Hospital Board Projects Tax At 25 To 30 Cents

Absentee Balloting Has Begun For June 29 Election

The election for the creation and operation of a hospital district under the provisions of Article IX, Section 9 of the Constitution of the State of Texas is set for June 29. Absent voting began Monday, June 10, at Mrs. J.A.B. Miller Library building in Coleman. (On the courthouse square). At the last meeting of the hospital board, it was the consensus of the Board that a tax rate of 25¢ to 30¢ per $100 valuation would need to be set the first year. An actual amount cannot yet be determined since Coleman County tax valuations have not yet been set.

Most of the loss at Overall-Morris Memorial Hospital comes from write-offs on Medicare and Medicaid that the government does not pay. This fiscal year deductions from revenue have averaged $49,000 per month.

Even though the ballot will state that the district may levy a maximum of 50¢ per $100, it is felt that the 25¢ to 30¢ per $100 will be sufficient the first year.

After stability for the local hospital has been established, it is hoped that the second year can be lowered with the recruitment of more physicians.

Board President, Dr. Mike Edington said, "The Board of Directors feels that OMMH is vital to the growth and development of our community. The Board feels that it is our civic and Christian duty to support our hospital and our medical community. The Board respectfully requests your input and your support."

The following is a chart for estimating your Coleman County Hospital District Tax at the projected 25-30 cents per $100 valuation if the measure passes on June 29.

If the taxable value of your property is:	Tax Rate	Your hospital tax is:
10,000.00	.25-.30	$25.00-$30.00
20,000.00	.25-.30	$50.00-$60.00
30,000.00	.25-.30	$75.00-$90.00
40,000.00	.25-.30	$100.00-$120.00
60,000.00	.25-.30	$150.00-$180.00
80,000.00	.25-.30	$200.00-$240.00
100,000.00	.25-.30	$250.00-$300.00

Cowboy Camp Meeting To Observe 25th Anniversary

A tremendous highlight in evangelism in the Lone Star State is the annual Cowboy Camp Meeting, founded a quarter of a century ago by the late George Havens. Held in the truest western tradition, this ten-day event has impacted hundreds of lives, as a blending of the old western frontier culture combined with the timeless message of the Gospel of Christ. This year's meeting will be no exception as the silver anniversary of the Cowboy camp meeting promises to be the greatest series of meetings ever.

In the days of the Old West, cowboys and their families would periodically come together for worship and fellowship under the stars in frontier style. There was nothing fancy or modern; just their wagons or buggies, a bonfire, a couple of "pickers 'n fiddlers," and lots of good Bible preachin'. In the spirit of this tradition, Cowboy Camp Meeting was born and will continue as did those great heroes of the faith who blazed trails of evangelism across the early American frontier.

Flying H. Acres, where the meeting is to take place, is located on Highway 84 between Santa Anna and Coleman, along the Great Western Cattle Trail. The world weary traveller is invited to join in the silver anniversary meeting June 21-30. You can bring campers, Nashville star/songwriter, Country Johnny Mathis, left, and Bill Thompson of DeSoto will be among those providing music for the Cowboy Camp Meeting.

tennis, bed rolls, lots of vittles, family and friends to this piece of American History. Chuck wagon suppers will be held each evening at 6:00 for the campers. People in the surrounding areas are invited to join in the suppers on the two Saturday evenings. You will also want to visit the actual Indian sites, tour the Pioneer Preacher's Museum, and view a marvelous display of original western art provided by nationally renowned artists such as Dale Stewart of Cisco, formerly of Coleman County; Terrall O'Brien from Lamesa; and Alan Kinney of Kerrville, also a native of Coleman County. These men are members of the Texas Cowboy's Artist's Association. The display of their work will be Thursday through Saturday of next week.

County Considering Ambulance Tax

It was standing room only for the June 10 meeting of the Coleman County Commissioners Court. The reason: local health care and ambulance services were on the published agenda. The 10 a.m. meeting recessed for lunch and did not adjourn until after 3 p.m.

The after lunch discussions focused on emergency ambulance service which is currently subsidized in the county budget at the rate of $60,000 annually. The county cannot continue that subsidy level, and the possibility is real that the cost will go up when the contract is let out for bid in August for another year.

