EMMITT SIMMONS

Mayor Gale Allen-Brock, running unopposed, received a vote of confidence while incumbent Thomas M. Hays held onto his City Council seat as a result of Saturday's elections in Santa Anna and newcomers Karen Morris and Emmitt Simmons were elected to terms on the council. Morris led the voting with 148, Hays with 127 and Simmons with 113 in the at-large election. The other incumbent in the race, Alex DeLeon, fell short of enough votes to hold onto his place. RODDY DEAN

GARY ABSHER

In the school board election, both incumbents, Terry McIver and Eddie Jones, were ousted and Roddy Dean and Gary Absher, former members of the board, gained places on the board. Vote totals were: Dean, 165; Absher, 127; Kim Hubbard 100; Eddie Jones, 67 and Terry McIver, 55. Donnie Neff and Sammie Powers each received one write-in vote. Dean and Absher will serve three-year terms.

SAHS Sports Banquet Monday Please See Page 6

RIBBON CUTTING: took place at H-7 Manufacturing, Inc. recently. Several city officials and Chamber of Commerce members were on hand for the celebration which included a barbecue dinner. Clint Day holds the ribbon while Derrel Warnock looks on. Mayor Gale Brock was asked to do the honors of the actual ribbon cutting. The three gentlemen behind her are partners in the manufacturing business. They are Greg Ancines, Jerry Holley, and Monty Day. Watching from from inside the building are Ruth Ann Wise, Karyn and Bruce Kingsbery, and Sandra and Monte Guthrie. The plant will be manufacturing Modu-Netters, a machine devised for covering cotton or hay modules in the field with a Special High-Tech Agro-Covering. The plant, located in the former Santa Anna Tile building, will be employing a number of local people, which is certainly welcome news to our community.

Thoughts From Our Pastors

Linwood Bishop
Northside Church of Christ

NOAH'S FAITH

The story of Noah and the great flood is one of the most famous and well known stories of the Old Testament. Just about every one who has ever been exposed to the Bible has either read or heard the story of Noah and the flood and the ark which he built. But how familiar are we with the great lesson taught in the story relative to Noah's faith?

There is no need for supposition of speculation as to whether or not Noah was a man of faith, for the Bible specifically tells us that he was. His faith was a compelling principle in his life. His faith was exemplified in every thing he did in preparation for the on-coming flood.

The history of man and his relationship with God has clearly been one of gradual drifting away from God and his will and way. Man has never for very long been content to continue faithfully in God's way. He soon forgets God's rules of life and starts making his own rules, or trying to live without rules. The longer this continues, the farther he drifts away from God. This is what happened during the sixteen centuries between Adam and Noah. We are told that by the time of Noah, "And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts in his heart was only evil continually. And it repented the Lord that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at his heart. And the Lord said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth....But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord". (Genesis 6:5-8) Now the question arises, WHY DID NOAH FIND GRACE IN THE EYES OF THE LORD? The next verse gives us the answer: "Noah was a just (righteous) man and perfect in his generations, and Noah walked with God". (Genesis 6:9). The record further states, "The earth also was corrupt before God, and the earth was filled with violence. And God looked upon the earth, and behold, it was corrupt for all flesh had corrupted his way upon the earth. And God said unto Noah, The end of all flesh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them, and behold, I will destroy them with the earth." (Genesis 6:11-13) here we have a word-picture of a world filled with wickedness and corruption, with only one exception. Noah "found grace in the eyes of the Lord" because he was a righteous and just man in a world of wicked men. But what about Noah's faith? Remember that "Faith comes by hearing the word of God". (Romans 10:17).

God told Noah to build an ark "of gopher wood". He gave him all the specifications and dimensions, instructing him in great detail as to how it should be built. The divine record states, "This did Noah according to all that God commanded him, so did he." (Genesis 6:22) Then again, "And Noah did according unto all that the Lord commanded him." (Genesis 7:5) Noah's faith compelled him to follow God's instructions to the letter.

The divinely inspired New Testament writer of the Hebrews epistle penned these words, "By faith Noah being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith" (Hebrews 11:7) Thus it is made crystal clear that Noah's faith was a living, active, moving, obedient principle in his life. His was a saving faith then and it was the same degree essential in God's plan of salvation for us today.

