MISD Board Accepts Report, District and Campus Plan

Following a public hearing on the Academic Excellence Indicator System Report Monday night, the MISD Board of Trustees accepted the report as well as the District and Campus plans.

In March the Board of Trustees and the Administrative Staff attended a workshop to begin the process of developing goals and objectives for the district.

They reviewed the goals and objectives of the previous year. They evaluated the process being made and developed the initial draft of goals and objectives for the coming year.

The discussion continued throughout the rest of March, April and May at the site based committee meetings of the Board of Trustees.

Work had already begun on action plans as well as training for the staff in the disaggregation of test data to help them identify individual student needs.

Action plans were completed over the summer and were presented to the site board committee and District Forum at the beginning of the present school year.

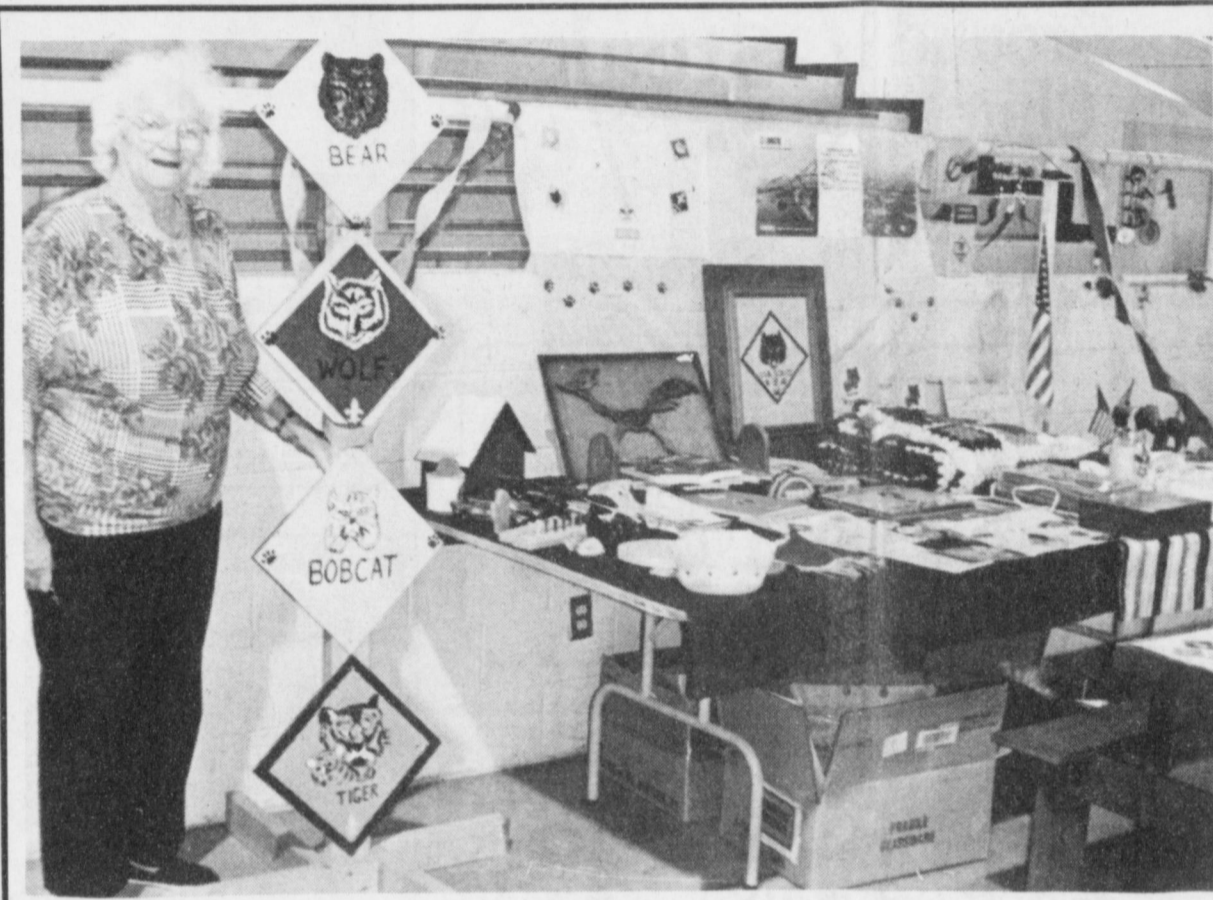

Principals from each of the four campuses were present to report on their individual plans.

