Help Chart Education By Attending Meeting Thursday

Raising Expectations to Meet Real-World Needs will hold a meeting locally at the Santa Anna Schools cafeteria on tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m.

Raising Expectations to Meet Real-World Needs is a citizen participation effort to determine the essential skills and knowledge needed by all Texas high school graduates. This is a project of the Texas Education Agency in coordination with the Governor's Office.

The information obtained from the hundreds of regional and local discussions on this topic will be used to refine and enhance the essential elements of the state curriculum, first developed in the early 1980's; and to ensure that high school graduates are prepared to succeed in the real world of the 21st century.

The purposes of the initiative are to make the public and educators aware of global changes that have implications for learners; give the public the opportunity to discuss the implications of these global changes for students; and align curriculum and student assessment to focus on what students need to know and skills needed to succeed in a changing world.

Information from the Real-World Forums will be summarized at the regional and state levels and presented to the State Panel on Student Skills and Knowledge. The State Panel is comprised of 76 people appointed by Commissioner of Education Lionel R. Meno. The panel's purpose is to guide the process along with the Committee on Student Learning and State Board of Education.

After all information has been received, a review of the current state curriculum will be conducted for the extent to which it meets the public's recommendations regarding real-world skills; curriculum refinement will be undertaken beginning by 1995, followed by alignment of the student assessment program with the identified essential skills and knowledge.

REMEMBER you can make a difference in the education of your child. Attend the meeting Thursday.

to the council.

Following last Wednesday's meeting the City's attorney, Sam Allen, stated that the council would not take any action until certain legalities were attended to.

Mayor Brock, in a later television interview, also said the council would act "with due process."

Mr. Warnock said he had several months ago reported unpleasant visits by Thompson to the council and to Chief of Police Carlos Torres.

He did not care to make further comments at this time except to say that the media blitz brought into play has certainly not told the whole story. He added, "Most thinking people realize there are always two sides to every story."

The Council met in regular session Tuesday of this week, but the matter was not brought into discussion.

A called meeting is to be held Thursday night.

SAHS Football Sweetheart and Beaus

Rob Cheaney Tops Frenzy, Splits Grand Prize With Findley

Rob Cheaney has been declared the winner of the final Football Frenzy contest for this year by edging out Jean Findley in the tiebreaker. Both had 17 correct choices for the contest games but Rob came closer to the total score of the Santa Anna-Mehard game. His guess was 44 total points while Jean's was 54 total points scored in the game. They also picked the same winners clear down the slate of games.

No only did the two tie in the game count for last week's contest they also tied for the grand prize, each having won the contest two separate times. So they will have to split the $25 prize for the player winning the most times during the season.

We have enjoyed bringing you the contest and our players seem to have had fun with it. We hope you will tell our advertisers you appreciate their helping sponsor the contest again this year.

Game results for the final week of contest are as follows:

- Carson Newman 40-HPU 7
- McMurry 34-Austin College 31
- Texas Tech 49-TCU 21
- Rice 31-SMU 24
- Air Force 29-Army 6
- Tennessee 45-Kentucky 10
- Eden 55-Miles 12
- Menard 30-Santa Anna 8
- Water Valley 14-Irion County 7
- Goldthwaite 21-Bangs 0
- Brownwood 55-Granbury 21
- Clyde 44-Early 0
- Coleman 59-Merkel 21
- Zephyr 49-Blanket 0
- Dallas 31-New York Giants 9
- Houston 24-Seattle 14
- Denver 29-Cleveland 16
- Buffalo 13-New England 10

There was no game between Tulane and LSU, so it was deleted from the list.

The other councilman who walked out, Karen Morris, handed in her written resignation last Thursday according to reports.

