

EVER MORE FANTASTIC

By Rosalie M. Gordon

(Editors note: Rosalie M. Gordon is editor of All-American Books, All-American Book Digest and America's Future.)

The growing crescendo of criticism of our suicidal foreign give-away program mounts daily. A few weeks ago we got some really straight talk (though it was not very widely reported) on this subject from an unexpected source. It came from Mr. Robert L. Garner, who spent 14 years as vice president and president respectively of two giant international funds, for which the United States puts up most of the money. These funds, plus half dozen more Washington agencies, have been busy for years making so-called "loans" and handouts to countries all over the world, at the expense of the American taxpayer. In recent months, the Washington give-away boys have been appealing to our sympathies with talk about "backward" or "emerging" or "underdeveloped" nations. These are vague words; they refer actually to peoples who have little or no desire to make progress under their own power and efforts.

Mr. Garner had something to say about these nations which badly needed saying. The give-away bureaucrats tell us these "underdeveloped" nations are poor and backward because they have little or no natural resources, or because they were ground down under colonial rule, or because they do not get enough help from richer countries. Mr. Garner, who ought to know, dismisses these excuses. He said these nations are poor primarily because they themselves lack the attitudes, customs, traditions — the political, social and religious philosophy — to pull themselves up by their own bootstraps. He expressed concern about what he called the "insidious" results of their reliance on foreign handouts. He said this aid became an excuse to do nothing on their own to develop their own resources and energies. Most important, he expressed his opposition to trying to build up a nation's economy through government ownership of industry or government support of private industry. He said the best method is private initiative and the private profit motive. That, incidentally, is what built America, which was once equally as "backward" as any nation in Africa or Asia.

That our government's foreign handout program becomes ever more fantastic with each passing day is seen in several recent examples. The handout boys, for instance, decided to build a road in Cambodia (that's in Southeast Asia in what used to be called Indo-China). They started out with 15 million dollars of your money. It grew to 34 million dollars. They named the road the American Friendship Road. How much friendship it built for the United States is a question, but because it was no sooner completed than it began to fall apart. A subcommittee of the House of Representatives, after investigating this use of your 34 million dollars, declared that the whole project "was so badly bungled that it has damaged our prestige, burdened us with costly repairs and supplied the communists with an effective source of anti-American propaganda." That's what 34 million American dollars bought.

More of your dollars, via the Washington handout boys, have been pouring into the Ivory Coast. That's in Africa—a former French colony. The Ivory Coast's ambassador to the United Nations—a young man with a wife, three children, and a big batch of servants—recently moved into a $90,000, 42-room mansion in a swank section of Long Island. But you can hardly blame him. He must keep up with the style to which the new leaders of these "backward" countries are becoming accustomed. His boss, the President of the Ivory Coast, built himself an 11-million-dollar marble palace in his capital.

Then there's Ghana also in Africa. Its head man, Dr. Nkrumah, can never bring himself to criticize anything Soviet Russia does, while at the same time holding out his hand for more American dollars. Not long ago Dr. Nkrumah came to New York for two days to deliver one speech at the United Nations. He arrived with a party of 34 persons in a chartered airliner. An additional 36 persons joined his staff in New York, where they all occupied 40 suites in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

All this — and much more —

SANTA ANNA, COLEMAN COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1961

NUMBER 46

Prominent Civic Leader Buried Here Monday

Ozro Eubank, 64, prominent civic leader and member of the Santa Anna City Council, died in his sleep early Sunday morning, very unexpectedly. He had complained of not feeling well Saturday night before retiring, but was not cause for any alarm.

Mr. Eubank had suffered a heart attack several years ago. He had apparently recovered pretty well and seemed to be enjoying good health.

A very successful farmer and rancher, he was a purebred Hereford breeder for a number of years. He sold his stock of Herefords during the summer. He was a director of the Santa Anna National Bank, a member of the Lions Club, a member and past president of the Community Chamber of Commerce and an elder in the Northside Church of Christ. For years he had participated in many civic affairs of Santa Anna and Coleman County. He was well known throughout the Central Texas area for his work with and for the Farm Bureau and Breeder-Feeder organizations.

