A HIDDEN REPORT AND THE NEW FRONTIER

By Rosalie M. Gordon

(Editor's Note: Rosalie M. Gordon is editor of All-American Books, All American Book Digest and America's Future.)

If you've been wondering what's behind the New Frontier—perhaps we should say beyond the New Frontier—what all the endless plans mean that crowd out of Washington one upon another, the story of a hidden report may be very enlightening.

The report, made ten years ago, contained recommendations for the rehabilitation of defeated and destroyed West Germany—made by a commission of American economists sent to West Germany for that purpose. The report lay in the State Department with a "secret" stamp on it. Recently, the "secret" label was removed, but the Department is coy about making copies of the report available. Nevertheless, the main features of it have become known.

The new government which came to power in West Germany after the war had a choice. It could go back to the socialist planned society which had prevailed in Germany before Hitler came to power. Or it could use as its model the economic system of the great nation which defeated it in war—the free enterprise capitalist society which made the U. S. A. the most powerful, most prosperous, and freest nation on earth.

But these American economists told West Germany, in essence, to return to the system which had wrecked her before the war and paved the way for Hitler. They told her new leaders not to worry about inflation, that they were too timid about creating new credit. They advised an easy money policy—that if the officials did not control interest rates the people would be encouraged to save by a high rate of interest. According to these American professors, industry should not be induced to build new plants and expand old ones by tax concessions. Instead, the government should set up an industrial-expansion fund, tax all industries to supply the money, and then the government should dole it out as it saw fit. Most important of all, the report of these American economists sneered at the idea of reviving a free capital market in West Germany—said it was a "nostalgic hope." A free capital market, by which private citizens' savings find their way into investment for the building and expansion of industry—is the very heart of the free-enterprise system. But these professors told the Germans that any modern nation that put its hope in a free capital market was doomed to disappointment.

What happened? The West German leaders, who had seen this disguised socialist, government-planned economy wreck Germany not once but several times, rejected every single one of the proposals of these American economists. They turned instead to capitalist free-enterprise. They guarded as much as possible against a government-induced inflation by sound fiscal policies; let interest rates, private savings and investment alone; helped merely by allowing quick and generous tax write-offs of old plants and machinery so money could go into new ones. The result is there for all the world to see—in the seeming miracle of a completely devastated West Germany rising in 15 short years to the strongest and most prosperous nation in Europe today.

But what has this to do with the New Frontier? Well, the professors and their disciples who would have turned West Germany away from capitalism and toward a government-run and planned collectivist society are riding high, wide and handsome in Washington today. The chairman of that commission of American economists sent to West Germany was Dr. Alvin H. Hansen of Harvard. He and a colleague on the commission, Dr. Richard A. Musgrave, were recently appointed as consultants to the U. S. Treasury Department! Another member was Dr. Walter W. Heller. He is today chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisors, and as such, the most powerful man in Washington so far as our future fiscal and economic policy is concerned.

Perhaps all this explains why what is coming out of Washington now can be summarized in the old New Deal formula of tax and tax, borrow and borrow, spend and spend—for handouts

Additional Games On Tap for Baseball Fans

In addition to the regularly scheduled baseball games, other games scheduled to be played on the local field or involving local teams are as follows:

Saturday evening the games that were rained out on June 15 will be made up. The first game will be between the Athletics and White Sox and the second game will be between the Coleman Orioles and Santa Anna Cardinals. The first game will begin at 5:45.

Tuesday, July 4, a Santa Anna All-Star Little League team will go to Bangs for a game with their all-stars. The game will begin at 1:30 p. m. at the Bangs Baseball field.

The All-Star Team was selected Tuesday night as follows: Buddy Campbell, catcher, Tigers; Ronnie Hartman, catcher, Athletics; Floyd Carpenter, pitcher, Indians; Tommy Wardlow, pitcher, Athletics; Salager, pitcher, Tigers; Marty Donham, first base, White Sox; Dickie Horner, second base, White Sox; Donnie Campbell, short stop, Athletics; McElrath, third base, Indians; Bob Rutherford, left field, Indians; Gary Horner, center field, Tigers; Larry Williams, right field, Indians. Substitutes are: Larry Rutherford, Indians; Kippy Clifton, White Sox; Ted Ford, White Sox; Roy Joe Harvey, Athletics; Wayne Moore, Tigers.

Lions Club to Skip Meeting Next Tuesday

The Santa Anna Lions Club voted at their regular meeting this week to skip the regular meeting, scheduled for Tuesday of next week. The day is a holiday and some of the members plan to be out of town. Also, some of the ladies serving the club had requested the meeting be postponed.

New officers of the club are due to take over beginning with the first meeting in July. They will now be scheduled to begin their duties as of July 11.

New officers are: President, Allyn W. Gill; First Vice President, Roy Horne; Second Vice President, Lee Strothers; Third Vice President, Doc Barkley; Lion Tamer, Kenneth Bowker; Tail Twister, W. R. (Bill) Mulroy; Secretary and Treasurer, W. Ford Barnes. Two year directors are W. H. Thate and Raymond Jones. Carry-over directors are Harry Crews and Roy Mathews. The out-going president, Elgean Harris, will also serve on the board of directors for one year.

Local Girls Attend Training Conference At Stephenville

Four local girls, accompanied by their instructor, Mrs. Winnie McQueen and two girls from Miles, attended a Leadership Training Conference and Workshop at Tarleton State College in Stephenville Tuesday and Wednesday of last week.

The local girls are: Sue Garrett, Area Four Historian; Mary Ford, Jo Ann Wallace and Donna Walker, all officers in the local FHA Chapter.

Mrs. McQueen said the purpose of the workshop was to give the girls training to make better local chapter officers and to help them plan a program of work for the coming year.

Mrs. Joe Robinson of Austin visited over the weekend with Mrs. Thea Kirkpatrick.

Mrs. O. B. Yancy and Mrs. Densby of Brownwood visited with Mrs. Sam McCrary Sunday afternoon.

Attend church regularly.

at home and abroad, with mounting deficits, resulting inflation and disregard for the soundness of the dollar. Along with this goes a growing war on private industry. It must be made the villain so that when all the government panaceas finally wreck the free-enterprise system, the government bureaucrats can step in and run our lives as they wish.

Do the American people possess the same fortitude as did the West Germans, to withstand these would-be wreckers of the system which made us great, prosperous and free?

