Next week we publish our regular monthly advertising edition preceding the Trades Day and Rodeo events.

Merchants please remember that the News cannot carry advertising without copy, and all copy for the special two page spread must be in the office Monday, May 28th. Local merchants are overlooking a real opportunity by not using more space in the regular edition to advertise their merchandise. This is no idle talk, but a simple reminder intended to encourage you to take advantage of the opportunity and give your stores and places of business more advertising.

Arkansawer's Reunion Next Sunday

The Third Annual Arkansawer's Reunion will be held on the reunion grounds at Oak Creek, between Bronte and Winters, in Rannels County, next Sunday May 27th.

A detailed program has been furnished this paper for publication, but came in too late, due to its length. Dr. J. D. Sandifer of Abilene will be the eleven o'clock speaker. The program starts at 10 a. m. and will continue until 5 p. m. Special tables will be arranged at noon, but due to the size of the crowd, a public spread cannot be furnished.

Five thousand people attended the reunion last year, and ten thousand are expected this year. A special program has been arranged.

NOTICE

We will close our Hatchery next Tuesday, May 29th, and in order to dispose of the fine stock of baby chicks on hand at the earliest date will pay a small premium on old hens, turkeys, or what have you?

Our supply of baby chicks is limited. Those caring to take advantage of this opportunity should buy or book now.

The season now closing has been good. Thanks to our friends.

Boy Scout Leader Is Needed

Right now would be an ideal time for some one to volunteer with a little service that is greatly needed and should bear fruit of the right kind.

There are about forty boys in Santa Anna who have no employment and will be idle until the opening of school in September. These boys are too full of energy to sit down at home and do nothing. They are going to be up and doing, and without proper leadership, what do you suppose they will do, mostly?

An idle mind is said to be the workshop of the devil. The writer never knew what that meant for we were never idle but a few hours at a time, and then we usually were preparing for the job we knew was just ahead.

These boys, if they have a leader to drill them, give them lessons in something that is elevating, uplifting and educational most of them will start into school next year better prepared for their work and more enthused over the opportunity.

The Boy Scout program is intended to help boys who need help. Give a boy nothing to do and you should not expect him to accomplish very much. Give a boy plenty to do, and most of them will accomplish a great deal. As many preachers, Sunday School teachers, school teachers and others as we have here in Santa Anna, surely there can be found one or more who will devote a portion of their time during the summer months to elevation and betterment of our boys. This writer will cooperate to the very best of our ability, and will gladly contribute a portion of our limited income toward the expenses of a summer program for the betterment of our boys. Will someone or more let us hear from them.

Rev. and Mrs. Hal C. Wingo and children moved back here this week from Ft. Worth where they attended school for the past two semesters.

Mrs. Tom Campbell of Lubbock and son Knox of Coleman visited friends and relatives here Sunday. Mrs. Campbell was en route home from the Southern Baptist Convention which met in Fort Worth last week.

New Officers to be Chosen By Lions Next Tuesday

At the local Lions Club Tuesday, nominations were made for the ticket to be voted upon next Tuesday at noon, to elect officers for the ensuing year.

We failed to get the list of names, but whoever is elected from the list submitted will be O. K. for no dumb ones were nominated.

Lion Dr. R. R. Lovelady attended the District Convention of this Texas 2A, recently, held at Corpus Christi, and made a good report of his trip at the luncheon Tuesday.

ANNUAL REPORT OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Supt. Scarborough has just completed his annual report to the State Department of Education for the school year just closed. Some of the high points of the annual report follow.

There was a total enrollment in the ward and high schools of 451 and 253, respectively. There were average daily attendances of 292.9 and 191.1, percentages of attendances 85.3, and 90.6, graduates 36 and 46. The colored school enrolled 23, had average daily attendance of 17.9, percentage of attendance 92.9, and 1 to graduate from 7th grade.

The average daily attendances for 1932-1933 were 289.6 and 147.3. Teachers salaries for 32-33 totaled $16,795 with an instructional cost per student in average daily attendance for the entire system of $38.39. For 33-34 teachers' salaries totaled $15,795 with half-time teacher added. The cost per student in average daily attendance for the system for 33-34 was $32.64 as against $38.39 the preceding year. This was possible in view of the fact that the average daily attendance in high school increased 43.3, and a half-time teacher was added.

By virtue of the New Rural Aid Law which brought in increased numbers to high school, the net receipts from this year's transfers exceeded last year's by $1,207 after the added half-time teacher was paid. From this it will be seen that the New Rural Aid Law works to the mutual advantage of both rural schools and first class affiliated schools, we having realized a net increase in income, and the rural schools having had a first-class school of 9 months' as against an unaffiliated school of 7 or 8 months.

Teachers have been paid four months of this year's salaries. When all state moneys have come in, total of seven months can be paid. A little over 50 percent of local taxes have been collected this year. Default in the payment of a $1,000 bond due April 15 was made on account of non-collection of local taxes. Balances due teachers for previous years are: 30-31, $155; 31-32, $300.40; 32-33, $1,118.63.

