Dick Longbrake Named Citizen Of The Year

A Santa Anna resident known for his "helping hand" way of life has been named Citizen of the Year.

In his introduction of the honoree, Monte Guthree III, remarked that the first time he heard the name of Longbrake, it made him mad! He told the story of how he noticed a Nazi flag in a yard on Wallis Ave. When inquiring as to who lived there, he was told it was Dick Longbrake. It turns out this was Longbrakes way of drawing attention to the fact that no one in Santa Anna, with the exception of the school and the post office, ever flew the American flag. Suddenly flags were flying all over town and he had accomplished what he had set out to do.

Perhaps best known for his flag flying, many may not know of the generous nature of Dick Longbrake who was honored with the Citizen of the Year title Saturday night at the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet held in the school cafeteria. The 1989 honoree has long been a champion of the youth of the community and has helped many youngsters along the way with their education both locally and with college expenses. In accepting the award, Longbrake stated that he didn't acquire the education he wished he had and therefore was interested in seeing that others had the opportunity for an education. Many community organizations and individuals around town have been the recipients of his "helping hand" over the years. Faithful members of the First United Methodist Church, he and his wife have supported many benevolences through their church including a recent extraordinary gift to the Methodist Children's Home in Waco. The access ramp recently constructed at the church was also made possible by their generosity.

Born Oct. 11, 1910 in Clinton Ill., he moved with his family to the valley of Texas at the age of three. He graduated from the Rio Hondo schools in 1928 and enrolled at the University of Ill. in 1928. He attended 4 months and had to drop out because of the crash of 1929. He returned to Texas and enrolled in the CCC at Fort Davis.

He played football with a team of CCC members and after a game against what was then Sul Ross Junior College, he enrolled at Sul Ross but was only able to attend for three months. He returned to the CCC where he stayed until 1934, when he went back to the valley and worked in the oilfields and on vegetable farms, living in the Laredo, Freer and Corpus Christi

In 1940 he registered with the selective service and two months later was drafted into the U.S. Army. He was sworn in, January 14, 1940, at Camp Bowie located at Brownwood. In 1942 he married the former Eunice Wheeler of Santa Anna and he likes to emphasize. she was his "first choice". Longbrake had five years service with the 36th Infantry Division and was honorably discharged as an NCO Tech. Sgt..

He became employed by Union Carbide of Texas City, Tex. in 1947 and moved to Monsanto Chemical Co. at Texas City in 1952. He retired in 1970 from the communications and safety department of Monsanto Chemical.

He and his wife returned to Santa Anna in 1973 to make their home in the old Wheeler home on Wallis Ave. Mrs. Longbrake is a retired school teacher.

He is a member of the 36th Div. Veteran's Organization, the DAV, Texas Sheriff's Association, Communication Workers of America,

Thoughts From Our Pastors

J.D. Ferguson Northside Baptist Church

WHAT IS OUR NATION COMING TO?

A few weeks ago a noted criminal was put to death in the Florida State electric chair. As usual, this brings up some questions. Is Capital Punishment right? Is it scriptural? While this article is not really for the purpose of proving Capital Punishment scriptural, it is nevertheless true. One only need to read the Bible to settle this question.

Was Ted Bundy saved when he died? Could he have been saved? We don't know the answers to the first question for only God knows the heart of man. Dr. Dobson is persuaded he was. He could have been, in answer to the second question. Some cannot believe this to be true. They can't believe a man such as Bundy, who was guilty of so great crimes, could be saved at any time. Again one only need to read the Bible, for it teaches that there is no sin too great for God to forgive. God has said, "Whosoever will, let him come". In another place He said that He was not willing that any should perish but that all should come unto repentance. Yes, Bundy could have died a righteous man. If he confessed his sins in true repentance, he did.

Now we come to the real purpose of this article and that was some things that happened when Ted Bundy died. I am appalled by the circus atmosphere that surrounded the execution. We saw on T.V. the crowd that was there. We heard them yell and cheer. They were there to celebrate his death. "Fry Bundy" T-shirts were sold. Food and rink was consumed. Fireworks went off. Songs were sung about Bundy. One sign read "Tuesday is Fry-Day". I could not believe my ears! I could not believe this was taking place in the United States of America!

