WE'RE FOR JOHNSON

We're for Lyndon B. Johnson for President of the United States of America, and we hope enough of the delegates to the Democratic Convention, to begin in Los Angeles, Calif., on Monday of next week, will feel the same way and will nominate him for that office.

Johnson is going to have some tough going to get the nomination and there is the big possibility that he may not get it. Sen. John F. Kennedy is making an all-out effort to get the nomination and he has much liberal-labor and other support that we in this area think undesirable.

From all reports of news commentators and other writers, Johnson has a better chance of being elected than any other Democratic candidate. If he is nominated, Johnson can, in all probability carry more states in the nation than any other candidate on either the Democratic or Republican side at this time.

There are two other big contenders for the Democratic nomination. One is Adlai Stevenson and the other is Sen. Symington. Stevenson has been the nominee for the Democratic Party for the past two elections, and has actually polled a fewer number of votes than any other Democratic Party candidate in modern history. In the 1956 election Stevenson actually carried seven of the then 48 states. Yet there is a big boost for him to receive the nomination again. It looks to this writer like the Democrats could take a lesson from the Republicans, when they kept running Mr. Dewey.

Sen. Symington has the support of former President Harry Truman, but does not want it. There is little doubt that the Senator from Missouri can gain the nomination. However, he may be a dark-house candidate if Johnson or Kennedy does not get the nomination in the first four or five ballots.

Johnson made public his announcement that he was seeking the nomination on Tuesday of this week. We have all known he was all this year, but he refused to make the statement as long as Congress was in Session.

Johnson has proved himself to be an able and capable leader during the years he has served as the Senate Majority Leader. Although he has done many things we do not approve of in the exact manner in which he has acted, there is no other candidate who can claim the leadership he has — and the leadership he has proved during his years in the Senate.

It will be very interesting to watch the proceedings as they progress during the convention, starting Monday.

Band School Called Off

James A. Mallow, who has resigned his position here as band director, said this week that he would not be able to conduct the band school he had previously announced he would hold in July.

Mallow said he would assume his new duties in Brady on July 25, and because he had so much to do to get moved and ready for the new job, he just didn't have the necessary time to conduct the school.

Mallow said there was a possibility the new band director would want to conduct a band school later in the summer.

Cullen Perry, Superintendent of Schools, said the School Board would meet Tuesday night of this week, but it was not likely they would employ a new band director at that meeting. He said they had several applications, and the board would likely discuss some of them, and possibly call a special meeting later in the week or early next week for the purpose of employing a new band director.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Campbell and children and Mrs. Zada Dixon of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Sturman and girls of Jal, N.M., Mr. and Mrs. Allie Gilbert and girls of Odessa were visitors in the Luther McCrary home over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Dixon and Mrs. McCrary attended the Indian Creek Homecoming held in Brownwood on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Guthrie Jr. and sons, Les and Lane, took James Phillips, a cousin who had visited here for two weeks, to Austin over the weekend. Phillips joined friends there and returned to his home in Houston.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY.

Presbyterians To Observe 75th Anniversary Sunday

Members of the Santa Anna Presbyterian Church have their plans completed for the observance of their 75th anniversary, to be held at the local church Sunday, July 10. The church was organized July 10, 1885.

Invitations have gone out to all known former members, requesting their attendance on Sunday. Indications are that a good number of them will be present. All living former pastors have also been invited.

The church extends a cordial invitation to all citizens of this area to join with them in the observance. All who plan to be there for the noon meal are requested to notify M. L. Guthrie Jr., chairman of the publicity committee.

Records of the church indicate that in May, 1883 a group of Cumberland Presbyterians banded together to form a church under the leadership of Rev. A. J. Haynes. The group presented a request to the Presbytery for membership at a later date, and in July, 1885 the Presbytery met in Santa Anna and officially granted the membership. The membership was granted on July 10, 1885.

Mrs. J. Z. Vercher, now 90 years of age, recalls the event. Although not a charter member of the church, Mrs. Vercher has been a member for many years, having transferred here from another church.

Actually Miss Blanche Boyd has been on the church roll longer than any other living person. Her name first appeared on the roll in 1883 and she has continually been a member. There are a number of other persons in the community who have been members more than 50 years. Miss Boyd's parents were charter members of the church.

Youngest members of the church are Barrett Markland and Pam Garrett. Miss Garrett's grandparents were very active in the organization and building of the church.

The present church edifice is the only one the congregation has ever had. It was the first brick church built in Santa Anna and was dedicated in 1909. The congregation first worshipped in the little frame school house. Later the Methodist and Baptist churches shared their buildings with the Presbyterians until they both went to full time churches. Then the group worshipped in the Stockard Hall until they built their own building.

Root Rot Kills Trees and Shrubs

College Station — Mushroom root rot is one of the most common root rot diseases of shade trees and shrubs. Peach and plum orchards are frequently destroyed by the disease which occurs in all areas of Texas. Infected trees or shrubs usually die from April through July.

Wilted leaves are the first symptom. Next, one or two limbs may die. In a few days, the entire tree or shrub dies. Dead areas are produced in the bark on the main trunk and larger roots just beneath the soil surface. When the dead bark is peeled back, the white mold growth of the fungus over the wood surface is seen.

The fungus occurs most frequently in wooded areas or in recently cleared land. Arbovitae, chinaberry, cultivated junipers, rose and pyracantha appear to be very susceptible. Fruiting bodies of the fungus consist of honey-colored or light brown "toadstools" or mushrooms. These mushrooms cluster near the base of infected trees or shrubs, generally in the fall. Whether they develop depends on the weather and the extent of decay.

All tree stumps and large roots should be removed as thoroughly as possible before orchards are set in infested soil. Planting of newly-cleared land to an annual crop for several years helps to kill the fungus.