In other action, the board set a public hearing, concerning a tax increase, for September 27 at 8 p.m. The board will propose a tax rate of $126, an increase of $.10.

The board also approved Policy Update 44 presented by TASB Policy Service.

The next item on the agenda was the Interlocal Agreement with the county. Superintendent Bill Moore said, "I discussed with Judge Cox the possibility of the county doing some work for us and the commissioners have agreed. This will be a good deal for both of us. The county will do some work for us and in exchange we will provide instruction for persons placed on probation."

When asked if those on probation would be placed in the classrooms Moore replied, "No, we will choose where and when the students will receive instruction." "This is one of our goals, working with other

Cooper Pirates Roll Past Mules 37 To 22

What started out to be a real good night for the Muleshoe Mules changed courses along the way. The Mules had a lot of trouble holding onto the ball. Lubbock Cooper Pirates defeated the Mules 37 to 22 on the Mules home field. Receiving the opening kick off, the Pirates put the ball into play on their own 30 yard line, but the Mules strong defense refused to let them move it. After three plays the Pirates were forced to punt to the Mules.

The Mules put the ball into play on their own 43 yard line. After picking up two first downs, Juan Jamie made it into the endzone on a 37 yard pass from Freddie Gonzales. The point after kick was good and with 5:16 left in the quarter the Mules led on the scoreboard 7-0.

On their next possession of the ball, the Pirates got their first first down, an automatic first down when the Mules were penalized. They picked up another first down before making it into the endzone on a 54 yard run. The point after kick was no good and the Mules led 7-6 over the Pirates at the end of the first quarter.

On their next possession of the ball, the Mules were unable to move the ball and were forced to punt it away.

Once again Lubbock Cooper made it into the endzone and after a two point conversion led 14-7 over the Mules.

The Pirates kicked to the Mules and with 7:14 left in the half, Lubbock Cooper intercepted a pass and carried it into the endzone. The point after kick was good, giving the Pirates a 21-7 lead over the Mules.

Neither team could move the ball the rest of the half and at halftime the Pirates led 21-7 over the Mules.

After halftime activities, the Pirates once more received the opening kick off. On their trek downfield, they picked up four first downs before making it into the endzone.

The point after kick was good and Lubbock Cooper led 28-14 on the scoreboard. The ball see sawed back and forth between the teams several more times, as neither team could move the ball.

With 5:39 left in the game, the Pirates got a touchback giving them a 30-14 lead over the Mules. With 3:18 left in the game, the Mules recovered a fumble on the Pirates 18 yard line. But the Pirates defense held them back and took

Closing Its Doors After Over 50 Years

After more than fifty years of business, Lenau Lumber is going out of business and closing its doors.

In 1940, Charles Lenau opened a new lumber yard in one of his cotton buildings located on the north side of the Santa Fe railroad tracks near the depot. According to Lenau, he sold several bills of lumber the first day of customer service.

The west warehouse, 70X150 feet size, was filled with racks and piled high with lumber. Shelves were also installed and filled with builders hardware.

Other stock customarily handled by such business, such as lime, cement, sand, brick tile, grain bins, stock troughs, etc. were installed.

The business office occupied one corner of the building.

Bill Garrett was the assistant manager when the business opened its doors.

Lenau converted the other warehouse into an auction barn, holding livestock sales at least once each week. Stock of all kinds were sold. About 50 pens were constructed just east of the sales barn for accommodation of stock brought for sale.

An office, sales ring, grand stand for accommodation of buyers and other guests, scales for stock weighing and a cae selling lunches and cold drinks for accommodation of visitors were all in the warehouse.

An auction will be held Wednesday and Thursday, September 22 and 23.

