at Prophecy Speaks The Past Week

"The Sabbath Man Made, was the title of the lecture at Prophecy Speaks, Friday, May 28 Pastor Lyndon De Witt pointed out the various steps in the change of God's Sabbath to Sunday, It was stated that Sunday never was kept as a sacred day by anyone but heathen and sun worshippers until the first decree issued by Constantine the Great on March 7, 321 A. D. Step by step, through persecution and propaganda, Sunday became accepted by the state church and enforced by their laws, until today it is well nigh universarilly reverenced. No Bible texts in any way state that the 1st day of the week was kept by either Christ or any apostles, and as Sunday worship came into being many years after the New Testament was completed, its observance is not mentioned in the Bible, Pastor De Witt stated.

Sunday afternoon and night, Paster De Witt spoke on "The Mark of the Beast." After a detailed study of Rev. 13, it was discovered who the beast was. This beast power claims as their basis of authority the ability to change God's law at will, and Vacation Bible School Buried Here Saturday they claim that this is the Mark of their Power. Great, say they, that there power is, since they have done away with one of God's commandments. De Witt the First Baptist Church, and Texas, a former Santa Annan pointed out that in contrast to nounces their Vacation Bible and a graduate of the Santa Annan sign. Welfare Center R. T. Rountree, 65, resident of Expresses Thanks For Contributions

Members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church visited most of the local homes Saturday evening, soliciting clothing and other articles for the Welfare Center. Pastor Lyndon De Witt reports a very successful drive, and expresses "thanks" to those who have contributed. The Welfare Center is located at 605! Wallis Ave., next door to the Santa Anna News office.

Many expressed regrets tha they did not have time to collect their things to give, but desired to give some of their old clothing, bedding, etc. Those who wish to contribute in the future are invited to do so, by calling the leader of the Welfare Center, at 122, or by leav ing things at the Santa Anna News office, in event that the Welfare Center is not open.

The Welfare Center stands ready to serve all who are in need, regardless of church affiliation. Any one that is known to be in need is asked to contact the Welfare Center.

the idea of storing wheat on the ground. At that time, he led a one-man crusade to get his ideas approved.

Elevator operators claimed that storage space for government loans for the 1949 crop was not available. After the harvest rush began, some farmers were forced to sell at prices far below

Hammond appealed directly to President Truman, and the following day the government for wheat stored in the open. Elevators immediately opened their bins to farmers, and very little, if any, wheat was actually piled on the ground.

The government approved emergency loans for on-the-ground storage least year, but not until after the harvest had begun Wheat prices shot upward immediately after the announce-

Social Justice

Lesson for June 6, 1954

IS THE country prospering? Ask the Chamber of Commerce and they will give you a commercial answer, as you would expect. They will give you figures on the national income and the national debt; they will furnish you with statistics on farm prices and freight-car loadings and employment figures. If all these look gned then the C. of C. will tell you the country is sound and prosperous. Away back in the times of the Bible, in the administration of Jecoboam II, if there had been an Israelite Chamber d Commerce. Bey must have Commerce. been optimistic. even enthusiastic.

There was just one man, so far as we know, who did not see eye to eye with the optimists in Israel. His name was Amos and he-lived in the back districts as a hired man, perhaps as a migrant worker., He had had a good look at Israel from the seamy side, for his layer in the social cake was somewhere below the bottom. He is known to history as a prophet, but he did not claim that title for himself. The Lord spoke to me," he said, and that was enough. Perhaps the reason he did not care for the label of prophet is that he did not want to be mixed in people's minds with such Yes-men as King Ahab had gathered around him. But he believed and we believe that he had the mind of God, and that is what a prophet has. He went up to Bethel, one of the main cities of Israel, and there made some speeches that nobody liked.

He even got himself attacked as subversive. At all events, he brought what the leaders of Israel thought was a very sour note into the sweet chorus of prosperity.

What Is Happening to People? Amos looked at "prosperity" in another light, or we may say he measured prosperity with a different yardstick. Whether a country is on the up-and-up or on the down-and-down is not to be discovered by looking at dollar signs or counting freight cars. The real question is: What is happening to people? The first of all questions is: Which seems to you more important, people or property? If they both seem equally important, or if property seems even more important, then Amos would say you are certainly using the wrong yardstick. He looked over the naclasses of people, the poor and the rich. The poor went to jail for robbing the rich, but no one ever jailed the rich for robbing the poor. The rich were growing richer and the poor were growing poorer. This was not the worst of it, for in the process of becoming wealthy, the luxuryclasses of Israel were growing both softer and harder than they should be-softer by indulging in luxuries, harder by indifference to the troubles of the people at the bottom of the pile.

A Few Questions

"Social Justice" or its opposite, social injustice, is a big all-inclusive phrase. If you think it has nothing to do with religion, you have the Bible against you. Let us bring it down to cases, as Amos did. Is there social justice in your community, your state? Before you can answer that coverall question, you will have to break it down into particular questions. For example: Are there any second-class citizens in your community? Are the same jobs open to all, at the same wages or salary? If a man has to borrow money can he get it at a reasonable rate of interest or do the loan sharks run wild where you live? Are the responsible citizens of your community and state willing to be taxed for the benefit of better schools? Compare salaries paid in your state to horse trainers, with salaries paid to school teachers. Do horses seem to be rated higher than children? Does every child in your state have an adequate opportunity for an education, or are children penalized for being born in the coun-