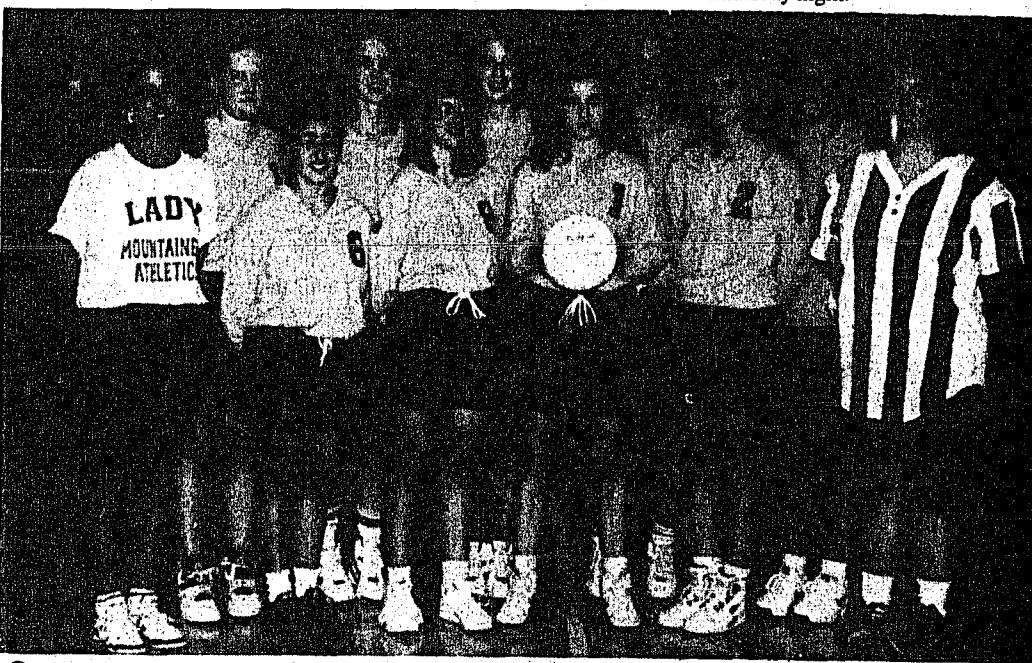

The meeting focused on an incident that is reported to have taken place at the City's warehouse

Oct. 26. Leland Thompson has accused Superintendent of Operations Derriell Warnock of hitting him because he complained of a pothole in the street near his home. Mr. Thompson has not made an appearance before City Council regarding the incident. His daughter, Sherry Torres, brought the matter

Thoughts From Our Pastors

David Tidd First United Methodist Church

When I was a youngster I wasn't very good at athletics. I don't have the eye hand coordination for baseball or other such games. Consequently I found myself being one of the last to be chosen for a team when the neighborhood gang gathered to play a game of softball. I was far from the most popular kid in school and I could count my real friends on the fingers of one hand with fingers to spare. In seventh grade I went out for JV football. Like every other boy that played, I wanted to make the all star team but not in my wildest imagination did I ever believe I would. I still have almost total recall of the day they announced the all star team. I just knew I wouldn't make it. All my past experience had clearly demonstrated that fact and there was no reason to believe it would be any different today. I tried real hard to convince myself that it didn't matter. I hardly listen to the names because I knew who they would be. There would be Hayback, Digellio, Scholes and a host of other "winners" that made all the teams. When I heard my name you could have knocked me over with a feather as they say. I could not believe it. Me, the guy that never got chosen for anything made the ALL STAR team. That feeling of being "somebody" being "special" of being "chosen" is probably the greatest feeling in the world.

There is a parable in the Bible about a land owner who went to the market place one morning to hire workers. A little later he went back because he needed more men and hired some more. This happened three more times until at 5 o'clock he made one last trip to the market place and still found men looking for work. While this parable seems to many concerned with the fact that he paid all his workers the same no matter how long they had worked there is another side you might consider.

