Henry Ford's Birthday

July 30 marks the birth date of the man who "put America on wheels" — Henry Ford. Born in Dearborn Township, Michigan in 1863, Ford is probably best known for his contribution not only to the automobile industry, but to mass production. He revolutionized American industry with the assembly line and introduced a then unheard of $5-a-day wage for automobile workers.

Faulty Light Blamed For Coleman Fire

COLEMAN — A fire that destroyed three buildings in the 100 block of Commercial Avenue in Coleman was not arson, according to Ed Stammitz, the state fire marshal who spent two days in Coleman assisting Coleman Fire Marshal Joe Watson.

Stammitz said the fire was caused by a faulty fluorescent light located in the ceiling of the basement directly under the office of Ross Jones, one of the three attorneys who own two of the buildings that burned.

Watson said that the investigation has been completed. He explained that a light fixture failed causing a fire on the ceiling that spread to the law offices above and then to the Coleman County Title Co. and the vacant building.

Watson said The law offices of Johnson, Jones and Autry along with the title company have been demolished and the third structure, a vacant building, is expected to be razed soon. The three attorneys who own the building are Don Johnson, Ross Jones, and Steve Autry.

"We have made no decision as to rebuilding," Autry said last Thursday. "This is a decision that we will make sometime in the next few months. The law offices are temporarily located at 2722 Commercial Ave. The telephone numbers will remain the same.

The report given to Watson points to the fire beginning between 8:30 to 9:00 in the basement of the building. The alarm was sounded just past midnight, Friday, July 13.

Cullins & Simmons To Lead Revival At First Baptist Church

Santa Anna native Freddie Cullins will be the preacher for a revival to begin Sunday at First Baptist Church and run through Wednesday, August 1. Cullins grew up in the church where he will be preaching the revival as did Pete Simmons, who will be leading the music for the services.

The revival will be like old-home week for the church as it was twenty-eight years ago this month when Cullins, Simmons, Wayne Langford and Don Rutherford held a youth-led revival at the First Baptist Church and all are still active in the ministry.

Cullins graduated from Howard Payne University, Academy of Freedom. He spent 4 years in the U.S. Air Force as a medical lab technician. He received a Masters of Art degree in psychology at St. Mary's University in San Antonio. He did volunteer work at Gateway Baptist in San Antonio and served as Minister of Education from 1972 to 1978. In July 1978 he became Associate Pastor and School Administrator of Bay Area Christian School which is sponsored by Bay Area First Baptist, League City. Freddie and his wife Ellen have five children: Cathy, Andrea, Danny, Roger and Chris.

Pete Simmons graduated from Howard Payne University. He received a Masters degree in administration from Sul Ross University. He attended Baylor University one year on a music scholarship. He has served as music director of the following Baptist Churches: Corsicana, Brady, Coleman, Cotton Center, Breckenridge, Ballinger and Santa Anna. He has been a principal, coach and teacher at several schools. For the past seven years he has been Superintendent of the Howe ISD. Pete and his wife Linda are the

by Alice Anna Spillman
Everyone learned at least one new fact at the Library reading program last week. On the way to there I stopped to give Heather Bradley a ride. Dale Bradley told me about his coin collection. Most of the coins are American and date from before the Revolutionary War.

M. L. Guthrie, Jr. showed the boys and girls all kinds of coins. With a world globe, the adult leaders showed the children where the countries were that the coins had come from. In these discussion we learned that some of those attending had even visited some of these lands. One of the parents was born in Turkey and one in Panama. Some of the fathers had been in Viet Nam. A mother had served the United States in Australia.

Some of the children could point out states they had visited. Mr. Guthrie gave each child a "wheat" penny and a Lincoln coin. He challenged them to learn more about these, because one coin was worth 50 cents.

Lots Of Strings Attached To New School Funds From HB 1

The regular monthly school board meeting took place last Tuesday, July 17. All board members were present as well as Superintendent Gerald Brister, Business Manager Judy Hartman, Administrative Secretary Carole Voss and several visitors.

Business taken care of by the board was as follows:

*After a motion by board member Danny Kellar and a second by Danny Cook, a one-year contract was extended to John Smith as assistant coach and business teacher. With a motion by Gary Absher and second by Marty Donham, the board extended a one-year contract to Roland Driggers as math teacher.

*A motion was made by Kellar that the Memorial Day holiday be added as a school holiday on the calendar for the new school year. A second from Donham and a unanimous vote added the Monday, May 27, holiday as a school observed holiday.

