Hill Country Fireman's Convention To Meet Here

Tuesday, August 21st should be a great day for Santa Anna. The Hill Country Firemen's Convention is to meet here that day in their fall session.

There are eleven towns and cities in the district with organized fire companies, and each will be represented with a goodly number of firemen. Mayors and Fire Chiefs from each town will be invited to attend, and most of them are expected to be here.

Begin now to practice smiling and be prepared to make our visitors feel welcome while in our fair city. You remember the slogan, "You'd Like Santa Anna"—Let's make the welkin ring loud to those who visit Santa Anna, and show that our slogan is true.

The Volunteer Fire company of Santa Anna is making great preparations for the entertainment of the visiting firemen, and they will most certainly appreciate all the co-operation they can get from the entire citizenship.

COUNTY DIRECTORY TO BE PUBLISHED SOON

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bentley from Brady are here to begin the compiling of a county directory. The book will contain the name of every head of family in the county, together with his occupation, address and telephone number. Canvass of the entire county is to be started immediately. Much other valuable information will go into the making of the book. The book will be printed in the office of the Santa Anna News.

RABIES FATAL TO BROWNWOOD MAN

Brownwood, Aug. 6.—Rabies caused the death here last night of P. S. Womack, 47, bitten by a cat three weeks ago. The farmer became ill last Wednesday. Three years ago he was bitten by a dog suffering from rabies but took the pasteur treatment and seemed to suffer no ill effects.

Mr. Curry Mills of Longview came Tuesday night for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mills.

Santa Anna Gets First Bale Monday

Santa Anna received her first bale of 1934 cotton Monday morning of this week. Mr. J. T. Floyd of the Whon community brought the bale in. It was ginned at the Farmers Gin No. 1, brought to town and sold at auction. The bale weighed 540 pounds, and was sold to J. E. Watkins for 17.10 netting the producer $94.40.

This is the first bale of cotton to sell for more than ninety dollars in Santa Anna in several years, but we hope it will not be the last one this season.

BRADY TOT KILLS SELF WITH RIFLE

Brady, Aug. 6. (AP)—Little three year old Milton Lee Irish, gleefully playing with a rifle as his five year old sister and two playmates watched, pulled the trigger and sent a bullet crashing into his heart at a neighbor's home here tonight. He died soon after.

Sobbing the story, Treva Lerulean Irish, the child's sister, said she and Ellen Fay and Nadine Everheart, eight and 11 years old, saw the tragedy.

Milton and Treva had gone to the Everheart home to play. Their parents were not at home when the shooting occurred.

DELEON CELEBRATING WITH WATERMELON FESTIVAL

DeLeon, over in the northern part of Comanche county, where the big Tom Watson Watermelons grow, is celebrating this week with a three days watermelon festival.

The citizens have arranged a three days program which opened Tuesday with a parade, with most all the business people taking part.

This is the first of its kind to come to our attention, and the writer would be there enjoying some of those Tom Watsons if circumstances were such that we could.

Miss Mildred Boardman of Winters is visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Boardman this week.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. White of Brownwood visited in the W. F. Turner home Sunday.

Two Mass Meetings To Be Called Soon

The City Commission, joined by the Volunteer Fire Company, plan to call a general mass meeting soon for the purpose of explaining the purposes of the proposed pending bond issue to be voted on in Santa Anna August 28th.

It has reached us that several people are opposing the bond issue. In our judgment, if they fully understand the matter, no one would oppose the issuing of the bonds called for in the notice now being published in this paper.

It very plainly states that it will not incur your real or personal property, but will only incur a debt against the net earnings of the Water Works system after the operating expenses are paid. It will give better water service and better fire protection, and lower our key rate on insurance. According to estimates, it will be a saving each year to the town, in that it will lower our insurance rates more than the cost of the bonds annually. Those interested plan a mass meeting soon to try to educate the public as to the needs of the bonds.

Another mass meeting will be called in the near future, for the purpose of discussing the proposition of whether or not Santa Anna is to have a State and National Park. We have the site for such a park, and the state is urging the building of parks, especially parks at historical points, just at this time.

The park site for Santa Anna is a very historical point, and it should be a very easy matter to procure all the help needed from the state to build the park.

We suggest that the park site be purchased immediately, and deeded to the state for park purposes, then a continued effort prosecuted to get the state to complete the park.

The next step for Santa Anna is to purchase the land, then get busy on the other work.

Centennial Certain To Attract Many Millions To This State

By GEN. JOHN A. HULEN, Chairman, Finance Committee

While it has been emphasized that the historical, the social, the cultural, the artistic and the religious advancement of Texas for the last hundred years is, and must continue to be, the dominant thought in all Centennial ideas and plans, yet there is an economic side.