Notice Correspondents

Tuesday, July 4th, is a national holiday and there will be no mail service on the rural routes. Thus, we must request all our correspondents to please get your news letters in the mail on Monday.

All our fine correspondents will appreciate the cooperation of all the citizens of their area getting your news to the correspondents as early as possible.

We know having to get the news in a day early is difficult, but everyone concerned will appreciate it very much.

Mrs. Edd Bartlett Breaks Hip in Fall Friday

Mrs. J. Edd Bartlett was in the upstairs part of her home Friday afternoon giving her maid cleaning instructions, and apparently her legs just gave way on her. She fell and broke her left hip.

She was carried to the Hendricks Memorial Hospital in Abilene, where she is still a patient. She underwent surgery Monday and a pin was put in the bone. Reports Tuesday evening indicated she was doing much better than a person of her age would be expected to.

She is in Room 323 of the Abilene Hospital. Her daughter, Mrs. R. E. Allbright of Baton Rouge, La., is with her.

36 Have Not Paid Baseball Insurance

A. D. Donham, secretary of the Quarterback Club and General Manager of the club's Summer Baseball Program, reported early this week that 36 of those who are listed on the teams have not paid their insurance premiums as yet. These premiums were supposed to be paid before the season got underway. Parents of the boys are urged to see that these premiums are paid as soon as possible.

Donham listed the teams and the number not having paid their insurance as follows:

All White Sox paid
Six Tigers not paid
Six Athletics not paid
Six Dodgers not paid
Five Giants not paid
Eight Queens not paid
Five Rocketts not paid

Every member's parents or guardians signed a statement that the insurance would be paid before the season began. These payments are urgently needed now.

Two new members have been recently added to the membership of the Quarterback Club. They are the Abilene Welding Supply Company and John Fullbright.

Good crowds are reported to be attending the ball games. However, the collections have been some short of what they should be. There is no admission charge to the games, and you are requested to be just a little more liberal with your contributions.

Two Local Girls Accepted for Summer Band School

Abilene — Two students from Santa Anna have been accepted for the 1961 summer band and twirling school at McMurry College, July 16-29.

Enrollment is continuing, and the final count should run between 300 and 400 students. Dr. Raymond T. Bynum, director, has announced.

The McMurry Band School faculty includes some of the top band directors in the West Texas area in all phases of music, including twirling.

Students participate in two public concerts during the two-week school. Their course of instruction includes both band work and section training on individual instruments.

The school includes a well-planned recreational program in addition to the band work.

Dr. Bynum, who directs the McMurry College Band, will begin his 15th year at the college next fall. For many years he directed the Abilene High School Band.

Students from Santa Anna who have been accepted so far include Patricia White and Ruth Ann Walker.

Latin-American Charged With Disturbing Peace

A 25-year old local Latin-American man was charged with disturbing the peace early Sunday morning, after a drunken attempt to gain entry into at least two local homes Saturday night. He pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace W. Earl Irick Sr., Monday afternoon and was fined $100.00 plus costs, which amounted to $119.50. He was taken to the county jail in Coleman to serve out the fine.

A report from the Justice of the Peace office indicated the man attempted to gain entry into one widow ladies' home in the south part of town and another in the northeast part of town. He was identified by the lady in the northeast section of town.

Judge W. Earl Irick said they had received other reports of such attempts during recent weeks, and urged that local citizens cooperate with the law enforcement officials when anything of this nature takes place.

Deputy Sheriff M. R. Simmons said a positive identification was almost mandatory to get a conviction on a charge of this kind. Apparently what has been happening is the man will attempt to talk his way into the home of a widow lady, but does not offer any violence or does not attempt to force his way into the home.

Anyone that this might happen to is urged to get enough of a look at the person in order to be able to identify him, then immediately call the law enforcement officials. But, under no circumstances let the person in your home.

Then, there is more cooperation that is needed from the citizens, in order to control this type of law violation. The law cannot protect you unless you cooperate with them, and that means your being able to identify the man and your being willing to file charges against him. Unless you are willing to file the charges, the law enforcement officials just about have their hands tied, for they cannot force the charges unless they have a witness to back them up.

These are the kind of things you generally think of as happening in other places, but not in your hometown. Well, they can happen right here just as well as they can anywhere else. If they are to be controlled here, you must cooperate with the law enforcement officials.

Summer Program Of Homemaking Students Complete

The Homemaking girls of the Santa Anna High School completed their summer program last week, and capped off the month's work with a swimming party and picnic on Friday afternoon.

The group went to the Coleman Pool for the swimming party, then to the Coleman City Park for the picnic.

Girls attending were: Karen Jones, Jo Ann Wallace, Kay Haynes, Georgia Epler, Sharon Gilbreath, Geraldine French, Paulette Craig, Frances Davenport, Shelia Jeffcoat, Sherry Drake, Aneda Blount, Sherlyn Keeney and two visitors.

Mothers attending were Mrs. Clyde Davenport, Mrs. Elton Jones, Mrs. Byron Gilbreath and the instructor, Mrs. Winnie McQueen.

Leland Thompson Resigns at Post Office

Leland Thompson has resigned his job as assistant clerk in the Santa Anna Post Office, and has returned to his former occupation. Thompson resigned at the end of last week, but will continue to be the assistant mail carrier for Rural Routes 1 and 2.

M. L. Guthrie Jr., is the regular Rural Route carrier from the Santa Anna Post Office.

Thompson has been doing custom work for farmers and ranchers of this area for a number of years previously to his employment at the Post Office. In an advertisement in this issue of The News, Thompson announces he has resumed this work.

Sparks Whetstone, son of Mrs. John Whetstone, has accepted the job at the post office.

Holiday Set for Tuesday, July 4th

Independence Day, July 4th is one of the several holidays during the year selected by the local merchants to be observed as a holiday. The day comes on Tuesday of next week, and just about every business establishment in the city will remain closed all day.

Citizens of the area are urged to keep this in mind and make preparations for the holiday.

Data Wanted on Texas Weather

The Weather Research Department of Texas Technological College at Lubbock has informed us they are in the process of attempting to round up the history of Texas weather. They want information from every area of the state, including the small rural communities as well as the towns and cities.

A particular request has been for a human interest story and material on a cyclone that hit Santa Anna March 31, 1892. As this was a short time before your editor has any memory and as we have no files of The Santa Anna News dating back that far, we would appreciate anyone remembering this cyclone letting us know about it. Any information you might remember will be appreciated and if by chance anyone might have a picture of any destruction, this would also be appreciated.

