.85.

The commissioners agreed to pay 20 percent of the cost of a bridge on the county road known as "Horne Hill Road". The location of the road is about one and a half miles east of Valera off US Highway 67. The bridge location is about a mile north of the highway. The cost to the county will be $7,600.00 with half of that being advanced to the state highway department at this time. Actual construction is projected for 1990.

An easement was granted to West Oil Co. to bore under a county road in Precinct 3.

Bills presented by Shirley Sasing, County Auditor, were approved for payment.

Fire Prevention Posters Due Monday

This is fire prevention week and children are working on Fire Prevention posters for the annual contest sponsored by the Ladies Aux. of the Santa Anna Fire Department. The posters are due to be turned in Monday, October 17 by the close of the school day. They may be turned in at the Nurse's office or, if done as a class project, may be given to the classroom teacher.

The children were given a copy of the rules for the contest at school last week. If any child does not have a copy they may be obtained by contacting Debbie Dean at the nurse's office at the elementary school.

All students are asked to participate in this activity as a reminder of what they can do to make their home and community a safer place to live.

Postal Service Has Free Family Tree Charts

Santa Anna Postmaster, Gary Absher, announces the arrival of Family Tree poster and handout charts. The charts are free to the public and may be picked up at the Santa Anna Post Office.

This program is designed to strengthen the unique relationship between the Postal Service and the American community. The "Plant a Family Tree" project illustrates the strong ties that the Postal Service and the American people have had for more than 200 years. By participating in the "Plant a Family Tree" event, the people of Santa Anna will learn about their family heritage and their place in the history of this country, and they will be reminded of the important role that the Postal Service has played in that history.

Lotteries Are Illegal In Texas

Editor's note: In recent weeks we have been asked by local groups to notify our readers of raffles, especially for the homecoming events. It has been brought to our attention that it is illegal for us to even mention the "giveaways" since it is a violation of postal regulations to promote a lottery through the mail and most of our readers receive their papers by mail. Therefore, in the future we will be unable to help even charitable groups by mentioning such projects. Please take note of this statement and refrain from asking us to run such articles in the future. We are always willing to be of help to our local organizations, but must abide by the law.

The following column by Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox will help clarify our position.

CONSUMER ALERT

by Jim Mattox Attorney General

Although lotteries are legal in some states, they are still illegal in Texas. In addition, it is illegal to send lottery information into the United States from other countries. At least one Canadian organization is sending gambling information into Texas. Those who respond through the mails are also in violation of federal laws, according to postal authorities.

FOREIGN LOTTERIES

The post office is conducting an investigation of the illegal Canadian operation and will attempt to stop any mail going back to the lottery. So if you have tried to enter such a lottery, don't be surprised if your entry is returned to you marked "Return to sender".

CHARITY

Most people do not realize that lotteries conducted for charitable purposes are also illegal. For example, a local boys club may sell tickets for $1 each to raise money for football uniforms. The prize may be anything from a color T.V. to a home-cooked meal. Or a church group may "accept donations" for chances to win a prize in order to collect money for needy people.

Either way, the law is the same. Persons who set up lotteries, and persons who buy lottery tickets are committing criminal acts.

BINGO

In areas where voters have authorized charities to conduct bingo games, those charities licensed by the Comptroller of Public Accounts may conduct such games. There are number of rules concerning legal bingo which are set forth in article 179d Tex. Rev. Civ. Stat. Ann. If your group is interested in being licensed for bingo, contact the State Comptroller's Office at (512) 475-2386.

If you have received a solicitation for entering a lottery, your best course of action is to throw it away.

If you need more help or information on consumer problems, contact your nearest Attorney General Consumer Protection Office (in Austin, Dallas, McAllen, El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, and San Antonio). The Attorney General's Office is the people's law firm. We're here to help you.

Q. How can I rid my pet of fleas and ticks safely and effectively?

A. Fleas and ticks can be an easy problem to handle. All it takes is a few simple steps and the right products. High-quality lines of flea and tick products are highly effective when used consistently together and as directed. You may want to look for products which are biodegradable and alcohol-free.

