FLORIDA EDITORS ACCEPT CHALLENGE

By George Peck

(Editor's Note: George Peck is Honorary Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

During the almost quarter of a century that we have been writing this column, we repeatedly have stated that the grass-roots weekly newspapers have a "rendezvous with destiny." As the years have rolled by, more and more of the metropolitan dailies have succumbed to the "liberal" virus, until today, with a few notable exceptions, they are no longer holding aloft the torch of freedom for their readers to behold.

And so it has become increasingly important that the last of our "Free Press" — the small-town dailies, semi-weeklies and weeklies — devote considerable space on their editorial pages to reminding their readers of the basic concepts of freedom as established by that greatest of all documents — the Constitution of the United States of America.

Yes, we are fully conscious of the fact that a small-town newspaper has an obligation to print the news — the friendly gossip — of the community it serves. But, with the increasing centralization of big government at Washington, the ever-increasing socialization of our American economy, reckless government spending necessitating exorbitant taxes, paternalistic handouts, etc., the "grass-roots" editor has another, even more important obligation — and that is continuously to warn his readers regarding the dangerous course our beloved America is traveling toward the complete Welfare State.

Thank God, the editors of the home town papers — more and more of them — are coming to accept the challenge. They are opening up their editorial pages and news sections to encouraging and promoting all-out action for the protection and preservation of our "American Way of Life," as handed down to us by the Founding Fathers of this Republic.

Our attention has been drawn to an excellent Resolution passed in June of this year at a meeting of District Two of the Florida Press Association. To Elbert Waterson, editor and publisher of the Dunedin (Florida) Times, we are indebted for a copy of this Resolution. We pass it along in the hope that editors in the other 49 States of the Union will read it and urge their State Press Associations to follow the splendid example of the editors of the Sunshine State by adopting similar resolutions:

A RESOLUTION

"WHEREAS, the freedoms that Americans enjoy, including the free press, the free enterprise system, and the American democratic form of government itself, depend upon an unswerving faith and belief in these systems by the American people, and

"WHEREAS, the United States can be destroyed from the inside by citizens who have never been educated in the benefits and freedoms assured by our form of government, or have weakened in their faith in the fundamentals of Americanism, and,

"WHEREAS, some legislative trends throughout the nation within the past few years have been in directions opposed to our basic freedoms, therefore,

"BE IT RESOLVED, by the members of the Second District, Florida Press Association, assembled in their annual meeting at Bartow, Fla., that the member newspapers of the Florida Press Association be urged to begin in their newspapers a continuing campaign to educate their readers concerning the basic principles of Americanism as they have been practiced in this nation since its inception, and

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the daily newspapers of Florida and all newspapers throughout the nation be invited in view of the defeatist attitude that has developed, to join in this campaign to re-assure the American public that in America has been developed the highest form of free government ever conceived by man and that no force on earth can bring about its downfall except a weakening of the faith of the people in what they have created through blood, sweat and stout courage, and,

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that national press associations like the National Editorial Association and the American Newspaper Publishers Association be urged to provide such material on a continuing basis that will help newspapers in carrying out the intent of this resolution."

More Eligibles Added To Roll For Veterans Benefits

Veterans who were disabled or survivors of those who were killed in accidents on the way home from separation centers prior to 1957 were made eligible for certain benefits by recent action of Congress, Mr. P. J. Mims, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco, Texas said today.

These benefits have always existed for veterans separated after December 31, 1956, who were considered by law to be still in the military service until midnight of the day they were discharged, and in some cases even until they reached home.

Veterans separated before this date, however, had been considered to be civilians as they traveled homeward and thus an accident resulting in disability or death was not considered service-connected.

Through the new law, Congress has made veterans, disabled before 1957 in such travel, or dependents of veterans, killed in such travel, eligible for service-connected benefits.

These benefits are not automatic, Mr. Mims pointed out, but must be sought through application. Contact representatives at the nearest VA office will explain the benefits and help eligible persons prepare their applications.

Space Capsule to Be on Display At State Fair

A replica of the capsule in which America's first astronauts, Commander Alan B. Shepard and Capt. Virgil Grissom, were launched into space this year, will be exhibited along with other space age displays at the 1961 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 7-22, Dallas.

The full-size model of the capsule used in "Project Mercury" is being sent to the State Fair by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The capsule will be occupied by a dummy astronaut in flight position attired in an actual space suit like those worn by Shepard and Grissom. The capsule replica also has a simulated instrument panel and control board of the type used by the astronauts.

The space capsule will be on exhibit in the Varied Industries Building at the State Fair. Other NASA exhibits will illustrate the many aspects of Project Mercury which includes wind tunnel tests, capsule drop tests, capsule fabrication, astronaut selection and training, test firings, the chimpanzee "Ham" space flight and the flight of Astronaut Shepard in the Freedom 7 rocket.

Also on exhibit at the State Fair will be several actual Army missiles, including a Lacrosse, a giant Redstone and a Little John rocket.