The Texas Tech Weather Station also requests any other data citizens might have concerning incidents of severe weather, such as droughts, blizzards, tornadoes, floods, etc. of early days.

Girls to Begin Swimming Monday

A three-weeks program of instruction for girls of this area who wish to learn to swim will get underway Monday, July 3rd. The girls will board a school bus at the high school at 9:30 a. m. and they will return just about noon.

Mrs. Catherine Markland, president of the Summer Recreation Program, said the instructors for the girls swimming program would be notified during the weekend.

The boys will complete their three weeks program on Friday. The attendance has been pretty good throughout the program.

Mrs. Leland Thompson will be in charge of the first week of the girls swimming program.

The Conversational Spanish Class will be held again this week, at 4:00 p. m. Friday at the City Library. There were 11 young ladies present for the course last week and all seemed to enjoy it very much. It is hoped that considerably more teen-age girls will be present for the course this week.

Girls Attend G. A. Camp at Baptist Camp at Lake

Eight girls, members of the Intermediate GAs of the First Baptist Church are attending the GA Encampment at the Baptist Encampment Grounds at Lake Brownwood this week. The girls are: Linda Horner, Laveranda Horner, Geraldine French, Patsy Drake, Sherry Drake, Earla Buse, Cynthia Parker and Merideth Wootton. Mrs. Nick Buse is the camp mother with the girls.

Mrs. B. A. Parker took the girls to the lake early Monday morning. They will return to their homes Thursday evening.

Mrs. Raymond Jones of Santa Anna is District G. A. Director and is also at the camp.

GIANT CUCUMBER

A giant cucumber (ugh) was brought to The News office Monday morning. It was a rather large one, and it may have looked larger than it actually was because your editor just cannot eat the things.

Mrs. Everett Hickman brought the 1½-lb. cuke in. It measured 13 inches in length and 8½ inches around. She said most of the growth had been since the good rains several days ago. It was raised in her garden west of town.

If you raise some unusual item, bring it in and let us see it. We like to have the vital statistics when the item is brought in.

10 Minute Parking Near Post Office

A 10 minute parking area has been established from in front of the Post Office, to 90 feet west of the Post Office building. According to Mayor W. Ford Barnes, actual enforcement of the parking limit will begin Monday, July 10, but citizens are requested to begin observing this law now.

The signs indicating the 10 minute parking area have already been put up. Within the next few days the curb in this area will be painted yellow and signs will be painted on the curb indicating the new parking regulation.

Business people in the post office block are requested to either park their vehicles at the backs of their stores or on the cement foundation where the Payne building burned several years ago. A lot of congestion can be disposed of in this manner, and give people a better opportunity to have a parking area for the short time it takes them to get their mail.

Two Accidents Here This Week

Two auto accidents have been investigated by law enforcement officers here this week. The first one happened about 5:45 p. m. Sunday at the intersection of Wallis Avenue and the Brady Highway. The second happened about 2:30 p. m. Tuesday near the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

In the first accident Mrs. Willie Edens of Coleman entered the intersection coming from toward Rockwood. Mrs. Ruby Neff was traveling east on Wallis Avenue and collided with Mrs. Edens. Mrs. Neff was injured with a cut on the head and was treated at the hospital, then released.

Damage to the Edens car was estimated at $800.00 and to the Neff car at $400.00. Mrs. Edens was charged with failure to yield right of way. The accident was investigated by the Highway Patrol.

In the second accident Mrs. Wanda Pierce Bible was apparently going east on Avenue B, then made a U-turn and collided with a car belonging to Mrs. Lorene Patterson, which was parked near the front of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Damage to the Bible Chevrolet was estimated at about $150 and to the Patterson Chevrolet at about $75.00.

The accident was investigated by the Sheriff's Department. No immediate charges were filed.

BAKE SALE

The Santa Anna Eastern Star Chapter will hold a Bake Sale at Piggly Wiggly Saturday, July 1. Home made cakes and pies will be on sale beginning at 9:00 a. m.

You are requested to come by and get your pastries for the holiday weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Todd spent last weekend in Sunray with the John Allen Todd family.

Curt Keeney of Waco spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Keeney.

SIT DOWN AND BE COUNTED

By Maurice R. Franks

(Editor's Note: Maurice R. Franks is President of the National Labor-Management Foundation and Editor of its official publication, Partners.)

In my last editorial, I recounted how the electorate in 1959 made its voice heard to its representatives at Washington, resulting in the passage of the Landrum-Griffin Act. I pointed out that this Act has taken us but halfway in the direction of much-needed union democracy; that it contains certain loopholes that must be closed; and that in this editorial I would offer a solution for closing those loopholes.

Before doing so, I would like again to remind my readers that if we as private citizens expect our Federal lawmakers to stand up and be counted on issues affecting our well-being, it's up to us to let them know precisely what we expect of them. We sat down and wrote in 1959 and the legislators stood up and were counted. We must repeat this process in order to get further legislation that will carry unions all the way to democracy.

The Landrum-Griffin Act has a built-in enforcement problem which, with each passing day, permits loopholes to wear measurably larger as more and more self-seeking union bosses and union-dominated governmental appointees crawl through them — and as more and more honest but fearful union members cringe from making the disclosures required to set the Act's enforcement machinery into full and proper motion.

Then, too, there's more to implementing union democracy at points where it collides with labor-boss hierarchy than the mere safeguarding of the election of union officers. There's the entire area of strike action, at present far from democratic in its origin and effect, and which Landrum-Griffin leaves noticeably untouched.

Today, the workers of an entire national industry can be turned out of their jobs and their places of employment subjected to mass picketing without a secret and impartially supervised strike vote having been taken, and simply because their union bosses in a tantrum of economic incompetence and frustrated greed privately assert that the employer's last offer is "unacceptable."

This situation sets up an insufferable roadblock to union democracy which workers themselves, along with countless members of a tortured public, would like to see removed. And it is a situation that indeed can be and will be corrected, if public demand is purposefully directed to Congress in the form of an irresistible groundswell of personal communication.

If you, for one, are interested in a Federal law to this end — or in any other legislation, proposed or pending, for that matter — you will have to do more than jump to your feet in the company of family or friends and start waving your arms around. You'll have to do more than "stand up and be counted," as the saying goes.

