The tax situation in Texas is about as muddled as it is in Washington. The State Comptroller's Report for the month of January shows a deficit in the General Revenue Fund of almost $85 million, an increase of more than $10 million over the previous month. Just to glance at the situation, one might get the idea that Texas was broke, but such is not the case. Texas has hundreds of Special Funds, containing many millions of dollars. Some of the Special Funds are being used, but many of them contain many millions of dollars that apparently there is very little use for, and each year more and more money is put in these funds.

While all this is being done Texans are being told that the next session of the Legislature will have to raise something like $86 million additional dollars, just to keep up the running expenses of the government. Here is some food for thought for tax-paying citizens when you cast your ballots during the coming primaries and General Election. Most citizens realize our expenditures for government at all levels is out-running the economy, the population growth and other yardsticks. We must realize that we alone are the ones who can reverse this trend. It takes hard work and hard thinking, but it can be done. Think it over — it's your money the government is spending.

We noticed an article recently about the Arizona State Legislature being in session. During the first two weeks of the session 128 bills had been introduced in the House and 77 in the Senate, all on varied and sundry subjects, with none of them seeming to dominate the field. However, the general trend of the bills would tend to indicate their thinking is: (1) Make no effort to reduce state expenditures, (2) Increase taxes, particularly in the field of fees charged the general public, (3) Increase some of the high-bracket salaries, (4) Pour millions of dollars in the building programs of the state colleges and universities, (5) Curb the freedom of the average person by specific laws and amendments and by creating more boards and commissions to license, regulate and control, and (6) pay no attention to the Governor's appeal for economy and taxpayer relief.

Although our State Legislature is not in session at the present time, we can see a great similarity to the last session, with the exception of economy and taxpayer relief. Quite the opposite with our governor, it appears to me that if he stays in office much longer, the state taxes will be so high about all the industrial advantages the state has been known to have will have vanished.

But getting back to the national scene, which we should all take an interest in right now.

A sadly amusing short story appeared recently in the Lakeview, Oregon, Examiner-Tribune. Due to an error, a clerk was given a pay envelop containing a blank check. He moaned, "Just what I've been afraid of. My deductions have caught up with my salary."

As it happens the deductions haven't yet come to 100% of the salary, but they are moving steadily forward. As the Examiner-Tribune sees it, "There is no retreat in sight, all the Big Government planners grow more energetic in pushing ideas which call for more and more federal spending, consequently more and more federal taxes."

"Every time the government gets into business or industry, like TVA (or making rope), the government is crowding out some taxpaying individual or firm. And the more taxpayers who are crowded out of business or industry, the more the government must increase taxes on others."

"Because government programs do not pay taxes, they eat taxes."

The example put the case in the plainest forms possible. Even a small child can understand this. On the other hand, we are projecting government deeper and deeper into the affairs of the people at an ever-soaring cost. On the other hand, we permit government to absorb and destroy taxpaying enterprise. How long can tightening the thumbscrews of bureaucracy and socialism continue without squeezing out individual opportunity and freedom?

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

A lot of us got a little slip from our bank or someone telling us to pay tax on our dividends and interest this year. The tax folks know it's awful easy to forget a little dividend check or interest on a savings account. They want you to do a little re-collecting on these things come tax filing time. Guess we'll have to pay.

Soap and Water Still Best Beauty Aids

Ever had no need of a powder puff or a pot of rouge to catch Adam, but then she had no competition, either.

It's a far different story for her daughters, who spend more than $1.5 billion a year, according to World Book Encyclopedia, in their search for beauty, youth, and men.

This leap year they can even arm themselves with false eyebrows to match the deceptive eyelashes they've been fluttering.

It's just a slight improvement over Cleopatra, who probably would have gone down in history without any help from Antony because of her proficiency with paint.

The Egyptians were so concerned with their good looks that they wrote into the marriage contract the amount of beauty oils to be given a wife.

Maybe you do and maybe you don't bleach your hair. But the ladies thought nothing of it back in Juvenal's time, when Roman gentlemen preferred blondes.

The Greeks were among the first people to dye their hair. And they gave us the name for the art of improving on nature—cosmetics, meaning "skilled in decorating."

The English tried some "interior decorating" during the reign of Queen Elizabeth I. They tried to duplicate the queen's pale, bleak color by swallowing gravel, tallow and ashes.