Cool Front, Rains Cover Central Texas

Spotted rain showers fell throughout the Central Texas area beginning Friday and continuing through the early part of the week. Several showers fell in the Santa Anna area, amounting to .65 inch at the Coleman Gas Company gauge.

Sunday evening a cold front drifted through the area and by Monday morning it was pretty chilly. A number of persons hooked up their heaters for the first time — which is very early in the season.

Many people predict a very severe winter this year, for several reasons. One of them is that we have had a lot of north wind all through the summer and an early cold wave.

Round-Up Of Football Games

All the teams the Mountaineers will encounter this fall were in opening games the past Friday night with the exception of Bangs and Bronte. Both these teams and the Mountaineers open their season this week.

In the non-conference games scheduled, the Goldthwaite Eagles suffered a 0-38 loss to the powerful Hamilton eleven. Coach Smith scouted the game and he said Hamilton was every bit as good as the score indicated. He also stated that Goldthwaite had some good men on their team and were expected to win some games this year.

The Rising Star Wildcats opened their season with a 26-0 trouncing of the Melvin eleven.

On the conference side of the schedule, Albany was the most outstanding by trouncing Class AA Olney 40-12 in a surprise to most observers. Albany was figured to win, but not by any such score.

Clyde also looked good in opening the season with a 13-0 win over Roby.

Cross Plains suffered an 8-16 loss at the hands of Class B Baird. Eastland suffered a 0-21 loss to Comanche and Early also suffered a 0-22 loss to Dublin.

The schedule this week calls for Clyde to entertain Roscoe; Eastland journeys to Cisco; Cross Plains entertains DeLeon; Early plays at Jim Ned on Saturday; Merkel plays hosts to Albany in the top game in Class A competition. Santa Anna will entertain the Goldthwaite Eagles.

Barley Program Details Told

More details on the 1962 winter barley feed grain program was announced today by Vernon Bullard, Chairman, Coleman County Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The Chairman explained that barley producers diverting a share of their acreage will receive payments for the diversion and they also will qualify for price support. At the same time, they will be making an important contribution to the Nation in adjusting grain supplies and reducing Government costs.

A barley producer can forego the diversion payments and still qualify for price support if he elects to devote the diverted acreage to one or more of these crops: Castor beans, guar, safflower, sunflower, or sesame. Adjustment in the diversion payment can be made if only a part of the diverted acreage is so used. Special program provisions enable growers of acceptable varieties of malting barley to qualify for price support without participating in the barley feed grain program.

Payments will be made to these barley growers who devote the diverted acreage to an approved conservation use. Such growers must also maintain an acreage in soil-conserving crops or practices, including summer fallow and idle cropland, equal to their 1959-60 average acreage in such uses.

According to the chairman, only those barley producers who participate in the program with at least 20 percent diversion will be eligible for 1962 price support. Further, they will not be eligible for barley support if they exceed their corn and grain sorghum base acreages (1959-60 averages). Support will be limited to the normal yield of their 1962 barley acreages. (Corn and grain sorghum producers who intend to plant barley this fall must not plant more than their base acreage of barley if they want to participate in the 1962 feed grain program and be eligible for price support on these two crops.)

A producer cooperating in the program who has an interest in the barley, corn or grain sorghum on another farm must not produce more acres of these crops in 1962 than the 1959-60 average on such other farms.

Ward School Games Begin Tuesday Night

Coach A. D. Donham will begin his football season Tuesday night on the local field. The game will begin at 7:30 p. m. and the Juniors will entertain the Juniors from Blanket. This will be a conference game.

Coach Donham said he had 46 boys out for practice, but most of them were rather small. Very few of them have any experience.

WE ARE UP AGAINST IT THIS WEEK

Your newspaper editor is really up against it this week. For the past several weeks our printer has been in Galveston taking medical treatments, and your editor has been attempting to do the work of two. Early this week our Linotype operator was told by her doctor that she must stop work immediately, thus leaving your editor to do her work also.

So, until something happens that we are able to employ someone to give us a little relief, the working force is going to be rather short at The News.

We will appreciate very much everyone reporting news items to us as early as possible, as we are going to have a lot of trouble getting The News printed. You can help us a lot by making early reports.

W. V. Priddy returned home Saturday from Temple, where he had undergone surgery. He is convalescing at his home.

The local Mountaineers will open their football season Friday night by playing host to the already once-beaten Goldthwaite Eagles. The game will get underway at 8:00 p. m. at Mountaineer Stadium. Prices of admission will be $1.00 for adults and 25 cents for students. What is left of the reserved seat tickets will also be on sale at the gate.

Programs for the game will be on sale by members of the Santa Anna Junior Chamber of Commerce. The programs will sell for 10 cents each and all the advertising money and program sales money is to go to help finish paying for the electric scoreboard, put at the south end of the field two years ago.