The business and professional interests of the State which in the final analysis must foot the bill are entitled to know what the returns on the investment in Centennial are likely to be.

In the first place a celebration of the proportions envisioned by the Centennial Commission should attract to Texas a minimum of 20,000,000 persons. This in addition to the intrastate movement of the 6,000,000 inhabitants of Texas.

A conservative estimate of their combined expenditures while visiting Texas is $640,000,000. Proof that this is conservative lies in the fact that a million and a quarter visitors to Colorado, in a short summer season, spent some $50,000,000.

The season in Texas will be much longer. Centennial attractions will be far greater. The celebrations, including those at the various historical places, will be more widely separated. It will take longer to see it all. The natural result will be a larger per capita expenditure of money.

The out-of-state visitor, compilations show, spends his average dollar about this way:

Twenty cents goes for gas, oil and auto upkeep, another twenty cents goes for hotel or tourist accommodations, another twenty cents goes for food, whether in cafes or grocery stores, some twenty-five cents is expended in the retail merchandising stores, and the remainder is divided among amusements and incidentals.

Thus it may be seen that every line of trade stands to benefit materially from the holding of the Texas Centennial.

In addition the State government, as such, stands to reap a very material income from these tourists. Probably $25,000,000 will go into the treasury as a direct result of the gasoline tax. This is divided proportionately between the building and maintenance of State highways and lateral roads, and the public school system.

The citizen probably is most interested in the fact that this greatly increased revenue would doubtless mean the material strengthening of the common schools of the State, in the lengthening of terms, in the raising of standards, and in the ability to employ more experienced teachers.

Raising the educational standards of the people has been the shibboleth of Texas since the days of the Republic when the free school system was established. It remains a problem nearest the hearts of most citizens. The fact that it will benefit from the celebration constitutes one of the great arguments in favor of the Centennial of 1935.

While the Finance Committee has set a minimum of $15,000,000 as the amount necessary properly to finance this great celebration—and while this on its face appears to be a vast sum—analysis will show the celebration can hardly fail to be self-liquidating.

The city securing the celebration may expect to entertain for a period of from two days to a month practically every visitor to the State during this season. The enormously accelerated business to that city could not fail to repay it many times over for its investment in the Centennial.

It already has been shown that the State stands to collect in direct taxes on the visitors some $25,000,000 which repays it with compound interest for its Centennial investment.

At this time the Federal government is collecting one cent in gasoline tax upon every gallon sold. Collections from this tax alone would certainly reimburse the Federal treasury for the co-operation it will extend. Therefore the Finance Committee of the Centennial Commission has given the assurance to

Cotton Crop Is Estimated At 9,195,000

Smallest Crop Since 1921 Is U. S. Estimate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8. (AP)—An indicated cotton crop of 9,195,000 bales this year was announced today by the United States Department of Agriculture in its first official forecast of the season.

The estimated production included Texas, 2,382,000 and placed the crop condition in the state at 48 per cent normal.

The condition of the crop in the entire cotton producing area was reported as 60.4 per cent normal, indicating a yield of 160.9 pounds per acre.

According to estimates the 1934 cotton crop will be the smallest produced in the United States since 1921 when only 7,953,641 bales were ginned.

As the result of the Government estimates, prices soared about 50 points on the bale immediately.

The Bankhead Act will be carried out in spite of the fact, the estimates are lower than the amount set for the 1934 crop.

Final Cotton Figures Are Made Public

COLLEGE STATION, August 8, 1934.—Reporting that contracts from every county in Texas have been approved and certified to Washington the State Cotton Board of Review presented this week the final figures in the cotton acreage reduction campaign. A summary of the certificates of the 23 cotton counties shows a grand total of 236,193 contracts affecting 4,282,723 bales of 478 pounds net weight; 14,136,746 adjusted base acres, and 5,322,368 rented acres. The contracts show that 37.7 per cent of the base acres were rented to the Government. The total rental payments amount to $26,777,280 and the parity payment of one cent per pound will amount to $8,153,513. In most cases the checks for the first rental payment have been received by the farmers. The second rental payment will be made in early fall after the land has been measured and the compliance certificates sent to Washington. The parity payments will be made in December.

In connection with these final figures it is of interest to note that Texas has about one-fourth of her cotton counties and one-fourth of the contracts in the United States, representing nearly one-third of the lint, and over one-third of the cotton acreage.