The act of standing up to be counted is an admirable gesture — under most conditions. Situations exist, however, when doing so is as dangerous as it is ineffectual. To stand for the right thing in the wrong place at the wrong time can lead to disaster for the individual, as often has been the case when an individual union member has stood up to be counted in a racketeer-or radical-ridden union hall, on an issue not to the personal liking of the strong-arm powers that be.

What union members who thirst for union reform and relief from oppression by union masters should bear well in mind is that it is their representatives in the Congress who will have to stand up and be counted — by speaking on the issue when the discussion comes up, and by voting your mind when a bill reaches the point of final decision.

What unionists — and all of us, for that matter — should remember at all times is that, in order to carry out their prescribed duties intelligently, our representatives in Washington must hear from as many of us as possible, personally — by having us sit down, take pen in hand and tell them in no uncertain language the kind of laws we want and expect them to enact.

In a word, if we expect our representatives, as conscientious public servants, to risk their political lives and stand up and be counted on issues affecting our well-being, then the very least that we, as conscientious private citizens, can do is SIT DOWN AND BE COUNTED!

Do you really want to live in the good old days — or is it just a dream?

THIS IS A GOOD DREAM
In homes served by WTU, the average cost of a KWH of service is 20% less than it was 10 years ago.

"What program did you watch when you were little, Mama?"

It's easy for us to forget the comforts we have today. If we don't watch ourselves, all we think of is the hurry and bustle of the day.

The "good old days" to the little girl pictured above are just a few years ago to some of us. We forget that TV's so new. Yet most of our wonderful electric servants have been developed in just a generation!

As still more new ones come along, it's good to know that there will be plenty of electricity — from companies like this one — to run them. And the more new appliances you use, the less your electricity will cost per average kilowatt-hour.

Now think about it for just a minute — do you really want to live in the "good old days" without your electric servants — or is it just a dream?

Here's a bargain for Mama!

For less than $4 the average family, served by WTU, can cook a complete meal the modern electric way... and enjoy the cleanliness and convenience of Flameless Electric Living.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

The idea of government of the people, by the people, for the people was new to the world on July 4th, 1776. By the nation then born this idea has since been tried, tested and proved the best hope for all mankind.

Proudly we salute the founding fathers on this, the 185th birthday of our country. Firmly we are resolved that our heritage of freedom, dating back to that day, shall forever be maintained.

About Your Health

Since the beginning of the licensing program 17 months ago over 690 hospitals have been inspected under the Texas Hospital Licensing Law, either by state or local health department officials.

Local fire marshals have also inspected the same hospitals, making certain that they complied with fire-safety rules required under the law.

The program is administered by the State Health Department's Hospital Licensing Division, established January 1, 1960.

A big map on the Division wall describes the extent of the far-reaching program. More than half of Texas hospitals have been surveyed more than once and all have been closely inspected at least once.

Inspection subjects range from the kind of ice used, to the all-important operating equipment. Especially important is the prevention of disease spread within a modern hospital.

Second-time surveys are made to determine the extent of corrective recommendations followed after the initial inspection. Generally hospitals cooperate fully in carrying out suggestions, most of which deal with house-keeping problems.

In keeping with the State Health Department's policy of as much local control as possible, local health departments maintain inspections of hospitals within their jurisdiction, assisted by the State agency only if needed.

About half of all Texas hospitals lie within area served by local health departments greatly reducing the workload required by the Texas State Department of Health.

Fire-safety inspections are made by local fire marshals, who follow a special check list complying with State fire laws. Occasionally, special training is given for inspection of operating room fire hazards.

The Texas Hospital Licensing Law is designed to provide better patient safety. It is patterned after standards of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. However, requirements are stricter providing for maximum patient safety and care. (A weekly feature from Public Health Education, Texas State Department of Health.)

Plant Disease Of the Week

Harlan E. Smith, Extension Plant Pathologist

MUSHROOM ROOT ROT KILLS TREES AND SHRUBS

Mushroom root rot is one of the most common root rot diseases of shade trees and shrubs. Peach and plum orchards are frequently destroyed by the disease which occurs in all areas of Texas. Infected trees or shrubs usually die from April through July. The disease is very often confused with cotton root rot.

Wilted leaves are the first symptom. Next, one or two limbs may die. In a few days or weeks the entire tree or shrub dies. Dead areas are produced in the bark on the main trunk and larger roots just beneath the soil surface. When the dead bark is peeled back, the white mold growth of the fungus over the wood surface is seen.

The fungus occurs most frequently in wooded areas or in recently cleared oak land. Arborvitae, chinaberry, cultivated junipers, rose and pyracantha appear to be very susceptible. Fruiting bodies of the fungus consist of honey-colored or light-brown "toadstools" or mushrooms. These mushrooms cluster near the base of infected trees or shrubs, generally in the fall. Whether they develop depends on the weather and the extent of the decay.

All tree stumps and large roots should be removed as thoroughly as possible before orchards are set in infested soil. Planting of newly-cleared land to an annual crop for several years helps to kill the fungus.

Native yaupon and cedar are resistant. Photinia, gardenia, wax-leaf ligustrum, Japanese privet and crape myrtle have been known to escape the disease in infested areas. Lawn grass sod growing too close to a tree or shrub may encourage attack by the mushroom root rot fungus.

For additional information ask county agents for a copy of the publication MP-283, "Peach and Plum Diseases."

JULY: A GOOD TIME TO ENJOY THE GOLDEN GOODNESS OF TEXAS EGGS

July is "Golden Goodness" month in Texas — a time to appreciate, buy and enjoy the natural "Golden Goodness" of Texas High Quality Eggs.

A more appropriate observance of a farm product of our state would be hard to find, because Texas egg industry has made phenomenal strides in the last few years. And the best testimonial to this advance in production, care and quality is the glow of goodness in healthful, golden-yolked Texas eggs.

During the month of July, Texans will be seeing and hearing a lot about the splendid nutritional value of high-quality Texas eggs — an important fact too often taken for granted.

The Texas Egg Council, which deserves much credit for the prominent position of Texas eggs today, is cooperating with other related industries to tell this story in a big way.

Cool Satisfaction for Summer Meals

The "Golden Goodness" message will be everywhere — on billboards, in grocery stores.