To keep your pet happy and healthy as well as flea free, check it for irritation after using any flea treatment. Red spots or rashes indicate a sensitivity to the detergents or flea-killing agents, so it's a good idea to switch to a product with a different ingredient base.

A good source for safe flea and tick control products is the "Our Best Friends" Catalog. Along with all the catalog's fine pet care supplies, the flea and tick control products are chosen after research on each one's effectiveness and its safety to you and your animals.

The Ultimate Couch Potato Meal

Are you a couch potato? That's an increasingly popular term for Americans who spend time at home in front of their TVs and VCRs.

Although no one has studied the habits of the "couch potatoes", convenience seems to be of prime importance to their sense of comfort. Home entertainment centers with TVs, VCRs and cassette or compact disc players give couch potatoes virtually everything they need to rest and relax at home. Microwaves, capable of heating up a variety of frozen foods, make being a couch potato easy.

Although most microwaveable food items are convenient to heat in, few, if any, will have had the impact on couch potatoes as has the national introduction of the Micro-Magic™ line of delicious hamburgers, cheeseburgers, chicken sandwiches, french fried potatoes, hash brown potato sticks and vanilla, chocolate and strawberry milkshakes that go from the freezer to the table in less than two minutes. To a true couch potato, time away from an important televised sporting event, movie or MTV extravaganza has been an unavoidable problem. Now, Micro-Magic™ solves that problem and others caused by the unannounced arrival of friends and late night hunger pangs.

Convenience is only one of the features which makes the new micro-

Delicious new microwaveable foods mean less time away from the tube for couch potatoes.

JACKSON ON THE RUN!..... Mountaineer Herbert Jackson accounted for a whopping 241 yards of offense against the Miles Bulldogs last Friday night. Look out, Rochelle!

Mountaineers Entertain Exes With A Big Win

Rochelle Is Next, There Friday Night, 7:30

The Santa Anna Mountaineers entertained the homecoming crowd with a big win and an important win last Friday when they trounced the Bulldogs from Miles to by a score of 47-20.

It was a win big in score and big because it was the season opener for the local squad. After having some difficult times of late the Mountaineers were ready to show they could come back from adversity and get in the win column in a big way. And where better to do it than in front of hundreds of SAHS Ex-students and hometown fans.

The Mountaineers took charge of the ballgame from the very start and put this one away early, scoring 21 first eight minutes and coming back to add 19 more in the second quarter to open with a 40-7 halftime lead.

Herbert Jackson and Reece McIver combined for five touchdowns in Santa Anna's first big half. Jackson rolled up 241 yards on 20 carries for the night. McIver added 137 yard on 22 attempts. James Hartman was 2 for 2 in punting and accounted for one touchdown.

Jackson's first-half scoring scampers covered 10, 14, and 78 yards. McIver pitched in with scoring runs of 23 yards and one yard in the first half. He came back to carry the ball across the goal line on a 2-yard run in the third period.

Santa Anna's other touchdown came on Jody Purcell's 45-yard pass reception from James Hartman. Hartman also kicked two extra points.

According to coach Frank Gray, this was the best effort of the year for the offensive linemen, as much be evident when you have a total output by the offense of 513 yards. Santa Anna.

The linemen are the difference in a team moving the ball or stalling out. Great blocking was done by Sammy Ramirez, Scotty Anderson, Brad Wise, Ken Brixey, Bobby DeLeon, Jackie Smith, Kevin Blanton and Scott Valdez who all had outstanding performances.

Jackie Smith is our most improved player of the week," adds Gray.

He says the defense also played very well except for a couple of plays. Especially good defensive performances were by James Hartman, with two interceptions

Alonzo Hernandez, Byron Dowdy and Reece McIver. The game evened the records of both of the 15-A teams at 3-3. It was the first district contest for each. Gray emphasizes that they all count now and the Mountaineers must play each week with intensity to make a good football team a great one.

They must play excellent defense to stop Rochelle's wishbone offense.

These young men need the support of all good Mountaineer fans on the road as well as on the home field. Game time at Rochelle will be 7:30.