*A discussion was held regarding the repair or re-roofing of Perry Gym. Supt. Brister and board president Roddy Dean were asked to establish specs for bids so that bids could be taken soon.

August meeting dates are as follows: August 7 - preliminary budget meeting; August 14 - regular

Freshmen Boys Need To Pick Up Football Physical Forms

Coach Mike Permenter has asked the NEWS to announce that all young men who are to be freshmen at SAHS and are planning to play football this fall, should pick up a physical form at the school administration building as soon as possible. The players need to have their physicals and the form returned to his office by August 10.

Any others not having played before but planning to do so this year are also required to follow the same procedure.

Two-a-day football workouts will begin the 13th of August.

meeting; August 20 - budget approval.

Supt. Brister briefed the board on Senate Bill 1 and the state finance situation. According to an interview with Mr. Brister by this writer, The Santa Anna schools will receive about $200,000 more in funds from the state this year above what they received last year, but there are strings attached to about half of that amount. Those figures are based on the assumption that the ADA (average daily attendance) of the local school will stay at the current level. At least $100,000 is earmarked for special programs mandated by the state.

Brister adds that after the first year there will be even more strings attached, increasing with each year thereafter. Brister commented that "There are 98 pages of House Bill 1 and 70 of those pages are made up of regulations we have to abide by. In other words there is a little bit of money and a whole lot of..."

Brister believes that the new bill will be even more traumatic for the school districts than HB 72 was. That is if it stays in effect. There is already a court case concerning the what is believed to be its inequities and Brister is convinced the HB 1 will be declared unconstitutional because, "It is not a true equity legislation." A ruling is expected in the case by September 1.

Much of the funding from the new bill is being paid for by a quarter-cent hike in the state sales tax and a few other minor state budget changes, including a 15-cent-a-pack increase in the cigarette tax and a hike on the tax for mixed drinks. However, according to a recent report published over the weekend, state officials acknowledge that still won't cover the full cost over five years.

The report states that Legislature's plan is to reach full equity for 95 percent of the students by 1994-95, while ignoring to hold down costs—another 5 percent in the state's richest school districts.

Under the new state plan, each district would have access to an average of $3,811 per student in 1991, rising to $4,009 in 1995. But district spending per student would not be capped.

Witnesses in the court case for poorer districts complain that the new average funding per student would barely cover the rate of inflation. They also said the new law simply pumps more money into a system that continues to distribute it unfairly, while failing to guarantee future funding or financial help with facilities.

One school administrator stated that it seems the biggest flaw in the new law is that it has too many loopholes.

They argue that the new law decreases state reimbursement of high costs associated with certain students, including those in special education and bilingual education. They added that the bill penalizes district with a high number of minorities, migrant students, and dropouts by changing the way students are counted for funding purposes.

The new attendance count rule is supposed to encourage districts to do everything they can to keep potential dropouts in school.

Church Invites Public To Video Program On Satanism

Pastor James Ford of the Assembly of God Church in Santa Anna announces there will be a special program of video documentaries on "Satan's Second Coming." The program will be held at the annex of the church on Tuesday, July 31 at 7:00 p.m.

Pastor Ford says, "Since Satanism is growing so fast, we feel it is time that Christians, and that caring parents and grandparents, that all who will concern themselves, should know more about this problem. We scheduled this on a night we felt would least conflict with other churches and organizations and we urge all to join us for this special showing. Learn more how to protect our families, our churches and our communities from this evil influence."

Everyone is invited and encouraged to attend.

THE WORD OF GOD

"But He answered and said, It is written, man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." Matt. 4:4

The illustration that our Lord uses, in which the Word of God is compared to our daily bread, is most perceptive...

(1) Bread is indispensable to life. We all understand this. However strong a person may be, if he takes no nourishment, he will grow weak and life will become extinct. Even so with the Word of God. It contains a heavenly principle and works powerful.

(2) Bread must be eaten. I may know all about bread. I may have bread, and may give it to others. I may have bread in my house and on my table in great abundance, but that will not help me; if through illness I am unable to eat it, I will die, and so a mere knowledge of God's Word and even the preaching of it to others will not avail me. It is not enough to think about it. I must feed on God's Word and take it into my heart and life. In love and obedience I must appropriate the words of God and let them take full possession of my heart. Then they will indeed be words of life.

(3) Bread must be eaten daily. And the same is true of God's Word. The psalmist says: "Blessed is the man whose delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night." "O how I love thy law; it is my meditation all the day." To secure a strong and powerful spiritual life, God's Word every day is indispensable. May God bless you through Jesus Christ.