Miss Hays receives Special Home Economics Certificate

Home Economics teachers are granted only temporary certificates, the certificate for each year being granted if work done the preceding year is satisfactory. Miss Agnes Hays, teacher of Home Economics in Santa Anna High, has recently received her certificate for 1934-1935.

The granting of this certificate means the work done by Miss Hays the past school year measures up to the high standard set by the state department of home economics. Santa Anna High has full-time Home Making teacher who directs the girls in the science of Home Making in all its varied phases. There were enrolled in this department the past year 105 girls. Miss Hays is regarded by the state department as one of the very best teachers in this work.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Donham, Jr., are here visiting for a few days with Mr. Donham's parents.

TRAFFIC VIOLATORS!

Unnecessary double parking, cutting corners, running with out lights, speeding, and all other traffic violations must cease.

City Marshall.

Democrat-Voice Goes Daily for Three Days

Our esteemed contemporary The Coleman Democrat-Voice, went into the daily class for three days last week, while fostering a cooking school. Several hundred ladies from over the county attended the cooking school, which was reported to be among the most interesting and largest attended cooking school that has been conducted in the state.

The business interest of Coleman responded nicely to the Democrat-Voice management in their strenuous undertaking, and the paper made a splendid showing each day.

Senator Walter Woodward, campaigning for the office of Attorney General, and James V. Allred, present Attorney General and candidate for Governor, were present Saturday afternoon, and addressed the large crowds attending the event.

IF I WERE...

By G. A. Morgan

I have been asked why I do not write something in this column on gambling. I have not seen any gambling going on in Santa Anna. All I know about it is what the people tell me. I have been told that as much as two hundred dollars changed hands in one day in one place of business in our city by gambling. No doubt the report of the amount changing hands has been exaggerated, but I take it that some gambling is going on; and as gambling is a vice, it should be suppressed.

If I were a gambler I would not gamble in public, especially in the presence of minors. I would not want to be a party to the crime of influencing any one to become a gambler. And if I were the proprietor or manager of any place of business in Santa Anna I would not permit any gambling in my place of business, nor would I permit any gambling machine or device in my place of business.

If I were the non church goer of Santa Anna I would get into the habit of attending church. None of us wants to live where there are no churches, but if every body treated the churches as many people in Santa Anna do there would be no churches here. Make church attendance a matter of conscience.

If I knew you and you knew me How little trouble there would be!

We pass each other on the street, But just come out and let us meet

At church next Sunday.

ROAD BEING COMPLETED UP EAST MOUNTAIN

Elgean Shield of Coleman was a visitor here Saturday, and stated among other things while engaged in conversation that the road he is building from the gap between the east and west mountains will soon be ready for traffic.

Mr. Shield has been building on his road at intervals for several months, and is delighted that he will soon have it open, however not fully completed.

Mr. Shield intends to build a home near the west end of the east mountain, and some day carry out the dreams of his childhood when he planned to live on top of the highest peak in central Texas.

It is a lofty ideal to want to live "up in the air" so to speak, and we admire Mr. Shield's lofty ambition.

The road is not completed, and those who wish to ascend the mountain up the new drive are warned that they are doing so at their own risk. It is somewhat of a hazard, and you are warned to drive with caution.

HAIL DOES SOME DAMAGE

Wednesday afternoon a heavy rain in Santa Anna and vicinity accompanied by some hail and wind did light damage to gardens and truck patches in Santa Anna, and almost destroyed some crops south of town.

The damage was local in its scope, and only did damage to a very few crops. The rain was heavy in Santa Anna, measuring 1.2 inches in places and fell almost in torrents.

Fifty Bullets Riddle Barrow and Bonnie

Officers Shoot From Ambush As Desperate Pair Reach For Guns

Clyde Kicks Open Car Door to Fire. But Death Overtakes Him While Woman Dies With Head Between Knees

ARCADIA, La., May 23. (AP)—Fifty bullets from the guns of old-time Texas rangers and country sheriffs today ended the murderous career of Clyde Barrow and his blonde gunwoman Bonnie Parker, in an ambush laid in the woods of a graveled by-road south of here.

Acting on an underworld tip, the officers, led by the fearless man-hunter, Frank Hamer, for 30 years a Texas ranger, laid a trap for Barrow and his woman, who believed they were going for a rendezvous with an ex-convict associate. Instead they drove their small sedan into the ambush and six officers pumped 167 bullets into the car.

Fifty shots struck the bandits before they could raise their guns and they died as their automobile came to rest against an embankment on the side of the road.

Dying, Barrow kicked open the door of the car and attempted to fire at the officers but death overtook him before he could pull the trigger. He died with a gun in his hands without saying a word.