THE MEANEST MOM

This letter, contributed by a reader, first appeared in the Letters to the Editor department of the Fresno Bee newspaper, and was quoted by Paul Harvey on May 5, 1978. It appeared in Signs of the Times, March 1990. We publish it as a tribute to all mothers on this upcoming Mother's Day.

Surely mine was the meanest mother in the world. While other kids ate candy for breakfast, I had to have cereal and eggs and toast. When others were enjoying pop and candy for lunch, I had to eat a sandwich and fruit. I was not alone in my suffering; my sister and two brothers had the same cruel mother I had.

She insisted on knowing where we were all the time. She had to know who our friends were and what we were doing, and if we said we'd be home in an hour that meant an hour—or less—not more.

When we were young and disobeyed, this tyrannical mother of ours would strike us—with a switch—imagine! And now you begin to see how really other young people have—to wreck mean she was. But even this physical brutality was not the worst.

We had to be in bed early, get up early. We never got to sleep till noon like our friends. While they worked, I mean my mother broke every child in our family there is; we were not yet sixteen when we had to wash dishes, make beds, helpcook, all sorts of cruel things. Surely that meanest mother must have lain awake nights thinking up mean things for us to have to do.

She demanded that we tell the truth even if it hurt, and sometimes it hurt like everything.

By the time we were teenagers life became increasingly unbearable. Our dates were not allowed to toot the horn to bring us running as other girls' dates did.

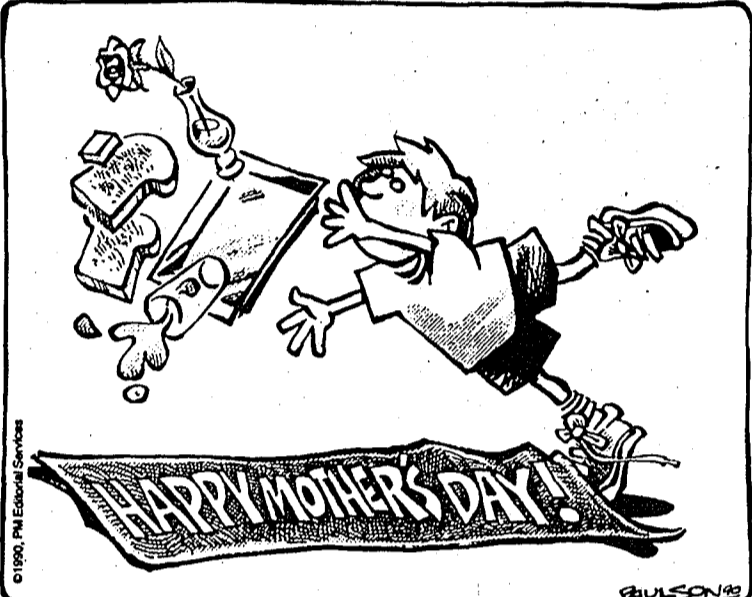

My cruel mother embarrassed us by insisting that our dates come to the door and get us. And where some of our friends got to date when they were twelve, my sister and two brothers had to wait until we were fifteen and then only for school functions.

She insisted on knowing where we were all the time. She had to know who our friends were and what we were doing, and if we said we'd be home in an hour that meant an hour—or less—not more.

When we were young and disobeyed, this tyrannical mother of ours would strike us—with a switch—imagine! And now you begin to see how really other young people have—to wreck mean she was. But even this physical brutality was not the worst.

We had to be in bed early, get up early. We never got to sleep till noon like our friends. While they worked, I mean my mother broke every child in our family there is; we were not yet sixteen when we had to wash dishes, make beds, each of us went to school—and earned. Each of us went to school—and earned. Each of us went to school—and earned. Each of us went to school—and earned.

Coleman County Facing More Money Woes

Coleman County is facing more money woes, according to the discussions at a recent County Commissioners Court meeting. Perhaps we should say the County is facing continued money woes, as they actually began before the past fiscal year had been completed.

