Activities Taking Place Under The Shade

Downtown Funtier Day Activities

Santa Anna is the place to be Saturday for all the fun and excitement of Funtier Day '89. We have tried to keep you up to date on all the happenings, but many of the plans are still in the making and those in charge are working hard to make this the best Funtier Day yet.

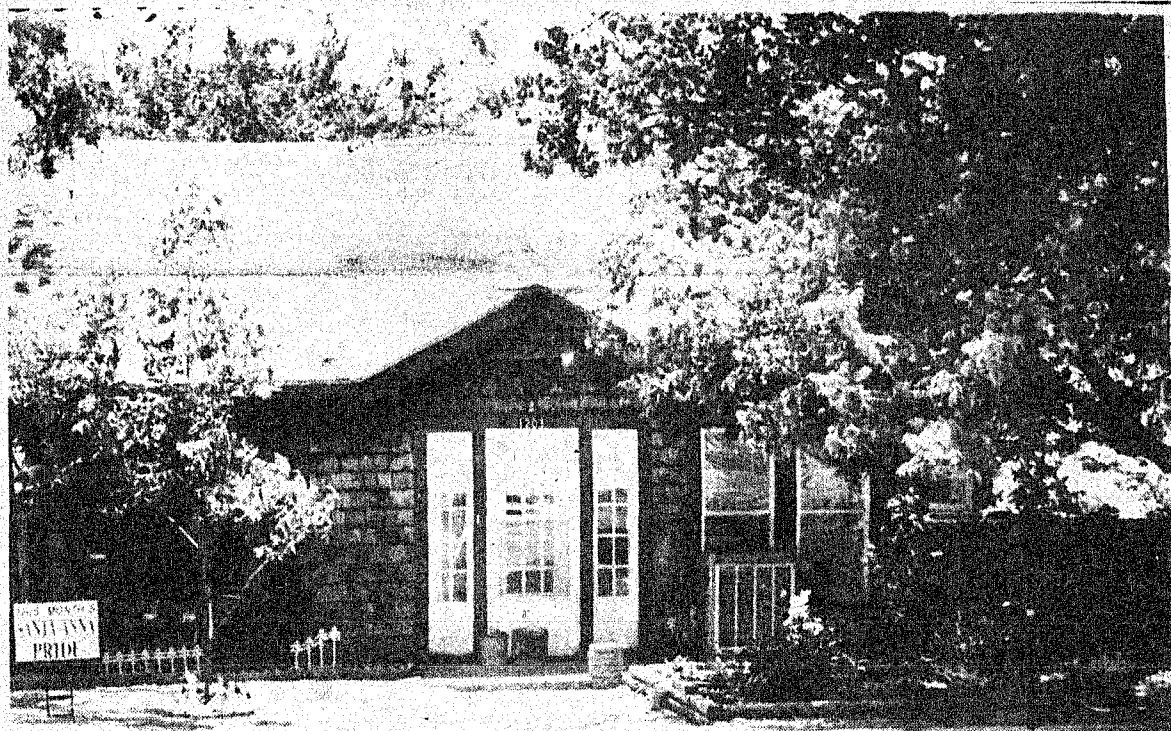

Although many groups have planned activities for various areas of the city (see inside for more information), the main attractions will take place right down town under the shade that has been provided by the Chamber of Commerce and put into place by employees of Coleman County Telephone Cooperative and WTU.

Saturday's downtown main attraction activities will begin with the Maypole dance by local youngsters at 9:00 a.m. followed by a parade at 10:00 led by the Fort Concho Color Guard. A fly-over by the Coleman Flying Club will signify the beginning of the parade. Included in the parade will be covered wagons, riding clubs, antique automobiles, the Brownwood Shrine, antique farm machinery, the Rad Rockets, antique fire trucks from both Santa Anna and Coleman, and much more to delight all ages.

Square dancers will perform at 11:00 and a sheep shearing contest will be held at 12 noon.

