Telephone Co-op Begins Drive for Local Members

A drive for local members of the Coleman County Telephone Cooperative will get underway this week, and will continue until every telephone subscriber is a member. It is hoped the drive will be completed before the first annual meeting is held in August.

Allyn W. Gill, manager of the Telephone Cooperative, said all those who have had telephone service put in their homes or places of business since September, 1955 have paid their membership dues at the time their telephones were installed. Also all the subscribers on the rural exchanges are already members. The drive will concern subscribers on the Santa Anna exchange who have been using the telephone since before the 1955 date.

Mr. Gill said the cooperative and the subscribers were very fortunate in that no one would have to actually be out the $10.00 membership fee. He said that during the past five years the cooperative has operated at a profit, and at the end of each fiscal year, the profits have been credited to the subscribers Capital Credit Account. All subscribers now have from approximately $11.00 up in their Capital Credit Account and the REA in Washington has agreed to go along with the local board of directors to let $10.00 of the subscriber's Capital Credit Account be transferred to his membership dues.

A form is now being printed that will allow the subscriber to indicate his preference in the transfer of the membership fee. All employees of the cooperative will have these forms with them beginning the first of next week and every subscriber is urged to sign the membership application.

Mr. Gill said that if a subscriber preferred to do so, he could put up the regular membership fee of $10.00 in cash, which actually amounts to a deposit. Any time the telephone service is discontinued, the cash membership fee is refunded to the member. However, those who authorize the transfer from their Capital Credit Account would not receive the membership fee if they discontinue use of the telephone. In that case, the membership fee would go back to their Capital Credit Account.

All users of the telephone should be members of the cooperative. Beginning with the first meeting in August all members will have the privilege of electing directors from their area. These directors, in cooperation with the manager, form the policies of the cooperative.

State FFA Convention To Be in Dallas

A. D. Pettit, advisor of the local FFA Chapter, said early this week the annual State FFA Convention would be held in Dallas July 19-21. The convention will be held in the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

Mr. Pettit will take President Dayton Jackson and Vice President John Dillingham to the convention. Jackson and Dillingham are the official voting delegates for the Santa Anna Chapter.

Eastern Star to Honor All Past Matrons and Patrons

The Santa Anna Chapter No. 247, Order of Eastern Star will meet Monday, July 17, at 8:00 p. m. in the Masonic Hall. A program will be presented all Past Matrons and Past Patrons. All are requested to be present.

Christian Church Minister in Jamaica

Rev. Walter Allen, minister of the First Christian Church, is spending the summer in Jamaica, and plans to return to his duties here in September.

During the period from now until his return, no church services will be held at the church. However, there will be Bible School and Communion each Sunday morning as usual.

Every member is urged to be present each Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mulroy Jr. and children, Richie and Mark, of Birmingham, Ala., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mulroy Sr., and his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Horton, from Monday to Wednesday. On their return home they visited her folks in Big Spring and Abilene, then returned by Dallas.

H. W. Matthews is in Fort Worth visiting his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Leach and family.

Old-Timers to Play Baseball Game July 22

The Santa Anna Quarterback Club is sponsoring an old-timers baseball game Saturday night, July 22, on the local field. The game will get underway at 8:00 p. m. and is scheduled for seven innings. Prices of admission are 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.

The Club is sponsoring the game in an attempt to raise money to help keep the summer baseball program going. Everyone is invited and urged to attend.

The game will be played between men of the Rockwood Community and the Santa Anna Community. Qualifications are very simple: all players must be at least 35 years of age or have as many as four children or be a preacher.

Managers have not been definitely selected as yet. However, Jim Rutherford is expected to manage the Rockwood team and no one has been mentioned for the Santa Anna team as yet.

Rains Vary Throughout Local Area

Rains of varying amounts fell throughout Coleman County Saturday and Sunday, with some amounts reaching the 2 inch mark in the Shields area and the area between Rockwood and Whon.

According to reports received here, very little rain was received right in the town of Rockwood, but considerable rain fell in areas surrounding the town. Bill Price said he received about 1 1/2 inches of rain Saturday, accompanied by quite a bit of hail that could have been very damaging if it had lasted very long. Others in the same area report about the same amount of rain along with high winds and hail.

Actually the town of Santa Anna did not receive very much moisture during the two days. However, we did receive a light shower Sunday morning that lasted for about an hour. Heavy clouds surrounded the town on both Saturday and Sunday. Reports indicate the rainfall to the north and east were generally light with some areas receiving heavy rain.

Church Deer in Freak Accident Sunday Morning

Church Deer suffered superficial injuries in a freak accident about 9:00 a. m. Sunday. He is presently in the Santa Anna Hospital under observation, but does not appear to be seriously injured.

Mr. Deer and Guy Cammack have some cattle in a pasture south of the railroad and west of the O. A. Etheredge home. Sunday morning they were notified their cattle had got out and were on the railroad right-of-way. They immediately went to get them back in the pasture.

While driving them down the railroad right-of-way a freight train came through. It appears that a 3-year-old heifer was frightened by the train and attempted to run across the tracks, but was hit by the train and the impact threw her back into Mr. Deer.

Mr. Cammack said he did not know the accident happened until after the train passed, as he was on the other side of the tracks. Apparently the train crew did not know of the accident either, as they did not stop.

At first Mr. Deer did not seem to suffer any injury much, as he went on and helped get the cows in the pasture and the fence fixed. However, soon after dinner he began suffering from the effect of the lick and was carried to the hospital. Dr. John D. Murrell said he suffered bruises to his left shoulder and ribs and the left ankle and lower part of the leg. He was being retained in the hospital for observation.

The heifer had to be killed because of her injuries. She belonged to Mr. Cammack.

We Can Even Grow Pineapples

And now we find the tropical fruit, pineapples, will grow in Santa Anna.

Last year Mrs. Catherine Markland cut the top of a pineapple and put it in water — and it started growing roots. She gave it to Mrs. Lucile Wylie to see what she could do with it.