Taken By Surprise

Barrow and Parker were led to believe they were among friends but their trust led them to their deaths. They were taken completely by surprise and were unable to use the many guns and pistols which they carried in the car at arm's length.

The four Texans and two Louisiana officers laid in waiting on the side of the road just below a hill. As the car swept over the hill, an officer stepped to the side of the road and ordered them to halt. When the order was not heeded, all six officers opened fire and continued to fire until their guns were emptied.

The officers gave the bandits the same medicine they had meted out to their victims in more than a dozen fights and raids against the law and in which 12 men were killed. In many of the fights Bonnie Parker, forgetting her convict husband, stood side by side with her outlaw associate and shot it out with the officers, each time successfully until today.

Bonnie Already Crippled

Bonnie Parker, hard, straight-shooting, boasting gangster, died with her head between her knees and with a machine gun across her lap. She already had been crippled by gunfire in previous skirmishes with officers but she attempted to the end to shoot down officers of the law, whom she despised. When she died she clutched a package of blood-soaked cigarettes in her left hand. Fingers of her right hand the trigger hand which was her proud boast, were shot away by the officers' bullets.

The trail of the bandit pair was ended through the cunning Hamer, who with three Texas men had trailed the notorious man and woman over a half dozen states for 15,000 miles. He

Memorial Day Is the Day to Pay Tribute to Our Hero Dead

Memorial Day was born in a stately old Colonial mansion in Columbus, Ga. the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Tyler, on April 26, 1866. The women of the South were stealing to cemeteries to bedeck the graves of loved ones, sons and husbands, who had died fighting for the blue and gray. Mrs. Tyler called the women of her town together and organized a Ladies Memorial Association, and this association held its first Memorial Day exercises that year. The idea swept the nation and in 1868 when Commander of the G. A. R. General John A. Logan secured an act of Congress setting aside one Memorial Day each year as a day of tribute. The date, however, was left optional with the states themselves. Several Southern states still observe the original date of April 26, but most of the states observe May 30.

The mystic chords of memory, stretching from the thousands of battlefields and the millions of patriotic graves distributed all over our great nation, to every home and hearth within its boundaries, compelled instant approval of the Memorial thus inaugurated.

Memorial Day was not set aside exclusively as another bank holiday, nor even for a double-header at the ball park. It is a day which in its majestic significance ranks close to Easter.

Memorial Day is the day of all days in the patriotic calendar of Americans, and its sacredness and significance becomes more and more manifest as the years go by. The Memorial exercises held all over our broad land in memory of the soldier dead of all our wars, attest to the fact that the great loyal heart of America is still as steady and true in its appreciation of American ideals and the value and sacrifices of those lives which have been freely offered on its altars, from Bunker Hill to Flanders Field, where 50,000 crosses mark the resting places of our brothers and sisters.

Memorial Day has its lessons for the rising generations—the lessons taught by the Carpenter of Nazareth, and for which every Christian church stands as a pledge. America is the polar star of hope for the burden bearers and for the peace of the world.

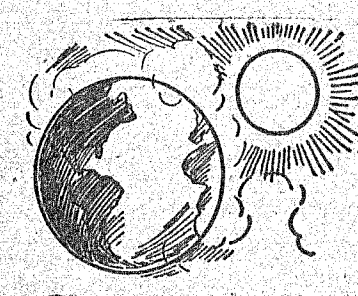

On May 30, 1934, therefore, we will pay tribute to the memory of those who gave their lives in the wars of this Country, and to those who have passed on into another and more glorious world. We do not only pay tribute to the dead on Memorial Day, but, the living as well. That is, those who still survive the horrors of war.

Those immortal words spoken by Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg still thrill the nation on this date. Because they hold so much in common to it. The words: "That from these honored dead we take increased devotion." Is not this a glorious, a wondrous phrase?

Our soldiers are due some respect and honor. Did they not fight to free our country from tyranny, fight at home to repulse rebellion, and go across the seas to defend our flag? Is it not proper to set aside one out of the three hundred and sixty-five days of the year, to the memory of our soldiers?

Let us on this Day pay them the tribute that belongs to them. Let us go to those graves with bowed heads in honor to those honorable dead who gave their lives for US.

PERMANENT ENDOWMENT

Simmons University of Abilene announced last week that its permanent endowment fund had been increased a quarter of a million dollars by a contribution from Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hardin of Burkburnett, wealthy philanthropists who have made large gifts to educational and religious institutions in recent years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardin will receive six per cent interest on the quarter million dollars during their lifetime so that their own income will not be materially diminished, and thereafter the income will be available for the use of the college in its work.

Permanent endowment is the answer to the financial question of the denominational college or university. They can be established with relative ease, and can be maintained by the sacrifices of those directly interested in them for a time, but none of them is on secure ground until its endowment fund is large enough to provide an income sufficient for its operating requirements.