Santa Anna's Pride Of The Month

The "Pride of the Month" for May is the home of Mrs. E.E. McClintock at 1203 Wallis. The always neat and clean yard is kept that way by Mrs. McClintock with little or no outside help. At this time the yard is a profusion of color from various spring flowers and as in years past will probably continue so through the summer into fall. Thanks to Mrs. McClintock for contributing to the Pride of Santa Anna. (Staff Photo)

Anderson Places 5th In State UIL Competition

Santa Anna High School junior, Scotty Anderson placed 5th in the state University Interscholastic League Literary contest in News Writing competition last weekend in Austin. Scotty was one of the more than 2000 students who placed at district and regional contests to earn a berth at the State Meet.

According to a statement by Dr. Bailey Marshall, UIL director, "Each year, more than a third of the total participation in UIL activities involved academic contests, dispelling the myth of the League as a sports organization." Bailey adds, "Texas has the most comprehensive slate of academic contests."

In competing at the State meet, Scotty qualifies for Texas Interscholastic League Foundation scholarships.

SCOTTY ANDERSON

Scotty is the son of Pam and Norman Anderson. He is active in many school and church events. This year he participated in the One-Act-Play and won the award for "Best Actor" at the zone level and was a member of the "All Star Cast" at the area level. He is a member of the National Honor Society, has played varsity football and basketball for the past three years, is a member of the Science Club, Student Council Representative for his class and a member of the First Baptist Church.

Street To Be Blocked Friday

The portion of 2nd Street between Wallis Ave and Ave B will be blocked off Friday while the shade is being put into place over the area where the downtown main attractions of Funtier Day will be taking place Saturday.

Employees of Coleman County Telephone Cooperative and West Texas Utilities will combine their efforts to put the shade up. Remember to say a special thank you to the two groups for this very much appreciated work.

If the wind is too high the work will be done later in the evening of Friday.

Eubank Resigns

Max Eubank, who has served Santa Anna as City Administrator for the past several months has resigned that position, effective last week, due to "a situation beyond my control".

In a statement to the Santa Anna News, Eubank explains the City Council was aware from the beginning that the possibility of his having to leave the position existed.

He adds that he enjoyed the relationship and felt that some progress had been made.

City Office Holders Remain; Not So For School Board

The City office holders who were seeking to retain their positions in the City government did just that when the local voters went to the polls last Saturday, but the same was not true for the school board incumbents as all four were swept out by the ISD voters.

The three top vote getters among the seven running for full terms were Roy Joe Harvey with 251 votes; Ruth Ann Wise, with 200; and Marty Donham with 136. Donham just did edge out incumbent Roddy Dean who had received 132 votes and the other two incumbents in the race for full terms—Gary Absher and Dickie Horner—received 96 votes and 67 votes respectively. In addition, write-in candidate Barbara Simmons received 51 votes while the other announced candidate, Gilbert (Bubba) Jones had 36 and write-in candidate Joe Taylor had eight votes. Other write-ins went to Donna Bradley, 1; Margaret Simmons, 1; and Jerry Ellis, 2. Elizabeth Simmons received 2 vote and Scott Patterson, 1.

For the one-year unexpired term held by incumbent Bill Martin, Ed-

Friendship Luncheon

(Contributed)
Jim Ingram has the know-how to get the right flavor into his barbecued sausage which he brings from time to time to the friendship luncheon and last Thursday's contribution to the meal was no exception. He came loaded with a platter of this dish and those present went back for seconds.

A guest was Pam Williams, granddaughter of Rose Bass. Pam's husband is a jockey at Ruidosa Downs. Mrs. Williams was at one time a jockey, but stated "she had given up the rides".

Rip Keeney offered grace before the meal. Following the meal Doris Griffin gave a financial report.

A plate of food was taken to Xuma Jones, a resident at the high rise, who has recently returned home after a stay in the hospital and nursing home.

This week's fare will be pot-luck and everyone is welcome to bring a dish and join us about 11:30 on Thursday for some good food and fellowship.