Native yucca and cedar are resistant. Photinia, gardenia, wax-leaf ligustrum, Japanese privet and crape myrtle have been known to escape the disease in infested areas. Lawn grass sod growing too close to a tree or shrub may encourage attack by the mushroom root rot fungus.

Local county extension agents can supply additional information on this and other plant diseases.

under the leadership of Rev. J. M. Youree.

In 1924 the church manse was added while Rev. J. M. Burrow was pastor. The Fellowship Hall was added in 1948, through the leadership of the present pastor, Rev. Ben H. Moore. Rev. Moore has pastored the church for the past 17 years.

The women's organization was begun in 1902 and was known as the Ladies Aid of Missionary Society. Now known as the Presbyterian Women's Organization, they have always been helpful in carrying on the work of the church as well as doing a lot of work on the building, some of it through very difficult times.

Present officers of the church are: Pastor, Ben H. Moore; Sunday School Superintendent, J. W. McClellan; President of Ladies Auxiliary, Mrs. M. L. Guthrie Jr.; Elders, J. T. Oakes Sr., Walter Holt, Mark Davis, M. L. Guthrie Jr., Robert Markland, Lewis M. Guthrie, J. W. McClellan and T. J. McCaughan; Deacons, Ross Kelley, Clifford Lowe, Homer Vercher, Mrs. J. W. McClellan, Mrs. Fern Hoke and Mrs. John Bray.

Grass Fires Can be Very Dangerous Now

BE CAREFUL is about the best advice that can be offered right now. Throughout the Central Texas area pastures and other farm land is very dry right now, and just a carelessly thrown cigarette could start a very disastrous fire.

There are many other ways for fires to get started also. But during recent days we have heard many land owners throughout the area say that if by chance their pasture were to catch on fire, every bit of it would burn up in a short time.

The entire Central Texas area is in the midst of a very dry season. Vacant lots and other places where dead grass and weeds stand are potential dangerous fire hazards and should be cleaned off. Recently members of the Santa Anna Fire Department burned off most of the vacant lots in the business area and they will help you burn your vacant lots if you request it.

During recent weeks the local fire department has been called to a number of rural pasture fires, some of them having to be fought for hours before they are brought under control.

The cooperation of every citizen is urgently needed in order to keep the grass fires from getting started. And, if by chance, you happen to see one getting started, notify the fire department right away, then try to control the fire until the firemen arrive.

Don Stevens and family of Irvin and Annie Bell Muller of Ardmore, Okla., spent last weekend with Mrs. Clarence Gray and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coomes and children of Owensboro, Ky., are spending their vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Stacy. On Monday night the Coomes, Stacys and Mr. and Mrs. Ben P. Vinson took the Coomes children to the May Rodeo, a night they never see in the area where they live.

The 23rd performance of the annual Coleman Rodeo will get underway at the Coleman Rodeo Grounds Wednesday, July 13 and will continue through Saturday, July 16. Featured at the annual performance will be the five major rodeo events, plus the Girls Barrel Race, Top Speciality Acts plus Clowns and Bull-fighters.

Other features of the four days will be the annual parade to be held in downtown Coleman beginning at 5:00 p. m. and the annual Matched Roping Contest, between two of the Nation's top calf ropers. Following the rodeo each night, a dance will be held at the Coleman Armory Building, to complete each days activities.

In the daily parade each afternoon many interesting features will be paraded before the public. The Santa Anna Band will be one of the features on Thursday afternoon. Many horses and riders, along with riding clubs and other organizations will be featured in the parades and the Grand Entry at the rodeo each night.

The Matched roping contest this year will feature Rex Beck of Valera, matched against George Epperson of Cherokee, Texas. Each cowboy will rope three calves each night and the winner will be determined by the one having the least time after all twelve calves are roped and tied.

Admission tickets to the rodeo and to the reserved seat sections are now on sale at the Owl Drug Store in Coleman. They will remain on sale there throughout the rodeo. The admission tickets may also be purchased at the entrance gates and what remaining reserved seats are left will also be on sale each night of the performance.

The annual Coleman Rodeo is one of the top featured Rodeos in the south and is approved by the Rodeo Cowboys Association of America.

Insurance Due On Baseball Players Now

Insurance premiums are now due on all the boys playing baseball under the supervision of the Santa Anna Quarterback Club unless it has already been paid. All parents signed an agreement to pay the insurance in order for the boys to participate in the summer program.

The $1.65 per boy should be paid as soon as possible. Those who have not paid the insurance are requested to pay the amount to the boy's team manager, A. D. Dorham or to Mrs. Billie Guthrie at the Santa Anna Insurance Agency office.

It is very important that this be taken care of now.

New Law Makes Livestock on State Highways Illegal

The Texas Department of Public Safety reminded Texas cattle owners today that a new law went into effect July 1 aimed at controlling livestock on designated US and state highways.

for a person knowingly to permit his domestic livestock to roam at large and unattended on state and federal highways. It applies regardless of whether or not the highway right-of-way is fenced. Maximum fine for such violation is $200, and each day the violation occurs may be considered a separate offense.

Farm to market roads are excepted from the law. The new law also gives law enforcement officers the authority to have such livestock picked up, when unable to locate the owner and turned over to the sheriff or constable in the county.

The law does not prohibit the driving or herding of livestock across or along highways. It gives peace officers the authority to enforce provisions of the act without a warrant.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said state patrolmen will enforce provisions of the law in an effort to reduce the traffic hazards caused by animals on designated state and US highways. He said that during the year 1959 a total of 1,408 rural traffic accidents occurred in Texas involving animals of all types. In these accidents 216 persons were injured and 4 persons were killed.

Traffic Laws Are for Your Protection

"Traffic laws are, basically, for the protection of all citizens and the efficient movement of traffic. Cheating on traffic laws, then, will not only disrupt traffic but will eventually lead to a tragic, needless death or crippling injury."

This warning was issued today by J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association, in connection with TSA's Summer Slow Down and Live campaign.