I thought as a Tampa writer did: This isn't the Roman Empire. We don't sit in the bleachers and swig our wine, and give thumbs down, and cheer lustily as the gladiator runs the spear through his opponent, or as people were torn apart by the lions. Somebody said the difference was, they were killing Christians, not a serial murderer. Did theses people really stop and thin what they were doing? I don't think so, for if they had, they might have realized that this could have been the death of a saint. Yes, If Bundy was saved, and there is a good possibility that he was, he

Another way to look at it is if Bundy was not saved, it was still a sad day, for he was a man going going into eternity without Jesus as his saviour and without another chance to trust Him.

Let us truly love our nation and pray for it. It is the greatest place in the world. Let us do everything that we can to keep it and be careful not to don anything that would tarnish it.

Two Receive God & Country Awards

Two Santa Anna Boy Scouts have recently received their God and Country Awards. J.J. Saucillio at the left in the picture is the son of Robert and Becky (Rendon) Balderas, and James Rendon, right is the son of John and Josie Rendon. The young men, cousins, were counciled in their work for the badges by their grandmother, Carmen Rendon. The boys attended a church retreat in the early part of the fall and it was at that time that they decided to work toward their God and Country awards. Their choice of study was the seven sacraments of the Catholic Church. During their course of study they compared the laws of the scouts to the laws of the Church, through scripture in general and through an in depth study of the Ten Comandments. They had to put their comparisons in writing. They also involved themselves in activities such as helping older citizens and the younger Cub Scouts and generally being a good citizens. The Bishop recently celebrated mass for the two and their relatives and counselors.

Mrs. McDonald Feted With Birthday Party

Mrs. Elton McDonald was honored Sunday, March 5, with a party and a reception to observe her 82nd birthday. Oma Dean and Richard Horner were hosts for a family dinner at noon, and friends of the family gathered during the afternoon for the reception in the Horner home in the Plainview Community.

Greeting guests with the honoree and her husband, Elton McDonald, were all the grandchildren and greatgrandchildren who had gathered for the surprise party.

Linda Horner Simmons of Howe greeted guests at the door. Names were secured in a white leather guest book.

The refreshment table was covered with a blue hand-crochet cloth made by Mrs. McDonald and centered with an arrangement of mixed spring flowers in a straw basket. The large birthday cake, inscribed with the numerals "82" was decorated in blue and served with frosted punch from a milk glass punch bowl and coffee. Other appointments were milk glass and gold. Serving were Melinda Horner of Tom Bean and Gail Horner of Santa

Also present were the grandsons and grandchildren, Dickie Horner and David Horner and Pete Simmons, Jeff and James Simmons, Brandi and Briana, China Beth and Chance Horner.

A native of Coleman County, Bessie (Brandon) McDonald and her husband have been married 63 years and still actively engaged in farming and ranching in the Plainview Community. They are active members of First Baptist Church.

Mrs. McDonald enjoyed the party and visitors despite a broken arm she received in a fall at her home last week. In addition to the guests at the party, she received a number of gifts, phone calls and cards.

Lori Mills Becomes Bride Of Craig Duquette

The long sheer sleeves were pouffed to the elbow, but fitted to wrist length' and fastened with long rows of tiny pearl buttons. A softly flared skirt fell to floor length with the bottom half of the skirt's lace overlay holding rows of gathered lace braided with delicate white satin ribbon that extended into a chapel-length

Immediately above the first layer, atop tall white columns was a double cake layer trimmed with red bows and red candied flowers. Cupid columns held the top cake layer that was decorated with miniature bride and groom figurines. Two heart-shaped, doublelayer cakes, joined to the main cake with red ribbon streamers, held tiny cupid figurines surrounded by red

John Paul Jones' Navy

John Paul Jones, regarded as America's greatest naval hero and known as "the father of the American Navy," is remembered for his refusal to surrender in the face of adversity. His strength set the standard for all of America's future sailing men and women. How Jones arrived at his standing in history as a hero of the Revolutionary War is a story of true bravery and determination.

Born John Paul in Scotland in 1747, Jones was a short man with a fiery temper. He spent his early life as a sailor working on ships that sailed the Atlantic Ocean bringing goods such as tobacco and sugar to England from the colonies. It is believed that he came to America in 1772 and added "Jones" to his name to escape prosecution for his murder of a mutinous sailor in Tobago.

