MEMORIAL DAY

The Santa Anna Cemetery Association has asked all civic and cultural groups in Santa Anna to join them in sponsoring a Memorial Day Service at the Santa Anna Cemetery May 30. Officers of all organizations are requested to bring the question before your business meetings for discussion and report to Jim Danzell, president of the Cemetery Association or to Mrs. Bill Griffin, secretary.

It is hoped a good service can be planned and all the organizations in town will participate in it.

It has been a number of years since a Memorial Service has been held in the cemetery. During recent months considerable improvements have been made in the cemetery, and more are being made all the time. Even during the past two or three weeks lots of improvement has been made.

Memorial Day is the ideal time for remembrances to be held in the cemetery. Although primarily recognized for observances in memory of those who have lost their lives in military services, the day can well be used to preserve the memory of all loved ones who have gone before.

All citizens of this area who are interested in the cemetery are urged to make plans to attend the observance.

Civil Defense Meet Set For Tues. Night

Two-Vehicle Accident Early Tuesday

A 1959 Buick and a 1959 Chevrolet pick up collided head-on almost directly in front of The News Office building at 2:45 a. m. Tuesday, April 12. The accident injured two persons, but neither were believed to be in a serious condition.

In the Buick were Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Schaeffer and their three small children, apparently going from Brownwood to San Angelo. Schaeffer suffered lacerations of the bottom lip and possible back injuries. None of the other members of his family were injured. Schaeffer's age was listed as 33 years.

In the pick up were Ueselo Luna, 42, and Celestina Maciel, 60, of Lampasas. The pick up was heading east. Maciel suffered possible chest and back injuries.

The collision occurred 4 feet south of the center stripe on the main highway through Santa Anna. The Buick hit the pick up with enough force that it drove the pick up backward into the Highway Marker on the sidewalk and bent it pretty badly. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Bud Simmons and Highway Patrolmen Al Chambers and Jake Jackson. The two injured persons were carried to the hospital in a Hosch ambulance.

Simmons said truck traffic was fairly heavy at that time of morning.

Suggestions for Summer Program Wanted

Mrs. Pat Hosch, president of the Summer Recreation Program, requests residents who have children that will participate in the program to offer suggestions as to what to include in the summer schedule.

For the past several years swimming has been the primary function of the group and it will likely be included in the program this year. However, there is room for other forms of recreation, and this is what suggestions are wanted on.

Mrs. Hosch said the first meeting date would be announced in the near future, and at that time she would appreciate having a number of suggestions. She also wants all persons interested in the program to plan to attend the meeting.

Plans are set for a meeting of everyone in the Santa Anna area who is interested in taking a course in Civil Defense to meet at the high school auditorium Tuesday, April 19, at 7:30 p. m. The four night school is to be sponsored jointly by the State Department of Education, the Santa Anna School system and the local Civil Defense Unit.

The meeting Tuesday evening is for the purpose of everyone who is interested in the course to set the time for the course to begin. Tuition is free. Included in the course will be the study of atomic radiation and how to protect yourself and your family, what to do in any emergency such as a tornado, explosion, etc. Civil defense does not only work in time of war, but any time there is an emergency.

Teachers for the school will be furnished from members of the County Civil Defense Unit in Coleman. Mrs. C. D. Bruce is the local Civil Defense chairman.

This same course is being taught in many areas of the state at this time. At least one adult from every household is urged to take advantage of this opportunity to learn modern methods of self preservation during an emergency.

Brooks House Destroyed By Fire Early Mon.

The house owned by George Brooks, located in the far southwest part of town, was completely destroyed by fire early Monday morning. The local Fire Department was called to the scene at 3:00 a. m. and then fought the blaze for about an hour, before bringing it under control.

Origin of the fire was not determined immediately. Although the house contained some furniture, it had not been lived in for several months, approximately two years. Just how much furniture was in the house is not known. L. J. Clark, City Fire Marshal, said he would estimate there was about $750 worth there but he did not know how close to correct he was. He estimated the loss on the house at about $2,000, but said that was just a guess also. Clark said he thought there was some insurance but did not know how much.

The fire apparently started in the rear or north part of the house. It was almost completely covered in flames by the time the fire department arrived and got water on it.

An investigation is underway in an attempt to determine the cause of the fire.

The Upper Room

Read Matthew 5:43-48.

The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love. (Jeremiah 31:3.)

Many years ago I took a little friend from another country to see that wonder of God's creation — Niagara Falls. He was terrified when he saw the rushing waters. He refused to go near, so we left the Falls and went for a walk.

A few hours later we returned to the same place. He was willing to go a little closer. As he looked at the water, his remark was: "It hasn't all gone over yet."

That remark reminded me of God's constant love and care — so much He has given and sent out, and still enough yet for everyone of us. Divine love is constant by day and by night. Our shortcomings are as rocks and our sins as barriers, but the love of God flows around us and over us and goes with us all the way.