"Some people think you can violate traffic laws freely... just as long as you don't get caught," he said. "Nowhere is this more evident or more fatal than in traffic."

"Persons who hire attorneys to ascertain their legal rights and obligations in business and property matters think nothing of risking their lives by driving without a good knowledge and a respect for traffic laws."

"Even if you have no regard for your personal safety, consider these consequences:

"When you drive faster than the speed limit, make wrong turns, go through stop signs or red lights or pass improperly, you run these risks: A traffic fine; damage to your vehicle that may amount to hundreds of dollars; medical expenses; time and income lost from your job; damage suits; possible loss of your driver's license; lawyer's fees; and you create anxiety for your family."

"Add to these the many indirect costs such as higher insurance rates and increased taxes, plus the suffering and anguish even a minor traffic accident could cause, and you have a real case for safer driving," Musick said.

Commenting on the role of law enforcement agencies, he said the Highway Patrolman or policeman on the corner, can only be as effective as the public permit him to be.

"Once the public is convinced that they have a personal responsibility for traffic safety," Musick said, "we can make further inroads into the shocking traffic accident record which last year killed 2,543 persons on Texas streets and highways, and injured 139,846. This is a terrible price to pay for apathy when public support is free."

Don't Take Chances When Storing AG Chemicals

College Station — Safe storage of agricultural chemicals is vital to farm safety, says the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. One recommendation of the Council makes for safe storage of chemicals is to always use properly labeled containers. Chemicals may look like other compounds such as sugar or soft drinks. Without a label it is impossible to distinguish between a dangerous substance and one that is safe. Agricultural chemical labels not only explain how the material is to be used but also the safety precautions that should be observed.

The Council lists these Commandments of Chemical Storage:

1. Have an organized place for storage.

2. It is best to use or dispose of small amounts of left-over chemicals.

3. When chemicals of any kind are stored, be sure the label is kept intact.

4. Keep chemicals stored in a dry place away from fire or other sources of ignition.

5. Keep the chemical storage place locked to keep out children and others who are not responsible.

6. Store highly toxic chemicals, those having skull and crossbones on label, high enough to be out of reach of children should they get into storage area.

7. Never stack one chemical on top of another.

8. Check label for instructions so that chemicals that should not be stored together are separated.

Wheat Allotments For 1961 in Mail

College Stations — Official notices of farm allotments for the 1961 wheat crop are being mailed to farmers this week, according to Baldwin P. Davenport, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Most of the allotments differ only slightly from those for 1960, since the national acreage allotment remains at the minimum of 55 million acres, Davenport said.

He pointed out that all growers who will produce more than 15 acres of wheat as grain in 1961 will be eligible to cast ballots in the July referendum on marketing quotas for the '61 wheat crop. Growers with smaller acreages and those in the feed wheat program are not eligible to vote since their wheat would not be subject to marketing quota penalties.

Davenport said the referendum would decide important questions for wheat producers and he urged all eligible growers to cast a ballot. Marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1961 wheat crop if two-thirds of the growers casting ballots favor their continuance. Too, marketing penalties will apply to the excess wheat of growers not complying with their farm allotments, and price support at not less than 75 percent of parity will be available.

If more than one-third of the voters oppose the quotas, no quotas or penalties will be in effect on the 1961 wheat crop and price support at 50 percent of parity will be available to producers who plant within their farm allotments.

Growers who like to make their own decisions should cast a ballot on July 21, Davenport said. Local announcements will soon be made regarding polling places and opening and closing times for the balloting. Local ASC offices can supply additional information on the referendum or it may also be obtained from community and county ASC committeemen, Davenport said.

Now Time to Reduce Root Rot

College Station — Deep-plow 1961 root rot infested cotton land as soon as possible. This advice comes from Dr. Harlan E. Smith, extension plant pathologist.

Deep plowing is most effective in reducing root rot if no rain occurs for at least two weeks after plowing according to Smith. A lot of hot, dry weather generally occurs during July and August thus making them good months in which to deep plow.

Smith goes on to explain that drying out the soil for 2 weeks or more after plowing helps to kill the root rot fungus by drying, aeration and killing roots of susceptible weeds.

Check the long range weather forecasts and try to select a time for deep-plowing when dry weather is expected, he advises. Deep-plow 10 to 14 inches or deeper with a mold board or disc type plow. Bedding or listing is ineffective in reducing cotton root rot.

Because of late cotton harvests in north Texas, many growers deep-plow small grain stubble or early grain sorghum land during July or August. This land is then used for cotton the following year.

Ask local extension agents for a copy of MP-361 "Root Rot Losses of Cotton Can Be Reduced." Smith suggests that renters of cotton land send a copy of the publication to their landlord. Landowners will be interested in helping carry out a cotton root rot reduction program because it will increase the farm income and increase the value of the land.

Committee Named to Select State's Top Soil Conservation

College Station — Judges who will select the three top soil conservation districts in Texas have been named by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, sponsor of a national soil conservation awards program, reports Jack Barton, extension soil and water conservation specialist.

Rollins Hill, chairman, Upper West Fork SCD supervisors, Antelope, has been named chairman of this year's judging committee. A. T. Vandiver, Dalworth SCD, Burleson, and T. N. Winn, Neches-Sabine SCD, Tyler, were named as the other two members of the committee. Vandiver and Winn are repeaters from last year's judging committee.

For purposes of the national contest, Texas is divided into three competing areas with six individuals being named for top honors. Most other states comprise a single competing unit. Winners will be named in July or August, Barton said.

INCREASED EFFICIENCY REDUCES MARKETING COSTS

Increased efficiency and lower transportation costs resulted in reduced marketing costs for fruits and vegetables during 1959.

After trending upward all during the 1950's marketing margins for fruits and vegetables decreased in 1959. Farmer's prices for fresh fruits and vegetables averaged slightly less than a year earlier, and retail prices were down about 5 percent. For processed items, an increase in prices paid to farmers resulted in an increase in retail prices.