The Mountaineers are in good shape and ready for their first game. There has been a few early practice season injuries, but apparently nothing serious. All the boys are expected to be ready for the game.

The boys have had three good scrimmage sessions this year and Coach Smith seems very well pleased with the results. He said they looked particularly good against Ranger and held their own against the Brownwood B team last week.

Goldthwaite has 12 returning lettermen. They did not list the probable starters on the line up sent for the program. This will be announced at the game.

Your Tax Please!

As every one in Texas is well aware of by this time, a Sales Tax was placed on many items effective September 1st.

Included in the list of taxable items is newspaper subscriptions.

We would appreciate very much if you would include the tax when sending us a check for your subscription. If you live in Coleman County, the subscription is $2.00 per year plus 4 cents tax. If you live outside of Coleman County but in Texas, the subscription is $3.00 per year plus 6 cents tax.

The law demands that we collect this tax, and we are subject to a heavy fine if we do not do so. Thus, when sending us a check for your subscription, we must insist that you include the sales tax. Your cooperation will be appreciated very much.

If you live outside the State of Texas, there is no tax on your subscription.

A West Texas House Wife Circles The Globe

By Mrs. Leola Christi Barnes
Copy-rights Reserved

(Editor's note: Several weeks ago we announced Mrs. Barnes would prepare this series of articles for The News. This week we publish the first article and will publish other articles each week as space permits, until Mrs. Barnes has related most of the highlights of her interesting trip around the world.)

Did I dare to undertake a trip around the world all alone? This was a question that perplexed me for months and I lay awake many nights trying to come to a definite decision. Our children were enthusiastic over it, and my husband, I thought rather reluctantly, gave his approval. This was all I needed to give me sufficient courage to contact a travel agency.

I at once became an object of astonishment to a number of my friends and the remark I heard most frequently was: "You have more nerve than I have!" I met with the identical consensus of opinion all around the world. Neither my friends nor I could have possibly foreseen the fantastically dangerous incidents that I would encounter on this fabulous trip around the globe.

Christmas is a bad time to make preparations for a long trip. I was plunged into a perfect maelstrom of haste. Driving myself like mad, I finished the book, "WEST TO GLORY" that I was writing. Then I tackled such down to earth things as securing a passport and visas to Japan, Philippines, Hongkong, Burma, Thailand, India, Lebanon, Jordan, Turkey, Greece and Italy. To enter these various countries, I had to have my arms punctured for yellow fever, typhoid, cholera, typhus and small pox.

AT LAST! The activities attendant on the holidays were behind me; my book was in the hands of the publisher, and my least-worn clothes, to the tune of forty-four pounds, were in my two suitcases and I was ready to take off. I boarded a Pan-American plane at San Antonio, December 28 for Los Angeles.

It was crowded for we had as co-passengers Miss San Antonio and her party bound for the Rose Bowl New Year's Games, but I sank down in my seat and fastened by seat belt with a sigh of relief that finally I was on my way.

The S. S. President Cleveland was due to sail on December thirtieth, so I had two days to spend in Los Angeles. Lt. Col. Rex Golston, who was reared in Santa Anna, and whose mother, Mrs. Rex Golston Sr., lives here, came to the Biltmore Hotel where I was staying and took me out to their home at Buena Vista, to see his wife, Fay (also formerly of Santa Anna) and their lovely children. Rex and Fay treated me to lunch at the famous Knott's Berry Farm, then they took me to Disney Land. That night we drove over Los Angeles, and looked at the fabulously beautiful Christmas decorations.

The following afternoon, I and my dreams of maharajahs, mysteriously veiled ladies and golden castles of Oriental Kings, walked up the gang plank of the enormous luxury liner, the S. S. President Cleveland. I felt very lonely, but not for very long.

Upon entering my state-room on A deck, I found telegrams and letters from sweet friends at home and when I went to the Main Lounge, I was met by a number of women, who introduced themselves to me, and two of them invited me to their room for tea. Never again on that long cruise across the Pacific, was I lonely.

I was assigned to a large round table in the California Dining Room, with eight other ladies. They were from various parts of the U. S. A. which made conversation at our table a veritable virtuoso of colorful interest, and that, combined with the luscious cuisine served by the Cleveland, made dining a most enjoyable experience. Being the only native Texan on the passenger list, I felt it obligatory for me to enlighten every one on the superior qualities of the Lone Star State and its products.

This Texas line became a standing joke at our table. The first day of 1961 was also the Lord's Day, and out there on the deep and landless ocean we reverently gathered in the ship's chapel for an interdenominational service. It was a glorious hour as our voices mingled in singing praises to God. We sat in rapt attention as a Seventh-day Adventist Missionary, who was fresh from the terrifying hardships of South America's wilderness, read the word of God to us and eloquently appealed to us to begin a new and stronger Christian life along with the New Year. I think his words meant a little more to us realizing, as we did there, our utter helplessness and dependence on God for our safety out in mid-ocean.