Citizen of The Week

The Citizen of the Week at Santa Anna High School is Rollin Gunter. He works hard and is always polite. He was very willing and cooperative when called upon Friday night as he always is to do what was needed. He gave his time to assist in parking cars at the Homecoming game.

According to school counselor Arlene Denning, School faculty and administrators often depend on people such as this but sometime fail to recognize this outstanding quality of dependability. "We appreciate Rollin Gunter for exemplifying this trait. We at Santa Anna High School are proud to announce Rollin Gunter as our Citizen of the Week," she adds.

Rollin is a senior and is the son of Tressia Gunter.

Junior Mountaineers Suffer First Loss

By Dean Bass

The Miles Junior Bulldogs broke the Junior Mountaineers winning streak last Thursday, October 6, 1988. It was an evening for mistakes by the SAJH team. The Mountaineers turned the ball over to the opponents three times; twice on fumbles and once on a pass interception. They also were penalized three times. It seemed that the harder Santa Anna tried, the more problems they experienced.

Miles received the opening kickoff and set the tone for things to come by returning the kick 85 yards for their first touchdown. After one series of plays by the Mounties, the Bulldogs drove in for a second TD and took the lead 16-0.

Neither team was able to score during the second or third quarter. However, on the first play of the fourth quarter, Miles increased their lead 22-0 on an 18 yard pass. The Mounties then took control and drove the distance for their only score. Rusty Fleeman scored from the 2-yard line.

Statistically, the game was much closer than the score indicates.

Vicente Frausto was the leading ground gainer with 71 yards. Rusty Fleeman had 42 yards and one touchdown. Carlos Garza had 17 yards, and Paul Morris rushed for 15 yards.

Keith Morris led the Mountaineer defense with 7 tackles and 2 fumble recoveries. Roger Guerrero, Netza Siller, Vicente Frausto, and Wesley Dockery each had 6 tackles.

The Junior High team will be at home this week against the Rochelle Horncis. Game time is scheduled for 6:30.

Jill At Home In Show Ring

Granddaughter of Local Lady Making Mark With Horses

Editor's note: The following story about the granddaughter of Jewell Hosch of Santa Anna appeared recently in the Tullia Herald and we feel sure our readers will enjoy reading about this outstanding young lady.

BY JIM REYNOLDS

Jill Hosch has gotten well acquainted with her horses, "Red" and "Dipper."

"Jill spends a lot of time with her horses," the youthful horse woman's father, Pascal Hosch, admits. She added that, "We ride almost every day. In the winter it's pretty hard."

Pascal pointed out that "In the winter, she puts on ski pants and gloves and goes anyway," regardless of the weather.

The den of the neat Hosch residence at 62 Fannin Drive bears evidence of the hard work and diligence with which the 12-year-old Jill—"I'll be 13 next month"—and her parents have approached the "family project."

Approximately 18 American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA) all-around—"When I got the most points for the day," Jill explains—almost 25 belt buckles, a saddle the Tullia girl earned for being the high-point individual in the Golden Spread Quarter Horse Association during 1987 and a bevy of photos "tracing Jill and Sam's accomplishments" occupy vantage points throughout the room.

Sam is Jill's younger brother who completed his second year of horse ring experience in '88. "Sam likes to show, but he's a sports enthusiast first and a horseman second," admitted their father.

Pascal explained that "We have five belt buckles that are particularly important to us." Also treasured are medals Jill earned at the All-American Quarter Horse Congress in Columbus, Ohio.

"You couldn't count all the ribbons," Jill volunteered. There is insufficient room for most of these to be displayed.

Although 1988 was a good year for the local horse enthusiast, it was "somewhat of a transition year," because she was riding both Red and the new horse, Dipper.

BUDDIES. Jill Hosch holds a belt buckle and rosettes she won at the state 4-H horse show this summer as her horse, Dipper seems to be implying that he had a hand in the matter. Notice that Miss Hosch's mount is wearing no bridle.

By most person's standards, however, it would have been a banner year.

At the state 4-H horse show, Jill rode Dipper to fourth place in hunter under saddle, eight place in horsemanship and first place in pleasure.