Babes of Wild Picked Up at Your Own Risk

Austin — Despite warnings to refrain from picking up young of the wild, the practice persists in many areas, according to J. B. Phillips, assistant director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

"Wardens all over the state have been notified to make arrests where violations are reported," he says. "Too many people are inclined to pick up baby animals, especially fawn deer. These animals have a much better chance of survival in their native woods than they do in the city, even when bottle fed."

He also pointed to the danger of having these animals for pets when they grow up. There are many instances where the animal will revert to the wild and seriously injure the person who raised them.

Phillips also warns against molesting nesting birds or tampering with other young wild game.

"Some heavy fines have been paid in recent weeks by persons who failed to heed this warning," he said. "We hope it stops."

even on the apron pockets of pretty Texas misses who will hand out samples of delectable hard-cooked eggs in parts of the state.

The hard-cooked egg (put cool eggs into warm water, lift with spoon into boiling water, reduce heat and simmer 20 minutes, cool eggs promptly in cold water) is a wonderfully satisfying food, especially during light-eating summer days. The Morton Salt Company believes this too, as evidenced by their part in "Golden Goodness" month when thousands of specially-designed salt-and-egg posters reading "Pep-up Summer Meals — Enjoy the Golden Goodness of Texas High Quality Eggs" will be seen in stores throughout the state.

Texas eggs are always good, and "Golden Goodness" month is the right time to celebrate — by taking home an extra dozen or two high quality Texas eggs.

A Good Workman Prizes His Tools

It hurts him to see a tool abused or misused.

Yet this same mechanic often fails to realize that his eyes are his finest tool. When his work begins to slip, and his head buzzes with aches and pains, he should know that his eyes need help.

The working eye can be sharpened, aligned, and conditioned with proper spectacles. The first step is a professional eyesight examination.

Our WASHINGTON Letter
By Congressman C. C. FISHER

A MOTHER HUBBARD housing bill breezed through the House last week, by far the largest measure of its kind in history. Including "back door" spending provisions, such as Treasury withdrawals or contract commitments without future specific Congressional approval, the total amount involved is about $9 billion.

With something for everybody included, the bill includes a loan purchase provision, allowing 3% down payments on homes, costing up to $15,000 with 35 years to pay. This provision was generally acceptable to critics of the omnibus measure.

The measure commits the government to a mammoth public housing program, on an unprecedented scale. Although nearly 100,000 such units are already authorized and in the pipe line, the current bill increases that by 100,000. The financing of this program is done by a "back door" device, and will cost the taxpayers in excess $2 billion for the 100,000 units, over a 40-year period. We already have some 600,000 such units completed.

Often referred to as "socialized housing", because public housing is government-owned and rented to low and middle-income families for about one-half of what they would rent for in free enterprise. Translated into simple language, this means that taxpayers chip in and help pay about half of the rent bills for public housing tenants each month.

Many such projects are filled mostly by city firemen, policemen, etc., earning from four to six thousand dollars annually.

The following Texans voted against the bill: Fisher, Bursell, Casey, Dowdy, Alger, Kilgore, Mahon, Rogers and Teague.

Southwest Faculty Conference to Be Held in Fort Worth

Fort Worth — The first Southwest Faculty Conference on the inter-relation of religion and higher education will be held at Texas Christian University Aug. 21-25. Theme of the meeting will be "Christian Faith and the Academic Life."

It is sponsored by a number of universities in the southwest area and by the Boards of Higher Education of the Methodist, Presbyterian, Christian (Disciples of Christ) and Episcopal churches.

Some 200 college and university faculty members from New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma are expected to attend.

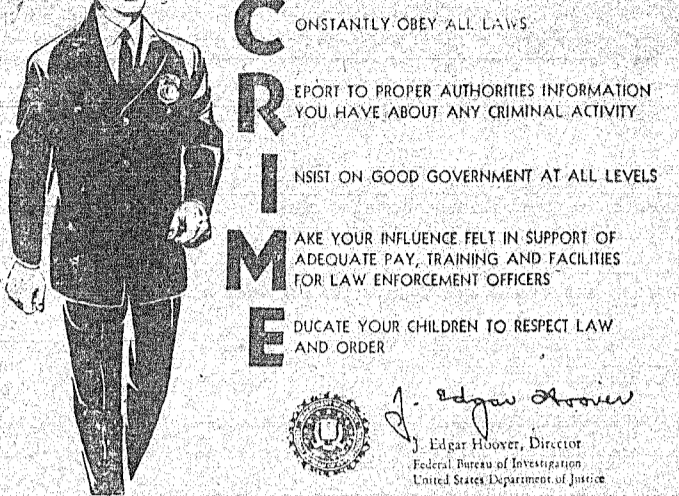

A series of seminars are planned on the topics of basic Christian beliefs, aims and methods of Bible study, the college in Christian perspective, Christian faith and modern literature, and the theology of Paul Tillich.

Registration information may be obtained by writing Rev. James A. Farra, Southwest Faculty Conference, TCU, Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dyer of Austin and Bill McCrary of Sweetwater, were visitors with Mrs. Sam McCrary Sunday evening.

Studies New

Cancer Research

(Editor's note: The following article appeared recently in The Dallas Times Herald, and concerns a study underway by Dr. Charles M. Henner, a former doctor here. The article is printed exactly as it appeared in the Dallas newspaper.)

A new technique for detecting cancer has been used successfully on 14 patients at Methodist Hospital by a team in the department of radiology and surgery.

They are injecting a radio-opaque material into the patients' lymph vessels. It allows them to view the lymph system for the first time with x-rays. Previously doctors had to work "in the blind."

The technique was developed at the Jefferson Medical College Hospital of Philadelphia, and Dr. Charles Henner, a resident in surgery at Methodist, went there last month to study it.

The Methodist staff apparently is the first here to use the technique, called lymphangiography.

The doctors first inject a blue dye into the webbed portion of skin between the fingers or toes. In a half hour the dye has worked its way into the tiny network of lymph vessels so that doctors can see them.

The surgeon then can make a small incision and isolate one of the vessels, into which he slowly injects an oily, radio-opaque substance called Ethiodol, which flows throughout the lymph system.

A later x-ray allows the doctors to study the lymph system, and cancerous nodes are easily spotted.

The Ethiodol gives cancerous nodes a moth-eaten appearance in the x-rays, while healthy nodes are filled with the Ethiodol and have a smooth appearance.

Cancerous nodes also are enlarged. The procedure can be done with the patient on an outpatient basis, and some two hours after it starts he is ready to return home.