The recent discussions involved the possibility of major cuts in the current budget just to be able to get through 1990.

The General Fund has a balance sufficient to fund operations only through the next month to six weeks. With five months remaining in the current year, "biting the bullet" cannot be delayed. Some revenue from property taxes is still expected, but will not cover the needs.

The total county budget includes other funds such as the Road and Bridge fund and the budgets of each of the four precincts. It seems to be the General Fund budget only that is in trouble at the present time, due to increased expenditures, mostly made necessary by state mandates. There is no way to increase taxes in the current year, so the options open are finding ways to cut the various expenditures, borrowing money, or transferring funds from the Road and Bridge account.

Any decision made will most likely mean fewer services, fewer persons employed to provide those services, or lessened support for the various volunteer and other agencies active in the county.

County Show Hog Div. Meets Monday

John Naron, superintendent of the Hog Division of the county stockshow announces a meeting of the division members and those involved in showing hogs, to be held Monday night at 7:30 at the Coleman High School Ag Department. The discussion will concern weights and validation.

All members and interested people are urged to be present.

Rockwood Club Learns About Wildflowers

The Rockwood Extension Club met on Tuesday April 24 at the Rockwood Community Center. Skeeta Cooper called the meeting to order. Minnie Bray gave the council report. Treasurers report was given by Bettie Duus. Appreciation was expressed to all who participated in the Highway Clean-up on April 12. Repairs needed at the Community Center and ways of raising funds to pay for the upkeep of the center were discussed. Plans were made for a Community Salad Supper on June 19 at 6:30 p.m.

A program called Landscaping Wildflowers and Native Plants was given by Shirley Rankin, assisted by Minnie Bray. They had a slide presentation plus a display of wildflowers. Claudia Rutherford presented a poster of Texas Wildflowers to all attending.

Sadie Bryan, hostess, served refreshments to Minnie Bray, Neil Brusenhan, Skeeta Cooper, Bettie Duus, Pebble Ellis, Shirley Rankin and Claudia Rutherford.

A STROLL DOWN MEMORY LANE

by Sonny Baker

Editor's note: The following concerning memories of Whon came to us from a gentleman who identified himself only as Sonny Baker. He gave no other information and there was no return address on the envelope. In checking with Mrs. Tom Rutherford of the Whon community, we learned Mr. Baker's parents are Everett (deceased) and Lucille Baker (believed to be still living, perhaps in Arkansas). According to Mrs. Rutherford, the family lived on what is now known as the Burt Turney place. No other information was available.

Recently I had the pleasure of strolling down memory lane and I would like to share this experience with you.

My childhood home was the busy little city of Whon, Texas. My family moved from there in 1952. During those years I have been back twice for the annual Whon Picnic that is held each April. Those times I only had a few hours so I had never returned to my old home place. Finding myself between assignments, my wife and I decided to go back in time and try to capture yesterday.

As I drove from Brownwood, thru Trickham, by the Taylor Ranch, memories seemed to flood back. We parked our car at the Home Creek crossing. I remember crossing here in a wagon and the horses having to swim when it was flooded.

We walked a couple of miles up the banks of Home Creek to my old home. I could see the house, barns and other buildings even if they had been torn down long ago. Ken Shields and I spent many happy hours playing around the old ranch. I remember my dad saying that Ken and I were so close we only made one shadow. I still hear him saying "You boys leave those rattlesnakes alone, they are not bothering you" and Mom calling us to dinner. I remember when we jumped in Home Creek in water over our heads so we would have to learn to swim. (That's one of the smarter things we did.)

As we left, we drove by the Lovelady place. Mrs Lovelady was like a grandmother. She always had cookies and milk for me after school. I would ride my bike to get the mail at the crossroads. Doug Moore was our mailman, I seemed to hear Frances calling "Hey Sonny, give me a ride on your bike."

As we entered Whon, I noted that the Post Office had been taken away. The old store building was still standing and I know I saw Lanita, her hair in pig tails, running down the road calling, "Sonny, share me a Coke and I will share you a candy bar."