The commissioners decided to continue to look into the possibility of seeking to establish an emergency medical service tax district. County Attorney Joe Dan LeMay was instructed to notify the cities of Coleman, Santa Anna and Novice that the county intends to call an election to set up such a district. According to Texas law, those cities have up to a maximum of 60 days to decide whether or not residents in their jurisdiction are to be included in the district.

If the councils vote not to be included, then the service would not be available and taxes to support the service would not be paid. Commissioners feel that ambulance service is a necessity and are hopeful that county, and city, residents will wish to pay for the service by saying "Yes" to the setting up of a district to provide it.

According to Ed Freeman who operates the Coleman Emergency Medical Service under contract with the county. "It costs $102,000 a year to operate the ambulance, and that is without purchasing any new equipment". The county currently pays over half of that total from general tax revenue. That, the commissioner's say, they cannot continue to pay.

If a district is approved, there would be a separate board to operate the ambulance service. The tax rate which is thought to be sufficient for subsidizing the operation would be .04 per $100 valuation. The plan is to have the election in conjunction with another election so that costs are kept to a minimum.

Dr. Donald D. Pope spoke to the court and the visitors at the beginning of the morning session. He explained the reasons why the Overall-Morris Hospital is needed, and why funding must be found to keep it operating. He said a large part of the money problem "...is Medicare reimbursements which keep every hospital from making a profit...each admission (of a person over 65) is a guaranteed loss because of Medicare - 10 percent of the population have 90 percent of the medical problems". He said, too: "Can you provide quality care in Coleman without a hospital? The answer is 'no'."

Dr. Pope was carefully questioned by others who attended the meeting. Among those visiting and speaking were: Alice G. Spillman, Gale Allen-Brock, Dorothy Eisenhower, Charlie Hunter, Norris Calk, Mike Calk, David S. Sooter and Ed Freeman.

In addition to all that financial "rain on the commissioner's parade", there was real rain, again inside the jail. County Sheriff Wade Turner said: "We measure rain in our jail by the gallon, not by the inch". Emergency repairs costing about $350 have been made and reduced rain coming in from the north side, but the south side still leaks, he said.

Marion Smith Roofing Co. of Brownwood has inspected the roof and made emergency repairs. Some of the problem is due to wind damage, and insurance company adjusters will be called in before complete repairs are made. Meanwhile, additional temporary repairs will be made to stop the leak on the south side of the jail.

And there is still the leak in the courthouse roof! Drains need to be installed to reduce the amount of standing water. The rains which come from the north still get into the courthouse walls especially in County Treasurer Barbara Freeman's office. The roofer will study this problem some more.

County Judge W. W. "Pete" Skelton had the not to be desired task of informing the commissioners that the West Central Texas Council of Governments had notified him that the county share in the required regional solid waste management plan was $326 for this initial year. There being no choice but to pay their share, the vote was unanimous to do so.

And in a similar no choice option, they decided to go along with the Texas Association of Counties on the Storm Water System Inter-Local Agreement which we reported was discussed at their last meeting. That "no choice" choice costs $500 for the first year. The initial survey forms were then distributed to the commissioners for completion.

Business As Usual For AMSTAR

According to a statement from Dorothy Eisenhower of AMSTAR EMS, Inc. of Santa Anna, owned by Mrs. Eisenhower and her husband, Jimmy, it is business as usual for them since they are appealing a decision made by the Texas EMS (Emergency Medical Services).

According to Vic Dwyer, Chief Investigator for Texas EMS, the decision rendered May 29 was in regard to a charge of "failure to respond to a call" with ambulance service in an incident occurring on June 22, 1990. A hearing was held in Austin in April, 1991. The May Services will be held twice daily, at 20:30 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. Bobby McMeans will again be camp director. This year's preachers will include Dr. Rick Ingle of Denton, Rev. Billy Ford of Brownwood, Rev. Harold Council of Paducah, Kentucky, Rev. Orbic Flat and Dr. Joe Price, both from Mesquite.

Musicians will include Bill and Jan Thompson of DeSoto, Suzy Hamblen of Hollywood, California and Keith Wells of Fort Worth, and Dr. Joe Price and Country Johnny Mathis, Nashville, Tenn.