Why weren't those men who were hired at 5:00 there to be hired that morning. Could it be that they were so used to not being chosen that they didn't bother to even try anymore? How do you suppose they felt when they were chosen. I suspect that it was quit similar to the way I felt back in seventh grade when I was chosen.

Despite our pretense otherwise, most of us harbor some feeling of inadequacy. The idea that we are not quit as good as other people. What we fail to realize is that a person's worth isn't the sum total of their talents, looks, intelligence and charisma. A person's worth is derived from being a child of God. God has created, chosen, and loves each and everyone one of us. If you doubt that, I invite you to find a church home where you can experience the love God first hand and know that you are special, chosen, and loved.

May God bless each of you now and in all the coming days.

Christopher Lynn Wheatley has joined the happy home of Danny and Deborah Wheatley on Nov. 4, 1993 at 12:01 p.m. weighing 5 lbs. 7 oz.

New Vehicle Registration Stickers To Reduce Theft

The Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) is issuing a new vehicle registration sticker for placement inside windshields instead of outside on license plates. The program begins with registrations expiring January 1994.

The sticker is larger and of a different design. Its main purpose is to deter theft—bringing up another important feature.

If the sticker is peeled off the windshield, the word "VOID" appears on it, making it a useless scrap of paper. It's not even worth stealing.

In 1992, 568,885 replacement license plates and stickers were issued. TxDOT estimates that 60 percent of replacement stickers issued were due to theft. At $5.30 per replacement, replacing the stickers costs the public $1.8 million and a lot of time and aggravation.

The 72nd Texas Legislature passed a law in 1991 mandating the sticker damage to lower vehicle registration theft.

Are You Thinking About Fall Fashions?

By: Carol Katzer, CBA-H.E.

Velvet is the single most important fashion of the season, notes The Soap and Detergent Association. In plain, crushed, panne, cut or tie-dyed interpretations, it adds romance for day and evening. Velvet jackets, stretch velvet jumpers, velvet lapels pair up with the season's full spectrum of fabrics, including gabardines, crepes, georgettes, denims, tweeds, brocades and chiffons. Minimal, monastic clothes bring the Middle Ages to modern times. Simplistic styling, longer hemlines and purity of detail are the antithesis of the opulence of the previous decade. Body-clinging empire style and cascade-like dresses are favorites. Colors are subdued. Black and grey take prominence, with steel blue, navy, eggplant and treebark brown in supporting roles. Accessories are restricted to the bare essentials; buttons blend in, jewelry is limited to crosses and other, usually oversized, religious icons. For serious outerwear, fashion favors the long great-coat. It adds a sweeping military presence that recalls the regal past of the Czars.

The pristine white shirt is everywhere, with everything from serious suits to flamboyant frock coats inspired by the Edwardian age. French cuffs, elongated shirttails (fully visible beneath the jacket's hem) ascots, poet collars, extravagant neck bows and tuxedo fronts pay homage to Keats, Shelley, Lord Byron and Beau Brummel.

Fashion chronicles the Heidi look with a wide range of interpretations inspired by Austria and the Swiss Alps. Dirndl skirts, boiled wool jackets, peasant-style embroidered blouses, vests-cross lacings and corselet yokes are being worn en masse to create a theatrical effect. Bits and pieces, including leggings, thick sweaters with Alpine touches, laden jackets and pants with suspenders, will blend into a classic wardrobe.

This information is provided by the Soap and Detergent Association.

Community Fellowship Club Meets

The Community Fellowship Club met on Sunday in the home of Mrs. Ruby Edwards. Roanna Barton, president, opened the meeting with the song "I'm On the Battlefield." Scripture was read by Mrs. Byrd from St. Luke 18-verse 1-6. Prayer followed by Mary Trimble.

Mrs. Barton then talked about the sermons from former Sundays. Each member then talked on the goodness of god.

A report was given showing Tommy McCloud from Santa Anna has been ill and in the hospital in Abilene.

The group then sang "I Woke Up This Morning With My Mind On Jesus".