Wealthy people who want to make their money count for something worth while in the world can make no better investment than by adding to the permanent endowment funds of substantial, well managed denominational colleges. Simmons University rejoices tremendously as this splendid gift is made to its endowment, but we imagine Mr. and Mrs. Hardin are even happier. They know that for generations to come a part of their money will be working for the people whom they love in West Texas.

The philosopher calmly defined the exact difference between life and love: "Life is just one fool thing after another; love is just two fool things after each other."

STATE HEALTH OFFICER ADVISES SANE DRIVING

Austin, Texas, April 2—A herd of wild horses was responsible for approximately one thousand deaths in Texas last year, according to Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. Under the hood of the automobile are from 40 to 100 horses. Whether these are tame or wild and dangerous to human life depends to a large extent upon the drivers. Pedestrians, also, must be "safely minded," if the number of lives lost in fatal automobile accidents is reduced.

In cities, hundreds of thousands of people in the aggregate deliberately and habitually throw caution to the winds by jay walking, by crossing streets at all points but at intersections, by dodging around street cars and even by deliberately disregarding traffic signals. And highway walkers also are more likely to move with, rather than against traffic, which of course results in greater risk, especially at night.

The automobile driver himself, intoxicated by the joy of effortlessly stepping up his machine to an excessive speed, and in hundreds of other ways violating the rules and the ethics of the road, makes of this magnificent invention the Frankenstein it has so sadly turned out to be.

It needs to be more emphasized upon the average brain than it is today, that all the healthful living in the world is of no avail when one either as a driver or as a pedestrian takes chances with the automobile and loses. Moreover, proper water and milk control, as well as the many other safeguards to health and life, mean absolutely nothing to a dead man killed by his or another's automobile.

CARL RUNGE OF MASON FOR CONGRESS

The name of Carl Runge of Mason, former District Judge of the 33rd Judicial District, will be found in the announcement columns of this paper as a candidate for Congress. Judge Runge is 42 years of age, is well and favorably known throughout the District and other portions of the State, being a native of Mason County and a member of a pioneer family which has been a resident of the District for eighty years. He is a grandson of Doctor William Runge who settled in Kendall County in 1854 and a son of Judge Rudolph Runge who as a youth in 1857 helped erect the first saw mill on the Concho River which sawed timbers preparatory to the construction of Fort Concho, now San Angelo, and a son of Mrs. Threse Runge nee Marshall of Gillespie County. He married a daughter of Thos. Murray, pioneer ranchman of Mason County and a sister of A. T. Murray, who was murdered in 1929 while Sheriff of Mason County. He is the father of two sons aged ten and twelve.

Ranchmen, Farmers and Businessmen Requested Him to Run A petition bearing the signatures of 223 McCulloch County ranchmen, farmers and business men was presented to Judge Runge requesting him to make the race for Congress. McCulloch County is not in the 33rd Judicial District where he was Judge. The petition set forth that Judge Runge "has always been closely identified with the livestock, farming and business interests of this section and has an adequate and sympathetic understanding of the legislative and economic needs of this District. He has been an outstanding civic leader in the development of this section and we recommend him as an honest, capable and efficient representative to the people of the 21st Congressional District." After receiving the above petition and numerous requests and assurances of support from all over the District, Judge Runge decided to become a candidate for Congress. Thereafter he received petitions from the Counties where he served as District Judge bearing the signatures of about two thousand persons endorsing him for Congress.

Not a Professional Politician This is his first race. He has never before run for public office, but twice the voters of Mason County wrote his name on the ticket for County Attorney and he held that office for two terms. Shortly thereafter upon the death of Judge McLean, he was appointed District Judge of the 33rd Judicial District and although apparently assured that he would have no opposition, he was not a candidate to succeed himself.

Successful Record As Judge During the time that he was District Judge, he tried several cases that attracted statewide attention, among them the Ferguson suit against the State Highway Department tried at Austin where he was sent to sit for Judge Moore who was sick. The decision in this case, like most others tried before him, was affirmed by the higher Courts. Because of the correctness of his decisions and the dispatch with which he transacted business, he kept court costs at a minimum, and saved the taxpayers money.

Educated in Texas He is a graduate of Mason High School and attended the University of Texas from 1909 to 1912 and from 1913 to 1915, graduating from the academic and law department of the University of Texas and receiving both the B. A. and LL. B. degrees. While at the University of Texas, he helped defray his expenses by working in the Co-Op Book store, doing student assistant work in the Academic Department and being a Quiz Master in the Law Department. He also played on the football and track teams.

Also Taught School

At the age of sixteen he taught a country school in Mason County and five years later taught at Seguin.

Services As Lawyer And Citizen

He was admitted to the bar in 1915 and is a member of the State Bar Association and is licensed to practice before all the Courts of Texas, The United States Supreme Court, Interstate Commerce Commission and several other Departments and Bureaus of the Federal Government. He organized the Mason National Farm Loan Association so that farmers and ranchmen could secure loans from the Federal Land Bank and continuing to practice law in Mason County until 1917 when he enlisted in the Signal Corps and became an instructor in the Air Service. After the war he re-engaged in the practice of law in Mason in 1919.

