More Candidates For City And School Elections

At press time, Gale Brock former insurance agent and teacher, remained the only candidate for the position of Mayor of Santa Anna. Thelm Brooker who has served in the spot the past two years, had no declared herself a candidate before the NEWS went to press. With two places to fill on the city council there are now three candidates at press time. Incumbent councilman Quintor Daniel filed for re-election since our last report and Joseph Baker owner of Joe's World automotive shop, has also filed as a candidate for a spot on the council. Previously filing as a candidate to retain his seat on the council, was Jim Spillman, the only other council member whose term is expiring.

Interest in the school board election has also picked up as three more candidates have declared their intentions to seek places on the board.

Marty Donham, Roy Joe Harvey, Eddie Jones and Ruth Ann Wise have all put themselves in contention for places on the board of trustees for Santa Anna ISD. All are former students of the Santa Anna schools and have children in the school system. Marty Donham is employed with Stemple Manufacturing in Coleman in a management position, Harvey is a pharmacist and Mrs. Wise is a teacher in the Brownwood ISD. SAHS's "LIMBO" Will Be Performed At District, In Cross Plains, Tuesday

Limbo will be performed in District 13A competition at Cross Plains High School Auditorium, Tuesday, March 28. The Santa Anna High School entry is one of two plays, the other being Novice, that advanced to district from the Zone contest held here in Santa Anna last week.

The Contest in Cross Plains will begin at 2:45 that afternoon. The four schools participating, and the plays they will be performing, in the order of their appearance, are: Cross Plains — The Scarlet Letter; May — Pandora's Box; Novice —

Patchwork Quilt; Santa Anna — Limbo.

An admission fee will be charged. Anyone wishing to see any of the plays should be there before 2:45. The plays will run back-to-back and since some are shorter than others, their is no way to indicate the exact time when each will be performed. There will be no admittance to the auditorium while a performance is taking place.

Limbo is described as a fantasy-drama; one that ponders the question mystery of death and the "hereafter".

".....The undiscovered country from whose bourn no traveller returns" has puzzled, intrigues, confounded, and inspired humankind since the first reasoning being in the faint dawn of prehistory looked at a dying companion and wondered, "What now?"

What happens in that moment of death? An early movie version of Uncle Tom's Cabin pictured Little Eva on her death bed...and a beam of light slowly descending from Heaven and enfolded her like a gentle, loving arm, and the audience always cried when the pure, innocent little girl's soul floated up that shaft of light like a tiny angel.

Dante gave a different picture - but his characters weren't sweet Evas. And many of the world's other great authors contributed their versions of that mysterious moment...and the thereafter.

Jerome McDonough offers a new idea as a number of persons, not having ever know each other and no indication they even live in the same city, find themselves in a dingy waiting room. They don't know where they are. They don't know how they got there. Perhaps worst of all, they don't know how to get out.

They do eventually get out. The Author says the hereafter is as each of us plans it, that we predetermine our destiny by the way we arrange our lives and imagine our deaths. Perhaps we should say that's what McDonough seems to be saying in the play. One can never be absolutely sure....

Directed by Orabeth McIver, assisted by Kay Gray, the cast of Limbo includes Reece McIver, Michael Powers, Scotty Anderson, James Hartman, Rhonda Fleeman, Missy Bryce, Laurie Powers, Rachel Phillips, Shera Lewis, Martha Frausto, Belinda Deal, Shirley Taylor and Ray Jones.

The all important crew members are Rhett Guthrie, Charles Dixon and Gary Keas.

In conjunction with National Agriculture Week observances, the Cotton Board is airing a television special on KTXS, Abilene at 2:00 p.m. As all listings are subject to change, you might want to check your local listings.

During practice of the one-act-play, James Hartman has a gun pointed at his head by Scotty Anderson, who last week was named "Best Actor, during zone competition. Looking on is Shera Lewis. In the rear is Charles Dixon, a member of the stage crew.

Traditional Customs Surround Easter Celebration

Just as our annual Easter Sunrise service has become a tradition in Santa Anna and has created many cherished memories for those who participate, there are other Easter customs we have become accustomed to...the special Easter services at our individual churches, the Easter egg hunt, and the new spring outfit, to mention only a few.