Ken Brixey, a spring graduate of Santa Anna High School, left last week for San Diego, California where he will begin his Marine basic training. He is scheduled to graduate basic on October 12 and expects to receive some extended training there before being given his assignment station.

For friends who wish to write, Ken's address is as follows:
Pvt. Brixey, Kenneth

Verl Harvey of Wilsonville, Ala., writes, "In renewing my subscription, just want to say how much I enjoy your paper. I was born in Santa Anna in 1904 and left in 1936, but still see lots of names of oldtimers; but most are gone."

Pete and Winnie Rutherford have really been "around and about" the last few weeks. In fact, they have toured several states in the northwest. Leaving Santa Anna June 19 in their travel van packed with all their camping gear, their first stop was the Cowboy Museum and National Radio Astronomy Observatory in New Mexico.

From their they traveled to Hoover Dam where they took the tour inside the dam. They visited at Lake Mead and took a swim there. Winnie reports they also visited Las Vegas, but emphasizes, "We just watched the others." She says the lights of the city were awfully pretty and it was a sight worth seeing.

From there they drove through Death Valley on to Yosemite National Park. They walked the trails to Yosemite Falls and also visited Bridal Falls, which, they tell us, is an especially beautiful sight. On to Redwood National Forest to see the huge redwoods and watch as other vehicles pass through some of them. They were told not to try because their van was too large to make it.

A tour of San Francisco was most enjoyable and seeing the Golden Gate Bridge was very memorable. They also toured China Town and took a ride on a trolley. Fisherman's Wharf was an especially enjoyable visit as well as seeing the various parks of the city with all the lovely flowers.

Leaving San Francisco, they drove up the Pacific coast on Highway 101 and even stopped for a wade in the ocean.

The next stop was in Oregon at Crater Lake where they drove around the rim of the crater and hiked up the mountain for quite a distance. They also visited Multnomah Falls.

In Washington they visited Mt. St. Helens and Mt. Rainier. They described the area around Mt. St. Helens as being total devastation due to the volcanic eruption of ten

In Winnie's words, "There is no way to describe it; it was like driving into another world." They hiked a trail part way up Mt. Rainier but were stopped by deep snow on the mountainside that was still there from a snowfall on Memorial Day. "It was a beautiful sight, though."

Library Reading Program Activities

Brian Hughes of San Antonio helped Mr. Guthrie in demonstrating a metal detector for the children. They discovered rusty nails, pieces of tin, bottle tops and even treasure. Mrs. Hughes had furnished a token from Dairy Queen that one child won. Bandaid boxes located here and there contained coins from Canada and Mexico. Each reader who checked out a book received one of these coins.

Thanks to Mr. Guthrie and Mrs. Hughes, we had fun with geography and a treasure hunt.

The younger group of readers saw a felt point pen story. It was about pirates. Ask you pre-school child to show you his copy of the story. Help him to tell it.

Middlers heard more of the mystery of the "Elevator Duck." Older members learned about hieroglyphics. They used these picture letters to write their names. It was difficult for some to write their names because there was no "E."

One additional adult leader joined us, Joann Allen. Last week we failed to give credit to one of our junior leaders, Misty Bradley. She was an excellent helper in checking out books! Mrs. Joe C. Barnes helped both weeks also. Mrs. Letha Martin, librarian, works on her days off to help with the check out. Mrs. Ovella Williams also assisted. We appreciate their work. In fact, the reading program could not exist without the help of the volunteers.

Boys and girls, come again Thursday, July 26. Listen to the radio for more details. Don't miss the fun. The program begins at 9:30 a.m. at the Telephone Coop building.

Underwood's

Mountainside Viewpoint

By Polly Warnock

A friend of mine has recently been doing some serious reading of a new book entitled "The First Really Important Survey of American Habits." In it, New Yorkers, Mel Poertz and Barry Sinrod tell you everything you ever wanted to know about American behavior, but were too polite to ask.

For example, it says only 7 percent of Americans admit looking behind a closed shower curtain when visiting a friend's house. Thirty-eight percent of Americans clean their belly button daily; 20 percent say they never do. Six out of 10 Americans say the would wear torn underwear.