What ARE Bifocals?

Double lensed or bifocal spectacles are a marvelous scientific device which enable you to see clearly both near and far, after your eyes have lost their natural, youthful power to see well at all distances.

So, if you are over 45, maybe a pair of bifocals can make your eyes feel "under 25."

Forty-four years have elapsed since the Russian Revolution — the Revolution that wiped out the Czars and set up even greater tyrants — the Communists.

The Communists have failed utterly to fulfill their promise of advancing the welfare of the Russian people. Is any greater proof necessary to show the world that Communism is an absolute flop as far as the rank-and-file is concerned?

Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders constantly boast of the great things Communism is accomplishing—and that the day is not far hence when the Russian people will enjoy more boons than we Americans ever have experienced or ever will.

Well, as Al Smith was wont to say: "Let's look at the record!"

The Russian record is indeed a sad one. After 44 years of Communist dictatorship what do we find? Aside from some notable achievements in armaments, missiles and space development, it is pitiable.

The Russian people still live packed six to a room with communal kitchens and bathrooms; the threat of the still-existing labor camps hangs heavily over them; Russian women are working like beasts of burden; and the Russians of both sexes are ill-clothed and ill-fed.

Contrast that with the lot of the rank-and-file here in the U.S.A. Then thank God that we do not live under Communism and fight every attempt to socialize the gateway to Communism, our economy. We want no Russian Paradise (?) here in this Capitalistic Republic.

The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room
© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read Romans 1:9-16.

I am not ashamed of the gospel: it is the power of God for salvation to every one who has faith. (Romans 1:16 RSV.)

On one of my preaching errands, a Muslim asked me to tell about the transforming power of Jesus Christ. I gave him the following reply, based on personal experience of Christ's saving power.

The moment a man believes in Christ, his duty lies in the direction of the individuals around him and in the business of life. The battle is never finished in our own salvation alone. We become God's chosen instruments for transforming this world.

The saving power of Jesus must go down into society and change it at the very roots. The very first step that a man takes when he becomes a Christian, after the regeneration of his heart, is to carry those regenerating forces into the world. Wherever the Christian goes and whatever he does, the light of that redeeming power is to shine continually. It is to shine on business, on love, on pleasure, on wealth — on everything.

This transforming power is the greatest need in this atomic age.

PRAYER
Our Father, we thank Thee that through Thy Son all men can be transformed. Help us to become channels for the spread of Thy transforming power. In Christ's name. Amen.

Plentiful Mark Heartier Fare

College Station — Heartier fare for September back-to-school appetites is keynoted in this month's list of plentiful foods, reports the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Turkey continues in the feature position on the Texas list for the third month in a row. Also plentiful are broiler-fryers, beef, late summer vegetables and fresh peaches.

These five items have been listed as "plentiful" because expected supplies exceed normal trade needs. Special efforts are being made to market the abundance in an orderly manner.

The Agricultural Marketing Service reports marketings of turkey this month will run 20 to 25 percent larger than a year ago. Cold storage stocks are high; prices, low. And turkey is ideal fare for either hot or cool summer days.

Beef joins the September list. Fed beef supplies are expected to be 3 to 6 percent higher than a year ago, so high quality beef cuts, especially, will be abundant.

Look to Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma orchards for nearby sources of fresh peaches this month. California also will provide many, but harvest in most southern states will be finished. Colorado peaches are estimated at nearly three times as many as last year.

Warden Title Fades Away in Reorganization

Austin — An old title in conservation and law enforcement in Texas will fade into history after September 1, with the reorganization of the Game and Fish Commission. In the future, wardens will be known as "conservation officers." In some states where this title is used, the name has been shortened to "conservators."

The title of warden is a handy name, easy to remember. The name of conservation officer denotes a little more the real duties of the enforcement men.

There are approximately 200 of these uniformed officers in the employ of the Game Commission. They started out strictly as law enforcement officers, but as times have changed and thinking progressed, they have become much more.

They spend much more time on prevention of violations than in actually making arrests, according to Howard Dodgen, executive secretary.

"Their work is broad," he said. "They help landowners develop wildlife programs, they work constantly with biologists and appear before service clubs and other organized groups. The change in title, therefore, won't be a change in their work program."

"As wardens they have done a great job. As conservation officers their work will continue for the benefit of all renewable resources."

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robin and children, Joan and Walter, returned to their home in Houston Monday. They had been visiting for two weeks with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bruce and Jim Robin.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Singleton of Nederland spent the weekend with their daughter, Rev. and Mrs. James Rogers and children. They took their daughter, Mrs. Warren Boone, back to Nederland. Mrs. Boone had been here a week with the Rogers while Mrs. Rogers underwent surgery.

Christ's name. Amen.

Redevelopment of Rural Areas Stressed At Co-op Meeting

The future prosperity and military safety of the United States both depend on an all-out effort to redevelop rural areas. Senator Ralph Yarborough told rural electric leaders in San Antonio last week.

