

Military Government Set Up For Rumania

Iron Guards Are Ousted By Premier

Antonescu Gets Men Who Will Back Him In Purge

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 27 (AP)—Premier General Ion Antonescu today eliminated all Iron Guards from his cabinet and organized a strong new military government.

In forming the new government, Antonescu surrounded himself with generals who helped quell the abortive iron guard revolution last week and who he knew would uphold him without question in his attempt to purge the country of rebellious elements.

Outside Antonescu's office as the government was being reshaped, in the battle-scarred public square where revolts flared last week, a solemn funeral was given for 17 army men who fell in the fighting.

Antonescu will continue in the dual capacity of premier and foreign minister.

General Dimitri Popescu, appointed last week as minister of interior, replacing General George Petrovicescu, an iron guardist who is now reported either dead or arrested—remains in that post when the guard came to power.

Iron guard rule began last Sept. 5 when former King Carol relinquished all power to Gen. Antonescu and fled into exile. The revolt of the Nazi-like, green-shirted guard, in which an unsuccessful attempt was made on the life of Carol, came a week after the Nazi arbitration dismembered Rumania, giving the southern Dobruja to Bulgaria and northern Transylvania to Hungary.

While thousands stood bareheaded for the mass funeral, a blizzard swirled in the square surrounded by public buildings which the army had held against the rebels and by strongholds of the guard showing the scars of artillery shells and machine-gun bullets.

Cannon in the distance boomed a salute.

Under cover of the storm, alleged iron guard terrorists came out of hiding and were being picked up one by one by bayonet-armed soldiers. Some of the fugitives had been in dark alleys, basements and unfinished buildings for days before hunger and cold drove them out.

Naval Fund Is Approved

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The senate naval committee approved unanimously today a $100,000,000 program for expanding naval shipbuilding and ordnance facilities, modernizing the fleet's anti-aircraft defense and constructing 400 small vessels.

The committee acted on the house-approved legislation after hearing testimony that lessons learned from the European war had shown the work was necessary.

Most of the new vessels are expected to be built this year.

Pension Chiefs Called To Answer Charges On Investigations

AUSTIN, Jan. 27 (AP)—The senate today invited old age assistance officials to appear before the upper chamber Feb. 4 and answer allegations that applicants for assistance had been denied investigations required by law.

By voice vote senators adopted a resolution asking the executive director of the public welfare department and the three members of the public welfare board to state what policy they have been following with respect to allegations applicants were denied application forms on grounds:

"They had relatives capable of supporting them.

No more applications were being received.

No money was available to pay additional enrollees.

The resolution was offered by Senators Joe Hill of Henderson, Karl Lovelady of Meridian and Clem Fain of Livingston.

Hill asserted the resolution spoke for itself.

The resolution set out that allegations, if true, amounted to a violation of law since statutes say the welfare department is not authorized to deny the aged the right of assistance without an investigation to determine eligibility.

The effect of refusal to accept applications, if they have been refused, it continued, was to deny aged persons the right to have eligibility determined in a legal way.

It asked the officials to appear before the senate committee sitting as a committee of the whole and state the truth or falsity of the allegations so that the legislature can determine whether it is desirable to further amend the old age assistance law.

The officials also would be asked any question "pertinent to the administration of the welfare board."

An investigation similar to the one ordered by the senate is contemplated in a proposed house resolution which as yet has not been introduced.

Man Wounded By Sentry At Army Reservation

Hull Is Heard Privately By Committee

State Chief Has Information Not For Others' Ears

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The senate foreign relations committee decided to hear Secretary Hull behind closed doors today after the state department head had asked permission to present some information privately.

The soft-spoken Hull, appearing as the first witness in the committee's study of the lease-lend bill, told the group that there was some information which might bear on the bill "but which should not be made known to every other nation."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Secretary Hull told the senate foreign relations committee today, an informed source said, that American aid had been "largely responsible" for Great Britain's ability to resist a German invasion in the last seven months.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) said the committee would resume open hearings at 1 p. m. (CST) today.

The house committee also met in executive session today in an effort to conclude its study of the legislation after two weeks of hearings.

It first heard confidential testimony from Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, and was scheduled to hear Gen. George C. Marshall, the army's chief of staff, later in the day.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), a member of the senate committee, told reporters there was no intention on the part of opposition senators to delay the lease-lend legislation.

He said he believed two weeks of hearings should be "quite ample," even though the bill's backers declared they would be "doing well" if testimony ended in that time.

Coincident with this, Senators Wheeler (D-Mont.) and Nye (R-N.D.) announced they were ready to introduce a resolution requesting President Roosevelt to call on "all belligerent nations to proclaim publicly their respective war aims and peace conditions and any and all secret treaties for disposition of territorial spoils."

The resolution was considered a move in the opposition campaign against the present lease-lend legislation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt cancelled several engagements today and went to bed to nurse a cold.

14,000-Pound Load Limit Requested

AUSTIN, Jan. 27 (AP)—Doubling of the motor truck load limit was submitted to the legislature as an emergency matter today by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel.

The governor, asserting in a message sent to the lawmakers that the present restriction of loads to 7,000 pounds or less worked "serious hardships daily," urged quick action to boost the maximum to 14,000 pounds.

He said that bills eliminating the load limit entirely and substituting truck size restrictions based on a scientific formula had good points but should be sidetracked temporarily in favor of the 14,000 pound bill so that long debate might be avoided.

"There is not a mile of highway in Texas now," O'Daniel told the lawmakers, "on which it is illegal to haul a load of 14,000 pounds. The violation of the law occurs when the 14,000 pound load passes a railroad station. If that is not a silly law and a rank discrimination against every farmer and rancher, and other persons who want to haul their products by trucks, and if it is not class legislation of the worst type, I do not know what you would call it."

O'Daniel's submission of the subject as an emergency will enable the senate to start committee work on it this week if it desires.

Wilkie, Churchill Have Long Talk

LONDON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Wendell L. Wilkie delivered President Roosevelt's message to Prime Minister Churchill at luncheon today and disclosed that he intended to talk with Prime Minister Eamon De Valera during a visit to neutral Eire.

Although he had planned to spend but an hour with Churchill, Wilkie and the prime minister became so engrossed in their conversation that the luncheon lasted two hours.

As Wilkie left, Churchill followed him to his automobile despite rain to say good-bye and the two posed on the sidewalk shaking hands.

"He was very gracious," said Wilkie. "I knew he was a great man. I know it now even more."

The American lunched with Churchill after spending an hour at the foreign ministry with Foreign Minister Anthony Eden.

He informed 200 British newspaper men earlier that he hoped to stay in England about two weeks, viewing wartime conditions.

The exuberant Wilkie, who arrived in London yesterday after a flying trip from the United States, pointed out again that he was in England as an individual and not in a governmental capacity, quipping:

Preparing For An Assault On Port Of Derna

RAF Leads Way With Attacks On Italian Concentrations

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 27 (AP)—British imperial forces, smashing by land and air at Italy's African empire on fronts 2,000 miles apart, have driven nearly 80 miles into Eritrea and are continuing Libyan preparations for an assault on the port of Derna, the middle east command announced today.

British headquarters announced also that 25,000 Italian prisoners had been seized in last week's capture of the Libyan port base of Tobruk and that 1,100 prisoners have been taken thus far in the invasion of Eritrea. These figures brought to 111,000 the number of Italian prisoners reported by the British since they launched their African offensive.

Pacing the land operations in the Derna area, the RAF announced raids on the landing ground there and at Barca, another Libyan base, where a number of fascist craft on the ground and buildings were reported hit.

Five Italian planes were reported downed, three of them near Mechlie, south of Derna, and two others which were attacking British troops advancing on Derna itself. A sixth Italian craft was said to have been destroyed on a landing field near Mechlie. One British plane was reported missing.

The British war bulletin reported also that the British forces were closing in on the important rail center of Agordat and on Barents, both in Eritrea, and that operations in the Derna area of Libya were developing "satisfactorily."

In addition to the prisoners captured at Tobruk, the communiques said 25 medium and 28 light tanks were seized. It added that the counting and sorting of guns captured there "is proceeding."

The Italians were reported to have abandoned Umm Hagar, in southern Eritrea near the juncture of the frontiers with the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan and Ethiopia. The British command added that its forces were closely pursuing the retreating fascists in this sector.

Agordat is 80 miles inside Eritrea from the Sudan border and is the railroad of a line to Assera, the Eritrean capital 70 miles farther east. Barents is 80 miles inside Eritrea and 26 miles southwest of Agordat.

Further down in Africa, today's war bulletin said operations were progressing in the Metemma area and further successes were reported by Ethiopian natives against Italians in their fascist-conquered kingdom.

British patrols operating in Italian Somaliland, opposite the Kenya border, have engaged in successful encounters "along the whole front," the British command asserted.

Senate Votes Navy Air Fund

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The senate passed unanimously and sent to the White House today legislation authorizing a $300,000,000 expenditure for modernizing the fleet's air defense.

The chamber acted within an hour after the senate naval committee had approved the legislation.