It is generally conceded, Board members declare, that the acreage reduction campaign saved the cotton farmer's from again having to sacrifice their cotton at low prices because another big crop in the face of large world carry-over, together with lack of demand, could only have meant disastrous prices. Furthermore, it is pointed out that the benefit and parity payments take the place of crop insurance for the many farmers who will make little or no cotton due to the drought, while the rented acres will supply additional food for livestock on farms wherever the drought did not completely destroy the crops.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Swan of Lamesa visits in the J. C. Morris home Thursday and Friday.

the people of Texas that the Centennial will not increase taxes, local, State or Federal, either ad valorem or indirectly.

Lest the public might think this the too-enthusiastic view of those having the Centennial closest to their hearts, it may be said the same view has been publicly expressed by prominent bankers, industrialists, railway executives and business leaders in all parts of Texas.

It is the view entertained and expressed in the public press by representatives of those industries which would be most affected by any increased taxation.

It is the view supported by numerous members of the Texas legislature who have asserted that study convinces them that any appropriation made by the State merely is in the nature of an investment or a short-term loan, which carried a guarantee of return with compound interest.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR OF STATE OF TEXAS

To All To Whom These Presents Shall Come:

Ninety-eight years ago on March 1 in the quiet of Washington-on-the-Brazos a little group of clear, calm men, sorely tried by a tyrannical government and weary from conflict, drew aside from the din of battle and solemnly deliberated. From their common counsel, on the next day, came Texas' Declaration of Independence. That declaration took on strange force a month and nineteen days later when Sam Houston and his small band of Texans, devoted to the principals of the newly created republic, won the victory of San Jacinto.

Upon the civilization thus founded, always bearing in mind the heroic deaths of that small band at the Alamo, the massacre at Goliad, and the privations of the pioneer, we have builded. Now Texas ranks among the first States of the union in cultural and economic progress.

As this first century of progress draws to a close the minds of Texans are turned to 1936. A great Centennial, depicting in true form these years of achievement, is to be thrown open to the people of the United States and of the world. Such great exhibition has been authorized by act of the Texas Legislature.

For the purpose of acquainting every citizen of the State with the great objects of this patriotic movement it is altogether fitting that a Centennial week be designated in which every village and hamlet and in every town and city the message of the heroism of the Texans of other years be retold, their memories honored, and instilled in the minds and hearts of these descendants of rugged fathers and mothers the thought that Texans never surrender, that from this depression of recent years, new resolution has been born, irresistibly carrying forward the flag of the Lone Star into fields yet undeveloped but open to the energy and imagination of citizens here and those to come to us through succeeding years.

For the purposes herein stated, now, therefore, I, Miriam A. Ferguson, Governor of the State of Texas, by virtue of the authority in me vested, do officially proclaim that the week beginning August 13 be set aside as

as a special time during which Texas Centennial shall be discussed in every social and club meeting, at every dinner table, and in all other places where men and women congregate, to the end that Texas shall become Centennial minded and that plans now definitely made for carrying forward in 1936 this great project to a successful conclusion may be consummated.

In Testimony Whereof: I, Miriam A. Ferguson, Governor of the State of Texas, have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Seal of State to be affixed hereto at Austin, Texas, this third day of August, 1934.

MIRIAM A. FERGUSON, Governor of Texas

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Rexford G. Tugwell, Acting Secretary of Agriculture, said today the cotton processing tax of 4.2 cents per pound would be continued into the 1934-35 marketing year.

His action was taken shortly after a conference with George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, who urged that a compensatory tax be placed on rayon to prevent a shift of consumption away from cotton products.

The cotton textile industry has maintained since the processing tax and went into effect that it gave rayon an improved position on the competitive market. Hearings have been held in an effort to determine what shift in consumption has resulted but findings have not been made public.

Announcement of continuation of the processing tax declared no adjustment had been found necessary to carry out terms of the Agricultural Adjustment Act relative to improvement of the income to cotton farmers.

The program of paying rentals and benefits for production control for the 1934-35 crop, continuation of which is dependent on funds derived from the processing tax, already has been developed and is in partial operation. The act provides that the tax rate shall be determined by the Secretary of Agriculture according to the formula prescribed on he date the tax first took effect and shall be changed only as it is found necessary to effectuate the policy of the act.

The Farm Administration added its assurance to the cotton industry that no re-determination of the tax rate was in prospect.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lanford and children Marie and Mannon of San Antonio visited in the home of Mrs. Lanford's aunt, Mrs. S. A. Niell last week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Rendleman left Friday for Corpus Christi to visit before returning to their home in Little Rock.

