BY THE EDITOR

Again we would like to express our appreciation to those who report news to us and to our advertisers for your cooperation in enabling us to take a few days vacation last week. We really enjoyed the occasion and regretted to see the time pass so fast.

We went from here to the wife's former home in Joaquin, Texas. There we were joined by her step-mother, Mrs. Clyde Cole, who accompanied us on our journey into Arkansas, and came home with us for a few days visit.

We drove through a part of Louisiana, into Arkansas where we saw many beautiful sights. We looked for diamonds in the only diamond mine in North America (but didn't find any) and visited many of the points of interest in Hot Springs and other cities and towns to the south and west of Hot Springs.

I guess the big difference in driving in Texas and both the other states we were in was the roads. Most of our Texas Farm to Market roads are much better than Louisiana or Arkansas can claim for their main arteries. And then there is the highway markers to consider also. While passing through Shreveport, La., we came upon a detour sign in the heart of the city, and because there were no signs to indicate where we were or where for us to go, we felt very fortunate to even get out of the place. In many places we would drive for miles and never see a highway sign.

We enjoyed the beautiful scenery through the Ouachita Mountains, but decided not to go on as far as we had planned into the Ozark Mountains.

I suppose the worst thing about a short vacation is that you hate to get back to the regular old grind. At least that is our case at this time.

Manley Blanton Buried Sunday

Manley Freeman Blanton, 73, died in the Santa Anna Hospital Saturday morning, June 18, following an illness that had lasted several months. He had partially recovered, but was admitted to the hospital four days before his death. He had been a resident of the Cleveland Community, southeast of Santa Anna, for the past 61 years.

Funeral services were held at the Cleveland Church of Christ at 4:00 p. m. Sunday, June 19. L. L. Allen of Dublin, minister, officiated. Burial was in the Cleveland Cemetery.

Mr. Blanton was born in Comanche County April 11, 1887, and came to the Cleveland Community at the age of 13 years. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Blanton. He was married to Nora Q. Scott September 12, 1912 in Santa Anna. A retired farmer, he was a member of the Cleveland Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. M. F. Blanton of the Cleveland Community; two sons, Sidney E. Blanton of the Cleveland Community and Thomas L. Blanton of Kempner, Texas, six daughters, Mrs. Nell Rainey of Lubbock, Mrs. Shirley Phillips of Pecos, Mrs. Fannie Anderson of Fayetteville, Ark., Mrs. Lois Myers of Andrews, Mrs. Myrtle Williams of Pecos and Mrs. Oneta McBeth of Andrews; two brothers, Hill Blanton of Owens, Texas and Irl Blanton of Stockton, Calif.; 24 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

GRAIN HARVEST ABOUT COMPLETE

Pictured above is the vacant lot behind the post office, just about covered with oats produced on some of the farms in the Santa Anna area. In the background can be seen both elevators operating in the area. Many thousands of pounds of grain have been handled through the local facilities during the past three weeks.

A report from the Continental Grain Company showed they have handled some 700,000 pounds of wheat and 600,000 pounds of oats during the season. The Santa Anna Co-op Elevator has handled some 175 car loads of both grains during the same time.

It appears the wheat has generally made about as many bushels per acre as the oats have, which is very unusual. Wheat has averaged around 22 to 23 bushels per acre, while oats on the average has yielded about 24 to 25 bushels per acre. Some oats have made as much as about 55 bushels, but most of them seem to be in the smaller numbers. Wheat has been pretty general in making from 20 to 30 bushels.

This has been one of the best crops produced in many years. The prices of both grains have been rather good throughout the season, with wheat selling at $1.30 throughout the season and oats increasing from 60 cents at the beginning of the season to 64 cents early this week.

Farm Bureau Opposes Minimum Wage Increase

Waco — The Texas Farm Bureau this week voiced its opposition to proposed legislation which would increase the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour and extend it to additional millions of workers.

J. H. West, president of the state farm organization, stated the Farm Bureau's position on the issue in letters to all members of the Texas congressional delegation. He urged the Texas lawmakers to use their influence to defeat the proposals.