Marketing margins for fruits and vegetables have not risen as much since World War II, as margins for several other product groups. Several things happened to hold down margins for fruits and vegetables. Costs were held down by a reduction in certain rail rates, wider use of fiberboard containers, greater productivity per marketing employee, most direct buying, and the extension of self-service at the retail level.

Transportation charges made up a substantial part of the marketing bill. In 1958, however, railroads began offering "incentive" rates on certain fresh fruits and vegetables shipped in volume.

Labor costs, another major part of the marketing bill for fruits and vegetables, were held down by improved productivity. Although the average hourly earnings of employees in the canning and preserving industry rose to $1.73 in 1959, increased output kept total labor costs from rising as much as hourly earnings.

Changes in marketing practices and channels also kept last year's marketing costs down.

The shift from wood to fiberboard containers saved money not only in initial purchases, but also along the marketing line. Fiberboard containers cost less to pack, handle, and load. Because they weigh less and make a more compact load, they achieve economies in freight and refrigeration costs as well.

The extension of self-service in retailing produce is still another example of cost-reducing methods. Prepackaging of fresh fruits and vegetables and an increase in the proportion sold in processed form have helped here.

Direct buying, which bypasses several handlers and middlemen, further contributed savings in procurement and handling costs.

Together, these — as well as many other — factors brought the marketing margin for fruits and vegetables down for the first time in nearly a dozen years.

New Pension Law in Effect As of July 1

The new veterans pension law approved by Congress and the President during 1959 went into effect July 1st.

The Veterans Administration said veterans and their dependents filing for pension from now on will do so under provisions of this new law known as a Public Law 86-211.

The new law increases both the maximum pension payments and the amount of permissible income from other sources and provides a sliding scale of payments based on need. At the same time, it provides for counting part of the wife's income as the veterans and for considering the net worth of the applicant.

The new law also puts pension eligibility requirements for widows and orphans of World War II and Korean conflict veterans on the same eligibility basis as those of World War I. It eliminates the previous requirement that a veteran of World War II or Korea have a service-connected disability at time of death.

Veterans and their dependents already on the pension rolls are allowed either to remain under the previous law or to elect to come under the new law. Such an election once made may not be revoked.

Pension is paid only in cases of veterans whose disabilities have no connection with their actual military service. Payments to veterans or their dependents for service-connected disabilities are called "Compensation" and are not affected by the pension laws.

Under the new law, single veterans with annual income not exceeding $1,800 who are permanently and totally disabled may be paid pension at a monthly rate ranging from $40 to $85, depending on the amount of other income they have. Similarly disabled veterans who have dependents can draw from $45 to $100 per month, and have a maximum income limitation of $3,000. To each of these amounts, $70 will be added if the veteran requires constant aid and attendance.

Widows alone may be paid from $25 to $60 a month and the rate increases to from $40 to $75 per month for widows with one child. An extra monthly payment of $15 is allowed for each additional child. The maximum income limitation for a widow alone is $1,800 and for a widow with children is $3,000.

Under the old pension system veterans whether single or with dependents, were paid a flat rate of $68.15. This payment was increased to $78.75 per month after 10 years on the rolls or attainment of age 65. Income limitations were $1,400 a year for single veterans, and $2,700 for veterans with dependents. A payment of $135.45 was allowed a veteran needing constant aid and attendance.

The old law provided flat payments of $50.40 for a widow alone; $63.00 for a widow with one child, and $7.56 for each additional child.

Detailed information regarding the new pension law may be obtained from any VA office.

Remember that a repainting job does not begin with the application of the paint. It starts with the proper preparation of the surfaces to be painted. The surfaces should be sound, clean, smooth, and — if they are metal — free from rust. A little time invested in careful preparation results in a more attractive and longer lasting paint job.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

One thing that can be said about Earl Kintner, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission is that he is not a man to be diverted by major issues when there are minor issues to be concerned about.

Potomac to the mile high city of Denver is some 2,000 miles as the crow flies. Out there, there is a real issue at stake.

Some months ago one of the big Chicago headquartered food chains bought out a large locally owned grocery chain. Today in Denver, it is estimated over 60% of the food retail business in Denver is tied up by chains.

But regional packers who have long held a place in the Denver market with good consumer acceptance, are fighting for their very lives.

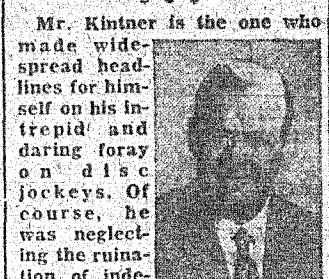

The Chicago headquartered chain has been pushing out local brands to put in their own and controlled brands.

Thus Denver, a major market, and the leading one in the Rocky Mountain area, is rapidly sinking from sight as a place where independently produced foods can be sold.

There seems to be substantial evidence that in Denver anti-trust laws have been violated more or less openly. Yet apparently, the FTC hasn't heard anything about all this.

Thus, as Goering burned the Reichstag to keep people from knowing what was going on, it is perhaps just as clever a strategy to burn disc jockeys to keep obscured that the job to be done is not being done.

And it is doubtful that the 12 new FTC employees, including ten lawyers, comfortably ensconced in an FTC reading room, reading newspapers and magazines all day long, will ever become aware in Denver, the battle for freedom in the market place is all but lost.

Mr. Kintner is the one who made wide-spread headlines for himself on his intrepid and daring foray on disc jockeys. Of course, he was neglecting the ruination of independent business by failing to stop predatory business tactics, which is also supposed to be his job, and which several Congressmen, including Sen. Hubert Humphrey have reminded him.

But now the FTC, which always claims it doesn't have enough money to stop predatory action in the market place have a new angle.

Somehow, according to the FTC's chief nit picker, money has been found to implement the staff by twelve more people, of which ten are lawyers.