Future Farmers Enjoy Camp At Cisco

Future farmers with their advisor, J. M. Binion, returned from Cisco Wednesday where they enjoyed a three day encampment of future farmers at Lake Cisco. The boys all had a great time and returned safely with the exception of some sunburn acquired in the big swimming pool.

Four hundred and fifty boys were at the camp from this section of the state. This was the largest number that has attended since the camp was started six years ago. Last year only 350 attended.

The advisor also attended a district conference of teachers while there. The conference was conducted by P. G. Haines, State Director of Vocational Agriculture, J. B. Rutland, State Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture, J. C. Dykes, and E. R. Alexander of A and M College, and A. J. Spangler, District Supervisor of Stephenville.

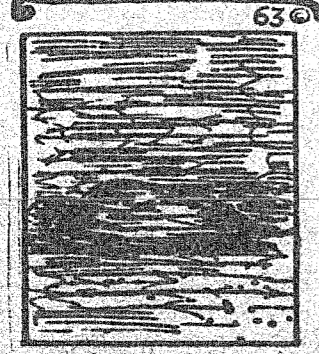

The boys who attended were: Bill Mitchell, Howard Pittard, Todd Oakes and J. S. Brewer.

Guests in the Sam Forehand home this week are Mr. Noah Story and Mrs. Kate Harris of Comanche.

Mr. and Mrs. Connie Hunter of Los Angeles, California, are visiting relatives and friends here.

Recovery in Texas Means Resumption of Progress

"For Texas, recovery does not mean merely recovery, the return to a formerly existing status," remarks an editorial in the Texas Weekly. "It means rather the resumption of progress and development.... And, in like manner, progress in Texas does not involve radical economic and governmental reconstruction. It is to be attained through the orderly development of the economic possibilities of this region. The dominant public sentiment in Texas... ought to be favorable to the investment of capital in the orderly development of the economic possibilities of this region."

And that's wholly true. When every Texan realizes that his own economic well-being is wrapped up in the economic progress of his State and section and begins to make his individual contribution, both in thought and deed, to "the orderly development of the economic possibilities of this region," we shall have gone far on the road to accomplishment. Texans need to be industrially minded, for instance, to appreciate what industrial development means to themselves, not alone to industrialists. And then, without question, they will make their contribution to aid in that industrial development which is so essential to the future growth and prosperity of the great Southwest region. —Texas Industries.

Due to congestion in the processing plants, cattle buying in the drought areas has been called to a halt for the time being. As soon as the congestion can be relieved, buying will be resumed according to reports from the directors of the relief commission.

IF I WERE RICH

(Kerrville Mountain Sun) The depression has caused a lot of people who were in fair circumstances to feel rather poor. Paraphrasing an ancient saying:

"Some men are born poor, some have poverty thrust upon them and some achieve poverty."

A Kerrville group made up of these three classes recently expressed themselves as to what they would do if they were rich. Here is what they said:

"If I were rich, I wouldn't count the words every time I send a telegram."

"If I were rich, I would buy a new car."

"If I were rich, I would enjoy riding through the streets in a 1925 model car, knowing they were saying that I was able to buy a new one."

"If I were rich, I would go to the seashore and escape this hot weather."

"If I were rich, I would have a belt for each pair of trousers I possess."

"If I were rich, I would have more than one pair of trousers."

TIMELY ADVICE

If you think the cattle relief program is evil and sinful, don't get into it. Is it better to let thousands of cattle die for food or water, or should we butcher those that are fit and destroy those that are unfit? Common sense should tell us that cows at the present price cannot justify us in borrowing money to feed them in large numbers until we can make a feed crop. The government does not want any valuable milk cows sacrificed now; it will lend money to feed those that are worth feeding, but we must know that cows are cheap and feed is high. The government cannot feed these cattle even if they were worth it. It looks like a generous solution of the problem for them to make the offer that has been made. But if you are going to take advantage of the offer and then cuss the government—don't do it! —Ralls Banner.

CCC BOY WRITES FROM ARIZ.

(Editor's Note)—The following is a letter from a Coleman county boy who is now with the CCC camp in Kaibab Forest, Arizona. It is printed verbatim with the writer's permission.

Coleman Co. Chronicle, Coleman, Texas. Dear Sir:

Just a line to let our friends and relatives in Coleman county know what we are doing.

All winter we lived on the floor of the Grand Canyon 6,000 feet below the north rim. We helped build the most noted trails of the canyon, including Bright Angel Trail, Clear Creek Trail and the Kaibab Trail. This type of work proves very interesting especially when we were working several thousand feet above the floor of the canyon, at many points on the trail there are straight drops of two and three thousand feet to the river below; the mighty Colorado from one of these vantage points appears like a thin white ribbon weaving its way slowly through the painted canyon to the sea.

