THE
WAY

WHO WERE THESE MEN?

By Willis E. Stone

(Editor's Note: Willis E. Stone is author of the "Proposed Liberty Amendment" and Chairman National Committee for Economic Freedom, Los Angeles, Calif.)

Those who believe in American principles and stand solidly for our constitutional rights to private property and enterprise seem to invite persecution. One might well wonder that our institutions of freedom have managed to survive at all.

Remember General Billy Mitchell? He was court martialed for daring to advocate air power. The same clan that did this now clamors for a few billion tax dollars for a flight to the moon.

General Douglas MacArthur was fired for wanting to win the Korean War against communists. General Edwin Walker was fired for training his men to fight communism in Europe, while the Defense Department at home trained communists in the use of our best jet military aircraft.

Are these inconsistencies? Apparently not. It is not the rulers, but the people who love freedom and have somehow brought it about and, in a fashion, sustained it thus far in America.

It has always been so. History tells us it was petty jealousies that put John Paul Jones ashore in France during the Revolutionary War and deprived him of a ship. When a ship was arranged, by Benjamin Franklin, he contributed mightily toward victory and independence.

The most amazing inconsistency of history is that once a group of men, with a nation in their grasp, set aside the lust for power and at fantastic personal risk spoke out for American style freedom in the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

Have you ever wondered what breed of men were these who so completely reversed history and gave us our freedoms? Our history books skip over the signers of the Declaration of Independence with scarcely more than passing notice. Each signer knew in advance that he was signing his death warrant if he were caught by the British or their cause failed. Yet they signed, and pledged their lives, their fortunes and their honor. Best of all — THEY KEPT THEIR PLEDGES.

Who were these men? Twenty-four of the fifty-six lawyers and jurists. Eleven were merchants, nine were farmers and plantation owners. They were all in positions of financial security and moderately well educated, yet they put their lives, property, position and honor in jeopardy because they loved freedom more.

Five of the signers were captured by the British and tortured before they died.

Francis Lewis saw his home and properties destroyed and his wife captured. She later died.

John Hart and his 13 children escaped when the British sacked his home. His sick wife did not escape and died. The children were scattered and vanished, and John Hart died of a broken heart in 1780.

Philip Livingston and Lewis Morris had their estates and properties laid waste, and never recovered their properties.

Braxton Carter saw his fleet of ships swept from the seas, and died a bankrupt.

Thomas McKean served the Continental Congress without pay, and lost all his possessions to the enemy.

The properties of Ellery, Clymer, Middleton, Rutledge, Hall, Gwinnett, Hayward and Walton were looted.

At the Battle of Yorktown, British General Cornwallis made his headquarters in the home of Thomas Nelson Jr. Observing this, Nelson requested General Washington to fire upon his home, and, it was destroyed.

This is the price they paid for freedom. Dare we do less? They believed freedom to be worth the sacrifice. We know it was and is. Then why do we not give new vitality and force to the freedoms they gave us? We can, if we will, by applying the terms of the LIBERTY AMENDMENT pending in Congress as H. J. Res. 23. It has already been approved by Wyoming, Texas, Nevada, and Louisiana. It provides that:

"Sec. 1. The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution.

"Sec. 4. ... Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates and/or gifts."

Mrs. Lona Merritt Buried Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Lona L. Merritt, 68, were held in the Chapel of the Hosch Funeral Home at 10:00 a. m. Saturday. Mrs. Merritt died in the Santa Anna Hospital about 11:00 p. m. Thursday after a long illness. She had been a hospital patient several months.

Mrs. Merritt came to Santa Anna in 1924 and in partnership with the Donhams, operated the Service Cafe for a good many years. In the middle of the 1940's she purchased the Santa Anna Hotel building and established the Tex-Anna Hotel and Coffee Shop and operated it until a few years ago.

Always a congenial person, Mrs. Merritt always participated in the activities of the town. Even when the hotel and coffee shop were closed she continued to furnish space for the Lions Club to meet. She made her home in a part of the hotel building.

She was born December 20, 1892 in Tennessee and was a member of the Baptist Church.

Rev. Raymond Jones, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated at her memorial service. Burial was in the Santa Anna Cemetery under the direction of Hosch Funeral Home.

Survivors include one daughter, Dr. Francine Merritt, head of the speech department of LSU, of Baton Rouge, La., and one sister, Mrs. W. E. Williamson of Tyler. Dr. Francine Merritt was honored as the Ex-Student of the year at the annual Homecoming here in October.

Pallbearers were Dick Bass, W. B. Griffin, Milton House, Jim Daniell, W. R. Mulroy and Leroy Stockard.