Old Surgery Better Than New

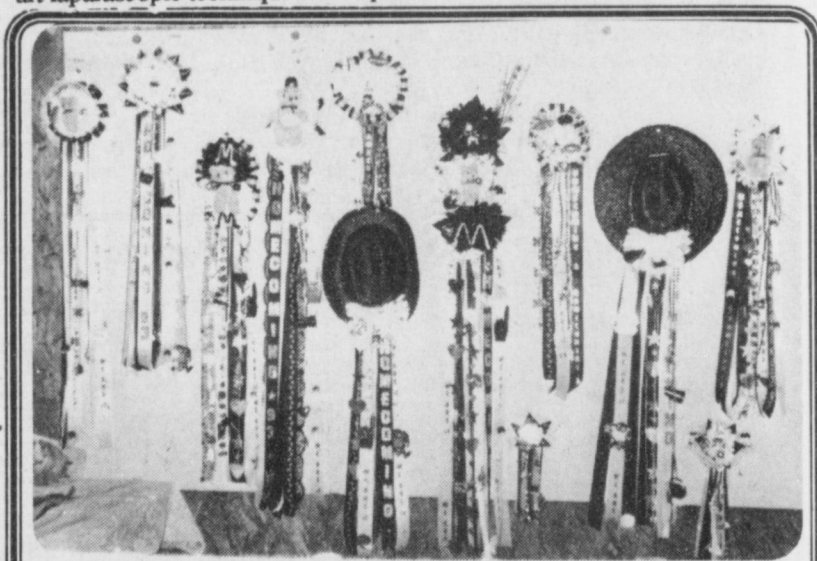

In treating infertility in men with testicular varicose veins, the old surgery is better than the new.

A recent study indicates the standard open varicocelectomy appears safer than the state of the art laparoscopic technique in removing varicose veins.

The study of 69 patients, those who underwent the open surgery experienced equal or faster recovery than those who were treated laparoscopically.

"We found no major differences in discomfort level after surgery," Lipshultz said.

Sherri LaShelle Bessire and Alan Blake Harrison exchanged wedding vows Saturday, August 21, 1993 at 6:00 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Muleshoe, Texas, with Dr. James Bell, officiating.

A Surprise Ending

"A man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho...."

Focus On Faith
Curtis Shelburne

That was his first mistake. The road from Jerusalem to Jericho wound its way through the rocky crags and bluffs which were served as homes for all manner of wildlife--some of it human. Lots of people made the trip, but rarely alone. The man's presence on the road alone at all was foolhardy. He paid dearly for his mistake.

Bushwhacked by robbers, bruised, bleeding, almost dead, the man now bears the signs of his meeting with a group of the human predators who worked the Jericho Road. He lies crumpled by the side of the road beaten senseless, without enough strength or consciousness even to cry for help. If ever a man was helpless, he is.

But wait! Here comes help! A man is rounding the bend in the road. Ah, look! A man of God! He'll help.

The priest walks on by--on the other side of the road, his robes trailing behind leaving nothing but a little cloud of holy dust. What's he thinking? Maybe the first century equivalent of this:

"I'd stop, but I must get on to God's house. I've got sermons and bulletin articles and counseling to do. Goodness knows I've seen enough benevolent cases this month! Besides, the wretched creature probably fell in a drunken stupor. A valuable lesson." He doesn't stop.

Oh, well, here comes a Levite, a man who was a helper to the priests. Surely, he'll help.

But the Levite also walks on by--on the other side of the road. Isn't he prominent in the synagogue? He strains to keep his eyes looking forward, but we know he has seen. He's seen the blood and the hurt, but, like the priest, he has chosen to ignore it. The sounds of his footsteps fade in the distance.

Will no one stop? Who's this? Can it be? This man is all wrong. Wrong church. Wrong ritual. Wrong race. All wrong. Except his heart. Who would have thought it? A walking contradiction in terms--a good Samaritan.

Do you know any?

Whooping Crane Migration Begins

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) expects about 145 endangered whooping cranes, including 13 to 15 young, to migrate south this September from their Canadian nesting grounds at Wood Buffalo National Park in the Northwest Territories, Canada. They will winter at near the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) on the Texas Gulf Coast north of Corpus Christi. Last fall, 136 birds, including 15 young, made it to Aransas NWR, with no losses during the winter.