The farm leader said Farm Bureau is opposed to the proposed changes in the new law because they would:

- (1) Reduce farm income by increasing the cost of goods and services used on the farm.
- (2) Give further impetus to inflationary trends and increase the cost of living.
- (3) Price the services of many people out of the market. This would apply primarily to those who have handicaps of age, experience or capacity whose services would be worth less than employers would gain by employing them.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilburn, Carolyn, Nancy and Warren, of Big Lake, visited in the home of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Herndon, over the weekend.

Mrs. Bill Spradlin and Debra Page, Arizona, visited over the weekend with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Owen.

Campbell Gin Destroyed by Fire June 17

The Vernon Campbell Gin, located on Bowie Avenue in South Santa Anna, was completely destroyed by fire early Friday morning, June 17. The fire department was called to the gin about 1:30 a. m. and when they arrived the roof was already caving in.

No cause for the fire has been determined. There was no electric service to the gin, and no work had been in progress there during the past several months. The entire building and equipment was a total loss.

Campbell estimated his loss at more than $30,000 above the insurance coverage. Less than $10,000 in insurance was carried on the building and equipment.

Asked if he planned to rebuild, Campbell said he did not know yet just what he would do. He said he might attempt to purchase a second hand gin and move it here, or he might rebuild, but plans were incomplete at this time.

State Capitol NEWS

Austin — Texas Democrats are starting a fresh page in their history. The era when the party could be split on the basis of who voted for Eisenhower in 1952 is ended.

Only state which could revive that long-chanted chant of convention would be for the party to nominate a member so disasterted to Texas that the state would again go Republican.

At the state convention Democrats of widely varying views united behind the Lyndon Johnson banner to bury the extreme harders of the DOTC in the most overwhelmingly lopsided vote in the party history.

State Executive Committee proposed a loyalty pledge binding on state party officials, delegates to Los Angeles and presidential electors.

DOT insisted that in addition, a loyalty pledge should be circulated among the county delegations and that no one should be allowed to stay in the state convention hall unless he signed it.

DOT did everything possible to fan the issue. Blurred, hastily printed flyers headed "Who Says Party Loyalty Is a False Issue?" were scattered outside the convention hall. Flyers showed a picture of Gov. Price Daniel introducing Eisenhower at a 1952 campaign rally and reproduced a copy of the ballot by which a majority of Texans split their tickets in '52 and '56 by voting Democratic on the state level and Republican on the national level.

Alex Diekey of Denton, one of the DOT spokesmen given equal time to debate the issue before the delegates, proclaimed heatedly that "party loyalty is the issue before this convention."

But his weapon had lost its edge. After the vote, Governor Daniel declared that any group that tries to send a rival delegation to Los Angeles on the basis of 40 votes out of 2,292 "must be out of their minds."

Even drooping DOTers agreed. Diekey refused to bolt, told sympathizers waiting outside they had been beaten fairly.

Reporters, who had tried to beat deadlines by writing "hold for release" stories describing the expected "rump" convention, hastily filed mandatory kill orders.

UNITY IN DIVERSITY

Events at the State Democratic convention, though it was frequently referred to as the most united, most harmonious in history, demonstrated clearly that it is, as it always has been, only as united as strong personal leadership can keep it.

By its very make-up the Texas Democratic Party is like six tomatoes in a tow sack. Gulf between the very conservative delegation sent to Austin by Harris County and the very liberal delegation from Bexar County is greater than the gulf between Republican and Democrat in many parts of the county.

Convention keynoter, Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth, took note of this. "Out of our disorganization, our diversity, and even our disagreements," said Wright, "comes our strength. We are the party of no one because we are the party of everyone."

Test of this came after Senator Johnson made his triumphal entry to the accompaniment of marching placard-carriers, music and cheers. When the tumult ended and Johnson began to speak, the Harris County delegation, which had voted not to support Johnson, booed at the end of each statement. It was an awkward moment.

Senator Johnson, who was discussing his experiences in the U. S. Senate in working with men of such contrary views as Senator Byrd of Virginia and Senator Morse of Oregon, departed from the text of his speech.

Despite their differences, said Johnson, these senators "always behave in a courteous and gentlemanly manner."

Harris County was heard from no more, and Texas Democrats proceeded with for Texas, first class harmony.

EXIT MRS. RANDOLPH

Mrs. H. H. Weinert of Seguin will return next month to the post as national Democratic committeewoman from Texas.

Mrs. Weinert was national committeewoman for eight years and was replaced by Mrs. R. D. Randolph of Houston in 1956.

