

State Capitol NEWS

Austin — Talk of ending the special session of the Legislature on its opening day turned out to be just talk.

When the lawmakers got to town at Gov. Price Daniel's call, little support could be mustered by Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas and Rep. Charles Ballman of Borger, for immediate ad-journalment.

So, the show is on — and already moving at a fast pace. Governor Daniel immediately laid out his proposals for solving some long-standing problems. Included were the following:

BANK ESCHEAT: Here a compromise with bankers was sought under which banks would advertise locally each year for the owners of accounts which had as much as $25 in them and which had been inactive for seven years. Balances under $25 would be sent to the State Treasury which would seek the owners, and if they appear, pay them from a $100,000 revolving fund which would be kept in the Treasury for that purpose.

Rep. Charles E. Hughes of Sherman, who has worked for 10 years to get laws to enforce the escheat laws, felt that ground had finally been found on which the state and the banks could agree.

RURAL ROADS: Governor Daniel's veto last summer of the $15,000,000 appropriation for farm-to-market road construction during the year starting next Sept. 1 was designed to bring another long discussion to a head. It did.

Where $60,000,000 was available in 1961 ($50,000,000 in state taxes and $10,000,000 in federal aid) for construction and improvement of rural roads, Daniel proposed that only about $42,500,000 be used next year. The other $17,500,000 would be used to maintain the rural roads.

Daniel got agreement from the Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association and from the Texas Farm Bureau. But some rural legislators think this is too big a cut all at once, and are talking about the Daniel proposal as the "minimum."

INTEREST RATES: Daniel made no specific recommendations to the lawmakers on interest rates and loan regulation, except to say that the rates proposed by the Texas Legislative Council were too high.

Here there is tremendous difference of opinion among legislators, over two issues.

First question is — "what is a small loan?"

Some think interest ceilings should be held to 10 percent on all loans over $500 while others think higher rates should be allowed up to $3,000, to include the auto loan category.

Latest proposal would regulate rates up to $1,500 or $1,000, thus hold interest to a 10 percent maximum on all loans over that amount.

This issue will be hard fought and many legislators do not expect it to be settled when the 30-day session is over.

TOURIST ADVERTISING: Daniel urged a $300,000 appropriation for advertising Texas to tourists. Proposal is backed by numerous organizations who feel that the investment will pay big dividends to the state, especially since the state now has a sales tax.

JUVENILE PAROLE: Last year the start was made on a system of state-paid parole officers to supervise boys and girls released from the juvenile schools. But money was provided to pay only six men, including a state director.

Daniel asked for 17 more parole officers. Most legislators agreed on the need, but worried about where to get the money.

One thing is certain — this Legislature won't raise taxes again — not this year.

It is an unusual Legislature in another respect. It has two Republican members.

Kenneth Kohler of Amarillo took office first, so he is being called the "minority leader" of the house. His GOP colleague from Texas City, George Korkmas, makes it the largest Republican membership in the Legislature since back in the 1870's, when there were many Republicans in office in Texas, including a governor.

CANDIDATES ARE BECOMING ACTIVE

Politics is perk' up! Former House Speaker Waggoner Carr is at the rail and ready to run for Attorney General. Actually the Lubbock attorney, a Democrat, has been quietly campaigning for the office for several months.

Austin Attorney Walter Koch is an announced candidate for Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, Third Judicial District.

Judge William A. Morrison of Cameron has announced for reelection to the Court of Criminal Appeals, on which he has served for 11 years. District Judge Otis Dunagan of Tyler has announced against him.

RECIPROCAL PRIVILEGES

Texas Game & Fish Commission has decided to revive efforts to get reciprocal fishing privileges on the border rivers and lakes.

Neither the Texans on Lake Texoma nor the Louisianans on Lake Caddo can tell where the state line is. Sometimes they get fined by the other state's game wardens for not having a fishing license.

Time and time again negotiations have been begun, only to have the idea shelved when officers were changed and the new ones didn't pick up the ball.

This time, Chairman Frank Wood of Wichita Falls will go to Oklahoma to start talks there. Henry LeBlanc, president of the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas, will try to get things rolling in his position as Southwestern director of the National Wildlife Federation.