Witnesses at the hearing testified that increased protection against air attack had been shown to be necessary because of lessons learned from the European war.

C-C Launches Work For 4-H Calf Show

Authorization was granted Monday by chamber of commerce directors to the agricultural and livestock committee to proceed with plans for the fourth annual district club boy livestock show.

The show will be held in the county warehouse building and will be open to 4-H and FFA club boys in surrounding counties. It usually draws well over 100 baby beaves, lambs and pigs.

Directors also empowered the civic beautification committee to take steps to insure an adequate supply of trees for those who wish to beautify their premises.

R. R. McEwen reminded chamber officials that there would be a "going away" party at 9:15 a. m. Tuesday for members in Howard county's second selective service quota.

Kaiser Observes 82nd Birthday

DOORN, The Netherlands, Jan. 27 (AP)—The white-bearded Woodchopper of Doorn, World War Emperor Wilhelm II of Germany, observed his 82nd birthday quietly today, serenely content in his refuge to which he fled after abdicating more than 22 years ago.

His life in exile has been infected only slightly by the new war raging about him and intimates say he has no thought of leaving Doorn.

He himself is fond of saying: "Old trees cannot be transplanted."

Although he is hale and hearty, the ex-kaiser's birthday schedule probably was the most modest in his long, eventful life. His second wife, Hermine, who shares his exile, was with him but only three other near relatives were able to come from Germany for the event.

He takes a deep interest in the war, however, following the current campaigns in Africa and Albania with pins on large maps in his smoking room and keeping track of all shipping and naval losses on a list which has been described as the most complete in possession of any private citizen anywhere.

Italian Riot Story Denied

ROME, Jan. 27 (AP)—Authoritative fascists denied today foreign reports that there was rioting in northern Italian cities and that German soldiers had been sent into Italy to police the country.

They declared that members of the German air corps were the only German troops in Italy.

(Authoritative Germans in Berlin today also denied reports of disorders. They said German troops were cheered yesterday in Milan as they passed through en route to Southern Italy, but did not elaborate on what they meant by "troops.")

Authoritative Italians termed stories of the disorders "a ridiculous invention without the slightest basis."

26 Trainees To Leave Here Tomorrow

Twenty-six Howard county men will form ranks on the east side of the county courthouse lawn Tuesday morning at 9:15 to receive a Rotary-sponsored send-off ceremony before leaving for the Lubbock induction station and one year's military training under the selective service act.

In addition to the local draft board selectees, six men from Stanton and one from the Kerns county, California, board will be included in the group. R. R. McEwen, chairman of the program committee, announced today.

The high school band is scheduled to meet in front of the First National Bank at 9:10 a. m. and from there will escort the prospective trainees to the courthouse. James Brooks will be the principal speaker for the occasion and will be accompanied by members of the draft board. George White, chairman of the board, will probably give the group leaders their instructions and papers, McEwen said.

A request was made Monday by Dale Thompson, American Legion post adjutant, that all Legionnaires who can report for the draftees' send-off program Tuesday, wearing their organization caps.

"This is distinctly a Big Spring activity and not a Rotary one," McEwen pointed out. "We want to particularly emphasize the need for a good turnout in order that local people can see the type and caliber of men sent by Big Spring and we hope, in that way, to reduce the fear that some might have about the army," he added.

"These men are going into a pretty important thing and should be shown that they have the full support of their home town. We wish we could do more for them but by this one gesture we hope to express our gratitude for the work they are undertaking," McEwen said in explaining the object of the ceremony.

Athel Wayne Crocker, former city policeman who volunteered for one year's service, is leader of the group, and he will be assisted by Charlie Marion Heavel, volunteer from Forean. Of the twenty-six men selected by the local board, twenty-one are volunteers.

The complete list of Howard county selectees includes Crocker, Heavel, Santiago Abreo, Earl Deas Jenkins, Cecil Marvin Moore, Dewey Wilson Kerr, Jack Wayne Hangerford, Joseph Samuel Day, Willie Albert Sundry, Ricardo Rosales Marquez, Daniel Martin Bearden, Jr., Elmer Alonzo Buckalew, Calvin Burt Young, and Desmond Kermitt Armstrong.

Roy James Low, I. B. Low, Jack Julius McClanahan, Thurman Alfred Frewster, Merritt Lee Morrison, M. A. Deaton, Sidney James Moody, Leonard Vance Morgan, Charles Ross Everitt, William Walter Smith, T. L. Miller, and Phillip Convey Lussier.

In case one or more of the men in the first group may not be inducted at Lubbock, three selectees have been named as replacements. They are Crestino Torres Correa, Madison Earl Smith, and Vernon Wilson Langley.

'Forty Plus' Men Returning To Work

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—One of New York's most unusual organizations, whose principal aim is to get rid of its members and go out of existence, the Forty Plus club announced enthusiastically today that its membership had dwindled to a mere 70.

Devoted to the task of selling unemployed executives over 40 back to business, and to "combat and nullify the idea that business men over 40, with fine records of tried experience, are ready for the shaft," the club now is having a difficult time finding new members who meet its requirements.

The reason, says its new president, Alfred B. Wilson, is the

Now You Can Treat Yourself For DEAFNESS • HEAD NOISES • DRY EARS

Right in your Own Home With DR. SHRADER EAR PUMP

Now you can treat yourself for deafness, head noises, or dry ears right in your own home, with Dr. Shrader's Ear Pump. Dr. Shrader of Syracuse, Nebraska, was deaf in his left ear for 15 years, so he designed this rubber suction cup for his own use and in 3 months time, by daily treatments, could hear as good as ever, and his head noises were gone.

Just place the pump over your ear, then work in and out, the resulting suction action will exercise and massage the mechanism of the ear, causing vibration again, thus restoring or improving the hearing in many cases. Head noises disappear and natural oil or wax returns to a dry ear. Should also be used over nose for sinus trouble and to open Eustachian tubes from the throat.

Thousands of these ear pumps have been sold and the many letters from grateful users prove they are a God's blessing to defective hearing humanity. You owe it to yourself to investigate this wonderful invention, so come to Taking part were Joe Fielder, Sam Moreland, Marguerite Cooper, Josephine Mittel, Orine Hughes, Dixie Lee Dunham, Leslie Cathey, Luan Shannon. The play used the theme of how parents should not interfere with the church activities of their children, and the good influence of church young people's organizations.

Following the play the members of the cast and a few others met in the home of Mrs. A. W. Page and honored Joe Fielder on his birthday anniversary. Refreshments were served.

Italy's Position In Africa Critical, Russians Think

MOSCOW, Jan. 27 (AP)—Red Star, newspaper of the Soviet Russian army, said last night that Italy's position in Africa is critical and that it no longer is a question of the losses suffered by the Italian troops in Libya "but of the possibility of their further resistance at all."

"The appearance of the German air force in the Mediterranean," the soviet army paper declared, "of course limits somewhat the liberty to maneuver the British navy, but this cannot prevent fully its military action."

Italy's Position In Africa Critical, Russians Think

"The newspaper added that "the mighty German military technique" was not enough to permit invasion of England in 1940, and that invasion now would "demand colossal efforts by Germany" because "the English power of resistance has grown immeasurably."

Business With Mexico Is On An Increase

UVALDE, Jan. 27 (AP)—Predicting an increasingly heavy tourist traffic this year to Mexico from the United States, Harry P. Hornby of Uvalde, U. S. collector of customs for the Laredo-San Antonio district, reported today that there has been a decided increase in business with Mexico in recent months and tourist traffic is coming back rapidly.

Political changes in Mexico and the loss of the ports of Fort Worth and Corpus Christi from the 23rd customs district, however, helped to reduce the total volume of business for the six-month period ending Dec. 31, 1940, Hornby said. A creditable showing was made in the amount of business transacted as well as in the number of passengers entering the ports of the district for the period and he anticipates that totals for the next six months will make the annual receipts equal to those of the preceding fiscal year.

In the period July 1 to Dec. 31, a total of 1,729,077 passengers entered the ports of the district as compared with 2,183,966 for the corresponding period of 1939. Of this number, 795,451 were pedestrians while others entered by vessel and other vehicles. Laredo continued to hold its first place as the chief port of entry, 949,006 passengers having entered through that port, in comparison with 1,115,596 for the same period in 1939. Eagle Pass was second as a port of entry, with 277,342 passengers, and Brownsville was a close third with 277,145 passengers.

During the last half of 1940, collections in the district totaled $707,894.97 as compared with $1,037,499.05 for the corresponding period of the previous year.

BOSTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—This city's police believe in being not only efficient—but original.

In raiding a dice game, one of the policemen hit his pipe, blew into the keyhole of the gambling room. One of them cried "Fire," all of them rushed out the door into the arms of the raiders.

Two weeks ago, one of the raiding officers gained entrance into a gambling game by "meowing" outside the door like a cat.

Dying Educator Starts 'Pocket Money' Fund

EMPORIA, Kas. — Because a late member of the faculty felt sorry for the collegian who had a "date" but no money to finance it, there are less furrowed brows on the campus of Emporia State Teachers' College these days.