Our method of transportation and bringing food to the members of the camp was by pack train furnished by the U. S. Army. As all supplies and material had to be brought down to the floor of the canyon by such method of transportation, all patients that were sent to the hospital at Fort Whipple, Ariz. had to be carried out on stretchers atop a pack mule.

We broke camp the 15th of May for the North Rim where we are at the present time located, due to the fact of the extreme heat in the floor of the canyon during the summer months.

The distance from our camp in the floor of the canyon to the North Rim camp is 14 miles. Our method of coming out was to the tune of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" for 14 miles and a climb in altitude of 6,000 feet and what a happy bunch when we topped out at the North Rim after a walk from 7 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Our present camp is located in a very beautiful forest at an elevation of 8,400 feet it being the largest single stand of timber in the U. S. The forest had herds of deer numbering into thousands. We also have what is known as the white tailed squirrel which is found in only two places in the world, in Siberia and in the Kaibab forest.

The work we are doing consists of beautifying the forest and highways, such as building fire trails through the forest, and occasionally fighting a forest fire to add a little excitement to our work. The weather here has been ideal other than the fact we had a 4-inch snowfall the 6th of June.

From the time the clear, sweet notes of the breakfast call breaks the long silence of the night and announce that our morning meal is ready, till the flicker of the lights in the evening announcing "lights out," most of the boys can be found in the best of spirits, either raving generously about "the doll back home" or singing the strains of "Strawberry Roam" even though it may be a little off key.

Well, as the announcement for "lights out" has been signaled through camp and it won't be long before I'll be going to bed will have to close.

Yours sincerely, Floyd Lackey.

JOE BAILEY CONGRATULATES CONNALLY; ENJOYED RACE

DALLAS, July 29 (AP)—Congressman Joseph Weldon Bailey today sent his congratulations to Senator Tom Connally, his opponent in yesterday's Democratic primary for the senatorial seat now held by Connally, "on the outcome of this campaign." Latest returns showed Senator Connally led Bailey by more than 100,000 votes.

Bailey in a statement said: "I have forwarded my congratulations to Senator Connally on the outcome of this campaign. It has been a source of great pleasure to meet my many friends and to know of their loyalty and help for me. That alone is a sufficient reward for the effort which we all have made."

Senator Connally, from his home in Marlin, issued the following statement:

"To the voters of Texas: As your junior Senator I desire to express to the Democrats of Texas my deep gratitude for the renomination as their candidate for United States Senator for a second term.

"The vote which I received is extremely gratifying and I construe it as an endorsement of the national Democratic administration and as approval of my course in the Senate during the last five years.

"To my army of loyal friends throughout the State who cared for my interests while I was detained in Washington in the performance of my public duties and who, after my return to Texas, aided me so actively in the campaign, I extend my very sincere and earnest thanks.

"It will be impossible for me to make proper personal acknowledgment to each of them. It shall be my endeavor to justify the confidence of those who have supported me and to vindicate the loyalty and devotion of my friends, who made possible my renomination."

AN EAR FOR PURITY OF SPEECH

DEAR Mrs. Post: Although I graduated from the University of K—with honors—and have excellent letters of personal recommendation from members of the faculty, I am unable to qualify for the position of instructor in an eastern college because of my voice and pronunciation. Both, I am told, are typical of the X section of our country, and seemingly displeasing to eastern prejudices. As a devoted reader of your column may I ask if you can possibly tell me what to do to acquire an attractive voice and pronunciation? I am intelligent, I think, and I am willing to go through any amount of intensive study if I only knew how to go about it.

Answer: The best advice I can give is to try to develop an acute ear for spoken sound. Every one knows what is meant by an ear for music, but very rarely does anyone emphasize the much greater importance of an ear for intonation, or the purity of the spoken vowel sounds. It seems to me that just as such naturalists and entomologists as William Hamilton Gibson and Henri Fabre have proved that not one pair of eyes in a million behold the romance and drama of insect life along every foot of country roadside, it is equally true that not one pair of ears in a million hear with precision the scale of spoken sound. And yet every child in the world has this exquisite sensitiveness, which grows each year less acute. Of course, I don't know whether we are as unearingly deaf (as we are unearingly blind to the insect life of the hedgerows) or whether at the end of babyhood our ears fall to hear clearly, just as our eyes at the end of middle age fail to see clearly. As I have said, I can't think of better advice to give you than to try to hear. If you can hear the difference between a thin flat tone and a full round one, between a voice that comes down to rest on the dominant note and one that hangs in the air; if you can hear the entire range of vowel sounds as clearly as a violinist hears musical notes, the chances are that your tongue will produce without effort what your ear exacts. © by Emily Post.—WNU service.