As County Attorney he helped prosecute numerous cattle, goat and sheep theft cases. He has always been a booster for good roads and as Secretary of the Puget Sound to Gulf Highway Association he helped secure the designation of State Highway No. 9, Federal 385. As director of the Gulf & West Texas Rail Road Company, he represented San Angelo, Brady, Mason, Fredericksburg and San Antonio before the Inter-State Commerce Commission at Washington. With Elgin O. Kothmann, the owner of the Premier Ranch and producer of registered Hereford cattle, he is the builder and owner of the Fort Mason Hotel, a modern 54 room fire proof structure in the town of Mason.

He was Chairman of the Mason County Relief work until he announced for Congress and with his assistants rendered splendid service in behalf of the unemployed of Mason County. He is a past president of the Mason Chamber of Commerce and of the School Board. He is a member of Fort Mason Post of the American Legion.

Readily Accessible

Because of his residence in the central part of the District he is most readily accessible to all of the citizens of the District. Besides knowing the needs of the District from actual experience and education, he has the ability and moral courage to properly represent the same.

Platform

Judge Runge said: "I believe in proper respect for duly constituted authority and observance of the principles laid down in our Constitution, a common sense but rigid enforcement of the law and a closer co-operation between the law enforcement agencies of the State and Federal Government so that lawlessness may be suppressed. The great livestock and farming industries and kindred interests of this District should be represented in Congress by a man who from experience and training understands their needs. I have no extended platform and no promises to make except that in the event of my election, I will attend strictly to the duties of a Congressman from this District and will try to take care of the problems of the District as they arise. We are living in an extreme abnormal time and such sudden and radical departures from the recognized fundamentals are taking place that no sincere man can advocate a program with any hope of fulfillment other than as above set forth."

AMENDE HONORABLE.

Daily Texan (University of Texas): The Texas Student Publications takes this opportunity of stating formally that it regrets that there were statements in an article entitled, "No Matter How," in the March issue of the Texas Ranger, which gave offense to certain readers of the publication. No offense was intended by anyone connected with the publication, but the editor and members of the board are sorry if any sacrifice was committed. —Texas Student Publications, Inc.

The young editors are learning something the old editors already knew. That is, that pieces in the paper are not intended offensively, although some readers may find offense in them. Many people have imaginary imaginations. Editors have to print papers with reading articles in them, and haven't time to find out in advance if everybody is going to feel offended at anything or anybody at every thing. Every newspaper likes to be a good neighbor, a friend in a friendly community. But it cannot in advance divine the squeams of all customers, nor is it ever entirely sure that what it deems to be its duty will not be accepted as maliciousness or stupidity or unkindness by some. able sources, the newspaper or magazine has to be particularly careful. But even with the most exacting care, it is impossible to avoid wounding the feelings or arousing the enmity of some one. Still, if a publication catering to a numerous clientele were to run altogether to soft soap it would soon run into the ground or into bankruptcy, which is worse. About the best any sincere editor can do is to avoid hitting below the belt. He needn't do any great amount of hitting even above the belt for the editor who is always pugnacious and querulous loses the public's respect about as soon as the one who has no spine and only dabbles in sweet words and crystalline hokey. It is tolerably easy to be independent and forthright without being belligerent or funny. —State Press in the Dallas News.

Your bricks are thrown together,
In a haphazard way,
Your cornice is not rotten,
Sometime yet it will stay.
They placed in you large windows,
That give plenty light,
In you both morn and evening,
We can study with all our might,
The birds that roost in your crevices,
Are of different age,
The teachers that come and go,
Are old and twice as sage,
Just let us go inside of you and read,
The history of our senior class.

Richard Dillingham, with his hair bombed high,
Waiting patiently,
For Lydia Ruth Davis and Sena,
On the Sly.
Elton Jones, dreading his tests,
Says to Edna Shamblin,
'I'll be glad when school is out,
So that I can rest.'
Here comes Virgil,
Leading Louise along,
Followed by Aubrey Fay and Nell,
To sing them a song.
There is James Hays and Robert Hunter,
With their books atop their desk,
And dating back to years gone by,
When these youngsters,
Were the teachers' pest,
There is Samuel Everett talking back,
And Iva Fritchard looking on,
We wonder what they will have done,
By the time the day is gone.