The several week journey will take them through Alberta and Saskatchewan and midwestern states of North and South Dakota, Montana, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas. State and Federal wildlife officials ask anyone seeing a whooping crane this fall to report the time, place, and other details of the sighting to local wildlife officials. Adult whooping cranes are white with black wingtips and a red forehead. In flight, the bird's long neck is held straight forward, and long black legs extend beyond the tail. The adult's wingspan may be more than 7 feet, and when standing, the whooping crane may be as tall as 5 feet. Juveniles have white and rusty brown body feathers and black wingtips.

In April, the cranes migrated north to Canada—a 2,500 mile journey from the central Gulf Coast of Texas to their nesting grounds in the Northwest Territories. In June, Canadian and U.S. biologists counted 43 nesting pairs with 34 young. However, because of poor habitat conditions due to low water during the summer, chick survival rate was poor.

There are eight surviving adult whooping cranes remaining from an experimental population begun in 1975 which summers in Idaho and Wyoming and winters primarily in the middle Rio Grande Valley in central New Mexico. Late this September, in another experiment with the Rocky Mountain flock, four captive-produced chicks will be released with the wild adult whoopers in hopes they will migrate south with the adults and establish themselves in the flyway. Scientists hope that by not having these birds raised by sandhill foster parents (as the other introduced whoopers were) they will be more likely to reproduce. The whooping cranes in this flock normally pass through northeastern Utah and northern Colorado in September and remain for 4 to 6 weeks in the San Luis Valley near Monte Vista, Colorado. In early November, these whooping cranes migrate on to the middle Rio Grande Valley where they spend winter between Belen and Elephant Butte Reservoir.

Dr. Jim Lewis, National Whooping Crane Coordinator for the FWS in Albuquerque, noted "The whooping crane is fully protected under the Endangered Species Act. Hunters, photographers, farmers, and others are cautioned not to shoot or unduly disturb these birds. A whooper could easily be frightened into wires and other obstacles, or be disturbed from an important food and roosting site, especially critical during migration. When there are only a few of a species left, each of us must make a sincere effort to ensure its survival."

News From Congressman Larry Combest

Making Congress See The Light Of Day

The cobwebs are slowly being swept away in the musty old halls of Congress. The public may now be on the way to learning about whether their Member of congress does what he says when claiming support for a popular, but pent-up piece of legislation. By September 27, the House of Representatives must be allowed to vote on a change in its rules that have kept secret the names of congressmen who have signed what is known as a "Discharge Petition."

The Discharge Petition is a procedure that forces a debate and a vote by the full House on legislation that one of its committee chairmen attempts to keep bottled up. To discharge a bill from the grips of a committee and into the hands of voting members of Congress, the signatures of 218 of them must appear on the discharge petition. However, House Rules state that the names on a discharge petition must remain secret until all 218 signatures are on the petition.

Keeping the petition secret lets too many pay lip service to popular legislation, by telling constituents they support it so much they have signed a petition to discharge it from committee to a vote on the floor. Often, those who said they signed either had not, or had been strong-armed into removing their name when the number of signatures on the discharge petition threatened to force the bill from a chairman's grip.

I am one of the 218 who are using this discharge petition to force a public debate and vote on a rules change to make discharge petition signatures public record. Last week, we reached the magic 218 (a majority of the 435-member House). Congress had just returned from a month-long work schedule for meetings with their constituents who are fed up with how House Rules have been used to bully and

"We played better as a team," said Coach Donaldson. "Our kids feel more comfortable about what their assignments are and it really showed. It's a lot of fun when you're winning and we had a lot of fun."

The eighth grade team also played Lubbock Cooper. Neither team was able to score in the game.

"We play pretty well as a team," Coach Donaldson continued. "Our fundamental skills looked better in defense and our offensive line had a good night. We dropped some passes that killed our scoring drives. Penalties also cost us good field position several times. Our kids played real hard all night. They never quit on us. We were really proud of them."

stymie popular legislation. My signature was also among those last year forcing a Balanced Budget Amendment to a vote on the House floor. Although we got a Balanced Budget vote, big-spending liberal leaders twisted arms of just enough original cosponsors to defeat the proposed constitutional amendment. There have been only a handful of successful discharge petitions in the entire history of Congress.