For Christians, Easter commemorates the rising of Christ from the tomb. However through history, people of all faiths have traditionally celebrated this time of year.

According to a recent article in "Co-op Power", the ancient Egyptians celebrated an "Easter Rabbit" because the rabbit was a symbol for the moon. Throughout time the moon has played a role in determining the date on which Easter will be celebrated each year.

The article adds that some historians note the word "Easter" is probably derived from the Teutonic spring festival of Eostor (named for the Teutonic goddess of spring).

The spring festival was a celebration of renewal as the winter came to a close.

Easter eggs can be traced to stories from Germany. One of these tells about an old woman who hid eggs as gifts for her children during famine. When she went to get them, a big rabbit leaped away and thus the story spread that the rabbit had brought the eggs.

Great Britain appears to have contributed the hot cross buns and the tradition of new Easter clothes.

Hot cross buns are baked each Friday during Lent. An old English rhyme says, "At Easter let your clothes be new. Or else be sure you will it rue."

Many countries practice egg coloring, egg hunts, and egg rolling. Probably the most famous rolling in the U.S. takes place on the White House lawn. The custom was started by President Hayes in 1870. With the exception of the years between 1942 and 1953, the custom has been observed ever since.

The article concludes by saying that Easter lilies, considered the symbol of purity, abound during the season.

Thoughts From Our Pastors

Charlie Klinker
Seventh Day Adventist Church

HOW TO PRAY EFFECTIVELY AND WHO SHOULD YOU PRAY FOR

Prayer is simply talking to God as to a friend. The big difference being, He is the best, most wonderful, powerful friend we can possibly have. He is the most attentive listener, the most willing to help. Best of all he holds the key to eternal life.

If you are concerned that you not be forced into doing or being something you don't want to be, relax. He will not take sin, or death, or guilt, or misery from you unless you specifically want and ask Him to. I praise God that He never forced me to choose life. He did hold His arms open wide calling me to come home.

In emergencies nearly everyone will fling out a prayer asking God to save them from destruction. In most cases we forget that we prayed at all even though the Lord indeed answers our prayer. Others pray on a regular basis but seemingly find no results. How can we pray effectively?

James 5:16, last part, says, "The effective fervent prayer of a righteous man avails much. That sounds good. How do we get RIGHTEOUS so that we can pray this effective prayer? Number one, SURRENDER and verbally give the Lord your WILL, your hopes, dreams, aspirations, and desires. Ask the Lord to let your life be to His honor and glory.

Second, ASK FOR CLEANSING. In 1 John 1:9, it says "If we confess our sins He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

Third, Luke 11:13, last part, says, "How much more will your Heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask him!"

Ask the Lord to fill you with His loving Holy Spirit. Fourth, ASK THE LORD TO LIFT YOU UP because Satan is always trying to put us down. The burning desire of mankind is "We would see Jesus". The only way the world will see Christ before his soon return is to see Him in our lives.

When we have surrendered our lives, the Lord has cleansed us of sin, we are filled with the Holy Spirit, we are covered with Christ's righteousness. Now we can pray the prayer of a righteous person. Righteous in Christ's righteousness and not our own. Now we pray fervently, our prayers will be effective. They will avail much.

Who should I pray for? "Lord lay some souls upon my heart" and the Lord will impress upon you who to pray for. Make a prayer list and add names every day. As you pray for these individuals, use their name, if you know it. Ask the Holy Spirit to prepare their heart to receive the words of life. Ask the Lord to impress you when they are ready. Most of all, ask the Holy Spirit to speak through you.

Around & About

A note from Ruby Davis Cass of New Braunfels, tells us she is enjoying the NEWS. Likes the variety of reading and "all those wonderful recipes and good health news."

We always appreciate these kind words from our readers. Its certainly nice to know you are enjoying the product of our work.

The News staff is enjoying a lovely bouquet of hyacinths and forsythia brought to us Monday (first day of spring) by Alice Anna Spillman. Thoughtful gestures such as this make our days so enjoyable. Although a little blustery, Monday was a spring-like day. As I write this on Tuesday morning, it seems like anything but spring with the temperature hovering around 30 and light sleet falling to the ground. However, we are told we can expect a lovely, warm Easter Sunday.