Mrs. Weinert will be officially elected at the national convention beginning July 11 in Los Angeles. But for all practical purposes Mrs. Randolph already is departed.

By resolution, the state convention took away from her all authority and privilege she might have between now and retiring. It was retaliation for the way which Mrs. Randolph, as head of the DOTC, has waged on Senator Johnson, Governor Daniel, National Committeeman E. W. Skelton and almost all other party officials for four years.

As national committeewoman, Mrs. Randolph is entitled to be a delegate to the national convention and east one-half delegate vote. Convention declared she must be bound by the unit rule and vote with the rest of the delegation. In short, "all the way with LBJ." Also, the convention asked that she have no control over credentials and tickets to the national convention.

GOP PLANS LAID

Texas Republican leaders are saying, in effect, that they won't fight among themselves, but will save their strength to fight Democrats in the general election next fall.

Texas' GOP traditionally has been very harmonious, except in 1952 when newcomers supporting Eisenhower wrested control from the Old Guard.

Texas' delegation to the GOP Chicago convention are pledged to support Vice President Nixon for president, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for vice president. Early talk of supporting Senator Goldwater or New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller for president ended short of a floor battle.

Most Republican energy at their state convention was used to try to lure Independent and Conservative Democrats to their fold by criticizing Democrats, as the party of "give-away programs" and "federal intervention."

MOVING UP

Preliminary 1960 census figures show Texas, with a population of 9,493,895, ranking sixth among the 50 states — behind New York, California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Houston, apparently will be moved up from 14th largest to sixth largest city in the nation, following New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Detroit.

ENLARGED RESERVOIR PLANNED

Governor Daniel and the State Water Board have approved plans to enlarge a proposed salt water barrier and reservoir on the Trinity River near Wallisville to four feet, instead of two feet, above water level.

Applications to build the new Trinity reservoirs were granted last spring after one of the longest, most heated hearings ever held before the Water Board.

Today's MEDITATION
from
The World's Most Widely Used
Devootional Guide

The Upper Room
THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE
Read II Corinthians 6:14-18.
Come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you. (II Corinthians 6:17-18.)

John Bunyan tells us in The Pilgrim's Progress that Christian and Faithful, while on their way to the Celestial City, had to pass through Vanity Fair. Because they were different they met opposition, at first amused but later angry. They saw nothing they wished to buy in the city or Vanity Fair. When asked what they would buy, they looked gravely at the questioner and said, "We buy the truth."

The world through which we pass is in some aspects another "Vanity Fair." If we are Christians, we must remain free from the enticements to do evil. So much of our failure as Christians is due more to low aim than to the effect of evil upon us. We resist what is evil, but are inclined at the same time to conform to world standards.

Separation from the world means laying aside "weights" as well as avoiding sins.

PRAYER:
Lord God, we seek Thee because of Thy purity and power. Fill us with lofty desires that we may seek first Thy kingdom and righteousness and so set no store on other things which have no permanent satisfaction for us. We ask this in the Saviour's name. Amen.

Here's what the new 3 3/4% interest rate on U.S. Savings Bonds means to you:

$3 = $4
fourteen months faster than before

The Bonds you own are better than ever, too

The new 3 3/4% rate means your savings grow faster than before with U.S. Savings Bonds. $3 becomes $4, or $3,000 becomes $4,000 in just seven years, nine months. This applies to all Series E Bonds bought since June 1, 1959.

Then, all older Bonds, both Series E and H, pay more now—an extra 1/2% from June 1 on, when held to maturity.

And, all Series E Bonds carry a new 10-year extension privilege. This means your Bonds will keep earning liberal interest automatically after maturity.

These three new cash benefits make today's U.S. Savings Bonds the finest in history. They make the ones you own now better, too.

More advantages of U.S. Savings Bonds

You can save automatically. Just tell your company how much to deduct every payday for Bonds, and your Bonds will be delivered to you. This way you can't forget to save. And, remember, the money you don't touch can't slip through your fingers.

You can get your money, with interest, when you need it. Your Bonds are a ready reserve to use anytime you wish. But, it pays well to hold them.

Your savings can't be lost or stolen. The U.S. Government guarantees to replace your Bonds, free, if anything ever happens to them.