The French, with their more discriminating palates, bled themselves to achieve the same effect during the period of the Revolution.

Fortunately the Food and Drug Administration and the medical profession have helped to stamp out some of the more ghastly recipes for beauty.

But the best beauty treatment is still soap and that urbane, chic liquid used by a French courtesan, to the horror of other women, in the 1500's — water.

A. Hefner Buried Here March 11

Band Uniforms Now Paid for; Drive Continues

Mrs. Add T. Walker, president of the Santa Anna Band Boosters organization, announced Tuesday the final payment has been made on the new uniforms purchased for the Santa Anna Band. The $4,500 purchase was made just over a year ago, and a continuous campaign has been underway since to get them paid for.

The Band Boosters wish to express a hearty "Thanks" to all who contributed in any way to the success of the campaign. There have been many who contributed money and time to the effort. A large number of former students of the Santa Anna Schools have also contributed to the fund.

As has been reported in several previous articles, the band is still in need of considerable funds to purchase more equipment and other uniforms. It is hoped the band will grow to a membership of about 65 in the next year or two, and as the band grows, more uniforms will be needed. There is also the prospect of having to purchase some uniforms for students that present uniforms cannot be altered to fit.

The band is also in need of about $2,000 more equipment included in this is new music stands, two new alto clarinets, a bass clarinet and a basson. The Band Boosters are going to continue their efforts to secure all the equipment the band needs.

New members the past few weeks in the organization are: Moore's Variety Store, Mrs. J. R. Gipson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McClellan, stationed with the Air Force in Germany.

Membership dues to the Band Boosters organization is 50 cents per year. Membership cards may be secured at the Band Hall, from band students or any member of the Band Boosters organization.

Your continued support of the band will be greatly appreciated.

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

DESPITE TIGHTLY-DRAWN lines and strong convictions, the current battle over an election year civil rights bill is tame compared with some historic debates on that subject in the past. Historians delving into old records report that the statesmen really got their dander up in the old days.

Feelings ran the highest 100 years ago, just before the war between the States. In 1860 Owen Lovejoy, Republican Congressman of Illinois, is said to have roamed the aisles of the House chamber, crossing over to the Democratic side, pointing his finger into the faces of Southern members with threats and challenges relating to the slavery issue.

Congressman Roger A. Pryor, a Virginia member, could take only so much. He ordered Lovejoy to get back on his side. At that point John S. Potter, a Wisconsin Republican, rushed to Lovejoy's side, and in a moment there was a bedlam of 30 to 40 milling legislators. Order was restored without bloodshed.

Later Rep. Martin Crawford of Georgia wrote of the episode:

"I never said a word, but quietly cocked my revolver in my pocket and took my position in the midst of the mob. I had made up my mind to sell my blood out at the highest possible price."

Later Pryor challenged Potter to a duel, asking him to choose the weapons. Potter accepted, choosing bowie knives. Pryor called this barbarous, and both parties settled by calling each other cowards.

The Senate was less tumultuous in those days. But one Senator, James Hammond of South Carolina, early in the 1860's said that "as everybody has a revolver, a general fight in one or the other House with great slaughter is always possible. No two nations on earth," he continued, "ever were more distinctly separate and hostile than we are here."

To most of us money is no object. It's a myth.

Most men will lend a hand much quicker than they will money.

2 TS&GRA Men To Washington For Hearing

San Angelo — Two representatives of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association are to go to Washington this month for the hearing on lamb and mutton imports before the U. S. Tariff Commission. The hearing is to be held March 22.

Jerry Puckett of Fort Stockton, a director of the TS&GRA, is to be one of the two, says L. M. Stephens of Lometa, TS&GRA president. The other remains to be selected.

Representatives of the National Wool Grower's Association and other western grower associations affiliated with the National are also to attend the hearings.

It is also expected that the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association, and probably the American National Cattlemen's Association, will have representatives at the hearings since cattlemen have expressed some concern over the possibility of more beef being imported into the U. S.

Imports of both frozen and live lamb from Australia have been on the increase and many growers feel these imports are definitely affecting the price of the domestic supply. They believe the domestic market will improve if imports are halted, or put on a quota basis.

TS&GRA directors have been urged through letters from the headquarters office here, to write their U. S. senators and representatives and explain the real situation and describe how these imports have affected the lamb and mutton trade in their particular areas.