Seeking a return to sea, he joined the newly formed Continental Navy in Philadelphia in 1775 as a junior captain and eventually worked his way up to the rank of commodore and commanded his own squadron of Creating a navy to contend with the all-powerful British was a tough task for the fledgling government of the United States of America. If money for ships was scarce, crews were scarcer. The majority of the crew of Jones' ship, the Bonhomme Richard, for example, were captured British sailors forced to serve in the Continental Navy. Others were mercenary seamen who fought for any country for the right amount of

In his memoirs, Jones described his crew as "generally so mean thatthe only expedient I could find that allowed me to command was to divide them into two parties and let one group of rogues guard the

A Maryland-born crew member wrote that Jones' marines "were French and Irish brigands."

But it was out of these men that Jones created a naval force skilled enough to defeat the British navy. In a three-hour battle in the North Sea on Sept. 23, 1779, Jones and his crew engaged the Serapis, a larger and better-armed ship. The superior power of the British ship's gunfire convinced Jones to bring his ship as close as possible to the Serapis so as to impede the reloading of the ship's cannons. Jones brought the Bonhomme Richard so close to the Serapis that the ships' riggings became entangled. When ordered by the British commander to surrender, Jones replied, "I have not yet begun to fight."

Eventually fighting hand to hand with the enemy crew, Jones and his men forced the surrender of the Serapis when its mast cracked and fell to the deck. It was a most important victory for an emerging nation over the recognized naval power of the day.

John Paul Jones died in France in 1792. It was not until 1905 that Jones' body was brought back to the United States and buried with full honors in a crypt in the chapel at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md. The crypt is under permanent guard. In

OUT-REACH FOR CHRIST

ENTER INTO HIS REST BY THE RENEWING OF YOUR MIND

Jesus said there was a rest for His people. I believe the only way to accomplish this is by learning to control our minds. Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind is what the bible says. Let us think what this means. Well, it means to change the way we

You know we all have troubles, trials, and heartaches. Blows that tear our hearts to pieces hit us from all sides. Maybe someone has talked about you to a friend, saying things they didn't understand, and it hurt you so deeply. But you know Jesus cares and in His word He tells of a way of escape and a rest from all of these hurts that happen in this like we live today. His word says we can have joy and peace. He told us how to attain it. He told us to think on things lovely, on things good, on things above. Here is a secret that many people overlook in our day and time. I know this sounds like an impossible task, but if you really want a rest in this like from all of your hurts and worries, and you feel like you can't take it any more, then stop everything you are doing and take time to pray. Start putting your trust in Him. Even on your job, as you work, say a prayer in your heart. Whisper a prayer and a praise in your heart and thank Him for keeping you every day of your life. Isn't it a fact that our trials and troubles keep us from praising our Lord? When was the last time you took the time to pray or even the time to praise His holy name?

He truly loves us so very much. No greater love could he have but to give us his like. Even He wept; as it were, great drops of blood in the garden as He prayed. Smiting himself to even the cross of Calvary, knowing then that tis was the only way we could be saved from an everlasting hell. Through faith we are saved, by His grace, His precious gift to us. We need to remember to praise Him for this as we enter into prayer.

Jesus said, "Come unto Me all ye that are heavy laden and I will give you rest." Rest from what? All of your burdens, trials and heartaches, everything that would keep you from being happy in this like. There is such a beautiful peace that comes after an earnest and sincere prayer. It just seems to make the whole day better. After you have prayed, begin to sing hymns to the Lord in your heart or aloud. Start training your mind to meditate on the Lord a little at a time. Think good things and not bad. Think happy things and not sad. Before you know it you will start feeling better. Isaiah 23:3 says,"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee." Let me explain it like this. It's just like when Peter wanted to walk on the water with Jesus and The Lord told him to come. As Peter stepped on the water, his eyes were on The Lord. He had already taken a few steps, but he took his eyes off of The Lord and began to look around. He saw the boisterous wind and waves of the sea and fear gripped his heart and he began to sink. If Peter could have dept his eyes and mind on The Lord he wouldn't have sunk into despair.

In this life we live in today, let us be renewed by the transforming of our minds in Christ Jesus our Lord.

TDH Warns That Measles Outbreak Could Be a Threat

Measles Outbreak in Houston Still a Threat

When an outbreak of rubella (red measles) began in Houston last November officials at the Texas Department of Health (TDH) predicted that susceptible travelers might contract the disease and transport it to other cities. That prediction became fact, with several cases on college campuses traced to Christmas break in Houston.

Now, with the unusually large outbreak continuing in Houston, health officials have issued a new warning. TDH is concerned that many of the more than 50,000 people that were in town for the Houston's livestock show and rodeo (Feb. 16-26) also could contract and transport the disease statewide.