These twelve men, presumably all good, tried and true, will perhaps be known as the Library Commandos.

Because their job will be to continuously read the nation's newspapers and magazines to make checks of the advertising being run in these periodicals.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

There has perhaps come a time, it is felt by many in Washington, when a shocking summation should be taken of the American situation.

This 15% is equal to about half population of British Isles.

Yet right at home there exists an untapped market, that could increase American business by 15%. Just an extra pair of shoes per year per person in this market could mean almost 30 million more pairs, an extra pound of meat per month could mean an extra 2 million hogs per year being marketed.

The erosive forces that were launched in 1933 with the New Deal continue to eat like termites at the foundation of the American economic health. In 1933 the Brain Trust dictum was that the American economy had "matured," thus government make work projects were a must. Today, the same tired argument of a "mature" economy is used as excuse for all kinds of foreign give-aways to expand the American market.

Leaving aside fact that tax and labor policies have all but driven American free business out of world trade, there is another bitter facet to face.

Today, in spite of the vaunted high level of prosperity, there are still 32 million people in these United States who are living on less than $50 per week for a family of four.

It is perhaps logical to take out 8 million elderly persons in this group, many trying to live on incomes severely eroded by inflationary forces caused by excessive government taxation.

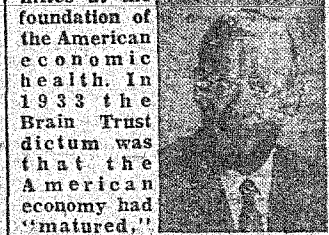

But even after deducting these aging victims of governmental policies, there is left 15% of the national population without an adequate income.

This alarming picture can be traced back to the fact that ulcers feed upon themselves.

The ulcer of huge monopoly business that feeds on driving out small firms destroys opportunity for livelihood for millions and thus destroys domestic markets. The ulcer of Big Labor, raising costs to higher and higher levels, prices consumers out of the market, while the ulcer of big government, siphoning off more and more personal income through taxes destroys new starts of new small business firms, and on the other hand, constantly destroys American protective tariff structures, closing down plants and jobs.

There is perhaps no limit to the goods and services that the American market can absorb if free competition is brought back.

If only 85% of the potential American market can maintain present levels, it is not hard to imagine what would be the result of the development of the entire 100% of the American market. But monopoly practices, in America, as anywhere else, do not develop a market, they merely throttle it. The time seems well at hand, as Sen. Andrew Schoepel has often remarked, to build America.

About Your Health

This September, 262,420 children are expected to enter the public schools of Texas for the first time according to estimates of the Texas Education Agency.

Estimates are based on births six years ago; immigration estimates and projected birth-to-death ratios.

Nearly all public school districts in Texas require proof-of-age in the form of a birth certificate or a suitable certified copy stating that they are six years old on or before September 1.

During July and August, because of the increased demand for birth certificate copies, the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health is one of the busiest places in Texas.

At the peak periods more than a thousand requests for certified copies must be processed daily.

After the request is received with the correct information and fee properly accounted, a card is prepared which serves as a record of the transaction and an aid in locating the original record. A special searching crew — extra personnel are needed during peak periods — locates the original birth certificate from information furnished on the record card.

Unless there is a complication such as incorrect or incomplete information, searching takes a short while using an index especially designed for school searches.

The original certificate is photostated, officially signed and sealed, and mailed to the person requesting the copy.

A record is kept of the transaction for accounting purposes with appropriate listings.

Parents who have a child entering the first grade this year should check with the superintendent of school regarding local regulations.

A certified copy of birth may be obtained from a local registrar, county clerk, or the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health, 410 East 5th Street, Austin, Texas.

Enclose one dollar with the child's name, date and place of birth and the parents' names. (A weekly feature from Public Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health.)

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

CONGRESS, IN RECESS until August 15, will return to work on a few election-year bills that are both controversial and complicated.

First, there's an uncompleted minimum wage bill, approved by the House in a watered-down version, but not acted upon in the Senate where a similar bill by Senator Kennedy would raise the minimum to $1.25 and extend coverage to some 7 million in retail and service establishments.

Secondly, a health insurance bill for the aged remains to be acted upon in the Senate, after passing the House.

A mammoth and admittedly inflationary and unnecessary $15 billion housing bill was in an impasse, as the recess began.

And, finally, the controversial federal aid for education legislation was hung up in the House Rules Committee, after passing both the House and Senate in different versions.

All of these bills, which could easily be postponed until next year — or for 10 years for that matter — will be kicked around in the August heat, with probably two or three of them to be enacted in one form or another — and each facing a possible veto, depending on how far they go.

A SUGAR BILL, designed to clip Castro's wings, was enacted at the last minute. It authorizes the President to cut the Cuban quota and protect the U. S. against any "dumping" attempt by the Communist government in Cuba.

THIS WILL BE our last Newsletter for this season. I will be in Los Angeles for the convention, joining in a drive for Senator Lydon Johnson who appears to be quite definitely the most capable man in the field. In a way the convention will provide a test of sectional prejudices. Our northern friends have raved themselves hoarse about alleged racial prejudices and religious prejudices, but seem to forget that some of them are fanning the flames of regional prejudices by insisting that a Texan, even though more able and capable should not be nominated for the Presidency!

Time will tell. We shall see just how many will be controlled by their prejudices rather than by the merits of candidates. It is just that simple.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY.

Texas Agricultural Income Ranks High

College Station — Texas far outranked other states in cash receipts from farm marketing of cotton, rice and grain sorghum in 1959, reports John C. McHaney, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cotton was the leading income source for Texas farmers as it brought in one-third of the total agricultural receipts. Although Texas grain sorghum accounted for over half of the total U. S. production, it accounted for only 10 percent of the State's farm income, McHaney continues.

In other rankings, Texas was second in receipts from cattle and calves, fourth in sheep and lambs and peanuts, and fifth in flaxseed. Even though Texas retained its top spot for number of cattle and calves on hand, Iowa ranked first in total cash receipts, McHaney says.