Mr. Eubank was born in Giles County, Tennessee, November 19, 1896 and came to the Santa Anna area with his parents in 1917. He has made his home here since that time. He was married to Mable Williams of Santa Anna in Brownwood July 11, 1925. They established their home in the Plainview Community and lived there until he and Mrs. Eubank moved into town about six years ago.

Funeral services were held at the Northside Church of Christ at 4:00 p. m. Monday. Paul Wallace of Brownwood, a former minister of the Coleman Church of Christ, was the officiating minister, assisted by Jim Rucker, minister of the church. Burial was in the Santa Anna Cemetery under the direction of Hosch Funeral Home.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, James Eubank and Max Eubank, both of Santa Anna; two brothers, Elmo Eubank of Temple and David Eubank of San Antonio; three sisters, Mrs. Lurine Hudler of Rising Star, Mrs. Mildred Galloway and Miss Pauline Eubank, both of Santa Anna; and five grandchildren.

Pallbearers were O. H. Watson, Tom Stewardson, Glen Copeland, Roy Mathews, O. M. Jackson, Dutch Campbell, J. Ray Martin and Byron Gilbreath.

Clover Grill Remodeled

The Clover Grill, owned and operated by Mrs. Erin Day, reopened Tuesday of this week after being closed for more than two weeks.

The entire building has been completely remodeled and it is now a modern and convenient cafe. There is a much larger space for seating and the kitchen has been moved to the south side of the building.

Mrs. W. A. Hall Buried in Fort Worth Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Willie Collier Hall, a former resident of Santa Anna, were held at the Arlington Heights Methodist Church in Fort Worth at 2:00 p. m. Tuesday. Mrs. Hall died Monday morning, after a lengthy illness.

She is survived by her husband, W. A. Hall of Fort Worth; one son, Winston A. Hall of Lincoln, Neb.; three daughters, Mrs. Claude Boone and Mrs. W. G. McMillon of Fort Worth and Mrs. J. E. Kirkpatrick of Amarillo; two brothers, Sam Collier of Santa Anna and Walter Collier of Houston; five sisters, Mrs. P. M. Rice of Hamilton, Mrs. J. E. Hall of Albuquerque, N. M.; Mrs. Joe Baker, Mrs. Blanche Grantham and Mrs. Ella Stiles, all of Santa Anna.

lends great significance to another statement by Mr. Garner. He said "government-to-government financial aid cannot successfully be used to gain and hold political advantages for the country supplying the funds." In other words, you can't buy friends — but you can surely go broke trying, which is what the United States seems to be doing and which could not make the Kremlin happier.

Missionary to Speak at Methodist Church Sunday P. M.

REV. MAURICE DAILY

A Methodist minister, who is the chief liaison officer for four United States denominations with the Evangelical Church of the Dominican Republic, will speak at the Santa Anna Methodist Church Sunday, November 19, at 3:00 p. m.

The Rev. Maurice C. Daily, whose American home is Radford, Va., is a home missionary of the Methodist Church, serving in a key interdenominational position in the Dominican Republic. He is the field secretary of the Board for Christian Work in Santo Domingo, the agency for four denominations (including the Methodist Church) in their cooperative work with the 3,000-member Dominican Evangelical Church (a united church). He works as a counselor, advisor and liaison officer with the Dominican church, which is autonomous and self-governing.

Before going to the Dominican Republic in 1955, Mr. Daily had been a Methodist missionary to Cuba for fifteen years and associate pastor of a Spanish-speaking church in New York two years. He went to Cuba in 1937 as a pastor of Methodist churches in Cardenas and Mayari. He was a district superintendent six years and vice-president and professor of homiletics at the Union Theological Seminary in Matanzas six years.

Persons Planning Retirement Should Contact S. S. Now

For the past seven years, peak claims loads in the Abilene Social Security office have been in January, according to Don Austin, Field Representative, who visits Coleman regularly. He adds that claims filed in January are thereby usually delayed in processing because of such high workload.