Speaking of blustery winds on Monday. Some passers through met with an unfortunate experience when the wind played havoc with their travel trailer. They were caught in a gust of wind right at the foot of the hill just below the roadside park between Santa Anna and Coleman. The wind caused the large Argosy trailer to jackknife into the towing vehicle and doing quite a bit of damage to the suburban as it ended up ramming into a fence just off the highway. Little damage was actually done to the trailer.

was a fantastic meal. Rip Keeney said the prayer. Ethel Williams will be bringing turkey with dressing for the Good Friday Meal on the 24th. Do come and enjoy the food and fellowship at the Mountain City Center.

Deliberate with caution, but act with decision; and yield with graciousness, or oppose with firmness.

Mr. and Ms. Jack Kingsbery of Crystal City were weekend visitors with their son and family, Bruce and Karyn Kingsbery and Laine, and with her father, C.D. Bruce at Ranger Park Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. W.P. Winkler of Belton arrived Sunday to spend a few days here visiting her brother, Mr. C.D. Bruce, and with other relatives.

Carol Kingsbery Ottmers of Austin visited in Santa Anna briefly Monday.

Glenda Merworth and daughter Larenda and her two children all of Midland were Saturday visitors with Othal Warnock.

James Scott who has been hospitalized for several weeks is now back at home in Santa Anna. He and Mrs. Scott have taken up residence at Apt. 24 on South Lee Street to better accommodate James while he is rehabilitating from his illness. He will be going back and forth to Abilene for therapy sessions.

Visitors in the Derriel Warnock home over the weekend were Marty Warnock of Rockwall and daughter Stephanie, Doug Warnock of San Angelo, and laste Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Epply and Lesa of May were visitors. Mrs. Epply is a cousin of Mr. Warnock. The Epply's also visited with a great aunt, Myrtle Davis, while in Santa Anna.

Library Notes

There is still some time left to buy a book for an Easter Gift. Book stores always have special children's books and usually have some suggestions for adults. A subscription to a magazine or newspaper would give a full year of reading pleasure. Pre-school or early readers would enjoy video cassette and books. There are also books with records. Either would give years of family togetherness fun.

Did you know that last week the PTO held a book fair? Books for all ages were on sale at the school. Volunteers helped and the small amount of profit on each book went into the PTO treasury. That money goes back into the school. If you didn't help some child buy a book, you can still contribute. Teachers and the elementary school library staff can purchase books at a discount. Books were from $2 to $5 and you can pay for one or a part.

The children have been talking about the Bluebonnet award and other author awards. They have even been casting votes for their favorite new book. This encourages reading. You can encourage some child by asking about their choice.

Spring brings out the gardening instinct in most of us. Those who can't actually plant, can dream. You can get free seed catalogues and read about flowers and other plants. Recently, M.L. Guthrie Jr. has been sharing a book about roses. This particular company has "old roses" and gave an interesting history of each. Did you know that some of your favorite roses began in ancient China? Europe really awoke to their beauty in the middle ages. Janet and Luther May enjoyed this book. They are the friends who did most of the work planting roses downtown a few years ago. Recently, they pruned those roses. You may wish to thank these folks.

If you need help in your gardening, there are wonderful books from the library to assist you. If you can't find what you want at the local library, one of the larger in the area, will probably have it.

Save your books for our sale in May. Ask people in town to contribute. You may even know teachers or librarians who are familiar with surplus sources.

A Mountainside Viewpoint

By Polly Warnock

Be sure to take a drive past the east mountain to see the lighted cross that reminds us of the joyous Easter we will commemorate Sunday. Everyone in the community will appreciate the repair work done on the cross by Damon Harper and Wallace Collins. You might also wish to express your thanks to WTU for furnishing the electricity with which to light the cross each Easter week.