You save more than money. The Bonds you buy help keep the peace because peace costs money. Money for better education, new scientific research, greater military strength. Turkey Producers Should Watch Hatchery Reports College Station — The nation's turkey hatcheries report they have hatched 2 percent more poultlets since November 30, 1959, than for the same period a year ago. The number of poultlets hatched and eggs set during the week ending April 30, 1960, however, showed a decline compared to the same period a year earlier, points out Marshall Miller, associate poultry marketing specialist for the Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

In contrast to the present national trend, poultlets hatched and eggs set in Texas during the week ending April 30, have shown a sizable increase over last year's production, Miller says.

Our WASHINGTON Letter

THE DRIVE FOR pre-convention adjournment began, in earnest last week, with early and late sessions of both the House and Senate getting under way.

Foreign aid, minimum wage increases and expansion, a medicare bill, topped the agendas. The House-approved Diabolo Dam bill was being pushed in the Senate by Senator Johnson, with likelihood of early approval in that body.

Election-year housing legislation was almost sure of approval in Congress. Totalling more than a billion dollars, this proposal faces a probable veto. Actually this measure smacks of budget-busting proportions because it contains so much that is admittedly non-essential.

THE PRESENT $1 minimum wage law would be increased to $1.25 an hour and an additional 4 million employees covered, by pending bills being advanced in both the House and Senate. Even sponsors of this legislation admit this proposal is inflationary, but it is attempted to be justified on other grounds.

Actually, according to many experts, this ambitious expansion of the wage and hour law would not only be inflationary but would put a good many fringe-type employees out of jobs and onto relief rolls. And small businessmen from over the nation indicate that the increase in the minimum will result in screening of employees and thousands being released.

On paper, this attempt to force higher wages sounds good. But in application it would, according to an avalanche of testimony, be harmful to a lot of people and probably result in the actual closing of a good many small business enterprises.

But sponsors insist the increase will mean prosperity because it will require higher wages in many industries. If so, then perhaps the minimum should be upped to $2 an hour and thereby increase prosperity accordingly.

In the final analysis, under our free enterprise system an employee cannot be paid more than his productive capacity justifies. Otherwise, the business must fail. And while average going wage levels are today rather high, to set a high arbitrary minimum would result in wages above that minimum being inevitably pushed up — and hence the inflation. A man may get an increase only to find that what he buys with it at the store costs more.

All that glitters is not necessarily gold.

Good Herd Management Big Aid To Milk Production

College Station — Don't relax your efforts in production of high quality milk. That's the advice to dairymen from M. A. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman, who adds that seasonal jobs may take more attention now but herd management and production of top quality milk must always be prime considerations.

If milk drops and quality slips, much time and effort spent in the fields is lost through lower cash income from milk sales.

In milk, flavor and keeping quality are the factors that influence acceptability by the consumer.

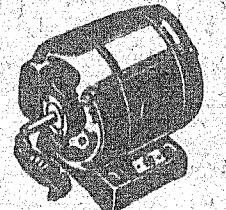

Visitors with Mrs. Annie Munger recently were her daughter, Mrs. Betty Sackett and Leasil Harris, both of San Angelo. Mrs. Lee Hunter of Santa Anna and Mrs. Helen Hunter of Whiteface.

27 Motorcides Predicted for July 4th Weekend

An alert went out to Texas motorists early this week as the Texas Department of Public Safety predicted 27 motorcides will occur on streets and highways of this state during the three-day Fourth of July weekend.

The period covered by the prediction, during which time the DPS will conduct its Operation Deathwatch, extends from 12:01 a. m. Saturday, July 2 through 11:59 p. m. Monday, July 4. The DPS Statistical section keeps the official state records of the holiday death count on the calendar day basis, in contrast to wire service counts using fractional parts of days and different holiday periods.

The DPS prediction released by Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director, emphasized that 4,000 cars will be damaged requiring average repairs of some $1,500 during the three-day period. The report said that 1,500 persons will receive bodily injury with some persons being crippled for life.

These are some of the factors on the grim side of the holiday," Garrison said, "but it is necessary to relate them in order to explain the seriousness of the holiday traffic situation to Texas motorists."

The Fourth of July is a holiday in which Texans go out of doors and do lots of driving. I wish everyone a good time during the July Fourth weekend. At the same time I would like to advise them to be careful."