DIET IS IMPORTANT TO OLDER FOLKS

Diet is one of the most important aspects of maintaining good health among aged persons, in the opinion of Dr. H. E. Smith, chief of preventive medicine at the State Department of Health. In general older persons require more protein in their diets and many need to increase their vitamin intake — especially vitamin C — abundant in citrus fruits.

Dr. Smith observed that getting older to eat enough at night is a major dietary problem. He said anyone caring for elderly persons should make sure their charges get a substantial evening meal.

Dr. Smith's comments were made amid growing State Health Department interest in the problem of elderly citizens.

Buy a License Before You Get Fishing Fever

Austin — "The fishing season is here, so get your 1960 fishing license before you get fishing fever," warns the director of law enforcement, Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Last month, 37 persons were charged with fishing without the required licenses. "Most of these probably were individuals who forgot about a license until they were already in the boat fishing," said the director.

According to the Commission's monthly report on game and fish violations, hunting contrary to the laws also ran high. A total of 70 persons were charged with illegally hunting at night. Some 29 were charged with hunting without resident licenses. Another 29 were charged with hunting in closed season, and 23 were filed on for hunting from an automobile.

Wardens arrested 19 persons for killing doves out of season, 5 for hunting on game preserves, 14 for headlighting animals, 13 for killing deer in closed season, 12 in possession of wild doe deer, 2 for killing curlew, and 10 persons were charged for polluting public water.

A total of 413 violations were reported in January. Of these, 39 were dismissed in court, 3 served time in jail, 8 appealed, one had his fine suspended and two were found not guilty.

Fines for the month amounted to $15,609.15 and court costs totaled $662.00, making $16,271.15 the amount paid by hunters and fishermen for game and fish violations in January.

HEALTH DEPT. OFFERS FREE LACTOBACILLI TEST

Since November, 1957, when lactobacilli counts were made available through the State Health Department laboratory to patients of all Texas dentists, over 4,100 tests have been made. The lactobacillus is a kind of bacteria associated with much of the decay of teeth.

When laboratory tests show a high lactobacilli count, a recommended sample diet list is mailed to the dentist along with the results of the test. It is a joint project of the Dental Health Division and the Laboratory Section of the State Health Department.

In caries-susceptible people, the count will ordinarily range in the amount of 50,000 lactobacilli per milliliter of saliva. Counts under 10,000 are considered to indicate caries immunity.

The method of taking saliva samples is simple. Only dentists may submit samples from patients. Kits for taking saliva swabs are available to dentists from the State Health Department.

TEXAS CATTLE UP 9%

It came as no surprise recently when the U. S. Department of Agriculture released its figures on livestock population at the beginning of 1960, showing that cattle on Texas ranges had increased by nine percent over early 1959.

The USDA inventory reported the total of all cattle in Texas as of Jan. 1, 1960, at 9,276,000 compared with 8,510,000 at the same time a year ago. This nine percent increase in population was nearly double the rate of the national increase, which amounted to about five percent.

It also came as no surprise when the USDA reported that the total value of all livestock — cattle, hogs, sheep, horses and mules, poultry — had gone down in spite of increased numbers in most categories. The total valuation at the start of 1960 was placed at $16,236,408,000 compared with $18,092,870,000 a year ago.

Nationally, the livestock and poultry population figures showed these comparisons: Cattle, 101,520,000 this year and 96,650,000 last year; milk cows, 21,331,000 and 21,488,000; hogs, 58,464,000 and 56,924,000; sheep, 33,621,000 and 32,945,000; horses and mules, 3,089,000 and 3,142,000; chickens, 368,859,000 and 333,529,000; and turkeys, 5,673,000 and 5,923,000. Horses and mules declined two percent, chickens fell off four percent in numbers, and dairy cows eased off one percent.

At the same time, the USDA estimated a sharp drop in value per head of livestock, as follows: Cattle, $136 this year and $153 last year; milk cows, $208 and $219; hogs, $16.50 and $20.30; horses and mules, $112 and $101; chickens, $1.05 and $1.26, and turkeys, $4.91 and $4.65. Only horses and mules and turkeys showed a slight increase in price.

Release of the figures reemphasized the attitude of most authorities in their outlook on the 1960 cattle market, which is that the time has arrived for caution in planning any further increases of the livestock population on Texas ranges. Good range conditions in general continue to encourage the trend toward taking full advantage of the conditions, but authorities agree that extreme care should be exercised before any further heavy expansion is developed.