The more than 650 delegates to the annual statewide convention pledged themselves to support the drive for renewed rural progress and spent much of their convention time discussing methods for redevelopment.

Delegates also pledged themselves to a continued fight for equal rights in their own areas with other power suppliers.

The meeting of Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc., drew the largest turn-out in the organization's twenty-year history.

In order for us to print your news items each week, we must first be informed about them. Your help will be appreciated.

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

IT'S TIME we resume our nuclear tests. Time may be running against us. Improvement in A-bombs can only come as a result of testing, and we simply cannot afford to allow the Russians to get ahead of us in that field. In fact, it may be that the Soviets have been secretly testing all along by using underground sites. Such tests are difficult to detect.

It has become evident that the Kremlin has been playing for time while engaging in extended nuclear control talks at Geneva. It has been a stalling operation, capped suddenly last week by the announcement of test resumption. The next day they set off one, indicating they had been preparing for the test while pretending to negotiate in good faith.

KHRUSHCHEV'S THREATS about the super bomb, coupled with the new test, is believed to be a part of Soviet scheme to terrorize the world and in that way attract the panic-stricken neutral or uncommitted nations to the Russian orbit. Actually, our scientists believe we are as far along on development of a super-megaton bomb as are the Communists. In fact, in all likelihood we are further advanced unless they have been testing on the sly. In stockpile we are much ahead of them.

The new Russian technique of blackmail and intimidation may backfire, observers here believe. The effect may be to further solidify the west in the power drive now going on. And the neutral nations may not be as easily scared as Khrushchev has planned. Nasser, for example, has condemned the Russians for resuming tests, and even Nehru has been critical.

In analyzing the Soviet motives for breaking off control negotiations, followed immediately by a nuclear test, while at the same time boasting of their new bombs, observers are convinced it is a psychological move timed to coincide with the Berlin crisis and the Belgrade meeting of the neutrals, now going on.

IN ANY EVENT, it is imperative, as I see it, that we immediately prepare for resumption of tests. We have no alternative. Attend church regularly.

About Your Health

AUSTIN — More than 9,000 men and women were fatally stricken last year by strokes. That is one of the most ominous words in the language today. What does it really mean?

The medical term is "cerebral vascular accident," because it is caused by cerebral vascular disease. They body's cerebral vascular system is the brain's network of blood vessels. Thus, cerebral vascular disease refers to diseases of the vessels in the brain.

Brain cells require a good supply in order to work properly — more so than most other body cells. When something happens to that blood supply, the brain itself is impaired.

That something could be a hemorrhage, thrombus, embolus, compression or a spasm. Each one of those key words is a major cause of strokes. A hemorrhage (bleeding) is the result of a break in a brain artery which allows blood to escape and damage surrounding brain tissue. Another name for strokes of this type is "apoplexy."

A thrombus is caused by a clot of blood forming in a brain artery, stopping the flow of blood to the part of the brain it supplies. But when a clot is formed in a dis-eased heart or elsewhere in the body and pumped to the brain to plug an artery, it is called an embolus. A tumor, swollen brain tissue, or a large clot in another vessel may press upon a brain vessel to stop the flow of blood. This is called compression. A spasm is caused when a muscular artery constricts or tightens up, reducing the flow of blood to a particular brain area. Most strokes do not produce immediate death. A large number of victims live for many years. An estimated two million people who have had strokes are alive in the United States — many of them disabled because of it. Present medical knowledge can prevent some but not all strokes. Certain conditions causing cerebral vascular disease — high blood pressure, for example — can often be helped by modern treatment, and several conditions associated with blood clot formation respond to anti-clotting drugs. Too, blood vessel defects with which some children are born can now be corrected by surgery. (A weekly feature of the Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health.)

State Capital NEWS

AUSTIN — Storm clouds of protest boiled up quickly among consumers, clerks and merchants during the first week of application of Texas' almost-general sales tax.

Reaction was not so much against the cost of the new tax, but more to the principle, inconvenience and confusion. Natural resistance to any new levy always is evident. And there's certainly nothing "hidden" about a sales tax. Noticeable were strange new surpluses of pennies in pocket and purse. They were bothersome. Arguments also ensued over what is subject to tax, and what isn't.

Although State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert issued bulletin after bulletin explaining what is covered by the tax, it was evident that much time will have to pass before everyone concerned clearly understands the new law.

No one would venture a guess as to how many telephone calls were received by the Comptroller's office during the first week. The multitude of businessmen converging on the Capitol to seek information or lodge complaint gave Comptroller Calvert not a moment's peace.

Meanwhile at the other end of the line — the direct contact point for collection of the extra pennies — clerks, especially those in supermarkets, were equally harried. There had been so little time for them to bone up on the many exemptions and intricacies of the new way of taxing Texans.