PRAYER:

For Thy love which never changes, our Father, we thank Thee. Establish us in faith in Christ so that we are no longer turned with the tide of everyday living. Keep us, we pray, always in Thy care and in the knowledge that Thy great love sent Jesus Christ to be our Saviour. Forgive us our sins and redeem us through Him, who suffered that we might have life eternal. For His sake. Amen.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.

HENRY A. HOLLE, D. O. Commissioner of Health

A Megalopoe opercularis — for those of you who don't have an entomology textbook handy — is a moth, commonly called "asp" in the larval stage.

These brown or grey, semi-transparent shaped larvae may become extremely abundant, feeding on the foliage of a variety of trees and shrubs. They're making their annual appearance in Texas now, and will be noticeable until months of late fall.

Everyone should familiarize themselves with the appearance and medical importance of these stinging caterpillars. Children, in particular, should be warned to avoid them.

Individual reaction to the stings varies greatly, dependent upon many factors such as age, sensitivity status, size of caterpillar, area of skin involved, and the amount of pressure on contact.

A mature larva dropping from a tree into a person's shirt or blouse and mashed against the skin in several places before being retrieved would likely cause a much more painful condition than the simple act of brushing an exposed arm or leg against a small specimen.

A burning pain is felt almost immediately on contact. Small, raised, whitish spots appear, later becoming red. The inflamed area may spread for several inches, accompanied by swelling.

The resulting skin reaction frequently lasts for days. Further systemic symptoms may arise of an allergic nature.

Hollow hairs are filled with poison supplied from poison gland cells opening directly to the hairs. The tips of the hair or spine can readily penetrate the skin and break off.

The "buck moth" is another stinging caterpillar common to oak trees as well as some other trees, often stepped on by bare-foot children.

Leave the puss caterpillar and "buck moth" alone. For while they probably won't kill you, a disturbed system isn't something to be taken lightly.

A spray of lead arsenate (two tablespoons per gallon of water) or 50 percent wettable DDT (two teaspoons per gallon of water) will get rid of them for you.

New Range Cattle Test Aid to Brucellosis Program

College Station — A new method for testing range cattle is resulting in major savings to beef producers in their efforts to eradicate brucellosis, an important livestock disease, according to Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian.

The method is based on use of a screening-type blood test of cull and dry cows on the way to or during slaughter. Animals tested each year must equal 5 percent of all cows in the area, he said. Another important requirement is that owners vaccinate at least 80 percent of all eligible calves each year.

Successful use of this test to recertify Benton, County, Washington, as a modified-certified brucellosis area marks a major advance in the battle to eradicate this costly disease. The county was officially recertified effective March 45.

A modified-certified area, Dr. Patterson explained, is one in which no more than one percent of the cattle or 5 percent of the herds are affected with brucellosis. Certification is for 3 years. Continuous testing makes re-certification possible, but for beef producers it has meant rounding up at least a fifth of all herds in the certified area every 3 years.

The advantages of the new method are shown in the Benton County test. During the 3 years prior to March 15, 1960, brucellosis was found — and further tests required — in only 11 of a total of 601 beef herds in the county. Under alternate recertification procedures, it would have been necessary to test a total of at least 120 herds. As a result of the new method 92 percent of on-the-ranch testing was eliminated.

This reduction in ranch testing saves the majority of beef producers the expense and labor of handling cattle, as well as eliminating the possibility of injury to the animals themselves. Furthermore, Dr. Patterson added, since all herds in an area may be included in this continuous screen-testing program, any infection is likely to be detected before it has an opportunity to spread.

Mackerel Run Hits Coast

Austin — The Spanish mackerel run is beginning on the Gulf Coast, according to reports received by the Game and Fish Commission. Scattered catches were reported during the past week from Freeport to Port Isabel.

These fish usually begin their activity when the Gulf water reaches about 80 degrees. Within another two weeks thousands will be caught by fishermen all along the coast line.

The average weight of the mackerel is about two pounds, although many larger ones are caught. It is a good eating fish.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By G. W. HARDER

Recently Rep. H. R. Gross expressed wonderment that the government, despite all that has been said about minimizing the Russian effort to wage war, was permitting American "know-how" to be used in building a tire making plant in Russia, with several more projected.

A Mr. Henry Kearns, a U. S. Commerce secretary for international affairs, was quick to point out that there existed a substantial error in what the public had been told about this deal.

Back in about 1957, the Commerce Dept. denied permission for American firms to bid on the basis processes incorporated some techniques peculiarly American in development, and thus Russia should not have them from any American.

And so the U. S. Dept. of Commerce, with righteousness and presumably high moral principle, took this stand, to betterment of American defense.

However, subsequent developments have tended to inject rather brutal inquiry of "just who thinks they're kidding who?"

The Russians are getting their plant built, and plan on building several more. Mr. Kearns takes position British hold the construction contracts.

But in the next breath he lets it be known these British firms are affiliates of U. S. firms.