ON TEXAS FARMS

In Hartley county in June 185 producers sold 2266 head of cattle for an average of $13.45 in the drought relief cattle buying program. Those producers retained 16,213 animals indicating hope in the future and determination to stay in business.

Blackberry and dewberry canes which have borne fruit will not bear again. J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist, says. These canes should be cut after the crop is gathered leaving room for the new growth which will carry next year's fruit. A hoe is a satisfactory implement for chopping out the canes or a mowing machine could be used where a large field of berries is to be cared for.

In the 50 by 150 foot subirrigated hilled garden in Canadian, Hemphill county, that is being used as a community garden the vegetables are growing while the same varieties on ground that is not subirrigated have died or ceased to bear. Beans, beets and peas are to be had from the subirrigated garden while an adjoining plot which is not irrigated shows a striking difference.

The Frio county corn-hog committeemen and the county agent who worked with them have covered themselves with glory by sending to the State Corn-Hog Review Board 380 adjusted contracts which required no changes but could be passed at once to Washington for final approval. Of the 454 contracts in that county only 74 were delayed within the county for adjustment.

One-third more yield per acre is the reward of W. D. Bicknell of Fannin county for terracing and using what he calls a "proper cropping system." "Proper" to Mr. Bicknell means 15 acres at a time for three year periods in clover or alfalfa then other crops planted on that land.

SAN BENITO: Shrubs in the yard of Mrs. Renus Snavelly, yard improvement demonstrator for the Combes home demonstration club in Cameron county, are insured survival through the summer by correct methods of watering and cultivation, according to Dorothy Porter, home demonstration agent for that county.

The work is done by Mr. Snavelly who digs a shallow basin around each shrub and waters plentifully—adding water until it soaks in very slowly. The soil is then raked back around the plant, and when a crust is broken by shallow cultivation. This method of watering causes the roots to strike down, so that if a longer period must elapse between waterings the plant does not suffer. Surface cultivation helps to retain the moisture for a greater length of time.

the ones in the rows beside them but not subirrigated," reports Mrs. B. Rogers, farm food supply demonstrator for the Dry Lake home demonstration club in Dickens county, according to Clara Pratt, home demonstration agent. "We made only 125 feet of tile this year but I mean to have the whole garden subirrigated next year. There is no comparison between surface and subirrigation of the garden," adds Mrs. Rogers.

PANHANDLE: From duck made by a Texas cotton mill and used to wrap bales of eight ounce duck for making cotton picking sacks, Mrs. R. A. Thompson, wardrobe demonstrator for the White Deer home demonstration club, made an attractive suit that is well tailored and resembles linen crash, according to Bessie L. Sikkes, home demonstration agent. The suit cost her fifteen cents—five cents for thread and ten cents for tape to bind the seams. An interesting blouse made of four sheer sugar sacks which were tied and dyed brown cost her twenty cents for dye and thread. Thus a total of 35 cents was her expenditure for the three piece outfit.

ALBANY: From a flock of 253 Leghorn chickens, J. P. Strickland of Shackelford county made a net profit of $242.02 in seven months, according to the report of D. F. Eaton, farm demonstration agent.

The total amount of money taken in was $459.68, and Mr. Strickland deducted $217.66 for housing and feeding, which left a profit of almost one dollar per bird net from the sale of eggs and culled hens.

Each hen is credited with laying an average of 127 eggs during the seven month period. These hens consumed 88 cents worth of feed each and produced eggs at a cost of eight cents per dozen. These sold at an average price of seventeen cents per dozen for the period.

GOLIAD: While the pessimists still cry "Nothing in chickens; they eat their heads off" Walter Dietzell of Coletto Creek Community of Goliad county forges ahead and manages to show a profit each month from his flock of White Leghorn hens, according to reports given the farm demonstration agent. During the months of March, April and May, he produced $302.49 worth of eggs from an average of 488 hens at a feed cost of $115.57, charging all home grown feed at current market price. This leaves him a profit of $186.92 for the period. Mr. Dietzell produced his eggs during this period at a cost of 4 1-2 cents per dozen.

MENARD: A. J. McWilliams, 4-H club boy of Menard county, has been selected as one of the fifteen outstanding 4-H calf feeders of the State by a committee composed of A and M College specialists who went over the completed records sent to the College for boys' club work during 1932-33. One hundred outstanding club boys were picked by the committee, the beef division being awarded fifteen places from the entire state.