Mrs. Wylie planted it in dirt and now it has a small pineapple, about as big as a thumb, growing on one of the stems.

Mrs. Wylie has the pineapple at her flower shop.

Bank Pays Dividend; Deposits Up

The Santa Anna National Bank paid a dividend of $2,500 on June 30, the first time a mid-year dividend has been paid in a number of years, as shown by the quarterly statement published elsewhere in this issue of The News.

Deposits are up just about $173,000 over the last report, published in April.

Total assets of the local bank amount to $2,469,981.06. This is an increase in assets of more than $184,000 since the last report.

July 23 to 29 Designated as Farm Safety Week

The period from July 23-29, already proclaimed by President Kennedy as National Farm Safety Week, has been designated as Farm Safety Week in Texas by Governor Price Daniel.

In his official memorandum, the Governor said, "This nation's economy is dependent upon the continued well-being and progress of our State's agricultural population. Accidents from farm work cause needless suffering, distress and loss of life each year among our rural families."

"A vigorous farm accident-prevention program will be conducted during this week by the Texas Farm Bureau, the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Safety Association."

"I urge all Texas farm families to increase their vigilance against needless accidents and further encourage interested organizations and individuals to participate in this program."

President Calvin Pigg of the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council said the Council was cooperating with all interested organizations, agencies, groups and individuals to make the week's program as effective as possible. He added that plans in most counties for the observance of Farm Safety Week have been made and noted an increase in youth participation. This, he said, is especially gratifying since youth are often the victims of farm accidents. County extension agents and local 4-H adult leaders are given much of the credit for this improvement.

The Council is hopeful, Pigg said, that all citizens will cooperate and participate in the local observances, for each is dependent upon agriculture for many of the necessities of life.

Plans will be completed later for the reception, refreshments and music as well as the decorations for the August 17 event.

Granddaughter of A. A. Bertrands Is College Beauty

Miss Brenda Bertrand, a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bertrand of Santa Anna and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bertrand of Houston, was selected as the All-College Beauty for 1961 of Southwest State College at San Marcos. The sophomore student won the title over six other finalists.

Miss Bertrand led the College's band that participated in the inaugural parade, when President Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson took the two highest offices in the United States.

Attend church regularly.

The 24th annual showing of the Coleman Rodeo is now underway and will continue through Saturday night. Performances are held each evening beginning with the grand entry parade at 8:00 p. m. The rodeo features the five standard events: bull riding, steer wrestling, calf roping, saddle bronc riding and bareback riding. In addition there will be the girls barrel race and a matched roping contest between George Epperson of Cherokee and Buddy Groff of Bandera.

Rob O'Hair, president of the Rodeo Association, announced the parking area at the rodeo grounds has been treated with a coating of caliche and creek gravel, to make it useable in all weather. The lights have also been elevated in order to give the contestants and spectators a better view of the arena.

There will also be a number of specialty acts during the four night performances. A parade will be held in downtown Coleman each afternoon, beginning at 5:00 p. m. The Santa Anna Band will participate in the Thursday afternoon parade.

Tickets are on sale at the Owl Drug Store. They also may be purchased at the gate as you enter.

Farm Bureau Queen Contest August 17

The annual Farm Bureau Queen contest for Coleman County has been announced for August 17. It will be held at the Recreation Building at the Coleman Rodeo Grounds at 3 p. m. on that night.

Heading the project this year will be Mrs. C. D. Bruce, and her committee appointments are taking shape. The contest is open to Coleman County girls who are from Farm Bureau families, and who meet certain other requirements. Mrs. Montie Guthrie is the Contestants Committee member from Santa Anna, and all girls from Farm Bureau families are invited to talk to Mrs. Guthrie concerning the contest. Others on the Contest Committee are Mrs. Dick Jamison of Gouldbusk, Mrs. Harold Pittard of Novice, Mrs. Arnold Alcorn of Talpa, Mrs. Max Horne of Coleman, Mrs. Jake McCreary of Rockwood, Mrs. Felton Martin of Trickham and Mrs. Billy H. Brown of Burkett.

It is hoped that all girls eligible will enter the contest this year, since worth-while training and instructions will be given them, and it is an honor to appear in this contest, the Farm Bureau feels.

Plans will be completed later for the reception, refreshments and music as well as the decorations for the August 17 event.

State Capital NEWS

Austin — Texas legislators, like students who failed to complete their work in the long term and have to come back to summer school, return to Austin this week to "get it over with."

Goal is the passage of a two-year appropriations bill expected to run around $2,600,000,000. To pay for it, they will need to find some $350,000,000 more in tax money than now provided on the law books.

But if money is short, advice is not.
 At least three committees have a word or two for the lawmakers. Two are unofficial. They are the Citizens for a Sales Tax, whose name explains its purpose, and the Citizens for Fair Taxation, which is pushing Gov. Price Daniel's plan for additional selective sales taxes, plus more business taxes, higher on alcoholic beverages and others.
 A third committee, appointed by the Governor, avoided a single, specific, recommendation but pinpointed some sort of retail sales tax as the most likely source for the amount of money needed. This committee is composed mainly of the chairmen of governing boards of state welfare and educational agencies. Committee suggested that either the retail sales tax passed by the Senate last session (a "general" sales tax with exemptions for food, farm supplies, medicine) or a "Pennsylvania-type" tax which affects only the items listed in the bill or a combination of the two might be the answer.

All of which leaves the Legislatures just about where it was — with at least some support, and some opposition, for any course it might take.

AUTO INSURANCE RAISED
 Beginning August 1, Texas motorists will pay higher premiums for automobile insurance. How high the premium goes will depend on the county in which the motorist lives and its accident record. In general, the big city counties have higher accident rates and insurance premiums than rural counties. In Travis County (Austin), the increase on a typical policy would be 15 percent; in Dallas County, about 17 percent.

This is the first increase in the base rate for auto insurance ordered by the State Board of Insurance since 1958. Reductions or increases for traffic accidents and violations under the Safe Driving Plan will continue as before.