You are also urged to take advantage of the opportunity to attend the Easter Sunrise service on the mountain near the lighted cross at 6:30 Sunday morning. Rev. J.D. Ferguson of the Northside Baptist Church will bring the message. Breakfast will follow at the Presbyterian Church. Several churches of Santa Anna sponsor the event each year for your worshipping enjoyment.

If you received the same advertisement in the mail this week that this writer did, you may have also been taken aback by the novel approach taken by the company sending it out. Addressed to "Boxholder", the letter began: "Dear Preferred Customer," and went on to say only through this letter to preferred customers would you know about this sale, and the letter would be your admittance to the sale. Wonder what would happen if every preferred customer showing up at the sale declared their name to be "Boxholder"!

And then on second thought, maybe their thinking is that all customers are preferred customers as is here at the NEWS where we treasure all our customers, whether we know your name or not!

Word from Grantland Groves, coordinator of the Loves and Fishes Food Ministry based in Coleman is they are in need of some drinking glasses. Jelly glasses would work fine, we are told. Anyone wishing to contribute glasses to this worthwhile community assistance program may leave them at the Santa Anna News office for collection by the group. A number of Santa Anna people benefit from the services of the ministry and your consideration and help in this matter would be greatly appreciated.

School Board Takes Care Of Routine Business

According to a report from the school business office, the school board meeting which took place last Tuesday night, March 14, was pretty much routine. All members of the board were present with the exception of Terry McIver.

Rose Bass was named Election Judge for the May 6 school board election and Judy Hartman was named judge for absentee balloting which will begin April 17 and end May 2. All absentee balloting in the school board election will take place at the school business office.

Recommendations of the school textbook committee were accepted for selections of textbooks for the 90-91 school year.

The board cast ballots for members to the Region 15 Education Service Center Board of Directors.

The group made the decision to sell a surplus school bus and after some discussion approved repairs to the school car.

Consideration was given toward renewal of instructional personnel contracts.

Accounts payable were reviewed and approved for payment and an amendment to the budget was approved.

Era Walters Gives Review For Club, Gives Rare Book To Library Board

The Santa Anna Self Culture Club met March 8 at the annex of First United Methodist Church. Betty Key and Lucile Wylie served as hostesses for the meeting. Table decorations and refreshments followed in a St. Patrick's Day theme. Members enjoyed assorted breads, desert salad, salted nuts, and green tinted punch.

Alice Anna Spillman, program chairman, introduced Era Walters of Abilene. Mrs. Walters, a former longtime resident of Santa Anna, presented a book review entitled "The Endless Quest". She gave the background of Noah Webster and his intense dedication in compiling his dictionary.

Mrs. Walters is an associate member of the Self Culture Study Club. She presented a copy of Noah's Ark - New England Yankees - The Endless Quest, by Robert Keith Leavitt to the library board. This book is the story of Webster's life and is one of only three copies in existence. It belonged to Mrs.

Walter's deceased husband who was a personal friend of the author.

This book is available for viewing and reference to interested persons by contacting Mrs. James (Alice Anna) Spillman. It will be added to the collection of rare books belonging to the Santa Anna Library when the remodeling and move is completed.

Ethel Williams, president of the Self Culture Club, conducted the business meeting.

Members attending were Betty Key, Lucile Wylie, Ethel Williams, Gale Brock, Cathy Ellis and Alicia, Betty Henderson, Earlene Scott, Jackie Davison, Edith Verne Hosch, Mary Clifford, Jean McClellan, Alice Anna Spillman, Mae Blue, Gladis Barnes, LaRue Morgan, Eula McCary, and Carmen Donham.

Mrs. Wylie stated the annual trip is scheduled for April 8 to Kerrville. Reservations for the bus trip should be made now for members who plan to attend.

Commissioners Bombarded With Requests For Funds

The Coleman County Commissioners were confronted with several requests for funds from various areas when they met last week, but no action was taken on any of them until further study can be made. The granting of some of the funds asked for would require the spending of money not budgeted and needed special consideration before decisions could be made.