Band Boosters Meet Thursday

There will be a meeting of the Band Boosters Thursday, May 11, at 6:30 at the Band Hall.

Business for the meeting will include the election of new officers and a discussion of financial aid for students planning to attend summer band camp.

Thoughts From Our Pastors

James Ford
Assembly of God

A Little Goes A Long Way

Luke 21:1-4, "And he looked up and saw the rich men casting their gifts into the treasury. And he saw a certain poor widow casting in thither two mites. And He said, Of a truth I say unto you, that this poor widow hath cast in more than they all. For all these have of their abundance cast in unto the offerings of God; but she of her penury hath cast in all the living that she had."

As we look forward to Mother's Day, let us stop and think what our mothers have done for us and give them the respect they deserve.

In Luke 21:1-4 we read of a poor widow going to give what she had. Many times our mothers had to take a little and turn it into a lot. If they lacked in one point they made up for it in love. Love was always there to help us. Many things my mother did were not important to anyone but me. In the story in Luke we see many giving from their abundance but she gave all she had. I feel many times mothers give all they have in patience, love and understanding. Mother had faith in us to succeed and taught us many principles that were important.

A mother has the first and best opportunity to teach about Jesus. We all see the importance of a good foundation and know that mother started the foundation.

Mothers of today need to know that they have a tremendous responsibility to train up their child in the love of God, in truth, in honesty and in love.

We read in the papers of many failures but there are many successes also. One that I would like to use today is to show the lasting effects that a mother has:

The Will Of Henry Heinze — When the will of Henry Heinze, wealthy distributor of the famous "57 Varieties" line, was read it was found to contain the following confession.

"Looking forward to the time when my earthly career will end, I desire to set forth at the very beginning of this will, as the most important item in it, a confession of my faith in Jesus Christ, as My Saviour. I also desire to bear witness to the fact that throughout my life, in which there unusual joys and sorrows, I have been wonderfully sustained by my faith in God through Jesus Christ. This legacy was left to me by my consecrated mother, a woman of strong faith, and to it I attribute any success I have attained.

Library Notes

By Alice Anna Spillman
Boys and girls, the library has 33 new books just for you. Mrs. Mae Blue, Mrs. John Howze and Mrs. Glenn Lawhon have given boxes of books. Many have been placed on the shelves for children's books.

The summer reading program is to begin in June and it seems there are never enough books. Those on hand are really well used. Johnnie and Zackary Lawhon helped their mother and Mrs. Blue move the boxes of books to the library. Hands such as these are really appreciated when lifting heavy books.

One of the special new children's books is a copy of "Honi Bea". This book was described in a recent article in the Santa Anna News and was written by a former Santa Anna girl, Robbie Collins Goodwin.

Another case of "word getting around" - a new family has moved to the Shoe String Ranch. As they were talking to Barbara Simmons at the feed store, she mentioned the library. Mrs. Betty Richter brought a box of books to the library soon after.

Bring your books Friday afternoon, May 12, to the new library building for the book sale on Funtier Day. Save your money for the book bargains on Saturday morning. The money all goes to the building fund.

A Tribute To One Mother While Remembering All Mothers

EDITOR'S NOTE: As Mother's day approaches, we would like to publish the following as a tribute to all mothers. The article, written by Tommy Spencer as a tribute to his late mother, Wilnetta (Mills) Spencer first appeared a number of months ago in the Abilene Reporter News when Spencer wrote the article as a guest columnist. Mrs. Spencer was raised in Santa Anna and many of our readers will remember her and the Mills family.

How could we face life without her? How could I face life without her?

My mind raced with a multitude of thoughts as mother lay dying in her Midland hospital room. Childhood, adolescence, and adult growing pains and joys flashed across my mind during those days she was hospitalized.

It wasn't that her illness was so sudden. We knew mother had lupus for almost five years. It was just that the sudden severity of the disease had surprised us.

After 23 years of teaching first graders at Johnston Elementary school in Abilene, Wilnetta Spencer retired to an apartment in the growing southwest part of the city.