But after reviewing the book, David Grimes, a writer for N. Y. Times News Service, wrote that he had come up with his own survey on American habits, finding that:

- 45 percent of Americans pick their nose while waiting at stop lights.
- 89 percent of Americans prefer bad TV over good TV.
- 53 percent of American men think there's nothing wrong with wearing brown shoes with a blue suit.
- 69 percent of Americans think they're better looking than they really are.
- 72 percent of Americans don't realize they dress funny.
- 82 percent of American men say they like their wife's new hairdo when they really don't.
- 58 percent of Americans talk with their mouth full.
- 79 percent of Americans have moldy leftovers sitting in their refrigerator.
- 81 percent of Americans like people to think they're busier than they really are.
- 2 percent of Americans really mean it when they say "have a nice day."
- 62 percent of Americans lean whichever way the wind blows.
- 29 percent of Americans had it but lost it.
- 47 percent of Americans bit off more than they can chew.
- 71 percent of Americans didn't have anything to do with it.
- 89 percent of Americans have heard that money can't buy happiness, but are willing to give it a try, anyway.

All children are invited to participate.

Estes Family Has Reunion At Santa Anna

The 51st Estes family reunion met June 3 at the Santa Anna Army with approximately 120 in attendance. A brief meeting of the group prior to lunch, was opened with scripture and prayer by Ken Estes, a Longview psychologist. Dr. Neyland Hester, former chancellor of the University of Arkansas, led in a memorial service honoring Sam Estes, Andy Lee, Rufus Thomas, Mrs. Dona Estes, and Dee Mankin.

Those attending from out of state were: Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lee of Ontario, California; Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Jones of La Habra, California; and Mrs. Mattie Estes of Arlington, Va. Recognitions were made of Mrs. Sam Estes and Mrs. Boss Estes, who attended the reunion 50 consecutive years. Due to illness, Mrs. Sam Estes was unable to attend this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Gonzales celebrated their first wedding anniversary on this day. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Estes had celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception and dinner at Clovis, N. M. in September, 1989.

Cecil Day and Mac Oliver were recognized for their support and outstanding help during the years. Liza and David Hart encouraged each family to help in completing a family history book.

A catered lunch was served at 12 noon. On Saturday evening, the group met at the Coleman Park for a picnic, fellowship and picture-taking.

This was the first reunion in 12 years attended by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lee.

Dev. Screening Scheduled For Mon., July 30

On Monday, July 30, 1990, a developmental screening will be held for your children ages zero to six (0-6). This screening will be conducted at the First United Methodist Church, 500 W. Live Oak, Coleman, from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

The screening, which takes about 20 minutes to complete, tests a young child in four areas: personal-social skills (playing, eating, dressing, etc.), fine motor skills (ability to manipulate small objects), gross motor skills (running, jumping, etc.), and language development (speech, following instructions, etc.). If a child is found to have two or more delays in one area, there is further testing available or referral to the appropriate agency.

The purpose of Early Childhood Intervention is to identify and correct as many problems as possible for young children. Early detection of young children's delays have proven beneficial to the child, parents, and teachers.

For further information, call (915) 646-9574, ext. 158 or 159 in Brownwood, or come to the screening site.

Fond Memories Of A Visit To Santa Anna

by Verna Blair LaMadrid

When I was eleven years old my parents decided I could go home with my sister, Blanche Willis, and her husband when they returned to Santa Anna after a two week visit in New Mexico.

I was delighted, as my nephew, Gene Willis was just about four years old and his little sister was just a toddler. I thought they were the smartest and the cutest children in the whole world. So when my mother inquired if I would be afraid to come home alone on the train, I assured her I wouldn't be at all afraid to make the trip.

The summer was nothing but joy as far as I was concerned. Blanche would take us on picnics, always hoping her husband, Clebert would join in the outing. For some reason Clebert thought if he'd fill the car up with gasoline and provide us with the means for a bountiful picnic, he had done quite enough to earn himself an afternoon off from his candy runs, so he would send us on our way while he read the latest issue of "Ranch Romance" magazine.

All too soon the summer was coming to a close and it was time for me to board the train for home. I began to get a little uneasy as the day approached for my departure, but I tried not to let anyone know.

Our friend, Miss Blanche Boyd, cautioned me to be very careful and she advised me not to speak to anyone, especially fellow travelers. My sister elected to stay at home so I bid her good-bye and Clebert drove me to the station. My greatest fear was that I might have to change trains at Clovis, so when Clebert got to the ticket window he asked the agent if I would have to change trains. The agent assured him that I would not, so my confidence was restored and I began my journey feeling quite good about myself. After all, I had a dollar in my "owl purse." I took a seat by the window and put my overnight case on the empty seat next to the aisle.