INDUSTRY BOARD PICKS CLARK

Texas has an industry-seeking agency — the Texas Industrial Commission.

It got a new director in Harry W. Clark, who has been head of industrial development for the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. He replaces Walter Dickerson.

Commission decided to center its efforts on coordinating and complementing the work of community industry seekers, also to serve as an information center for facts on industry and its needs. And to help advertise Texas nationwide. Legislature provided them $55,000 for these purposes last year.

AIGRED UP BREAD

Agriculture Commissioner John White sent word to all bakeries that the "balooned loaf" of bread is illegal under the state law.

White said this new "oversized" loaf has appeared in several parts of the state.

It actually weighs a pound. But if filled with air it bakes into a loaf the same size as the pound and a half loaf. Weight is printed in small type, so shoppers find it hard to tell the difference.

The state's grocery policeman said if bakers don't cooperate by stopping the practice he'll stop them.

BACK TO THE BLACK

State revenues will begin to pull into balance this month, as the first full quarter of returns on the new sales tax reach Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Since the new law took effect, only $22,000,600 has come in, and it just about held things even on the state deficit of $75,000,000 or so.

Quarterly payments by stores, on sales for the last three months of 1961, are due Jan. 31. They should total about $45,000,000, less the $11,000,000 merchants paid in advance in November and thus got a 3 percent discount.

But it will be summer of 1962 before the new sales tax wipes out the deficit, if all goes as predicted.

One effect of the sales tax has been to get stores located so they will pay the "store tax" which has been in effect many years.

A year ago at this time, only 81,109 stores had paid this tax. This year, 16,393 have paid it.

It all came about when stores were required to get permits as collectors of the new sales tax. Comptroller Calvert cross-checked their names, and collected the "store tax" from them while he was at it.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Good Advice

THE AMERICAN WAY

WHERE ARE WE GOING?

By Dr. Robert Morris

(Editor's Note: Dr. Robert Morris, President of the University of Dallas, was formerly chief counsel of the Senate's Subcommittee on Internal Security.)

Adlai Stevenson, who has the title of United States Ambassador to the United Nations, recently said, "Then the United Nations will need its own United Nations Peace Force, capable of deterring or subduing the strongest combinations which might be raised against it." In the same talk he also said, "Events in the Congo have shown how vital it is that the United Nations retain and develop further the capacity to act for peace, to deploy military forces with speed and precision..."

At about the same time (August, 1961) he wrote, "I believe with him (Einstein) that we must be prepared in the West for the restraints on self-interest which a worldwide system of law and policing implies."

I submit that this man cannot represent the United States when he says these things. He really qualifies as the United Nations Ambassador to the United States because he is clearly advocating the supremacy of the U.N. over his own country.

When the United States submitted to the United Nations Charter it received specific assurances from Secretary of State Stettinius and others against what Adlai Stevenson is now recommending.

One may say that these utterances are mere expressions of idealism, remote from reality. Lest you take assurance from this thought, however, look at what is happening in Katanga. And in looking at Katanga we should remember that the U.N. Charter itself assures repeatedly against intervention in matters which are essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of any state.

When Patrice Lumumba, a notorious Communist, was installed as head of the Congo in the late spring of 1960, Moise Tshombe, the leader of Katanga, understandably refused to subordinate himself and his people to Lumumba's Central Congolese Government. Despite Lumumba's political coloration, he had the strong support of Christian Herter, our Secretary of State, who brought him to Washington and gave him a prestige bath. Immediately we, the U.N. and news media generally dubbed Tshombe a "secessionist," even though he had never submitted to any unification.

I heard President Kennedy state recently that we are committed to a policy of self-determination for all peoples. Katanga, of all African political entities, deserves self-determination the most. Its industry, orderly government and self-dependence are well known. It wants to be free, particularly free of Communist rule.

For these impious motives, and these alone, Tshombe is a "threat to the peace of the world" and the U.N. uses this pretext to scuttle all its commitments against intervention in the domestic affairs of any nation.

Looking to the future, will Adlai Stevenson's U.N. "peace force" be employed to crush the aspirations of other peoples to be free of Communist rule? If the U.N. police force will be the strongest force in the world what of our own aspirations to remain free?