Days were filled with hospital volunteering, teaching English to Vietnamese adults, arranging flowers, and other tasks deemed appropriate for this energetic grandmother.

She was in constant contact with former fellow teachers both active and retired. It seems she was always the counselor — not only for frightened 6-year-olds, but for anxious student teachers and frustrated veterans as well. She always seemed to have time to meet for coffee to discuss teaching techniques or listen to a personal problem.

Wilnetta always wanted to bring family and friends together. She insisted on huge Thanksgivings for the entire family. Monthly get-togethers with former teachers were required. She was always the one to organize them. Coffee at her apartment, dinner at a new restaurant, or a trip to the lake brought teachers together to be friends as well as associates.

One of mother's favorite get-togethers was a class reunion for all of the first graders who had started school in her class and were about to finish the 12th grade at one of the local high schools.

She would bring them back to her first grade class room, serve refreshments and make them sit in those tiny chairs and talk about the beginning of their education. They loved her just as much then as 12 years before.

It seems no one forgot Mrs. Spencer, their first grade teacher. Families were known to move into her school district and beg the principal to have their child start their education with Mrs. Spencer.

She worked magic on those children. It seemed she never raised her voice, but somehow managed to control a room full of rowdy first graders who didn't know the rules.

No child was ever a problem for Wilnetta. The hard-to-handle ones were allowed room to grow up. The shy ones were gently coaxed to the front of the class.

The artists blossomed. The thinkers were challenged. The slow ones encouraged. Her fellow teachers marveled at her ability to cope.

Sometimes I think her fellow teachers learned as much from Wilnetta as did her first graders. She was always able to handle the pressure and cope with the stress of starting a new group of children each year.

Many times the phone rang at our house after dinner with a troubled teacher on the line. "Is Wilnetta there?" asked a feeble voice.

Of course. She was always there. Her first grandchild renewed the challenge of teaching. I was concerned that she might force school work on this youngster before he was ready.

Perhaps he would not be interested in drawing pictures and letters. Perhaps reading a book and working a puzzle would not be fun. After all, his other grandparents lived on a ranch with cattle, and tractors, and adventure. How could she compete? How would she handle my son?

With all the patience and knowledge of her years of teaching, she very gently ushered Clay into his educational life. Staying at grandmother's house and doing "fun" things was just as exciting as visiting the ranch.

She was the master, the authority on teaching. How could I have imagined she couldn't have handled any situation with style and grace? She was the best.

It was not common knowledge that her home life was not a "bed of roses." Divorced from an alcoholic husband with two small children and no child support. Her second son was brain damaged and required special schooling and constant attention. Against all odds, she raised her sons under the most loving and encouraging environment.

How was it possible? She never cursed her misfortune. Never spoke unkindly of anyone. Never regretted a day of her life. How was it possible?

There was not much I could do except hold her hand during the short visits to the hospital.

Hand holding was still important, still meaningful. We talked. I talked. She listened as she came in and out of consciousness from the heavy sedation.

How could I thank her for 34 years of teaching and counseling and love that she had given me? I had only 15 minutes four times a day. And for how many days? I was 300 miles from home and I needed to get back to my family and a new job.

It was not difficult. She was still a lady. Still my teacher. Still my mother. This disease and all the cruelty of modern medicine didn't change that.

Very softly I told her I loved her. She squeezed my hand.

I told her Bill, my brother, loved her. Another squeeze.

I told her that her grandchildren and all of her family loved her. Another firm squeeze.

I told her about all of the telephone calls, cards, and love that had poured in from her friends at school, at church, at the hospital auxiliary, and from the community she had touched. She responded with a firm, lingering squeeze.

I told her she was the best and I was proud of her.

Mother died very peacefully while I was flying back to my family.

The church was filled with fellow teachers, former students, and friends. A beautiful service filled with love.

The memorials still come in. The thoughtfulness of her friends still surrounds her family.