For some one else drive if you drink, watch your food and keep it refrigerated, and don't mar your holiday with personal injuries.

Young people interested in "home office" employment as stenographers, typists and clerks must be at least 18 years of age, and must qualify by passing a Civil Service examination, a physical examination and a background investigation.

Young people interested in "Foreign Service" employment as secretaries, stenographers, communications, mail and pouch clerks must be at least 21, American citizen for at least 5 years, single with no dependents, high school graduates in excellent health, and available to go to any one of 286 Embassies, Legations or Consulates located in 99 countries throughout the world.

Travel, foreign lands, good pay and opportunity for advancement are, of course, important to individuals in considering overseas employment, but the Department is most interested in those candidates who have the concept of service to their country uppermost in mind.

Yellow Cats Must Choose Own Partners Austin, Tex. (AP)—Raising yellow cats presents more problems than any other species of fish, according to the Director of Hatcheries, Texas Game and Fish Commission.

"The greatest problem in raising them is spawning," said the director. "However, nearly as great is the problem of matching brood fish and feeding the little offspring."

"It seems that yellow cats, like many other forms of wildlife, must choose their own mates. Other fish, such as bass, are not so particular, but yellows will not produce unless they are with the mates of their choice."

Usually, hatchery personnel catch mated cats in their nets since pairs normally travel together. These are transferred to hatching ponds where they can spawn. Often, when a hatchery pond containing yellow cats is drained, pairs tend to isolate themselves in the shallow water.

These also are kept together and used as brood fish. Once a pair accepts each other and successfully spawn one year, they will continue to spawn each year as long as they remain together.

Once the eggs hatch, biologists are faced with the problem of feeding the little ones. Baby cats manage in hatching ponds until they reach about 2 1/2 inches. Then, they refuse anything but live food.

"These are just some of the problems encountered in our experiments with yellow cats," said the director. "Some day we hope to find solutions to these obstacles so we can satisfy the stocking demands in the State."

Diplomacy Is Your Business

The art of diplomacy is said to be as old as government itself in the United States, the Department of State was the first executive department of government to be established, and it has grown from a small agency into an intricate organization employing thousands of dedicated Americans.

The Department of State is the headquarters of a vast reporting system which stretches from Washington, D. C. to the far corners of the earth.

From its posts abroad members of the United States Foreign Service report to the State Department on foreign developments which have a bearing on the welfare and security of the American people.

From its "home office" in Washington, D. C., members of the Departmental Service are engaged in programs in direct support of the Department's responsibilities in the field of foreign affairs.

Young men and women, if you are interested in using your clerical skills in return for the opportunity to take part in the conduct of foreign relations with other nations, the time to do something about it is now," says Ancel N. Taylor, the State Department's Chief of Employment.

The Department is interested in drawing its employees from every one of the 50 States of the Union; from big cities and small towns, from villages and farms.

Persons interested in "home office" employment as stenographers, typists and clerks must be at least 18 years of age, and must qualify by passing a Civil Service examination, a physical examination and a background investigation.

Starting salaries range from $3,255 to $3,755 per year.

Young people interested in "Foreign Service" employment as secretaries, stenographers, communications, mail and pouch clerks must be at least 21, American citizen for at least 5 years, single with no dependents, high school graduates in excellent health, and available to go to any one of 286 Embassies, Legations or Consulates located in 99 countries throughout the world.

Restricted Feeding For Rearing Pullets Explained

College Station — Restricted feeding of broiler strain pullets from the sixth-eighth week of the growing period, until the start of egg production has been found, to result in a delay in sexual maturity and a lower body weight at the beginning of egg production.

This practice has several advantages for the poultryman, said Dr. C. W. Deyoe, Texas A & M Poultry Service, Department. There is an increase in the number of large settable eggs during the production period, an overall increase in egg size, reduced mortality, and a reduction in the cost of rearing the pullets to sexual maturity.

The two general methods commonly used for feed restriction are mechanical restriction of a high energy ration or caloric restriction with a low energy, high fiber formula containing 13-14 percent protein and oat or rice hulls as the fiber source.

Mechanical restriction may be accomplished by limiting the amount of high energy feed given to the pullets to 10-15 pounds per day, or by limiting the length of time the birds have access to the feed. The use of a high fiber diet will restrict the caloric intake because the birds will be unable to consume enough feed to meet their total energy requirement.