Jim Bob, the ladies' man,
May break some fair girls' heart,
But Mary knows which way to talk,
To satisfy his art.
Ellis Tatum has weak digestion,
We can tell by the way he sits,
But we hope like Julius Caesar,
He won't have epileptic fits.
Cleo's eyes may lose their brightness,
Vivian's pearly teeth may know decay,
Thelma's nimble feet may lose their lightness,
Ruth Nell's raven tresses may turn to gray,
Irene's cheeks may get pale,
And eyes grow dim,
Faint the voice,
And weak the limb,
And strength depart,
(Fadeless is a loving)

Many evenings we have seen,
Russell Hale's pride hurled high,
As he happily talked to Francine,
And Oh! Too soon! Goodbye,
Brownlee is a woman hater,
So he has said to Golda,
But he'll change his mind,
Unless he becomes a soldier.
Hayden says to Juanita,
'Tm afraid I'll never find,
A woman matured in manners,
And not weak in the mind.'
Eloise says to Samuel Hays,
'You ask to see me home,
I thank you but I decline,
One bean is enough for me,
Im satisfied with mine.'

Jim thinks there ain't no living
in school no more,
Good times has spoiled it all,
Prosperity has closed her door,
And filled his heart with gall,
Carmella Flores would like to know,
So many, many things,
While Marsh Brown content to live,
While all nature sweetly sings.
J. D. is indolent,
Except for Stans Vekane,
But John David Harper and

Annie Louise,
Are as intelligent as I've ever seen.
There's John Hensley with his humor and wit,
Telling a story to Paul Jennings,
Who wouldn't laugh,
One bit.

Dessie Lee Vaughn and Armenta Ragsdale,
Are never in a rush,
But if they are ever heavy weight,
They'll have to eat more mush,
Ruth McGahey and Lena Jane Bartlett,
Might make some men,
A good cook,
While Augustus Lightfoot,
Might study law,
Or delve in other books.

The last three I introduce to you
Are Carroll Barton, Newman Upton and Sam Pasley,
Our class mates
Kind and true.
Though we've passed the furnace through,
With aching brow we'll tell to you,
How the teachers crammed it in,
Rammed it in, jammed it in,
Rubbed it in, clubbed it in,
When our heads were hollow,
Hoaxed it in, coaxed it in,
Foiled it in, and held it in,
And still there's more to follow!

THANKS TO MRS. BARTLETT

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society met Monday, May 14th, in the regular business meeting. Mrs. Tom Hays read the devotional and Mrs. L. H. Fry favored us with a solo.

The Society has adopted a little 13 year old girl at the orphanage and most of her summer wardrobe was donated at this meeting.
On Monday, May 21, the Bible Study Class completed the study of the "Bible, Its Origin and Growth." This was a most interesting course and we appreciate and thank Mrs. C. B. Verner for presenting the book in such a splendid manner.
It was decided at the Business Meeting that the Society would have an original Hat Parade on Tuesday, May 29, in the Church basement. All members are urged to come and bring two guests. The hats are to be brought wrapped and sold sight unseen for 15 cents each. Then the parade and the fun begins. There will be an appropriate prize for the best trimmed hat. Come and enjoy a good laugh.

Make This 25c Test
It is as valuable to the bladder as castor oil to the bowels. Flushes out impurities and excess acids which cause the irritation resulting in getting up nights, burning, frequent desire, leg pains and backache. On account of the alcohol in gin use juniper oil from which gin is made. Ask for Buketa, the bladder laxative also containing Buchu leaves, etc. after four days, if not pleased your druggist will return your 25c. You are bound to sleep better after this flushing.

MISS MARY ALICE MITCHELL, HONORED WITH PARTY

A supper party May 20, 1934, honoring Miss Mary Alice Mitchell on her birthday, proved to be a most enjoyable event.

Carrying out the pink and green color scheme, the reception rooms of the Mitchell home were beautifully decorated in Pink Radiance roses.

Corsages of sweet peas marked the places where the sixteen guests were served.

At the appropriate time, Miss Lenora Golston and Miss Evelyn Kirkpatrick, who assisted in entertaining, presented the honoree with a beautiful birthday cake, which was embossed in a design of pink and green roses, and bearing nineteen pink and green candles.

Humorous fortunes were revealed as each guest sliced a piece of cake. Several contests and a stunt program in which outstanding characters were impersonated by the guests, furnished much merriment. Those enjoying this happy birthday party were Misses Mary Alice Mitchell, Maurice Kirkpatrick, Susan McDermott, Annie Stiles, Besse Evans, Thelma Lowe, Louise Wilsford, Mary Oakes, Lenora Golston, Evelyn Kirkpatrick; Messrs. Buster Turner, Max DuBois, Jewel Hill, Billy Barnes, John E. Smith, Scott Wallace, Tommie Starnes, Jack DuBois and William Mitchell.

HARVEST TIME HAS ARRIVED

Farmers are now preparing to harvest one of the largest grain crops they have harvested in several years. The first harvester we found in operation was on the Hill farm a short way west of town last Friday. Several crops have been put in the shock by this time, and a bountiful harvest is now just about ready for the machines.

The wheat crop has made considerable improvement in these parts during the past two or three weeks. Rust was reported in the wheat fields until recently, but it seems to have abated some, and the wheat is reported very good, better than usual for this section.