THE SMALL CITY . . .

A Pacemaker of Progress

More and more the signs point to the greater importance of the small and medium-sized community.

We are proud of the part electric power is playing in laying the groundwork for this greater progress and prosperity.

Gone is the day when the larger metropolitan centers had a monopoly of power supply, the first essential of industrial growth and development.

Widespread networks of transmission lines have given the smaller communities the same high-grade electric service as the larger cities have.

On this firm basis, industries are increasingly recognizing the advantages of location in small communities.

This trend will react most favorably to West Texas, the "Land of Opportunity"—efficiently, dependably and inexpensively served by the West Texas Utilities Company.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surmountably low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

THANKS TO VOTERS

I desire to thank the people of Coleman County for the splendid vote given me for Representative in the recent primary. THANKS

To the Voters of Coleman Co.: I wish to express my appreciation and thanks to my friends who so loyally worked and voted for me in the recent election, at which I was victorious. I appreciate the vote of confidence that was given me, and throughout the next two years it will be my purpose to render dependable, efficient and courteous service to one and all as your County Clerk.

Yours truly, L. EMET WALKER

THANKS TO FRIENDS AND VOTERS

In my rush last week preparing for the Palacios Encampment, Howitzer Company 142nd Infantry, I overlooked preparing a card of thanks until too late for publication.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank those who voted for me for Constable, precinct No. 7, and further say to those who did not vote for me, that the returns show my opponent and I to be tied, and will have to run the race over in the run-off Saturday, August 25th.

I did not wage a very active campaign in my own behalf, but I assure you that if I am re-elected to serve you I will continue to serve you in as honorable and dignified manner as I can, at all times looking forward to the best interest of the law abiding citizens in my territory. I have tried to be faithful to my trust, and diligent in the enforcement of the law under my jurisdiction, and will continue to do so if my services meet with your approval, and I am re-elected.

I was born and raised in this community and have never done anything to be ashamed of, and as long as I live I intend to maintain this record. If you see fit to cast your vote for me in the coming run-off primary, I most surely will appreciate it, and in return I pledge you the very best service I can give.

MACE BLANTON

HARRIS EXPRESSES THANKS

I want to sincerely thank those who gave me a vote of confidence in the primary election and respectfully solicit your vote and continued assistance in the run-off election August 25th. The loyalty of my friends enabled me to lead in the first primary in Precinct No. 2 by the vote of 404 to 347 votes, and to lead the ticket in the entire county 401 votes.

To those who voted for my opponents in the recent election I hold no ill will, and most sincerely solicit your vote and influence in the election August 25th, 1934, and if elected I will do my very best to serve you in a courteous and efficient manner at all times.

Sincerely yours, JOHN O. HARRIS

THANKS VOTERS

I express my sincere thanks for the splendid support given me in my recent race for the State Senate from this District. For those who did not vote for me I have only the kindest of feelings and for the more than twenty thousand who did vote for me I have a deep and enduring gratitude.

I shall ever treasure as an asset that cannot be destroyed the friendship of the many people who worked so unselfishly and patriotically to further my election and whose assistance meant so much to me. I expect always to take an active interest in public affairs and will be ready at all times to help in maintaining and supporting our government.

Sincerely yours, PENROSE B. METCALFE

Besides being a preacher the Rev. Murphy is a talented singer, having been heard over the radio including stations KGRS, WDAG, KRLL, KFJZ, KFPL, KTFI, KRGV, etc. and has several times with a studio microphone, where he made many friends.

"When the Chickens Come Home to Roost," "The Closed Door," "The Old Man and the Old Woman" etc. will be subjects discussed this week by the speaker. Services each evening at 8 o'clock. Come early if you hope to get a seat. Hear this unique speaker and singer.

MURPHY TO SUPPORT SOUTH

San Angelo, Texas August 6, 1934. South-For-Congress Headquarters.

Mr. J. J. Gregg, The Santa Anna News, Santa Anna, Texas. Dear Mr. Gregg:

As you know, I supported Pat Murphy of San Angelo for Congress in the first primary and he ran a strong third. Since then, I have decided that Judge C. L. South is the man for the job and the winner. I am going to send you weekly news stories of his movements over the district. The first is enclosed. Any part of these which you can use will be appreciated greatly by Mr. South and myself. All we ask is an even break in your news columns.

Although I realize you may be pledged to support the other candidate, I feel you will agree that Judge South is an honest, straight-forward man who would make all the people of this district an excellent congressman. If you are not already acquainted with Judge South, I am sure you will meet him soon.