Although legislative maneuvering might be attempted to water down this proposed rule change September 27, I will accept nothing less than pure sunshine penetrating the secrecy of the cobwebs of Congress.

The Way Of Life
Somehow it's easier to forgive an enemy after you get even with him.

Traveling With The Texas Angler

I've been fishing my entire life and have used some sort of hand protection so few times I can count them on one hand. Most freshwater fish aren't too bad, with the exception of catfish, but all saltwater fish have sharp teeth and fins. All fishermen handling these fish will eventually wind up with an injury to the hand.

There have been many different fish-gripping devices people have sent me throughout the years. Made from plastic, they hold the fish by the mouth with a grip much like pliers. Some of these gadgets work all right, but when you put them down, you tend to lose track of them.

The same is true with a glove. Many times I've seen deck hands scrambling around the boat trying to find their gloves while a bill fish is laying beside the boat waiting to be released.

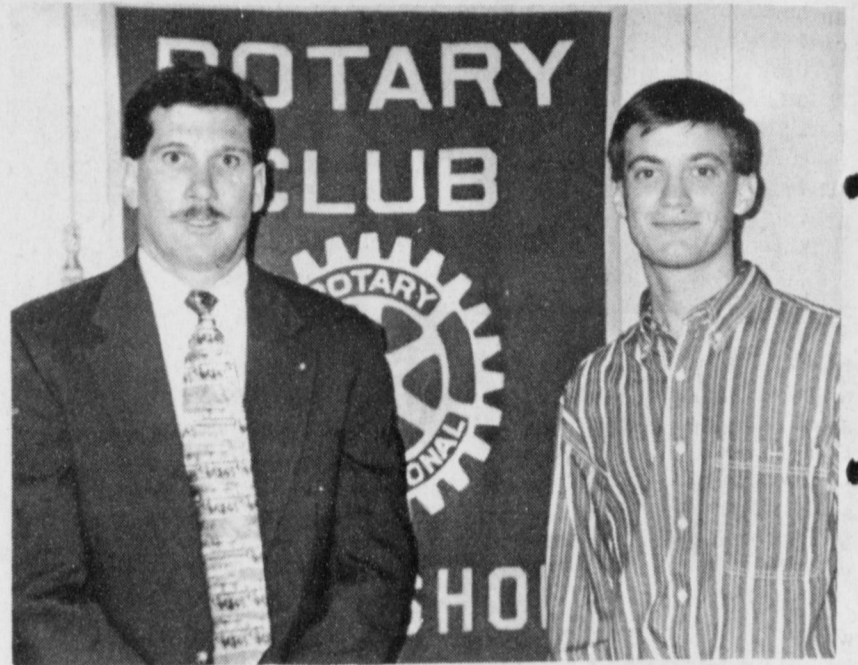

Well, now there is a new product out that eliminates misplacing of hand protection and works great. It's so simple that once you see it you'll ask yourself "why didn't I think of that?"

"The Grabber" which is manufactured by R.H.M. Enterprises in Houston helps protect hands from hooks, fins and teeth, and even leader wire. It is basically a heavy duty work glove that attaches to a velcro strap and hangs off your belt.

Available for both right handed and left handed people, this product is fantastic. "The Grabber" is easy to slide your hands in and easy to remove from the belt. Within seconds your hand is protected and you've landed the fish. Plus, when you're through, it goes right back on your belt until you need it again.

This notice is required by the Texas Legislature.

*The percentage increase shown in the first paragraph below may appear unusually high because it does not reflect 1992 taxes levied by the now-abolished county education district (CED). In 1992, the CED levied a portion of the taxes used for school purposes, and the school district levied the remainder of school taxes. In 1993, school districts will levy all school taxes. For an explanation of the increase, attend the public hearing scheduled below or call your school district.