The procedure helps surgeons in removal of cancerous nodes, also. They can shoot x-rays near the end of an operation and tell whether all traces of the cancerous nodes are removed.

Lymphangiograms also will help doctors in x-ray therapy and chemotherapy of cancer, since they will be able to tell what response the therapy gets from the nodes.

Lymph material helps clear the body's blood system of infections, and often the small nodes become infected with cancer which has spread from elsewhere in the body.

"The more of these we do the more enthusiastic I get," said a radiologist at Methodist.

He pointed out that previously there was no way to study the lymph nodes spread throughout the body, without removing them.

TEXAS MOLEHILLS

Texans often are accused of making mountains out of molehills. But, you have to admit, we have some pretty big molehills in Texas.

We have 15 mountain-molehills that rise over 7,000 feet above sea level. All of these are in our highly touristed western tip of Texas.

Our tallest molehill is Gaudalupe Peak. It is 8,751 feet high and is located near the New Mexico border in Culbertson County.

Our Texas mountain-molehills once served as guideposts for early travelers — somewhat like a landlubber's lighthouse.

Attend church regularly.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stephenson had all their children visiting with them Saturday night and Sunday. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Pruitt, Kenneth and Sheryl of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stephenson Jr., Gary and Barbara of Abilene; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scarborough, Carol Ann and Charlie of Claremore, Okla.

All their children except one daughter visited Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Tucker and Davis, during the weekend. On Sunday the group enjoyed a picnic lunch at the Coleman Lake. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Hutcherson and son of Dumas, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tucker and children of Indian Creek, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Price and boys of Brownwood, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Ruthenford and boys of Santa Anna.

Gary Scott Cole of Coleman spent Monday night with his cousin, John Wayford Gregg.

prove our estimate is too high." In announcing the grim forecast, Garrison said the DPS will place in effect "Operation Deathwatch" effective from 12:01 a. m. to 11:59 p. m. on July 4, during which traffic deaths, homicides and suicides, and fatal accidents other than traffic will be tabulated against the prediction.

The department's Statistical Services Manager, N. K. Woerner, estimates that 11 persons will be killed in traffic accidents during the 24-hour period, that five will be victims of homicide or suicide, and that nine will die in drownings and other types of fatal accidents.

"The department's purpose in conducting such an operation is to focus public attention on the fact that holiday driving is more dangerous than usual because more vehicles are on the highways — as well as to compile data which is vital to the constantly-changing problems of traffic supervision," Garrison said.

"In addition to the "Deathwatch," the department will augment the regular Highway Patrol force with some 150 uniformed patrolmen from the Motor Vehicle Inspection and License and Weight services during the 24-hour period in an effort to keep down the violations that cause accidents."

The DPS director called special attention to the fact that the records show at least one law violation is involved in most fatal accidents in Texas.

"This should prove," he said, "that there is a definite contribution individuals can make to greater highway safety — legal driving."

Garrison pointed out that while emphasis must be placed on holiday traffic hazards, his department also has concern for other incidents which take human lives. He reminded that during a three-day Fourth of July holiday last year, 10 persons were the victims of drowning out of a total of 15 non-traffic fatalities resulting from other accidents.

"With more boats on the waters of our state than ever before," he continued, "extra precautions should be taken this Fourth of July to avoid tragedy. Boaters should be sure there is a life preserver for every boat occupant and, above all, don't overload or overpower your boat."

Garrison also reminded boaters that 45 miles per hour is the speed limit for all vehicles pulling trailers.

Mr. and Mrs. Oran Henderson and Orabeth of Snyder spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Hardy Blue.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Lewellen of Lubbock were weekend visitors here with friends. They are former residents of Santa Anna.

July is Time For Freedom Fighters to Act

Ever since John Hancock put his name to the Declaration of Independence in 1776, July has been a favorite time for freedom fighters.

At least six countries have chosen the month Julius Caesar named after himself in which to throw off the tyranny of a foreign power, according to World Book Encyclopedia. And several nations have found the hottest month of the year a good time to relinquish control willingly of their possessions.

The Dutch may have started the trend. They declared themselves independent of Spain back on July 26, 1581. A few centuries later, in 1830, the Belgians got the idea and broke away from the Netherlands.

July is cooler down in South America, but it never chilled the ardor of patriots, who gave Spain another beating in the early 1800's. Spurred by Simon Bolivar, who was born in July, Venezuela declared its independence in 1811. Argentina issued its declaration in 1816 and Peru made the move in 1821.

Great Britain saw the handwriting on the wall and in 1867 it gracefully pulled out of North America. Canada became a self-governing dominion.

In 1946 it was the turn of the United States, and the Philippines was officially declared independent on July 4th. Six years later, Puerto Rico became a self-governing commonwealth.

In 1960 the focus shifted to Africa, where a host of countries peacefully made the transition to republics in July. These included Ghana, Somalia, Central African Republic, Chad, Congo, Dahomey, Gabon, Ivory Coast, Niger and Upper Volta.

You may think of Texas as a country of cowboys and ranches but you'd better add big ships and sailors to your thoughts too. Our great Gulf Coast is one of the busiest segments of coastline in the world.

Texas has important deep water ports located at Houston, Galveston, Corpus Christi, Freeport, Port Aransas, Orange, Brownsville, Port Arthur and Sabine Pass.

Houston is the largest of all the Texas ports and you'll see a United Nations array of ships when you visit this colossal gateway of our land.

One of the most impressive trips in Texas is that taken down the Houston ship channel to the great San Jacinto Battleground.

Magazine Hits Hucksters Who Prey On Children

Article Exposes Advertising Schemes to Part Youngsters From Their Money.

The innocence of childhood daily is being tested by exposure to "the roughest huckstering techniques developed by the advertising industry," according to Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine.

An article in the current issue of the magazine deals with the schemes that have evolved in recent years to get hold of youngsters' nickels, dimes and dollars through ads in their favorite reading material — comic books and teen-age magazines.

"Many publishers do keep tight control of the advertising they accept in order to weed out the slick deals," the article notes. "The Post Office and Federal Trade Commission are also constantly on the lookout for fraudulent and deceptive practices. Yet even these barriers cannot stop all quick-footed sales outfits."

The magazine checked with government enforcement officials, publishers, advertising men and child specialists to determine how widespread the problem is. In addition, staff members answered ads in representative publications, using themselves and their children as guinea pigs.