Deputy to Make Official Visit To Eastern Star

Mrs. Ethel Dickinson, Deputy Grand Matron of District 3, Section 5, will make her official visit to the Santa Anna Eastern Star Chapter, when the regular meeting is held Monday, Dec. 18, in the Masonic Hall. The meeting will begin at 7:00 p. m. All members are urged to be present for the special occasion.

During the Fellowship hour, following the regular meeting period, the group chapter will have their annual Christmas Party and Gift Exchange.

Host and hostesses for the meeting will be Mr. and Mrs. Montie Guthrie, Mrs. Alice L. Walker and Mrs. Myrtle Taylor.

The world's highest temperature, 136 degrees, was recorded in Libya in 1922.

Families Urged to Use Care With Fire Throughout Year

Families throughout the nation were urged by the National Board of Fire Underwriters today to keep the Christmas season merry by using care with fire.

Moreover, the Board asked that care with fire not stop at the end of the holiday season, but be carried on throughout the year.

"A total of 11,350 persons lost their lives in fires during the year 1960, and property damage

173 to Die During Holiday Season This Year

Austin — Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, estimated today that 173 persons will meet violent death during the long Christmas-New Year holiday season — with traffic crashes taking the lives of 88, other accidents 45 and suicides and homicides 40.

He designated the period from 12:01 a. m. Saturday, December 23, through 11:59 p. m. Monday, January 1, as the official time for "Operation Deathwatch," a grim tabulation of fatalities designed to focus public attention upon the extra hazards of the holiday season.

The DPS director said another purpose of this program is to launch a stringent enforcement program to remove the relatively few dangerous and illegal drivers from the highways.

"We are urging responsible citizens throughout the state to join in this all-out holiday safety effort by avoiding traffic law violations which could be calculated to cause violent death or injury," he said.

Christmas Cantata At First Baptist Sunday Night

The choir of the First Baptist Church will present "The Music of Christmas," a cantata by Ira B. Wilson, at the regular Sunday evening service, Dec. 17. The program will begin at 7:30 p. m. and will be directed by Tommy Snelen, minister of music and director of the choir.

Soloists will be Mrs. Tom Kingsbery, Carole Campbell and Mr. Snelen. Mrs. W. V. Priddy will accompany the choir for the presentation.

The church extends a cordial invitation to everyone to attend the cantata.

Farm Tax Guide Available from County Agent

The Farmer's Tax Guide, which explains most of the income tax rules that apply to farmers, is now available free of charge to Texas farm and ranch people. C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, says this booklet is written in plain language and that it contains many examples, worked out for typical farms, in order to show how the rules work.

The guide also contains many features that can save you time, effort and money in the preparation of your return. For example, on page 3 of the booklet is the 1962 Tax Calendar which tells you when to pay various taxes, file tax returns, and do other things required by law. A check list of farm income and expenses appears on page 18. A filled-in income tax form with explanations begins on page 4.

You can get a copy of the Farmers Tax Guide, 1962 edition, from your county extension agent or from the Internal Revenue office.

Christmas Cantata To Be Presented at Methodist Church

The Methodist Church will present their annual Christmas Cantata at the church Sunday evening, Dec. 17, beginning at 6:00 p. m. The program will be directed by Miss Elsie Lee Harper.

The pastor and church extends an invitation to everyone to be present for the program of Christmas music.

Rev. Barnett said the Methodist Church would not have an evening service Sunday evening, Dec. 24. However, they will have their regular morning service.

A Big Bunch Of Coons

Pictured above on the left is Ben Yarborough and C. C. Stanley on the Yarborough Home Creek Farm near Whon. In between the two men are 20 coons and three ringtails, all killed in one night recently by Mr. Stanley and his coon hunting dog, pictured in the middle. Mr. Stanley had killed more than 50 coons on the Yarborough farm by the end of last week, in a period of just a few days.

The dog hunts most of the night and when he gets something "treed" Mr. Stanley goes to see about him.

There are lots of coons in the Trickham, Whon, and Rockwood area. Anyone interested in hunting them could get permission from most any of the land owners — in fact you could probably get a lot of help from most of them.

Letters to Santa To Be Published Next Week

Next week The News will publish Letters to Santa Claus from all the children in this vicinity who care to write to the jolly old fellow. We would like to urge parents to help the children under school age write their letters and see they are either brought to The News office or mailed to Santa Claus, North Pole.

Next week we will publish our annual Christmas Greeting Edition. It will contain a large number of Christmas Greetings from merchants and professional people throughout Coleman County. If by chance you are not contacted for a Christmas Greeting in this edition, a representative will call on you if you will telephone us.

We would like to have every business in Santa Anna represented in the Greeting Edition.