While the new cases are occurring in all age groups, most patients are toddlers and infants less than 15 months old, and young adults, often high school and college students. Health clinics on several college campuses have reported a growing number of students with measles, most of whom were exposed to the virus during trips to Houston.

Robert D. Crider, director of TDH's immunization Division, said that the Houston outbreak began late last year with about 50 infants and children. Until that outbreak began, only 17 cases of measles had been reported throughout the state for the first 10 months of 1988. But by the end of December, the year's total reached about 250. New cases continue to be reported at an alarming rate.

Crider said that the Houston area still is the source of most reports. "Between November, when the first of the Houston outbreak began, and early February, more than 900 cases of measles have been reported in Harris County alone," Crider said. "In all of 1987, there were only about 452 measles cases in the whole state."

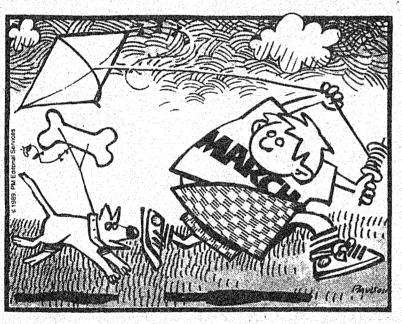

Crider attributed the sharp rise in the number of cases to several factors. He explained, "Many people seem to have forgotten how contagious the measles virus is. It can infect any susceptible person who is exposed to it. By susceptible, I mean anyone who has not had the disease, or whose immunization was not successful -- about 3-5 percent of those vaccinated. Measles is 80 contagious that until the advent of vaccination few people reached adulthood without being infected hence the misconception that measles is a 'childhood' disease."

He added that persons born before 1957 are likely to have been infected earlier with red measles and are generally not considered susceptible to the disease.

Since 1981 state law has required that all children entering public or private school must show proof of immunization for measles, or furnish a physician-validated history of measles illness. On physicians' advice to parents, most children are routinely immunized at 15 months with measles-mumps-rubella vaccine. The result is that for some years, measles among young children dramatically declined. In 1983, for example, Texas reported only 37 cases.

The symptoms of red measles are fever, runny nose, cough, watery eyes, and a rash which first appears on the head and face, eventually spreading over the body. Crider stressed that red measles, rubella, should not be confused with rubella, German measles, which can cause serious birth defects in the babies of infected mothers.

Trainers

One of the advances in baseball and in all sports is the increased professionalism of trainers. It is now a full-time job with a year-round program. In professional baseball, every trainer all the way down to the lowest minor league has to be certified.

A trainer used to have the same problem that faced many of the athletes. When the season was over, he had to find another job to support his family. Trainers now make a decent salary and work at their profession full time. They develop rehabilitation programs for injured players and work with players who want to build up their arms, increase their strength or simply lose weight.

Trainers work closely with the team doctors on treating injuries. Sports medicine in general has made tremendous advancements. Not long ago, when a pitcher got a rotator cuff injury, his career was finished. Now, with the improvements in both medical treatment and in rehabilitative programs, the chances of getting a kid back to playing baseball are pretty good. The same is true of an injury to the Achilles tendon.

What used to be considered serious, career-threatening surgery is now handled routinely. Doctors can get in and do what they have to do and the next day the scar won't be any bigger than a mosquito bite.

Every major league club has at least two trainers. One stays on the field (usually in the dugout or bullpen) with the team, and the other is in the clubhouse, able to work on players who come in for help while their team is at bat.

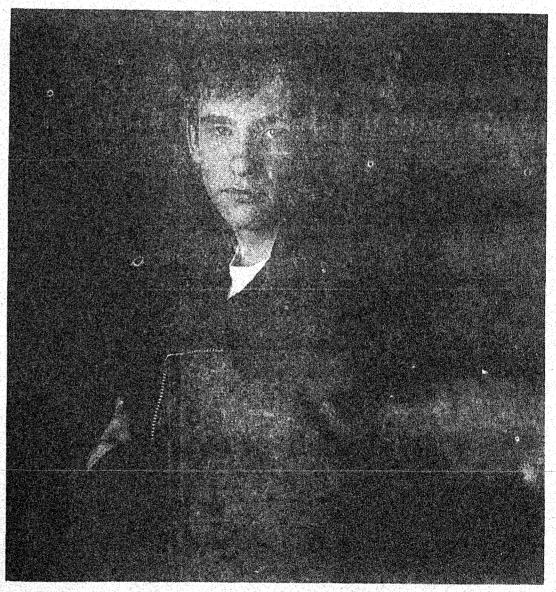

Of course all of this means the baseball organizations are spending a lot more money on trainers and their programs than they did a few years ago. Why? Well, it makes a great deal of business sense. Players now make enormous salaries. To a team, these player contracts are investments and as with any business, investments must be safeguarded. It would be foolish for a team to sign million dollar contracts with players and not have training programs designed to keep them on the field and at full strength. It is all to a team's advantage to keep players off the injured list and on the playing field for every game.