Sheriff Wade Turner asked the court to install a modern six-line telephone system that would replace the present "antiquated three-line system" now in use in his department. Representatives of General Telephone and Electric and Coleman County Telephone Cooperative, were on hand to explain their respective systems and present cost estimates for updating the equipment. According to the representatives of the two companies, the updating would increase the line cost about $42 a month. Costs of equipment to make the change is estimated to be from $3000 to $3700. The court agreed to have the two organizations submit bids for the systems they recommended, only for four-line systems rather than the six-line as requested.

Another request came from County Clerk Glen Thomas who asked for the purchase of a new copy machine for his office. He suggested that the copier currently being used could be transferred to the Sheriff's department to replace the one in use there. This request would also require a fund outlay of $3700. This proposal was also tabled for further consideration.

Two other requests for funding came from two rural fire departments, one from outside the county, but is a fire department which has helped in fighting fires within Coleman County. It was brought out in the discussion that although the assistance is very much appreciated, as expressed by several in attendance, units from within Coleman County often help fight fires outside the county without receiving financial aid from those areas. No action was taken on the request.

First Coleman National Bank was approved as depository for all county funds, after bids received had been reviewed.

The repair of the courthouse roof was discussed and the court agreed to have Lydick Roofing do the repairs. An investigation will be

He's My Brother, Lord

Charles Willis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Bozeman of New Caney and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benge of Santa Anna has been playing softball for the New Caney-Porter "Texans" for the past several years. During that time he has won approximately 40 trophies. He recently made the decision to give those trophies, with the exception of three, to Special Olympics in Humble, Texas. Of the other three he withheld, Charles has given one to his coach, one to his niece and the other one is for himself.

You see, Charles has special feeling for the Special Olympics as his younger brother, Larry, was born deaf and Charles has seen the heartache first hand. His thoughts were that by giving his trophies to these special kids, they might have a special day and receive a little special encouragement.

Larry Willis graduated from Texas School For The Deaf in 1985. He has been accepted into Gallaudet College for the Deaf in Washington, D.C. Gallaudet has over 2400 deaf students from around the world. Larry has attended Stephen F. Austin in Nacogdoches for one year and is now attending North Harris County College in Houston.

In the classes he has attended, Larry has had to have an interpreter with him at all times. His goal is to become a teacher and coach with his brother cheering him on.

made to determine if the current roof is still under partial warranty. It had been brought to the attention of the court that the roof had leaked during the recent rains and snow.

Precinct 1 commissioner Jack Strickland was given approval to advertise two road graders to be sold by bids.

Bills and accounts totaling in the neighborhood of $51,000 were approved for payment before the court adjourned.

Official Memorandum

WHEREAS, the hard work and ingenuity of Texas family farmers and ranchers have contributed to a heritage that has won acclaim for the Lone Star State as the second largest producer of raw agricultural commodities in the country; and

WHEREAS, the lifestyle that these agricultural producers cherish is now being sacrificed in favor of foreign markets and massive corporate-owned operations that stress fencepost-to-fencepost cultivation of a single crop; and

WHEREAS, continued emphasis on high yields increases dependence on synthetic chemicals with little regard for the negative impact on our natural resources that are being depleted in alarming amounts; and

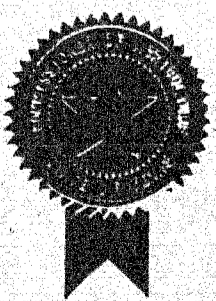

WHEREAS, Sustainable Agriculture, an alternative system of farming, utilizes crop diversification and rotation, integrated pest management and biological control to limit the overuse of chemicals and protect our soil and water while emphasizing ecologically sound food production;

BE IT THEREBY RESOLVED that the Texas Department of Agriculture wholeheartedly endorses Sustainable Agriculture as the key to protecting the family farm as the optimum unit of efficient agriculture production and stewardship of the land.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Texas Department of Agriculture will help develop, promote and implement Sustainable Agricultural practices as a means of reducing costs, enhancing profits, protecting our natural resources and providing a healthful, reliable food supply for consumers.

THEREFORE, I, Jim Hightower, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, support the movement that seeks to sustain agriculture into the next century through the sensible use of our farmland that safeguards our natural resources and preserves our family farmers while meeting consumer needs, and do hereby proclaim the week of March 19-25, 1989, to be

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 10th day of March, 1989.