Since mechanical restriction involves more labor expense, the use of a high fiber formula may prove to be more economical under some conditions, Deyoe stated. Birds on a high fiber diet, however, will consume up to one and one-half times as much feed as pullets on a high energy diet, so this must be considered.

The use of restricted feeding practices has also gained much interest in replacement stock for egg production. But here the results of restricted feeding are not as clear cut as with broiler replacement pullets, Deyoe said.

Numerous practices may be used for rearing replacement stock and the method chosen should be one that produces a healthy bird with the lowest possible laying house mortality, and a maximum return per chick started, he added.

College Station — Although the hot weather of late spring, summer and early fall increases the feed efficiency of laying flocks, it can also be detrimental to them, reports Dr. J. H. Quisenberry, head of the Texas A & M Poultry Science Department.

Reduced shell quality, decline in production and drop in interior egg quality are the major poultry problems of summertime, but they can be solved or reduced by an alert poultryman.

In hot weather, the bird's ability to absorb and utilize calcium is impaired, resulting in an increased number of cracked and broken eggs, Quisenberry says that the use of improved ventilation, pad and fan or spray nozzle cooling system and increased calcium level in the ration will help solve the problem of shell quality.

Decline in production is perhaps the most important economic problem of hot weather. The higher environmental temperature, however, reduces the amount of feed needed to keep the body warm. Therefore, if the rate of egg production can be kept up, feed efficiency increases considerably, Quisenberry explains. Egg production may be kept up, Quisenberry says, by use of the following management practices: use of economical cooling system; provision of unlimited cool, clean drinking water; increased ventilation; maintenance of a constant or increasing light period in the house; feeding at least twice daily and stirring feed up to three additional times daily; and painting the roof white to increase radiation.

Heat is the worst enemy of egg quality. The following practices will pay off in higher grades and longer shelf life which means more income for the poultryman: gather the eggs at least three, and preferably five times daily; place in coolers immediately; gather the eggs in a wire basket and do not fill over half full; separate the clean eggs from the dirty and spray with a light oil or wax; wash dirty eggs with a sanitizer detergent and cool quickly after drying; if possible, transport eggs in a refrigerated truck; gather and store eggs on small end.

If these few management precautions are taken, most poultrymen will find summer egg production both a pleasant and profitable business, Quisenberry concludes.

City water was first piped into the White House in Washington in 1833.

Electric lights were first installed in the White House in the early 1890's.

Turkeys and Melons Rate USDA Plentiful List

College Station — Looks like a spread for an old-fashioned Fourth of July Picnic!

That's how the Texas Extension Service, College Station, describes the U. S. Department of Agriculture's July plentiful foods list for this area.

There is turkey for the main dish, surrounded by a variety of summer vegetables, with watermelons, cantaloupes and peaches for salads and desserts.

Farmers are marketing about 10 percent more turkeys this summer than last. In addition, cold storage stocks are larger than last year and larger than average says the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Larger crops than last summer are expected for onions, potatoes, lettuce, celery, eggplant, green peppers and cabbage.

Heavy supplies of lemons and limes suggest many cool and refreshing beverages.

Also, USDA July plentifuls include ice cream, peanut butter and vegetable fats and oils.

Farm Bureau Mexico Tour Begins July 14

Waco — A touring delegation of Texas farmers and ranchers and their wives can expect a royal welcome when they visit Mexico July 14-24 on the Texas Farm Bureau goodwill tour to the romantic land south of the border.

The group will fly to Mexico City on July 4 and arrive back in the Lone Star State by air July 24. Mexican Minister of Agriculture Julian Rodriguez Adame has extended an official invitation for Farm Bureau members in Texas to visit Mexico on this combination goodwill, educational and pleasure trip.

"While tour spaces are limited, there are openings for those wanting to go along on the 11-day tour," J. H. West, president of the state farm organization, said. Persons wishing information on the tour can contact county Farm Bureau offices in the county or write to the Texas Farm Bureau, Box 489, Waco, he added.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Pettway of Tyler were visitors this week with Mrs. Lona Merritt.