Presbyterian Choir To Present Cantata Wed., Dec. 20

The choir of the First Presbyterian Church will present the Christmas Cantata, "Love Transcending" Wednesday evening, Dec. 20, in the church auditorium. The program will begin at 7:30 p. m. Everyone is extended a cordial invitation to be present. The cantata will be directed by Mrs. David Mercer.

DAUGHTER BORN TO MR. AND MRS. FRANK GRAY IN RISING STAR

A daughter, Kathryn Mishele, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gray of Rising Star, in a Brownwood hospital Friday, December 8 at 6:00 p. m. Weight was six pounds, 15 ounces. Mrs. Gray is the former Kay Kingsbery of Santa Anna.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Kingsbery of Santa Anna and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gray of Rising Star.

OLD FRIEND VISITS HERE LAST WEEK

Byron Joiner, formerly of Santa Anna, visited your editor a short time last week and needless to say we enjoyed the visit very much. Many citizens of this area remember Byron very well. He is now a partner in the Starr Kealhofer Tire & Supply Co. in Austin, and seems to be enjoying life.

This was the first time your editor had seen Byron in about 25 years. When we were growing up right here in Santa Anna we always thought (and still do) that Byron and his father, Josie Joiner, were two of the best friends we had among the adults of the town. It was indeed a pleasure to enjoy the short visit with him.

Weekly Christmas Program Changed To Benefit More

A change was made in the regular weekly Christmas Program, sponsored by the Santa Anna merchants the past Saturday. The program is held each Saturday during the fall and Christmas season.

Instead of calling a few names for $25.00 in merchandise coupons, it was decided to divide the coupons into small amounts and call more names. This was inaugurated Saturday with a good reception.

Five names were called with Mrs. Don Pritchard being present to receive $25.00 in coupons and George England received $10.00 in coupons. Mrs. Pritchard's ticket came from Shields Grocery and Mr. England's from Hosch Grocery. Names called not present were G. Richardson on a ticket from Mel's Texaco Service; Sam Domingo on a ticket from Piggly Wiggly; and Kenneth Makuta on a ticket from Shields Grocery. The $40.00 will be divided into amounts of $10.00 each and with the $100.00 already set for distribution this Saturday, 12 names will be called.

On Saturday, Dec. 23, the program will be held at 10:00 a. m., 2:00 p. m. and 4:00 p. m. At the morning program seven names will be called for $5.00 gift certificates from the local stores. The 2:00 p. m. program will also be for seven $5.00 gift certificates. At the 4:00 p. m. program any certificates carried over from Saturday of this week will be given away, along with $150.00 in other certificates.

Christian Church To Have Christmas Sermon Sunday

Rev. Walter Allen will deliver his Christmas Sermon Sunday, Dec. 17, at the First Christian Church, as he plans to be gone the following two Sundays. He will be with relatives in California.

Each member is requested to bring what they want to give to the Juliette Fowler Homes for children and old folks, and for the minister, this Sunday.

Immediately following the sermon a covered dish luncheon will be served in the annex for all members of the church and friends who want to attend.

Most Vets in School to Get Early Checks

Most veterans in school under the Korean GI Bill will get a Christmas present from Uncle Sam in the form of extra-early mailings of the GI allowance checks this month. P. J. Mims, manager of the VA regional office in Waco said today.

A special time-saving system will be used to get GI checks in the mail before most veteran students go home for the Christmas vacation.

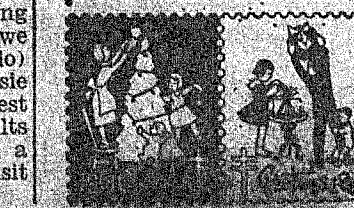

Usually, GI training allowance checks are mailed around the 20th of each month. Many schools and colleges begin Christmas holiday vacations before that date.

In December, VA Regional Offices, whenever possible, will speed up allowance payments for GI trainees and arrange for earlier than usual mailings so checks will be received before the school holidays commence.

USE CHRISTMAS SEALS AND HELP FIGHT TB!

A. D. Pettit, local Vocational Agriculture teacher and FFA Advisor, announces the annual Santa Anna FFA and 4-H Club Livestock Show will be held at the show barn Friday, December 22. Members of the above organizations attending Santa Anna Schools will participate in the show.

Pettit said there would be an estimated 125 fat lambs in the show and they would be divided into five classes. There will also be about 12 head of swine and a few head of capons.

The ones showing stock will spend most of Friday morning preparing their stock for the show. Judging will begin at 2:00 p. m. and should be completed in about two hours. Judging the entire show will be C. T. Parker, County Agent of Rannels County.

Champion and reserve champion lambs will be selected in the fine wool and medium wool divisions, which will be the largest two classes. No sale will be held here, as all the entries will also be shown in the County Show during January.