We preceded to the Whon Cemetery to visit my grandparent's graves. As I strolled into the cemetery, I saw graves of many people that I have fond memories of. Suddenly I stopped in my tracks as there before me were the graves of two of the dearest people I have ever known, Mary and Dave Shields. They were like my second Mon and Dad. As I stood there with tears in my eyes, it seemed that my childhood returned with all the good memories of Mary and Dave. One of the hardest spankings I ever got was when Mary caught me riding my bike on the top rail of the old Home Creek steel bridge. Dave had the patience of Job, always teaching Ken and I right from wrong. Mary must of been able to see the future. She always said, "Sonny, you are a wondering soul and will spend your life searching for the Pot of Gold, and you had better marry an angel as that's the only person that will stick with you and all your wildness. And you remember one other thing, you will always be in my heart and you better behave yourself." Well Mary, everything you said has come true. I joined the Army when I was eighteen and have spent my life traveling the world from Southeast Asia to the Pacific, Europe, and all over the U.S. I married an angel. Oh, her name is Mary.

As I left I felt a part of me remained in the cemetery with the ones that I loved. I also realized that all that I have learned, all that I believe in and have fought for came from the good people of Whon, Texas. The best that I can offer is a great big "Thanks", as I have had the pleasure of doing everything that I have wanted to do and doing it right because of you. A special thanks to Dave and Mary. As for Ken, Frances and Lanita, maybe someday we will get to take that ride and drink that Coke, maybe chase a rattlesnake or two.

Tom Stroud Named FBC Music Director

Tom Stroud, Santa Anna band director, was elected Sunday as music director at Santa Anna First Baptist Church. He is filling the position held by Mark Taylor of Brownwood for the past two and one-half years.

Stroud has served as interim music director since Taylor's resignation last month. He is serving his first year on the Santa Anna school faculty. He and his wife, the former Nadie Nicholas of Bangs, are parents of two children.