All the State Department says, in the face of these grave developments, is that Adoula is as anti-Communist as Tshombe. That does not justify the intervention. It only turns it into a disclaimer that the illegal intervention is not on behalf of Soviet hegemony.

But, even on that score, I remember its assurances that Castro was not a Communist, promulgated as late as ten months after he was in power. I remember Secretary Herter's embrace of Lumumba.

And if Adoula is anti-Communist why did he appoint Bocheley-Davidson, a strident Communist, to be administrator over Katanga? Why is his first deputy, Gizenga himself? Why are his Minister of Interior and Minister of Justice Communist?

The world that aspires to be free should long remember the contribution of Moise Tshombe. He has given us eighteen months in Africa. But he has also put into focus the motives of men who seem bent on crushing everything he and we stand for.

"Hunger Insurance" For Disaster Victims

College Station - Hurricane Carla, with thousands of Texans left homeless and hungry, was one of the big news events of 1961.

Its history now. But lessons learned in accommodating evacuees from the ravishing wind can well prove invaluable in future catastrophes.

Take the matter of food. Our nation's agricultural abundance is no longer "surplus" when it becomes part of disaster feeding operations, points out the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Efforts of local, county, state and federal individuals and organizations, all working together, helped to minimize personal hardships.

The funneling of more than 1.6 million pounds of food donated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to state and local welfare agencies for use in feeding Carla victims is a case in point. In a way, it was a routine job for USDA's Food Distribution Division. This agency of the Agricultural Marketing Service handles food all year long for the Direct Distribution and National School Lunch programs.

Yet a lot of machinery has to swing into action, quickly, to provide food for storm victims.

Even before the vicious coquette called Carla swished her skirts through Gulf Coast areas, in September, the federal state food distribution setup was ready.

Under the two USDA programs foods are enroute to all parts of the nation, continuously, so there's always an abundance in or near any spot that might need emergency feeding. In the case of Carla, much was in warehouses at Houston, Beaumont, and Corpus Christi. The 3,000 Texas schools participating in the National School Lunch Program also had good supplies.

All of this food was made available, as soon as needed, to local officials, Red Cross, Salvation Army and other disaster agencies. County authorities could get USDA foods for hurricane victims merely by applying to the Texas Department of Public Welfare. As in normal operations, USDA makes food available, but it is up to local workers to put it to use.

No one hopes a similar disaster will recur - but it could. And if it does, our nation's food distribution system, combined with the great abundance of farm products will be ready to provide "emergency" hunger insurance again.

that demand is strong, not only because of the expanding use of home economists but also because turnover is very high.

"That's not because of dissatisfaction with the work... it's because home economists practice what they preach," according to the editors of the magazine. "They enjoy advising families on how to run their affairs and they enjoy using that advice themselves in managing their own families."

Changing Times points out that despite an expanded use of home economists in other areas, the heaviest demand for workers will continue in secondary education, where as many as 5,000 home economics teachers must be recruited annually as replacements, not counting those who must be found to staff expanded departments required by rapidly increasing enrollments.

"The need... is especially strong at both ends of the ladder..." the article concludes, "at the top where there is a serious shortage of home economists to fill supervisory positions, and at the bottom where the supply of beginners is too thin."

Rise Seen in Demand For Home Economists

Jobs for some 10,000 home economists in business extension work and social welfare will become available over the next few years, according to Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine.

Reporting on a study by the American Home Economics Association, an article in the current issue of the magazine notes

Waggoner Carr Announces for Attorney General

Waggoner Carr, former Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, Thursday announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

The announcement from his Lubbock law offices stressed the importance of the Attorney General's office in law enforcement, crime prevention and the creation of a healthy economic climate in Texas.

Carr recalled that in 1960, after two terms as Speaker, more than a half million Texans approved his record of public service by their votes in this race for Attorney General and said he believes his previous training and experience qualify him to do a good job. Carr was identified in a recent state-wide poll as the leading contender for the Attorney General's post.

"My platform basically has but one plank — strengthening our legal framework where needed, and more vigorous enforcement of those laws, once enacted," Carr declared.