"What these efforts unearthed is a depressing collection," the editors report. They found "services that prey on youngsters' ambition to make something of themselves; will-o'-the-wisp 'free' products; sly devices to push children into buying something they may not want; claims stretched to — if not beyond — the limit of exaggeration associated with hard-sell advertising for adults."

Among items ordered by the magazine staff members was "a real mobile tank" for "only $4.98" which turned out to be cardboard sections, which had to be assembled by inserting cardboard tabs on each part into slits cut in the others.

Other ads followed up by the magazine were for contests that are not contests but sales gimmicks, stamps that are not stamps, poems to be set to music, and private training schools for airlines jobs.

"Although the teen-ager may be nicked for many more dollars than his younger brother, every

Check Stations For Deer Kill Are Discontinued

Austin — Deer checking stations generally over the state will be discontinued during the next hunting season. This has been announced by H. D. Dodge, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

Last year a full-scale deer check station was maintained at Llano and others in Northeast Texas.

"They were manned by biologists seeking information about the age and other characteristics of the deer killed. These check stations also established the number of deer taken, both in does and bucks, and the number of hunters who took them."

"They have served their purpose in many areas, and we feel little more good can be accomplished by them, except in a few counties where information of this kind is not available," he said.

Maintaining the check stations is expensive to the Commission. Also, in many instances, it has meant that hunters had to go out of the way to check their kill.

"The results, however, were most helpful and helped us to establish biological information necessary to our research work," the director said.

child duped by a slick advertisement stands to lose something in terms of his attitude toward life," the article concludes. "Childhood is a time of training for adult life, and children, obviously, should not be sheltered in total ignorance of the fact that there are advertising gimmicks or that there are people who will mislead them for the sake of a buck."

"The problem is to teach them this without making them learn the hard way by becoming involved in some frustrating sales scheme or letting them get the notion that such operations are the accepted form of American business and advertising ethics."

West Texas Utilities Company was the recipient of the Texas 4-H Club Achievement Award at the Texas 4-H Club Roundup held at College Station, Texas, June 6.

Cal Young, WTU President, (left) receives the Company's award from Curly Hays, Rural Service Director of the Company. The award was presented to WTU for Texas 4-H Clubs by Eugene B. Darby of Pharr, Chairman of the Board of Directors of Texas A & M College. This is the first time this award has been presented and was given to WTU for its assistance and outstanding service to 4-H clubs in the service area during the past few years.

Today's MEDITATION from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read II Timothy 4:1-10.

Demas hath forsaken me, having loved this present world. (II Timothy 4:10.)

Writing from prison to the young man Timothy, Paul shows his disappointment and heart-break because Demas turned his back on the Christian faith. "Having loved this present world," Demas lost the trail and no longer followed Christ. The world presents many alluring faces which could have tempted Demas. Which ones lured him from the faith we shall never know. However, Paul warns Timothy against some of them—pride, covetousness, thanklessness, a lover of pleasure more than of God.

Have we been like Demas? Having once felt the glow of Christ's spirit, have we been mean, bitter, stingy, slow of compassion?

Having our names on the church roll is not enough. We need so to live that the world may know that the moving force in our lives is the spirit of Christ. May our living Lord not say sadly to us, "Alas, you have forsaken me, having loved this present world."

PRAYER:

Our Father God, grant us the gift of constancy in faith. When tempted to seek ease and comfort, arouse us with a new baptism of Thy spirit. When lured by the enticements of this world, may we keep our gaze upon Christ lest we miss the trail leading to Thy kingdom. In our Savior's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The church does its work through those in whom the spirit of Christ is the moving force.

— Charles B. Piper (Connecticut)

3 Added to Staff At Hospital

Fred Murray, administrator of the Santa Anna Hospital, announces the addition of three employees to the staff of the hospital during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dennis came here from Fort Worth and are living on Parker Street. He has assumed the job as maintenance man and Mrs. Dennis is working as a nurses aid.

Miss Alva Cadenhead came here from San Marcos, where she has been assistant dietitian in the San Marcos Hospital. She has assumed duties as dietitian here. She is living in a trailer house west of the hospital. Her mother lives with her.

Dr. John D. Murrell, who has been on a leave of absence from the Santa Anna Clinic for the past six weeks, will return here during the weekend, and will begin his practice on Sunday morning.

Talmadge Turner of Houston and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Turner returned recently from a vacation trip to California.

A TOWER OF STRENGTH

In our last column we rejoiced over the election to the U. S. Senate of John Tower, Texas Republican, as a triumph for "Conservatism."

Senator Jacob Javits (Rep., N. Y.) apparently hadn't heard of this Texas election. He has stated that the GOP will never capture the White House unless it moves in a liberal direction.

Dr. P. D. Terrell of McAllen, Texas, under date of June 10, wrote a letter addressed jointly to Senator Javits and William E. Miller, newly-elected GOP National Chairman, in which he said in part:

"Conservatives can and are winning elections. More than twenty new Republicans were elected to the House last fall by standing on a sound platform that contained only Conservative plans. Are you two gentlemen not aware of the recent Senatorial election in Texas? Mr. Tower, a true Conservative, who answered specific questions with a definite yes or no, for or against, did not stray from the conservative principles and ideals. Mr. Tower is aware of the Constitution of the United States... Mr. Tower did not offer rewards or bribes to blocks of voters for their support. He is aware of the cliches of socialism that many of you have fallen for. He knows federal aid means federal control. He believes that a state's boundary line is more than just a line on a map..."

We agree with Dr. Terrell. Senator Tower is a "Tower of Strength" to "Conservatism." GOP leaders will be wise to follow his lead and get their party back to what it formerly was — the Champion of Conservatism.

Austin — State Capitol is having a relatively quiet period — somewhat like the "eye" of a hurricane.

Legislators are at home, and Gov. Price Daniel has gone to Hawaii for the National Governor's Conference. Officially, the "time out" ends July 10 when the special tax session begins.

But despite the lull, sharp gusts of differing opinion are still blowing. Before leaving, Gov. Daniel issued a parting blast at lobbyists in particular and critics of his anti-sales tax stand in general. He is thinking of asking for tighter lobby control measures, particularly in regard to reporting of money spent to influence legislation. He also accused opponents of his tax plan of being unwilling to compromise.