Probably the most universal scheme to beat the tax emerged in coffee shops across the state. If the coffee tab for the group came to 25 cents or more, there was no sense in one person picking it up and having to pay an extra penny.

CHICKEN PRICES FIXED

Texas chicken eaters who have been enjoying their favorite fare at phenomenally low market prices this summer have been given something to think about by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson. "I want to determine if there is an effort to price the Texas poultry producer out of business," he said as he launched an investigation into the matter. "If our Texas broiler raisers are squeezed out of the market with below-cost prices, the ultimate result will be scarcity and skyrocketing retail chicken prices."

Wilson said that since August, 1960, there has been a decline of some six cents per pound in the price paid broiler producers in Texas, to a low of 12 cents or less. He pointed out that 14 to 16 cents per pound is the usual cost of raising broilers.

The Attorney General is invoking a court-of-inquiry to investigate the possibility of anti-trust violations.

DRIVERS SLOW DOWN

State Highway Department survey indicates a continued slow-down in average speed on Texas highways. This year the study indicated an average of 55.3 miles per hour for passenger cars clocked by hidden radar at 25 locations over the state. This compares with 55.9 MPH in 1960, and 56.2 MPH in 1959. Average speed for trucks was 50.1 MPH, compared with 51.2 MPH last year. Buses slowed down slightly from 60.7 MPH last year to 60.5 MPH in the recent survey.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR'S RACE SHAPING

Many eyes of Texans are beginning to look in the direction of the Lieutenant Governor's office vacated by Ben Ramsey's appointment as Railroad Commissioner.

One candidate, Republican O. W. Hayes of Temple, has announced he definitely will be in the race. Other definite possibilities include House Speaker James A. Turman of Gober, Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro, Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock, Sen. Bob Baker of Houston and Don Yarborough of Houston. Yarborough ran against Ramsey last time.

NEW IDEA FOR PADRE ISLAND
Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler tossed a new idea into the breach of controversy over what should be done with the playland potential of beautiful Padre Island.

The beaches, he said, should be turned into a state park — not turned over to the Federal government for a National Park as has been proposed. He said the proposed Federal project would take about 200,000 acres of submerged lands which already have yielded more than $12,000,000 for the state's permanent school fund, and which have a potential of at least $1,000,000,000 in oil and gas development.

"It is imperative that the School Land Board act immediately and wisely to set aside beaches as state recreational areas and affirm our intention to hold the full billion dollars of potential mineral wealth for our future school generations," Sadler said in a letter to Gov. Price Daniel.

He requested appointment of a statewide committee to study feasibility of his proposal.

INSTITUTIONAL WORK

WEEK CUT
More than 9,000 state hospital and special school employees, forced to work longer hours than other state workers for several years, got the break they had been waiting for when the Hospital Board invoked the 40-hour week throughout the system.

Legislature had given the board the option of hiring additional employees and reducing the 44-hour week to 40, or of retaining the longer work week and giving present employees pay raises. The money was provided to do it either way.

"This new work schedule will make it possible to retain and attract more qualified personnel," board chairman French Robertson of Abilene said.

TOUGHER SECURITY FOR GATESVILLE

Recent serious trouble at the Gatesville State School for Boys has led to tighter security measures.

Dr. James Turman, Executive Director of the Texas Youth Council, reports that horses and jeeps will soon be placed in service for patrol purposes, and men will be equipped with walkie-talkies.

"We want to give evidence of authority," he said.

Although guards will not be armed, he pointed out that "every man knows he can use physical force to control his company." He also noted that many problems will be eliminated with completion next year of a maximum security unit to be known as Mountain View School, one and one-half miles from the Gatesville school. A double fence with barbed wire on top will surround this unit.

"We are not dealing with Boy Scouts or Sunday School classes," said council member Robert W. Kneebone.

AUTOMATIC TAX CHECK DUE

Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin, on a recent visit to Austin, dropped the hint that automation in the processing of income tax returns may ultimately eliminate spot-checks and permit scrutiny of every return in detail.

He said the automatic processing system soon will be put into service that will quickly spot individuals and business firms failing to file returns, check mathematical accuracy and other data.

Center of the tax accounting system will be in Martinsburg, West Virginia, where a master file of business and individual taxpayers will be contained. Returns from district offices will be sent to nine regional centers where data will be magnetically taped to be sent to the computer center for processing.

SHORT SNORTS

Watch out for "bootleg" oysters, warns the State Health Department. Traffic in these items is "troublesome and dangerous". Buy only those oysters known to be produced in Texas under State Health Department certification.

Twenty University of Texas scientists will be touring Texas junior and senior high schools this year, giving lectures, demonstrations, guidance and serving as members of panel discussions.

Sharp decline in gambling stamps issued by the Federal government in Texas, has been noted. Record shows Corpus Christi, 11; Galveston, 9; Houston, 7; Victoria, 7; San Antonio, 7; Austin, 2; Waco, 1.