Reasons given for the rate raise include:
 1. More people than expected qualified for the 20 percent premium cut allowed under the Safe Driving Plan for drivers with no accidents or violations. This caused a decline in premium income.
 2. Higher cost of repairing today's wrap-around-windshield, wrap-around-fender cars.
 3. Generous jury awards for injury and damage claims.
 4. Drop in the number of new cars sold last year.
 5. Apparent dropping of insurance by some motorists who had previously carried it.

HIGHWAY COSTS UP
 Cost of having good roads, the State Highway Department frankly admits, is going up. Highway Commission has announced a highway maintenance budget for the next fiscal year (Sept. 1, 1961 to Aug. 31, 1962) of $51,300,000 — which is up $2,100,000 from the previous year.

Reasons given for the increase. Texas had more than 1-100 new highway miles to care for and it costs more per mile to care for them. But proper upkeep, says the Commission, "stretches the taxpayer's dollar by increasing the life of the road."
 Department now maintains average cost of $811 per mile for 57,757 miles of highway at an upkeep. Per mile upkeep cost has increased $19 since the last fiscal year.

HIGHER SPEED, HIGHER TOLL
 Beginning September 1, higher toll charges will be made on the Texas Turnpike, linking Dallas and Fort Worth.
 Beginning August 28, effective date of authorizing legislation passed last spring, the speed limit on most of the toll road will be raised from 60 to 70 miles per hour.

Toll charges for an end-to-end trip by passenger cars will be hiked from 50 to 60 cents; for heavy trucks, from $1.25 to $1.35. Texas Turnpike Authority voted the higher fares after receiving estimates that the operation would have a $425,000 deficit at the end of this year unless revenues increased.

SABINE DAM UNDER STUDY
 After a hearing on the pros and cons, State Board of Water Engineers has granted the Sabine River Authority's application for a permit to build the proposed Toledo Bend reservoir. Sabine, for quite a stretch, serves as the boundary between Louisiana and lower East Texas, and the proposed dam is to be a joint Texas-Louisiana project.

Spokesmen for timber interests in the area told the Board the reservoir, slated to be 100 miles long, would put valuable timber under water and sawmill workers out of jobs. It would take 10 years, said a sawmill representative, to get all the timber out of the area.

Advocates of the dam contended that the $54,000,000 project will ultimately benefit the area by attracting new industry and helping to offset future water shortage.

MORE JOBS, MORE JOBLESS
 More Texans were at work and more were out of work this May than a year ago, Texas Employment Commission reports. Employment increased 3,200 over a year ago, but unemployment was up by 30,800, indicating job seekers are increasing 10 times faster than job openings. Average weekly wage for Texas factory workers during May was $91.46, compared to the national average of $92.66.

NEBRASKA RE-AFFIRMS

The good people of Nebraska seem to like their right-to-work law.

In 1947, Nebraska enacted its right-to-work law. This year, 1961, Nebraska's Labor Commissioner, Donald Bastemeyer, made a statement condemning this right-to-work law adopted in 1947.

The Nebraska uni-cameral legislature gave Mr. Bastemeyer a prompt answer. By a vote of 32-9, it adopted a resolution affirming Nebraska's right-to-work law which has been in effect for 13 years. This resolution says in part:

"It is a proven fact that the Nebraska business climate is one of the state's greatest assets and the NEBRASKA RIGHT-TO-WORK LAW IS AND HAS BEEN A PLUS FACTOR IN ADVANCING AND ENRICHING THE ECONOMY OF THE STATE."

This parallels the experience of the other 18 states that have taken advantage of the clause in the Taft-Hartley law to enact right-to-work laws. The popularity of this law wherever it has been enacted seems to be a mighty good answer to the union labor chiefs who are moving heaven and earth to amend Taft-Hartley so as to take away the right of a state to enact or continue a right-to-work law.

We believe the average American believes a man should be permitted to work for whom, where and when he pleases WITHOUT PAYING TRIBUTE TO A LABOR UNION.

Magazine Probes Problems & Advances Of Medicine

The field of medicine is undergoing radical changes, in medical research, in the health problems of the individual and in medical economics, according to Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine.

In a series of special reports in the June issue of the magazine, the editors discuss latest medical trends, finding a family doctor, how to stretch health dollars, sensible ways to keep healthy, budgeting for medical bills, figuring tax angles and the smart way to buy health insurance.

Child's Arm Turns Hard, Stony; Medical Treatment Slows Process

Christine Versluis, who is nine and lives on the shores of Lake Ontario at Hilton, N.Y., is unable to straighten her right arm because of rheumatic disease.

Her arm and parts of both shoulders are becoming increasingly calcified, which means change of the muscle tissue into a hard stony substance.

This somber-faced child is the tragic victim of dermatomyositis, one of the forms of rheumatic disease. Another form is rheumatoid arthritis. The majority of people don't know that children suffer from arthritis; they believe mistakenly that arthritis afflicts only the aging—someone's grandfather or grandmother, surely not the very young.

But there is urgent reason today why grownups and parents especially should be intelligently informed about arthritis among children. Dr. William S. Clark, director of medical care of The National Foundation, whose expanded program embraces arthritis, birth defects and continued work in polio, said this week:

"Rheumatoid arthritis is a type that can make children very ill indeed. They may become severely crippled. Their joints may 'freeze.' Happily, we can now demonstrate today that with proper treatment and care, most of the crippling caused by juvenile rheumatoid arthritis can be prevented."

But the cardinal point, Dr. Clark emphasizes, is that thousands of children have rheumatoid arthritis without knowing what the disease they suffer from really is. Their parents may dismiss the aching in neck, knees, wrists or elbows (or, more rarely, in all these joints simultaneously) as "growing pains"; or for a variety of other reasons, the right diagnosis is not made.

"We now estimate that in the United States, more than 50,000 adults who suffer from rheumatoid arthritis had their actual onset of the disease in childhood," Dr. Clark added. "Had they received modern treatment at that time, most of the crippling in maturity could have been prevented. That's one reason why The National Foundation's program in arthritis and patient aid for the young is so significant."