Wheat in the main growing wheat belts is reported from short to nothing due to drouth and unfavorable conditions. God Almighty seems to be helping the secretary of Agriculture reduce the wheat production by greatly impairing the production in the main wheat growing belts. Oats are doing their stuff, and a large crop will soon be harvested if no calamity overtakes the crop before the harvest. Better prices are also in prospect this year than has been paid in two or more seasons.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Terry of Forney were here first of the week on a short business visit. Mrs. Terry is remembered here as Mrs. Comer Blue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hobbs of Waco spent the week-end at Abilene and here visiting with relatives.

Look for Better Flavor With Electric Cooking
You wouldn't believe that Electric Cooking could make so much difference in flavor! Meats and vegetables cook to melting tenderness in their own juices—with the addition of practically no water. And in the electric oven the heat rapidly sears, roasts, and prevents excessive shrinkage. Baked foods are deliciously and uniformly browned. Grilled steak has the flavor of charcoal broiling! Electric Cooking retains so much more of the nourishing elements of the food that you can actually buy less meat or vegetables and still have just as much to put upon the table!
Electric ranges cook food with a speed and economy which compare favorably with any other kind of fuel! Let us demonstrate our new ranges. Of course, there is no obligation—and attractive terms can be arranged.
This is the "Electrical Age." A Hotpoint range will be another step to your All-Electric Kitchen.

Whon News

Rev. Edwin Wilson of Lometa, former pastor of the Whon Baptist Church, delivered the commencement address for the High School graduates Friday night. Diplomas were awarded to Hope Turney, Marrie Zue Featherston, Lorene Carter, Irene Avants, Rohma Knox, and Zack Stewart.

A program by the pupils of Misses Harper, Cordray, and McIver was presented on Thursday night, and the High School students staged their play, "Poor Father," Saturday night.

The Trickham baseball team failed to show up for its game with Whon Sunday afternoon, but the local team got to play a game anyway, with a number of stars from Whon, Rockwood, and the Barnes Ranch furnishing the opposition. Whon won the game, but nobody was able to keep track of the score. The feature of the game was Mighty Beans Radle's home run, which went nearly to the Sid Knox house, about a mile from home plate.

Rev. Alvin Johnson, pastor of the local Baptist Church, is resigning his position in order that he can move to other work at Llano.

Carroll Kingsbury of the Whon route was in Sweetwater last week, where he sold a bull through the Hereford Association auction.

The Gill Ranch made its first Mississippi sale of bulls for this year this week when ten head were sold to go to Vicksburg. This bunch of bulls were a little shorter ages than are usually sold East, but the local demand for breeding stuff has been good enough this Spring that there has been little on hand older than short yearlings.

E. W. and Charlie Gill returned Monday from Normangee, where they delivered ten bulls and two heifers to East Texas customers.

COWBOYS VOTED THEIR FOMIES IN FIRST ELECTION HELD IN CONCHO

By Gus Barr

MILLERSVIEW, May 17.—Voting in the first election ever held in Concho County is a distinction held by Ben Polk, 80, of Salt Gap, who says there were so few people here when the county was organized that cowboys placed the name of their favorite cow horse on the ticket so that there would be enough names for each qualified office to have a candidate.

Mr. Polk came to this country 58 years ago from Johnson county with a herd of Westbrock cattle. He was looking for a place to settle. His trail is marked with brief stops at the Brown settlement (now Brownwood), the Waldrip settlement and the Coffee settlement on the Colorado River. None of the aforementioned settlements boasted more than two or three families. Concho County was a fenceless range as was all the surrounding country at that time. Only cowboys camped up and down the river.

No Indians Roamed Country

According to Uncle Ben, antelope roamed the country by the thousands. But Indians, "Hell, no!" he says, "there wasn't but one bunch of Indians ever come into this country all the time that I have been here and that was when a band of them 'dopped down on Old Joe Wrim's outfit at Salt Gap, killed a Mexican rider and stole about 75 head of good horses."

Mr. Polk well remembers the organization of Concho County. "It was carved from Coleman in 1879," he avers, "and danged if we didn't have to recruit people from other places to serve in the offices. Old John Clamplit was elected sheriff and he wouldn't have it so we had to get a fellow from Brady by the name of Bates to take the job. Joe Starks was the first county clerk. He had his office under a tent stretched over a mesquite tree."

Mr. Polk married in 1879. Soon afterward he came to this vicinity and erected the first building between the present town of Eden and the Concho river; a one room cabin about three miles south of the present town site.

Moved to Millersview Area

A man from Kentucky by name of John Scott bought him out so he moved north toward what is now Millersview, and erected another abode. A while later he sold his second holdings to Ed Miller for whom Millersview was named. Polk was living near the river when the flood of 1882 demolished the embryonic San Angelo. It is said one sheep raiser of the upper Angelo country lost 6000 in the rise. Uncle Ben is bedamned if he didn't see 5000 of them come down the stream.