Austin suggests that persons 62 or older planning on retiring in January or February of 1962 see him on his next visit here to discuss possible advantages of getting their claims filed before January. With the liberalizations in the 1961 Amendments, everyone over 62 who has had three years or more of social security credits should investigate the possibility of collecting at least some retirement benefits in 1962 even though continuing to work. If expected earnings for 1962 are to be less than $3,000, Austin urges a discussion with him about payment possibilities. The next visits to Coleman will be at the Dept. of Public Welfare at 10:15 o'clock on every Monday in November and December with the exception of Christmas Day.

Game Wardens Take 152 With No Licenses

Austin — Despite constant reminders to buy fishing licenses, game wardens were kept busy during September writing tickets to persons who ignored the law.

Wardens apprehended 152 hunters and fishermen without licenses, among the total of 351 violators arrested for the month, according to J. B. Phillips, coordinator of law enforcement. Persons arrested for hunting during closed season totaled 31. An additional 17 hunters were charged for taking quail during a closed season. Automobile hunters accounted for 26 arrests, 13 arrests were for hunting at night, and 13 more were for unplugged shotguns.

The 351 violators paid fines and court costs totaling $9,403.

Band Wins First Place Trophy At Stephenville

The Santa Anna Mountaineer Band won the First Place Trophy in the Class A Division in a marching and playing contest parade, held in Stephenville Sat. The parade was through downtown Stephenville and began at 10:00 a. m.

In the afternoon the band attended the Tarleton State College football game. They were treated to the noon meal by the college.

T. K. Martin, local band director, said the band was due to go to San Angelo to enter a marching contest Saturday. He said practice sessions would be held about every day this week, with the band students staying after school on Tuesday and Thursday for practice.

Mr. Martin said he hoped the weather would not interfere with the practice sessions, as all the time possible must be put in with all the band members present for each practice.

10 Safety Rules Motorists Should Heed for Winter

J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association, today posted a list of ten "safety commandments" for motorists to observe "if they want to get through the coming winter season without a breakdown, mishap or causing a dangerous traffic blockade."

The rules, officially approved by the National Safety Council following extensive research on the subject, follow:

1. Flush the cooling system of your vehicle, have it checked for leaks and put in anti-freeze.
2. Make sure all tires have good treads.
3. Always carry a pair of reinforced tire chains. Though snow is not too prevalent in most areas of Texas, it does occur. Sleet and icing are always a possibility. In deep snow and ice, tire chains enable you to go and stop safely, thus preventing skid wrecks and traffic tieups.
4. Windshield wipers should be in good condition. Wiper blades should exert an arm pressure of one ounce per inch of blade length to sweep snow and sleet off instead of sliding over it.
5. Make certain the heater-defroster is capable of keeping windshield clear at all times. Know your heater-defroster and how to use it to prevent interior fogging.
6. Be certain both headlights work on upper and lower beams and that stop lights, taillights and directional signals work also.
7. Have breaks adjusted, re-lined if necessary, and be sure brake linings are free of grease.
8. Tune-up your engine. A winter tune-up is essential to assure cold weather starting and to avoid stalling. Winter starting strains the battery, when its efficiency is already lower.
9. Inspect the muffler, and correct any defect — replacing it if necessary. A rusty, leaking muffler or exhaust pipe can be a carbon monoxide hazard particularly if you become stalled in traffic or in a blizzard.
10. Install and use seat belts — good in all types of weather but especially valuable under hazardous winter driving conditions.

THE HOLY LAND
PART II

As we drove through the heart of Old Jerusalem and looked on the evidences of worldliness, I kept recalling the words of Jesus which He must have uttered with a breaking heart: "Oh Jerusalem! Jerusalem!" How often would I have gathered your children together under my wings . . . and ye would not." We walked along the Via Dolorosa (the way of the cross) which begins at the place of Pilate's Praetorium and ends at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. The Franciscan Convent of the Flagellation now stands on part of the sight of Pilate's Praetorium and comprises the Chapel of the Flagellation where Pilate's soldiers cruelly scourged Jesus. In another chapel was the site where Pilate washed his hands and condemned Jesus to death on the cross. The place where our Savior fell under the cross is auspiciously marked. In the immense building, the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, an altar is built over the place of the crucifixion, and another in front of the dark sepulchre where the body of Jesus lay in the garden of Joseph of Arimathea. Our guide lighted a candle for each of us and we walked down into this dark earthly place made sacred by the resurrection of our Savior. This was outside the city in the time of Jesus.