Mathis had the No. 3 country song in the nation in 1964 and was voted the most promising male vocalist that same year. He was a star of the Louisiana Hayride for 9 years and also appeared on the Grand Old Opry. He has had songs recorded by Ray Price, Johnny Paycheck, Carl Smith, Debbie Reynolds, Faron Young, Webb Pierce, Charlie Pride,

29 decision on that charge was a 30 suspension of service. According to Mrs. Eisenhower they are appealing for a reversal. They have 20 days from the date of the decision to do so. Upon filing appeal they can, and will, operate their business as usual until any final resolution of the matter.

BLEST BE THE TIE THAT BINDS

Blest Be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love;
The fellowship of kindred minds
Is like that above.

—by John Fawcett

I recently came upon an article clipped from the Waco paper concerning the history of that beautiful hymn.

John Fawcett began, in 1763, serving as a pastor of two small churches at Wainsgate and Hebden Bridge in England. In 1771, he was invited to succeed another pastor who had died. After prayerful consideration, he consented to do so. However, some days later, even after he had packed some of his possessions in anticipation of the move to London, he decided not to go. His small salary at Wainsgate was inadequate for his growing family; and he asked his small congregation if they could raise his salary. However, they declined. But Fawcett decided to stay at Wainsgate and Hebden, and he pastored these two small churches for 54 years.

A story that may or may not be true associates Fawcett's writings of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" with his experience in the two small churches more than 200 years ago.

Fawcett, it seems, did more than minister, he established a boarding school, primarily to train young preachers, and in 1772, he published a collection of hymns to which he contributed 166 original hymns, most of which were written to be sung at the conclusion of his sermons.

In 1788 he published "Essay on Anger," which became such a favorite of King George III that the king offered to give Fawcett any benefit he desired. Fawcett, however, declined, saying he loved his own people in Wainsgate and Hebden Bridge, and God blessed his ministry among them. Fawcett claimed to need nothing that a ruling monarch could supply.

Many of our popular hymns today developed from the simple faith of their authors, just as this one did. And if we would listen to the words, we would find that they preach a sermon in themselves.

Sylvia Herring - Local Rep.

Dear Editor

In regard to the proposed property tax increase to support Overall-Morris Memorial Hospital in Coleman, Texas:

As a qualified voter in Coleman County, I wish to have all the facts of this matter before me in order to determine how my vote will be cast.

There are many rumors circulating and very little information that tells me the true facts.

Therefore, I am requesting that the trustees of Overall-Morris Memorial Hospital publish in our local newspaper a complete financial statement, including the Dietary Department, as well as a complete patient roster for the past five years. The patient roster should include the number of patients transferred to other facilities, as well as the emergency room roster and whether a doctor saw each patient. The financial statement should include all outstanding debts as well as losses incurred within the seven months preceding April of 1991.

An audit report for the past five years would be helpful to the voters.

In obtaining information, I have learned there are to be no deductions for citizens over 65 years of age.

They, too, will pay the full amount.

Is the agriculture land going to be taxed at the market value or taxed at the rate of what it can produce?

At present, as a property owner, I feel that I am being discriminated against if I am going to be heavily taxed for this, while my fellow voter who is not a property owner will pay no taxes if the proposal passes.

Respectfully yours,
Billie Wheatley

You Are Welcome To Voice Your Opinion Also

Thanks to Mrs. Wheatley for taking time to express her concerns. We encourage other citizens of the county to also express their opinions on the proposal for creating a hospital tax district in the June 29th election. Your opinions, pro or con, will be published as long as they meet this newspaper's policy for Letters to the Editor.

Library Notes

by Alice Anna Spillman
The summer reading program of the Santa Anna Library began Wednesday of this week.

Your involvement with your child this summer can make all the difference in whether the summer reading program is an exciting adventure or a frustrating disappointment. Here are some ideas from the Texas State Library to help you make this summer's reading program all it can and should be for your child.

* Help your child set a realistic book goal for the summer. Try to encourage a goal that will challenge the child but not so ambitious that book enjoyment becomes a chore or successful participation too great a challenge.

* Establish a regular time for reading in your home for all the members of the family.

* Offer to share stories at bedtime or as a dinner conversation.

* Show genuine interest in the stories or programs your child discovers during the summer.

* Appreciate all books the child selects, even the ones that look "too easy". Summer is a time for fun, after all, and you can always guide your child to a more challenging book the next time you visit the library.

* Read to your child. Even if children are able to read themselves, they still enjoy hearing good stories read to them.

* Read yourself! And make sure your child knows you enjoy reading. There is nothing like a good role model.