Dan L. Wilhelm, the instructor, when he learned he was dying a few weeks ago, requested that no flowers be sent to his funeral and that instead contributions be sent to the dean of men for the establishment of a small loan fund.

"If a boy has a date to a dance and is broke, he ought to be able to borrow money without interest or security," Wilhelm said. "If a boy is having trouble paying for a meal ticket, he should have help. The dean will know how to handle it."

Nueces River Dam Is Foreseen

LAREDO, Jan. 27 (AP)—A huge $8,000,000 storage dam above Cotulla on the Nueces river, long the objective of the Nueces river authority, is in good prospect of construction in the near future, F. W. Pulliam, Crystal City business man and recent supervisor of the fifteenth district census announced here.

Pulliam was enroute home from Corpus Christi, where the Nueces river authority had held a meeting with army engineers and naval authorities.

Because of the great naval expansion program at Corpus Christi and need of a water supply assured at all times, the construction of the dam would not only prove an auxiliary water supply for Corpus Christi, but would be the focal point for a wide irrigation area over the thirteen counties in the Nueces river authority, Pulliam said.

Mexico Farming Experiment Faces Operation Crisis

TORREON, Mexico, Jan. 27 (AP)—Newspapers reported a crisis today in Mexico's greatest socialist farm experiment—the collective operation of 273,000 expropriated acres undertaken by former President Lazaro Cardenas in 1938.

Affected was the Laguna cotton region, once one of Mexico's richest agricultural areas.

Marta Gomez, secretary of agriculture in the administration of President Manuel Avila Camacho, came here for an investigation in an effort to work out a solution.

Unofficial sources said his first recommendation would be immediate appropriation of 10,000,000 pesos (about $2,000,000) for work on a dam near here to give employment to distressed peasants, and to relieve eventually a major problem—a water shortage.

Press reports published here and in Mexico City said a dry season last year, a reduction in planted acreage, lower payments to peasants by the government farm credit bank, and difficult market conditions were responsible.

NATION'S ELECTRIC POWER SYSTEMS ARE PREPARED TO PUT VAST NETWORKS INTO U. S. DEFENSE PROGRAM

TOTAL ELECTRIC POWER FACILITIES GREATER THAN THOSE OF ENGLAND, GERMANY, ITALY COMBINED—POWER INDUSTRY IMPORTANT IN DEFENSE PROGRAM

The supply of electricity to industry to meet the demands of defense productions is a big job. Yet the expansion and integration of the nation's electricity supply systems in the past 40 years, qualifies the electric power industry of America to handle this job.

Today sees America's power companies ready and well prepared for the defense industry job ahead.

ADEQUATE RESERVES OF ELECTRIC POWER AVAILABLE

Utility power generating capacity of all kinds in the United States at the end of 1939 was 40,318,000 kilowatts. Plans already under way provide for adding 4,264,000 kilowatts by the end of 1941 and 1,538,100 kilowatts in 1942. When these installations are complete the nation will have the use of more than 45,000,000 kilowatts of generating capacity. At present, the nation already has available greater capacity and power facilities than those of England, Germany and Italy combined.

Not only is power assured for the defense emergency by an adequate margin of reserve generating capacity, but it is further guaranteed by widespread interconnection and integration of electricity supply systems by means of high voltage transmission lines.

There are more than 82,000 miles of high voltage transmission lines of 60,000 volts and over, reaching every important load center in the country.

These transmission lines of the various electric power companies are interconnected and largely grouped in integrated systems. Interconnection and integration of the privately owned systems is nothing new—it has been going on for 40 years and has made America great in electric power.

Integration and interconnection of electric power systems is an economic evolution which began when long distance transmission of electricity first became practical. Today the nation has available what virtually amounts to a nation-wide grid, invaluable for war defense. And major credit for its development goes to America's electric power companies who for 40 years have worked and planned ahead.

ARMIES OF SKILLED WORKERS AVAILABLE

No less important than the thousands of miles of interconnecting high voltage lines and large generating stations are the 275,000 employees of the light and power companies of the nation. These people are trained and experienced in their work, competent to handle their parts in supplying electric represent an investment in excess of our 14 billion dollar appropriation for defense. Very little, if any, of the nation's defense money need be spent for building additional power plants or power lines.

AMERICA'S POWER COMPANIES ALREADY PREPARED

The fact that electric power in adequate quantity for defense purposes is available practically throughout the nation is because through the years America's electric power companies have built ahead and always in excess of the nation's power needs. These generating plants and great high-tension transmission systems today stand ready to bring electric power to practically any place in the nation.

The electric power companies who have made this possible are ready and willing to do their part in national defense. They are qualified to do it; plants and lines are adequate in capacity for defense demands.

The work of forty years serving American industry and American homes with electricity has given America's power companies the experience and the facilities to do electric power's job in the defense program and to do it well. The nation's electric power companies are ready now, and well prepared.

V. H. Flewellen Still Seeks To Reach Objective

Some eleven years ago, V. H. Flewellen left the real estate business and entered the wholesale and retail gasoline business. He opened stations at 2nd and Scurry and 4th and Johnson.

As an objective he decided he wanted to service every car and truck in Big Spring. "You know," he declared, "if you achieve your objective, then you lose interest. Well, we haven't achieved our objective yet, and we are still interested in our business."

Working with Flewellen in the climb to reach the objective are seven faithful employees. Flewellen came to Big Spring 27 years ago, not quite a pioneer, he points out, and has remained here to build a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. Active in church and civic work, he is more familiarly known as "Flew" to most of the men in town.

In addition to the servicing of cars that the stations furnish, they also have a motto that is the keynote of all of Flewellen's enterprises. Courtesy and fellowship are the two basic fundamentals that he chose for his business relationships.

"We build up friendship and service cars as a sideline," he said in reply to what extra services the Flewellen stations render.

That the friendships and the objective hitched to a star are sound business sense, has been evidenced during the years he has spent here in profitable enterprise. And in looking at the year so far, Flewellen believes that business is going to be even better in 1941.

Boyce House Joins Stock Show Staff

Boyce House, well known West Texas newspaperman, who has joined the staff of the Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show in Fort Worth as special days representative.

BOYCE HOUSE

House, author of three books and numerous magazine articles on Texas and former editor of several West Texas newspapers, will work with civic leaders in many Texas cities in the organization of special delegations to visit this year's show, March 7-15.

More recently House did a turn of duty in Hollywood, Cal., as technical adviser for the motion picture, "Boom Town," which was built around the oil boom in Burk Burnett.

Increase Granted In Oil Allowable

AUSTIN, Jan. 27 (AP)—Texas oil wells can produce an average of 318,778 barrels daily for a 60-day period beginning February 1.

The statewide allowable schedule, issued by the railroad commission, is approximately 7,106 barrels greater than current permissive flow and, after deducting normal underproduction, is approximately 40,000 barrels under the U. S. Bureau of Mines estimate of February demand, engineers said.

Nine shutdowns days in February and 10 in March were ordered but many fields were exempted.

The Panhandle was ordered closed six days next month and seven in March.

The state's basic allowable, not subtracting holidays, is 1,791,047 barrels daily.

The United States army is to increase to 1,400,000 in 1942.

Texas Business Activity Near All-Time Peak

AUSTIN, Jan. 27 (AP)—Increasing farm cash income and rising payrolls may soon boost Texas business activity to an all-time peak, Dr. F. A. Buechel, University of Texas business economist, declared today.

Dr. Buechel, associate director of the university's bureau of business research, said that while a composite index of Texas business for December held close to the November level, it widened the gap between the present and year ago. Standing at 106.5—or 8.3 per cent above the average month in 1930—it was almost six points higher than in December, 1939.

Of the major factors contributing to the index, department store sales showed the only appreciable decline from December a year ago—two per cent. Gains in other factors—employment, payrolls, oil refining, and electric power consumption—ranged from 5 to 14 per cent. Miscellaneous freight carloadings remained about the same.

Federal defense expenditures may also be expected to contribute to increased Texas business activity, Dr. Buechel said.

"Allotments to Texas at present aggregate upward of $200,000,000, and the amount is increasing constantly," he asserted.

Few Congressmen Pass Up Chance To Publicize Selves

The newest edition of that much-thumbed Washington handbook—the congressional directory—finds thirteen congressmen with nothing to say about themselves.

A careful and undramatic review of the new red-bound book shows thirteen house members declined the standing offer to write something about their education, birthplace, families, political victories, lodges or what-have-you.

The thirteen who followed this style were: Pace (D-Ga.), Wheeler (D-Ga.), McKeough (D-Ind.), Maciejewski (D-Ind.), Crawford (R-Mich.), Short (R-Mo.), Boren (D-Okla.), Pfister (D-N.Y.), Somers (D-N.Y.), Delaney (D-N.Y.), O'Toole (D-N.Y.), South (D-Texas) and West (D-Texas).

Favorite line of the congressional biographers was "born on a farm."