An anonymous donation to a local college has established an endowed scholarship for the education of future elementary school teachers in memory of Wilnetta.

I asked my oldest son what he would remember about his grandmother.

"That's a hard question, Dad, everything I know, my grandmother taught me."

I know what you mean, son.

She was my teacher. Maybe she wasn't the best teacher in the world. Maybe she wasn't the best teacher in the city. Perhaps she was only the best teacher I had.

For 34 years she opened the doors to the education of over 1,000 children. It was one of the greatest disappointments in my life that she was not my first grade teacher due to a school district policy.

I never had her in the classroom; she was my mother.

Mother. Teacher. Friend. You could define the words with her name.

No one ever had such an impact on so many lives in such small but significant ways.

The kind word to a frightened first grader. The thoughtful note to a frustrated fellow teacher. The encouragement to a son who had just faced one of life's setbacks.

Saving Children's Lives

Registration Booth At Funtier Day For Bike-A-Thon, June 3

"Saving children's lives" is the theme of a Bike-A-Thon being held June 3, at the Santa Anna high school track. Sponsored by the Delta Omicron chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha International, the Bike-A-Thon will benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

Maribee Pritchard, chairman of the event, says, "We want to make this the best and the biggest Bike-A-Thon ever."

Members of the sorority will have a table set up in front of Serendipity in Santa Anna on Funtier Day, May 13 for pre-registration for the event.

St. Jude's Research Hospital is among the nation's top ten cancer research centers and provides research and treatment of children's catastrophic disease. Knowledge and techniques gained at the Memphis-based hospital are freely shared with doctor throughout the world.

This year's ride honoree is Brian, a leukemia patient at St. Jude. "With every turn of the wheel, riders become 'spokes-men' for all the kids with cancer, like Brian", Mrs. Pritchard said. "This ride is a vital part of the fight against childhood cancer at St. Jude. Riders are really needed. They make or break the Bike-A-Thon", she added.

Riders will sign up sponsors who promise to make a donation based on each mile completed. The first 100 pre-registered completing the Bike-A-Thon will receive FREE "Fire When Ready" bike alarms designed by HC DESIGN. All riders turning in donations will receive a certificate. Those raising at least $25 will receive a certificate and a St. Jude T-shirt. When $75 is raised, the rider will receive a sports bag, a T-shirt and a certificate.

In addition to these prizes, J.E. Stevens Co. of Coleman has donated a bike to be given as grand prize to the rider who collects the most donations overall. Other businesses and individuals have donated money and prizes so that there can be a first and second prize for those collecting the most donations in each age category.

It is hoped there will be riders participating from all over the county.

For more information, contact Maribee Pritchard, P.O. Box 787, Santa Anna, Tx 76878, (915) 348-3873.

School Board Meets In Special Session

The Santa Anna School board met in special session on Tuesday of last week to hear some complaints aired by some parents as well as taking care of other business.

The parents were on hand to talk with the school board about discipline handed out following problems that arose on the recent band trip to New Braunfels. After hearing the parents the board went into executive session to discuss the matter at length. Upon returning to open session they voted to stick by the discipline already in force by school officials.

In other action the board took action on salaries for clerical aides and instructional personnel for the 1989-90 contract year. Other supplements were set for assistant coaches. The board also voted to increase all employee salaries by $300 annually for the new contract year and to discontinue paying all employee insurance benefits.

Deborah Ann Nicholas was extended a one-year probationary contract as teacher/coach for the 1989-90 school year.

The board voted to approve application for a Criminal Justice Grant through the At-Risk campus (CAP) for 1989-90.

Inn next door to the Legation. Bullock, in turn, complained that the employees of the French Legation had "most maliciously and wantonly killed" his hogs. Saligny countered with an accusation of malicious and wanton behavior on the part of the pigs: they destroyed his fence, broke into his house, ate his bed linen, and ruined his papers. Memoranda flew and finally, on April 4, the Count de Saligny left in a snit, his case unresolved. The government of France reluctantly sustained his position, and for a short time, diplomatic relations between Texas and France were broken off because of the Pig War.