* Help your child attend special library programs. Many children appreciate going with friends. Your child might like to be able to invite a friend or two to attend also.

Thanks to Betty Bryan, "Duke" Still A Winner

by Polly Warnock

Betty Bryan is one of those people with untiring energy and lots of interests. I sometimes think my life is too busy, but after spending some time recently visiting with Betty, Mrs. Curtis Bryan of Rockwood, I find I am not busy at all. Just listening to her tell of the many projects she is constantly working on makes one feel exhausted.

But sometimes all that hard work pays off. Take for instance, the fact that she recently won a trophy and blue ribbon at the Southwest Ceramic Show in Dallas. Her entry, a replica doll of the late actor and patriot, John Wayne, won a first place blue ribbon in the sculpturing division from among 600 entries. This entitled her doll to be placed in contention for the "Best of the Show" trophy, which it won hands down from among all of the first place entries of the various divisions. There were over 3000 total entries in the show.

Betty not only cast the doll and did the painting and kiln firing but made her own mold by sculpting it herself from clay.

Betty's porcelain version of 'Duke' shows him to be authentically dressed in western attire, all made by the artist. She fashioned his jeans from denim taken from a pair of her dad's old jeans. Her dad being C.W. Hunter of Coleman. The jeans are complete with a leather patch on a back pocket, with the letters "B.B." engraved on it. The shirt the doll is wearing is of chambray material from one of her husband's shirts. The vest is made from the hide of a wild boar killed by her brother, Charlie Hunter, also of Coleman. She personally hand-tooled the leather saddle the doll is holding as well as the belt and holster he is wearing.

"Wayne's" clothing is complete down to the last detail. He is wearing red flannel "longjohns" also made by Mrs. Bryan, complete with the buttoned flap in the back.

This is by far not her first attempt at doll making. She has a large collection of her artwork. Because the Bryan's have run out of space for the full collection, many of her dolls have had to be moved to her daughter's home in Comanche where two granddaughters get to enjoy them. Many of our readers will remember their daughter, now Leann Boyd, a teacher in the Comanche schools.

Among the dolls she has made in the past are those of several of the early presidents and their wives, including the George Washingtons and the Abraham Lincolns. All their clothing is also very authentic looking and representative of the fashion of their day. Mrs. Bryan does intense research to make sure she is dressing her dolls in the style of the era. She even has a storage building full of special materials collected through the years to insure that she can be able to make the clothing she needs for her hobby.

Time was when she made specialty cakes for all sorts of occasions. Among the ones she is most proud is a 240 pound cake she made in 1965 for a Democratic Art show at the ranch of then Texas Governor John Connally. The cake took 175 hours to prepare. It was made in the shape of the map of Texas and the decorations depicted the advantages of the state ranging from cattle to oil wells to high fashion and fishing. The cake required more than 60 pounds of flour, 18 pounds of shortening, and one pound of salt. The frosting and decorations used more than 24 pounds of sugar. The cakes, however, have taken a back seat to her present day interests. When not sewing for her dolls, she is busy making "frilly" dresses for her two granddaughters, Bonnie and Jackie. Aside from all that Betty is, by profession, a maker of custom draperies.

Beef For Fathers Day

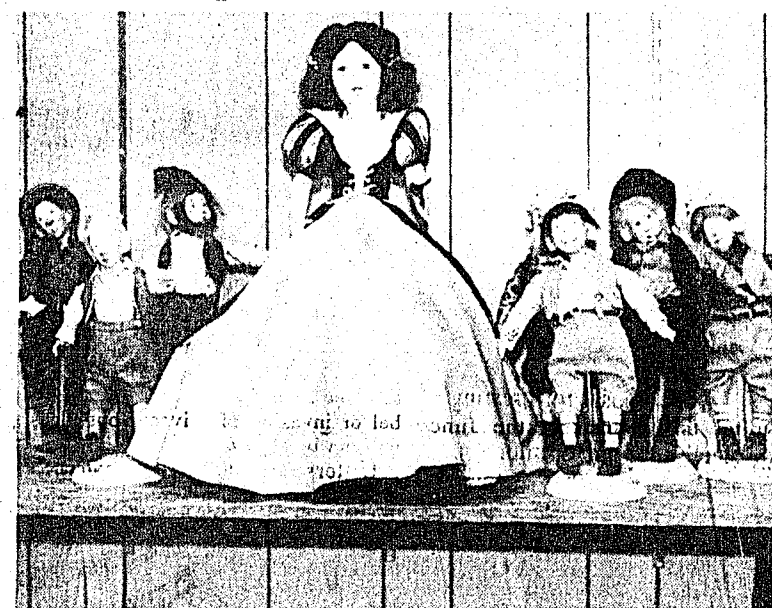

The Texas CattleWomen are promoting beef in general and a special emphasis on 'Beef for Father's Day'. Joining in the special promotion is the Circle C Cowbelles of Coleman County.