Ship Building Creates New Jobs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The labor department estimated today that about 806,000 new jobs would be created by June, 1942, as the result of government contracts already made for shipbuilding—a figure which does not include a multitude of additional workers needed for the proposed emergency ship construction program or private projects.

The department, reporting to the defense commission, said that 126,000 workers were employed in construction of government vessels in November, 1940, and that 253,400 more would be required by June, 1942. It added that about the same number of additional workers would be needed to produce raw and processed material for the shipyards.

SEMINOLE, Okla., Jan. 27 (AP)—Title to 10 car loads of scrap iron contributed to start an "Iron for Britain" movement was accepted here today by a British representative.

Henry Drummond-Wolff, Providence, R. I., representing a Wales tin plate workers association, in receiving the metal at a formal ceremony, said:

"We need it badly. Many of the sources of our iron ores have been closed to us. The British need all they can get. We are grateful for this. We feel it will be a big help to the English who are fighting their battles—and they believe your battles, too."

Buick Deliveries Show Increase

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 27—Domestic deliveries of Buick motor cars during the first 10 days of January totaled 6,741 units, up 19.3 per cent over the corresponding period last year, according to figures released today by W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager.

New orders received during the period exceeded actual deliveries by approximately 800 units and were 112 per cent ahead of a year ago, he said.

Doctor Fears "Scholiosis" From Armful of Books

PHILADELPHIA—The problem of school girls carrying an armful of books on the right arm is troubling a member of the Philadelphia board of education.

He is Dr. John P. Turner, who contended at a meeting of the board's property committee that something should be done to correct the evil. It could produce "scholiosis," Dr. Turner asserted, and could make the pupil stoop shouldered.

The problem was referred to Superintendent Alexander J. Stoddard, with the authorization to advise girls to avoid the practice.

The 'New And Hustling Southland' Is America's Land Of Opportunity

The South is America's great new industrial frontier! This is the message of the leading article in the latest issue of "The Advertiser," national magazine of the advertising business, and the statement comes from an authoritative source. The author is Allan T. Preyer, executive vice president of the Vick Chemical company, former chairman of the board of the Association of National Advertisers, and a businessman of national prominence.

"The South has advanced industrially with other sections of the nation have stood still or declined," declares Preyer. "Government statistics on manufactures, from 1900 to 1937, reveal a steady and sustained progress for the South. The impetus of this progress, backed by new and increasing industrial opportunities, was sufficient to carry the region through the recent depression to 1937, with a loss of only 2 per cent in the value of its products from 1929. The loss by the rest of the nation, on the other hand, amounted to 14 per cent."

Why Southern business weathered the depression better than the nation as a whole, Preyer can state from experience. His own firm, the Vick Chemical company, of Greensboro, North Carolina, chose the hard economic times of 1931 to bring out two entirely new products, Vicks Vapo-trol nose and throat and Vicks Medicated Cough Drops, supplementing the well known Vicks VapoRub salve. With Vicks as with many another aggressive Southern business, sales and payrolls rose steadily throughout the depression.

"The ten-year period just closed (1930-1940) has represented a decade of progress for the South, for it has brought numerous beneficial readjustments," says Preyer. Especially important is the widespread diversification of industry, which has proved a stabilizing influence. "Among the industries that have brought diversification and expansion in the South are kraft pulp and paper, rayon, petroleum refining, other heavy industries and textiles."

In proving that industry is now Dixie-bound, Mr. Preyer points out that a survey conducted during 1936 and 1937 showed that more than $196,000,000 was spent in process industries for new plants and modernization in the South—a sum which was $60,000,000 greater than that spent in all the rest of the country combined.

Long Experience As Mechanics Back Of Rowe And Low

There's no substitute for skill and experience when it comes to automobile mechanics, and that's why H. M. Rowe and the Low have a good following here. Rowe has 20 years experience in the field and Low more than 10 years. Each worked with the Chevrolet garage here for about six years before forming a partnership in November 1933. The quality of their work is that both actually do all

New Chart Proves Added Value Of 1941 Automobiles

DETROIT (Sp.)—Dealers in low price motor cars throughout the United States expect to retain their lion's share of the market throughout the present era of expanding payrolls and increased purchases of automobiles of every kind.

Thousands of showrooms all over the country, for vehicles in the lowest price bracket, are now displaying the latest comparison chart of 1941 auto designs. Local motorists are invited to inspect this chart, to get an accurate picture of mass production's 1941 achievements in making available in today's low priced cars most of the fine car quality features which not long ago would have been found only in the most expensive models.

Wider study by the motoring public of such direct comparisons on quality details is urged by two of the three biggest volume producing companies. This is the theme of current smash campaigns of educational advertising, sponsored by these factories to assist the local dealers, dramatizing 1941's big increase in values—and consequent boost in buying power of the United States motor dollar.

"Actual comparison of 1941 car designs—from the popular price class to the most expensive models—gives a startling picture of the latest public benefits created by automobile mass production this year," announces J. E. Bayne, general sales manager of Plymouth—which originated "quality chart" comparisons for the convenience of low-price car buyers.

"This year's survey shows that today all but one, out of the entire list of 22 basic quality features possessed by all the leading highest priced American cars, are also included in design of one or other of the models produced in quantity for the popular price field.

The army expects to have 250,000 motor vehicles by next fall.

District's Best Fighters Tangle Here Tonight

Glove Finals Start At 8 In Auditorium

Fast and furious Golden Gloves fights will be offered patrons of the Herald-sponsored amateur boxing show in a municipal auditorium ring tonight as district title hopefuls square off in a series of finals matches. The curtain is scheduled to raise on the first event of the evening's program at 8 o'clock sharp.

Except for semi-final bouts in middleweight and lightweight brackets, the scraps will be devoted to deciding who is who on Big Spring's district team. Champions in each weight division from this area will go to Fort Worth to battle for honors in the state tournament.

Phoenix Next On Golf Trail

By ROBERT MYERS

RANCHO SANTA FE, Calif., Jan. 27 (AP)—Heading back into the every day workaday channels after a week end of business and pleasure, the golfing brigade vacated Rancho Santa Fe today and headed for Phoenix, Ariz., with Blammin' Sammy Snead, once again crowned winner of Bing Crosby's annual pro-amateur tournament.

The long-hitting professional from Hot Springs, Va., annexed the Crosby event for the third time in its five-year-old history yesterday with a 36-hole total of 67-69-136—eight strokes under par. He won the inaugural, one-day event in 1937 with 68 and took the 1938 event with 72-67-139.

Today the pros traveled to Phoenix for the Western Open. Snead, in second place behind big Ed (Porky) Oliver when yesterday's round got underway, played steadily over the par 72 Rancho Santa Fe course, and while the largest gallery in the history of the affair tagged along behind, racking up three birdies and 15 pars.

Oliver, playing with Host Bing Crosby—and neither doing too well—discovered his borrowed putter had lost the magic of the day before, and the porky one wound up with a 75 for 141—out of the money. Blond Craig Wood of Mammoth Lake, N. Y., runner-up in the recent Los Angeles open, again played the second best role with a 69-68-137, while Bill Nary of Rancho Santa Fe, with 67-71 and Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Boston, with a pair of 69's, tied at 138.

Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, Leonard Dodson, Jimmy Demaret, and Lloyd Mangrum landed in the 139 bracket, with Emory Zimmerman of Portland, Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., and Johnny Bulla of Chicago, listed at 140. Bulla, 1941 Los Angeles open winner, came back after a first round 74 with a 66, equalling the course tournament record set Saturday by Oliver.

Jimmy Thomson, a first round threat, took 75 yesterday, while National Open Champion Lawson Little closed out with a 70-72-142.

Host Crosby had a 37 for the first nine and was three over for the back nine through the seventeenth. He did not putt out the last hole.

Sisler Reappointed To Baseball Post

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 (AP)—George H. Sisler of St. Louis, one of baseball's most brilliant first basemen, was re-appointed commissioner of semi-pro baseball today for a five-year term.

Reappointment of the former American league star, was announced by the National semi-pro congress in its annual session. Sisler has served three one-year terms as commissioner.

The board of directors approved a resolution directing all semi-pro teams to play under rules of the professional sport, this action upholding a recent edict of Sisler, who vetoed the "ten-man" proposal.

Under this proposal a pitcher, at going seven innings, would be allowed a pinch-hitter to hit for him. Ray Dumont, congress president, however, still has hopes of gaining permission to try out the "ten-man" idea on national semi-pro say May 4.

Lookin' 'em Over

With Jack Douglas

Part of the strife and turmoil of out-of-season football is now settled, so far as the Abilene Eagles are concerned at least. Following the departure of Dewey Mayhew from the helm of Abilene's grid efforts, after 14 years of service, there was considerable talk of the likelihood that Big Spring's Pat Murphy might be invited over to take charge. Now, Murphy has a lot of friends in Abilene but this department doubts if he has that many.

In the selection of Vernon Hilliard, former Plainview coach, Abilene made a wise move if the record book can be used as a basis of reasoning. Hilliard produced a standout crew of footballers at Lockhart, went into the last round-up while mentoring Kerville, and ramrodded a team at Plainview that beat the daylight out of Big Spring's 1940 district champions.