The great Pig War officially began on January 19, 1841, when Texas Secretary of State J.S. Mayfield received a steaming communique from Jean Dubois, Comte de Saligny, charge d'affaires for the French Legation in Austin. Saligny charged that one of his men had suffered an unprovoked attack from a burly local named Bullock who owned Bullock's

Gramm:Corps Shelves Plan ToCloseParks

According to U.S. Senator Phil Gramm, the U.S. Corp of Engineers has abandoned a comprehensive plan to close 65 recreational parks throughout Texas. Gramm says the Corps included the initial closure proposal in its Fiscal Year 1990 budget request submitted to Congress in January.

The proposal targeted Friendship Park at Hords Creek Lake among hundreds of others across the United States.

Gramm says the Corps agreed to his request to reconsider the proposal since the parks are crucial to local economies throughout Texas.

Loaves And Fishes Report For Month Of April

During the month of April only one load of food, weighing 1,492 pounds, was transported to the Loaves and Fishes Coleman Food Ministry from the Concho Valley Regional Food Bank in San Angelo. Securing such a small quantity of food was related to the negative balance of funds in the treasury of the Coleman Ministerial Association last month. A substantial quantity of citrus was donated last week, and Loaves and Fishes is in the process now of distributing this locally provided fruit.

Distributions from the Food Pantry last month were made to 249 households, representing 769 people. Thirteen of these families were households receiving food from the Pantry for the first time. There were 21 adults and 15 children in these new recipient households—for a total of 36 people.

During the last sixteen months 92,271 pounds of food transported from San Angelo, plus several thousand additional pounds donated locally, have been distributed to more than 600 households.

The Loaves and Fishes Kitchen prepared food on eight different days in April, serving noon meals each Tuesday and Thursday. Those eating at Loaves and Fishes averaged 60 people for each meal served during the month (from 52 to 63 people sharing each meal). A total of 2,353 meals have been served during the first four months of this year.

averaging 69 people served each meal. (Last year 1,571 meals were served during the first four months of the year, averaging 46 people served each meal. In 1987, the first year meals were served at Loaves and Fishes, 1,424 meals were served, averaging 43 people each meal).

Contributions to 'Food For Others' in April through the three local grocery stores—Concho Food Mart, Shoppin' Basket and Super S Foods—totalled $70.00. Since the program began in mid-December, a total of $657.50 has been contributed by grocery shoppers at the three stores.

Three-fourths of the contributions to 'Food For Others' goes to support the local Loaves and Fishes Food Ministry. One-fourth goes to Church World Services to assist with hunger needs nationally and internationally. Individual shoppers at the local grocery stores are encouraged to support the 'Food For Others' program as a way of assisting those who need food, both in Coleman County and in the world. Support designated specifically for Loaves and Fishes may also be contributed directly through the treasurer of the Coleman Ministerial Association, the Rev. Larry Cyr, 303 E. College, Coleman 76834.

The Loaves and Fishes Kitchen thanks those who donated drinking glasses—as well as the many special gifts of food to be served.

TEXAS TRIVIA

La Villita, the restored village that is a major tourist attraction of downtown San Antonio, was a bustling settlement 50 years before the American Revolution of 1776. Once the site of a Coahuiltecan Indian village, it became home in 1718 to the families of Spanish soldiers stationed at the Presidio of San Antonio de Bexar.

FRIDAY BREAKFAST: Cereal, fruit, milk
LUNCH: Hamburger, lettuce, tomatoes and pickles, French fries with catsup, brownies, milk.

DID YOU KNOW?

It can take both diet and exercise to help prevent constipation. Here are some facts that may help you understand and treat this condition.

- If you're not eating enough fiber every day, you run a much greater risk of becoming constipated. Many fruits and vegetables contain fiber, but this fiber is "digestible" and not as effective as "nondigestible" fiber in preventing the problem.
- A medical study showed that 30 grams of wheat and corn fiber per day increased bowel frequency by 55 percent.