Child victims of rheumatoid arthritis are estimated to total 30,000 in this country alone, with 16,000 a year ill enough to need medical care. About 5,000 or 6,000 of these may require treatment as intensive as the rehabilitation needed for those stricken by paralytic polio.

There are at least 11 millions in the nation today who suffer from some form of rheumatic disease, including arthritis. Rheumatoid arthritis victims total about 1,500,000. The disease is the nation's No. 1 crippling.

Nine-year-old Christine Versluis must hold her right arm in this awkward upright position because it is turning into hard, stony substance. But there's hope for her in research sponsored by The National Foundation.

To return to Christine, the little girl with the arm and shoulders turning into a stony element, she is receiving treatment at the March of Dimes-supported Arthritis Study Center at the University of Rochester School of Medicine—one of four National Foundation arthritis centers around the country. Her doctors hope they are slowing the advance of calcification but the outlook at this time is not certain.

Uncertainty, then, is the disquieting prospect facing this little girl. Her mother, Mrs. Eugene Versluis, hopes that if enough people support National Foundation research, perhaps in time Christine's right arm will fall back where it belongs and the stoniness will disappear; and that eventually the appalling figure of 30,000 children with crippling rheumatoid arthritis each year will decline.

ing suggestions of leaders in the field of health, some cropping up as individual doctors try to meet obvious problems.

"Many new approaches are in the works, and others will be coming along. One thing is clear, a good deal of tinkering with the problem and scores of new ways (perhaps radical ways to the tradition-minded in the medical profession) will be needed if the promises of health and longevity are to be fulfilled.

of a family; to return to the basic idea that a whole man gets sick, not just one or more of his organs, and to coordinate work of specialists to eliminate "piecemeal" medicine; and, to expand research and development of new methods of treatment.

The magazine points out that as yet there is no clear vision of how these four aims will eventually be accomplished, "but there is already evidence of a good many experiments, some follow-

June Travel to Big Bend National Park Increases
Big Bend National Park — Travel this year during the month of June increased substantially over the travel in June, 1960, according to information released by Superintendent Stanley C. Joseph. A total of 10,466 people visited Big Bend last month compared to 8,543 during June a year ago.

The heavy travel during June has brought the total travel for the year 1961 to date within 2% of the total travel during the first six months of 1960. Travel during 1961 got off to a slow start but the June figures reveal that, with an adequate base upon which to compute percentages, the trend of visitation at Big Bend this year is increasing.

Increased visitation at the park is reflected in heavier use of campgrounds, picnic areas, cottages, and saddle horses. Weather conditions have been especially inviting. There has been sufficient rainfall to make the vegetation luxuriant and green. Photographers have been delighted with white, fleecy clouds forming a beautiful background for scenic shots.

WHAT'S GONE WRONG IN THE POULTRY BUSINESS

There is something haywire somewhere when chicken is cheaper than dog food.

Less than ten years ago, fried chicken was an honored guest at the family dinner table, usually reserved for the Sunday feast. Today, it is an economy meat beyond expectation — beyond even desire — of the budget-conscious housewife; so cheap, in fact, as to often make the shopper turn it down in favor of something "better" for the family. And there's nothing better than chicken.

Live broiler prices recently hit an all-time low of 11 cents a pound in Texas, and ready-to-cook prices have been correspondingly cheap — as low as 19 cents per pound in some supermarkets.

Why? How can this singular poultry price depression (which extends as well to turkeys and eggs) exist in an economy where other food items have remained stable or even risen contrastingly during recent years when poultry products have been in trouble? Can anything be done about it?

SUPER BARGAINS AT SUPERMARKETS

Except in products which are in short, limited or controlled supply, pricing is generally done from the top downward — especially on a commodity that must be marketed at a certain stage of maturity. In other words, a "buyer's market" exists. The principle buyers of food products for retail sale in America today are supermarkets.

When development of the commercial broiler industry proved that chickens can be grown efficiently, low in cost and of excellent quality, broilers became a

Summertime is Turkey Time

If you are planning a picnic, patio party or outdoor barbecue, then plan to serve turkey. This is the advice of George Draper of the poultry science department at Texas A&M College. He says your family and guests will enjoy the delicious flavor of turkey meat hot from the barbecue grill.

Turkey breeders, through many years of breeding and research, have developed a turkey that can be marketed at any age or weight. Birds going to market this year are smaller in weight, but have more meat per pound of turkey. You can find turkeys ranging from 4 to 24 pounds in your food store. These birds are ready to cook, and they are low in fat and high in protein. This combination makes turkey an ideal meat for the hot summer days, points out Draper.

When barbecuing turkey, preparing the fire is half the secret of success. If you are a good fireman, chances are you will be a good barbecue man. Start the fire about 30 minutes before placing the turkey on the grill. Do not try to barbecue with too much fire; slow cooking is very important, explains Draper. Normally, turkeys are split down the back and breast and cooked in halves. Whole turkeys may be barbecued on an electric spit, however. The second step to success is frequent basting with your favorite barbecue sauce.

Another factor in favor of serving turkey is the lack of waste. If there is any left over turkey after the meal, you can beat the heat by serving cold barbecue sandwiches the next day.

Breeding Problems Cost Dairymen

College Station — Would you like to have a tax-free farm? Well, that's not quite possible, but if you're an average dairyman your herd could provide enough additional income to pay your property taxes. A. M. Meekma, extension dairy specialist, says this additional income can be provided if each cow produces a calf every year. Few herds reach this goal, however, and the resulting loss amounts to millions of dollars annually. Most dairymen are unaware of the loss because it represents milk that was never produced.

In order to freshen annually and thus start a new lactation, a cow must conceive within 90 days after her last calving, Meekma explains. Research shows the best time to breed cows is from 50 to 90 days — animals bred earlier often do not settle and may not finally conceive until well after 90 days. Loss of potential milk production may cost the owner over a dollar a day for each cow that goes more than three months without conceiving.