They remind you to remember Dad on that day with a beef meal. Its just around the corner, and lets face it, Dad already has everything he wants including a loving family that knows how to treat him right. On Father's Day, show him you really care by serving him a nutritious Beef meal. Most Dads prefer the taste of beef and that's not all—lean beef is low in calories and high in nutrients. It's a taste treat that fills many of the nutritional requirements of active, busy fathers. To let Dad know how you feel about him on Father's Day, serve him beef, say the Circle C ladies.

Chris Simmons

Simmons Is Recipient Of A.T.P.E. Scholarship

The Santa Anna News erroneously reported last week that Chris Bryce was recipient of a scholarship from Texas Association of Texas Professional Educators (A.T.P.E.), when, in fact, Chris Simmons is the 1991 graduate who received that scholarship. We apologize to both young men for this mistake.

Simmons, the son of Barbara Simmons and the late Earl Simmons, is the third ranking student in his class and plans to continue his education at Texas A&M University studying for a bachelors degree in civil engineering. Long range plans are also to work toward a masters degree.

Recycle Collection Center Moved

In order to have more space, the recycling drop off center has moved to a new location just across the street from where it has been situated. The collection center will now be located at Coleman County Telephone Cooperative warehouse, just to the back (east) of H & H Food Market. The warehouse yard faces the railroad track. The drop off containers will be just inside the gates of the fenced yard at the warehouse.

Maribee Pritchard and Lori Kernes are spearheading the recycling drop-off center. If you need to have someone pick up your recyclable items, please call in advance of the collection time which is 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays. There will be no phone available at the center. Mrs. Pritchard may be contacted at 348-3873. On weekdays you may contact Mrs. Kernes at 348-3101. Evenings and Saturday mornings before 9:00 call her at 348-3202.

The ladies are very pleased with the cooperation they have received with the project and encourage even more people to get involved in recycling for the benefit of our environment and of our community. The collected items have been picked up by a recycling center from Brownwood. All proceeds from the endeavor will go toward community improvement.

Acceptable items include newspapers, cardboard, paper grocery bags, aluminum beverage cans, food cans, aerosol cans, plastic containers with the numerals "1" or "2" stamped inside a triangle shaped recycling symbol on the bottom of the container. (Please rinse out any containers including cans).

The Foundation was founded for the primary purpose of conducting the world's first and largest privately financed research effort in the field of energy. The goal of the Foundation and WTU is not research alone, but also to broaden knowledge of energy science in the Texas schools and to heighten awareness of the privileges and responsibilities that scientific discovery presents.

There are over 1,000 accredited senior high schools in the state of Texas, and Santa Anna can be proud of their school for being chosen to send a teacher and student to the symposium.

AUGUST 10, 1991

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 42 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the newly created county education districts to hold elections to exempt from ad valorem taxation a percentage of the market value of the residence homestead of a married or unmarried adult. A brief report on the May homecoming at Rockwood Community Center is that it was a success with some 90 people attending the memorial service at the cemetery. A large group met at the center for lunch with Mrs. Fannie Bryan of San Angelo, age 96, the oldest and Katie Bloom, also of San Angelo, the youngest. Ewing Lovelady of

Friday Is Flag Day, Fly Your Flag Proudly; Here Are Some Tips For Displaying The Flag Properly

According to federal law, the flag of the United States should only be displayed from sunrise to sunset unless it is illuminated. The flag should be raised briskly and lowered ceremoniously. Here are some flag facts and other guidelines for displaying the flag.