Notice of Public Hearing on Tax Increase

The Muleshoe I.S.D. will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1992 by 193.98 percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on September 27, 1993 at 8:00p.m. at 514 W. Ave. G, Muleshoe, TX

FOR the proposal: Cindy Purdy, Sam Harlan, Curtis Shelburne, Max King, Edwin Cox, Frank Saldaña, Arnold Price.

AGAINST the proposal: none

PRESENT and not voting: none

ABSENT: none

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on September 5, 1993. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	(Optional) Last Year County Education District	Last Year School District	This Year School District
Average home value	$ 40,000	$ 40,000	$ 40,000
General exemptions available (amounts available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	$ 13,000	$ 5,000	$ 5,000
Average taxable value	$ 27,000	$ 35,000	$ 35,000
Tax rate	$ 0.74/$100	0.4185/$100	1.2600/$100 (proposed)
Tax	$ 199.80	$ 146.47	$ 441.00 (proposed)
(Optional) Total 1992 School Taxes	$ 346.27	(Optional) Total 1993 School Taxes	$ 441.00 (proposed)

(School districts publishing optional information must publish the following:)

This paragraph compares last year's CED and school district taxes with this year's proposed school district taxes:

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 94.73 or 27.3572 percent compared with last year's total school taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would increase by $ 0.1015 per $100 of taxable value or 8.7613 percent compared to last year's total school tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

(All school districts must publish the following:)

This paragraph compares last year's school district tax with this year's proposed school district taxes:

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 294.53 or 201.0855 percent compared with last year's school district taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the school district tax rate would increase by $ 0.8415 per $100 of taxable value or 201.0752 percent compared to last year's school district tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

Notice of Clarification of Tax Rate Increase

The adjoining notice states that Muleshoe I.S.D. will increase taxes by 201%. This is confusing and misleading. As it says at the top of the notice, this percentage increase does not reflect 1992 taxes by the now-abolished county education district. In 1992, the C.E.D. levied a portion of the taxes for school purposes, and the school district levied the remainder of the taxes. In 1993, school districts will levy all school taxes. The 1991 & 1992 C.E.D. taxes are still due and payable at the Bailey County Appraisal District office.

Listed below are the tax rates and percentage increases for the two years preceding formation of the C.E.D.'s through the proposed rate this year.

SCHOOL YEAR	TAX RATE	% INCREASE
1989-90	M.I.S.D. - $1.01
1990-91	M.I.S.D. - $1.09	7.9%
1991-92	M.I.S.D. - $.39 C.E.D. #5 - $.70 TOTAL - $1.09	0%
1992-93	M.I.S.D. - $.4185 C.E.D. #5 - $.74 TOTAL - $1.1585	6.2%
1993-94	M.I.S.D. - $1.26 (Proposed)	8.8%

National Farm Safety, Health Week Observed

September 19-25, marks the 50th anniversary of the observance of National Farm Safety and Health Week, with emphasis on child, tractor, and chemical safety.

The majority of accidents resulting in serious injury or death to farmers, ranchers, family members, and agricultural workers are preventable. Combining advances in engineering with educational initiatives, levels of accidents, injuries, and deaths on America's farms and ranches can be reduced.

The 1993 theme, "Safety and Health...Agriculture's Future," promotes the idea that everyone in America should be concerned about agricultural production and its strength in the global arena. Every farmer and rancher in the United States now feeds almost 100 people. With advances of emerging technology, they may expand that capability in the future.

During this week, citizens of Texas should pause and recognize the contributions our farmers and ranchers make each day toward strengthening the welfare of this nation.

Their emotional, economic, and environmental hardships should not go unnoticed.

Texas Safety Association, Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, the Texas Farm Bureau, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and, the Texas Department of Agriculture join the National Safety Council and other organizations in recognizing all those involved in American agriculture, with a special focus on the safety specialists and those farms and ranches working with them to create a safer farm community.

Bailey County Judge Marilyn Cox has proclaimed September 19-25 as Farm and Ranch Safety and Health Week in Bailey County at the request of Donald Puckett, Bailey County Farm Bureau president.

Everyone is encouraged to protect themselves and others by making safety a part of every activity-on the job, at home, at leisure and on the road.