A Salute To Care Givers

May 14-20 is national "Nursing Home Week" and this year's theme, "A tradition of caring", is intended to honor the truly loving individuals who daily care for the sick and frail in our nursing homes.

Americans are living longer than ever before. In fact, two out of every five people who live beyond 65 years of age will spend some part of their lives in nursing homes. Some 87,000 Texans reside in nursing homes.

Today's modern nursing home care teams include professionals in medicine, nursing, nutrition, social, spiritual and personal care. These people, along with the volunteers who participate in our community nursing homes, should be commended for their commitment to helping make other peoples lives happier, more comfortable and more enjoyable.

Most people do not know very much about life in a nursing home. They are unaware of the professional service involved, as well as the fun and stimulating activities available daily to help residents reach their full potential. And we sometimes forget how much the loving touch, smile and conversation with staff and volunteers means to our community pioneers living in nursing homes.

This special week offers an opportunity to give thanks to these care givers in our community, and to increase our own involvement in enriching the lives of nursing home residents.

Texas Trivia

They may not be available at the nearest supermarket, but more than 150 different brands of beer are sold in Texas. Of these, only three originated in Texas: Pearl, Lone Star, and Shiner. Several national brands are brewed in the state, but the rest are imports from other states or nations.

Jane Long is often mistakenly called the "Mother of Texas," the first woman of Anglo decent to give birth to a child in Texas. But she was only the runner-up. Mrs. Jack Dill, her husband and their four children moved to Texas in 1793. Their fifth child, Helena, was born in Nacogdoches on September 8, 1804. Helena was seventeen years old by the time Jane Long's daughter was born on December 21, 1821. While there were certainly Anglo children born in Texas before Helena Dill, she is the first child for whom birth records exist.

Motorcycle Safety and Awareness Month Set

AUSTIN - In an effort to increase awareness of motorcycle training and safety, Gov. William P. Clements has proclaimed the month of May as Motorcycle Safety and Awareness Month.

Coordinated by the Texas Department of Public Safety and the department's Motorcycle Operator Training Section, the proclamation emphasizes the fact that motorcyclists must "be highly skilled, constantly alert, and have a thorough understanding of defensive driving skills."

To increase rider skills and reduce accidents, the DPS is sponsoring a motorcycle rider training and education program. Classes for both novice and experienced riders are offered at 44 sites around the state.

Increased training is crucial to reducing the motorcycle fatality rate, according to Henry Palma, director of the DPS Motorcycle Operator Training Program. Research shows that the lack of rider skill and training is a key factor in many accidents involving motorcyclists, he said.

In 1988, there were 8,108 motorcycle accidents reported in Texas.

Mother's Day

Mothers around the nation should appreciate the contribution of Anna M. Jarvis. Without Jarvis' inspiration, Mother's Day, which is celebrated May 14 this year, might never have existed.

As it happened, Jarvis first arranged for a special mother's service in her Grafton, W.Va., church on May 10, 1908. The service, was in honor of her late mother. A simultaneous service was held in what had been her mother's Philadelphia church. Although never a mother herself, Jarvis believed that sons and daughters should pay tribute to their mothers at least once a year. The mother's services spread to more churches the following year.

In 1912, a Mother's Day International Association was founded to encourage greater observance of a special day. This led the Congress in 1914 to designate the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day. In the same year, President Woodrow Wilson issued a proclamation urging people to display the American flag on that day as "a public expression of our love and reverence for the mothers of the country." ll

Big Board Beginnings

On May 17, 1792, two dozen merchants and brokers agreed to establish what is now known as the New York Stock Exchange. What is now commonly called the "Big Board" was founded as a way for members to charge commissions for acting as agents for other persons and to give preference to each other in their business dealings.