I Challenge Your Right to Drive

By J. Edgar Hoover Director, Federal Bureau Of Investigation

More than four human lives are sacrificed on the roads of America every hour. Traffic fatalities are a major cause of death in the United States. And frankly, the problem threatens to become far worse unless our people readjust their thinking and adopt a more realistic attitude toward the citizen who — though law-abiding in all other respects — repeatedly violates traffic regulations.

In terms of the grief and suffering which he causes, the careless, indifferent or irresponsible motorist is as great a threat to this country as the most vicious criminal gunman.

Yet disrespect for traffic regulations has become so common a place throughout the United States today that in the words of many motorists it is impossible to exceed the speed limit, drive through stop signs, pass other cars on hills and blind curves, and to "run" a traffic light if no police cars are in sight. Reputable citizens — persons who would never think of committing other types of violations — run the gamut of traffic offenses without suffering the slightest pang of conscience.

Loud protests have been raised against the use of radar to detect speeders and, thereby, to make the roads safer for all. Police officers who stop violators are sneered at and subjected to insults. Many offenders complain about the "inconvenience" of having to appear in traffic court. Warning, pleas and education programs have made the least impression when the need for them has been the greatest.

The time has come for the American people to stop tolerating the arrogant, disrespectful attitude which so many motorists openly display toward the traffic codes. Drivers who prove by their own actions that they constitute a menace to themselves and others must be denied the privilege of operating motor vehicles.

In areas where the existing laws are inadequate to meet the problem, new and more realistic traffic codes should be adopted. Motorists who are guilty of repeated offenses, as well as those who have intentionally placed the lives of other citizens in jeopardy, must be treated as the public menaces they are. Whenever it is in the public interest to do so, maximum fines and long jail sentences should be imposed upon offenders.

Each year, traffic accidents claim thousands of American lives. The senseless slaughter and crippling of human beings on our roads have reached staggering proportions. The problem must be met immediately. And it must be met with forceful, positive action.

The price of failure has been paid in San Rafael, California, where a school bus carrying 30 children was struck by a truck, killing four children and injuring 20 others.

National Education Assn. Convention In Los Angeles

Austin — A lot of Texas teachers will be heading for California this week to attend the National Education Association convention in Los Angeles, June 26-July 2.

But some of them may not be going. The state of California has a reputation for being a "teacher's state" and many teachers are leaving for other states because of the high cost of living and the low pay.

The Austin school district will receive a grant from the state to help pay the cost of the convention. The grant will be $15,000.

Milan is going to teach in San Francisco. He has been in the Austin school district for 10 years and has been a teacher in the Austin school district for 15 years.

Milan's salary there will be $5,000 next year, compared to $3,500 in Austin this year. He will be teaching the fifth grade, the kind of job he had at 16.

COMMISSIONERS URGE FULL PARITY INCOME

An urgent request that Congress adopt necessary legislation to enable the American farmer to achieve 100 percent parity income was among the most far-reaching resolutions adopted by the 14-state Southern Commissioners of Agriculture at their 1960 meeting in San Antonio.

It was emphasized by the Southern Commissioners in their resolution that "in past several years net farm income has shown a rapid decline from $15 billion to $11.5 billion and farm mortgage indebtedness has increased from $7 billion to $11 billion, and farmers are not receiving their share of the national wealth."

The Commissioners also made it clear that in their opinion "present farm programs are obviously inadequate to meet farm needs."

No attempt was made to spell out any particular course of legislation or to restrict Congress in working toward a solution of the crisis in present farm programs.

Instead, the resolving clause stated simply: "Now, therefore, it is resolved, that the Southern Commissioners of Agriculture in convention assembled at San Antonio, Texas, June 10-13, 1960, urgently request the Congress to adopt necessary legislation to enable the farmer to achieve 100 percent parity income."

This is one of the resolutions which was forwarded to Rep. Chester A. Bowles (D-Conn), chairman of the platform committee for the 1960 Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles, to Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), and to other national leaders for their consideration. Both the chairman of the platform committee and Senator Johnson had expressed interest in receiving a full report of the deliberations and decisions of the Southern Commissioners reached at San Antonio.

Another notable resolution adopted by the Commissioners observed that "credit is a necessary implement in helping small family-sized farms, and interest rates to the farmer are too high." It was resolved that Congress be urged to "appoint a committee to study the needs of small farmers for credit and that appropriate legislation be enacted."