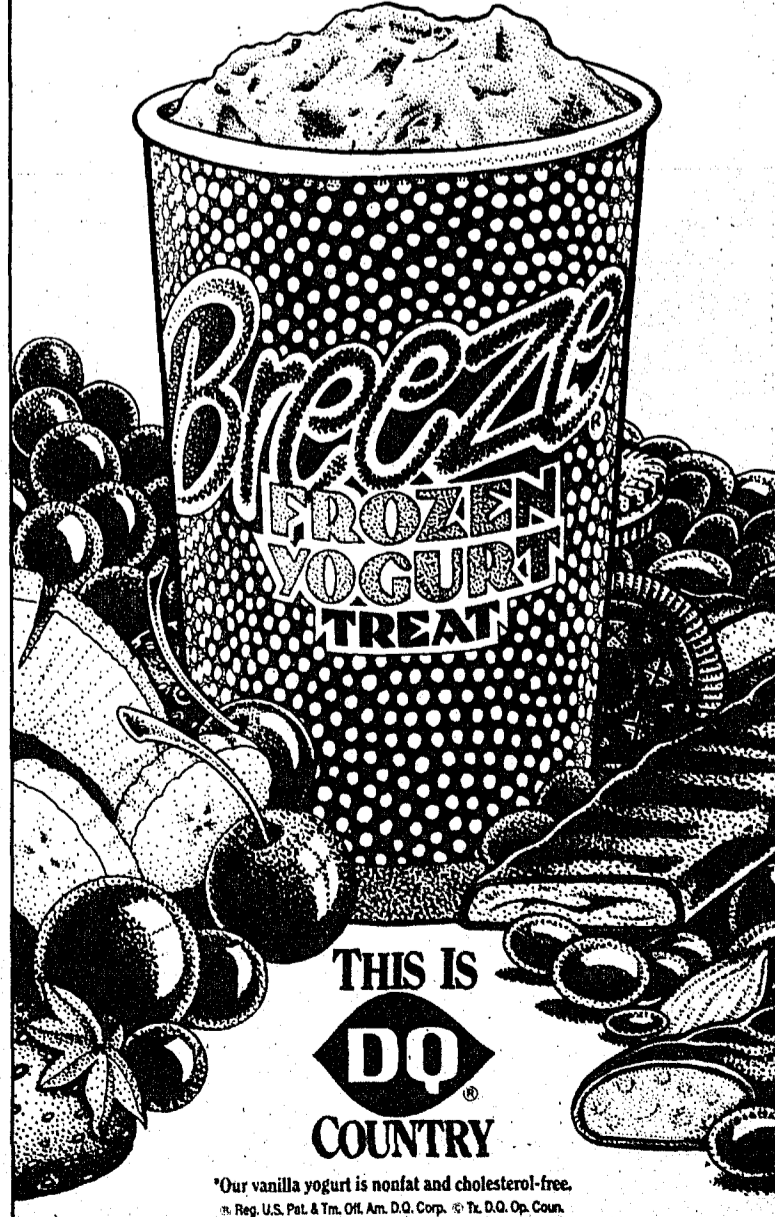

Leroy Wilson and Mrs. Brenda Kervin were on the sick list. Each member gave a talk about the goodness of God.

How Do I Compare Cholesterol Levels In Foods?

by Eubie Smart

We've all heard that cholesterol is bad. High cholesterol levels lead to heart disease. The kind and amount of fat we eat affects our cholesterol levels; if we eat too much fat, (especially from butter, cream, cheese, meat and eggs) the cholesterol in our blood increases, and eventually clogs the arteries of the heart, and can lead to a heart attack.

However, we shouldn't cut out any food entirely because we think we're getting too much cholesterol. Our bodies need both fat for energy and cholesterol to help make hormones and help digestion. Your doctor can do a blood test that will tell you whether your cholesterol level is too high.

One thing you can do at home is stay away from "saturated" fats, especially when choosing cooking oils. Saturated fats can raise cholesterol.

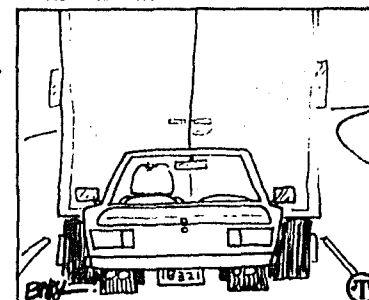

It's more healthy to use mono or poly-unsaturated fats when cooking. The American Heart Association recommends that less than 30% of our daily calories come from fat, with only 10% from saturated fat.

Because there are so many different oils to choose from, here's a guide that I've found handy: saturated fats include palm oil and coconut oil, and animal fats such as butter and lard; mono-unsaturated fats include olive oil and canola oil; and Poly-unsaturated fats are vegetable oils, including soybean, corn, cottonseed, and sesame oil. Sunflower and safflower oils are also in the poly-unsaturated category, but add a higher fat content to prepared foods and baked goods than the ones I first mentioned.

America's Road Team, developed by the American Trucking Association (ATA), is a public awareness program featuring highway safety tips from professional truck drivers whose motto is "safety is our driving concern."

Here are tips from ATA's safety experts to help you share the road with a truck.

Trucks have a "blind spot" behind the trailer. Avoid "tailgating" trucks because the driver can't see you. If you can see the truck's side-view mirrors, the truck driver can see you and give you plenty of warning for a stop or a turn.

SAHS Athletes To Be Honored At Sports Banquet Monday

The SAHS Athletic Booster Club will be hosting a banquet Monday night, May 12, to honor all high school athletes. Rusty Bryce Sr, president of the Booster Club has issued this special invitation too all in the community to join in honoring the young people.

by Rusty Bryce:
Once again, the SAHS Mountaineers have had an outstanding year! We started out with two coaches kissing a live pig during pep rally for luck?! The football team won district, and very nearly won Area. Several players won pots season honors, including All-State.

The Mountaineers won district, bi-district and Area before falling in the Regional Basketball tournament, once again with several players taking post season honors. The Lady Mountaineers won district and lost a heartbreaker in bi-district play, but several young ladies also took post season honors.

The SAHS Tennis program once again sent two doubles teams to Regional competition.

The track team showed their speed with several young men going to Regional. The depleted Lady Mountaineer track team sent only two young ladies to district with one advancing to Regional, and going on to the State Meet.