Two deaths due to bubonic plague were reported in a neighboring state during June and July. No cases have been reported in Texas since 1920, although State Health Department says the disease is widespread among extreme West Texas prairie dogs, mice, etc.

State's red ink amounts to $72,000,000, according to State Treasurer Jesse James. Impact of resumed school payments will be offset somewhat by new sales taxes.

UT Ex-Students' Association will honor U. S. Navy Secretary John B. Connally with distinguished alumnus award in November. He will deliver the principal address at a November 10 banquet prior to homecoming activities.

Plucky Stevie Helps Science Toward Answer to Arthritis

Stevie Vardol gives blood sample to laboratory nurse.

For plucky Stevie Vardol, 10, life much of the time is just an unhappy succession of giving samples of his body to science.

But Stevie, who would rather be swimming and roller skating in Minneapolis (if he only could) than spending endless hours in the Children's Rheumatic Clinic of the University of Minnesota Medical School, doesn't feel sorry for himself. He knows he is doing a job that must be done: that the doctors' appraisal of the tissue samples from his swollen knees, specimens of knee-joint fluid, and of his blood may in time prevent in other children the affliction that befell him three painful years ago.

Stevie has juvenile rheumatoid arthritis in the knees, hands, wrists. Throughout the nation, another 30,000 Stevies—or their small sisters—also suffer each year from this excruciating disease. With March of Dimes funds, The National Foundation (which made possible development of the Salk polio vaccine) is today supporting the University of Minnesota's Children's Rheumatism Clinic with a research grant. Other arthritis research projects are under way at the Rockefeller Institute, at New York University, the University of Buffalo and at other famed scientific institutions, all financed by the March of Dimes.

Additionally, The National Foundation has established arthritis study centers at Columbia University, the University of Rochester (N. Y.), the University of Texas at Dallas and the University of California at San Francisco.

The doctors confidently tell Stevie they will solve the enigma of rheumatoid arthritis in time, and find a preventive, given enough support. But they don't delude this valiant little boy or his puzzled father and mother who ask, despairingly, "Why should this happen to us, to Stevie?" The medical scientists look him squarely in the eye and say, "We just can't promise we'll make you well again. But then again, perhaps eventually we will."

Stevie's stout answer is to roll up his sleeve for another ten cc's of his blood (which contains an abnormal protein, a mark of his disease); or to pull up his trouser leg to give up another specimen of lubricating fluid from his knee.

In the laboratory, Stevie's blood is compared painstakingly to normal blood in the incessant search for an answer to what is wrong with Stevie and with the other 30,000 children. Perhaps what is wrong is an abnormal development of antibodies. Antibodies are the substance that combat bacteria. Then, samples of the connective tissue around his knees are studied and photographed under the giant electron microscope and compared to normal tissue.

Stevie doesn't cry although his doctors say that the pain he suffers at times beggars description. He is not a "guinea pig" in the full medical sense of the term. But the resolute and uncomplaining bearing of this young gentleman of only 10 is evidence that he knows he is a volunteer of the fight against the nation's No. 1 Crippler—arthritis which, in one or another form, strikes at 11 million Americans.

Beef Cattle Need Minerals

College Station — Today's beef cattle are hardy individuals and they can take care of themselves in most situations. The one big exception is the matter of getting enough of the right kind of food. If it's not in the pasture, the cattle must simply do without. This is where the cattleman comes in — it is his job to see that his cattle receive all of the nutrients they need to realize their potential as money makers.

As U. D. Thompson, extension animal husbandman, points out, however, the cattleman cannot solve all of his problems by simply running out and buying all of the minerals and vitamins available. Before he buys any, he must make a decision as to which minerals are needed. This choice is complicated by the many different types and forms available. Single minerals, mixtures, minerals fortified with vitamins and minerals high in protein are available in any feed store. What should the cattleman buy?

Here are the current findings from Texas A&M. First of all, cattle should have access to common salt year around. Salt contains sodium and chlorine and aids in digestion, points out Thompson. The form or color makes little difference to the cow, but both forms should be protected from the rain to prevent waste. Salt is usually cheaper when purchased by itself rather than mixed.

The major mineral problem in Texas is the lack of phosphorus. Phosphorus deficiency reduces the calf crop, and those that are born weigh less at weaning time. When green grazing is available, so is phosphorus, but when the grass browns up the phosphorus is gone. The same is true of protein and vitamin A. Thompson says the most practical way to supply phosphorus is to keep bonemeal out the year round in a weather protected trough. The animals will eat as much as they need.

No trace mineral deficiencies are known to exist at this time in Texas. Only small amounts of sulfur, copper and cobalt are recognized as essential, and it is felt these are in the feeds which cattle consume.

If you think you may be having mineral problems, drop in to see your county agent. He has a bulletin, B-174, "Minerals for Beef Cattle," which contains the latest information on beef cattle mineral needs. Ask him for a copy.