The Texas Commissioner of Agriculture was elected president of the Southern Commissioners, succeeding Agriculture Commissioner S. E. (SI) Corley of Mississippi.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

Having your tax return audited by Internal Revenue Service is not recommended by most people. A lot of folks get plumb excited when they are asked to take their records to Internal Revenue for audit. The tax folks want taxpayers to be calm and cool when it is necessary to discuss items on their tax return. The tax folks very carefully train agents and auditors to look at both the government's side and the taxpayer's side of each question. The law requires every person to keep proper records to substantiate items of income and deductions. If you keep records to prove your deductions, you will have no trouble.

About Your Health

Both wildlife and domestic animal rabies showed declines in May according to Texas State Health Department animal disease figures.

State Health Department veterinarians attribute the decline to a seasonal drop and the effects of local rabies control programs now active in several Texas areas.

Forty examined heads proved positive during May compared to 88 positive heads examined in March and 48 in April.

The number of heads submitted for examinations is also declining. In May 409 heads were prepared for examination—a decrease from 591 heads prepared in March.

Whole heads are sent to the State Health Department laboratory in Austin where the brains are carefully prepared for microscopic examination for presence of "Negri bodies," indicating rabies infection.

A breakdown of positive animal heads examined for May shows 10 dogs and three cats. Also there were nine foxes, 15 skunks and three bats.

Statistics show that domestic pet rabies is running only one-third as high as the five-year median while bovine rabies is just half as much as the five-year median figure.

At the same time wildlife rabies is running ahead of the usual incidence level.

The high rate of wildlife rabies makes control measures among domestic animals more important than ever, public health authorities say. They warn against possible outbreaks at any time or place.

An unprotected domestic animal population—especially dogs—could mean exposure to humans during an unexpected outbreak before emergency controls could be enacted.

Heads submitted for examination to the State Health Department laboratory include almost every species of wildlife—rabbits, rats, squirrels, flying squirrels, mice, raccoons, gophers, and hamsters.

Laboratory technicians ask that heads sent for examination be packed in ice, but separated from ice in smaller container.

Whole heads should be submitted instead of just brains to avoid accidental infection during removal of the brain by untrained persons.

Excessive Speed Principal Factor in Rural Farm Accidents

Austin—“Excessive speed was the principal cause-factor in 53 percent of every rural fatal traffic accident in Texas during 1959.”

J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, stated this fact today as he sought public support for the Slow Down and Live program being conducted throughout the state between now and Labor Day.

“Excessive speed does not necessarily mean violating a law,” Musick said. “But, is driving at any speed which is too fast for conditions—such as may exist because of heavy traffic, rain storms, a mechanically poor car, etc.”

The safety expert said that one of the objectives of the Slow Down and Live campaign is to encourage people to maintain an even and prudent speed that will reduce congestion and danger by an even flow of traffic.

He said that this calls for the elimination of any speed—too fast or too slow—that disrupts the orderly movement of traffic.

“It is important the public realize the dangers of improper speed, understand the speed laws, the meaning of speed signs and, above all, how to adjust their speeds to conditions of driver, vehicle, weather and roadway,” Musick said. “A bit of common sense goes a long way in traffic safety. Every driver on the road must accept his responsibility and remember to drive safely.”

Biologist Tells How to Start Ponds on Farms

Austin—Preliminaries for farm pond management are fully discussed in the current issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine, in an article prepared by C. R. Inman, aquatic biologist of the Game and Fish Commission.

“The objective of any good lake management program are to control the species of fish present and to provide conditions for good fishing,” Inman said.

He then lists five requirements. They include the eradication of wild or rough fish; construction designed to avoid introduction of unwanted fish; installation of drainpipes; preparation of the lake bottom; and proper stocking.

“The most common mistake made by lake owners is overstocking with fish,” he cautions. “It is very important that the correct species and ratio of game fish be released in a new lake at the proper time.”

Since largemouth bass and channel catfish are the most popular pond game species, they should be stocked at a ratio of 150 bass to 50 catfish per surface acre of water. If at all possible, bass fry should be released in the spring or early summer to permit fast growth of the fish.

“If sunfish (bream) are to be stocked, not much more than 50 per acre should be stocked. These should be released during the late fall to prevent them from reproducing during the same season they are stocked.”

Perserverance indicates a strong will; obstinance a strong won't.