Recognizing Those Who Have Helped Shape Local History

Lucile Baker Smith

Lucile Baker Smith is one of those multi-talented people who keeps busy and the retired school teacher stays very much interested in the world around her.

She was born in Bastrop County near Smithville, March 18, 1900. Her family moved to Brown County before she was a year old. A twin sister died not long after their arrival in this part of Texas. The family settled on some land her father had inherited from his father who was given the land by the government for service in the Spanish-American War.

Lucile attended a one-room school near Grosvenor and finished high school at Brownwood.

She attended Daniel Baker College a year and obtained her teaching certificate. With money coming in from her teaching jobs she was able to pay for further education and later received a degree from Howard Payne College. In those early years she taught first at Thrifty, which she recalled was a large community at that time, "even larger than Brownwood," and at Panther Creek, a school that was located between Brownwood and Grosvenor.

In 1921 she married Pierce Baker who had just returned from serving in World War II. He managed a cotton gin at Santa Anna and later returned to teaching. He had taught at Buffalo School before entering the military. After their marriage the couple taught at Clear Creek, between Santa Anna and Bangs, before returning to Buffalo School where Lucile says her husband was instrumental in negotiating consolidations that brought the school from a two teacher school to one of the largest schools in the area.

They later taught at Valera where they helped in the consolidation of schools in 1936 into what became Centennial, named for the Texas Centennial. The name was chosen following a suggestion from Mr. Baker.

The couple built a home on a farm they owned in the Plainview community. Mr. Baker died in 1950 and Lucile continued the farming operation through the "7-year drought". She retired from teaching after the Plainview School consolidated with Santa Anna. She recalled her last year in that one-teacher school it was a "little boy's school." Her only students were seven little boys who seemed to be happy with the fact there were no girls around.

She later married Dale Smith who was a retired oil operator. The couple moved into Santa Anna in 1971 when they purchased the former home of Dr. Charles Henner. Mr. Smith passed away in 1974.

Always active in the Methodist Church, Lucile has served in many areas of the Santa Anna Methodist Church including being president of the WSCS, an organization she was a leader in from 1959 through the 1980's.

Mrs. Smith is an accomplished artist, a talent she began developing in her early teens. On the walls of her home are many watercolor and oil paintings that could put many artists in the shade. She also crochets. Her prize crochet project is a "water lily" bedspread which would be a treasure in the finest home anywhere.

Lucile is proud to say she taught the likes of Dr. J.B. Stephens of Bangs, Charles Matthews who became quite well known as an educator and others who also were well known in the field of education. She says she can also count several county judges among her former students.

Library Notes

Check It Out

By Alice Anna Spillman

If you enjoy good magazines, but can't buy them all, check the rack at the library. Usually there is the last two months of Sierra, U. S. News, Family Circle, Southern Living, Good Housekeeping, Popular Science, Youth 93, Boy's Life, Jack and Jill, and Reader's Digest. Lately, Mother Earth News and Texas Gardening have shown up. A big print copy of Guideposts has come in. Don't forget that a large number of the books on loan from Abilene are in large print.