Approximately 150 entries vie in each class at the 4-H state show, where qualification is based on placing in district events. Some 800 youngsters compete in different classes and divisions at state.

On Aug. 14, Miss Hosch attended the Texas Junior Quarter Horse Association awards program and received a buckle for trail and was recognized as reserve junior all-around. She earned these on Red.

Also held in Fort Worth from Aug. 5-14 was the World Cup competition, sponsored by AQHA. The event is conducted on alternate years in different countries, and they

U.S. was the '88 host. Texas provided horses for the riders, none of whom are allowed to ride his/her own mount.

A 17-year-old Australian boy who drew Red won reserve all-around on "Jill's horse." This was a distinct compliment to her training of the animal.

Her ability to perform on different mounts is also significant. Last year she rode Red to high point in individual horsemanship honors in the state 4-H's District II. This year, she was third on Dipper.

The Tullia miss, riding Red, claimed sixth place in trail at the American Junior Quarter Horse Association World Champion, held Aug. 1-7 in Tulsa, Okla. Participants must either own a certain number of points during the year or receive an invitation to the prestigious event.

The Hosch clan had a "pretty fast year" in 1987 when "We hauled a lot until about October," Jill qualified for "Junior World" on Red.

She plans to remain on Red's back through the Junior World this year and then transfer the horse's papers to her 10-year-old brother, Sam.

Then she will ride Dipper—whose registered name is "Skool Guy"—exclusively.

But she will never forget Red, the animal she rode to second place in trail at Congress, the world's largest quarter horse show in '87.

Jill also was a member of the 10-person Texas team, which placed sixth at Congress in '87.

The Tullia miss has lofty goals for the future. Foremost is her desire to "take my new horse, Dipper, to World and Congress."

She has two more years in the same age group at Congress, and she nurtures a burning desire to become high point individual in her age group.

"They setup a number of points," for Junior World, Hosch explains, "which equates to a top ten." Youngsters vie in various shows to build up points in an attempt to qualify.

In addition, each state selects two additional horsemen for its team. Texas has been the high point team in Junior World the last seven years.

The Hosch clan exhibited in "probably 50 shows this year." This was far less than the previous year. "We may have shown in as many as 150 or 200 shows in '87," Pascal said. "We knew Jill was approaching the end of her time with Red."

That year, "Jill wanted to get high point in all four (area) associations in the same year, sort of a grand slam. We managed to get the job done in two associations, and

New research shows: parents' problems cause adulthood depression

COLLEGE STATION — Marital problems and disagreements between parents in child-rearing can affect children so profoundly that they become depressed adults, new research at Texas A&M University has revealed.

Dr. Karen Carlson questioned 45 clinically diagnosed depressed adults to determine the measure of current depression, the measure of parent-child interaction, the quality of family environment and parental marriage status when the subject was 16 years old.

Carlson, who specialized in counseling psychology for her dissertation in Texas A&M's College of Education, found that 31 percent of depression was related to negative childhood experiences.

"It's important for parents and psychologists to know that these things affect children early and have a great impact on the family," Carlson said. "We can use this new information as a preventive measure and keep these negative things from affecting children."

The lack of affectional expression between parents, marital satisfaction of the father, and the father's acceptance of the child were the chief contributors to depression in their children.

Fathers who use hostile control of their children and mothers who control by inflicting guilt on their children are factors related to depression, Carlson said.

She suggested that helping parents interact in a positive accepting way with their children and helping them become comfortable with child-rearing practices would help prevent adult depression.

she was turned-up in the other two." Two of the area associations are headquartered in Amarillo and the other two are in Odessa and Abilene.

He believes that "next year we'll be hauling smarter," learning "when and where to go. We'll try to maximize our efforts; we've learned a lot about that. We'll probably attend 60 percent of the shows we did in '87 and hopefully win the same number of points."

The experience factor causes Hosch, who is associated with First National Bank in Tullia, to think back three years to when we started in '85. We were as green as a gourd.

This was Jill's first year in 4-H. Although the family had owned "ranch-type horses" previously, the daughter's first horse, "Little Red"—known affectionately to the family merely as "Red"—was purchased. He was a nine-year-old who "hadn't been shown in two years. In fact, he had been shown only a limited number of times before Jill got him."