ROME — CITY OF THE CAESARS

PART II

On the following day, we crossed the celebrated Tiber River and made our way to the Janiculum, one of the Seven Hills of Rome, where we enjoyed a splendid panoramic view of the amazing city below.

Later we walked through the grandeur of St. Peter's Basilica where the reputed remains of that Saint are resting. The magnificence of this edifice is indescribable, as are the gigantic marble statues and the many numerous paintings by Michelangelo, who did all of this incredible work of the highest art for no pay, but to show his love for God. This is spoken of as the most beautiful church in the world, and I do not doubt it. It stands next to the Vatican and from an upper window, we enjoyed looking down at the Swiss Guards who keep watch over the safety of the Pope.

Another day we drove out the Appian Way and with a guide and a lantern, slowly descended the bare dirt steps into the dark earth, where it is cold and damp and musty from age and the absence of fresh air. We saw here an intricate labyrinth of bewildering tunnels that spread out in every direction. In the dirt walls we saw rectangular graves in which were skeletons of victims who had either been martyred because of their refusal to deny Christ or had died from starvation and disease while they were hiding here from Nero or some other persecutor of Christians. We followed close on the heels of our guide, for it would be a terrifying experience to get lost in one of these dark tunnels, which our guide told us had happened to some tourists a few months previously.

Our next stop was at the handsome Basilica of St. Paul in which are his mortal remains. The building is a magnificent edifice with an interior of gleaming marble and parallel rows of huge lustrous columns that reach from the lovely marble pattern of the floor to the magnificently decorated overhead. Standing in front of the Basilica is a large monument, supporting a life-like marble figure of St. Paul. I was told that it stands on the exact spot where Paul was executed.

From here we drove to the gorgeous Basilica of St. Peter in Chains, where in an altar of flaming lights lay the chains which held St. Peter in prison on this spot. This building is more elaborately decorated than St. Paul's, but the most charming thing it contains is the immense white marble statue of Moses, holding the stone of the Ten Commandments under his arm.

The following day we ascended Capitoline Hill and from this high vantage point, our lecturer pointed out the vast ruins of enormous temples, forums and palaces that once stood in great splendor during ancient times. From here we went down to the Venetian Palace, which was occupied by the strutting Mussolini during his heyday. Here he had boasted and thundered that Italy would again be the ruler of the world, for no Caesar was greater than he. We all remember when the Allies marched into Rome and how his Anti-Fascist captors ignominiously strung him up, after seizing him in Milan. As we stood and marvelled at the beautiful architecture of the Venetian Palace, we recalled that history credited Pope Sixtus IV and his favorite Architect: Donata Bramante of setting the Renaissance going with their daring innovations in building designs; and how they practically emptied the purse of the Holy See.

Each day was another adventure into the incredible and especially was this true when we had our first glimpse of the magnificent dome ceiling of the Gallery of the Vatican and saw for the first time the dazzling array of statuary depicting the martyred disciples and other loyal early Christians, who gladly suffered death for their faith in God. The enormous amount of splendor in the form of urns, tables, cabinets leaves you breathless with amazement at the incalculable value of this huge collection of fabulous wealth.

The Sistine Chapel can never be separated from Michelangelo who lay on his back for four long years; supported by scaffolding, and painted the story of the Old Testament on that huge dome ceiling. As if not satisfied, he then depicted the story of the New Testament with that divine skill of paint and brush, which he possessed.

What an incredible heritage he left to the world! A masterpiece illustrating the message that God has given us in the Holiest of Books — the Bible.

We passed from the Chapel into the Vatican Library. It is an enormous room lined on both sides with handsomely adorned book cabinets which are unique, in that no book is visible.

If I told all the splendor and glory that is Rome today and which I gazed at day after day, it would fill a book, but I must mention a delightful tour I had in the country, on a highway bordered on either side by grape vineyards, blossoming almond trees and small green fields, in some of which grazed small herds of sheep.

The main purpose of this country-side tour was to visit the ruins of Hadrian's magnificent Villa, which covered as much ground as the City of Rome. Before us were portions of elaborate palaces, spectacular marble statuary, such as the Nile River, represented by a gigantic river god with a cornucopia and a sphinx reclining beside a colonnaded pool. There were tree-bordered walks; landscaped gardens; swimming pools; steam bath houses and fabulous fountains. This is one of three built by the Emperor Hadrian and left on this great estate of Tivoli. Hadrian was one of the towering figures of the Roman Empire, and he spent his declining years on this estate in the company of artists and intellectuals. From here we drove to the Villa d'Este, with its magnificent palace; its fantastic fountain spectacles in its fabulous water garden with 500 displays. Twenty years were required to complete these grandiose fountains which are fed from the Aniene River. The water is brought across town by an underground channel and these fantastic displays of liquid wonder are functioning as well today as they did when designed back in the fourteenth century.