TSCRA Cattle Inspection Service Authority Extended

Fort Worth — The authority of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association to inspect cattle for brands, marks and other identifying characteristics at posted markets in Texas has been extended to November 1, 1961.

The authority to perform this service was first granted to the TSCRA in 1943, but the Association was notified recently that the authorization was being revoked. The order carrying this notice provided that the effective date of revocation would be September 1, 1961. Now, the Association has been notified by Thomas J. Flavin, judicial officer, USDA, that the date of revocation has been extended two months to allow consideration of an application for another authorization of limited nature which is now pending.

The Association recently applied for such authorization, and in so doing, requested postponement of the effective date ending the existing authorization so that there might be no disruption of service on any of the markets.

Officials of the TSCRA expressed relief at receiving the latest order. They contend that the inspection service is one of the biggest deterring forces in controlling cattle theft in the Southwest today.

"The effect of the ending of the inspection service would leave cattlemen at the mercy of the cattle thieves and would create chaos in the cattle industry," said Dolph Briscoe Jr., of Uvalde, TSCRA president.

Ernest Duke, who is in charge of the TSCRA inspection service, noted that cattlemen and other groups interested in the cattle business in the Southwest feel likewise. "Cattlemen are insisting on continuation of the inspection service," he said. "It also has been strongly endorsed by law enforcement agencies, and a large number of market operators, bankers and other representatives of industries closely allied to the cattle business."

WT CofC Says Federal Expenditures Should Be Reduced

Santa Anna — Federal expenditures for non-defense functions should be realistically reduced, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce National Affairs Committee Chairman E. D. Danner believes.

Danner, president of General Telephone Company of the Southwest here, said "we should all advise our national congressmen and senators to demand cutbacks in non-defense spending in order to minimize the 1962 budget deficit and to hold down the inflationary threat to our nation's economic stability."

These views are gaining popular support, Danner stated. "It just makes good sense to tighten our belt on non-defense spending at this time," Danner said. "The Administration has shown no inclination to date to put reins on non-military expenses," the WTCC official declared. "To the contrary, the President is urging completion of Congressional action on expensive new programs of school aid, foreign aid, occupation retraining, youth conservation corps and costly federal power projects."

"The President has the backing of the nation on his determined stand to resist further encroachment by communists, and the people are willing to spend the additional $3.5 billion for defense he says is necessary. But he has made no suggestions to Congress that any of the new domestic spending measures which he submitted prior to the Berlin crisis be deferred or cut back."

If there is sufficient supporting public opinion effectively expressed, there is a good opportunity to block new spending measures still pending and to cut foreign aid and some other appropriations, Danner believes.

Dairy Publications Released

College Station — Two publications that should be of interest to Texas dairymen, both young and old, have recently been released by Texas A&M College. The first, a joint publication of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, is the report of a study to determine the necessary ingredients for a profitable dairy operation. The second publication, put out by the Extension Service, deals with the fitting and showing of the dairy heifer.

Both publications may be obtained from local county agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

VA Office Needs
Current Address
For All Veterans

Considerable improvement has been noted in the prompt submission of address changes by veterans in the Waco Region, according to P. J. Mims, Manager of the Waco Regional Office.

During the three-month period ending July 31, there were 49 checks amounting to a total of $2,567 which the VA was unable to deliver promptly because of lack of proper address. The VA is interested in seeing that veterans get their checks on time and to do so it is essential that veterans promptly notify the VA of any address change.

Mims pointed out that about five million checks go out each month from VA to veterans or their survivors and dependents for disability compensation, pension, death benefits, training allowances and other benefits.

One of VA's biggest headaches in administering the program is locating veterans or surviving families of veterans who move and do not report their new address. In most cases, VA has to wait until it receives a complaint about nonreceipt of benefits before it can do anything about the missing information, Mims said.

"Veterans should notify their post office before they move from an old address to a new one," Mims explained. "The post office change of address is a simple form, easy to fill out, just put down the old and the new address and sign it."

The next step to insure delivery of benefit checks is to notify VA of the pending move, Mims said. Veterans who help VA keep its records up to date will then be sure of getting checks direct instead of having them re-addressed and forwarded.

Beef Cuts to
Ft. Worth Show

Fort Worth — For 66 years, blue-ribbon beef on the hoof has held the spotlight at Fort Worth's great Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

Now, in 1962, visitors will get a chance for the first time to see prize-winning beef as it looks in the butcher's showcase... as it looks to the housewife shopping for a tender steak for Sunday dinner.

Four champion carcasses, winners in the first carcass steer judging contest ever conducted in the Southwest, will be displayed in a refrigerated case on the Fort Worth Stock Show grounds. President-Manager W. R. Watt has announced.

Half of each prize carcass will be displayed as wholesale cuts, giving housewife, husband and breeder a chance to compare breed against breed where it really counts — as meat. One of the four breed champion carcasses (Hereford, Shorthorn, Angus and Red Angus) will be declared grand champion carcass.