The Customer is King

The following "Ten Commandments of Good Business" have been passed around and reprinted many times, but they like the Ten Commandments in the Good Book, should be read repeatedly by one and all.
 With hot weather upon us and patience sometimes strained, we think it timely to re-emphasize these worthwhile rules for dealing with the public.
 The customer, it indicates, is king. And well he should be in this day of highly competitive business.
 Here, for your consideration, are the Ten Commandments of Good Business.

A phalanx was an ancient battle formation in which men were closely bunched.
 Three famous Italian volcanoes are Etna, Vesuvius and Stromboli.
 In England, automobile drivers keep to the left instead of the right.
 Nirvana is the highest religious state to be reached in Buddhism.
 Before he became an evangelist, Billy Sunday was a baseball player.
 Benjamin Franklin wrote the old rhyme, "Early to bed and early to rise, makes one healthy, wealthy and wise."
 Domesday Book was a statistical survey of the lands of England made by William the Conqueror in 1086.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

Out in Sacramento, California, a major retailing operation is trying a new plan, that of selling groceries on credit cards issued by a bank.
 In other words, customers merely show their bank credit card, and the bank bills and collects for them along the same lines that bank credit cards are used to many other purchases. C. W. Harder, Of course, the customer pays the bank a service charge.
 In addition, the retailer pays the bank a charge which is currently running about 3%. But then comes the interesting part.
 This particular retailing operation has for some time given trading stamps with the goods purchased from their stores. They are continuing to do this, with this exception. When a customer buys on his credit card, he receives no stamps.
 The management of the stores compute that it costs 3% of the price of the goods they sell to support the trading stamp plan. With credit purchases costing them 3% bank charges, if they gave stamps with such credit purchases, it would total 6%. Hence, the customer can have credit, or stamps, but not both.
 Thus, there comes into sharp relief the fact that in cities where practically all grocery stores have some sort of a trading stamp plan, the consumers are paying a charge of at least 3% on their food purchases, or around $100 per year in the average family.
 At one time in the immediate postwar era, some independent stores started using trading stamps to compete against the heavy advertising of chains. For a while, many independent operations benefited, but with everybody getting into the act, nobody gains today, and the consumer loses.
 Yet, it is doubtful there will be any improvement until the Federal Trade Commission quits fooling around with trivia.
 A smartly run independent food retail establishment can sell for less, and can actually beat a competing chain outlet into the ground, if they all start from the same ground rules.
 And that hinges on the independent getting the same discounts, both over and under the counter. Given this fair break, a good independent operator doesn't need trading stamps or any other gimmick.
 That is why in a recent nationwide poll conducted by the National Federation of Independent Business, 65% of the nation's independent business favor a bill now before Congress to prohibit grocery retail chains from operating food processing plants.
 It is perhaps a long uphill fight to get trading stamps outlawed by legislation. But if the public relations men of the Dept. of Agriculture, and other governmental agencies supposedly concerned over the consumer's interests, were to widely publicize the fact, as established in Sacramento, that food costs 3% more when stamps are given, it would not be too long when throughout the land trading stamps would become museum curiosities.

Our customer — is the most important person.
 Our customer — is not dependent on us. We are dependent on him.
 Our customer — is not an interruption of our work. He is the purpose of it.
 Our customer — does us a favor when he calls. We are not doing him a favor by serving him.
 Our customer — is a part of our business, not an outsider.
 Our customer — is not a cold statistic. He is a flesh-and-blood human with feelings and emotions like our own.
 Our customer — is not someone to argue or match wits with.
 Our customer — is a person who brings us his wants. It is our job to fill those wants.
 Our customer — is deserving of the most courteous and attentive treatment we can give.
 Our customer — is the lifeblood of this and every other business.
 All of us deal with some sort of customers. Perhaps we sell merchandise. Perhaps we sell service. But the aforementioned commandments could serve us all well.

ROLLING OUT THE CARPET—Sixty feet below the surface of the ground in downtown Houston, workers stretch out a Butyl rubber carpet on which the 44-story Humble Oil & Refining Company building will stand when completed in 1962. The Butyl membrane will act as a water barrier for the foundation of the building. This is a unique application of the durable, flexible synthetic which is produced at Humble's Baytown Refinery and is widely used in everything from hot water bottles to conveyor belts, tubing, tires, wading pools, protective clothing for missile launching crews, and car accessories.

freshments of Lemonade and cake were served the above-mentioned and Mrs. Gwen Rowden, Mrs. Hebbie Scarbrough, Mrs. Loretta Curry, Mrs. Mabel Craig, Miss Pauline Eubank, Suzanna and Cathy Hays. The group will meet with Mrs. Lillian Herndon August 2.

New Cotton Defoliation Guide Released

College Station — Effective March 5, 1960, defoliants and desiccants came under the regulations of Public Law 518. The basis for the control program on farm chemicals is to prevent undue risk from residues of the chemicals in the raw agricultural product.

Certain of these chemicals, however, have been granted an extension by the Food and Drug Administration, explains Fred Elliott, extension cotton work specialist. This extension is good until March 5, 1961, he says.

Any defoliant or desiccant used will eventually have tolerances or an exemption from tolerances designated for its safe use or will be registered on a nonresidue basis. Until official Federal regulations are issued governing the use of a specific defoliant or desiccant, it should not be used, Elliott warns.

In a recent published Texas Agricultural Extension Service leaflet, Elliott lists the chemicals that have been granted this extension, and gives a guide for their use. This leaflet may be obtained from the local county agent or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for L-145.

Origin and Causes Of Gin Fires In Texas Studied

College Station — Every year, Texas ginners suffer sizeable losses as a result of gin fires. In an effort to determine the causes of these fires and the effectiveness of recently developed preventive devices, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station conducted a study of fires in approximately 10 percent of the State's gins. Five types of gins were selected to make the reports: those with green boll or rock traps only, those with magnets only, those with rock traps and magnets, those with complete or partial CO2 systems with magnet or green boll trap, or both, and a control group without any of these devices.