Lawmakers are having their say before the Daniel-appointed committee to study tax measures. Sen. Wardlow Lane, sponsor of the Senate-passed sales tax bill, took a dim view of the "compromise" talk. Legislature compromised on taxes in 1959, he reminded, and the state government ended up more deeply in debt.

As to lobby control, Sen. Lane said the Legislature had already passed the measure that the governor had said would do the job. In general, Sen. Lane urged "a stop politicking and get on with the job" approach.

NEW LAWS COMPLETED

Before leaving for Hawaii, Gov. Daniel signed scores of bills into law, vetoed a few, and otherwise cleared the decks from the 57th regular session.

He signed the bill which will allow the University of Houston to become fully state-supported in the fall of 1963. This bill was the cause of a month-long filibuster in the Senate.

He let become law without his signature a measure known as the Carling Brewery bill, also highly controversial. It was sought by the Carling Brewery which plans to build a $20,000,000 plant in Fort Worth. Under the bill, a brewery may continue to operate in an area even if it is voted dry. By not signing it, the governor demonstrated his lack of enthusiasm.

Altogether the Legislature passed 549 bills in the regular session. Only 14 were vetoed by the governor.

SCHOOL BUS PRICES PROBED

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has launched inquiry into the prices being paid by the state for school buses.

Wilson announced courts of inquiry to be held in Austin, Dallas, and perhaps later in San Antonio. He said investigation had been underway for six weeks and had revealed that Texas was paying from 10 to 25 percent more for school buses than other states. He said there was no evidence of identical bills, but that he felt there was a strong possibility of "rigged bidding."

School buses are bought by the Board of Control with state school funds on the basis of sealed bids. Bus dealers could, if found guilty of conspiring together over prices, be subject to both civil and criminal anti-trust suits.

(Courts of inquiry are not trials, but proceedings for the taking of sworn testimony to see if there is evidence for filing suits.)

PARENT LIABILITY UPHELD

In a recent case, the Supreme Court refused to change a lower court decision that the law holding parents liable up to $300 for damage caused by their children is constitutional.

Challenging the law was a father whose 15-year-old son had stolen and wrecked a car. Three courts upheld the constitutionality of the law and the father's responsibility.

It holds parents liable for "malicious and willful" destruction of property by children between 10 and 18 years of age.

INSURANCE HIKE FORECAST

Higher auto insurance premiums are predicted by officials of the State Board of Insurance.

Board has the matter under advisement after a public hearing. New rates, if set, will go into effect Aug. 1.

Increases suggested by both industry spokesmen and the Board's actuarial staff are the same. They are 8.7 percent for comprehensive private passenger coverage, 8.1 percent for collision, 23.6 percent for liability, and 16.1 percent for medical coverage.

A Department study showed that premiums were down as a result of the new safe driving plan and that claim costs were up because of the costliness of replacements on today's automobiles.

GAS TAX RULINGS ASKED

Probability of a strong push for a gas tax in the coming special session was indicated by Governor Daniel's request for opinions from Atty. Gen. Will Wilson on the constitutionality of two such proposals.

One is a proposal by Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston which would require the holders of contracts for dedicated gas reserves to guarantee the state a tax of at least one cent on each 1,000 cubic feet of gas produced.

Another, by Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, is a rewrite of the severance beneficiary tax passed in 1959 and since held unconstitutional by the courts. Gov. Daniel has said that the 1959 bill would have stood up in court if it had been enacted as he recommended.

Whon News

By MRS. TOM RUTHERFORD

Last week in the news item concerning the death of Mr. Ed Jones, I stated he passed away in a Goldthwaite Rest Home, which I thought was correct. But later learned he was a patient in the Goldthwaite Hospital for several months. Glad to make this correction.

Visitors in the Zack Bible home during the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Sherry Bryan of Big Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peoples of Rock Springs and Mrs. Peoples' mother, Mrs. Trotter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Joy of Comanche, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore of Victoria. The group was at the Brady Park Sunday, attending the Bible reunion.

While away from home Mrs. Bible had two of her nieces, Odessa from Eastland and Ia of Oklahoma come to visit her. These are the daughters of Mr. Bal Peoples. Mrs. Bible stated her brother, Bal, who has been in ill health of late, has recently visited her, but his health is failing fast.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Yancy and children, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Lowery and Mrs. Ola Yancy of Fort Worth were weekend guests with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yancy, David and Sandra.

Our deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved family and relatives of Mr. Melvin Baker of Coleman. Melvin was a cousin of Mrs. Darwin Lovelady and Mrs. Dave Shields of our community. Also Melvin has been a resident of our community. Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Lovelady and son, Mr. Oscar Lovelady, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Shields and boys and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rutherford and Lynda were in Coleman attending memorial services for Mr. Baker Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Turney of Santa Anna and Mr. and Mrs. John Jennings of Fort Worth, visited in the Bert Turney home Sunday morning. Mark and Becky Turney remained with their grandparents, while their parents attended the Bible reunion in Brady.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright of Brady visited her son, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Fitzpatrick during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Wimpy Watson of Waco were here over the weekend and visited Saturday afternoon with the Tom Rutherford family.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Avants were in Christoval Sunday attending the family reunion of Mrs. Tom Avants' family, who now lives in Hamlin. All of Mrs. Avants' children were present with the exception of one son. Mr. and Mrs. James Avants and son of Santa Anna and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Avants and children of Brady, children of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Avants, also attended.

A nice crowd attended the family night at the community center Wednesday night. The food was delicious. All reported a good visitation together.

Mrs. Floyd Morris was in Burkett Sunday for the Homecoming and reported a wonderful day. Mrs. Morris stated she graduated from the Burkett school 35 years ago this past May and enjoyed meeting many school friends and relatives of yester year. Her father, Mr. T. Perkins, accompanied her to Burkett for the day.

Mr. D. T. Perkins visited his sons, Mr. and Mrs. William Perkins in Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. Richey Perkins at Loss Creek last week. But is with his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Schulze visited in the Tom Rutherford home Thursday night. They are spending a few days on their place near here. The Schulzes teach in San Antonio, and Mr. Schulze will be principal over a new school another term.

Richey Burkett of Grand Prairie, is visiting Jamie Lee Morris.

Visitors in the J. E. Watson home during the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. James Watson, Cindy and Cary James and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Watson and Randy of Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. Dee Singleton and Ken of Kempner, a sister, Mrs. Alice Baird of Brownwood and friends, Mrs. Bill Henry and Bertha Young of Brownwood.

Attend church regularly.