Hank Aaron is the top home run hitter of all time with 755 homers. A member of baseball's Hall of Fame, Hank is vice president of the Atlanta Braves.

A Man's Gotta Do What A Man's Gotta Do

All young men have one responsibility in common. They have to register with Selective Service within 30 days of their 18th birthday.

It's no big deal. It just takes five minutes to fill out a simple form at the post office, but it is important. Registration is a requirement for federal student loans, job training benefits and most federal employment.

It's important for our country, too. Having a complete registration list could save six vital weeks in responding to a national emergency.

So if you know a young man about to turn 18, remind him to register. It's one of those things he's got to do.

Register with Selective Service. It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.

Iron Curtain Speech Recalled

A new phrase entered the vocabulary of the world on March 5, 1946, when British leader Winston Churchill first publicly employed the words "iron curtain" to describe the closing of Eastern Europe behind the wall of Soviet domination. Speaking at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo., Churchill foreshadowed the coming Cold War and set its boundaries with these words: "From Stettin in the Baltic to Trieste in the Adriatic an iron curtain has descended across the continent." lil $1989, PM Editorial Services

The Search for the Perfect Cookie

New kinds of cookies come and go, but the chocolate chip cookie, in all of its varieties, remains the American favorite.

Created years ago through the mistaken (yet fortunate) belief that baked chocolate would melt, the chocolate chip cookie has become the traditional American cookie.

According to an article in the January/February issue of Philip Morris Magazine, the chocolate chip cookie still delights experienced cooks in their search for the perfect blend of chocolate and sugar.

For years, the chocolate chip cookie has stirred Americans' inventive spirits. Finding just the right amount of chocolate for a batch of cookies can be more difficult than it

The following recipe should satisfy the most finicky of cookie lovers. It was grand prize winner among 2,600 entries in a contest sponsored by The Orchards, an inn in the Berkshires in western Massachusetts.

> Grand Prize Double Chocolate Chip Cookies

11/4 cups unbleached all-purpose

1/4 teaspoon baking soda 2 sticks (1 cup) unsalted butter, softened 1 cup granulated sugar 1/2 cup packed dark brown sugar

I teaspoon vanilla 1 large egg

Vs cup unswectened powdered cocoa 2 tablespoons milk

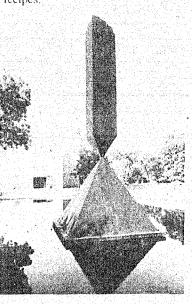

I cup (about 5 ounces) chopped

1 cup (about 6 ounces) semisweet chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 350 F. In a small bowl, combine flour and soda. In a large bowl, cream together until fluffy the butter, sugars and vanilla, Whisk in egg. Stir in cocoa and milk. Fold in flour mixture, walnuts and chocolate chips.

Drop batter by rounded teaspoonfuls onto non-stick baking sheets. Bake about 12 minutes. Cool about five minutes before removing cookiesfrom sheets.

This recipe comes from The Search for the Perfect Chocolate Chip Cookie by Gwen Steege (Storey Publishing, 1988), a collection of more than 100 chocolate chip cookie recipes.

Be Your Own Plumber

fixture

By Joe Zorc PM Editorial Services

Q: I would like to replace an ancient toilet in my home. Can I do this myself, and, if so, what kind of tools will it require?

A: If you don't mind getting your hands dirty, you can save money by doing this project yourself. With the increased use of compression fittings instead of soldering copper pipe, a pair of adjustable wrenches or vice grips are the only tools you will need.

When buying the new fixture, or toilet, check with the salesman to make sure that a new water supply line is included. This is the tube that extends from the shutoff valve behind the toilet to the underside of the tank. Also buy a new wax ring, a gasket of wax that seals odors between the bottom of the fixture and the flange base. If new "closet bolts" are not included, purchase those also as the old ones are probably rusty. A small roll of Teflon tape also is needed.