This then, develops into a cozy little situation. American firms are told at one time they cannot bid on these contracts on the basis that this would aid the Russian potential to wage war. At the same time, this edict quite efficiently rules out possibility of any independent U. S. enterprise from having a go at this job.

Now leaving aside the question of whether it is quite proper for the British, recipients of so much of U. S. foreign give away billions, to profit by this opportunity that also helps the Russian military strength, there does seem to be a major question here between Tweedledee and Tweedledum.

If an independent American firm is not big enough to have foreign connections, then it should stay out of Russia as that would surely help the Russian arms program.

But on the other hand, if the American firm is a big enough monopoly in its field, and has foreign connections, then it is quite proper to proceed with its British affiliates. And as long as the American corporation has this foreign line-up, presumably anything so done to build plants in Russia will be of no use whatsoever in building Russian fighting strength.

It is wondered if Rep. Gross will be able to understand this fine point of distinction.

This seems hardly likely.

In fact, there is often wonderment along Polomac as just who many bureaucrats consider greatest enemy of the U. S. . . . communism, or the American free enterprise system.

Laboratories Offer Assistance for Poultrymen

College Station — When disease strikes your poultry flock, a quick and accurate diagnosis is essential to insure early recovery and an exact treatment program. Aid in diagnosing the disease can be obtained by consulting your local veterinarian or pathologist at one of the three regional laboratories operated by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. These laboratories are located at Center, Gonzales and College Station. An additional one is scheduled at Stephenville in October.

A pathologist is available for consultation at each of the laboratories, says Dr. R. W. Cook, Department of Microbiology, Texas A&M College System. They are anxious to work with the poultry growers of Texas on disease control problems and Cook offers the following suggestions to aid growers in making the most efficient use of the poultry diagnostic laboratories.

To allow the pathologist the best opportunity to make an accurate diagnosis, the poultryman should submit at least three or four birds from the affected flock to the laboratory. These birds should be a representative sample of the conditions which seem to be causing the problem. Too frequently only one bird, often dead, is submitted to the laboratory. In such cases it is difficult, if not possible, to arrive at an accurate diagnosis. In cases where birds are dying rapidly and no birds appear sick, it is more helpful if dead, rather than healthy birds are submitted. If the birds are to be submitted by someone not familiar with the flock, a complete history should accompany the specimens.

What can you expect from such a diagnostic service? If possible, the diagnostician will give a tentative diagnosis and suggest a program to bring the disease problem under control. Frequently, Dr. Cook says, it is necessary to make additional tests to determine the actual cause of the trouble. In any case, he continues, the laboratory will get the information to the grower as soon as possible.

If additional information is desired, contact the extension poultry specialist or the Department of Microbiology, both located at Texas A&M College.

"Census Progresses"

A preliminary check of the first weeks work in compiling the 1960 Census has revealed a high degree of diligence, long hours, hard work, and effectiveness on the part of the 17 Crew Leaders and 286 Enumerators assigned in the 21st Congressional District. Results to date have been most gratifying.

The response from citizens, in the main, has been most cordial and co-operative. In only a very few instances have the Enumerators encountered reluctance to answer the questions involved. The co-operation of local press, radio and TV stations has contributed mightily toward alerting the public and furthering general knowledge of the purposes of this Census.

The San Angelo District office extends its appreciation to all involved in this undertaking.

Because of the coverage that must be made with a limited number of Enumerators, some folks may not have yet been counted. Please bear with us, hold on to your Advance Census Reports (as well as your patience) and we will soon get to you. W. G. Stacy, District Supervisor, said.

Motor Vehicle Inspection Law Cuts Fatal Accidents

Austin — The Texas Motor Vehicle Inspection Law — in effect now just seven years — has reduced accidents caused by vehicle defects by nearly two-thirds.

Association of Texas Fire and Casualty Insurance Companies' studies of Department of Public Safety reports show that in 1952 vehicle defects were a cause of 16 percent of fatal accidents. By 1958 — the latest year for which statistics are complete — the rate had been reduced to 6 percent.

In one year — from 1953 to 1954 — vehicle defects as a cause of accidents dropped from a high rate of 18 percent to a level of only 6 percent and has remained at either 6 or 5 percent each year since.

The reduction in non-fatal accidents caused by vehicle defects has also been substantial. The drop in the 1953 to 1954 period was from 18 to 8 percent. Presently, DPS figures show vehicle defects as a cause in 10 percent of nonfatal accidents. In 1952 better than 1-out-of-10 automobiles involved in a fatal accident had a defect contributing to the accident. Now, only 1-out-of-20 automobiles involved in fatal accidents have contributing vehicle defects.

The inspection law was continued in force despite demands for repeal. The full effect of the law was shown in the drop in vehicle defect-caused accidents in 1954 — the year following the Legislature's decision to leave the law on the books.

Vets Holding Term Insurance Should Convert It

Veterans holding GI term life insurance policies should consider converting to permanent plans of insurance. P. J. Mims, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco said today. Premium rates for permanent plans of insurance are higher than those for term policies issued at the same age. But the premium rates on permanent plans remains the same throughout the lifetime of the policy while the rate on term policies increases every five years.