Soon a man came around with a tray of delightful types of fruit. I thought of the dollar and I felt quite well heeled with so much cash. I selected a nice bunch of grapes which I remember very distinctly came to forty cents. The rain was pelting the window of the pullman coach and it continued to rain all day, as the sound of the wheels upon the rails told me we were getting closer to my home and loved ones.

At Lubbock a woman boarded the train...she sat down in the seat behind me. I had noticed her eye was bandaged but of course, I remembered what Miss Blanche had said, so I wasn't speaking to anyone.

It was getting dark as we were nearing Clovis. The conductor came along and said to me, "What are you going to do in Clovis, little girl?"

"Well, the depot agent in Santa Anna said I wouldn't have to change trains there," I answered. To which he replied, "Change trains!... You've got to spend the night there!"

The passengers on the train all seemed anxious to rescue me from my frightening plight. The conductor, engineer and brakeman had a discussion among themselves and decided they would put me up in the Harvey House...and I began planning to put a chair back under the doorknob and staying awake all night.

The woman with the patch over her eye, a Mrs. Dean, moved up to the seat next to mine and said, "If my house wasn't so torn up I would take you home with me...but we are doing some building..."

I assured her I didn't care about what her house looked like. I wasn't about to let some remodeling of a house make me spend the night alone in the Harvey House!"

The woman's husband worked for the railroad and the conductor and engineer knew the family...so I went home with her. Mrs. Dean knowing I was afraid, slept in the room with me and next morning called a taxi for me and instructed the driver to put me on the right train. Before I left, she fixed my breakfast and it was delicious!

It took about four hours to get to Dexter (where I lived) after leaving Clovis. So had the train gone straight on through I would have arrived at the Dexter depot around midnight. Since no one was expecting me I would have been in a very scary situation...as all the stores closed early and people in that little town would have been sound asleep.

When Miss Blanche heard what I had done, she said, "And after I told her not to speak to strangers!"

I had been home about two weeks when my mother found out the letter she sent to my sister, advising her that she, Papa and J.W. would meet me in Sweetwater, Texas had been mistakenly sent to a friend in Little Rock, Arkansas!

Hartman-Hester Reunion

Hords Creek Lake, Coleman was the site of a reunion over the week end of the families of Reba (Hester) and the late I. E. Hartman and the late Ed Lec and Jonie Hester.

Those attending enjoyed swimming, fishing, hiking, games and camping. The main activity was visiting, renewing old acquaintances, making new one and catching up in lots of news.

The facility was excellent and the weather was ideal to enjoy a Saturday morning campsite breakfast and the evening meal of grilled steak with all the trimmings.

More than 90 relatives and friends attended from several states including Arkansas, Louisiana and Georgia.

In a short business meeting it was decided to make the reunion an annual affair. Barbara Christy was elected chairman in charge of next years gathering.

Summer Salad with Mexican Flair

Gazpacho is mentioned in Greek and Roman literature as a "drinkable food," and references to it appear in both testaments of the Bible. Visit any hot-weather country and you will find some version of this cold soup, a mixture of seeded tomatoes, garlic, wine vinegar and oil, cucumbers, green peppers and bread cubes. The same ingredients are equally delicious in a Garden

Garden Gazpacho Salad.

This recipe uses the bread as a serving bowl which makes it especially nice to serve to guests. The vegetables are marinated in a zesty blend of tomato juice, hot pepper sauce and Wish-Bone Robusto Italian Dressing.

The vinegar and oil, as well as the spices, are already in the dressing — a real timesaver! And because the vegetables are marinated, this is one salad you can easily make a day in advance with no fear of losing flavor or crispness.

Garden Gazpacho Salad

- 1 cup (8 oz.) Wish-Bone Robusto Italian Dressing
- 1/4 cup tomato juice
- 6 dashes hot pepper sauce (optional)
- 2 medium cucumbers, chopped
- 2 medium tomatoes, chopped
- 2 medium green peppers, chopped
- 1 medium onion, chopped

1 loaf unsliced round bread (about 9 in. diameter) Lettuce leaves

In large bowl, blend robusto Italian dressing, tomato juice and hot pepper sauce. Stir in vegetables. Cover and marinate in refrigerator, stirring occasionally, at least 2 hours.

Cut lengthwise slice off top of bread. Hollow out center, leaving 1/2-inch shell. Just before serving, line bread shell with lettuce and fill with vegetable mixture. To serve, spoon out vegetable mixture, then cut bread shell into wedges. Makes about 8 side-dish servings.