Another revered spot is marked by the Golden Gate — the archway through which Jesus passed on Palm Sunday. It was blocked up immediately afterwards and tradition is that it will not be opened until Christ returns to earth and passes through it again. Almost every day we passed through St. Stephens Gate on our way in and out of Jerusalem. There is another famous archway: the Damascus Gate.

The most hair-raising incident of all my tour, occurred on the Via Dolorosa. One morning my guide, a frail man in his sixties, I judged, and I was walking at the far end of the Via Dolorosa, where there are many small Arab shops, when a large husky Arab ran out and caught us both by the wrists and pulled us, resisting, into his shop and locked the door. The guide hastily began picking up some of his merchandise, and asking about the prices. The instant that the merchant looked down, I ran to the door and by a miracle unlatched it and ran outside. The guide hastily followed and we hurried into the throngs along the street and lost ourselves to view. This guide spoke such uninterpretable English, I could not find out why we were abducted, but this one thing I know, there were no policemen of any description anywhere to be seen. Later on, another incident occurred that frightened me. We were walking up to Mount Moriah, which is quite a distance from the main part of the city, when we became aware that a trampish-looking man was following. The guide said nothing, but I could see that he was uneasy. If we stepped up our pace, so did he and if we walked slower, he did likewise. When I became so alarmed, I was ready to scream, a cop suddenly appeared, said a few words to the vagabond and they walked away.

The Mosque of Omar, which was built by Caliph 'Abdul Malik in 691 A.D. on the exact spot of Solomon's Temple, is reputed to be the most beautiful mosque in the world. It is an enormous structure, and the interior is a scene of fabulous grandeur, with its beautiful Persian floor coverings; its multiple polished marbles that traverse the main audience hall from end to end, in row after row. The furnishings are covered in ornate gold. Here I looked at the stone upon which Abraham bound his son, Isaac, preparatory to offering him as a sacrifice to God.

Although this is not the building in which Jesus spent so much of His time, it is built upon the same spot where Herod's temple was erected. The one in which Jesus had talked with the Doctors of Law, and where he drove out the money-changers, and had taught so many times. One of the most beautifully kept places around Jerusalem is the Garden of Gethsemane. Eight ancient olive trees which may very well be shoots of those that stood there when Jesus prayed in agony the night of His betrayal and arrest. These trees still bear fruit.

In one afternoon I visited Bethlehem, Jericho, the River Jordan, and the Dead Sea. What a voluminous part of our Bible is written in connection with these places! Bethlehem is only eleven miles from Jerusalem over a paved road that curves in and out through the many hills. On the way to Bethlehem, I stopped to look at the grave of Rachel, the wife Jacob loved so deeply. The stone that he placed there so lovingly in his sorrow is still there. We passed by the hill where the shepherds were given the glad tidings of the birth of our Savior. Bethlehem is a charming little town with olive groves and green terraces. It is associated with the lives of Jacob, Ruth and Boaz, and was the birthplace of David as well as of our Lord. I walked into the Church of Nativity and with reverence and humility and gratitude, and stood with bowed head looking at the spot, designated by a large star in the marble floor, where they say our Savior was born. The Emperor Justinian built a church here in 565 A. D. and as it stands today, is in most essentials, the work of Justinian's carpenters.

On the road to Jericho, I was shown the place where the Good Samaritan acted the neighbor to the wounded man, and in the outskirts of Jericho stands an old wide-spreading sycamore tree, which I was told was the tree in which Zaccheus climbed in order to see Jesus. The old rock wall which encircled ancient Jericho, was being excavated. Such huge stones! They assured me it is the wall which collapsed when Joshua's army blew their trumpets on their seventh trip around it. The spring, now known as Elisha's Fountain, where he healed the waters to make them pure for the Israelites, is still running and very clear.