These increases are small at the younger ages, but get progressively higher at the older ages. Example, an annual premium on dividend participating term insurance leaps from $30.78 per $1,000 insurance age 60, to $47.00 at age 65, and to $73.16 at age 70.

Since the average World War I veteran is 25 years older than the WW II veteran, more WW I policyholders are now affected by these increases.

As the average life expectancy increases and the veterans grow older more and more policyholders will be faced with the rising cost of term insurance if they plan on life time protection from their term policies. Mims said.

Minor Accident Wednesday Morning

A 2-car accident happened about 9:40 a. m. Wednesday morning at the street intersection in front of the high school. Louis Diaz, 18, driving a 1951 Ford collided with the left front fender of a 1958 Studebaker, being driven by Kay Kingsbery, 19. Diaz was heading west on Bowie Avenue, Miss Kingsbery going south on South 2nd Street. No injuries were reported. Damage to each vehicle was slight. The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Bud Simmons.

Band Selling Mixed Nuts

The Santa Anna Mountaineer Bands began selling a 15 ounce can of "Party Mix Nuts" early this week. They hope to help raise money to purchase new music stands for the band room. The can of nuts sells for $1.00, which is about the same price as you will find in most any food store. The public is requested to buy them only if you have a use for them.

The nuts make delicious TV snacks, and are handy to have around the house for company, parties, etc. The band hopes to make about $120 from the sale of these nuts, to apply on the cost of the stands. Estimated cost of the new stands will be about $259. The new stands will be of much better construction than the wire stands now in use.

Fiction Costly to Social Security Claimants Weekly

Truth may well be stranger than fiction, but there are six claims, representatives in the Abilene office of the Social Security Administration that are convinced that fiction is costlier than the truth to many persons, according to R. R. Tuiley, Jr., district manager.

Last week was in general a typical week for those claims representatives, in that they forwarded some one hundred and fifty claims for payment of retirement, survivor, or disability benefits under the Social Security Act. Also typical were these five examples of fiction costing some of those claimants various sums of money, he added.

Mr. A, aged 68, had been unable to find a job for the past three years. He believed the fiction that he had to be in actual, proved need in order to get his retirement benefits. His checks will start with March of 1959, because if all conditions are met for previous months, checks can start as far back as a year before formal application is filed. But, that fiction cost him 12 checks for 1958 and 2 checks for 1959, or better than $800.

Mr. B, aged 74, still making $3,000 per year, thought he had to quit work entirely in order to collect his retirement benefits. Another fiction. Actually, he could have started collecting in the month he reached age 72. This fiction cost him just under $1,000.

Mrs. C, whose husband died five years ago, filed her claim at age 65. She thought she had to be that old to collect. That fiction cost her two years' payments, some $1,500; widows can begin receiving such payments, with no reduction, at age 62.

Mr. D, aged 67, also thought he had to quit work entirely before he could collect his social security. His annual earnings for the past two years have been only $1,500 per year. He could have collected eight checks each year. This fiction cost him 8 checks, totaling some $500.

Miss E, aged 67, with some $3,000 per year income from rents, just got around to filing her claim, based on some ten years of "creditable work in the late thirties and early forties. She

Clean Up an Investment Insurance-Wise

You guard your safety and eventually reduce your fire insurance rates when you actively and completely support the Clean Up-Point Up-Fix Up program.

Insurance rates are dependent on the number of times a certain event occurs. The more fires, the more money paid out and the greater risk undertaken when fire insurance is granted; contrastingly, the fewer fires, the lower the rates.

To protect your family and reduce your insurance costs, here are a few suggestions: During the campaign, clean up these fire hazards: loose paper, rubbish in the attic and basement; leaves and needles on roof, or around foundation; gasoline stored in the garage or house; dirty rags any place around the premises; oily dust rags or mops lying loose in closet or hallway; dusty light fixtures and frayed electrical cords.

Firemen have a saying, "A Clean House Seldom Burns, and insurance men heartily agree. Safety wise and financially, the thinking man will clean, paint and repair during the Clean Up-Point Up-Fix Up campaign now underway.

Easter Service At Big Bend National Park

Big Bend National Park — Easter services will be conducted in Big Bend National Park by Dr. Bevington Reed of Sul Ross College, in Alpine.

Superintendent Stanley C. Joseph announced that these non-denominational worship services will be held at 8:30 a. m., Easter Sunday, in the Campfire Circle in the Chisos Basin. It is anticipated that the sun's rays will come over the rim into the Basin just prior to the start of the Services.

The time for the Services was set to permit the many visitors, who are expected in the Park at this time, to attend the Services and have the balance of the day to enjoy the many features of the Park.

Read the Label and Follow the Rules With Insecticides

College Station — One way to safeguard against excessive insecticide residues on harvested crops and protect those who handle the materials is to follow the recommendations of the manufacturer.