Matches were found to be, by far, the greatest cause of fires. This can only be attributed to carelessness on the part of cotton pickers. No device has been developed to trap matches, and the only practical means used by ginners to reduce these losses is the distribution of safety matches to pickers.

The gins with no device at all had one of the best fire loss records. These results could be due to chance, or because of too small a sample or too short a test period.

Complete results of the study have been published. This publication may be obtained by writing the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for MP-436.

Today this San Jacinto Battleground, just east of Houston, is a beautiful sight to behold.

On this "Battleground of Victory" there now stands the world's tallest stone monument. You can take an elevator up the 570-foot massive, air-conditioned, giant edifice and survey the entire battlefield.

A huge 35-foot, 220-ton "Star of Texas" rests atop the monument. It is as impressive as the majestic state it represents.

Scenic, quaint, metropolitan, recreational capital, year round weather — these words, true as they are, just don't describe San Antonio adequately. This historic city has a little of everything.

It's the home of the Alamo and has many old and famous missions.

It's America's Venice, too. You can glide down the San Antonio River that meanders through the city. Your gondola or cycleboat will take you along the same river banks where a quiet Indian village once stood. You'll see beautiful semi-tropical plants and flowers. You can stop off at a sidewalk cafe for an adventure in exotic foods, too.

Better plan a long stay in San Antonio. There's so much to see that you'll never want to leave.

Today's MEDITATION
from
The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room
© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read John 13: 1-10.

He (Jesus) poureth water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded. (John 13:5.)

In the upper room that night, the Master might have asked John, Peter, Andrew, or another of His followers to perform the menial act of washing feet. He might have told a manservant or a maidservant to come in and do it. He might have simply omitted this much-needed service. But Jesus became the servant. He girded Himself with a towel and washed the disciples' feet.

A master cannot be served until he has demonstrated his own ability to serve. So Jesus humbles Himself to serve us. He who holds the universe in His hand kneels before us and washes our tired, dusty feet.

So the Son of God took a towel, not simply to cleanse the feet of His friends, for only to set an example for them to follow. He did it to show unmistakably that he who is sent is not greater than he who sends. God is like that.

PRAYER:
O Thou Creator, who dost astonish us continually by serving us, help us to see that only with the eyes of faith can we witness the glory of Thy service to us. Why dost Thou repeatedly sacrifice Thyself for us? We have the answer in Thy great love. Help us to be grateful, even if we cannot be worthy. In Christ's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Jesus humbled Himself to liberate us.

Irrigation and Management of Soils Aid Productivity

College Station. — Since soil is one of the most valuable assets a farmer possesses, its care and management should be a primary concern.

Much of the land in Texas is irrigated, and this poses additional problems and considerations for the farmer. To be able to manage this irrigated land correctly, he must understand the processes of soil formation, the texture and structure of the soil, the physical condition and organic content, the relationship between soil and water, the use of fertilizer on irrigated soils, the development of plants and the sources of plant nutrients. These factors must also be taken into consideration by the farmer who is trying to decide whether or not to irrigate.

John Box, assistant extension agronomist, and William F. Bennett, extension soil chemist for the Texas A. & M. College System, have written an informative and comprehensive publication on the irrigation and management of Texas soils. They discuss the many aspects of irrigation, and the publication should be helpful to anyone who is considering irrigation or who already operates an irrigated farm. The bulletin may be obtained from the local county agent or by writing the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for B-941.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

There are two things in this income tax business that are important. First, it is important to know where you are going. For example it is important to determine how much tax you owe before you sell your home or make a business move. It is equally important to know where you have been. Keeping a record of your business helps every taxpayer when it comes income tax filing period next January.

Picnic Candidate

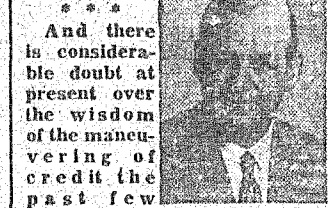

Sure to win the popular vote, picnic after picnic, are charcoal broiled Dixie Dogs. Their platform for election is based on four food favorites. The little brown peanut with the solid backing of the South lends palate appeal as peanut butter filling for the "hot dog" wrapped in bacon. Teamed with the people's choice, a toasted frankfurter bun, Dixie Dogs are slated for victory.

Dixie Dogs

6 frankfurters
 1/4 cup peanut butter
 6 bacon slices
 6 sliced frankfurter buns
 Slit frankfurters, lengthwise. Spread 2 teaspoons of peanut butter in each slit. Wrap a bacon slice, diagonally, around each frankfurter and fasten bacon with toothpicks. Grill in closed wire rack over hot coals. Serve in frankfurter buns.

SMALL BUSINESS

Every ship that sails the seas has designed into its hull a resistance to storms. If it lists to one side to say a 60 degree angle, or so, it is built to recover from this list and come back on an even keel. However, if it lists over beyond the limits the hull was designed for, the ship usually founders.

And there is considerable doubt at present over the wisdom of the maneuvering of credit the past few years by the C. W. Harder Federal Reserve Board. As expressed by these observers, there is always the danger the Federal Reserve Board governors can take action that will founder the economy.

For some time, the nation's independent businessmen, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, have been in favor of there being small business representatives on the Federal Reserve Board.

The Federal Reserve Board is a fairly new-fangled thing. It was not started until 1913, about the same time the income tax law was passed.

In the past few years, with taxes to finance foreign give aways holding down business reserves, credit, in one sense of the word, has become more important than cash.

The Federal Reserve Board has in actuality become national business managers. When the governors feel business activity will be high, credit is made scarce to hold off inflationary forces. If economy declines, credit is loosened.