The chances of his turning out a brilliant team at Abilene comes under the classification of things to come, of course, but one can't keep from feeling that Abilene is due to come out of the doldrums in 1941—and it's about time. Hilliard won't have too much to work with, but we have been told on good authority that there is good material roaming the Abilene high school campus that, for reasons of its own, never donned the Eagles' garb.

Be that as it may, Hilliard is going to have rough sledding this fall, because, after all is said and done, Mayhew was a good man in his hey day and has a lot of friends in Abilene. Two other items may have some bearing on the Abilene football situation. First, high school fraternity basketball has resulted in disunion among the lads, and second, there are members of the school band who have not contributed too much toward general good feeling.

We have heard it rumored that Murphy was invited to put in his application for the job, but he, after looking the situation over, decided to stay in Big Spring where the outlook was a bit more congenial. In fact, from the same rumor, we have heard that Pat, refusing to put too much faith in even the luck of the Irish, did not even come through with a tentative feeler for the job.

But, the coaching setup in district 3-AA now appears to be settled for another year. Harry Taylor, San Angelo Bobcat mentor, has indicated that he is willing to stay in the saddle, come what may, thereby putting the finale on whatever discussions might have been on the board along the Concho river bottoms.

What looked to be a general shakeup throughout the loop has resulted only in a couple of head coaches vacating their places, and the action of those was not a surprise to many people.

Speed Skating Champs Named

LA CROSSE, Wis., Jan. 27 (AP)—Ken Bartholomew of Minneapolis and Carmella Landry of Fitchburg, Mass., today shared top honors as the nation's outdoor speed skating champions.

In two days of competition with the country's star skaters, Bartholomew regained the senior men's title which he first won two years ago, while Miss Landry captured her first major ice championship by winning the women's senior event. No new records were set.

Ben Jones Says He Has Another Derby Winner

MIAMI, Jan. 27 (AP)—Plain Ben Jones has his eye in the Kentucky derby again, which means the boys behind the backstretch have their eyes on plain Ben.

Ben's the silver-haired trainer who came up out of Florida three years ago with a big country horse named Lawrin. And, while everybody around Churchill Downs was looking such renowned gallopers as Fighting Fox, Blagoland and The Chief, plain Ben sent his big fellow out to gallop off with the jackpot for owner Herbert Wolf, the Kansas City merchant.

Since then, Ben has switched to the stable of Warren Wright, the Chicago baking powder man. He didn't have much in the way of derby stuff last year. But right now he's back with a big, tender-mouthed, stretch-running racer, Whirlaway—and plain Ben can hear the blue grass calling one more.

"At this time of the year," the Missouri magician said flatly today, "I'm more confident of winning the derby with Whirlaway than I was with Lawrin at the same period of his training back in '38."

This Bowler Rolls An Average Of Over 220

AP Feature Service

CHICAGO—Herb Freitag, 34 years old, and co-holder with Joe Sinks, of the American Bowling Congress two-man championship, is "rolling" along one of the country's "hot-test" leagues.

Bowling with the Williams Jewellers team of Chicago's Gold Coast major league, he has put together 13 consecutive weekly totals of 800 or better series in compiling an average of 223, the country's highest individual average.

His totals consist of 10 500 series, two 700's and one of 800, the latter being the fourth highest three game total for the season in the United States. His totals in the Gold Coast major league in their order bowled since the season began are:

621 — 677 — 781 — 665 — 626 — 500 — 625 — 713 — 803 — 673 — 607 — 602.

Freitag also bowls with the famous Chicago Blue Ribbon team of the Classic league as a teammate of Ned Day, world's match game champion. His averages in the two divisions of the Classic league are 204 on Wednesday night and 207 in the Sunday division. He boasts a 210 average with the Williams squad in the Playdium major league.

Freitag and Sinks, recorded the world's highest two-man total of all-time in a doubles match at Dallas, Texas, last June. Rolling against the doubles champion of Texas, they laid down a strike barrage that brought them a total of 1263. Herb rolled games of 299, 300 and 294, with Sinks "jogging" it with a total of 760 on games of 232, 252 and 276.

HERB FREITAG
He's Rolled 10 Perfect Games

During his bowling career he has registered 10 perfect games, four 200's and two 206's. His trophy chest holds 25 medals, which brought him many thrills, but his greatest thrill, he said, "was in winning the doubles title of last year's A.B.C."

He is unmarried and is general manager of a Chicago bowling supply house.

Arkansas Headed For S'western Cage Title

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT

DALLAS, Jan. 27 (AP)—By nothing more tiring than a polite job of applying, the University of Arkansas, foreigner of the Southwest conference, is just about to win a basketball title.

Natural, it will take an occasional show of their own talents to definitely map down the center, but a few cousins like Southern Methodist and University of Texas have turned a mountainous problem into simple arithmetic.

The bulk of ice cage experts settled on Rice Institute, defending champion, to do an encore this season. Perennial contender, Arkansas, nevertheless, was taken a bit lightly.

My, how things have changed. First, Texas scuttled Rice in the season opener. Some thought it was just a typographical error, so to speak. But Southern Methodist did the job up brown the past week by crushing Rice, 43-36.

Foremost is the net too remote chance that Southern Methodist will drop its role of cousin and smack down Arkansas itself. It isn't impossible.

The Methodists were crafty, fast and sure with their shots in beating back a great Rice team. It wasn't just a flash performance. They had handled a very good Texas team in the same manner.

Furthermore, the Methodists play the two-game series with Arkansas on Feb. 28 and March 1 at Dallas — which is something else again. The Porkers, who get a magnificent break by playing a good Baylor team on Feb. 7 and 8 at Fayetteville, just naturally perform a little more expertly on their own lawn.

Most significant of all the schedule arrangements, however, is the Rice-Arkansas series. Both games will be played at Fayetteville. If those games were booked for Houston the race would still be as wide open as a border bar.

The Texas Aggies removed still another Arkansas obstacle on Saturday night when Bill (Jitterbug) Henderson, the angular kid who is just shaking off his football season, finally had a big evening and looped 17 points to pace the Cadets to a 33-31 victory over Baylor. Henderson stole the ball off the Baylor backboard in the last 60 seconds, beat it down the floor and dropped a one-hander.

Southern Methodist is in undisputed possession of second place with three victories and one defeat, while Francis Caswell of Rice took over the scoring leadership with 71 points—an average of 14.2 per game. Appearing in one game less, Johnny Adams of Arkansas has roped 65 for a 16.3 average.

Only game of the week brings Texas Christian to Wade next Saturday night to play Baylor.

JUVENILE AID FAILS
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—Few communities in the United States have more groups designed to reclaim youth, or to prevent the need of reclamation, than Salt Lake City. However, juvenile delinquency increased by one third in 1940 over the previous year's total. Police reported 1,508 cases, compared to 1,162 in 1939.

The United States has 15 battleships in commission.

Four Lone Star Quints To Clash This Week

By The Associated Press

Freshened by a week's rest through semester examinations four of the five schools of the Lone Star Conference resume cage play this week with a Friday night battle in Denton between the underfated Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks and the winless North Texas Eagles holding the circuit spotlight.

Ordinarily a matching of clubs holding such opposite records in conference play, would draw little attention from LSC cage followers. However, a S. F. Austin-North Texas engagement in Denton has in recent years been one of the best-followed league battles.

On all four of the Lumberjacks' last invasions of the Denton court, the piney woods quintet has presented a club that appeared to be on the road to the LSC title, only to leave the North Texas city each time on the short end of a close score. The closeness of the battles for the seasons 1937-1940 shows in respective scores of 33-32, 40-36, 44-38, and 48-47.

This season the strongest Lumberjack five in over half a decade hopes to shatter the jinx and reach a choice spot for claimant to 1941 LSC championship honors. This week's other LSC game pits the defending champion, East Texas, against the number one league darkhorse, Southwest Texas, Saturday night at San Marcos.

Busy Times Ahead For Joe

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y., Jan. 27 (AP)—That one-armed paper-hanger with the itch had nothing on Joe Louis and his work program for the next few months.

There won't be any time for last year's invasions of the Denton court, the piney woods quintet has presented a club that appeared to be on the road to the LSC title, only to leave the North Texas city each time on the short end of a close score. The closeness of the battles for the seasons 1937-1940 shows in respective scores of 33-32, 40-36, 44-38, and 48-47.

Right now, the biggest Joe Louis you've seen yet is rapidly rounding into A-1 shape for his Friday night date in Madison Square Garden with Clarence the Red Burman of Baltimore. And from now until he tangles with Arturo Godoy, the durable Chilean, in Los Angeles in April, Joe won't have more than a couple of days off in a row from training.

After the Burman business is disposed of, instead of taking the usual few weeks off, Joe will go right back into harness five days later to begin sharpening up for Gus Dorazio at Philadelphia February 17.

Uncle Sam May Get Bonura's Services

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 27 (AP)—Zeke Bonura, New Orleans banana man who turned to raising cash-bags this winter, may be farmed out to Uncle Sam this summer instead of playing first base for the Chicago Cubs.