As we do every year, the SAHS Athletic Booster Club is honoring all our high school athletes with our annual All-Sports Banquet on Monday, May 14th, at 7:00 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

We cordially invite you to come show these young people your support and appreciation of how well they represented their homes, school, and community. The menu will be chopped sirloin with all the trimmings for only $5 per plate. For children under 10 years of age, we are offering a child's plate for $2.50.

Mountaineer Pride—Take it to the top!

Hope to see you there.
—Santa Anna Athletic Boosters, Rusty Bryce Sr, president.

Teens, Check The Facts

Spring is here and for teens that means keggers, cruising, junior-senior proms and graduation celebrations.

Before you go partying, check these facts. Drivers between the ages of 16 and 24 represent 20 percent of all licensed drivers in the United States, but the same age group represents nearly 42 percent of all accidents involving alcohol. Teenagers are involved in one of every five fatal accidents. Nine thousand teenagers, age 15 to 19 were killed in motor vehicle accidents last year, and more than 5,000 teenagers died in accidents involving alcohol. (Statistics from the National Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse).

Batting helmets were introduced in major league baseball by the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1941.

Ranger Park Inn

Phyllis Bradley

Rain, Rain, go away! Come back another day. Since I live in Brownwood, we have had enough for a while.

On Monday through Thursday are mornings filled with Bingo, exercise, mail call and visiting.

In the afternoon on Monday we all signed and sent cards to a seven-year-old boy whose wish is to receive a large enough number of cards to make the Guinness Book of Records. We have also started plastic canvass needlepoint and ceramics as well on Wednesday or Thursday afternoons.

A birthday party was sponsored Thursday, April 19, by Helen Jo Beavers. Delta Omicron Sorority provided a cake. Helen Jo also made cakes for the occasion. A centerpiece of bluebonnets in a teapot and balloons decorated the table. Pat DeWitt played piano selections while Peggy Johnson, Mrs. Helms, and Helen served.

Fannie Gilbert, Aunt Samantha had jokes about all the honorees, Red Cupps, Thelma Whitehead, Nina Lewis, Henry Goodwin, Clarence Barnett, Joy Jacobs and Myrtle Robertson.

The Senior Citizens of Coleman have been here to play dominoes and 42 with the residents.

Friday afternoon is time for popcorn and Joe Green pops the corn for the residents. We also have country and western and gospel music by Dennis Smith, Billie Wheatley, Pamela Haire, Bobby Haire, Red Denton and others.

Wednesday afternoons, Northside Baptist Church pastor, G.W. McFadden brings a message while Robert Robinett leads the singing. They were joined by Myrtle Chapman, Pat DeWitt and Annie Brimer playing the piano.

Rev. Don Elrod is here to bring a devotional on Thursdays. His aunt Vanda Hill also shared with us.

Sunday services have been by the Community Baptist Church of Coleman, Northside Baptist, Rev. James Ford and Rev. McCowen of Cross Plains.

We have had donations of clothes from Patricia Cox and Lorene Beeler. Ima Power brought Crochet thread and yarn for use by the residents.

Madora Gilmore and Nestor Diaz are hospital patients at Brownwood at the present time. Our prayers are with them.

Trickham News

By Anna York

Rev. Clifford Nelson, the Baptist pastor from Brownwood preached Sunday morning at out church and brought a real good message. His wife was with him and we also had four visitors which we welcome and invite you to come again.

Michael Guthrie of Whon spent a few days last week with his grandmother, Mrs. John Dockery, John and Wesley. Leon and Carol Moore of Richardson and Mr. Roger Colson of Forth Worth were weekend visitors with the Dockery's. Tonya DeLeon and Red Fellers were Sunday dinner guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Barton attended the 368 Infantry Division Officers reunion in San Antonio Friday and Saturday and while there visited with Edd and Myra Reed, Cindy and Chris Bondenson and Barton Balfass and also visited in New Braunfels with Olene and Edd Horne.

Nicholas Drienhofer of Brownwood Lake spent the weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge McClatchy Jr. Visitors last week with Mrs.