Machines are replaceable if damaged or destroyed in an accident. But, that's not true for people. You should protect yourself and others by knowing how to prevent farm injuries and illnesses. Read and follow instructions in manuals and on labels. Note safety and health articles in magazines and newspapers. Read booklets on the subject and pay attention to safety reminders on Radio/TV.

But, just knowing isn't enough-you must act on that knowledge to reduce risk of costly injury and illness.

Protect by inspecting all equipment and facilities for hazards. Then, correct them without delay.

Bivins To Study Home Equity Lending

Lt. Governor Bob Bullock announced the appointment of Sen. Teel Bivins to an interim committee studying home equity lending.

"Senator Bivins is uniquely qualified to study this complex and far-reaching issue that affects anyone who owns a home in Texas," Bullock said. "I am confident he will do an outstanding job."

During several Legislative Sessions, lawmakers have considered modifying the Texas Constitution and state laws which prohibit so-called home equity lending, the ability to use a homestead as collateral on a loan.

Other states allow homeowners to use their property to secure loans. Texas does not. Legislators have repeatedly debated the wisdom of home equity lending and its overall economic impact. Bullock asked the interim committee--which includes Senators John Montford (D-Lubbock) and Judith Zaffirini (D-Laredo) -- to study the feasibility, desirability and economic benefits of home equity lending and put the results of their work in a final report for the next Legislative Session that begins in January 1995.

The report may include recommendations for modifying Texas laws relating to homesteads.

Here's another necessity for your apartment.

If you are living in an apartment or duplex, this may be the first opportunity you've had to experience the terrific benefits of having natural gas in your home. You will find that for heating your home during cold weather, economy, and efficiency.

for hot water, or for cooking, nothing beats natural gas for convenience, economy, and efficiency.

With cooler temperatures just around the corner, here are a few reminders from your friends at Energas Company on the safe and responsible use of natural gas where you live.

Your furnace needs an annual check-up.

Your natural gas furnace has been sitting quietly all summer, waiting for the time it's really needed. And like anything that's been idle a while, your furnace needs a checkup before it starts back to work. You may want to check with your landlord or apartment manager about arranging for an annual inspection by a qualified professional heating contractor. Once it's been inspected, your furnace should require very little attention the rest of the winter.

A closet isn't always a closet.

Your water heater or furnace is probably in a closet all by itself. And that's the way it should stay. As tempting as it may be, don't use the space around a water heater or furnace for storage. Even if these major appliances sit in the open, the space around them should be kept clear to insure adequate air circulation.

If you smell gas.

We hope that you will never have to deal with a gas leak. If you do smell gas, day or night, exit the building then call your local Energas office immediately. Do not flip light switches or use any other electrical equipment. Do not light a match or a candle. Do not try to find the leak yourself.

For more information.

Get a free folder from your landlord or apartment manager. Or call your local Energas office.

Natural gas is the best energy you can have in West Texas for any home heating job. Just set your thermostat, and have a great winter!

There's Always Been One Good Way To Insure Your Crop Investment. Now There Are Two.

Ask your local crop insurance agent about this year's new Group Risk Plan (GRP).

It's a pilot program being offered in selected counties and it provides an alternative to conventional Multiple Peril Crop Insurance policies.

It could be just right for you.

The cost is low.

The dollar amount of protection is high.

Production guarantees and indemnity payments are based on the county average yield rather than individual farm yields.

There's almost no paperwork and you don't need yield records.

Although GRP may not be for everyone, it's definitely worth looking into.

Get the facts from your local crop insurance agent.

But do it soon because the deadline to apply is rapidly approaching.

The STRENGTH of a Nation . . .

At this time, our thoughts are turned to our nation and the war that was fought to bring freedom to our land. Pictured here is a monument to the leader of our people at that time. The people were willing to give their lives that we might be free from tyranny, and have the right to worship as we please. God was with us then as he was with the children of Israel when Moses led them from Egypt. Upon receiving their freedom they sang . . . "The Lord is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation: he is my God, and I will prepare him an habitation; my father's God, and I will exalt him." Exodus 15:2

Help keep our Nation strong by relying on the strength of the Lord. Attend Church Regularly.

EVERY ONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERY ONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