C. F. Garner, associate extension entomologist, says the labeling of all insecticides shipped intrastate must be registered with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. All applications for registration or labeling are thoroughly examined to remove or modify any directions for use on particular crops which do not seem to meet the requirements of the law. Among other things, the USDA determines whether any treatment is likely to leave excessive chemical residues on the harvested raw agricultural commodities.

Garner suggests that the following rules be closely followed. Use an insecticide only on the crop for which it is recommended and in the amounts specified on the label. Applications of the insecticide should also be made in accordance with the label directions.

If a crop is not named on the label of a particular insecticide, it may mean that no residue of that pesticide is permitted on that crop; and hence the treated crop could not be shipped if it contains a residue of that chemical.

Growers who follow the recommended time and rate of application can be assured the insecticide will not contaminate the edible part of fruit or vegetable, or will have been removed or decreased enough by weather, decomposition, or other process so that the residue will not be excessive at harvest time.

If custom applicators, including those using airplanes, are employed, be sure they too follow the rules or directions listed by the manufacturer of the insecticide used, emphasizes Garner.

Vets Should Notify VA About New Pension Plan

Veterans or dependents of veterans who intend to receive their pension payments under provisions of the new pension law should notify the Veterans Administration of their choice as soon as possible. P. J. Mims, manager of the VA regional office at Waco, said today.

Indications are that the usual last minute rush will develop in May and June as more and more veterans and dependents visit VA offices seeking further information about the new pension plan.

Those who have notified VA of their choice of the new pension law before July 1, 1960, the effective date of the law, will have full advantage of any higher payments by coming under the new law from the start.

Those choosing the new pension law after July 1, 1960, will realize an increase in gain by implanting for both pasture and drylot, points out Uel D. Thompson, extension animal husbandman.

On the other hand, he says the buyer of pasture implanted steers may expect slightly less gain from them than from non-implanted steers provided both are implanted for drylot feeding.

The question then becomes one of price for the two kinds since both price and gain determine respective profits. Some buyer resistance to pasture implanted feeder steers has been noted.

Present information indicates that the question of whether to implant should be determined on an individual basis, Thompson concluded.

Vets Worth Helps Determine Amount Of Pension

A veteran's net worth is one of the factors in determining his eligibility to receive a pension under the new pension law which becomes effective July 1, 1960.

This means, according to P. J. Mims, Manager of the VA Regional Office, Waco, that pensions will not be paid to veterans having sizeable estates. The word estate, confusing to some persons, means in this connection the property, stocks and bonds, cash deposits or other items of value owned by the veteran that would make his net worth greater than is usually the case in pension eligibility.

Since circumstances alter cases, what might seem to be an ample estate might still leave the veteran in need, Mr. Mims said. Thus there is no hard and fast rule but each case will be considered separately on its own merits. The VA will consider such things as type of property owned by the veteran, the veteran's age, his life expectancy, his state of health, the number of persons dependent on him, his income and similar pertinent facts.

All veterans and dependents on the pension rolls under the present law may choose instead to come under provisions of the new pension law. A pamphlet comparing the two laws has already been sent to these pension recipients.

However, the choice when made is final and the pension recipient can never return to provisions of the present pension law.

While VA officials will be glad to furnish information, Mims pointed out that the final decision has to be made by the pensioner. For this reason, he urges that pensioners obtain all the information necessary for their decision. Assistance can be obtained from any VA office.

Hormone Implants Studied

College Station — The use of hormone implants on stocker steers which are later to be fed in drylot may or may not be profitable, according to experimental trials conducted in 1959 at the Blacklands Experiment Station, Temple.

A major consideration for decision is future ownership of the cattle. If the same owner has the cattle through both pasture and drylot feeding periods, he will realize an increase in gain by implanting for both pasture and drylot, points out Uel D. Thompson, extension animal husbandman.

On the other hand, he says the buyer of pasture implanted steers may expect slightly less gain from them than from non-implanted steers provided both are implanted for drylot feeding.

The question then becomes one of price for the two kinds since both price and gain determine respective profits. Some buyer resistance to pasture implanted feeder steers has been noted.

Present information indicates that the question of whether to implant should be determined on an individual basis, Thompson concluded.

ALL BEDDING HANDLERS SUBJECT TO INSPECTION

Approximately 4,000 establishments in Texas are engaged in making, renovating, selling, and germinically treating items of bedding. All these establishments are subject to inspection under the provisions of the Texas Bedding Act.

Charged with the responsibility of enforcing regulations and making inspections in Texas bedding factories and retail outlets, is the Bedding Division of the State Health Department.

During the last quarter ending February 29, 1960, a total of 2,625 inspections were made. The inspection program is self supporting from fees collected for permits and bedding stamps.

Highly trained inspectors search for violations of the Bedding Act. These include sanitation in bedding factories, cleanliness of filling materials in bedding products, labeling of concealed materials in bedding products, germinical treatment of second hand bedding for sale, and licensing of bedding manufacturers and germinical treatment devices.