J. J. Garvey, chairman of Bonura's local selective service board, said the clotting first sacker is in Class 1 and automatically would move into Class 1-A, subject to call for one year of service, if pronounced fit by the examining physician.

Garvey said he expected Bonura to be called into training within five months, "possibly in July."

Public Health Program Pays Off

The public health value of immunization against diphtheria has been remarkably demonstrated in Texas in the last eight years, information collected by the state health department reveals.

The diphtheria death rate has steadily diminished during the period from 14.3 deaths per 100,000 population in 1932 to a tentative rate of 1.9 per 100,000 for the first ten months of 1940, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

The 1939 cumulative deaths from diphtheria—1939 statistics are the latest on which final tabulations are obtainable—are 78 per cent lower than the 1932 total of 850 deaths.

The 14.3 rate per 100,000 in 1932 was high for the decade, and each succeeding year saw diminished rates to the decade low, 1940's 1.9 per 100,000.

Dr. Cox attributed the very significant decrease in diphtheria deaths and prevalence to the increasingly positive effects of public health and greater appreciation by the parent of the child's well-being. Dr. Cox pointed out that "the increased attention to the well child, using periods when the child is well to protect against future illness, represents an intelligent approach by parents to the health needs of their children."

In the many areas of Texas served by full-time health services, the past four years have seen the immunizations of preschool children against diphtheria more than double in number. The influence of the full-time public health services in this matter cannot be considered minor. Diphtheria immunization has been a major public health platform in protecting the health of Texas children. The success of this program is indicated by a health survey based on a cross-section encompassing 145,000 school children in areas with and without public health services.

Children entering school in counties maintaining full-time county health units showed 65 per cent immunized against diphtheria as contrasted with 29 percent where local health units were absent.

No child need have diphtheria, as it is one of the most easily prevented diseases. Every child six to nine months of age should be immunized with toxoid to develop immunity to diphtheria. Six months after immunization, a harmless skin test, called the "Schick test," should be given to determine if the child has been given enough immunization to render him completely immune. If the test indicates that the child is not fully protected against diphtheria, additional immunization can be given, after which there need be no further fear of the disease.

Washington Daybook—

Lawyers Keep Majority In Congress

WASHINGTON—The legal profession may be no super-highway to fame and fortune, but it still is the best route to Congress—and by far.

The legal profession accounts for less than one per cent of the working male population over 21 years old, but for a long time now, it has accounted for from 65 to more than 70 per cent of Congress.

I have just been checking over the 77th—the brand new one. Seventy-two per cent of the senate is made up of the sons of Blackstone. Of the 96 senators, 70 are lawyers; only 26 are from other professions. You couldn't expect me to do research on all the 436 members of the House, but I did enough of that scientific cross-section sampling you read about to be able to report that the House follows almost the same pattern.

Next in line are the newspaper men. God bless em—who number six—or seven if you count one former practicing attorney who now is editor and publisher of a newspaper.

Massachusetts' new senator, Joseph P. Kamp, and Massachusetts' Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. came right out of the working press and both still write Washington columns for their papers. Arkansas' Hattie W. Caraway is, of course, the Senate's only housewife; Minnesota's Shipstead, its only dentist, Vermont's Senator Aliken is a nurseryman; Washington's Mon C. Wallgren a jeweler and optician (and incidentally the three-cushion billiard champ of Everett, Wash.). Senator Byrd of Virginia is an apple grower (and newspaper publisher); and Oregon's Rufus C. Holman a paper-box manufacturer. And so it goes.

No Senate Doctors

When the Senate is assembled, there's not a doctor on the floor, but there are several in the House. For example, there are the 71-year-old veteran Dr. Fred J. Douglas, of Utica, N. Y., and Dr. Joseph L. Pfeiffer, of Brooklyn, both prominent surgeons in their own communities, both still practicing, and the latter chief of staff of one of the better known Brooklyn hospitals. And there is Dr. Rudolph G. Tanagerowicz, of Hamtramck in Detroit, Mich. There is hardly a week that Dr. Tanagerowicz doesn't fly to Detroit to bring a baby into the world or help some ailing patient avoid going out of it.

Still, it is the legal profession that rides the gravy train. Just why seems pretty obvious on the surface. Primarily, the reason is based on that dubious premise that men who spend their lives fighting over the laws of the land should be best equipped to make them. I say "dubious" because the argument as to whether lawyers are good lawmakers is even older than our constitutional government.

As far back as 1776, John Adams saw our "representative assembly" as "an exact portrait, in miniature, of the people at large," and Alexander Hamilton followed him a few years later with a similar concept.

Luce Had His Opinion

Robert Luce of Massachusetts, who served for 20 years as a member of the lower house, and was considered one of the most scholarly of congressmen, had this to say: "Lawyers are liable to be poor lawmakers because their mental habit is backward-looking. Their whole training has taught them to rely on precedent. They worship the past. This has its advantages, but among them is not the facility for meeting present needs and anticipating tomorrow."

Don't try to get me into the argument. I'm just telling you how it is today and how it looks for tomorrow—if you want to get your boy into congress, see your lawyer—about a law school.

MAGIC SPRING

Chapter Eight

"You have? What is it?" Polly asked.

"He said, 'Peter went on, for you to be ready to go out to the inn when he got off from the mill. We're going to have a picnic.'"

"Oh, fine!" said Polly. "I'd love to."

Peter looked around the tea-room. "Don't you eat your supper here?" he asked.

"No," said Polly. "We only serve lunch. Most folks in Ardendale like to eat their supper at home."

Peter turned to go. He looked back and said: "Please don't keep us waiting. We men like to do things on time."

"I'll not keep you waiting a minute," Polly promised. And then she said: "You don't like women very much, do you, Peter?"

"Oh, they're all right," said Peter. "Only us men—us bachelors, like Cousin David and me—manage pretty well without them."

"I see," said Polly. "I'll try not to be too much in the way, Peter."

For a moment Peter looked as though he wanted to say something. But he didn't. That is, all he said was: "Goodbye." Then he hurried out.

"I don't think he likes me even a little bit," Polly told herself. She went out into the kitchen. "Martha," she said to the cook. "I'm going on a picnic tonight. How about some of that chicken that was left over?"

"Shore, honey," said Martha. "I got two pieces of breast, three wings and a drumstick."

"That's splendid," Polly said. "Wrap them up in oil paper for me, will you? And three pieces of that 'Lady Baltimore' cake, too."

"Yes," said Martha. "I'm blowing myself," Polly said. "I'm trying to make a hit with a young man, and—"

"Lawdy, honey! Is you and Mister David done broke up?"

"Oh, no, nothing like that. It's a man much younger than David—that's cousin his."

"Oh, him," Martha shook her head slowly. "Hit shore is a shame he's all crippled-like. He's such a sweet little boy."

"Yes, isn't he?" said Polly. "I'll come back for the chicken and the cake, Martha. I've got to go and charge it to myself before I forget."

Martha sniffed. "If you ask me, she said, 'old Miss Waters ought to give it to you. You shore work hard enough for her.'"

"She pays me for what I do, Martha," Polly said. "Besides, there's not a lot of profit in food nowadays."

"Humph!" said Martha. Polly went back to the cashier's desk.

It was going to be fun having a picnic supper with David and Peter. She hadn't been on a picnic in a long, long time. She smiled, and thought of various ways which might help her to win Peter over. She had to make him like her. If he didn't, she and David would never be happy together. Not that their love for each other was any less. No, it wasn't that. But David loved Peter. That was easy to see. He had become terribly attached to the small boy during the short while Peter had been in Ardendale. And she knew what it did to people when a third person came along, a person who loved one of the other two, but not both of them.

Miss Lucy Waters came in from doing some marketing.

"Did you have a good lunch?" she asked in her usual prim manner.

"Yes, Miss Lucy," Polly replied. "Six more lunches sold than yesterday. The men coming in helps a lot."

The owner of the tea-room came behind the desk, lifted the top of the cash register, and looked at the amount indicated therein.

"Well, it could be better," she remarked.

"By the way, Miss Lucy," Polly said. "I'm having Martha to me up six pieces of chicken left over from lunch, and three slices of 'Lady Baltimore' cake. I want them for a picnic. What shall I charge myself for them?"

"Six pieces of chicken and three slices of cake," said Miss Lucy. "Let me see—oh, since it's you, Polly, just make it fifty cents."

"Thank you," said Polly. "I'll put a slip in the register. You can take it out of my pay Saturday."

"Very well," said Miss Lucy. She started for the kitchen, but turned and said: "I had a letter from my niece today, the one I told you wants to come and spend the summer."

"Yes," said Polly. "That's nice. She wants to work for me while she's here." Miss Lucy continued. "A little extra money will help her pay for college this fall."

"Are you going to let her come?" Polly asked, feeling a hard-to-explain sinking sensation in her stomach.

"I think so," Miss Lucy replied. "I'm not sure yet. If I do, I'm afraid I'll have to let you go, after all."