Lancaster, Pennsylvania was capitol of the United States for one day.

"lead item" with the supermarkets. Chickens for years have been advertised at stores as week-end specials — which gave the housewife a bargain and at the same time sustained broiler consumption.

The first trouble appeared when the broiler became treated as a step-child in the chain stores. They sold it at low or no profit, they cut prices to such an extent that the live market became gradually and progressively depressed — and they did it without demand or even expectation of the consumer.

Today, that unnecessary price depression has reached a deplorable level. Costs of production are cents above the buyer's offering price. Costs of feed for chickens being prepared for market have actually risen during this unhealthy period, but there is no lessening of the slack from the top to allow for the strain.

The question of what can be done to correct this inequitable situation must inevitably be answered parenthetically to include what will happen if it is not corrected.

The usual solution sought when a commodity is in trouble is to seek expanded outlets and encourage consumption — which is good and healthy. But in the poultry problem, this is not enough, because it is not likely to improve prices, and that's the big problem. Poultry outlets have been expanded. A recent U.S.D.A. publication reports that exports to Western Europe, for example, have increased in five years from 28 million pounds to 175 million pounds.

What will be necessary if the poultry industry is to remain free of controls is an injection of conscience into the buying and selling of poultry. A new and healthier approach to marketing at the retail level where poultry is recognized not only as a perpetual bargain but a wonderful, wholesome commodity that people need and want and will buy at something other than distress prices.

If such an approach is not realized, then the inevitable result, unhelped for by many, is government regulation providing a statutory framework around which poultry pricing can be fair and reasonable for all concerned.

Can Civilization Survive to the Year 2000?

Do you believe that Western Christian civilization will survive to the year 2000?

Of a group of suburban housewives contacted in a special poll, 100 percent said "yes." "How" was another matter.

In the same poll, the women were asked to say whether they felt nuclear attack on this country was (1) impossible, (2) unlikely, (3) possible or (4) probable. Eighty-two percent chose "possible." Remainder said "unlikely."

Asked what they would do if given two hours attack warning time, 78 percent gave answers reflecting some knowledge and forethought. Only six percent said they would try to get out of town. Most said they would snatch up canned goods, water and children and head for a basement or some other "safest area." Remaining 24 percent said they had no idea what they would do.

Asked what they would do if they had only 15 minutes' warning time, 64 percent said they would take whatever shelter was available as quickly as possible. Other 36 percent gave answers such as "panic," "pray" and "nothing."

Asked if they felt the country's present civil defense preparedness (both individual and collective) was adequate to enable the country to survive nuclear attack, 100 percent said "no." Asked if they felt it could be done, 78 percent said "yes." Remainder expressed some degree of doubt.

Some volunteered suggestions such as, "The government should build shelters into schools." Others urged more government encouragement for shelter building.

The women questioned do not constitute what professional pollsters would call a "true sample," with a proportionate combination of ages, sexes and socio-economic groups. It was made entirely among housewives in one of the "better-off" neighborhoods of a medium-sized Texas city that is regarded as a target area. It was heavily and purposely weighted toward people in the responsible "middle years," people with minor children at home and people who could normally expect to live to the year 2000.

Almost all evidenced concern about civil defense, and none refused to answer questions. A number asked where they could get civil defense information; other said, "I've got some pamphlets here somewhere I've been meaning to read."

All were required to answer immediately without time for thought or research.

Purpose of the poll was not to jar anyone into action nor to gain any accurate statistical measurement of civil defense home preparedness. It was to try to develop some feeling as to the answer to the question of our time: "Will we survive?"

Arnold Toynbee, the eminent British historian, lists 21 civilizations known to have existed since man took charge of the earth. Of these, 16 have passed away. Only five remain, of which ours is one.

Mr. Toynbee further believes that civilizations are born, develop and continue to flourish as a result, not of ease and security, but of the response that is stimulated by harsh, threatening circumstances. He also suggests that civilizations can be "spoiled by success" so that they "rest on their oars" and fail to respond to meet the last — and fatal — challenge.

Whether we as a people are responding adequately to the threat of our day is an open question. You might make your own poll and draw your own conclusions.

There is an oft-told, but pointed, tale of how a crab reacts to the problem of having one claw staked down to the ground so that he cannot move. According to the story, if the crab is confronted with some sharp and obvious danger, such as the approach of a deadly enemy, he will pull loose and save himself, even if it means tearing off a claw.

But if the crab is faced only with gradual starvation, he will stay where he is — and die.

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

Adjournment prospects this year are uncertain. It will depend a lot on what happens in the Senate. If a civil rights has developed, as has been indicated, the Senators could easily kill from two to six weeks on that. President Kennedy has urged that the subject be avoided this year, but some Senators from Negro areas are chomping at the bits. Just the effort makes good reading in certain radical newspapers.

Actually, the session could easily be concluded by the end of July. There remains on the agenda only a handful of bills which the leadership considers essential. Among them, not already acted upon, are Federal aid to education, foreign aid, extension of reciprocal trade and compulsory health insurance. The latter is being talked about less and may not be pushed at this session.

The education bill has already passed the Senate and is now before the House Rules Committee. But two members of that Committee, both Catholics, have rebelled and refused to report the bill unless another is reported at the same time containing aid for parochial schools.

Another strike against the aid to education measure developed the other day when a publication put out by the Office of Education came to light. Entitled "A Federal Education Agency for the Future," it is a blue print for federal control. Published in April of this year, it has created quite a stir in congressional circles. It is interpreted to be a clincher against the argument that federal control is not intended. And it was prepared and released by an agency of the government that is sponsoring the school aid bill.

Mohair Prices sold during the 1960 marketing year averaged 89.7 cents per pound, according to figures just released by the USDA. This is 7 percent less than the 1959 average of 96.4 cents but is 3 percent more than the 1950-59 average price of 86.9 cents.

Wool did not do quite so well. Prices received for wool during 1960 averaged 42 cents per pound, 3 percent less than a year earlier and 23 percent below the 1950-59 average of 54.2 cents per pound.