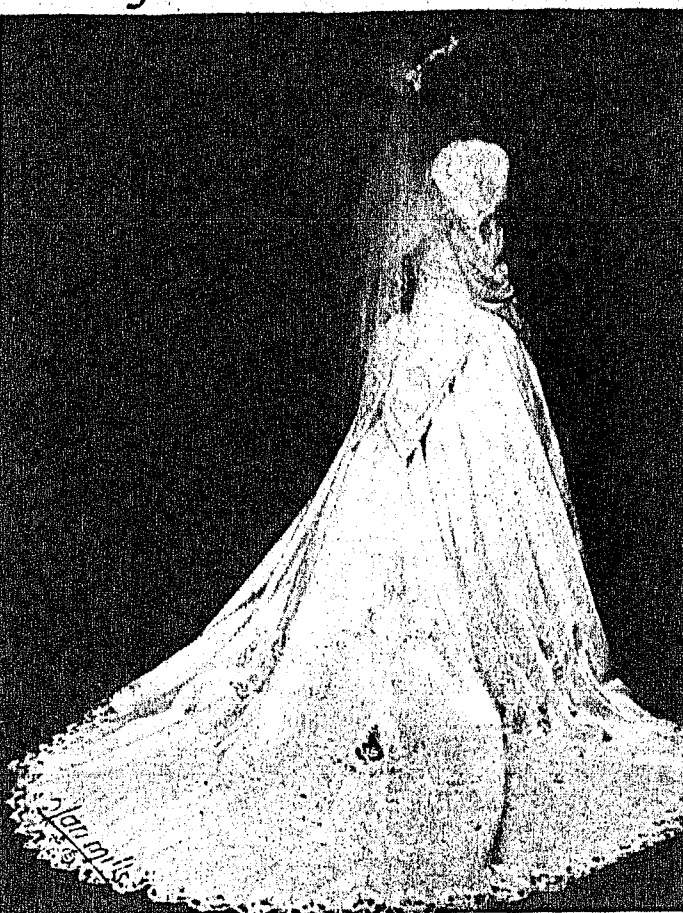

Mr. Robert Barstow dropped by to bring the address and phone number of the Texas State Library. He has been enjoying the books and magazines on tape so much and wants others to have the opportunity. This service is for anyone who has eyesight or physical problems that make it difficult to use regular library services. If you qualify, a free tape recorder will be sent and the tape service is free. Call or come by if you want more information.

Mrs. Gene McSwain brought some new paperbacks this week and Neil Myers slipped a few into the shelves. The Pilgrim Couple who are now on the table are most unusual. I think the grey color in their clothes makes the difference. Do you agree?

Time-Life produces excellent educational materials. This week they sent a book from a series called "Voices of Triumph". The volume called "Perseverance" is a history of African Americans. The pictures are outstanding, the information is good with lots of unpublished facts and it is enjoyable reading. In addition there is a suggested program to be used with children. This book is free and Time-Life promises two other volumes of the series. Very seldom does a company give free educational materials of this quality.

Each day the mailbox is full of catalogues of new books. All are expensive and we have no funds to buy. If anyone would like to purchase a book for the library, come look at these catalogues.

The mother of the bride wore a dusty rose chiffon dress with sequin top. The mother of the groom wore a teal chiffon dress with sequin top.

A reception was held at the church for all attending. The cake was three-tiered, decorated with a trail of dusty rose roses circling the cake. The groom's cake was chocolate decorated with almonds.

The couple spent their honeymoon at a resort in the mountains of Colorado. They are now making their home in Plano.

A DISPATCH FROM THE UNIVERSITY WORLD

The University Of Texas System
NEWS
 By Jack Maguire

How Safe Are Our College Campuses From Crime?

Scary headlines to the contrary, violent crime is still a stranger to the campuses of Texas colleges and universities.

Murders, rapes, robberies, assaults, burglaries and auto thefts do occur as they would in a population of about one million—the total enrollment at the state's 189 public and private universities, colleges and institutes.

Nevertheless a sampling by the Dallas Morning News of the violent crimes at 19 of these schools chosen at random shows that the campus is a far safer place than the cities in which most Texans live.

Take murder. In 1991, there were 15.3 homicides in Texas for each 100,000 residents (Houston, San Antonio, Dallas and other large cities tripled that). However, on the 19 campuses studied where the enrollment totaled almost 275,000, there was not a single murder during the year.

Similar statistics apply to rape. In Texas, FBI Uniform Crime Reports show that there are 53 rapes each year per 100,000 population. However, of the 19 colleges and universities, only six of the schools recorded this crime during the year. The University of Texas at Austin, with more than 50,000 students, reported five rapes—less than half the number expected in a population of that size.