In fair weather, the original traders conducted much of their business under a buttonwood tree at 68 Wall St. In bad weather, they moved to the shelter of a coffeehouse. ll

Catfish Are Jumpin'—in the Pan

By Tom Clifford
PM Editorial Services

Forget the picture you have in your mind of the catfish. Of the lowly scavenger that was the quarry of old men fishing the muddy depths of the Mississippi River. Cut to a swank French restaurant where another dish of succulent farm-raised catfish meuniere has just been served.

Same fish, different worlds.

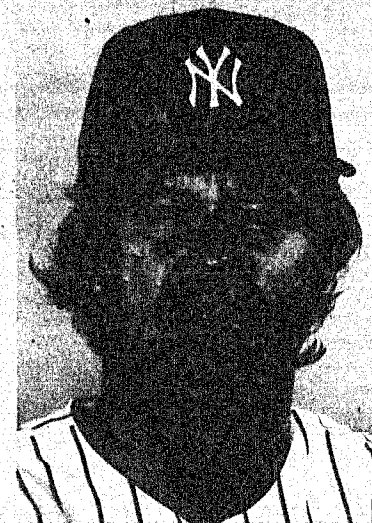

Since the art of raising catfish in farm ponds for market was perfected in the mid-1970s, the catfish's reputation has soared. While a catfish caught in the wild has a distinctly muddy taste, farm-raised catfish are praised for their mild flavor and absence of fishy odor. This is because of their controlled environment and diet.

The flaky white flesh of farm-raised catfish is tender and nutritious and adapts to many cooking styles, according to the Catfish Institute in Belzoni, Miss.

The center of the catfish industry is Mississippi's Delta region, where the economy has been revitalized by the fish farms and fish processing plants. Mississippi provides 85 percent of the nation's farm-raised catfish. Alabama, Arkansas and Louisiana farm catfish, too. An estimated 310 million pounds of catfish will be harvested in 1989 alone.

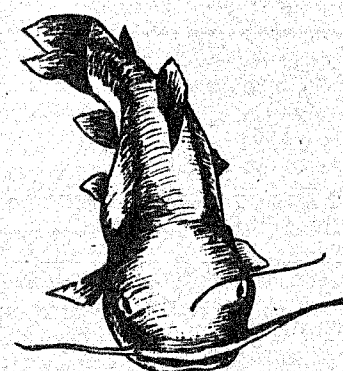

Far from the Delta, the catfish is a favorite in restaurants and on home tables. At the Waterfront Seafood Market in Des Moines, Iowa, farm-raised catfish is featured every night.

"We like it because it has a real clean, mild flavor," says Shawn Hanke, the restaurant's manager. "And the price is consistent."

Jim "Catfish" Hunter

And in Paris, Tenn., where the "world's largest fish fry" will be held April 24-29, nearly 9,000 pounds of farm-raised catfish are expected to be consumed this year.

"I fooled with the original 20 or 30 acres for a year and kept records," Marshall says. "By the third year I had 250 acres of catfish ponds. It was still profitable and still fun."

Marshall will add 300 acres of ponds this year and break ground for the state's first catfish processing plant this spring.

There should be plenty of business.

America's most famous catfish—former New York Yankee pitching great Jim "Catfish" Hunter—loves his namesake. Catfish's wife, Helen Overton Hunter, told Philip Morris Magazine the recipe for her husband's favorite catfish dish, "the way Momma used to make it."

1 whole catfish
3 or 4 potatoes, sliced
3 or 4 onions, chopped
bacon grease
salt and pepper to taste

Preheat oven to 350 F. Baste catfish with bacon grease and place in a baking dish, adding a splash of water to prevent burning or sticking. Surround with potatoes and onions, dusting lightly with salt and pepper to taste. Bake in oven for about an hour, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. ll

Philip Morris Magazine, the nation's first magazine prepared primarily for smokers, is issued bimonthly by Philip Morris U.S.A. The magazine has a circulation of 12 million. If you are 21 or older and wish to receive a copy of the issue featuring catfish, or a complimentary subscription to the magazine, write Philip Morris Magazine, Dept. E-A, 120 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017.