To adorn the Palace, the owner, Cardinal Ipolito, who was the son of Lucrezia Borghia and Alfonso I, Duke of Ferrara, employed a large number of artists. In addition to the frescoes, the Cardinal's mansion came to be enriched by a splendid collection of sculpture, taken mostly from Hadrian's Villa. Much of the rich tapestries and oil paintings have now been removed to museums over Europe, but it is still worth visiting.

My jaunt around the world was nearing its close. My final visit in Italy would be a two days stay in Naples, where I had previously spent a week. From Japan to Italy one great truth was indelibly impressed on my mind — to be blessed with peace and prosperity, a nation must serve God and ever look to Him for guidance.

Tips for Smokers

Keep plenty of noncombustible ashtrays about your home during the holidays and empty them often, the National Board of Fire Underwriters recommends.

The National Board points out that one out of every four fires is caused by matches and smoking.

If you are having house guests, make sure the bedrooms as well as the living room, dining room and kitchen are well stocked with ashtrays.

And, when you empty an ashtray, make sure no fire is in it.

Recent Discovery May Aid in Fight Against Screwworms

College Station — A recent discovery may prove of great value in future efforts to control or eradicate a very expensive livestock parasite, the screwworm fly. Normally, the flies are blue-green.

The first black screwworm fly was found by Dr. Leo E. LaChance, insect geneticist of the USDA's Agricultural Research Service at Kerrville, in a laboratory colony obtained from Orlando, Florida. Since these flies had not been irradiated, the black one is believed to be the result of a naturally occurring mutation. Several generations of the black screwworm fly have been produced by LaChance and his associates.

The black color is important as a genetic marker (a distinguishable physical characteristic that is heritable) and could prevent a problem which delayed the eradication in the Southeast, a quick, effective way to identify the released flies.

Irradiation does not alter the appearance of screwworm flies, and they are not radioactive when recovered in traps. Dye or other markings are not sufficiently permanent for accurate identification. An easily distinguishable marker, such as the black color, could eliminate this problem and speed progress in future eradication programs.

The ARS entomologists are now conducting studies to determine how the genetically marked flies, compare with wild flies in mating activity, longevity and flight range. If the black screwworm flies prove biologically successful, they will provide a valuable new tool for use both in entomological research and in control and eradication efforts.

This discovery could mean much to the program now getting underway in Texas under the sponsorship of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation.

Make Sure Your Oven Is Clean Before You Put on the Turkey

If you are planning a big Christmas dinner with turkey and all the trimmings, be sure to start out with a clean stove.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters reminds that the best way to avoid a grease fire is to keep the stove clear of grease. The Board recommends scouring of the oven as a timely precaution.

tion. In addition, while cooking, grease containers should be kept away from the stove.

When frying food in a pan on top of the stove, remember that a large flat pan cover and a long handled fork can be used to smother a fire. If the grease in the pan catches fire you can usually extinguish it quickly by lifting the cover with the fork and placing it over the pan. Fire in a frying pan can be extinguished by sprinkling ordinary baking soda or salt on it. However, if you do this, you may have to get something else to eat for supper.

One added note of caution: Before you start cooking, check the nearby window curtains and hanging towels to be sure they cannot blow over the burners.

THE AMERICAN WAY

"Cradle to the Grave"

OUR "BILL OF RIGHTS"

December 15 is observed each year as "Bill of Rights Day" throughout the United States. What does this important "document" mean to us?

The American "Bill of Rights," consisting of the first ten amendments to our federal constitution, all adopted at one time in 1791, specifies in some detail a number of basic civil rights of the individual citizen. Unaltered by subsequent amendments and jealously guarded by our courts, these privileges must still be respected by our governing bodies today.

Among the most familiar of our constitutional guarantees are those relating to freedom of religion, speech and of the press. The same article protects the rights of peaceable assembly and the privilege of petitioning the government for redress of grievances.

Another amendment secures our persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, and specifies that no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, and unless supported by oath or affirmation.

The due process of law amendment encompasses not one but several guarantees. Every American is secured against being placed twice in legal jeopardy for the same offense; against being compelled to be a witness against himself in a criminal case; and against having his private property taken for public use without just compensation.

He is also secured against being held for trial for a capital (death penalty) or other infamous crime, unless upon a presentment or indictment of a grand jury. And, of course, no person may be deprived of life, liberty or property without a duly court procedure, or due process of law.

The right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury, in the locality where the crime was committed, the right to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, and the rights to compel attendance of defense witnesses and to have the assistance of defense counsel in all criminal prosecutions are secured by another section of the "Bill of Rights."