Uncle Ben is loud in his praise of the early settlers of the Concho country. "Best dam people you ever saw," he declares.

"Killings?" "Naw, everybody was peaceful. However, they did have to shoot a man to start the grave yard at Paint Rock. By God, I can prove it; go ask old shoemaker Ford, another old timer who lives at Paint Rock." Yes sir, I'll stack the people of the early days up against 'em anywhere and you won't find no better people. They came from everywhere here and weren't suspicious of each other the least, even tho' half of 'em were living under assumed names."

Assisted in Development

Mr. Polk assisted in many ways in the early development of the county. He assisted in the building of the second school in the section which was located on Mustang Creek about five miles northeast of present day Millersview. The first school building was erected on the old Mac Gattlin ranch near the Concho river in 1878, on what is now the Lem Christwell place. Mrs. Capleton was the teacher.

According to Polk the country wasn't long in filling up. Sheep were brought in fast. "The cattle men took that pretty hard," he says, "then came fences and following that the wire cutters. There is some of the patched up portions of the very first fence still in use on a farm two miles east of town."

Early Fencers Had Trouble

The early fencers had a time keeping their wire up. For a time the famous O & H Triangle outfit employed night-riders to patrol the fences. "Cowboys cut that fence just for spite then," Uncle Ben says, "and didn't let up either, until they took off the riders and quit trying so darn hard to keep it up."

Some people condemn the fence cutters, according to Uncle Ben, and others upheld their

My Home Town

(The following oration was delivered by William Mitchell, before the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention, Tuesday, May 15, at San Angelo).

"Mr. Chairman, Honorable Judges, Ladies and Gentlemen: Almost in the center of this grand old state of Texas is located my home town, Santa Anna.

Extending across the north, twin mountains form a background of scenic beauty that no other town in Texas can boast of.

Thrilling stories are told of how the Indians used these mountains as a fortress, and as you can see for more than fifty miles from their summit, they used them as their lookout and signaling station. Santana, a brave Indian chief, was leader of one of these tribes, and it is from him that the mountains and the thriving little city of 2,000 population, gets its name.

Santa Anna has a trade territory of about 450 square miles. These fertile fields and green pastures makes it a marketing center. Located on the Santa Fe railroad and three main highways, makes it an ideal shipping point. On the average there are 16,000 bales of cotton, 150 cars of grain, 100 cars of live stock, and many thousands of dollars worth of poultry, eggs, cream, wool, and pecans marketed yearly.

The mountains contain an enormous deposit of white glass sand, which by chemical analysis, is the purest yet found in the world. We have a glass factory.... "The growing demand for bottles" makes the glass industry one of the biggest possibilities of MY HOME TOWN.

Many paying oil fields have been developed in this territory and natural gas in inexhaustible quantities not only supply Santa Anna, but surrounding towns.

At the base of one of the beautiful mountains is located the Sealy Hospital. Terraced lawns grace the campus of the three story building which has all modern equipment, such as the oxygen tent and the radio surgical unit. The Sealy Hospital is fully recognized by the American College of Surgeons, and is one of the forty-four hospitals in Texas that has a membership in the Great American Hospital Association. Connected with the Hospital is a training school for nurses which is fully accredited in all of its departments. In 1933 there were 1,078 patients. Of this number 626 were surgical, and there were over half a hundred babies born. The death rate of all these was only about 2 per cent. Many of these patients came from the vast territory covered by the Great West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Lake Santana, which covers about 85 acres, furnishes the town with an abundance of pure, fresh water. The reservoir being on the east mountain gives a natural water pressure of 90 pounds.

A Municipal building and fire station has recently been erected at a cost of $20,000. Here the legal affairs of the city are transacted, the Voluntary Fire department have club rooms, and the City Library is located.

We have ten churches. This fact shows that the religious life of our town has not been neglected.

Santa Anna is proud of her fine Public Schools. A new $100,000 building houses our High School of 250 students, 100 of whom come from the outside districts. It is fully accredited with the State department of Education in 28 1-2 units, and has full time teachers in Vocational Agriculture and Home Making. We compete with much larger Schools in Literary and Athletic activities, and have this year won both County and district All Round Championship in the Interscholastic League.

We offer a variety of recreational advantages, horseback riding, hunting, fishing, tennis, polo, golf and a picture show.

My Home Town has a cooperative spirit that is unexcelled. The people, having confidence in our government and the future of our city, have with the help of the NRA lifted our town out of the depression, and our citizens are united in the one object... PROGRESS.

Santa Anna is truly a city, with progressive business houses, paved and well lighted streets, good names and he doesn't know but what they were justified pretty often for there were hundreds of acres fenced by men who held no real claim on the land.

"What is wrong with the country today, and why isn't it as prosperous as then?"

Mr. Polk will tell you: "There are too dam many fences and too much 'cookeyed good cow country plowed under."