The 42-year-old former lawmaker and law enforcement official revealed plans for an intensive campaign leading up to the Democratic primary. He promised detailed discussion of the issues as the campaign develops.

"Much of the character and quality of Texas life for our families, our children, our businessmen, workingmen and farmers will depend upon the example of alert and responsible conduct of the Attorney General's office," Carr said.

Trickham News is a little scarce this morning. Guess everyone is trying to keep warm as old man winter is really here. This must be that bad spell we usually have in January.

Visitors with Mrs. Beula Kingston the past week were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Martin, Rev. and Mrs. Chester Wilkerson of Winters, and Mr. and Mrs. Nesbit Rice of Brookesmith. Mrs. Rice says her brother, Bob Featherston of Novice, isn't able to be up hardly any. He is in a San Angelo hospital at the present. His health is very bad. Perhaps old friends would like to send him a card.

We were sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Audrey McCarty of Fort Worth, who passed away Monday in her home in Fort Worth. She and her husband lived at Trickham for many years. Mrs. McCarty was a sister of the late Tom Stacy and has many relatives here. Our sympathy goes out to the family.

Withholding and Social Security Taxes

Dallas — Employers liable for income tax withheld and social security taxes in excess of $100 for the month of January, must deposit such taxes with a depository, district director Ellis Campbell Jr., of Internal Revenue Service, announced today.

Stressing the importance of compliance with deposit deadline of February 15, Mr. Campbell added that a Form 450 should be used for this purpose.

Deposits may be made in local authorized banks, or Federal Reserve Banks, the IRS spokesman added.

Employers who do not have a copy of Circular E — "Employer's Tax Guide," may get it from any IRS office. Circular E explains employment taxes, and gives tables and percentage methods for computing such taxes.

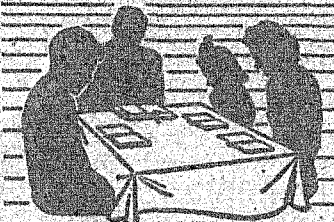

Dr. and Mrs. Max Woodward of Sherman were weekend visitors in Santa Anna with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kingsbery and other relatives.

Mrs. Cecil Verner of Abilene visited friends in Santa Anna Monday.

Read Romans 8:22-30.

We know not what we should pray for as we ought; but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us. (Romans 8:26.)

In The Meaning of Prayer, Harry Emerson Fosdick says, "The traveler climbs the foothills of the Himalayas, and among the Khonds (a tribe) of North India hears the prayer: 'Lord, we do not know what is good for us. Thou knowest what it is. For it we pray.'"

Prayer is more than saying prayers; it is the deepest desire of the heart. In order to have spiritual life and energy, we must have constant contact with our heavenly Father. A natural place to do this daily is in the home.

Acceptance of God's love can cast out fear, thus dissolving our inner anxieties and delivering us from outer pressures. True prayer gives us the fearlessness that brings rightness and brightness to the heart. What we are looking for — the sense of God's presence — was beautifully described many years ago when Jesus said, simply, "I am not alone, because the Father is with me."

PRAYER

O God, our Father, help us to walk with wisdom this day, looking unto Jesus. May His light be our guide, and His love our strength and inspiration. This we ask in His name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

By prayer, faith is strengthened, hope renewed, love rekindled, life reborn.

— Lydia Mowatt (Ontario)

Other Income Is Also Taxable

"Taxpayers who fail to report ALL taxable income for 1961 are liable to be called to account for it. In fact, they may be subject not only to the tax, but also to interest and penalties."

This warning came today from Ellis Campbell Jr., District Director of the Internal Revenue Service, whose office is 2101 Pacific Avenue, Dallas, Texas.

Numerous types of income be-slides salaries and wages must be included in the preparation of federal income tax returns if received.

"While the forms themselves and the accompanying instruction booklets detail several of the most common types of income which must be reported," the IRS representative said, "taxpayers are reminded that interest on savings accounts and Series 'E' U. S. Savings Bonds, tips, and most dividends and profits on sales of real or personal property, are taxable income."

Warren Aldridge Jr., of Jal. N. M., was here over the weekend attending to business and visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Aldridge and Van.