From Jericho, we drove to the Jordan River and looked at the spot where Christ was baptized. Near by is the Dead Sea. How I wished it had been summer time, so that I could have tested out the waters. If what they say is true — that you cannot sink — how I would have enjoyed a swimming party there! The Dead Sea is the lowest spot on the earth's surface — 1,297 feet below sea-level.

In recent times, the Dead Sea Scrolls have brought this region into world focus, and now that the archaeologists, have begun to uncover the Neolithic Tower, which along with other relics, proves this to be the oldest inhabited place we know anything about — 7,000 years before Christ — it is the cynosure of the archeological world.

On February the twelfth I flew back to Beirut, Lebanon and once more found myself in the magnificent Bristol Hotel. As the Bristol was fairly representative of the hotels, in which I stayed around the world, I will mention some of the details. As are most hotels in Europe, it is operated on the Continental style. Your meals are included in the price of your room. I chose to have my breakfast in my room, which consisted of toast, French rolls, marmalade, and tea or coffee. My suite of rooms which I have already mentioned, was furnished elaborately. In the carpeted entrance hall, there was a small refrigerator, which always contained a pitcher of drinking water and a glass. In the living room was a round center table, a desk containing writing materials, a wall table and two over-stuffed chairs. The bedroom contained a double bed, a dresser, a wardrobe, a night table, a white phone and service plaque and a chair. The white marble bath room had a large tub and shower, another white phone and service plaque and most every gadget you could use in a bathroom. The dining room spotlessly white with splendid service from white uniformed waiters, who also wore white fresh laundered gloves. The food was superb.

About Your Health

Austin — Dental authorities count at least 36 everyday habits that a great many Americans practice in one degree or another that are actually injurious to mouth tissue.

Item: Opening bottles with your teeth may make you the life of the party, but it's a juvenile practice as far as good dental health is concerned. Still, people often damage their teeth using them for such unlikely practices.

The habit of biting pensively on ear loops of glasses can be an important factor in teeth migration — moving out of position, dentists point out.

Chewing on pencil or pen during moments of concentration is almost an occupational hazard for bookkeeper and stenographers. Dentists report considerable erosion of teeth among people in these professions.

Upholsterers, carpenters and shoemakers who hold nails between their teeth develop typical dental ailments. Seamstresses who bite thread and dress-makers who hold pins and needles between their teeth invariably suffer from bad mouth conditions, dentist have found.

Bitting on matches and tooth picks, abnormal tongue pressures against teeth, lip and cheek bitting, and continued clenching of teeth to control emotions all may have their adverse effects.

Also listed as detrimental to teeth and gums is the practice among women of using their teeth to open bobby pins. Another is the habit of cupping chin in hands while reading or watching television.

Such poor dental health practices are summed up in the fact that about half the American population over 45 years of age is — or should be — wearing some form of artificial denture, resulting in a 40 to 80 percent reduction in chewing efficiency.

Among children the habit most detrimental to teeth is thumb sucking. However, most authorities agree it will not cause improper teeth alignment if stopped by age four or five.

A sleeping habit known as "pillowing" may lead to incorrect closure of teeth. This is the habit some people have of sleeping with cheek on fist, forcing the lower jaw out of natural alignment.

Obscure headaches, tenderness at the temples or facial tenderness are often signs of faulty closure of teeth, a condition which is aggravated by poor dental habits.

Read John 4:21-30.

"Come, see a man who told me all that I ever did. Can this be the Christ?" (John 4:29. RSV.)

During a campaign of evangelism for youth in Sweden, a boy visited one of his friends of the same age to witness for the first time to his belief in Christ. Afterward he gave this testimony: "I have been a confessed Christian for four years, but now for the first time I realize what it really means."

We do not discover how wonderful it is to be a Christian until we begin to share our faith with others. Then our eyes are opened to God's riches which are in Christ. All the time His riches were there to be possessed, but we did not realize it. When we begin to tell others of our faith, Christ becomes more important to us than ever before, for He adds faith to our faith when we share it.

Yes, great blessings are to be found in sharing our faith in Christ with others. Thus we spread the good news to those who need to hear the gospel.