Read Luke 6:6-12.

It came to pass in those days, that he went out into a mountain to pray, and continued all night in prayer to God. (Luke 6:12.)

The Gospels tell us stories about Jesus' seeking the presence of the Father outside the temple doors. In the wilderness He sought God for strength to fight temptation. After a busy day, He prayed in the mountain. At the hour of His greatest need, He went to a secluded garden. Jesus felt that out of doors He could be close to the Father.

During a summer workcamp located on a hilltop, the young people made what they called their "Chapel in the Woods." The walls of the Chapel were the foliage and its roof was the open sky. The campers held their dedication service there. They felt the presence of God in this open chapel.

We, too, can be with the Almighty when we seek Him outdoors. He is always there. He whispers to us through the flowers and birds, through the wind, the rain, and running waters. When we appreciate God's handiwork, we exalt Him and rejoice in His presence. doors. Through Christ, who prayed in the garden, we pray. Amen.

The American Way

LET'S KEEP IT THAT WAY

By George Peck

(Editor's Note: George Peck is Honorary Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

In two former editorials we've discussed the matter of certain companies, users of Pitney-Bowes postage meters, carrying the slogan "This Is A Republic, Not A Democracy—Let's keep it that way." When Pitney-Bowes asked these "sloganeers" to cease and desist printing this slogan on their envelopes, a few "hardy" souls refused to cease and desist. These "recalcitrants" refuted the allegation that this slogan is controversial, and therefore, "objectionable and misleading." They wanted to know what in the world could be "controversial" about stating that the United States of America is a Republic—a fact, which a reading of our American Constitution quite distinctly verifies.

Now, all this "much ado about nothing" on the part of Pitney-Bowes, impelled us to give the Constitution another thorough reading. We found that the authors of that great document referred many times to the U.S.A. as being a REPUBLIC, and that neither the word "democracy", nor any derivative of that word, appears therein.

We purposely refrain from citing the exact places in which the word "Republic" appears in The Constitution, in the hope that some of our readers mentally will challenge our statement, and give it another reading. We found our re-reading of the immortal document to be awfully good medicine, although we were considerably disturbed at its being driven home to us once again just how far our politicians and bureaucrats have carried us away from the plan laid down therein by the Founding Fathers.

And, incidentally, we would suggest a re-reading of the Constitution by certain justices of our U.S. Supreme Court, who either have forgotten its rules, or are deliberately disregarding those rules. And still further we throw out the thought that it would not harm many of our Washington legislators to take a refresher course in the doctrines of the Constitution.

Why did our Founding Fathers ordain that the U.S.A. should be a Republic and not a Democracy? Simply because they knew that the former form of government insures liberty and freedom for ALL citizens, while a Democracy does not.

Both Republicans and Democracies are forms of representative governments, in which the supreme power is retained by the people and exercised by them. Our American Republic, in a sense is a restricted and limited Democracy. The main difference between the two is in the degree of majority rule.

In a Democracy majority rule is unrestricted. In a Republic majority rule IS restricted.

Our Constitution, in its Bill of Rights, definitely places limitations on the power of our representatives at Washington. They are denied the power to abridge our freedom of speech and press and religion; and trial by jury. They must protect us from unreasonable searches and seizures. They must so act regardless of how much the majority might be opposed to these individual rights.

Under a Democracy, there is no such protection of individual rights against the rule of the majority. The Constitution sets up every safeguard to protect us against unrestricted majority rule. It provides representation for the minority as well as for the majority. Were the U.S.A. a Democracy instead of a Republic, the will of the majority would be forced upon the will of the minority. A Republic, on the other hand, creates and develops tolerance that guards against tyranny of the majority.

Perhaps the outstanding proof that the Founding Fathers intended this to be a Republic—not a Democracy—is to be found in how they set up our United States Senate—two Senators from each State. Nevada with a population of only about 200,000 has exactly the same representation in the Senate as has New York State with a population in excess of 15 million. This is a protection for the "minority population" states against unlimited majority rule by the more populous states.

In the final analysis, because ours is a Republic—not a Democracy, we are protected in our right to hold differences of opinion—and this makes for genuine liberty and individual freedom.

We've mentioned this before, but it's well worth repeating. Benjamin Franklin, as he stepped out of Independence Hall in Philadelphia on that eventful day that the Founding Fathers had concluded drawing up our Constitution was asked by a lady, "Dr. Franklin, what kind of government have you given us?" He replied: "A REPUBLIC, IF YOU CAN KEEP IT." And so despite those who are trying to subvert our Republic into a Democracy—already they have made alarming progress—let's continue stoutly to proclaim that this is a Republic—not a Democracy, as we exert every energy TO KEEP IT THAT WAY.

Plant Disease Of the Week

Harlan E. Smith, Extension Plant Pathologist

NEMATODES SERIOUS COTTON PEST

Nematodes damage cotton, more or less, in all areas of Texas. The small microscopic worms are more damaging in sandy or loam type soils where water is a limiting factor.

Nematode injury is often overlooked or mistakenly diagnosed as drought damage and poor soil. Damage may vary from slight to as much as 30 percent of the crop.

The root knot nematodes are the most damaging and most easily recognized. Damage by these nematodes result in knots or galls being formed on the roots. Young cotton seedlings can be attacked by the parasites causing them to die or be weakened.

In some areas nematodes damage the roots and provide a gateway for the fusarium wilt fungus to enter. The fusarium wilt disease once thought of as only an East Texas disease has been moving west in recent years. Specimens have been received at College Station from Wichita Falls, O'Brien and Mulshoe areas.

Other nematodes that cause damage are the dagger, stubby root and stilet nematodes. The root lesion, lance and true spiral nematodes are suspected as causing damage. Special soil and root samples can be checked in the Plant Disease Diagnostic Laboratory at College Station in order to determine kind and number of nematodes.

Nematodes are controlled by certain cultural practices or the use of certain chemicals prior to planting. Contact your extension agent for additional information and ask for a copy of MP-356, "Plant Nematodes—Their Identification and Control."