Tornado Season Is Here Again; Safety Rules

It's that time of year again. The tornado season is here, and according to weather stations numerous tornadoes have already been predicted throughout the southwestern part of the United States.

It is very important to know what to do when a warning is sounded, or when a tornado is observed. It may mean the difference between life and death.

There is no universal protection against tornadoes except caves or underground excavations. When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave, or underground excavation which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. It should be kept fit for use, free from water, gas, or debris; and preferably equipped with pick and shovel.

If you are in open country:

1. Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.

2. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

If in a city or town:

1. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a steel reinforced building. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS!

2. In homes: The southwest corner of the lowest floor or in the basement offers greatest safety. People living in brick or stone houses should seek other shelter, preferably in a storm cellar or the basement of a frame house. If time permits, electricity and fuel lines should be shut off. Windows on the north and east sides of the house may also be opened to help reduce damage to the building.

3. Standing against the inside wall on a lower floor of an office building offers some protection.

If in schools:

1. In city areas: Especially if school building is of good steel reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on a lower floor. AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS!

2. In rural districts — remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

If in factories and industrial plants:

On receiving a tornado warning, a lookout should be posted to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for shutting off electrical circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant. Workers should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

Keep calm! It will not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slight. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should know about tornadoes though, "just in case."

Keep tuned to your radio station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your individual request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio stations for dissemination to thousands in the critical area.

9 of 10 Fatal Accidents Involve Moving Violations

Austin — Over 90 percent of fatal accidents on Texas highways involve a traffic violation for which a ticket could be issued — if the driver at fault is not a victim.

A study of Department of Public Safety traffic reports by the Association of Texas Fire and Casualty Companies shows that only one time in 12 is there no moving traffic violation in fatal rural accidents.

The Association's study found: In one-automobile fatal accidents, 84 percent involve traffic violations.

In fatal accidents involving two or more automobiles, statistical experience shows there are violations more than 99.5 percent of the time. In 81 percent of multiple-vehicle accidents only one driver is guilty of a ticketable offense.

In accidents which cause injury — but not deaths — traffic violations are involved in about 80 percent.

In non-injury accidents, 84 percent involve traffic violations.

On an overall basis, traffic violations are present in about 85 percent of all Texas rural traffic accidents, fatal or non-fatal.

WILDLIFE RABIES AHEAD OF DOMESTIC ANIMALS
Wildlife rabies is running two to one ahead of rabies among domestic animals, the State Department of Health record for February shows.

In February, there were 69 cases of rabies diagnosed in all animals. Only 17 of the 69 total were among dogs and cats.
The rabies picture in Texas has recently been taking on a new look. The present trend indicates a decline in the number of rabies in domestic pets, but a rise in the number of wildlife rabid animals.

Infected skunks and foxes were more numerous than the total of rabid dogs confirmed by the State Health Department laboratory during 1959. Livestock rabies has shown an increase also, probably due to exposure to wildlife.

Public health veterinarians point out that, numerically, there isn't a high enough immune pet population in Texas to prevent the spill-over of wildlife rabies into the dog and cat population.

Right now, three counties, Milam, Washington and Falls, have emergency rabies control programs in effect.

Mrs. T. C. Berry of Benbrook visited the latter part of last week with Mrs. C. F. Yancy and other relatives.

More Facts on New Pension Law for Vets

(First in a series of three articles)
A new pension law which will affect hundreds of thousands of veterans and their dependents goes into effect July 1.

This complex legislation changes the basic philosophy of non-service-connected pensions in many ways, the Veterans Administration reports.

All veterans of World War I, World War II and the Korean conflict and their dependents who qualify and begin to receive non-service pensions after June 30, will be under the new system.

Those already on the pension rolls on June 30, will not be affected, unless they choose to come under the new system.

They can make this choice at any time, but once the election is made, the pensioner can never revert to the old system, VA says.

The VA is now sending out information to veterans already receiving a pension which should help them determine which system will be best for them.

About March 1, these veterans received a form to fill out indicating their decision to transfer from the old system to the new.

This does not mean the decision must be made at once. It may be delayed and made anytime in the future, but once the veteran pensioner changes to the new system, he cannot return to the old system again.

It is important to note, VA explains, that those who wish to go under the new system on the effective date of July 1, should make their decisions as early as possible as the first checks under the new system will be mailed after August 1.