"You mean you—you'll give her the job as cashier here in the tea-room?"

"Yes, Polly. It's the only job she could manage."

"After all, she's kin to me," Miss Lucy said. "And families ought to stick together."

"Of course," Polly moved a stack of lunch checks, fumbled with

With Another Retiring - - Supreme Court Gets Young Again

AP Feature Service

WASHINGTON—With the retirement of 78-year-old Justice McReynolds on February 1, the personnel of the Supreme Court will become the youngest in more than a century.

The average age of the remaining justices is 58 as compared to 71 four years ago when President Roosevelt launched his unsuccessful fight to revamp the court.

First Court Youngest

Back in 1818 the average age of the justices was 57, but the youngest court was the nation's first one. The six justices who began serving in 1789 averaged 49.

In the early days of the republic a few "youngsters" in their thirties and many men in their forties were appointed to the high court. This has been attributed to the death of judicial talent and to a widespread tenacity then to regard the court as a distinctly third-rate branch of the national government.

Chief Justice Hughes now will be the only member of the court past 70—the age at which President Roosevelt sought congressional authority for compulsory retirement of a justice.

Hughes will be 70 on April 11, yet few men are rated his superior in whiplash clarity and precision of mind. President Roosevelt never has indicated that the chief justice step out.

Justice Stone will be 70 and become eligible for retirement at full pay of $20,000 a year on October 11, 1942. Justice Douglas, 42, is the "baby" of the court. A justice at 40, he is the youngest man elevated to the supreme bench since 32-year-old Joseph Story, of Massachusetts, came to the court in 1811.

On the basis of his youth, Douglas has the best chance of breaking the long-time term record. Four men share the honor at 34 years each. They were Justice Story, Chief Justice Marshall, Justice Stephen J. Field of California, and John M. Harlan of Kentucky.

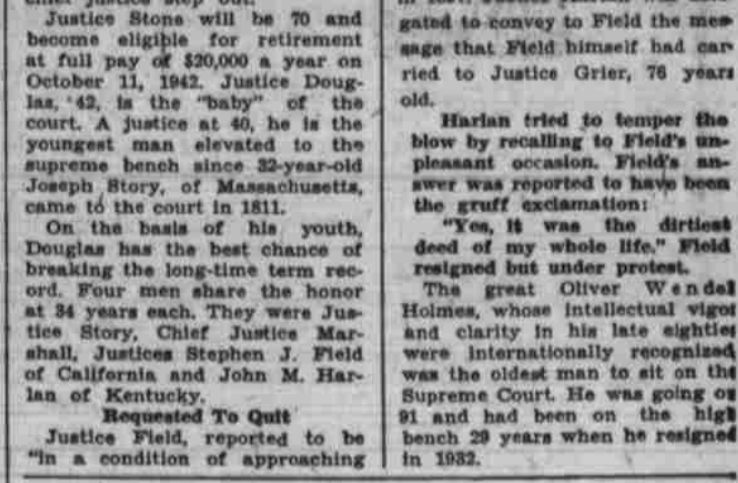

Requested To Quit

Justice Field, reported to be "in a condition of approaching senility" at the age of 81, was privately requested by fellow members of the court to resign in 1897. Justice Harlan was delegated to convey to Field the message that Field himself had carried to Justice Grier, 76 years old.

Harlan tried to temper the blow by recalling to Field's unpleasant occasion. Field's answer was reported to have been the gruff exclamation: "Yes, it was the dirtiest deed of my whole life." Field resigned but under protest.

The great Oliver Wendell Holmes, whose intellectual vigor and clarity in his late eighties were internationally recognized, was the oldest man to sit on the Supreme Court. He was going on 81 and had been on the high bench 29 years when he resigned in 1932.

The Timid Soul

ABOUT TO READ A PLAY TO HIS WIFE, MR. MILQUETDAST FINDS A WARNING ON THE FLYLEAF—

Man About Manhattan—

Looking At The Underside Of Fame

NEW YORK—The hour was early in the morning, the place just off Broadway. Flattery to call it a night club, but it did have a postage stamp dance floor.

Some guy was playing a lot of piano. Chords, mostly; heavy on the black keys. Smoke wafted from his cigaret.

A dopey kid, 14 maybe, got out on the floor and began a shuffle. The professor frowned. A bartender took the kid by the arm and led him away.

"I can dance," he kid protested. "I got something."

"Yeah, sure, buddy," the bartender agreed. "But not here."

A man took off his cap and went over to the piano and started to sing. He had one of those voices they call whiskey tenor. Good once, maybe, but all shot now. The tunes were familiar, with a droopy sentiment that somehow elevated the surroundings.

The professor's head bobbed up and down approvingly. The whiskey tenor threw back his head and gave a frowny cap over his heart. And when he was through everybody stamped and whistled.

A fresh cigaret and beer fortified the professor, and he played aimlessly. Somehow, the dopey kid got back on the floor, unnoticed. One-man show. Motcha . . . and a snap of the fingers. The professor frowned again.

"I got something," the kid whined.

"Aw, beat it!"

And then the professor smiled brightly. A girl with a piano accordion slung around her shoulders had come in the door. She nodded at the greeting, unenthused. The bartenders brusquely snatched empty glasses and looked at the customers belligerently.

The professor helped the girl up on his platform, and a couple of stags applauded. And then the girl started to play. It sounded swell. You were tempted to ask her to play "Tie Me To Your Apron Strings Again" because it was a good old song and you felt very sentimental, and there was a fresh gingham look about her.

Trouble was, you realized after awhile, she couldn't play any better than a lot of other kids. She'd have to have a break. And then it dawned on you that she was hoping a Broadway big shot would be out slumming and maybe think of a spot for her.

There weren't any big shots around that night, though. The girl unstrapped the harness and put the accordion away. The professor yawned and got up. But they weren't rid of him yet. The dopey kid got back on the floor and started another shuffle.

"Hey!" roared the bartender. "I can dance," the kid said, doggedly. "I got something."

The bartender looked like he might explode. And then he deflated slowly. After all, the kid was too small to bother about.

And you decided you had seen everything, and thought about going home. You had seen a guy who had been up and down. You had seen a girl who wanted very badly to be up. And you had seen a dopey kid who definitely wasn't going any place, ever.

Maybe, you thought, there ought to be a moral to it. But you couldn't find any that fit; and that sort of "fished the girl would stick to gingham and not wind up some day like the whiskey tenor. Broadway is a tough nut to crack, but people have to find out for themselves.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—

'Miss Bishop' Is A Lovable Character

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—"Cheers for Miss Bishop." Screenplay by Adelaide Heilbron and Sheridan Gibney from Ben Brewster. Aldrich novel, adapted by Stephen Vincent Benet. Directed by Tay Garnett. Principals: Martha Scott, William Gargan, Edmund Gwenn, Sterling Holloway, Sidney Blackmer, Mary Anderson, Dorothy Peterson, Donald Douglas, Marsha Hunt, Ralph Bowman, Lois Ranson, Rosemary DeCamp.

Anybody who has been within hailing distance of an American college campus knows Miss Bishop. She's over 70 now, a little feeble, but strong-spirited and wise; gently sharp of tongue when occasion requires, and lonely—though she won't admit it—since her retirement.

Few remember her as she was, about the time the college was, nor as she was that radiant day when she married the coed actually by a teacher of freshman English.

This is the tender, inspiring, amusing and heartbreaking story of one particular Miss Bishop, beautifully played by Martha Scott of "Our Town."

Little Ella Bishop was a "born teacher." She hadn't intended to be an old maid. There was the handsome newcomer (Douglas) to whom she became engaged—only to have her scheming little cousin (Anderson) steal him. Later, there was the new professor (Blackmer) who would have been perfect—but his wife didn't believe in divorce. Always there was faithful Sam (Gargan), who loved her for more than 50 years. There were children, too—a cousin's child (Hunt) which should have been her own, and that child's daughter (Ranson). And all the boys and girls whose lives she influenced and aided—the boy who became the senator, the lad who won fame as an astronomer, the awkward girl (DeCamp) who became a famous historical—and incidentally has one of the best scenes in the picture—and many, many others, were all there to give "cheers for Miss Bishop" at the end.

If you loved Mr. Chips' you'll love "Miss Bishop"—his American counterpart.

some change. "It'll be nice having a member of your family with you."

Miss Lucy said nothing more. She went on out to speak to Martha.

Polly finished adding up a column of figures. She got her hat. But she didn't go out of the tea-room at once. She leaned her elbows upon the top of the desk, and stared unseeingly at the opposite wall.

Out of a job again—How many times it had happened to her during the last few years! There were so few jobs for a girl in a town like Ardendale. And yet she couldn't leave Aunt Susan, and go off somewhere else to find work. Besides, there was David—David wanted to marry her, and she wanted to marry him.

But would they ever manage it? David had debts to pay up—he also had Peter. It wouldn't be right to saddle him with a jobless wife, a girl who couldn't contribute something toward taking care of the expenses of running a household. David had all that he could do to keep things going, as it was. It wouldn't be right to expect him to support not only her but also Aunt Susan.