Executive bail and fines, and cruel and unusual punishments, are prohibited in Amendment VIII. Other articles insure the right to bear arms and ban quartering of soldiers in private homes during peace time.

Then, to make quite clear to our governing bodies the underlying intent of the preceding provisions, the Ninth Amendment states: "The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people."

The Tenth Amendment further emphasizes this basic theory by providing: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

Thus, that fundamental philosophy expressed in the Declaration of Independence, that men are endowed with certain unalienable rights, and that "to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed," has been carried forward into the highest law of our land.

A & M College Now Offers Student Counseling Program

College Station — Texas A and M College will give even greater emphasis to individual student counseling in the future, Dean William J. Graff announced this week.

High school teachers and officials throughout Texas are receiving information about A and M College's new testing program. The College has adopted the College Entrance Examination Board testing program as part of its testing and placement procedure effective in the fall of 1963. "These tests will serve as a vital part of the counseling of A and M College's freshmen," Graff said.

"Although we are not requiring the entrance board tests until 1963, we are strongly urging entering freshmen to take these tests for entrance in the fall of 1962," the Dean of Instruction at Texas A and M pointed out.

About Your Health

The fact that birds are a reservoir of some diseases transmissible to man has been known for a long time. However, the mounting store of knowledge concerning the arboviruses (literally bird-borne) is a comparatively new item of public health research.

Some of the more common diseases caused by these viruses occur in Texas. These are the St. Louis encephalitis (mistakenly called sleeping sickness) and the Western and Eastern equine types.

The names signify where a particular virus was first identified.

Puzzling transmission cycles are the hallmark of these viruses. Encephalitis is borne by birds. However, transmission of the virus from birds to horses or from birds to man is through mosquitoes. There apparently is no direct transmission from horse to man or from man to man.

The responsible culprit is a family of mosquitoes called Culicidae. These include the common household mosquito — Culex tarsalis — and a mosquito common to rural areas — Culex quinquefasciatus. There are others, but these two cause the most trouble in Texas.

Outbreaks of St. Louis encephalitis have occurred in the Lower Rio Grande Valley in recent years. This virus rarely, if ever, causes definite illness in equines.

In late summer and fall of 1962 several cases of encephalitis were confirmed by the State Health Department's Laboratory Section in Austin. Most of the cases were reported from counties of south and west Texas in the HI-Plains area.

The control of Culicine mosquitoes is difficult because they breed in tremendous numbers in irrigated areas. A favorite breeding spot for these mosquitoes is residual waters in ditches following heavy rains or unabsorbed irrigation water.

Season peaks occur in the spring and fall because of heavy rains during those periods. Current research is directed toward manipulation of the playa lakes and seeking more data on the basic infection chains of birds and mammals by mosquitoes. (A weekly feature from Public Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health.)

Large Number of Entries in Fort Worth Stock Show

An unprecedented demand for livestock entry cards makes a harvest of entries likely for Fort Worth's 1962 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, President-Manager W. R. Watt has reported.

The fast-approaching entry closing dates are Dec. 20 for cattle, sheep and swine; Jan. 2 for horses and Jan. 15 for poultry, rabbits, pigeons, turkeys, ducks, geese and game and exotic birds. The 66-year-old Fort Worth Stock Show, the nation's oldest major livestock exposition, will take place January 26 through February 4.

So far, Watt said, 4,616 livestock entry cards have been requested by prospective exhibitors in the open livestock show, and 3,271 to junior showmen. The horse division has received 1,270 requests, for an overall show total of 9,157. The Southwestern Exposition record card is required for each animal, except in group classes such as carlots and pens. A premium list and entry blanks may be obtained by writing the Fort Worth Stock Show, P. O. Box 150, Fort Worth. The 1962 exposition will offer new competition for Hereford, Angus, Red Angus and Shorthorn carcass steers and for Charolais cattle.

showed that the epidemic was under control. But, in all, seven children had been hospitalized with TB. So had the music teacher and the five-year-old brother of one of the sick school children. Ninety-eight other children had been infected and were potential TB cases.

Today, except for the athlete with far-advanced TB who will be sick for some time, all those who went to the hospital are back at school. Yet it is certain that the people in this town, many of whom had thought that tuberculosis was well under control, will not soon relax their vigilance against this smoldering menace.

Tour Expected to Increase Fattened Cattle in Texas

Ablene — A six percent increase in the number of cattle being fattened for slaughter in Texas feed lots and a potential market for two million tons of Texas grain sorghum have been cited by Dr. W. L. Stangel of Texas Tech as one of the basic factors in the projected tour of West Texas stockmen and farmers through Arizona and California.

The tour, sponsored by the Agriculture and Livestock Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled for January 14-20, 1962. Billed as the Livestock Feeding-Grain Market Development Tour, the trip will be made by 150 or more West Texans aboard a special train to be made up in Lubbock, Fort Worth and Clovis, N. M.