First, turn off the supply valve behind the toilet and flush the water out of the tank. To make sure the supply valve is off, lift the tank cover and check if water is still being fed into the tank. When the water has stopped, remove the supply line connection under the tank, to be reconnected to the new tank.

If this connection has been stripped and does not work with the new tank fitting, remove the nut on the supply line from the valve. This is a compression fitting with a ring-like plastic or brass ferrule, which is crimped down on the tubing when

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA

Q - I received an evaluation of my service-connected disability from the Veterans Administration and was rated zero percent. What advantage is there to having such a disability status?

A - There are several advantages, the most important of which is having a record that your disability is related to your service. This entitles you to priority treatment by the VA for the condition. Establishing the disability will also allow a quicker decision if your condition worsens and you file a claim for compensation. With basic entitlement established, the VA will only have to determine the current extent of your disability.

Q - My father receives a Veteran's Administration Pension, and is a nursing home with Alzheimer's disease. He is unable to endorse his checks because of his illness. May I endorse his checks?

A - No. Your father's physician should provide you with a written evaluation of your father's physical and mental condition, specifically addressing his ability to manage finances. Submit that statement to the VA Regional Office together with your request to be appointed as your father's fiduciary. The VA will then make a determination regarding the management of your father's af-

DR. SCOTT WHITE is offered as a public service by Scott and White Memorial Hosital and Clinic in Temple, If you bave a question please write to DR. SCOTT WHITE in care of your local newspaper.

Q. I've been having stomach pains along with headaches. My doctor says these symptoms are caused by stress. Is it true that job pressures make me feel this way? How can I learn to control stress in my life?

A. Stomach pain, headaches, backaches and other symptoms may be related to stress. If your doctor has thoroughly evaluated your condition medically and finds no other cause for these symptoms, then they might be related to the effects of stress in your life. Many people, however, have a high stress level but do not display these types of symptoms.

Controlling stress may be difficult. However, there are several things you can do to begin this process. One would be to avoid chemicals that might increase anxiety such as caffeine or nicotine. Another good way to control stress is to begin a regular aerobic exercise program. If these methods are ineffective, other methods such as muscle-relaxation skills, psychological counseling or stress-reduction classes may help. Your doctor should be able to recommend where you can find these types of programs.

O. Today I saw on television that aspirin may help prevent heart attacks. Should I be taking aspirin regularly since I have a history of heart attacks in my family?

A. Aspirin affects one of the clotting mechanisms in blood. It slows small platelet particles in the blood from sticking together, which prevents the formation of small blood clots. Studies have shown that taking just one aspirin a day will effectively reduce the clotting tendency of the

The clotting ability (thickness) of the blood is a factor in the development of heart disease and may play a role in the increased risk of heart disease from high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure and smoking. Simply taking one aspirin a day may reduce the risk of heart attack up to 50 percent. There is no need to take more than one aspirin each day. Since aspirin is a safe and welltolerated drug for most people, most people with a family history of heart disease or who have had risk factors of heart disease, should take one aspirin a day to help prevent heart

Your Benefits: Increasing in '89

By James Roosevelt Chairman, National Committee To Preserve Social Security and Medicare

If you look over your Medicare Health Care Coverage for 1989 and beyond, you'll find your benefits have increased to pay for some catastrophic health costs.

• Effective January '89, Medicare will pay for unlimited hospital

These racquet sports can also cause trauma to the heel with heel bruises, plantar fasciitis and heel spur syndrome. Generally these conditions are the result of insufficient arch supoprt. They tend to respond dramatically to proper functional orthotics, either rigid or semi-rigid.

This is the child who can make America competitive again.

Only a child.

But like all American kids, LaSage Wisniewski, inventor of the Sur-Footer, is a very special child.

For our kids have a creative, inventive heritage second to none. From Franklin's kite to the semiconductor.

And now the inventive instincts of American school kids are being challenged by a very special education program and contest.

Invent America!

It's the only program that recognizes small genius. With more than half a million dollars in awards every year.

And the only program that knows small genius can grow up to become big genius—with the capacity to make a big difference in the world.

Kids and parents should ask their teachers about Invent America! and how to participate.

And if teacher doesn't know?

Just write Invent America!, 510 King Street, Suite 420, Alexandria, VA 22314, or call 703/684-1836. Invent America!

Designed to make America a winner again.