Those persons not now on the pension rolls because they were not eligible under the present system but who may find they will become eligible under the new system should contact the nearest VA representative or service representative.

The local representative can furnish information and assistance to those who wish to fill out application forms.

The new law does not affect benefits paid for service-connected disabilities and it does not affect service pensions paid to Indian War, Civil War and Spanish American War Veterans, VA says.

The new law does not basically change the eligibility requirements for pension paid to veterans. Ninety days active wartime service and honorable type discharge are required.

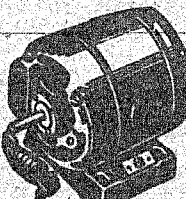

The veteran must also be permanently and totally disabled. The degree of disability may vary according to the age of the veteran. Generally, he must have a disability which at his age prevents him from getting regular, full time employment. This disability must be such that doctors do not expect it to improve materially.

VA said there are important changes in the income limits under the new system as well, as some changes in the methods employed to compute the pensioner's annual income. Under the new law, the veteran's estate or "worth" will become an eligibility factor.

Next: Income limitations.

Paint Away Those Kitchen Blues

When all is said and done, there's very little room for debate on the subject of just WHICH ROOM IS THE MOST IMPORTANT ROOM in the house—or in the apartment. Ninety-nine out of a hundred housewives agree that it's the kitchen.

Despite the introduction of stoves, dishwashers, refrigerators, and other wonders of this age—all designed to make kitchen chores easier—Mrs. America still spends more time in the kitchen than she does in any other room in the house. And not all of them are too happy about it—especially when they see a full color picture in a magazine of somebody else's dream kitchen—so cheerful and gay and bright by comparison.

If you happen to be one of these kitchen-depressives—because your kitchen is drab and colorless—there's a very simple cure: about twenty dollars worth of paint and enamel and other fixings, and a few hours of spare time. And with the new quick-drying, odorless paints, you won't have to miss the preparation of a single meal!

The first thing to do, of course, is to pick your color scheme. Here your choice is virtually unlimited. Your paint dealer offers the whole spectrum in enamels and paints and stands ready to mix almost any color you desire. The color selection in self-spraying enamels is a bit more limited.

Since you want all surfaces in the kitchen to be easily washable, gloss or semi-gloss enamel is the choice for walls. Areas that are frequently handled, like cabinet doors, refrigerator doors and the like will be even easier to take care of if you use a gloss. For the ceiling, a flat finish would be preferable to reduce the glare from reflected light.

Now that you've picked your colors, the next step is to wash away any dirt or grease that might be on the walls or other surfaces. You probably do that anyway a couple of times a year.

If there are cracks in the walls or nail holes in the woodwork and walls, fill them with water putty or spackling compound. When the patches dry, sand them smooth and spot prime with enamel undercoater that can be tinted with the color of the finish coat. Any areas of very high gloss still left should be roughed up a bit with 00 sandpaper or fine steel wool so that the new enamel will adhere better.

Your job will be easier if you remove hardware and light switchplates before you start painting. Otherwise, cover these areas with masking tape or vaseline. On the other hand, you may want to paint the hardware, too.

Now you're ready for the actual application of color. For large areas like walls and multiple cabinets, it is more economical to use the familiar brush-on, or roll-on enamels. If the walls and woodwork are being done in the same color and degree of gloss, then do the entire job at one time. But if they are of different color and different gloss, do the walls first; after they have dried, then the woodwork can be painted.

The refrigerators, and the exteriors of dishwashers, washing machines and dryers are seldom made of porcelain in this chemical age, so you'll have no trouble enameling them in the color of your choice. You may want to try one of the self-spraying enamels that comes in an aerosol can. They're easy to use and dry quickly, but be careful to mask the hardware and protect adjoining areas from the spray.

You'll find it easier to keep drawers and cabinet shelves clean if you enamel them, too. And don't forget the insides of cabinet doors. Here's your opportunity to mix your color schemes so that when the doors are open you have a pleasing contrast.

And now a word to the wise. Let's assume that you've redone your kitchen and it puts those ads in the magazine to shame. Surely you want to keep your new dream kitchen in tip-top shape for a long, long time. You can keep it that way if you'll give a little thought to the great unseen enemy of paint—an enemy better known as MOISTURE.

Moisture is not healthy for paint, and it's not healthy for any home interior. And of all the rooms in the house, the kitchen provides the most moisture.