Dean Stangel, chairman of the WTCC committee, said reservations for the tour are coming in daily and it now appears that a large delegation of West Texans will take part.

Stangel pointed out that the number of cattle being fattened in Texas has increased by six percent in the last 12 months, and that the growing number of feeders will be able to gain valuable knowledge from the California and Arizona feeders who now account for about 15 percent of the total grain-fed cattle in the U. S.

Austin Doctor Heads Cancer Program in Texas

More than 350 delegates, members and guests closed the two-day meeting here with election of board members and officers for the volunteer cancer control group which has active units and committees in 224 Texas counties.

Self Culture Club Regular Meeting

The Christmas theme was used in program and decorations when the Self Culture Club met in the home of Mrs. Preston Bailey on December 8.

White feather angels were on the coffee table, and a garland of holly festooned the fireplace, in which a fire of oak logs was burning. A Christmas arrange-ment was on the linen-laid din-ing table.

Each member brought stamp-ed Christmas cards to be given to rest-care patients in the Santa Anna Hospital, and Mrs. Chas. Evans will assist the patients in addressing the cards and mailing them.

Three popular new books were donated by the club to the City Library in memory of the three members who have passed away in 1961. The books are "Beyond Ourselves," by Catherine Marsh-all; "Tough Minded Optimist," by Norman Vincent Peale; and "Rags and Hope", by Mary Las-well. The deceased members were: Mrs. R. C. Gay, Mrs. A. L. Oder and Miss Dora Kirkpatrick.

A guessing contest on baby pictures of the members was won by Mrs. Nancy Wylie Tillman, a guest, and Mrs. Ford Barnes gave a review of "The World's Religions", featuring a study of Christianity.

Refreshments of white fruit-cake and hot punch were served, with Mrs. Otis Bivins, Mrs. Nor-val Wylie and Mrs. Hardy Blue assisting the hostess. Guests present besides Mrs. Tillman, were Mrs. J. W. Morrell, Mrs. Jim Rucker and Mrs. James Rogers. Thirteen members also were present.

Make Sure Toys Are Safe

If you are buying toys for the youngster this year, make sure they are safe toys incapable of causing fire, shock or explosion, the National Board of Fire Un-derwriters advises.

Miniature space vehicles, rock-ets, airplanes, automobiles, and other mechanical toys that use kerosene, gasoline, carbide or hy-drogen peroxide for fuels may be hazardous if placed in the hands of unattended small children.

The National Board urges that parents supervise all play with electrical toys, also those power-ed with fuels and chemicals.

On heat-producing and elec-trical toys the UL label of Un-derwriters' Laboratories is espe-cially important.

Use Off-the-Tree Lighting on Metal Tree

If you are using a metal Christmas tree this year, the National Board of Fire Under-writers recommends that you use off-the-tree lighting with color-ed lights to give a softer and more beautiful illumination.

Placing strings of Christmas lights upon any metal tree sets up the possibility of electric shock if the cord becomes frayed or the interior of a light socket comes in contact with the tree.

Play it safe and use off-the-tree lighting with any metal tree.

Attend church regularly.

Read John 1:6-13.

To all you received him, who believed in his name, he gave power to become children of God. (John 1:12. RSV.)

One does not invite a guest into his house without first doing some planning and making the necessary preparations. Neither can we, at this Advent season, receive Jesus Christ anew into our hearts without adequate preparation.

Without our proper prepara-tion, other things will crowd Him and His mission out of our lives. If He is received with expect-ancy, He will abide and bless our home.

Too many of our lives plainly re-enact the scene that occurred when the Christ child was born. Then, there was no room in the inn; today there is no room in our hearts.

Are you and I in earnest about receiving Christ into our lives this year in the real spirit of Christmas? We still find the answer in the kind of prepara-tions we make during Advent.

PRAYER:

Our Father, we give Thee thanks for sending Christ into the world to reveal Thy nature unto us. May we receive Him in our hearts in a manner accept-able unto Thee, and pray as He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven... Amen."

Christ makes His abode in any life when He is made to feel wel-come.

Austin — Objections are being raised over the specially called session of the Texas Legislature, scheduled by Gov. Price Daniel for January 3.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson says he hopes the Governor will reconsider his call for the third special session.

Actually, the attorney general doesn't object to the session nearly as much as he does the selection of bank escheat legislation as the prime object. Wilson feels that loan shark legislation should be the first order of business.

Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo contends that the special session is unnecessary and will cause "undue expense" to the State.

Hardeman doesn't think that the session's purpose — which is escheat enforcement, maintenance of farm-to-market roads, and small loan legislation — will get acted upon in a 30-day session.