I attended funeral services Sunday afternoon in Santa Anna for an old friend, Clay Fletcher of Artesia, N.M. Clay grew up in Leedy Community, the same as I, and we went to school together. In fact his sister Bernice was one of my best friends. Clay married Gladys Wallace, another Leedy girl and the couple moved from this part of the country to New Mexico where they have lived for quite some time. Our sympathy goes to his family.

Phillip McSwain of Coleman spent the weekend with his grandmother, Mrs. Gertrude Martin.

Mrs. Novella Stearns spent Sunday afternoon visiting Pat and Edna Stearns down at their new home south of Trickham.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Roy Laughlin, Dr. Charlotte Laughlin, Billy Lee and children, Mrs. Sherril Campbell, Bryan Campbell and a friend of Brownwood spent the day Sunday with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Edna Laughlin. Mrs. Daisey McClatchy visited Sunday afternoon with the group.

ON YOUR FEET

Podiatrist DR. GENE NICHOLS

HOW TO RUN

Podiatrists see more people with running injuries than any other kind of doctor. Many of these are due to the fact that a lot of runners have developed poor running habits.

Like bicycling, running is something you never forget how to do. But if you're going in for long-distance running, like long-distance bicycling, it becomes important that you do it properly, with the right technique.

When you run, you should land on your heels, not on the balls of your feet. Your heel should hit the ground first, then your arch comes down, and then the ball of the foot and the toes.

Keep a straight posture, with your weight directly over the hips. Leaning forward tightens the calf muscles and can result in Achilles tendonitis, shin splints, or sore muscles. Relax. Let your arms and shoulders assume a comfortable position. And DON'T OVERDO IT.

Patchwork Quilts: Illustrations of Our Lives

The American spirit has always stirred the imagination of our artisans. Quilters are no exception. Homespun patriotism and religious vision enabled quilting's popularity to grow, perhaps more than any other craft in the early American republic. In fact, Betsy Ross enlisted her colonial quilting bee to sew the "Stars and Stripes," according to an article in Phillip Morris Magazine entitled "Patch Works." Today, Americans are still quilting, but now they are taking our oldest craft and turning it into our newest art.

Quilting, in simple terms, is the process of stitching together two layers of fabric, usually with a soft, thick in-between layer of cotton or wool insulation. The layer of fabric stitched on top keeps the insulation evenly spread, while also providing opportunity for artistic expression.

Quilted material is not unique to North America. It actually has been around for several hundred years. In East Asia, the Middle East, India, Iran and the Muslim regions of Africa, it was used for everyday clothing and as a layer beneath armor. In Europe, quilting achieved the status of minor art during the 14th century when it was used for bedcovers.

Collection of Barbara Parkins.

It was not until the end of the 18th century in North America that the art of quilting really took on its own identity and expression. At first, Americans copied the English and Dutch designs for petticoats and quilts. However, that soon changed as quilters realized the depth of expression available through this medium.

The earlier American quilters mapped out new bold, geometric patterns, illustrating their native folktales. They would often name them — for example, one quilt was called "Rob Peter to Pay Paul." Quilts also illustrated their makers' faith, as in the Amish "Sunshine and Shadow," which achieves a spectacular kaleidoscopic effect by using as few as three colors and the simplest shapes.

Another popular design of the 18th century was the "Tree of Life." Originally adapted from painted cotton bedcovers imported from India, the motif featured a tree in the center with elaborate framing surrounding it. Over the next century, the tree design grew smaller, and more emphasis was put on the framing patterns.

Today, quilters are more likely to display their quilts on a wall than on a bed. And quilting is no longer "woman's work," but a folk art brought up to date by academy-trained artists of both genders. The new quilters may splash their fabrics with Day-Glo color, or use the hard-edged techniques of contemporary art. Photographic silk screens and sewing machines have replaced floral fabrics and needles.

A good example are the quilts created by Terrie Hancock Mangat. Terrie tours the world in pursuit of exotic fabrics and embroidery techniques — and then she brings it all back home to her Cincinnati, Ohio, studio.

"I'll use anything," says Terrie. "Embroidery, embellishing with beads and painting, appliques, even reverse appliques." She adorns her quilts with plastic charms, rosaries and other mementos. Her assistant, Sue Ruldy, adds hand-stitched embroidery.