Jill remembers vividly the first time she and Red went to a show. It was in April '85 and the event was a five-county 4-H Day. "We won second in showmanship in our very first class," she recalled.

Due to inexperience, however, wins were infrequent that year.

In 1986, "the kettle got hot. We hauled a lot more and showed almost every weekend during the summer." A summer circuit frequently includes "five or six shows at one time."

When her husband was unable to attend a show, Joyce Hosch became her daughter's driver and advisor, as well as mother.

Although Jill, a Tullia Junior High seventh grader, has learned from experience and has "done a great deal of it on her own," she received professional instruction early in her horse career. "You have to have help if you really do anything," her father acknowledges.

She spent two weeks in Madisonville this summer working with another instructor.

However, Hosch emphasized that "Jill does all the riding. Her instructor never rides the horse."

He explained that "There are nine events, and we wouldn't mind doing all of them." This would include making a "jumper" of Dipper. With this thought in mind, Jill might work with a jumping instructor in Oklahoma to learn the basics.

Are there any new horses in Jill's future?

No immediately, Jill said, but her father added that "If we had more room (for horses), Jill would like to have a young horse to train for futurity shows."

Pascal Hosch says the family has been accused of being in the horse business, but "this is not really true. As Joyce said, 'we're actually in the kid business.'"

Santa Anna Volunteer Fire Department partners in fire prevention

Fire Prevention Week Set October 9 - 15

The theme of Fire Prevention Week 1988 from Oct. 9-15 is "A Sound You Can Live With...Test Your Smoke Detector" and emphasizes one of the easiest steps anyone can take to protect his or her family from fire.

It has been estimated that a person who has a home fire and does not have a smoke detector is twice as likely to die in that fire as another person who suffers the same fire but is protected by smoke detectors.

Obviously, the more we can do to make our homes more firesafe, the more we can reduce our chances of being a fire statistic and what better way to begin than to install adequate smoke detectors in the home.

It has been estimated that one-third of all smoke detectors installed in homes in this country don't work - often because their batteries are dead or missing. Detectors must be tested regularly and the batteries must be changed as required, but at least annually and cleaned regularly according to manufacturer's instructions.

In conjunction with smoke detectors, good fire safety practices can save lives in residential fires. So remember - bedroom doors should always be kept closed at night to keep fire away.

The typical interior residential door may also offer protection from heated air and toxic gases long enough for the sleeper to be aroused by the alarm from a smoke detector. Without a smoke detector, a closed door will still afford the occupants additional protection and time to awake.

If a fire occurs in a residence, all occupants should leave the house quickly and quietly, closing doors behind them to help confine smoke and fire. They should follow the regular or alternate routes designated in the family escape plan.

If you are trapped by a fire, put closed doors between you and smoke and stuff any cracks or vents to keep smoke out. Practice crawling low while imagining the presence of smoke. And tell children not to hide, but try to escape. Too many little bodies are found in closets and under beds.

Fires produce many toxic components of smoke and sleeping occupants of a burning building often inhale these products of fire, including hydrogen, cyanide, sulfur dioxide, ammonia, carbon monoxide and nitrous fumes, to name a few. This smoke or fire may have effect on an individual in attempting to escape fire by loss of muscular coordination for skilled movements, and the muscular effort leads rapidly to fatigue.

That's why it's important to have a smoke detector, which will awake occupants before they become completely disoriented by toxic gases and allow them time to escape.

Test programs have shown that the time necessary to transport smoke from the fire to detector can play a major role in whether or not a detector provides adequate warning. When the detector is located a great distance from a fire's origin, a fire can grow to significant size in the time necessary to transport the smoke to the detector.

Therefore, installing more detectors could mean faster response and more potential escape time. Thus, the maximum number of detectors might be one in every room depending on the coverage desired and the homeowner's budget.

In summary, fire prevention in the home involves good planning, good housekeeping, and the installation of an adequate fire warning system.

Fires break out in homes about every 45 seconds in the United States.