Also terrific with Wish-Bone Italian, Herbal Italian, Lite Italian or Blended Italian Dressing.

For more great recipes with Wish-Bone Dressings, send a check or money order for $1.75 to: Wish-Bone Salads Plus Much More, P.O. Box 4154-NR, Syoset, NY 11791.

Make check payable to Thomas J. Lipton Company. Please allow 6 to 8 weeks for delivery.

The Case of the Yellow Shoes

Springtime is without a doubt the most wonderful time of the year. The air turns fresh and clean. Flowers burst from their long winter's sleep. It's the end of cold and snow.

Best of all, the baby turns 3. In just a few short weeks, there will be no more tantrums, no more clenched fists, no more biting and pinching. No more "terrible twos."

For the family, Emily's birthday promises to be something akin to the arrival of "glasnost" or the bringing down of the Berlin Wall. Peace again will rule our household.

Anyone who has ever had children knows what I mean.

At age 2, something happens to children. One minute they are sweet, loving, cooperative little darlings, the next they become belligerent, argumentative, screaming little monsters.

We've been living with one now for almost a year.

Take the "Case of the Yellow Shoes," for example. We stumbled across them at a yard sale. They were old, worn out, Salvation Army rejects.

Emily had to have them. So I bought them, rather than have her screaming cause a mass exodus from the yard sale.

Then she insisted on wearing them to preschool. I cringed and said no — immediately starting World War III. It's still going on. I'm winning the battles, but I'm afraid Emily may be winning the war.

Grocery shopping is another matter. Not so long ago, I loved to take Emily with me to the grocery store. That was until the day she snatched a 16-pack of sugar doughnuts off the shelf and screamed, "MINE!"

The store manager still turns white whenever we approach. Armed with cookie tranquilizers, workers from the deli seek her out in the store.

Then there is bedtime. Before even attempting to get Emily ready for bed, we must close all the windows, secure all the doors and hope the sound of her tirade doesn't reach the neighbors.

Fortunately, child psychologists tell us that this sort of behavior ends when a child leaves the terrible twos. Some kind of chemical change takes place, and they miraculously become little darlings again.

So, I'm looking forward to a summer of lazy days at the pool, long afternoons with my flower beds and peaceful coexistence with my beautiful daughters.

I figure I can rest up until Thanksgiving, when Emily will be 3½. According to the books, that's when everything starts to fall apart again. At least by then she will have outgrown those yellow shoes. lol

Report From 24th Annual Cowboy Camp Meeting

By Carrie Howard

The 24th Annual Cowboy Camp Meeting got underway on Friday, June 15th and continued through June 24th. Bro. Bobby McMeens is Director of the Camp. Mrs. Havens, Bro. Bobby McMeens with some of his boys from the ranch, and local friends were there several days early to get the wagons out and many other things in place.

Preachers for the meeting included: Bro. Buck Hatfield, Bro. Orbie Platt, Bro. Rick Ingle, and Bro. Joe Price. This year a friend of Mrs. Havens, Adolfo Alvarez of Saltillo, Mexico was here. He is a Mexican pastor.

Bro. Bobby directed the singing in the services. A group associated with the Gospel Country Music Association and directors furnished music and singing in the services and around the bonfire. These include: Donn and Patti Hooper, Lavon, Texas; Gene Bradley, Dallas (has been known as the world's champion yodeler), who sang and yodeled in the services and around the bonfire; Frank and Charlotte Snyder, Dallas; and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Peters, Dallas. Buddy Lee (brother of Mrs. Havens) played the harmonica and juiced hard a number of times during the meeting.

ON YOUR FEET

Podiatrist DR. GENE NICHOLS

WHEN IT HURTS TO RUN

If you've been running for a while and are beginning to feel pain and discomfort after a workout, you should have your feet and legs examined by your podiatrist. There may be a structural imbalance in your feet that needs correcting before more serious problems develop.

Among the more common problems afflicting runners are blisters that may become more inflamed by shoes that do not fit properly. Faulty foot function may also be causing it or may even be related to ill-fitting socks or not wearing socks at all. Knee problems are also common and so are problems with the tendons of the foot, such as Achilles tendinitis.

Running is an exhilarating sport, but much of the pleasure can be lost if you are having problems with your feet and legs. your podiatrist is an expert in this area and can give you the help you need to correct any structural imbalances that are causing problems. Whenever you feel pain or discomfort in your feet and legs, seek the help available from your podiatrist.