Only a tiny minority are intentional violators. Court action is used only as a last resort when education and persuasion fail to correct the violation.

Annual Stocking Doesn't Assure Better Fishing

Austin — Rough fish always have been a big problem in Texas' lake waters, according to the director of inland fisheries, Texas Game and Fish Commission. "Our aquatic biologists are working with this problem daily, attempting to discover new techniques for controlling undesirable fish."

According to the director, restocking lakes annually with fingerling bass is not the answer to the problem. "Quite a number of persons feel that adding more bass fry each year would result in maintaining ideal bass populations in our lakes. Unfortunately, this is not so," said the director. "Most often, stocking game fish fry only provides a small meal for fish already present in the lake."

Several methods for reducing undesirable fish numbers are being tested on various lakes across the State. One method is to stock predator fish that would feed on young fish, in an effort to obtain a natural or biological control on the numbers of rough fish. Biologists are continuously experimenting with this method, such as the introduction of walleyed-pike, redbreast, flathead catfish, and others. Another method being used on many lakes today is the treatment of lakes with rotenone fish toxicant for complete kills and then restocking with desired species or reducing overabundant forage fish, such as the gizzard shad, through "selective kills" with rotenone.

"Actually," declared the director, "spawning bass can easily supply a lake with the needed fry since each adult female can lay thousands of eggs. But young rough fish compete with the young game fish and eliminate much of their food, preventing their growth. When you can't catch lots of bass, remember, when plenty of natural food is available, bass are not apt to hit an artificial lure."

2,453 Persons Died In Traffic Crashes Last Year

Fifteen of every one-thousand Texans were injured in traffic accidents during 1959, the Texas Department of Public Safety reported today in the release of its annual statistical report booklet on motor vehicle accidents.

In presenting the 1959 "fact book" Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director, said that 2,453 persons died in traffic collisions in Texas during the year 1959. He said death took a holiday only one day, with Dec. 2 being the state's only motorcade free day. The state's worst tragedy of the year he said was a two-car head-on collision in Hidalgo County, Feb. 15 killing 10 persons which occurred not far from Alamo where the most disastrous traffic accident ever recorded took the lives of 29 persons in 1940.

The statistical report was prepared by department Statistician N. K. Woerner who kept records on more than 340-thousand accidents during the year. The traffic accidents occurred at the rate of one every 92 seconds; a person was injured every 4 minutes and a person was killed every 3 hours and 34 minutes.

In referring to the "death calendar" as one of the most interesting portions of the booklet, Garrison pointed out that Nov. 14 was the most deadly traffic day of the year with 24 persons killed in 8 fatal accidents. He also said there were 23 days when 15 or more motorcades occurred. Motorists traveled more than 125-million miles per day in Texas last year. This rate jumped the year-long total up five percent to an all time high of 46,052,600,000 vehicle miles.

Guardians of Minors Receiving Pensions Check Entitlement

Guardians and custodians of minors receiving Veterans Administration pensions should examine carefully their wards entitlement under the new pension law, P. J. Mims, Manager of the VA Regional office in Waco said today.

Both guardians and custodians by this time should have received the pamphlet containing information on the new law and an election card which were mailed with the Pension checks sent March 1. If they desire their wards to be paid under the new pension law, they should fill out the card and return it to the VA. Additional information about the new pension law can be obtained at any VA office.

REALISTIC POLICY ON CHEMICALS

Not long ago Rep. Henry A. Dixon (R-Utah), who was an agricultural expert before he became a congressman, delivered a speech to the House in Washington in which he strongly implied that the present policy of the U. S. Food and Drug Administration toward use of chemicals in agriculture is downright ridiculous.

Rep. Dixon traced this policy to the administration's interpretation of the Delaney amendment to the food additive bill in the last session of Congress. The Delaney amendment prohibits in food any carcinogen residue—a chemical which ingested under any conditions can produce cancer in animals or humans.

"The original Delaney amendment," said Rep. Dixon, "was opposed by the Food and Drug Administration and had been rejected in committee as being too sweeping. However, there was little opportunity for debate and on the floor House members were made to feel they would be voting for cancer if they opposed the Delaney amendment. So it passed in a breeze, as it also did in the Senate."

"The Food and Drug Administration takes the position that the Delaney amendment prohibits even the most minute trace of any carcinogen in human food, even though it requires heavy and sustained dosages to produce cancer in an animal. This has aroused the Farm Bureau, Farmers Union, and virtually all other farm organizations to an unprecedented fury.

"Farmer groups want to use these needed chemicals and protect public health through designation of safe, low, tolerances of chemicals established by the National Academy of Science, or a commission of scientists. They fear that the present interpretation of the Delaney amendment could virtually wreck U. S. agriculture as well as worsen rather than improve public health."