PRAYER:
O Lord, help me this day not to put my lamp under a bushel, but cheerfully to profess Thy name and spread the gospel. For the sake of Christ, who loves all mankind, and taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven, Amen."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
The more you share the gospel with others, the more you receive for yourself and others.

through August 31, 1963.

The program has been arranged in its entirety by the State Department of Public Welfare, subject to federal approval under the Kerr-Mills Bill. John H. Winters, Commissioner of the Department, said, "The operation of the program is to be one hundred percent State controlled."

The Department was given free choice whether to operate the entire program itself, or delegate portions of it.

After extensive investigations, the proposal submitted by Blue Cross of Texas was chosen by the Department as the most practical and efficient method of handling the hospital-doctor phase of the program.

The State Department of Public Welfare will operate the nursing home care phase of the program.

Farm-City Week Activities Started Early in Texas

Fort Worth — American agriculture, the nation's most powerful weapon against Communism, will be in the spotlight throughout the Lone Star State this week as Texas joins other states in observing National Farm-City Week.

Farm-City Week has officially been set for Nov. 17-23, but according to Dolph Briscoe Jr., of Uvalde, Texas Chairman of Farm-City Week, many communities already have commenced activities designed to show the interdependence between urban and rural neighbors, and the contributions of each to the strength of our nation.

called attention to the fact that efficiency of the American farmer is far superior to that of the farmer in the Communist world. A recent visitor to Russia stated that it took 40 percent of the Soviet population to grow that nation's food and fiber while the same job was done much better in the United States by less than 10 percent of the population. He said one of the primary goals in Russia today is for their farmers to surpass American farmers.

The efficiency of the American farmer is evident in these facts: In the past 20 years, the American farmer has increased the per acre yield of 18 leading crops 71 percent; in 1920, one hour's factory work would buy 1.2 pounds of steak or 7.8 pints of milk; production per man-hour has almost trebled on American farms since the early 30's, etc.

In Russia, which boasts of its technological progress, it takes four hours' pay to buy a pound of butter, or two hours' pay to buy a single orange.

Screwworm Control Program Launched in Texas

A 100-million dollar problem is the immediate target of an aroused group of Texans who recently banded together to form the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation. Though its long range goal is the study of all animal health problems, the Foundation's first campaign will be launched against the screwworm, generally considered Public Enemy No. 1, by livestock producers throughout the southwest.

Incorporated as a non-profit organization by the State of Texas, the Foundation will be supported by voluntary contributions and governed by a 15-man board of trustees.

Foundation spokesman said they would employ the sterile-fly technique so successfully used in Florida and the Southwest where screwworm control is almost complete.

Complete information regarding the foundation and its objectives can be obtained by contacting any county agent or vocational agriculture teacher, or by writing directly to the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, 546 Rio Grande Building, Dallas 2, Texas.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

Over 700,000 taxpayers in the Dallas District covering the northern half of Texas receive a refund check every year. These 700,000 people often change their address between the time they file their return and the time the refund check arrives. Every year Internal Revenue gets back thousands of refund checks. The returned checks are caused by poor writing, wrong addresses, and an occasional mistake on the part of electronic machines. If you have never received your tax refund this year and you have not been discussing your return as a result of a pre-refund audit of your return, you should write Internal Revenue Service, tell the tax folks when you filed, what kind of form you filed, how much refund you had coming and any other facts concerning your case. You may get a check.

Austin — With filing deadline for state offices still more than two months away, the State Capital already is taking on that political campaign atmosphere.

Announcements for office, state-wide speaking tours, and fund raising dinner plans are setting the stage for the upcoming campaigns.

Only announced candidate for governor, thus far, has been Jack Cox of Breckenridge. Cox will be running in the Republican primary.

As yet, no formal announcement has been made by any Democrat. But the field of probable candidates is growing daily.

Formal announcements by three senators for the lieutenant governor's race assures warm competition for the place left open when Ben Ramsey moved to the Railroad Commission.

Sen. Jarrard Secrest of Temple, Sen. Bob Baker of Houston, and Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock are the announced candidates. There is likely to be GOP opposition for this post as well as at least one other Democrat.

Only thing certain now is that there will be stiff competition for those primary votes on May 5.