Other violent crimes like assault and burglary also were either nonexistent on Texas campuses or else far below the average for the general population.

Although violent crimes always make the headlines, they are still rare. Latest figures show that the average U. S. college or university has only three violent assaults in 12 months and eight incidents of hate crime or violence growing out of hazing.

Law enforcement experts are not surprised that the leading crime on almost every Texas campus is that of auto theft. Of the 19 schools sampled, only two—U.T. Dallas at Richardson and El Centro College in Big D—reported no cars stolen. Of the 171 cars taken on other campuses, 51 were taken at UT Austin.

However, it is to Austin—with the state's largest enrollment—that many schools turn for help in fighting crime. It is the headquarters of The University of Texas System Police Academy—rated among the nation's best in training law enforcement officers. Even the Texas Department of Public Safety often sends its personnel there for training.

It's not easy to get into, either. Most applicants must have two years of college credit, although some can be accepted without having attended college if they have had a minimum of two years experience as an unarmed guard. All have to take a tough pre-entry test, undergo a rigid background investigation and appear before an oral review board. Both men and women can be enrolled.

During training, cadets take an examination each week. If they fail two, they're allowed to take a makeup test. Three failures means expulsion from the academy.

Training includes rigorous physical exercise, too. But when it's concluded, they know how to handle confrontations such as demonstrations on campus, crowd control, stopping and frisking a suspect, the use of batons and firearms, and other police procedures.

However, they also are taught to be courteous and service-oriented.

"We try to gear our training towards more interaction between the police and the university community," says Inspector John Slettebo, one of the academy coordinators.

After 16 weeks of daily classes from 8 to 5, those who pass receive a basic peace officer license. Graduates are qualified to become one of more than 400 guards at one of the UT System's components and start a career that could lead to a commission as one of the System's more than 250 officers.

UT-trained police can be found on campuses throughout the state. The current class includes cadets from Baylor University Medical Center, Rice and Southern Methodist University.

The ivory tower is not an armed camp, but its goal is to keep its students, faculty and staff safe at a time when crime is growing at unprecedented rates.

Stenholm Seeking Applicants For Service Academies

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Congressman Charles W. Stenholm has announced that he is currently seeking applicants for nomination to the United States Service Academies. Applications for nomination to the U. S. Military Academy in West Point, New York, the U. S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colorado, the U. S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland and the United States Merchant Marine Academy in Kings Point, New York may be obtained by writing to Congressman Stenholm's San Angelo office.

Nominations are available to young men and women who will be at least 17 years of age, and not past their 22nd birthday, upon entry into the academy in July. Nominees are selected by a competitive process, judged on scholastic aptitude, moral character, leadership ability and community involvement.

The academics offer a four-year degree in a variety of areas ranging from Civil Engineering and Physics, to American Studies and Behavioral Science. While attending the academies, cadets and midshipmen will earn an annual salary from which expenses for books, uniforms and incidentals are taken. Tuition, room, board, medical and dental expenses are paid for by the academies. Upon graduation from the academies, the cadets and midshipmen will serve as officers in the service for a minimum of six years.

Any person who may be interested in applying for a nomination, or who would like to obtain additional information, should write to Congressman Charles W. Stenholm, 33 East Whohig #318, San Angelo, Texas 76903. Applications must be submitted, and files completed, no later than December, 1993. Nominations will be made toward the end of December.