"Sometimes," she said to herself, as she walked to the door, "I think life's just a mess."

Martha called to her. "You forgot your picnic stuff!" she said.

"Thank you, Martha," Polly said. She took the package the negro woman was holding out to her. "We'll think of you while we're eating it—those two young men and myself."

Then she went slowly out to the street.

Somehow she was no longer enthusiastic about having a picnic. The thought of Miss Lucy giving the cashier's job to her niece sickened her. She needed the job so badly—she and Aunt Susan.

She walked out to the Jenkins cottage with heavy feet, and a much heavier heart.

About Swimming

It was several days after the picnic out at the Inn, and David was in the lumber yard. He had a stack of invoices which were attached to a wooden clip, and was checking a shipment of lumber that was to leave Ardendale that evening.

But now and then his thoughts reverted to the evening he and Polly and Peter had sat upon the edge of the empty swimming pool eating the chicken and cake Polly had brought from the tea-room, as well as the sandwiches and pickles and fruit he had brought out from town.

Peters delight over everything he saw about Freddy's Polly had been amusing. Like Polly, he had had Peter. It wouldn't be right to what the place could be made to look like.

"And let's put some water in the pool!" he had said. "We could swim and dive, Cousin David—and have lots of fun. You do swim, don't you?"

"Sure, I do," David had replied. "And so does Polly. She's a born swimmer."

Peter looked at Polly with new interest.

"Gee," he said, "do you?"

"Yes," said Polly, "I took to the water like a duck. David helped me to learn the better strokes when we used to have our Sunday School picnics down at the shore—excursions, you know."

"Do they still have them?" Peter wanted to know.

"Sometimes," said Polly. "But David and I seldom go now."

No, thought David, there in the lumber yard, we seldom go now. In fact, we seldom do anything for fun. Just work and plan and dream. Then he remembered that Polly had looked worried. He had tried to find out what was troubling her, but she had only shaken her head, and said it wasn't anything much.

"Just another bridge I've been trying to get across before I got to it," she had said. But there was one thing that helped to cheer him up—that was the fact that Peter had seemed to draw closer to Polly. Their mutual love of the old Inn, and their many plans for improving the place, had apparently proved to be a sort of bond between them.

"If you'll lend me your car," Polly had said, "I can come out in the afternoons while you're at the lumber plant, and get to work on those flower beds. I can see a lot of shoots trying to work their way through the mass of weeds and vines."

An appeal for increased support of the chamber of commerce, either by new members or raising annual dues contributions, met with ready response here Monday.

Shortly after the president had made an appeal on this basis, R. L. Tollett, president of Cosden Petroleum Corp., announced that effective Jan. 1 the company would regard its dues to the chamber as $300 per annum instead of the $100 formerly observed.

More Paying Poll Taxes

Awakening to the fact that poll tax payments must be made not later than Friday in order to protect the right of franchise, voters boosted the total polls to 1,891 at noon Monday. In addition there were 73 exemption certificates issued, giving the county a visible voting strength of little less than 2,000.

Poll taxes, as always, cost $1.75 per person, and persons who have become 21 since Jan. 1, 1940 or who will become 21 years of age this year before any given election in which they hope to participate are entitled to exemptions. Likewise, any person who attained the age of 60 years after Jan. 1, 1940 is entitled to claim permanent exemption. Those with certain type physical disabilities may claim exemptions.

However, as concerns those living within the city limits of Big Spring, only those who secure either poll tax or exemption certificates not later than Friday will be privileged to vote during the year.

Employer Tax Cut Is Voted

AUSTIN, Jan. 27 (AP)—Quickly the senate today sliced an estimated $10,000,000 from the annual tax bill of Texas employers subject to the unemployment compensation act.

By unanimous vote it sent to the house an amendment by Senator Allan Shivers of Port Arthur and Weaver Moore of Houston, reducing the tax paid by employers with low labor turnover, effective March 1.

If the house approves it a graduated tax scale beginning at one-half of one per cent and ranging to four per cent, depending on employment experience of individual employers, would replace the present flat three per cent rate.

24-Ounce Baby Shows Progress

ALAMOSA, Colo., Jan. 27 (AP)—A tiny girl baby, whose weight at birth was estimated at 24 ounces, kicked lustily in her incubator today as she started her 11th day of life.

Doctors who at first had despaired that Hope Quiller could survive now say that her chances for survival are bright.

Hope never has been weighed. She was hurried into the incubator minutes after she was born and she has not been out of its 90-degree warmth since.

Hope is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Quiller of Meets. She was born three months prematurely.

In her oxygen-fed incubator, Hope eats from three to five teaspoons full of milk every two hours.

BERLIN, Jan. 27 (AP)—British planes which attacked German minefields today were driven off and two of them so seriously damaged that "in the eyes of the German military forces they must be considered lost," DNB, official German news agency, reported.

The agency indicated that anti-aircraft fire from the minefields turned the planes back. It did not say where the encounter occurred.

EXTENSION SEEN FOR CEDAR LAKE POOL

LAMESA, Jan. 27.—Possibility of extending the Cedar Lake pool one mile southward is seen in topping anhydrite by the San Andres Production No. 1 Johnson test at 1,900 feet. This was called 29 feet high by comparison with the Stanolind No. 1 Green, nearest producer. Hole for the test is now bottomed at 1,960 feet while 8.5-9 inch casing is set. Location is in section 6, block C30, P51, Gaines county.

Several other hardware merchants here and in surrounding sections also attended the party which continues through Tuesday.

Not Again, For At Least A Year

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27 (AP)—Bernard J. Degman, 25, spent three months in gaining weight so he could join the army, but today when his big chance finally arrived he failed to hear the alarm clock.

Police sped to Degman's home when he didn't appear for induction at 7 a. m. They found him asleep.

"It won't happen again," promised Degman. "At least not for a year."

2 New Men On Police Force

Two new faces were included on the police force Monday.

Olin Cox, radio telephone operator 2nd class, has been assigned to the police radio dispatching unit to replace Ligon Baird, operator 1st class, who has been instructed to report as a member of the naval reserve to Annapolis, Md.

Resignation of A. W. Crocker, who specialized in identifications, etc., created another vacancy in the staff. Revis Clyde McKeehan was added to the force as night patrol officer to permit staff adjustments.

Here And There

The cemetery was a lively place over the weekend. First officers had a rush call on a negro. An informant said the negro was apparently settling down in one corner of the graveyard without formally being buried. It turned out he had a good case of cramps and that was all. But later police had more worries. Thirteen cows invaded the grounds and had to be hustled off to pound.

Two Mexican youths were charged in corporate court Monday with petty theft. They had been taken into custody in possession of an overcoat and jacket misused from a car parked near a north-side cafe.

In this same neighborhood, Latin celebrants early Sunday morning reportedly waxed too enthusiastic and a cutting scrape ensued. However, authorities had not succeeded in getting to the bottom of the matter Monday.

The chamber of commerce wished it were physis. Today it had a request in hand from the Federal Power Commission to furnish accurate information on power requirements of the city. The chamber was without a survey to show it.

Car damage resulted in a collision between cars driven by Elmer Dyer and S. F. Barnett at 18th and Gregg late Saturday night. Dyer was bound south on Gregg and Barnett north on the same street at time of the mishap.

ITALIANS SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES IN COUNTER-ATTACKS

ATHENS, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Italians were reported by the Greeks today to have suffered enormous losses in a series of counter-attacks attempted since Premier Mussolini placed General Ugo Cavallero in charge of his forces in Albania.

Greek dispatches from the battlefield said the Italians left large numbers of wounded behind each attack. The number of fascist prisoners taken was said to be mounting between 100 and 200 a day.

The Greek advance, these dispatches said, is continuing at the same pace it was going before the fascist switched to offensive tactics.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The army ordered today $15,914 worth of curled gray hair. It is not to cover bald heads, officials explained, but to stuff mattresses.

Acreage Allotments Being Adjusted

The Howard county AAA committee was in session Monday reviewing the work of community committees in adjusting general acreage allotments.

In addition, the county committee was seeking to establish a productivity index for each farm's general allotment. This was important for the productivity figure has a bearing on the general acreage payments. Last year the payment was 61 cents per acre, based on a productivity factor of 100. They ranged over the county from 55 to 70 cents an acre.

The committee was due to finish its work Tuesday. L. H. Thomas, chairman, Earl Hull and Ross Hill, members, were all present.

SECRETRY SURROUNDS THE TRANSFER OF NAZI SEAMEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27 (AP)—Government plans to start moving 400 Nazi seamen from here to an abandoned CCC camp in New Mexico were shrouded in secrecy amid unofficial reports that the first 35 would leave today aboard a railway prison car.

The seamen, from the scuttled Nazi liner Columbus, have been held at the Angel Island immigration station over a year, unable to sail for home because of the British high seas patrol.

Recently federal officials announced the sailors would be removed to the camp near Fort Stanton, N. M.

There, they will be watched by nine U. S. border patrolmen and made to stay within the confines of the camp.