Thanking you in advance for any of my stories you may use, I am, Sincerely yours, L. C. SLOAN.

MURPHY MAKES STATEMENT

Throwing his strong organization squarely behind Judge Charles L. South, E. E. (Pat) Murphy of San Angelo has issued a statement that he intends to vote for the Coleman candidate for Congress in the 21st district run-off. Mr. Murphy, who polled nearly 12,000 votes to run a strong third behind Judge South in the first primary, said he was taking this step because "It appears that the great majority of my organization is already working for Mr. South, and my decision has been reached after hundreds of my supporters have asked me to support him."

"I will be very busy with my law business during the next 30 days and do not at this time contemplate taking an active part in the congressional run-off, but I shall vote for Charles L. South of Coleman and possibly may make two or three speeches for him before the end of the campaign," Mr. Murphy's statement said.

Mr. Murphy also expressed his deepest appreciation to "Each of my friends who so loyally campaigned for me and for the splendid vote given me, especially in my home county of Tom Green."

Tom Green County, which gave Mr. Murphy a majority of several hundred in the first primary is climbing aboard the South Bandwagon. The Coleman candidate was busy in San Angelo this week perfecting his local organization, opening up a headquarters while a South-for-Congress club was being organized.

Mr. South has already installed a loud speaker equipment in his automobile and already has started a whirlwind speaking campaign that will carry him to all parts of the far-flung district.

LETTER FROM CAMP HULEN

A letter from one of the boys in training at Camp Hulen, located at Palacios, Texas, states that the boys arrived on time and were busy setting up camp.

For their benefit, or satisfaction, the large number of young men and boys who make up the membership of our National Guard Company all to be out of town at once, are somewhat missed, especially by some of the fairer sex. We know, because we heard one of them say so. Never mind, little ladies, the boys will all return soon, and that old saying, "Absence Makes the Heart Grow Fonder" may prove to be true with you—the same as it has with others.

Nothing bad was reported in the letter, and better camping conditions were reported than the boys had to endure last year. We hope they all have the best time of their lives, and each of them return home much benefitted by the training and experience.

A later letter with more news may come in before we go to press.

WHEAT SHOOTS UP TO NEW 1934 PEAK

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—The steady advance of wheat prices during recent weeks today was accelerated by a gain of almost five cents a bushel that pushed values above the year's previous peaks established early in June.

Wheat was lifted to a peak of $1.13 1-2 a bushel for May, up 4 5-8 cents from Saturday's finish, almost to the limit permitted by trading rules.

TO THE PEOPLE OF COLEMAN COUNTY:

I am deeply grateful for the generous support given me in the recent primary. If re-elected I pledge you my best efforts to reduce the cost of government.

Sincerely yours, J. W. GOLSON, Candidate for Rep. 125 District.

A POLITICAL SWAN SONG

(Dedicated to the Defeated Candidates)

Some months ago my aspirations anent public office were sturdy, robust and vibrant with hope, but now their remains rest peacefully in the cool shades of forgotten fancies. My zeal for political preferment has been relegated to the limbo of lost delights.

For about eight months I have been suffering from an ailment known as political morbus, or in the vernacular as candidatitis.

The symptoms of this malady are very definite, and for cure, indicate a nice minority. Fever begins to rise in the victim as early as January and the patient will often break out with many ouner political protuberances. There is a yearning to serve, a love for the public equal to infatuation, a zeal for right and justice, and a devotion to duty.

The patient begins to tap wellsprings of power hitherto unknown, and he bounds to the platform to champion the cause of the righteous, with zeal to inspire the sluggish citizens to sense of duty in the face of an impending crisis.

The patient's fever mounts and he gains momentum by the very impetus of his own girations. Wrong is wrong, right is right, and votes are votes.

The patient runs with vertiginous speed as the time grows nigh, hither and thither, gleaming from the willing voters where he may, orating, prating, and prattling of many things and better days. Such is political morbus, or candidatitis.

By late July the patient's fever has climbed to an alarming degree, his pulse is jumpy, he is occasionally delirious and seldom normal.

On election day the patient goes into a state of ecstatic convulsions or in the alternative he goes into a cure which is temporary or permanent, according to the size of the minority dose.

Some suffered from candidatitis years ago and were vaccinated by Dr. Public with a nice minority, but it did not take.

The infection was stubborn and some patients suffered a complete relapse, but on July 28th old Dr. Public was called in again, diagnosed it as a hard case, and forthwith amputated their politics.