According to Alice (Mrs. Ike) Garza, their daughter Roze, a junior at Santa Anna High School has been offered a full band scholarship to Ranger Junior College upon her completion of high school.

Rose has been very involved in different competitions related to band and has always worked very hard to achieve her success. She says, however, it has been worth it and the hard work has paid off.

The scholarship offer has come due in part to recommendations by band directors who have seen her perform in competition and seen the potential she has.

immunization status is unknown should receive an MMR (Measles-Mumps-Rubella combination) vaccine.

Further guidelines for an Epidemic Situation are:

1. All infants 6 to 12 months old should be re-vaccinated.
2. All persons vaccinated prior to 1965 should be re-vaccinated.
3. Anyone vaccinated before his/her first birthday should be re-vaccinated.

School children vaccinated between 1965 and 1980 should be re-vaccinated only in an Epidemic Situation - for example two or more proven cases in a child's school. There is nothing wrong with a parent's wish to have a child re-immunized.

It is not a general recommendation however, since 80 to 90 percent of previously immunized children would already have adequate protection, and since tremendous expense would be incurred in a massive re-vaccination program.

There are guidelines for those who should not receive the measles vaccine. Measles vaccine should not be given to pregnant women, to patients receiving anti-cancer chemotherapy, to anyone who has received gamma globulin in the past three months, to anyone who has had a serious allergic reaction (wheezing and shortness of breath) to egg ingestion, or to a patient with high fever at the proposed time of immunization.

Selena Cook is shown in triple jump action during Saturday's Mountaineer Relays. Teammate Shannon Brown, cheering her on from the other end of the runway, was winner of the event.

SAHS girls doubles team of Eva Frausto and Liz Longoria in action last weekend during the SAHS tournament. The girls didn't place in the top brackets of the tournament but look for better things in future competition.

County Tax Board Met March 13

Members of the Coleman County Appraisal District Board met Monday, March 13, for the regular session at the Appraisal District office in Coleman. Barbara Kingsbery, chairman, led the meeting that was attended by Jake McCreary, Richard Johnson and Lang C. Martin. Dwight Nanny was absent.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and Chief Appraiser Bill Jones reviewed the bills and accounts for the previous month and presented the monthly report.

Mr Jones reported that the 1988 tax collection is at 88 percent, almost three percent above the same time last year.

Jones also reported on the appraisal ratio for Coleman County and changes being made to get the appraisals nearer market value as required by the State Tax Board. The changes are not expected to increase taxes in the categories in which they are made.

Plans were made to have the preliminary budget report for 1990 at the next meeting which is scheduled on Monday, April 10.

Meetings of the Appraisal District Board are open to the public and anyone is welcome to be present at the monthly sessions.

Some Facts To Consider About Measles And A Possible Epidemic Situation

With all the talk in the news media about the possibility of a measles epidemic in Texas and across the nation, we felt the following information recently given through a letter to the editor in the Abilene Reporter News would be most helpful to many of our readers.

Dr. Stephen T. Faehle, M.D., writes:

Texas is in the midst of a measles epidemic. Houston has been the hardest hit, with more than 900 cases. Some experts believe more than 2,000 cases have been reported.

There were, as of late January, four deaths: a 21-year-old female, a 19-year-old male, a 2-year-old male and a 13-month-old male.

Measles has since been reported in sixteen counties in Texas since the first of the year.

Despite regular coverage by the news media of this public health threat, it is apparent most people do not have a clue as to what preventative measure they must take.

Guidelines released by the Texas Pediatric Society include the following recommendations:

- 1). If one has had the disease measles, no further protection is required.
- 2). Children vaccinated after their first birthday with a measles vaccine manufactured since 1980 need no further protection.
- 3). All children 15 months of age or older whose measles

Alex Frausto and Armando Mata have both been selected for the Citizen of the Week honor at Santa Anna High School.

According to Arlene Denning, school counselor, the two young men have been previously honored during this school year, but because of their excellent school citizenship, they were deserving of being honored another time.

The two were nominated for the recognition by faculty members

Both are sophomore students at SAHS. Alex is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Frausto Jr. Armando is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Armando Mata Sr.