Rep. Dixon quoted the Food and Drug Commissioner, George P. Larrick, as having pointed out that "cancers can be produced in test animals by repeated injections of sugar solutions in the muscle tissue or peanut oil or cotton seed oil or lard or tannic acid."

A realistic policy on the use of chemicals in agriculture is essential the congressman insisted, because "so much publicity has been given to the cancer scare that even routine Food and Drug actions are now causing financial losses to farmers, merchants and companies."

Before becoming a congressman, Rep. Dixon was president of the Utah State Agricultural College.

THE WISCONSIN PRESIDENTIAL

preference primary was top news in Washington last week, as political experts sought to read signs in the returns. A variety of opinions tried to figure out the extent of religious motivation, partly crossovers, etc.

More of such primaries are in the offing. Indiana has one scheduled for May 3, followed by West Virginia on May 10, Maryland on May 17, and Oregon on May 20.

The real significance of these primaries is doubtful, but in any event they do provide a forum for candidates to flex their political muscles and show their vote-getting capacities. Many candidates decline to involve themselves in such elections.

The first primary that will attract several Presidential hopefuls will be the one in Oregon on May 20. Five Democratic Senators will participate — Wayne Morse, Symington, Kennedy, Humphrey and Senator Lyndon Johnson.

MEANTIME, wasting no time, Senator Kennedy, with his well-financed organization, courted the Hoosiers in Indiana, looking to that State's primary on May 3. Viewing with alarm the country's economic ills and decriing the Government's failure to better provide for its people, he said "17 million Americans go to bed hungry every night."

Faced with a public debt of nearly $290 billion, we wonder where some of these promising candidates, who have a cure for every ill, plan to get the money. They don't like to talk about that.

AMONG RECENT VISITORS have been John B. Langford of Lampasas, Weldon Groves, REA Manager of Hamilton; Forrest Kyle and Billy Benham, both of Bangs; and Francis Wilson of Urbana, Ill., but formerly of Junction.

Benham is now a factory representative of Pak-Mor Trailers in several states. Wilson, son of the late Horace Wilson, an early-day lawyer of considerable prominence in Kimble County, is now a professor of Political Science at the University of Illinois. He is spending a few weeks in Washington on Sabatical leave, doing research.

Sesame Seed Now Available To Landowners

Austin — A seed mixture of early and late maturing sesame has been prepared by the Texas Research Foundation for landowners and sportsmen to plant for feed and cover for dove and quail this fall and winter. Announcement of the new mixture is made in the Texas Game and Fish magazine, according to the director of information and education.

The mixture coming from the research farms at Renner, Texas, contains three varieties of semi and non-shattering sesame, which will begin releasing seed in September, according to Dr. C. L. Lundell, director of the Foundation.

"All three varieties are heavy producers, and a continuous supply of seed they provide will carry game birds through the dormant season in excellent condition for the spring mating season," he said.

The mixture now is being put up in 5 to 100 pound bags for distribution to landowners. The best planting date in North Texas is during May, according to Dr. Lundell.

He urges proper preparation of soil beforehand, with conventional farm equipment. Small areas should be prepared with a rake. The seed bed should be rolled or firmed after the seeds have been planted.

The feed was developed after field observations showed bird preference for this type of seed, according to the Foundation.

Records Can Help in Cost Cutting Search

College Station — Can your production costs be cut? This is a vital question which every farmer or rancher must answer for himself, said C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist. Prices of production items continue to rise, while prices received for most farm products keep dropping.

The tough problem is to find ways to hold the margin between receipts and expenses. One method is to watch closely for ways of cutting expenses that affect potential profits.

Items of fixed cost may not be reduced greatly, the specialist pointed out. These are such things as rent, taxes, interest and depreciation on buildings and equipment. Variable costs such as feed, seed, labor, fertilizer and pesticides may offer some savings if managed carefully. These inputs must be varied under different circumstances so that the total cost per unit will be reduced.

A safe guide is to aim at the maximum production from a given "package" of resources — the land, labor, facilities and equipment controlled by the operator, or example, investment in a 4-row tractor would be economical for a 100-acre cotton-grain farm; and the operator's labor would never be fully employed on this size unit. Thus, some investment costs may be lowered by proper equipment selection.

Farm operators should usually increase the expense on variable inputs, (feed, fertilizer, etc.) so long as the added production returns more than the added cost. For example, with corn selling at $1.00 per bushel, and 50 pound units of nitrogen fertilizer costing $5.00, the producer should add nitrogen only to the point where at least 5 extra bushels of corn are likely from the added unit of fertilizer.

One common procedure for cutting variable costs, said Bates, is to substitute machine work for hand work, or pull two or more implements in tandem.

Many livestock producers tend to keep their breeding dams in too high finish during gestation. Such practice may result in feed waste and poor development of the unborn animals because of lack of exercise of the mother, he emphasized. The livestock producer should also use feeders properly designed to prevent waste; purchase feed in quantity and reduce hand labor in dispensing all feeds; and avoid feeding animals with parasite infestation.