Just what are the moisture producers? Well, here are a few that are found in the average kitchen, based on a family of four:

Dishwashing—a pint a day.
Steam from cooking—5 pints a day.
Clothes washer—5 pints a day.
Clothes drying indoors—20 pints a day.

One human being—a pint every four hours.

And there are other moisture producers. What's the answer? Proper ventilation will do the trick—but lacking that, an exhaust fan is an extremely good idea.

What A TV Set Cost 25 Years Ago

If someone complains that a television set costs more today than it did 25 years ago, you'd lift an eyebrow. A quarter-century back, there were no television sets to be had — at any price. The same logic applies to the statement that "prescriptions cost more today than they used to cost. The drugs you now get didn't even exist until recent years. So the benefit these drugs bring... the rapid cures, the lives saved... could not be bought at any price. That's why we say...

Mrs. Bessie Parker, Home Demonstration Agent, gave the highlights of two recent meetings at Ballinger which both agents attended.

The organization meeting was conducted by Mrs. Bonnie Cox. The Uniform Filing System was in charge of Dr. Dan Faustill. Mrs. Parker announced that 20 laides were present at the planning meeting for the course in Basic Clothing. She said four clothing workshops have been set up in the county. She asked provisions be made by county clubs for the demonstration on Electric Repair of Small Appliances. Mr. Don Hart will present this program, and ladies are asked to bring a small appliance which needs repair.

Miss Dora Ann Jones, assistant agent, reviewed past 4-H Club activities, which included the Rural Youth Banquet in San Antonio. Coming 4-H events are the Share the Fun Festival at the Recreation Building on the Rodeo Grounds March 19 at 7:30 p. m. and the County Contests scheduled for April 2. Miss Jones is depending on Home Demonstration members to assist in the judging. First place winners from the county contests will go to District Contests in San Angelo April 23.

Mrs. O. W. Calk asked club members to start collecting program suggestions for the 1961 Yearbooks.

State Capitol NEWS

Austin — Texas politicians have been finding it hard to make hay with no sun shining.

A number of statewide candidates are stumping the state, and legislative contenders are getting invitations to speak at rallies and before special groups. But bad weather and the unaccustomed earliness of this year's election schedule have made it harder for most to get campaigns rolling.

Legislative candidates report they are most often quizzed on whether they favor (1) teacher pay raise and (2) a general sales tax. "Yes" to the first and "no" to the second are generally regarded as safest answers. But many old hands have misgivings, feeling that the two commitments together may put them in a hard situation come the next session.

AMENDMENT LINE-UP

In the hoopla of a presidential campaign year, amendments to the Texas constitution probably will get only secondary attention, though they are of vital importance to all Texans.

Four are to be voted on by the people at the general election Nov. 8. Their order on the ballot, as determined by a drawing conducted by Secretary of State Zolie Steakley, will be:

1. An amendment authorizing the Legislature to create a hospital district in Lamar and Hidalgo Counties and part of Comanche County.

2. An amendment authorizing the Veterans Land Board to issue bonds at 3½ percent interest instead of the present 3 percent maximum.

3. An amendment giving members of the Legislature annual salaries of $4,800 a year and $12 per day allowances for a 120-day session. Sessions could go no longer than 140 days.

4. An amendment authorizing the Legislature to license and regulate lenders and fix maximum rates of interest.

SCHOOL COSTS JUMP

A baby boom in the fifties means soaring school bills in the sixties, as indicated by the State Board of Education's 1960-61 estimate.

Board reported that cost of Texas public school program for next year will be $365,000,000. This is an increase of some $15,000,000 over the previous year.

Reason for the raise is more children — requiring more teachers, more books, more desks, etc. Total enrollment for next year is expected to be 2,254,574, an increase of more than a half million since the 1954-55 year.

Counties will have to pay $73,080,000, or 20 percent of the $365,000,000 total cost.

"SLEEPY VILLAGES" GO BIG TIME

Twenty-one small Texas towns mushroomed into cities during the fifties.

Texas Municipal League reported on towns that had grown 150 percent or more — some as much as 1,617 percent.

Twelve of the 21 big growers are towns near to one of Texas' three largest cities — Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth. Topping the list with runaway expansion were three Dallas County towns — Irving, up 1,617 percent; Mesquite, up 1,323 percent; and Farmers Branch, up 1,211 percent.

Industrialization was the key to the spectacular growth of most of the 21. In a number of cases, the coming of a single large plant started the boom rolling.