CAPITOL VALUE

For years, the huge red granite State Capitol, which was paid for with 3,000,000 acres of West Texas land, has been carried on the state's books at a value of $131.50.

Board of Control has appraised the Capitol at $9,948,391.

They valued the land on which it is located at $5,143,023. It's not for sale for the total of $15,092,014. But at least it's on the books right, now.

Incidentally, the old Capitol is getting a refurbishing. Workmen are replacing cracked and splintered panels in the hallways, and removing the old varnish. It will come out lighter and brighter.

NEW LAWS

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson quickly plugged one possible loophole in the "Blue Law."

He advised Dist. Atty. Henry Wade of Dallas that a corporation owning two or more stores must close them the same day. One can't open Saturday and the other Sunday. Nor can a store accept orders by phone in advance to be delivered on Sunday.

Wilson also is busy interpreting other new laws, among them the one requiring holders of property for others, except banks, to report it to the state when the owner hasn't been around for seven years.

He advised Treasurer Jesse James that an oil company which holds royalties outside Texas on oil produced in Texas does not have to report it to the State of Texas except that amount held for persons whose last known address was in Texas.

The attorney general expects so much work out of this new law that he set up a special division to handle it.

In another opinion, Wilson held that wiretapping to record phone conversations is not illegal in Texas.

THIRD ROUND

In the next few weeks, Gov. Price Daniel will have completed his third round of appointments.

Most of the state's operations are directed by 3 or 9-member boards, appointed for six-year overlapping terms.

These appointments are made to more than 140 state boards and commissions.

Latest appointments include: David B. Irons, Dallas; Dr. Horace Cromer, Austin; Mrs. H. E. Butt, Corpus Christi, and Howard Tellepsen, Houston, to the Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools; Max Starcke, Austin, and Harry Hornby, Uvalde, to the State Parks Board; and Sam G. Wood, Killeen, and Hatton W. Simpson, Tyler, to the State Board of Pharmacy.

WATER POLLUTION BOARD

Governor Daniel named former Rep. Sam Wohlford, Stratford; J. S. Hudnall, Tyler, and C. G. Shigley, Freeport, as public members on the new State Water Pollution Control Board.

Board of Water Engineers Chairman Joe D. Carter, State Health Commissioner J. E. Peavy, M. D., and Game & Fish Executive Secretary Howard Dodgen, or their alternates, will complete the board.

In the future, no one may discharge waste of any kind into or adjacent to the public waters of Texas, or the Gulf of Mexico, without a permit from this board.

Unfortunately, this board was handed a big job but no operating money. Governor Daniel will ask the Legislature, at a special session in January, to provide some expense money for it.

SHORT SNORTS

Starting January 1, the State Welfare Department will begin paying medical, hospital and nursing home bills for the 225,000 needy aged who are on the old-age assistance rolls. Program will cost about $12,000,000 in state money in the coming 20 months. Federal dollars match the state's.

Governor Daniel has reactivated the Governor's Committee for the White House Conference on the Aging, to resume its study of the problems of the aging. Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro was renamed chairman.

The first months' payments under the new natural gas tax totaled $356,481, but $306,532 of it was paid under protest. Gas pipelines have brought suit to kill the new tax.

Income from the first 90,780 reports received by Comptroller Robert S. Calvert was $7,206,727. Calvert thinks it will be February, when the first full quarter's sales tax is collected, before he can tell whether it will yield the estimated $319,000,000 in two years.

4-H and FFA Quarter Horse Shows Set

The Quarter Horse Association of West Texas has been working for two years to encourage the use of Registered Quarter Horses as 4-H and FFA projects. The Texas Extension Service recently approved the use of horses as projects. Within the last three months there has been numerous inquiries concerning these projects.

There will be a Quarter Horse Club Division at the Sand Hills Hereford and Quarter Horse Show in Odessa and at the San Angelo Fat Stock Show, although details have not been received on the San Angelo Show. Show day for Odessa is January 1st at 8:00 a. m. Special rules, other than those that apply in other 4-H and FFA divisions, are as follows:

Foaled in 1961; and Class 19 — Geldings Foaled in 1960-61.