Other common ways in which crop costs can be reduced include planting seed of known germination; regulating planters, sprayers, etc. to deliver proper quantity; and limiting cultivation of crops only to weed control or soil aeration.

For a complete check list of items on which production costs may be reduced, ask your county agent for a copy of MF-19K, "Cutting Costs in Your Farm Business." It could save you many dollars in the weeks ahead.

Game Wardens Go to School

Austin — Expanded duties of wardens of the Game and Fish Commission were outlined to the nearly 200 wardens attending the annual "in service" school in Austin recently.

Two sessions were held. The first group with approximately 100 men, met Monday and Tuesday; the second group met on Thursday and Friday.

They were given detailed instructions as to their participation in game census counts, safety measures and enforcement under the increased regulatory responsibility program.

State Capitol NEWS

Austin — A 30-member committee appointed by Gov. Price Daniel will meet May 16 to begin work on a tall task.

Assignment of the State Finance Advisory Committee will be to suggest every possible economy in state government and recommend a tax program to put the state on a sound financial basis.

For the immediate future the tax program is to wipe out the general revenue fund deficit, which the governor estimates will be $40,000,000 at the end of this fiscal year, and provide $35,000,000 for teacher pay raises.

Committee is to be made up of leading citizens in both public and private life. Six already have been named. They are Secretary of State, Zollie Steakley who will be chairman; Jess Irwin, the governor's budget director; Jon Ford, administrative assistant to the governor; Dr. John R. Stockton, director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research; John R. McKee of Dallas, Ford Motor Co. executive; and Hugo Lowenstern, Amarillo real estate man.

Gov. Daniel said he would ask the committee to search for revenue sources other than a general sales tax or state income tax.

He hopes, said the governor, that the committee will work out some recommendations soon so that a special session can be called this year to pass teacher pay raises. Under Texas' requirement for pay-as-you-go financing, the Legislature would have to pass taxes to wipe out the deficit before it could vote funds for the school improvement program.

TEACHER RAISE ENDORSED

Nearly three-fourths of the candidates for the Legislature this year have told the Texas State Teachers Association they favor a pay raise for teachers.

Some qualified their statements to indicate that getting the pay raise might be an easier-said-than-done proposition.

Of 401 candidates for the Senate and House, 336 answered TSTA's questionnaire, and 293 said they approved the Hale-Aikin school program.

Asked if they would vote the necessary taxes for it, 252 promised support outright. Others added conditions on the kinds of taxes they would approve.

LOAN PLAN DISAPPROVED

Third Court of Civil Appeals has held the certificate plan used by some loan companies is unconstitutional.

Loan companies involved in the test case are expected to appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Under the certificate plan, the borrower of $100 would agree to repay his loan through monthly payments on an investment certificate for $110. This, according to the Attorney General's Department, forces the borrower to pay more than the permitted 10 percent interest because the interest does not drop as he pays off the principal.

Loan companies, which won the first round in district court, contend that the same procedure is used by banks, saving and loan associations and other lending institutions. Attorney General's Department replied that there is no specific provision prohibiting other institutions from computing interest in this manner.

SCHOOL BUYING CRITICIZED

Clothing purchases at the Texas Blind, Deaf and Orphan School for Colored in Austin were far in excess of use during the past 18 months, State Auditor C. H. Cavness reported.

Cavness said his audit turned up excessive clothing purchases totaling $3,824. In all, he said, 3,042 articles of clothing were bought, but only 75 articles were issued to the children.

He said he had received no "reasonable explanation" for the discrepancy. Cavness suggested that the Texas Youth Council, which oversees state schools for needy and handicapped children, make an inventory and transfer surplus items to other schools.

CITIZEN INTEREST URGED

Texas Law Enforcement Foundation has called on individual citizens to feel responsible for the way the law is observed in their communities.

Citing no specific instances, the TLEF executive committee said that "a breakdown in citizen responsibility must precede any breakdown in law enforcement."

Three new members have been elected to the TLEF executive committee. They are Neill Masterson Jr. of Houston, Weldon Jones of San Angelo and Radcliffe Killam of Laredo. Dolph Briscoe Jr. of Uvalde is new secretary of the committee.

Plans are under way to expand the foundation's board to include representation from every part of the state and to set up a program to assist families of law enforcement officers killed on duty.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT IT

State Supreme Court has again refused to get involved in a dispute as to whether a Dallas district judge can hold a railway president in contempt of court because trains blocked a Dallas street.

However, the high court repeated, with emphasis, its belief that the district court order is void and "no trial judge will attempt to enforce" it.

Dallas Dist. Judge Jack Thornton sentenced M-K-T President W. N. Deramus to 240 days in jail and levied a $4,000 fine because Katy trains blocked a street for more than five minutes at a time, against the judge's order. Since then, an underpass was begun.

Deramus, a St. Louis, Mo., resident, has sought to avoid coming to Texas to appear in Thornton's court despite the Supreme Court's reassurances. Thornton has declared he would put the railway executive in jail.