NEWS OF SAFETY

Facts from the U.S. Department of Transportation

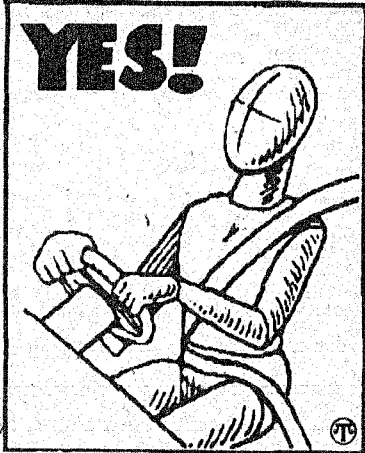

More Americans Are Buckling Up

Here's the good news on how the use of safety belts and age-21 drinking laws are helping keep Americans on the road to safety.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), the use of safety belts by drivers in the United States has increased to a record 43 percent. Secretary of Transportation, Jim Burnley says, "Increasing public acceptance of safety belts is saving lives and preventing injuries." Between 1983 and 1987, safety belts saved nearly 11,000 lives—6,900 due to safety belt laws.

According to NHTSA Administrator Diane K. Steed, before the agency began its national safety belt campaign in 1982 and issued a rule to encourage states to adopt safety belt use laws, only about 11 percent of drivers used safety belts. Although today's 43.4 percent use rate is impressive, NHTSA expects usage to increase even more in the years ahead. A fact for all drivers and passengers to keep in mind: NHTSA estimates over 15,000 lives could have been saved in 1987 if everyone wore safety belts.

The NHTSA is also working to reduce the number of motor vehicle crashes involving alcohol. Statistics verify that more than 40 percent of all teenage deaths result from motor vehicle crashes and more than half these tragedies involve alcohol. However, the statistics also provide good news. In states where the legal drinking age has been raised to 21, the involvement of 18- to 20-year-olds in crashes has been reduced by about 13 percent.

Drawing supplied by AAA. Safety belt usage in the United States is up to 43.4 percent.

According to Steed: "Americans everywhere should applaud their governors and state legislators for acting quickly on such an important public safety measure. In state after state, age-21 laws have proven that they save lives."

AGRICULTURAL MILESTONES

IN THE EARLY part of this century, a "substation" of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) was often a small farm of 60 to 100 acres, staffed by a superintendent, perhaps one other researcher with a college degree, and one or more farm laborers.

The substation generally included a small house for the superintendent, cottages for other personnel, a barn, one of more teams of mules or horses, maybe a few head of other livestock, a few pieces of farm equipment, and that was it.

What's remarkable, in retrospect, is the amount of worthwhile information garnered by this system. Part of the reason seems to be that these early-day scientists knew how to set up meaningful test plots, complete with controls; were keen observers; and some possessed powerful intuitions and intellect, for they were sometimes able to arrive at correct conclusions with woefully short evidence.

On such small units were discovered the first evidence of the value of hybridizing sorghum, together with possible techniques for achieving hybridization; soil and water conservation methods, of national and international importance; germplasm to "stormproof" cotton; the connection between night blindness and vitamin A deficiency in feedlot cattle; and a host of other significant research results.

Gradually, as the population and wealth of the State increased and problems grew in number and complexity, the size of many of the stations increased and the quality of equipment improved. At the same time, the educational level of personnel was improved to deal with increasingly sophisticated research.

Today, the Experiment Station has one of the leading agricultural research facilities in the United States, and is a world leader in many areas of research. Besides internationally recognized achievements in research with sorghum, cotton, wheat and other small grains, beef cattle, pest control, and irrigation, to name a few of the better known areas, TAES also is deeply involved in many newer areas of research.

For example, TAES scientists recently have made extremely significant discoveries about brucellosis; mycotoxins; baculoviruses that induce production of interferons and other needed medicines, insecticides, etc.; ultrasound used with a computer to accurately grade livestock, and ultrasound used to improve artificial breeding of cattle and horses, along with superovulation.