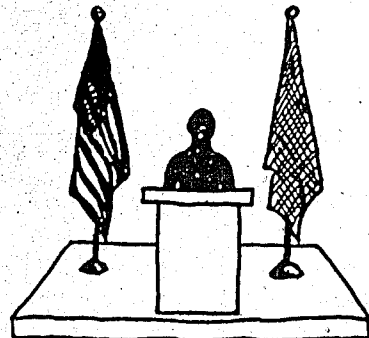

In grouped staffs, put U.S. flag in center at highest point. With crossed staffs, place U.S. flag on its own right, its staff on top.

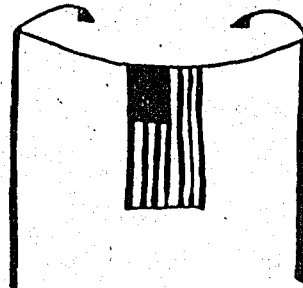

The U.S. flag should be flown above a state flag on the same staff. With other national flags on separate staffs, fly the U.S. flag to its own right.

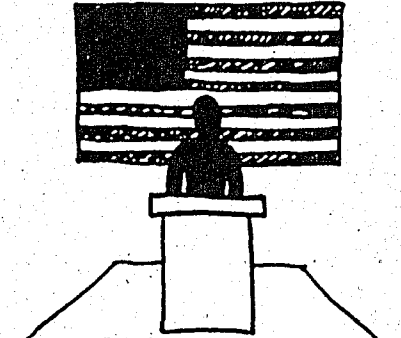

At half mast, the flag signifies mourning. Raise the flag briskly to the top of the staff then lower to half staff. Lower the flag after first raising it to the top of the staff.

In front of an audience, position the U.S. flag to the right of the speaker.

Over a street, suspend vertically with the canton to the north or east.

MONEY TALK

Kay Bailey Hutchison
TEXAS STATE TREASURER

With the close of the regular session of the 72nd Texas Legislature, I wanted to share with you and your readers some noteworthy legislative advances made by the State Treasury.

While state lawmakers must return to the Capitol for a summer special session to take care of important, unfinished business, the State Treasury fared exceptionally well with its legislative program during the just completed regular session.

Five measures, generated by the State Treasury, won passage during the regular session. This legislation will affect not only the State Treasury, but all Texas taxpayers as well. I credit your editorial support with much of our recent success.

The five measures include:

- Debt management legislation that would require future state bond proposals be phrased in "voter-friendly" terms. Under the so-called "truth in advertising" measure, Texas voters will decide in a Nov. 5 constitutional amendment election whether to require all future debt-authorizing measures be submitted in proposition form with full disclosure of purpose and amount of debt.

- Legislation that will strengthen the State Treasury's tobacco and cigarette tax enforcement efforts. The measure is aimed at helping to wipe out Texas' cigarette black market. It is expected to result in the collection of millions of dollars in potential tax revenue that has been lost to the black market.

- A bill that will require banks and other institutions to simultaneously report and remit unclaimed property to the State Treasury. This legislation is expected to pump an additional $2 million annually in interest earnings into state coffers, while also expediting the process in which Texans are reunited with their unclaimed money and property.

- Legislation allowing financial institutions holding state funds to pledge securities backed by mortgages against state deposits. This measure gives banks more collateral options with which to seek state depository contracts, thereby giving banks more funds to lend in their local communities.

- A bill that maintains the current statewide system of petty cash accounts for state agencies, giving local state agency officials more autonomy.

In another important step to better debt management, House Speaker Gib Lewis and Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock will appoint a joint legislative interim committee to closely examine debt issues and to make recommendations on debt policy to future legislatures. The State Treasury will work closely with the committee to give members recommendations on what Texas' debt capacity should be.

It is imperative that we plan, manage and coordinate future debt, while at the same time preserving and wisely applying our state's credit. I look forward to visiting with you this fall to discuss in detail the Nov. 5 constitutional amendment.

HPU BASKETBALL CAMP
BROWNWOOD—A basketball camp for players ages 7-18 runs July 7-12, with campers reporting to Veda Hodge Hall on Sunday, July 7. They can be picked up at 1 p.m. Friday, July 12 following the awards banquet.

Cost of the overnight camp is $180, which includes room, board, and insurance. The $90 fee for day campers includes two meals and insurance.

Emphasis will be placed on the fundamentals of passing, defense, shooting, ball-handling and team play. You must apply by June 17 with a $50 deposit. The remainder of the fee will be due 10 days prior to the start of the camp.

For more information call 646-2502.