Hay Quality Influenced By Time of Harvest

The haymaking season is in full swing in Texas. The quality of the crop harvested may well depend, says Geo. McBee, extension pasture specialist, on the stage of growth of the plants when cut and the length of the drying period.

McBee suggests early cutting when nutrients in the plants are near the peak but with adjustment for management practices to maintain stands and fast drying to conserve the feeding value of the crop.

From the standpoint of total digestible nutrients, plants accumulate most nutrients during vegetative stages of growth, points out the specialist. Some plants may lose up to 60 percent or more of their crude protein when harvest is delayed until they reach maturity.

Generally, McBee likes to time the harvest to catch the plant in the boot stage or in early bloom. Quality is best in the Sudan group at the boot stage. Coastal Bermuda should be harvested when it reaches 16-18 inches in height; native grasses in the boot to early bloom stage; alfalfa when a tenth to a fourth of the plants are blooming and lespedeza at the first bloom. As plants get older, continued McBee, the quality declines and the undigestible fibers increase.

After the hay is cut, the moisture content should be reduced to safe storage level as soon as possible. Protein and other nutrients lost after the hay is cut often mount to 30 percent or more in some plants depending upon the length of the drying period. And finally, points out McBee, poor quality hay makes poor livestock feed. He suggests a visit with the local county agent for more information on improving the quality of your hay crop.

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE

Disaster Can Be Eliminated From Highways

J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association and Coordinator for the Annual Slow Down and Live Program, makes this comparison:

John Jacob Astor donned his formal evening clothes... the 8 piece band swung into the strains of "Autumn"... the stars shown down on a quiet ocean. Then, the giant "unsinkable" liner, lights suddenly extinguished, sank beneath the water. With her went 1,517 men, women and children. The rich and famous Mr. Astor, the foreign-born and little-known Mauritz Adahl, the loving, elderly Mr. and Mrs. Isidor Straus (she had refused rescue to stay with her husband)... the children, the parents and the newlyweds. The Titanic, then the largest, most luxurious and "safest" ship afloat, was down in the ice-filled Atlantic, taking with her 1,517 souls.

The world rocked with re-cremations, hearings, accusations and almost universal grief. Maritime laws were changed. Famous men committed suicide. Widows, widowers and orphans filled the newspapers with poignant pictures and stories of their irreparable loss. The Titanic sinking was one of three of the greatest "natural" disasters ever experienced by United States Citizens.

Yet a greater ever-recurring and ever-growing disaster strikes this country every year. Ironically it goes without notice—with no national gnashing of teeth—no headlines—no remedial laws. Each summer month—June, July and August, for the past 5 years we have killed more than twice as many people as died on the Titanic. They die not from "natural" disasters, but through man-made mistakes and carelessness on our streets and highways... crushed beneath the wheels of trucks, trapped in flaming cars... mangled by searing, suddenly accordion-pleated metal. Traffic accidents in the United States in June, July and August of 1958 took the identical number of lives attributed to three of our most dreadful disasters...

the Titanic, the Galveston tidal wave and the Johnstown flood. 9,726 men, women and children lost their lives in traffic accidents in those months. 9,726 men, women and children perished in the three "natural" disasters.

Governor Daniel and local officials and enforcement agencies and citizens have joined hands in support of an international traffic safety campaign, SLOW DOWN AND LIVE. It is the duty of every motorist—of every pedestrian to join in this effort. SPEED IS OUR NUMBER ONE KILLER. If we all work together... if we all SLOW DOWN and if we carry the SLOW DOWN AND LIVE message to our fellow motorist by word and, most of all, by example, we can eliminate disaster from our highways!

High School Bands Invited to Attend State Fair

Dallas—Every high school band in Texas is being invited to attend the State Fair of Texas and participate in the Fair's big 1961 "Exposition of Music."

The State Fair is endeavoring to make the 1961 exposition a truly musical sixteen days and a memorable experience for the bands who are able to take part. Bands that attend the Fair will have concerts scheduled for them on the days they are present, and will be invited to march in the spectacular illuminated "Torchlight Parade of Music" which will take place on the fairgrounds each evening at 6:45 p. m.

All members of the bands participating in the "Exposition of Music" will be admitted to the fairgrounds free.

High school bands throughout the state have been sent invitations to attend the Fair by James H. Stewart, executive vice president and general manager. Bands that have not received invitations either through their directors or school superintendents are invited to contact the State Fair.

So that there will be a balance in the number of bands attending the Fair each day, bands are requested to specify a choice of three days that they would like to attend. Dates of the 1961 State Fair are Oct. 7-22.

Many bands from throughout the state will participate in the annual Texas Music Festival co-sponsored by the Fair and the Texas Music Educators Association in the Cotton Bowl on Oct. 10. East Texas Day on Oct. 17 will also attract numerous bands from that area of the state.

A folder listing highlights of the 1961 State Fair "Exposition of Music" is now available and copies can be obtained by writing Publicity Department, State Fair of Texas, Dallas 26.

About Your Health

Austin—Texas consumers of foods, drugs and cosmetics will come out on the long end of an almost completely new state law which goes into effect late next month.

The new law, aimed at consumer protection against adulteration, mislabeling and false advertising, was passed by the 57th session of the State Legislature with strong support of a major segment of the food, drug, and cosmetics industry.

It becomes effective August 28, and represents the first major overhaul of the State's basic food and drug law in more than 50 years.

State health authorities say the law is as good as in force anywhere in the nation. It puts Texas on the side of the proponents of uniformity in state food and drug laws.

The old law made no provision for checking on the wholesomeness of cosmetics, whereas the new act requires truthful advertising, complete labeling as to ingredients, forbids the use of harmful ingredients, and requires that products be produced and held under sanitary conditions.

The law also brings the repulsive devices under control by outlawing worthless contrivances such as "cancer belts" and "arthritis rings" and similar quack appliances which take advantage of the desperation of afflicted people.