Like the early quilters, today's fabric artists — and quilt restorers — are pushing back the frontiers of their craft. You might even say today's "art quilt" is to the Early American quilt as a sports car is to the covered wagon. ll

America's first aerial photograph was taken from balloon over Boston in 1860. Taken by J.W. Black, it was entitled "Boston as the Eagle and the Wild Goose See It."

Rare Zebra Born At Wildlife Park

The first white zebra ever born on U.S. soil made its debut during mid-September at the International Wildlife Park in Grand Prairie.

Named 'Sterling' by a six-year-old girl who happened to visit the park on the day of the rare animal's birth, the colt is only the eighth white zebra in the entire world.

"This is a breeding program we have been working on at our park since 1982," said Ray Sutton, wildlife manager of the popular tourist attraction. "It was truly a 'Sterling' day for us to remember."

The baby zebra is on display in the park's drive-through animal safari.

"These white zebras are not albinos," explained Sutton. "They are unique color variations of the Grant species of zebras."

Mother's Day 1990 — This Year, a Special Gift

Well, Mom, you've made it through another year. Another year of getting up in the morning and making breakfast for Dad and me; of going to work all day long then coming home to cook dinner. Another year of washing the dishes, cleaning the house, doing the laundry, and taking care of Dad and myself when we got sick or felt a little under the weather. Sometimes I don't know how you managed it all these years.

Oh sure, Dad and I try to help out, at least now and then. But whatever we do never quite turns out as well as we hope or as well as you do it. Do you remember when Dad and I tried to make dinner for you? One burned pan and one fire truck later we found ourselves sitting down for a nice, prepared dinner at the neighborhood restaurant.

And each year on Mother's Day, Dad and I try to find some way to thank you for all you've done. Our thanks usually comes in the form of flowers or candy, or a gift and a card. Whatever we give, though, is never quite worthy of you and what you mean to us.

But this year, Mom, I want to do something really special for you — something to show you just how much I care. I want to tell you about a disease I've been reading about at school. The disease is called osteoporosis.

Osteoporosis is a bone-crippling disease that afflicts more than 24 million Americans. Out of the 18 million women that the disease afflicts, one fourth of them are mothers just like you. It's a disease that is so important that the U.S. Congress has even designated a week to focus attention on osteoporosis called "National Osteoporosis Prevention Week" (NOPW) which coincides with Mother's Day. This year's NOPW week begins on Mother's Day, May 13, and runs through May 19. The theme for this year is "Generations of Prevention," because education and prevention of osteoporosis is for all ages.

Studies I've read say women are eight times more likely to develop osteoporosis than men. It may ultimately affect as many as half of all women in the United States over the age of 45. By the time you reach 70, Mom, they say you have a 40 percent chance of having had a fracture, and that fracture will probably be related to osteoporosis.

Although there's no cure for osteoporosis, Mom, the experts say it can be prevented. And there are treatments available to help stop further bone loss and fractures if you've already been diagnosed. For instance, studies have shown that bone mass can be increased in younger women before menopause if the proper amount of calcium is taken daily. But most women, and probably even you, Mom, don't get enough calcium through their daily diets and should find an alternate source of calcium. The easiest way to make sure you're getting an adequate amount is to take calcium supplements with your daily diet.

Mom, there's so much more to learn about osteoporosis. You've always taught me the importance of prevention, whether it was wearing an extra jacket on a cool day or eating the right foods. Osteoporosis can be prevented and we should be taking steps today to protect us from the risk of osteoporosis tomorrow.

So Mom, on this Mother's Day, I'll be thinking about all the things you did for Dad and I this past year. I hope this next year brings you all the happiness in the world because you deserve it. And I hope you're not too disappointed that I didn't get you a card this year but I am giving you something much more important — a chance to prevent osteoporosis from affecting your life, affecting our life. After all, Dad and I want you around for a long, long time. Happy Mother's Day.

For more information on osteoporosis and its prevention, send a written request along with your name and address to NOPW, P.O. Box 32080, Kansas City, MO 64111.