TEACHER FUND GROWS

Texas' teachers' retirement fund has increased more than 35 percent in the past decade, according to State Auditor C. H. Cavness.

Cavness reported that at the end of the last fiscal year the fund stood at $389,341,289. This is $140,000,000 more than 10 years ago.

Teachers pay 6 percent of their earnings up to $4,800 into the fund. State matches their payments.

Fund provides for a minimum of $100 per month retirement pay for teachers and $75 a month for other school employees. To make the fund grow, it is invested in municipal state and federal bonds and certain corporate securities under supervision of a board of trustees.

ATOMIC DISPOSAL HIT

Water pollution from atomic waste materials could pose a real threat to public health, fish and wildlife in Texas, said Gov. Price Daniel.

Daniel praised the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas for their concern over a proposal made at one time to dump concrete containers of low-grade radioactive waste materials in the Gulf of Mexico.

State Health Department, said the governor, keeps a continuous check on the state's surface waters for atomic pollution from fallout.

NEED FOR ECONOMY CITED

Need for the next Legislature to raise between $150,000,000 and $200,000,000 in new tax revenue has been predicted by the directors of the Texas Research League.

Alvin A. Burger, head of the private organization which studies state government, said state spending will require $1,000,000 a year in the 1961-63 biennium.

Burger urged careful analysis of the highway, education and welfare programs which take 85 percent of the state budget.

As a money saver, he recom-

Educational Expenses

Under one of two conditions, direct costs of education and necessary expenses for travel, meals and lodging while taking educational courses away from home overnight are deductible on the 1959 Federal income tax return.

V. W. Newman, Internal Revenue Service Brownwood, revealed the two conditions:

(1) If the education was undertaken primarily to maintain or improve the skill of a taxpayer required in the performance of his employment duties when the education expense was incurred; or

(2) If the education was undertaken primarily to meet the express requirement of a taxpayer's employer, or the requirements of applicable law or regulations imposed as a condition for retaining the taxpayer's present employment, salary or position.

Mr. Newman added:

mended taking the cost of maintaining farm-to-market roads out of the farm road funds. At present, this money can be used only for new construction, and farm road repair has to be paid out of other highway funds.

He suggested school consolidation as another avenue for economy. County governments, he said, need reorganization to eliminate duplication and problems in the efficient handling of money.

CAR INSPECTIONS DUE

Drivers without a green Texas-shaped sticker on their windshields are advised to stop by an inspection station the first pretty day.

Department of Public Safety estimates that only about half of the 4,300,000 vehicles in Texas have had their 1960 inspection. Deadline is April 15. Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director, suggests that the trip be made soon, before the lines get long.

"You may NOT deduct expenses for education if the primary purpose for which the education was undertaken was any of the following:

(1) To obtain a new position or a substantial advancement in your position.

(2) To fulfill your general educational aspirations or any other personal purpose.

(3) To meet the minimum requirements for qualification or establishment of your intended trade, business, or specialty.

"Direct costs of education such as books, tuition, laboratory fees, etc., are deductible only when you itemize your deductions on your return Form 1040. You may NOT deduct these if you take the standard deduction, use the tax table, or use the simple card Form 1040A.

"Travel expense and the cost of meals and lodging while away from home overnight pursuing qualifying educational activities are also deductible on Form 1040."

Quick Pickup Supper After Clean Up Activities

Clean Up - Paint Up - Fix Up work is satisfying and beautifying but sometimes tiring. However, a quick supper and an easy supper will help you shake off any feelings of weariness.

You can "fix up" the old-fashioned hot dog as the star attraction of your post-cleaning dinner by splitting the frankfurter and stuffing it with sharp cheese. Then wrap it in a partially fried bacon strip and place the "pig in a blanket" under the broiler.

Open a can of baked beans, place the contents in a baking dish or casserole, cover with the extra bacon strips and heat in a moderate oven.

A bowl of crisp potato chips, a tossed salad of lettuce, cucumber and tomato, and a tray of your family's favorite relishes will complete your supper with ease.

Paper plates and cups can be used in keeping with the picnic atmosphere and will leave you rested and ready to enjoy the evening.

Remember to use crack filler when preparing a surface for refinishing. All gouged places in floors, furniture or woodwork must be filled and leveled off. Cracks in plaster should be filled with spackling compound or patching plaster.