In the three business recessions of the past ten years, 1954, 1958 and the first part of 1960, several months prior to the slump taking place, credit was made scarce. In 1954 and 1958 the ship was put back on an even keel by loosening credit. It is too early to tell what will happen in 1960, but it is felt by many there is the danger that this frequent listing of the ship may result in a situation where it cannot right itself.

The governors of the Federal Reserve Board are, by and large, men of integrity. But they are usually drawn from the rarified atmosphere of major financing.

Grandiose plans by a few big industrialists mean nothing if Main Street cannot sell the products of these factories.

It is also possible that to combat inflation, credit should be made scarce for purpose of building more productive capacity. But that does not necessarily mean that low cost credit is not needed to expand distribution facilities in the nation.

It is quite possible for the controlling body of a nation's credit to get so engrossed in one segment of the economy that it loses sight of the others.

And after all, the furnaces of Pittsburgh, the assembly lines of Detroit, are useless junk unless there are healthy distribution facilities on Main Street. Thus, handling of nation's credit is too vital a thing to be left with a restricted viewpoint. Small Business presentation on Federal Reserve Board appears to be long over due.

Austin — When the various states go to battle to capture new industries, other states go in with cannon-sized budgets. But not Texas.

Texas is, by comparison, fighting with a rubber band and spit balls. At least that's the view of the man who heads the Texas effort, Walter E. Dickerson.

Dickerson, as executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, directs himself. He has no staff and no secretary. Legislature allotted him $23,750 a year to do a job for which the neighboring "poor" state of Arkansas spends more than a half-million a year.

Dickerson uses his slim funds for a brochure on Texas and, since out-of-state travel is impossible, long-distance telephoning. He's also seeking additional funds from Texas firms to carry on the work.

Next winter he'll be before the Legislature to ask for more money to give Texas an even break in the intensely competitive industry-seeking field.

Dickerson's pleas come against a background of warnings that Texas manufacturing has not been growing fast enough to offset the decline of oil and agriculture. Some areas, such as the Gulf Coast, are becoming highly industrialized, but Texas needs more industry all over, say the economists, if it is to avoid a stall.

More manufacture of products for the Texas consumer market is especially recommended. Dickerson has data showing that Texans send $2,500,000,000 of their money out of state to buy manufactured products.

Dickerson also supports his urging for a beefed-up Industrial Commission with figures showing that new industry is literally "money in the bank" for a town and state.

For each industry with 100 employees — not a particularly big one — bank deposits jump $270,000 and retail sales $360,000 per year.

BUSINESS TOTALS TUMBLE

Texas' most recent business activity reports are not entirely rosy, either.

Retail trade for May was down 2 percent from April and 4 percent from a year ago, according to the University Bureau of Business Research.

Building construction was also in a downward spiral, 3 percent from April and 11 percent from last year. Building decline between April and May was due to a sharp drop in home building. Non-residential construction was up 3 percent.

Slow down in retail buying was unexpected, inasmuch as employment, income and savings are at an all-time high. An increase in home building is hoped for as a result of eased FHA down payment requirements. More home buying would, in turn, stimulate more retail buying, particularly furniture, appliances and hardware.

GAS TAX LOSES ROUND

Texas' new natural gas severance beneficiary tax flunked its first court test when an Austin district judge ruled it unconstitutional.

Judge Jack Roberts held the tax violated the U. S. Constitution's prohibition against levying a tax on interstate commerce. Severance beneficiary tax is aimed at the natural gas pipeline companies, who, the tax's supporters contend, benefit from taking the gas from Texas soil and should pay a tax for these benefits. Most pipelines operate on a national scale. Producers, the people who actually take the gas from the ground, already pay a tax.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, representing the state, said he would appeal Roberts' decision, probably to the Third Court of Civil Appeals. Since the case involves a constitutional question, it could be appealed directly to the State Supreme Court.

Either way, it will not finally be decided until it gets to the U. S. Supreme Court, probably not in time for the next Legislature to know whether the state can count on any revenue from that source. Estimated yield is about $7,500,000 a year.

Gov. Price Daniel said he was "keenly disappointed" in the district court decision, especially in that it saw no difference between the severance beneficiary tax and the old gas gathering tax which lost out in the courts.

Daniel said he was confident this tax eventually would be upheld.

STRAY LIVESTOCK LAW IN FORCE

Farmers are warned to pen up their livestock and keep them penned, or be subject to a $200 fine and impoundment of the animals.

Each day the animals roam at large will be considered a separate offense.

The new law relates to horses, mules, donkeys, cows, bulls, hogs, steers, sheep and goats loose on state and federal highways. Farm and ranch roads are not included.

An increasing number of deaths and injuries due to auto collisions with stray animals necessitated the law. Heretofore the motorist was liable.

SCHOOL PROBLEM ERUPTS

At the instigation of Texas Commissioner of Education J. V. Edgar, Brownsboro school officials, both board and superintendent, are resigning en masse.

Decision was reached after an involved and rather heated hearing in Austin to review school conflicts that had resulted in a killing at a Brownsboro school board meeting.

Homer Bass was appealing his dismissal by the Brownsboro school board when his contract as superintendent still had two years to go. Board members charged Bass with instructing teachers how to vote in school board elections, handling school funds carelessly and failure to meet state accreditation standards.

Several board members said they felt mass resignation was a good solution that would enable the community to start afresh on a peaceable basis.

BIGGER BUDGETS ASKED

Three state agencies presented their requests for funds for the Sept. 1, 1961-Aug. 31, 1963 period. All want more than they are now spending.

Legislative and governor's office budget staffs are reviewing the requests of State Health Department, State Board of Insurance and Texas Employment Commission. Health wants an 18 percent increase to a total of $17,000,000 for the coming biennium. State Board of Insurance is asking $5,173,664 for the same period; approximately a 20 percent increase. TFC estimates its needs at $28,384,905.

A league of German towns from the 13th to the 17th century was called the Hansentia League.