Other breakthroughs have involved tissue culture, that can produce disease-free plants, speed improvement of long-lived plants such as trees, or select for desired characteristics such as drought-resistance in grain sorghum, and altered bacteria that can be used to detoxify chemicals such as parathion, or replace hazardous radioimmunoassay methods with benign, harmless light.

Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Ernie Covey of Georgetown are expected. Thursday Clara visited in Coleman with Mr and Mrs Jack Banning and Marie Hellman.

Visiting with Cecil and Nona Bell Ellis on Sunday were Jerry and Cathy Ellis and children and Mrs Grace Ellis. Tammy Ellis is in from Richmond.

Jeff Herring arrived on Friday to spend the next week with Dale and Carol Herring, Derek and Casey and Evaline and Casey Herring.

Solution To Puzzle

The Homeless: Who Are They?

There are roughly 250,000 to 3,000,000 homeless people in the U.S., and their numbers are increasing, according to the Office for Substance Abuse Prevention (OSAP), of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

One-half to two-thirds of the homeless have completed high school and about 25 to 30 percent have attended college.

Although the homeless traditionally have been viewed as mostly alcoholics and drug addicts, this group now increasingly includes the elderly, women, children, minorities, the unemployed, displaced families and the mentally ill.

Many factors contribute to the increasing number of homeless persons, but alcohol and other drug abuse remains among the most important. It is believed that as many as 35%-40% of all homeless people suffer from alcohol abuse and alcoholism. Other drug use in the homeless population is approximately 10%.

The provision of services to help the homeless return to society depends heavily on private donations of money and volunteered time. You can find out how you can make a difference by contacting local service centers for the homeless in your community.

For more information on the prevention and intervention of problems with alcohol or other drugs, write the National Clearinghouse for Alcohol and Drug Information, P.O. Box 2345, Dept. NAPS, Rockville, MD 20857; or call (301) 468-2600.

OUR HERITAGE

The Building of Mount Rushmore

Mount Rushmore National Memorial, the largest memorial in the world, stands not only as a testament to the achievements of the four presidents whose faces it depicts, but to the will of the men who created it out of a granite mountain.

The movement to create a memorial at Mount Rushmore, a 6,000-foot granite cliff in South Dakota's Black Hills, was initiated by Doane Robinson, the state's historian. Robinson imagined a grand carving that would depict heroes of the American West, and he contacted Gutzon Borglum, a highly regarded sculptor, in 1924.

Borglum, an Idaho native, had made a name for himself by designing and beginning the carving of a massive memorial to Confederate soldiers at Stone Mountain, Ga., in 1923. Borglum's wife always maintained that he wanted his work to have "the emotional value of volume." Mount Rushmore would be his greatest achievement.

Borglum suggested that rather than a Western theme, Mount Rushmore be made a memorial that would honor the entire nation. Borglum selected four former presidents—George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt—to be honored in stone. He interested the federal government in helping pay for the project.

Actual work on Mount Rushmore started in 1927. Borglum created scale models of the figures to be used as guides for the carving and hoisted them to the edge of the cliff. With methods Borglum himself developed, a crew of about 30 men began using dynamite, pneumatic hammers and drills to remove 450,000 tons of granite from the mountain.

Their medium was not the only difficulty facing the artisans. Federal funding in the first years of the Depression-era project came only on condition of matching funds of private donations. One year when the matching goal was not met, there was no construction. The federal government eventually took over complete funding of the memorial, but because of weather conditions, work still had to be suspended every winter. Amazingly, there were no deaths among the workers carving the granite cliff.

In 1941, after spending 14 years on his master work and nearly seeing the completion of the stone faces, Gutzon Borglum died in Chicago at age 73. His death and the onset of World War II ended construction of the memorial. Supervision of the finishing details of Mount Rushmore National Memorial as we know it today were handled by Borglum's son Lincoln. The total cost of the memorial was just under $1 million.

Borglum originally had planned to carve into the mountain a 500-word essay on the history of America and the importance of the four presidents memorialized. He was concerned that the 60-foot-high stone faces would one day be as mysterious as the Sphinx in Egypt and the giant stone carvings of Easter Island in the Pacific. The essay carving has never been undertaken.