Rep. W. T. Oliver of Fort Neches claims the Governor called the special session strictly for "political reasons and publicity."

However, Governor Daniel has indicated that if his program isn't passed he will be running again in 1962.

TAXES NOT FOR TEACHERS

Teachers are not to blame for the 2 percent sales tax, as many claim, says the Texas State Teachers Association.

According to the teacher's organization a sales tax would have been necessary to meet other needs.

Only $140,000,000 out of the $380,000,000 to be raised in new revenue will go for teacher pay raises, says the Association. Of the remaining $220,000,000 a total of $70,000,000 will be used to retire the state deficit while $150,000,000 will finance services other than schools.

EDUCATION COMMITTEE NAMED

Speaker James A. Turman has appointed five legislators to a Special Interim Committee on Education to serve as a consulting group to the Legislative Council. They will make a study of state teacher certification.

Rep. Herman Yezak of Bremond heads the committee, which consists of H. O. Niemeyer of Knippa, Miss Maud Isaacks of El Paso, Pete Snelson of Midland and Vidal M. Trevino of Laredo.

TEXTBOOK PICKING LENGTHY PROCESS

Texas Education Agency says school boards must select local textbook committees by December 15.

Samples of selected texts are mailed to the committees about January 1, and they must ready their reports for local boards by March 1.

This step in state textbook selection is one of the quickest in a process that begins every May and ends sixteen months later.

By the time a local committee is selected, publishers have submitted bids and books to the Commissioner of Education; the texts have been studied by the 15-member State Textbook Committee's recommended list.

Approximately 11,000 school teachers will assist the local committees in picking school books to be published in time for pupil consumption next fall.

FARM ROADS IN SIGHT?

Texas' $18,000,000 Farm-to-Market road fund, vetoed by Governor Daniel earlier in the year, may be freed for construction spending during the special session.

Restrictions which would prevent proper maintenance caused the veto.

Now it appears that the Governor and the State Highway Commission have worked out a road program compromise with organized interests.

UNDERWATER LAND SALE QUESTIONED

Attorney General Will Wilson has asked the Navigation District at Rockport to postpone sale of 127 acres of submerged land "until the Attorney General and the Land Office can check out certain facts which raise questions as to the legality of the sale."

It's possible that the Navigation District acquired some of the land from the state for $1 per acre. It now proposes to sell this land to Carl Krueger & Associates of San Antonio for $67,000.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Houghton Brownlee says there's a question as to whether land purchased at a nominal sum for public purposes can be resold for private development.

SHORT SNORTS

Associate Justice Jake Tirey of the 10th Court of Civil Appeals in Waco has filed with the Secretary of State for re-election. District includes Bosque, Brazos, Coryell, Ellis, Falls, Freestone, Hamilton, Hill, Johnson, Leon, Limestone, Madison, Navarro, Robertson and Somervell counties.

W. D. (Bill) Noel of Odessa has been reappointed by Governor Daniel to membership on the Liquor Control Board.

Appointed by Governor Daniel to the Surveyors Board were Clifford Cool of Midland and Perry Thompson of Longview.

U. S. Army Engineers estimate an initial cost of $33,000,000 for hurricane protection in the Port Arthur Area. This would include raising and enlarging about 17.2

miles of existing levees and floodwalls; construction of 18.7 miles of new levee work to protect about 37,000 acres of land; and separate ring levees for industrial areas south of Taylor's Bayou.

FHA NEWS

The Santa Anna Chapter of Future Homemakers of America held their regular meeting Tuesday, Dec. 5, in the Grade School Auditorium. Vice President Jo Ann Wallace was in charge of the meeting and the program.

Minutes were read and approved. Project chairman, Donna Walker, gave a report on projects for the coming months.

The chapter honored senior citizens during the meeting. Mrs. Doc Wallace was honored for having the most children, 8; Mrs. T. A. Blount and Mrs. Tinnie Campbell were honored for being married the longest, 56 years. Miss Wallace read a poem entitled, "Life Begins at Sixty."

A duet of Sandra Hartman and Arlene Welch sang three Christmas songs, "Winter Wonderland," "Silver Bells" and "White Christmas." They also led the group in singing Christmas Carols.

Cheryl Fitzpatrick gave a talk on Christmas Customs around the World. Earla Buse read the Christmas Story from the Bible.

Refreshments were served by the following hostesses: Carolyn Carpenter, Dianne Copeland, Louise Cooper, Mary Broadway, Barbara Baucom, Jo Ann Wallace and Annetta Blount. The centerpiece was several poinsettias surrounded by small cedar twigs and holly with two red candles in the center.

A large group of parents, senior citizens and members were present. The program was enjoyed by all.