Appraisal Board

other being Dwight Nanny, Jack Knox, Max Horne and D. G. Allen. Also present was Chief Appraiser Bill Jones.
The session was the last for retiring members, Nanny, Horne and Knox. Nanny has served several years as vice chairman and Knox is secretary of the group. Kingsbery, representing Santa Anna ISD, and Allen of Novice are among the seven nominees on the ballot from which five directors will be chosen. Others on the ballot are Roy Gardner, City of Coleman; Joe Pat Hemphill and Harold Skelton, Coleman ISD; Billy Don McCrary, Coleman County; and Charles Yarborough, Panther Creek ISD. Ballots have been mailed to the taxing entities with results to be announced later this month.
Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and bill and accounts were approved for payment. Mr. Jones reviewed the status of the budget which indicates an excess of approximately $10,000 will remain at the end of the fiscal year.
Hundreds of Coleman County property owners took advantage of the early payment discount, with one-third of the total 1993 taxes paid to date. Collections of 1992 taxes during the months of September and October were also ahead of the previous year's total. Since tax statements were delayed in being distributed, the deadline for discounts was extended past the usual October 31 deadline.
Members of the Board approved a policy regarding the employee retirement plan as required by the IRS. No changes were made in the retirement plan itself.
No meeting will be held in December, with the next session set on Monday, Jan. 10, 1994 at 5 p.m. at the District office in downtown Coleman.
Meetings of the Appraisal Board are open to the public, visitors are welcome to attend.

What Is It About Fall?

By: Thomas Wayne Horton
What is it about the fall of the year that causes us to reflect on things of the past? To remember days gone by? To reminisce?
Could it be that the "Dog Days of Summer" have just past, that now we can see a time when we can be less active, take life more leisurely?
Could it be because school has started again, that a "new year" is beginning for those of us who have children or grandchildren, that vacations are over and a time of reflection on those good times is at hand?
It is a time that we look forward to football, not only locally but nationally now that the medium of television brings those games into our homes so vividly?
It is because family times of the approaching holidays, Thanksgiving and Christmas is just ahead of us and we remember the great times of past holidays, when there were those of our loved ones, now gone, present and impressing on our memories their love and care? These times are great times for remembering our childhood, when life was less hectic, more carefree, more enjoyable. It seems that more people were more caring, more respectfully of each other, more interested in being a good neighbor, a good friend. I miss those times.
Is Fall of the year the time that we feel that another year is fast running out and we have not accomplished what we planned? Is it that we realize this and we are beginning to plan for next year and our desire to do better, by ourselves and more importantly by others?
Could this be what motivates us to reflect on times past?
I really do not know what causes this in Fall, but I am glad of memories, good memories, not so good memories, memories that cause me to want to do better, to be a better husband, a better father, a better grandfather, a better neighbor and just a better human being. I trust that by reflecting on the past it will enable each of us to plan more positively for the future and somehow receive the strength to carry out our plans.
Have a great time in your memories.

WTU Suggests Yearly Checkup For Winter

Summer heat is finally fading, but it's not too early to think about staying warm this winter. West Texas Utilities Company suggest a yearly checkup to get you ready for the chilly months ahead. Just a few home repairs can keep you comfortable all winter and keep your home at peak energy efficiency. The best time for your home checkup is right now—every month you delay, your energy costs will be unnecessarily higher.
Here are the basic steps for a do-it-yourself home energy inspection:
*Check the caulking around doors, windows, and other parts of the house. Letting air leak through small cracks and holes in a home's exterior is a major reason for heat loss in winter. Don't think those tiny cracks and holes are no big deal. If you added together the area of all these small openings on a typical older home, you'd have a hole at least five feet by five feet.
*Check weather stripping along sides and bottoms of doors. A 1/16-inch wide crack around a door is the same as a 4x4 inch hole, as far as your heating is concerned, make sure storm windows and storm doors still fit tight, too. Replace cracked or broken window panes.
*Inspect your attic. Heat rising through the ceiling into the attic is a major source of heat loss. If your attic insulation measures six inches or less, you probably need to add more. Talk to an insulation contractor to learn the type and amount you need. Look for leaks in the roof. Wet insulation is less effective and the moisture can damage your home's structure. One place you don't want covered with insulation are eaves vents; the attic needs insulation to prevent unwanted moisture.
*Check the duct insulation to see that all tears and separations are