Under present Texas law the use of certain additives in food or drink is illegal. But after August 28 it will be permissible to use additives to enhance taste, color, texture or preservative qualities of certain foods. However, the burden of proving the additive is not injurious to human health will be on the manufacturer rather than on the enforcement agency as has been the case heretofore.

"Advances in food and drink technology over the past several years indicate a definite place in the food industry for chemical additives," says Joe F. Lakey, director of the State Health Department's food and drug division.

The department takes its task of consumer protection seriously. Lakey says division inspectors had supervised the destruction of 997,978 pounds of food as unfit for human use in the period between September 1, 1958 and August 1, 1960. He listed water, fire, rodent and insect damages as some reasons for condemnations.

To make the transition from the old law to the new one as smooth as possible, the department has already scheduled training sessions for field inspectors to familiarize them with the document they will be working with. (A weekly feature of the Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health.)

Most Refunds On Income Tax Are Completed

In response to recent inquiries, District Director of Internal Revenue Ellis Campbell Jr., said today there are a few individual income tax refunds still to be made to Dallas District taxpayers.

Mr. Campbell said the vast majority of refunds for overpayment of 1960 income tax have already been sent to taxpayers.

He explained that some returns that show large refunds due and certain indications of error are audited before the refunds are made.

This avoids the cost and inconvenience both to the taxpayer and the Service resulting from refunding tax and then facing the possibility of collecting all or part of it back from the taxpayer.

He said the priority schedules, are being met in this district for completing these audits and mailing tax refunds.

He said that taxpayers who have been concerned about not having received their refunds can feel a little better since IRS pays 6% interest on refunds scheduled after June 1.

L. K. WARDLOW, MECHANIC

by Tom Anderson

Dear Mr. Anderson:

In all the years I've been down here, yours was the first letter I've received. And this is my first letter-to-the-editor. And the last. (We have government allotments here, too.) We are so busy with chores, Hell won't have it. Naturally, all Hell is Communist. We have three hots a day and a place to flop—all guaranteed. In fact, we have the hots all day and night. People mistakenly assume that we have a monolithic form of government down here. Actually, everything has to be done by committee. Ain't that Hell?

We read in the Daily Stoker, which everybody down here has to read regularly, that your leaders have worked up a trade with Castro. Since the tractor trade is a covenant with the Devil, an agreement with death, and a purchase of slavery on the installment plan, naturally we are watching carefully. That tractors-for-prisoners ransom is no different, of course, from any American foreign aid projects. America gave $11 billion to Russia after the War and you never have got back the 4,000 American prisoners who were then rotting in Communist jails and slave labor camps.

Was the Cuban invasion planned to fail? CIA spent $45 million on the invasion. Castro knew the time, the place, and what liberty ship carried your communications. He doubtless knows your traitors, too. Your CIA carefully kept all real anti-Communists out of control and pushed Manuel Ray and Miro Cardova on the anti-Castro forces. Ray and Cardova, claimed "defectors" from Castro, are probably hard-core Communist trojan horses. Your CIA "planned help that never came." Your CIA would not allow Cuban patriots to alert the anti-Communist underground that the invasion was at hand, keeping the invaders from getting help inside Cuba.

The "empty bellies breed Communism" theme is a fraud, of course. Amoral dupes, gutless cynics, super-rich-by-inheritance do-gooders with built-in-guilt-complexes, eggheads, full-bellied fools and traitors—they breed Communism. Why hate treason and love the traitor?

There is absolutely no proof that a high standard of living is the enemy of Communism. When the day comes that you defeat the Communists through foreign aid, we'll be frozen over down here. And when any other nation ever gives any foreign aid to America, I'll be ice skating.

The New Frontier whiz kids will plan, lend, spend, talk and regulate you out of your recession—and into international Socialism, insolvency and surrender. Some diehards don't believe the kids have the necessary experience. Don't give it a thought, fellas. Whenever serious troubles arise, they can always holler for the Den Mother, Mrs. Roosevelt.

"The government has nothing to do with the transaction," reports the headman whiz kid. It was merely arranged by the President and all money given will, by special dispensation, be tax deductible. President Kennedy said, "The United States has not been and cannot be a party to these negotiations." On the contrary, private citizens have no legal or moral right to help the enemy in time of war. You are at war. A civilian who does business with the enemy is a traitor, unless he's instructed to do so by the President of the U.S., of course. The President of the United States arranged this blackmail, under the table. The American government supported the invasion, and lied about it—same as in the U-2 spy fiasco. The heavy-duty tractors specified by the enemy will come in handy for building airports and missile launching operations. And as the Den Mother points out, for improving the Communists' agriculture.

Why not swap Eleanor Roosevelt, Milton Eisenhower and Walter Reuther for the prisoners? Remember, it's not who you can trade for your government, but who your government can trade for you.

It's the "humanitarian" thing to do. But Americans don't bother about humanitarianism when it's your own who are imprisoned. You have neither the guts to get them nor the morality to refuse to ransom them. You just let them rot in smelly jails and slave labor camps. "Not one cent of tribute"—for your own. With the tractors for human flesh trade, American morality reaches a new low.

The barter of bodies for bulldozers brings back memories of Eichmann's attempt to trade Jews for trucks in World War II. Eichmann, whom I expect to see soon, made the unforgivable mistake of slaughtering Jews only. He's scum, with whom no decent man would even shake hands. But killers like Stalin, Khrushchev, Tito, Castro and Gomułka who slaughter without regard to race, color or religion are wined and dined, hailed and honored by your Presidents, governors, industrialists, educators and clergymen.

The godless Communists don't believe man has a soul. Man is nothing but body, they claim. The chemicals which comprise the body are worth $1.47 on today's market. Thus, the going price on the 1,200 prisoners should be $1,716. So the 500 tractors should be toy tractors. In

What ARE Bifocals?

Double lensed or bifocal spectacles are a marvelous scientific device which enable you to see clearly both near and far, after your eyes have lost their natural, youthful power to see well at all distances.

So, if you are over 45, maybe a pair of bifocals can make your eyes feel "under 25."
